16. And they came with haſte (thither,) and found Mary and Joſeph (there,) and the Babe lying in a Manger.

them (by the Angel) concerning this Child.

18. And all they that heard it, wondred at thoſe things which were told them by the Shepherds.

19. But Mary kept all theſe things, and pondered them in her Heart.

20. And the Shepherds returned, glorifying and praiſing God for all the things they had heard (from the Angel,) and ſeen, as it was told them (by him.)

i 21. And when eight Days were [i] accompliſhed. (i. e. when the eighth Day was come,) for the circumciſing the Child, his Name was called Jeſus, which was ſo named of (or the Name impoſed on him by) the Angel before he was conceived in the Womb.

k 22. And when the Days of her [k] Purification, according to the Law of Moſes, were accompliſhed, they brought him to Jeruſalem to preſent him to the Lord:

23. As it is written in the Law of the Lord, l [l] Every Male that openeth the Womb, ſhall be called holy to the Lord, (i. e. ſhall be conſecrated to God and ſo made Haly.).

24. And to offer a Sacrifice (for the Woman at her purification,) according to that which is ſaid in the Law of the Lord, (that he who is not able to bring a Lamb, ſhould m bring) a [m] pair of Turtle Doves, or two young Pigeons.

25. And behold, there was a Man in Jeruſalem, whoſe Name was Simeon, and the ſame Man was juſt (towards Men;) and devout (towards God, and he was) n [n] waiting for o the Conſolation of Iſrael; and the [o] Holy Ghoſt was upon him.

26. And it was revealed to him by the Holy Ghoſt, that he ſhould not ſee Death before he had ſeen the Lord's Chriſt.

27. And he came by (motion of) the Spirit into the Temple; and when the Parents (at the ſame time) brought in the Child Jeſus, to do for him, (i. e. to pay the price of his Redemption as being their Firſt-born,) after the cuſtom of the Law (concerning the Firſt-born;)

28. Then took he him up in his Arms, and bleſſed God, and ſaid,

29. Lord, now letteſt thou thy Servant p [p] depart in Peace, ſeeing it hath been with me) according to thy Word:

30. For mine Eyes have ſeen (the Meſſiah called) thy q [q] Salvation:

31. Which thou haſt prepared before the Face of all People, (as well Gentiles as Jews, be being ſent as)

r 32. [r] A Light to lighten the Gentiles, and (to be) the Glory of thy People Iſrael;

33. And Joſeph and his Mother marvelled at theſe things which were ſpoken of him:

34. And Simeon bleſſed them, and ſaid to Mary his Mother, Behold, this Child is ſet f for [f] the fall (of many thro' Infidelity, and (for the) riſing again (or up) of many in Iſrael, (thro' Faith in him;) and for a Sign that ſhall be ſpoken againſt (by the Scribes and Phariſees, and Rulers of the People, who ſhall blaſpheme his Perſon, contradict his doctrine, and ſet him up as their mark to ſhoot at.)

35. Yea a Sword, (that of Martyrdom,) ſhall pierce thro' thy own Soul alſo, (and this contradiction of him, God in his Wiſdom ſhall permit, that the Thoughts of many Hearts, (i. e. the inward Tempers and Diſpoſitions of many) may be revealed.

36. And there was (alſo) one [t] Anna a t Propheteſs, the Daughter of Phanuel, of the Tribe of Aſer, (and) ſhe was of a great Age, and had lived with an Huſband ſeven Years from her Virginity:

37. And ſhe was a Widow of about fourſcore and four Years (old,) which departed not from the Temple, but ſerved God with Faſtings and Prayers night and day, (at Evening and Morning Service.)

38. And ſhe coming at that inſtant (that the Child was there.) gave Thanks likewiſe to the Lord, and u [u] ſpake of him to all them u that looked for Redemption in Jeruſalem, (as the Perſon from whom it was to be expected.)

39. And when they had performed all things according to the Law of the Lord, (and had fled into Egypt for the ſafety of the Child; after the Death of Herod) they returned into Galilee to their own City Nazareth.

40. And the Child grew and waxed ſtrong in Spirit, (being) filled with Wiſdom, and the Grace of God was upon him, (i. e. the Favour of God was with him.

41. Now his Parents went to Jeruſalem every Year at the Feaſt of the Paſſover:

42. And when he was twelve Years old, they went up (with him) to Jeruſalem, after the Cuſtom of the Feaſt;

43. And when they had fulfilled the (ſeven) Days (of the Feaſt,) as they returned, the Child Jeſus tarried behind in Jeruſalem, and Joſeph and his Mother knew not of it;

44. But they ſuppoſing him to have been in the Company, (they) went a Day's Journey, and (then) they ſought him among their Kinsfolk and Acquaintance:

45. And when they found him not, they turned back again to Jeruſalem, ſeeking him.

46. And it came to paſs, that w [w] after three w Days, (the third day) they found him in the Temple, ſitting in the midſt of the Doctors, both hearing them, and asking them Queſtions.

47. And all that heard him were aſtoniſhed at his Underſtanding and Anſwers.

48. And when they ſaw him, they were amazed; and his Mother ſaid to him, Son, why haſt thou dealt thus with us? Behold, thy thy Father and I have sought thee sorrowing.

49. And he said to them, How is it that ye sought me? Wist ye not that I must be x about my Father's [x] Business? (Gr. in my Father's House.)

50. And they understood not the Saying which he spake to them.

51. And he went down with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subject to them; but his Mother kept all these Sayings in her Heart.

52. And Jesus [y] increased in Wisdom, and y Stature, and in Favour with God and Man.

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Ver. 1. Ἀπογράφεσθαι πᾶσαν τὴν οἰκουμένην, That all the World should be taxed.] Not only the Roman Empire, but all the precedent Empires were stiled οἰκουμένη the World; and the Governours of them were said πάσης ἐπικρατῆσαι τῆς οἰκουμένης, to rule over the whole World. See the Note on Heb. 2. 5. Hence the Council of God against the Empire of Babylon, is stiled, his Council ἐπὶ τὴν ὅλην οἰκουμένην, against all the Earth; her Desolation is represented as the Desolation ὅλης τῆς οἰκουμένης, of the whole World; and the Evil brought upon her, as Evils which extended τῇ οἰκουμένῃ ὅλῃ, to the whole World, Isa. 14. 17, 26.

b Ver. 2. Αὕτη ἡ ἀπογραφὴ πρώτη ἐγένετο ἡγεμονεύοντος τῆς Συρίας Κυρηνίου, Now this taxing was first made when (or was before that when) Cyrenius was Governour of Syria.] I dare not allow of the Boldness of those Criticks who for Κυρηνίου read Κυιντιλίου, or Σατορνίνου, there being no Footsteps of any such reading, either in Ancient Writers, Versions or MSS. and were there placed for conjecture here, I would rather read πρὸ τοῦ than πρώτη; as if the Evangelist should say, this taxing or enrolling was before that which was made by Cyrenius, that being so unhappy, and pernicious to the (a) Jews, by reason of the Sedition then raised, upon occasion of the Tax, by Judas Gaulonites, and which, saith (b) Josephus, gave the rise to all their future Troubles.

Now this, saith Josephus, was after Judæa was made πρόσθηκη τῆς Συρίας, an addition to the Province of Syria; and when Archelaus was banish'd, and so above ten Years after that mentioned here, as done at our Saviour's Birth, and fit to be thus separated from that which was attended with those ill Effects; this being in design highly salutary, that being very fatal to the Jewish Nation. But neither do we need this Criticism, since the Words πρῶτος and πρότερος are by the Seventy oft used according to this Sense; of the Word πρότερον, this is beyond doubt, God saying twice ἀποστελῶ (φηκίας לפני שלחי, I will send Hornets before thee, Exod. 23. 28. Josh. 24. 12. In which sense you will find this Word above twenty times in Kircher's Concordance in the Word פָּנָה: That πρῶτος also is used in the sense of priority, we learn from these Instances, πρωτότοκος ἐγὼ εἰμι, Heb. אני ממך, I am before thee, I am elder than thou; ἵνα τί οὐκ ἐλογίσθη ὁ λόγος μου πρῶτος; Chal. למא מדמיתא why then was not the word first spoken to me? cur mihi non annuntiatum est priori? 2 Sam. 19. 43. Isa. 65. 16. The former Troubles are forgotten, Gr. ἐπελήσονται τῆς θλίψεως αὐτῆς τῶν πρώτων, and ver. 17. οὐ μὴ μνησθῶσι τῶν πρώτων, they shall not remember the former. So John 1. 15, 30. ὅτι πρῶτός μου ἦν, for he was before me, and Chap. 15. 18. know that they hated ἐμὲ πρῶτον, me before you, 1 Cor. 14. 30. ὁ πρῶτος, let the former hold his peace; and 1 John 4. 19. we love him, ὅτι πρῶτος, because he loved us before; and in Aristophanes, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἂν πρώτους, is interpreted, ἀλλ' οὐκ ἂν πρότερον, Neph. p. 122. And so Theophylact interprets the Word here, τοῦτέστι πρότερον ἡγεμονεύοντος, ἦν πρότερον ἢ ἡγεμόνευε τῆς Συρίας Κυρήνιος. As for this ἀπογραφή, that it was not a Money-tax, but an Enrolling of Persons according to their Families and Estates. See D. Hammond, Note B.

Ver. 4. Ἀνέβη καὶ Ἰωσὴφ, And Joseph went c up from Galilee — to the City of David called Bethlehem.] Here, 1*st*, Interpreters observe that ἀναβαίνειν to ascend, or go up, does not always signifie, to go from a lower, to an higher place, but to go from one place to another; as Judg. 16. 18. 2*dly*, That admirable was the Providence of God in ordering this Enrolment, intended by Augustus to be done before, to be deferred to this very time, that so Christ might be born in Bethlehem, according to the Prediction of the Prophet Micah, Chap. 5. 2. And, 3*dly*, that the Stock and Family of Christ must at that time be known and preserved in the Publick Tables, as Justin M. Tertullian, and Chrysostom, Hom. 8. in Matth. testifie.

vid.] That Musterings and Enrollings, as in other Nations, so especially in Judæa, were made according to their Tribes, Cities, and Families, we learn from the Sortition which

f Ver. 8. Καὶ ποιμένες ἦσαν— φυλάσσοντες φυλακὰς τῆς νυκτὸς, &c.] And there were Shepherds — keeping watch over their Flock, or the Watches of the Night over their Flock.] Here note, 1*ſt*, That as Abraham and David, to whom the Promiſe of the Meſſiah was firſt made, were Shepherds, ſo was the Completion of this Promiſe firſt revealed to Shepherds. 2*dly*, The Watches of the Night were four, the firſt of them is mentioned, Lam. 2. 19. the ſecond and third, Luke 12. 38. and the fourth, Matth. 14. 25. being the Morning Watch, Exod. 14. 24. h Ver. 14. Δόξα ἐν ὑψίστοις Θεῷ, καὶ ἐπὶ γῆς εἰρήνη ἐν ἀνθρώποις εὐδοκία, Glory to God on High, and in Earth Peace, good-will towards Men.] Here note, (1.) that this is not an Hymn of Prayer, that Glory may be given to God, Peace may be upon Earth, &c. but rather a declaratory Hymn of Glory due to God for what he had done already; for the Angels are ſaid to praiſe God, ſaying, Glory, &c. Now Praiſe is for what is done already. (2*dly*,) Some obſerving that καὶ is ſometimes cauſal, and ſignifies for, give the ſenſe of this Hymn thus, Glory be to God, becauſe by the Birth of this Saviour, who is our Peace, Eph. 2. 14. there will be Peace on Earth, and the Good-will of God to Man is manifeſted. Others thus, The good will of God to Man, ſhew'd in the Incarnation of our Saviour, is matter to him of the higheſt Glory, and the Foundation of our Peace on Earth: And becauſe ſome Copies read, ἐν ἀνθρώποις εὐδοκίας, to Men of Good will, ſome following that reading give the Senſe thus, Peace will be on Earth to Men whom God accepts, but this is leſs to be regarded, becauſe all the Greek Fathers, Orig. in Joh. 11. 14. *Euſeb. demonſtr. So ver. 22. ſo Acts 2. 1. ἐν τῷ συμπληροῦσθαι, when the day of Pentecoſt was come. ancient reading was αὐτῶν is evident from these Words of (*) Origen, Si scriptum esset propter purgationem ejus, i. e. Mariæ nihil quæstionis oriretur, & audacter diceremus Mariam quæ homo erat purgatione indiguisse post partum, nunc vero in eo quod ait, Dies purgationis eorum, non videtur unum significare, sed alterum, sive plures: So also read St. Jerome con. Helvid. Tom. 2. F. 7. lit. A. Euthymius, Theophylact, and the Syriac Version; nor is there any fear of ascribing any moral Impurity to the holy Jesus, by allowing this reading, since this purgation imports only a compliance with a Ceremonial Law, in order to their admittance into the Congregation of God's People, to which Christ being made of a Woman, made under the Law, was to submit, that he might fulfil all Righteousness: on which account also he was made relatively holy, by being consecrated to the Lord, according to the Law concerning every Male that openeth the Womb, v. 23.

l Ver. 23. Πᾶν ἄρσεν διανοῖγον μήτραν, Every Male that openeth the Womb.] The Words of the Law, concerning every Male that openeth the Womb, being here applied to the Blessed Virgin, bringing forth her First-born, sufficiently confirm the Assertion of (c) Irenæus, (d) Tertullian, (e) Origen, and others of the Fathers, cited by Petavius, that she brought forth Christ after the usual manner; and yet the contrary Opinion, tho' built upon Fables, and superstitious Imaginations, and spurious Authorities, prevailed almost generally in the 4th and 5th Centuries. See the Treatise of Traditions, part 1. c. 1. §. 4.

m Ver. 24. Καὶ δοῦναι θυσίαν — ζεύγη τρυγόνων, And to offer — a pair of Turtles.] This being the Oblation appointed only for the Poor, Lev. 12. 6, 8. discovers the Poverty of Joseph and Mary, that they could not reach to a Lamb of the first Year; the Offering which they who had Ability were to make.

n Ver. 25. Προσδεχόμενον τὴν παράκλησιν τοῦ Ἰσραήλ, Waiting for the Consolation of Israel.] This was the familiar Phrase they used when they spake of the coming of the Messiah; to see those days being, in their way of speaking, to see the Consolation of Israel, or the Years of the Consolation to come; See the Targum on Isa. 4. 3. on Jer. 31. 6. and 2 Sam. 23. 1. and they were wont, saith Dr. Lightfoot, to swear by their desire to see this Consolation.

o Ibid. Καὶ πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἦν ἐπ' αὐτόν, And the Holy Ghost was upon him;] i. e. He had received the Gift of Prophesie; for that having ceased 400 Years began to dawn again at the Birth of the Messiah in some pious Persons, as Zachary, Simeon, and Anna the Daughter of Phanuel.

p Ver. 29. Νῦν ἀπολύεις, Lord, now lettest thou thy Servant depart.] Here Grotius well notes that ἀπολύειν and ἀπόλυσις, both in sacred and prophane Authors, signifie to depart out of this Life, or to die; as when Abraham says, ἐγὼ ἀπολύομαι ἄτεκνος, I die childless, Gen. 15. 2. ἀπέθανε Ἀαρών, Aaron died, Numb. 20. 29. Thus Tobit prays, Command my Spirit to be taken from me, ὅπως ἀπολυθῶ, that I may be dissolved, ἐπίταξον ἀπολυθῆναί με, Tobit 3. 6. and Sarah saith, εἶπον ἀπολύσαί με ἀπὸ τῆς γῆς, ver. 13. I desired God to take me from the Earth; and one of the seven Children saith to the Tyrant, σὺ ἐκ τῆς παρούσης ἡμᾶς ζωῆς ἀπολύεις, thou takest away our present Life. Thus saith (f) Lycon, this is my Testament, μετὰ τὴν ἐμὴν ἀπόλυσιν, after my Dissolution. (g) Themistius notes that it was customary to some to call Death ἀπόλυσις, and to say of them that they did ἀπολύειν. So (h) Theophrastus calls Death ἀπόλυσις; and (i) Heraclitus saith, perhaps the Soul presageth ἀπόλυσιν αὐτῆς, her Dissolution; all which Expressions confirm the old Tradition of the Distinction of the Soul from the Body, and her continuance in a state of Separation.

q Ver. 30. Ὅτι εἶδον οἱ ὀφθαλμοί μου τὸ σωτήριόν σου, For mine Eyes have seen thy Salvation.] So the Deliverance God sent to his People, is called σωτήριον τοῦ Θεοῦ, the Salvation of God, Psal. 98. 3. how much more may the Salvation, sent by Christ, be stiled, as it is emphatically, ἡ σωτηρία, the Salvation, Isa. 49. 6.—52. 7. yea σωτηρία ἀπὸ τοῦ Θεοῦ, Salvation from God, ver. 10.

r Ver. 32. Φῶς εἰς ἀποκάλυψιν ἐθνῶν, A Light to enlighten the Gentiles.] It is wonderful that after so many clear Prophesies in the Old Testament of the calling of the Gentiles, the Jews should have been all so blind as to imagine God had no Kindness for them, Acts 10. 45.—11. 18.

s Ver. 34. Οὗτος κεῖται εἰς πτῶσιν καὶ ἀνάστασιν, This Child is set for the Fall, and rising of many in Israel.] Doubtless God's first Design in sending his Son into the World, was, that through him the World might be saved, John 3. 16. and he was designed especially to save his People from their Sins, and be an Horn of Salvation to them, Luke 1. 69. But to Persons who were worldly-minded, and had no relish for spiritual things, which was the case of the generality of the Jews, who were much given to the Flesh, as Tacitus observes of them, who who were puffed up with a vain Conceit of their own Wiſdom, and ſingular Piety, full of vain Glory, greedy of Empire and Applauſe, and affected with worldly Pomp and Grandeur, as were the Scribes, and Phariſees, and Rulers of the People; he was to be a Stone of Stumbling, and a Rock of Offence, becauſe theſe things obſtructed their Reception of his Doctrine, and ſpiritual Kingdom, ſo different from that which they expected; and to diſcover who had Hearts well diſpoſed to embrace his Doctrine upon Conviction, and who by thoſe Prejudices and corrupt Affections, would ſhut their Eyes againſt the Light, is here to manifeſt the thoughts of Men's Hearts by their Actions. When Simeon adds, καὶ σοῦ δὲ αὐτῆς τὴν ψυχὴν διελεύσεται ῥομφαία, and a Sword ſhould paſs through thine own Soul; Tho' Grief is ſaid to pierce as with a Sword, both in prophane Authors, and in the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 42. 10. yet ſeeing this comes not up to the heighth of this Expreſſion, this ſeemeth rather to reſpect her Martyrdom, or being taken away by Death, ſaith Epiphanius, ὡς γέγραπται, as it is written, a Sword ſhall paſs through her Soul, or her ſelf. Hæreſ. 78. §. 32.

That this fourſcore and four Years muſt be reckoned not from the beginning of her Widowhood, but of her Life, otherwiſe ſhe muſt be a very decrepit Woman, not able to faſt after this manner; and, (2.) She is ſaid to be always in the Temple, becauſe ſhe was conſtantly there at the Hours of Prayer; So Aaron and his Sons are bid not to go out of the Door of the Tabernacle, Lev. 10. 7. i. e. not to do it during the time of their Miniſtry.

u Ver. 38. Ἐλάλει περὶ αὐτοῦ πᾶσι τοῖς προσδεχομένοις λύτρωσιν ἐν Ἰερουσαλήμ, She ſpake of him to all that looked for Redemption in Jeruſalem.] This being the time when the whole Jewiſh Nation was looking for the Conſolation of Iſrael, ver. 25. for Redemption here, and even the Scribes and Phariſees expected that the Kingdom of God ſhould immediately appear; and this being, ſay (k) Tacitus and (l) Suetonius, the old and conſtant Opinion which had obtained through the Eaſt, ut eo tempore Judeâ Profecti rerum potirentur, that ſome, or rather one out of Judea ſhould obtain the Government of the World, as Joſephus hath it; we may be certain that the Jews of that Age did ſo interpret the Propheſies concerning their Meſſiah, as agreeing only to the time when our Chriſt did come, and when Simeon was aſſured by the Holy Ghoſt that this Meſſiah was to come. This, ſaith (m) Joſephus, πολλοὶ τῶν σοφῶν, many of our Wiſe Men gathered from the ſacred Oracles. And indeed this ſeemed ſo certain, that tho' they rejected our Jeſus, yet the Fable ſoon obtained among them, that their Meſſiah was, or might be come, tho' for a ſeaſon he lay hid, by reaſon of their Sins; as we learn from (n) Trypho, and the (o) Targum of Jonathan.

y Ver. 52. Καὶ Ἰησοῦς προέκοπτε σοφίᾳ, &c. And Jeſus increaſed in Wiſdom and Stature, &c.] Vain hence is the Concluſion of Woltzogenius, that Chriſt could not be God, becauſe he cannot wax ſtrong in Spirit, either by advancing in the Perfections of his Mind, or by the Teachings of the Spirit, as Chriſt did, or increaſe in Wiſdom; this being ſpoken of Chriſt, only according to his human Nature; theſe being, ſay the (p) Fathers, τὰ ἀνθρωπότητος διηγήματα, the Indications of his Humanity, and are to be underſtood, κατ' ἀνθρωπίνην ψυχήν, according to his human Soul: And tho' the λόγος was united to the human Soul from his Conception, yet might the Divinity, or the Holy Ghoſt, manifeſt it ſelf to the human Nature as it thought fit, and by degrees inſinuate into it its Gifts and Illuminations, as St. Luke here teacheth; ſo that we need not ſay with others, Chriſt did not really increaſe in Wiſdom, but only ſeem to others ſo to do; for ſeeing the Evangeliſt here joins three things together, his increaſe in Age and Stature, in favour with Men, and in Wiſdom, as he increaſed truly and literally in the two firſt, ſo ſeems he to have done alſo as to his Wiſdom, and the Endowments of his Mind.

CHAP. III.

1. NOW in the fifteenth Year of Tiberius Cæsar, Pontius Pilate being Governour (or Procurator) of Judea, and Herod being Tetrarch of Galilee, and his Brother Philip (being) Tetrarch of Iturea, and of the Region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias (being) Tetrarch, (i. e. Governour of a fourth Division of the Kingdom, named) of (the City Abila,) Abilene.

a 2. [a] Annas and Caiaphas being the High-Priests (to whom were committed the Civil and Ecclesiastical Government of the Jews according to their Laws; Annas being the Ruler of the People, Acts 23. 5. And Caiaphas the Father of the Sanhedrim.) b [b] the Word of God came to John the Son of Zacharias in the Wilderness.

3. And he (having received this Commission from God,) came into all the Country about Jordan, preaching the Baptism of Repentance, for (procuring to them) the Remission of (their) Sins.

4. (And he came) as it is written, in the Book of the Words of Isaias the Prophet, saying (of him, Chap. 40. 3. this is) the Voice of one crying in the Wilderness, prepare ye the way of the Lord make his Paths straight, (for the coming of King Messiah.)

c 5. [c] Every Valley shall be filled, and every Mountain and Hill shall be brought low, and (the ways that are) crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth; (as it useth to be when great Kings take a Journy into any part of their Dominions.)

d 6. [d] And all Flesh shall see (the Messiah, who is emphatically stiled, Isa. 49. 6.— 52. 7, 10.) the Salvation of God, (See Note on Chap. 2. 30.)

7. Then said he to the Multitude that came forth to be baptized of him, (but more especially to the Pharisees, and Sadducees, e Matth. 3. 7.) [e] O Generation of Vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the Wrath (which is) to come (upon this Nation?)

8. Bring forth therefore, (if you indeed desire to escape this Wrath,) Fruits worthy of Repentance, and begin not, (or be not willing in lieu of it) to say within your selves, we have Abraham to our Father, (and so by that have a sufficient Right to the Blessings of the Messiah promised to him, and his Seed;) for I say to you, that (if ye repent not, you are to be cut off; and think not that you being so, no Children of Abraham will be found, to whom this Promise can be made good, for) God is able of these Stones to raise up Children to Abraham: (See Note on Matth. 3, 9.)

9. And (to excite you to this Repentance, know that even) now also the Ax is laid to the Root of the Trees; every Tree therefore that bringeth not forth good Fruit, is (to be) hewn down, and cast into the Fire.

10. And the People aked him, saying, What shall we do then (to prevent, or avert this Ruin?)

11. He answereth, and saith to them, He [f] that hath two Coats, let him impart to him f that hath none, and he that hath Meat let him do likewise; (i. e. he prescribed to them an extensive Charity to all that wanted what they had to spare.)

12. Then came also Publicans to be baptized, and said to him, Master, what shall we do (to escape this Wrath?)

13. And he saith to them, [g] exact no g more than that which is appointed you (to receive:)

14. And the Soldiers likewise demanded of him, saying, And what shall we do? and he said to them, Do [h] Violence to no Man, h neither [i] accuse any (Man) falsly, (or oppress no Man,) but (and) be content with i your Wages.

15. And as the People were in Expectation (of the promised Messiah,) and (so) all Men mused in their Hearts of John, [k] whe- k ther he were the Christ, or not;

16. John answered (their Surmises, by) saying to them all, I indeed baptize you with Water, (and by that Baptism call you to Repentance, to fit you to believe on the Messiah, who will suddenly reveal himself,) but one mightier than I cometh, the Latchet of whose Shoes I am not worthy to unloose, (i. e. whose Servant I am not worthy to be,) he shall baptize you with the Holy Ghost, and with Fire, (i. e. in the Symbol of Fire.)

17. (And he will come as one) whose Fan is in his Hand, and he will throughly purge his Floor, and gather his Wheat into his Garner, but the Chaff he will burn with Fire unquenchable.

18. And many other (such) things in his Exhortation preached he to the People.

19. But Herod the Tetrarch being reproved by him, for Herodias his Brother Philip's Wife, and for all the evils which Herod had done, 20. Added yet this above (them) all, that he shut up John in Prison.

21. Now when all the People were baptized, it came to pass that Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the Heaven opened;

22. And the Holy Ghoſt deſcended (hovering) in a [1] bodily Shape like a Dove upon him, and a Voice came from Heaven, which ſaid, Thou art my beloved Son, in thee I am well pleaſed.

23. And Jeſus himſelf (when he was baptized,) [m] began to be about thirty Years of Age, being, as (it) was ſuppoſed, the Son of Joſeph, which was the Son of Heli,

24. Which was the Son of Matthat, which was the Son of Levi, which was the Son of Melchi, which was the Son of Janna, which was the Son of Joſeph,

25. Which was the Son of Mattathias, which was the Son of Amos, which was the Son of Naum, which was the Son of Eſli, which was the Son of Nagge,

29. Which was the Son of Joſe, which was the Son of Eliezer, which was the Son of Jorim, which was the Son of Matthat, which was the Son of Levi,

30. Which was the Son of Simeon, which was the Son of Judah, which was the Son of Joſeph, which was the Son of Jonan, which was the Son of Eliakim,

33. Which was the Son of Aminidab, which was the Son of Aram, which was the Son of Eſrom, which was the Son of Phares, which was the Son of Juda,

34. Which was the Son of Jacob, which was the Son of Iſaac, which was the Son of Abraham, which was the Son of Thara, which was the Son of Nachor,

35. Which was the Son of Saruch, which was the Son of Ragau, which was the Son of Phaleg, which was the Son of Heber, which was the Son of Sala,

36. Which was the Son of Cainan, which was the Son of Arphaxad, which was the Son of Sem, which was the Son of Noe, which was the Son of Lamech,

37. Which was the Son of Methuſala, which was the Son of Enoch, which was the Son of Jared, which was the Son of Maleleel, which was the Son of Cainan, 38. Which was the Son of Enos, which was the Son of Seth, which was the Son of Adam, which was the Son of God.

a Ver. 2. Ἐπ' ἀρχιερέων Ἄννα καὶ Καϊάφα, Annas and Caiaphas being High-Prieſts.] It is a Rule of the Jews that they do not conſtitute two High-Prieſts together; and yet we have not only mention in (a) Joſephus of Jonathan and Ananias, Ananus and Jeſus, as High-Prieſts at the ſame time, but alſo of a στάσις τῶν ἀρχιερέων, a Contention of the High-Prieſts, againſt the Prieſts and chief Jews; and mention of one Jeſus as (b) γραμματεὺς τῶν ἀρχιερέων, the eldeſt of the High-Prieſts after Ananus. There were then doubtleſs many that bore that Name, even all that ever had been ſo; as we ſtill call them Collonels, and Captains, who once bore thoſe Offices; and eſpecially thoſe of them who were Rulers in the great Sanhedrim, their ſupreme civil Judicature. But then they being many, why are theſe two only mentioned as High-Prieſts? To this Mr. Selden anſwers, that as in the firſt Verſe St. Luke had given an account of their external Government by Tetrarchs, and Procurators, ſo in this he gives an account of that civil and ſacred Government which was left to be managed by themſelves, by the Sanhedrim, and High-Prieſt; and becauſe Annas was then their Naſi, or Prince of the Sanhedrim, whence he is called, the Ruler of the People, Acts 23. 5. and Caiaphas was High-Prieſt that Year, and, as he conjectures, the Father of the Sanhedrim; therefore they only are here named as having the chief Authority, civil and ſacred, in their Hands.

Testament, Τὸ ῥῆμα Θεοῦ ὁ ἐγένετο ἐπὶ Ἱερεμίαν, The Word of the Lord came, or which came, to Jeremiah, chap. 1, 2, 4, 11. Καὶ ἐγένετο λόγος Κυρίου πρὸς Ἰεζεκιηλ, And the Word of the Lord came to Ezekiel, chap. 1. 3. — 6. 1. — 7. 1. — 12. 1. — 13. 1. — 14. 2, 12. and so it is said of the rest. Shall we then think, that this Fore-runner of the Messiah spake the Word of the Lord, as did the Prophets of the Old Testament; and that the Prophets and Apostles of the New Testament, on whom the Holy Ghost descended, to enable them to teach the Mind of Christ to all future Ages of the Church, should not speak and write what they delivered as the Rule of Faith by like Divine Assistance?

c Ver. 5. Πᾶσα φάραγξ πληρωθήσεται, καὶ πᾶν ὄρος καὶ βουνὸς ταπεινωθήσεται, Every Valley shall be filled up, and every Mountain and Hill shall be made low.] These words refer to a known Custom of great Kings, who when they travelled any whither, ὁδοποιοὶ, Waymen were sent before them to make plain their way, by filling up deep places, and levelling those that were high, and smoothing the places that were rough, and making straight the crooked: So Josephus saith, That when Titus came to the Wars, (c) πρόηλθον μὲν βασιλικοὶ, καὶ πᾶν τὸ συμμαχικὸν ἐν οἷς ὁδοποιοὶ, there went before him all the Royal Aids, and all the military men, and those who plained the Ways. Thus the Targum upon Canticles saith, The Cloud went before the Israelites in the Wilderness, three Days Journey, to take down their Hills, and fill up their Valleys before them, according to that of the Psalmist, Psal. 68. 4. rendred by the Greek, ὁδοποιήσατε τῷ ἐπιβεβηκότι ἐπὶ τὴν δύσμην; and by Ainsworth, from the Hebrew, Sollu, Make an High-way for him that rideth in the Deserts, as the word δύσμος signifies, Num. 33. 48, 50. — 36. 13. Deut. 1. 1. Josh. 5. 10. 2 Sam. 4. 7. And this also do they still expect, when they return from their Captivity: Thus Baruch saith, God hath commanded, or appointed, ταπεινοῦσθαι πᾶν ὄρος ὑψηλὸν, καὶ φαράγγας πληρεῦσθαι εἰς ὁμαλισμὸν τῆς γῆς, that every high Mountain, and Bank of long continuance, should be cast down, and every Valley filled up, that Israel may go safely in the Glory of God, chap. 5. 7. So that as when God led his People out of Captivity, thro' the great Desart to the Land of Promise, an High-way was made for him, riding in the Cloud before them, so when Christ comes to proclaim Liberty to the Captives to Sin and Satan, and lead them thro' the Wilderness of this World to the heavenly Canaan, a Voice is again heard in the Wilderness, saying, Prepare ye the Way of the Lord, &c.

Ver. 6. Καὶ ὄψεται πᾶσα σὰρξ τὸ σωτήριον d
τοῦ Θεοῦ, And all Flesh shall see the Salvation of God.] These words are cited from Isa. 52. 10. in which Chapter the ancient Jews allow, that the Prophet is speaking of the Messiah: The Targum on the 13th Verse, saying, Behold, my Servant the Messiah shall be exalted; and the Apostle applying the 7th Verse to the preaching of the Gospel, Rom. 10. 15.

Ver. 7. Γεννήματα ἐχιδνῶν, Ob Generation of Vipers.] What in St. Matthew, chap. 3. 7. is said to be spoken to the Pharisees and Sadduces, is here said to be spoken τοῖς ὄχλοις, to the Multitude coming forth to be baptized; partly, because it was spoken to the Pharisees mixed with the Multitude, and in their Audience, and agreed to them, not only as being generally of one of these two Sects, but being also an adulterous Generation, degenerated from the Seed of Abraham to be the Seed of the Serpent. e

Ver. 11. Ὁ ἔχων δύο χιτῶνας μεταδότω f
τῷ μὴ ἔχοντι, καὶ ὁ ἔχων βρώματα ὁμοίως ποιείτω, He that hath two Coats, let him give to him that hath none; and he that hath Meat, let him do likewise.] The Baptist doth not here make it unlawful to have two Coats; for Peter had two, Acts 12. 8. and Paul likewise, 2 Tim. 4. 13. but only saith, That he that hath one Coat which his Brother wants, and he at present doth not, should rather give it to him, than suffer him to be in want; and he that hath βρώματα περισσὰ, Meats above what he himself needs, should, in like cases, feed his hungry Brother with it; teaching us, that it is not lawful for us to abound in those things which our Brother wants, when we have sufficient both to relieve his, and our own Necessities. Nor could this Precept seem hard to those Philosophers who taught that ἕνι χρῆσθαι χιτῶνι ἢ δύσθαι δυοῖν περιμηκέον, that it was better to use one Coat, than to want two, Stob. Ser. 1. p. 18.

Ver. 13. Μηδὲν πλέον παρὰ τὸ διατεταγμένον g ὑμῖν πράσσετε, Exact no more than that which is appointed you.] The Office of the Publicans was, to collect the Tribute-Money, which in Greek is φόρος, as in Thucydides and Athenæus: And their Name was infamous, saith Strabo, διὰ τὸ πλεονεξίαν, for their exacting more than they ought: saith Tacitus, ob illicitas exactiones, for their unjust Exactions; See the Note on Matth. 9. 11. And hence we see the reason, and the pertinency of this Exhortation; it being not to be expected, that any one should begin to be good, till he ceaseth to be unjust.

h Ver. 14. Μηδένα διασείσητε, Do Violence to no Man.] This word primarily ſignifies to ſhake, and terrifie by ſhaking, and ſo to force Money from any, by fear of what they may ſuffer if they do not give it; and ſecondarily, calumniis infectari, to calumniate a Perſon, as in Ariſtophanes, in Equit. p. 203. which is to ſhake his Reputation, and ſo to render him obnoxious to a Mulct.

i Ibid. Μηδὲ συκοφαντήσητε, Nor accuſe any Man falſly. This word anſwers to the Hebrew עשק, and ſignifies, not only to accuſe falſly, but to circumvent, and oppreſs: So Gen. 43. 18. We are brought in, ἵνα συκοφαντήσας ἡμᾶς, that he may oppreſs us; Job 35. 9. Ἀπὸ πλήθους συκοφαντουμένων κράξουσι, They ſhall cry for the Multitude of Oppreſſors. So Pſal. 72. 4. He ſhall break in pieces συκοφάντην, the Oppreſſor. Pſal. 119. 122. Μὴ συκοφαντησάτωσάν με, Let not the Proud oppreſs me; and, ver. 134. Deliver me ἀπὸ συκοφαντίας, from the Oppreſſion of Men. Prov. 14. 31. Ὁ συκοφαντῶν πένητα, He that oppreſſeth the Poor, deſpiſeth his Maker. So chap. 28. 3, 16. and Eccleſ. 4. 1. I ſaw πάσας τὰς συκοφαντίας, all the Oppreſſions that are under the Sun, and behold the Tears τῶν συκοφαντουμένων, of thoſe that were oppreſſed, and they had no Comforter; and in the Hands τῶν συκοφαντούντων, of thoſe who did oppreſs them, there was Strength.

k Ver. 15. Μήποτε αὐτὸς εἴη ὁ Χριστὸς, Whether, or if ſo be, he were the Chriſt.] Of this ſenſe of μήποτε, See Note on 2 Tim. 2. 25.

l Ver. 22. Καὶ καταβῆναι τὸ ἅγιον πνεῦμα σωματικῷ εἴδει ὡσεὶ περιστερὰν ἐπ' αὐτὸν, And the Holy Spirit deſcended upon him in a bodily Shape as a Dove;] viz. as a Dove uſes to deſcend upon any thing, hovering, and overſhadowing it; for that this relates not to the bodily Shape, as if that had reſembled a Dove, but to the Deſcent of that bodily Shape, is evident from this, That had it related to the firſt, it ſhould have been ὡσεὶ περιστερᾶς, as of a Dove, not ὡσεὶ περιστερᾶν, as a Dove. So Act. 2. 3. there appeared to them cloven Tongues, ὡσεὶ πυρὸς, as of Fire, This bodily Shape ſeems rather to have been that of Light, or a bright Cloud, in which God uſually appeared under the Old Teſtament, and from which he ſpake, and which is uſually called ἡ δόξα τοῦ Κυρίου, the Glory of the Lord: So when the Voice here mentioned was uttered a ſecond time, it is expreſly ſaid, That ἡ νεφέλη φωτεινὴ ἐπεσκίασεν αὐτοὺς, a bright Cloud overſhadowed or hovered over them, and a Voice came from the Cloud, Matth. 17. 5. or as St. Peter ſaith, from the magnificent Glory, 2 Pet. 1. 17. And this Holy Spirit might here be ſaid to deſcend after the manner of a Dove, becauſe that Bird was anciently by the Jews, look'd upon as the Symbol of the Holy Spirit: So Cant. 2. 12. The Voice of the Turtle is heard; that is, ſaith the Chaldy Paraphraſt, קל רוחא דקודשא, the Voice of the Holy Spirit.

Ver. 23. Καὶ αὐτὸς ἦν ὁ Ἰησοῦς ὡσεὶ ἐτῶν τριάκοντα ἀρχόμενος, And Jeſus himſelf began to be about thirty Years of Age;] i. e. He was entring into his thirtieth Year, when he was thus baptized, and conſecrated to his Office. 'Tis therefore certain from the 1ſt Verſe, that in the 15th Year of Tiberius, our Lord was but beginning, or entring upon the thirtieth Year of his Age: And then he ſuffering, as all agree, in the 19th Year of Tiberius, could be but 33 Years and an half when he was crucified. I know the Criticks ſay, That ὡς ἀρχόμενος ὢν, is a Tautology; but ὢν belongs not to this, but to the following Sentence; ὢν ὡς ἐνομίζετο, being, as was ſuppoſed, the Son of Joſeph: They add, that 'tis not rightly ſaid, ἄρχομαι ἐτῶν τριάκοντα; but if ἀρχόμενος τέχνης, i. e. ἀπὸ τέχνης, in (d) Plato, be good Greek, why may not ἀρχόμενος ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, i. e. ἀπ' ἐτῶν τριάκοντα, be good Greek in St. Luke? Moreover, let ἀρχόμενος here be put abſolutely for Chriſt's beginning his Office, and the ſenſe will run thus, That Jeſus was then about thirty Years of Age when he began his Office. And if we conſider, that this was the Age appointed for the Levites to begin the Service of the Sanctuary; that John the Baptiſt began his Office at that Age; and that all the (e) Ancients do agree in this, That our Lord entred on his Office in the 30th Year of his Age; yea, that Irenæus and Euſebius juſtifie this Greek againſt our Criticks; and ſome of them take this for granted upon the Authority of St. Luke: All this will juſtifie our Verſion. And then impoſſible is it to be true, that our Lord ſuffered in the 38th; or, as Irenæus ſaith, lived either till fifty, or between forty and fifty, as he proves from the Teſtimony of the Diſciples of St. John in Aſia, declaring, id ipſum eis tradidiſſe Johannem; They did this, not by conjecture from the Countenance of Chriſt, but by Tradition from the Mouth of the Apoſtle John; yea, that ſome of them heard, hæc eadem, the very ſame things from the Mouth of other Apoſtles, & teſtantur de hujuſmodi rela- m

CHAP. IV.

1. AND Jesus being full of the Holy Ghost, returned from Jordan, and was led by the Spirit into the Wilderness, a 2. Being [a] forty Days (invisibly) tempted of the Devil; and in those Days he did eat nothing, (nor was he hungry,) and (but) when they were ended, he afterwards hungred.

3. And (then) the Devil (visibly appearing,) said to him, If thou be the Son of God, command this Stone, that it (this heap of Stones) be made bread.

4. And Jesus answered him, saying, (There
b is no necessity of that, for) [b] it is written, That Man shall not live by Bread alone, but by every (thing appointed to feed him by the) Word of God.

5. And (then) the Devil taking him up into an high Mountain, shewed him (as in a Map,) all the Kingdoms of the World in a moment of time:

6. And the Devil said to him, All this Power, (i. e. the Power of these Kingdoms,) will I give thee, and the Glory of them; for that is delivered to me, and to whomsoever I will, I give it.

c 7. If thou therefore wilt [c] worship me, all shall be thine.

8. And Jesus answered, and said to him, Get thee behind me, Satan; for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve.

9. And (then) he brought him to Jerusalem, and set him on a Pinnacle (or Battlement) of the Temple, and said to him, If thou be the Son of God, cast thy self down from hence:

10. For it is written, (Psal. 91. 11.) He shall give his Angels charge over thee, to keep thee:

11. And in their Hands they shall bear thee up, lest at any time thou dash thy Foot against a Stone.

12. And Jesus answering, said to him, It is said, Thou shalt not tempt, (i. e. distrust) the Lord thy God; (as I should do, if after a Voice from Heaven, saying to me, Thou art my beloved Son, I should require any farther experiment of that Truth.)

13. And when the Devil had ended all the (se) Temptations, he departed from him for a [d] Season. d

14. And Jesus returned in the Power of the Spirit into Galilee; and there went out a Fame of him throughout the Region round about;

15. And (for) he taught in their Synagogues, being glorified of all.

16. And he came to Nazareth, [e] where e he had been brought up; and as [f] his custom f was, he went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath, and [g] stood up for to read: g

17. And there was delivered to him the Book of the Prophet Esaias; and when he had opened, (i. e. unfolded) the Book, (the Roll,) he found the place where it was written, (Isa. 61. 1.)

18. The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he (the Father) hath anointed me (with the Holy Ghost at my Baptism, Chap. 3. 22.) to [h] preach the Gospel to the poor h (in Spirit,) he hath sent me to heal the Broken-hearted, to preach Deliverance to the Captives, (who are in bondage to the Law of Sin and Death, Rom. 7. 23.) and recovering of Sight to the blind (Jews and Pharisees, who have Eyes and see not, John 9. 40, 41. and the blind Gentiles, Rom. 2. 19.) and to set at liberty those that that are bruiſed (with the weight of their Sins)

i 19. To preach the [i] acceptable Year of the Lord, (the Year of Jubilee and Reſt, which was on that account very acceptable to Servants and Debtors;)

20. And he cloſed (or folded up) the Book, and gave it again to the Miniſter, and ſat down; and the Eyes of all them that were in the Synagogue, were faſtned upon him:

21. And he began to ſay to them, This Day is this Scripture fulfilled (which hath been read) in your Ears.

22. And (when he had expounded to them how it was fulfilled,) all bare him witneſs that ſo it was,) and wondred at the gracious Words which proceeded out of his Mouth; and they ſaid, Is not this Joſeph's Son?

23. And he ſaid to them, You will ſurely ſay to me this Proverb, Phyſician, heal thy ſelf: Whatſoever we have heard done at Capernaum, do alſo here in thy (own) Country; (i. e. do that at home, which it is famed thou haſt done at Capernaum:)

24. And he ſaid, Verily I ſay to you, No Prophet is (ſo well) accepted in his own Countrey, (as elſewhere, they finding Exceptions either againſt him for his Parentage, ver. 22. or his Kindred, Mark 6. 3. 4. or his Habitation, John 1. 47. or his Countrey, John 7. 52.)

25. But I tell you of a truth, (You deſerve for your Infidelity, to be dealt with as Elias dealt with the Iſraelites; for) many Widows were in Iſrael in the Days of Elias, when the k Heavens were ſhut up [k] three Years and ſix Months, when great Famine was throughout all the Land:

26. But to none of them was Elias ſent, ſave to Sarepta, a City of Sidon, to a Woman that was a Widow.

27. And (as in the caſe of Eliſha; for) many Lepers were in Iſrael, in the time of Eliſæus the Prophet, and (but) none of them was cleanſed, ſave Naaman the Syrian: (Even ſo now the Gentiles are more worthy, to whom I ſhould be ſent, than you Jews.)

28. And all they in the Synagogue, when l they heard theſe words, [l] were filled with Wrath;

29. And roſe up, and thruſt him out of the City, and led him to the brow of the Hill, whereon their City was built, that they might caſt him down headlong (thence.)

30. But he paſſing (miraculouſly) thro' the midſt of them, went his way;

31. And came down to Capernaum, a City of Galilee, and taught them on the Sabbath-days.

32. And they were aſtoniſhed at his Doctrine; for his Word was (attended) with (the) [m] Power (of Miracles to confirm it.) m

33. And (for) in the Synagogue, there was a Man who had a Spirit of an unclean Devil; and (he) cried out with a loud Voice,

34. Saying, Let us alone, what have we to do with thee, thou Jeſus of Nazareth? Art thou come to deſtroy us (before the time?) I know thee who thou art, (viz.) the Holy one of God.

35. And (but) Jeſus rebuked him, ſaying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him: And when the Devil had thrown him in the midſt, he came out of him, and hurt him not.

36. And they were all amazed, and ſpake among themſelves ſaying, What a (wonderful Word is this? For with Authority and Power he commandeth the unclean Spirits, and they come out.

37. And the Fame of him went out into every place of the Countrey round about.

38. And he aroſe out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simon's Houſe; and Simon's Wife's Mother was taken with a great Feaver, and they beſought him for her:

39. And he ſtood over her, and rebuked the Feaver, and it left her; and immediately ſhe aroſe, and miniſtred to them.

40. Now when the Sun was ſetting, (and ſo the Sabbath was ending,) all they that had any Sick with divers Diſeaſes, brought them to him; and he laid his Hands on every one of them, and healed them:

41. And Devils alſo came out of many, crying out; and ſaying, Thou art Chriſt, the Son of God; and he rebuking them, ſuffered them not to ſpeak, (refuſing to receive Teſtimony from them, tho' they ſpake the Truth;) for they knew that he was Chriſt.

42. And when it was Day, he departed, and went into a Deſart place; and the People ſought him, and came to him, and (would have) ſtayed him that he ſhould not depart from them:

43. And (but) he ſaid to them, I muſt preach the Kingdom of God to other Cities alſo, for therefore am I ſent.

44. And he preached in the Synagogues of Galilee.

a Ver. 2. Ἡμέρας τεσσαράκοντα πειραζόμενος ὑπὸ τοῦ Διαβόλου — καὶ συντελεσθεισῶν αὐτῶν ὕστερον ἐπείνασε, Being forty Days tempted of the Devil, — and when they were ended, he afterwards hungred.] He was tempted of the Devil only inwardly, and invisibly, during those forty Days; afterwards, by Satan appearing in a visible Shape; for the Devil came unto him, Matth. 4. 3. and departed from him, ver. 11. and tempted him to worship before him: Moreover, seeing Christ did eat nothing during those forty Days and Nights, they, who during the like number of Days, abstain only from Flesh, eating Fish, and drinking Wine plentifully on those Days, do nothing less than imitate the Example of Christ here: And seeing they cannot for forty Days ὀδὲν φάγειν, eat nothing, they can be no more obliged in this, to imitate our Lord than Elias: See the Note on Matth. 4. 2.

b Ver. 4. Γέγραπται ὅτι οὐκ ἐπ' ἄρτῳ μόνῳ ζήσεται ἄνθρωπος, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ παντὶ ῥήματι Θεοῦ, It is written, Man shall not live by Bread alone, but by every Word of God.] The words in Deut. 8. 3. run thus, He suffered thee to hunger, and then fed thee with Manna (a light aerial sort of Food, giving thee as great Strength and Vigour from that as from the Bread and Flesh thou didst eat in Egypt; and this he did providing it miraculously every day,) that he might teach thee (by this Example,) that Man doth not live by Bread only, but by every Word of God, i. e. every thing that he shall please to command to give him Nourishment; so that, tho' I am now hungry, as they were, I have no need to work a Miracle my self to satisfie my Hunger, seeing I know, by this Example, that God, though he suffer his Children to want Bread, yet will command some other thing to preserve them alive, and will himself rather work a Miracle, than they shall want Nourishment.

c Ver. 7. Σὺ ἐὰν προσκυνήσῃς ἐνώπιόν μου, If thou wilt worship before me, ἐὰν πεσὼν προσκυνήσῃς μοι, If thou wilt fall down, and worship me, Matth. 4. 9.] Hence Dr. Lightfoot collects, That it is the same thing to worship the Devil, and before the Devil; and so in like manner, to worship before an Image, and to worship an Image: And this indeed is true, when that before which we worship is the Object, and the reason of the Worship, as in this case it would have been; but it is otherwise, when that before which we worship is only a Circumstance; as when the Jews worshipped before the Ark, or Sanctuary, as Psal. 99. 5, 9. — 132. 7. the Object of that Worship being God, the Ark only the Circumstance, to wit, the place of his peculiar Residence; and much less, when it is a mere accidental Circumstance; as when old Jacob worshipped God upon his Bed, and so bowed down to some part of it.

Ver. 8. See Additions N° 6.

Ver. 13. Ἀπέστη ἀπ' αὐτοῦ ἄχρι καιροῦ, He departed from him for a Season;] Till the time of his Passion; for then only he returned, John 14. 30. and that was his Hour, Luke 22. 53. And if this Enemy of Mankind omitted no Season of tempting Christ, we have reason to believe, he will omit no opportunity of tempting us. d

Ver. 16. Καὶ ἦλθεν εἰς Ναζαρὲτ οὗ ἦν τεθραμμένος, And he came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up:] That he by his Example might teach us, saith Theophylact, first to teach, and to do good to those of our own Family and Abode. e

Ibid. Καὶ εἰσῆλθε κατὰ τὸ εἰωθὸς αὐτῷ ἐν τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῶν Σαββάτων εἰς τὴν Συναγωγήν, And, as his custom was, he went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath-day.] That the Synagogue Worship was then loaded with Rites and Ceremonies of humane Invention, and that the Manners of those who met there were much corrupted, no Man, who is acquainted with the Scriptures, and the Jewish History, can doubt; and yet Christ with his Disciples, go customarily to these Synagogues, as Members of the Church of Nazareth, every Sabbath-day; and he joins with them in their Worship, condemning by his Example the Niceness of our Sectaries. f

Ibid. Καὶ ἀνέῃ ἀναγνῶναι, ver. 20. καὶ πτύξας τὸ βιβλίον ἐκάθισε, And stood up to read, — and closing the Book, he sat down.] Here Christ conforms to the Ceremonies of the Jewish Doctors, who, in honour of the Law and the Prophets, stood up when they read them; because, as the Law was given with Reverence, so is it, say they, to be handled with Reverence; and he sits down to teach, because it was the custom in their Schools and Synagogues to do so: So the Targum on Judg. 2. 6. The Wise Men returned to sit in the Houses of the Synagogues with their Heads covered, and to teach the People the words of the Law: So again, ver. 9. That this was our Lord's constant custom, when he taught the People, we learn from his own words, I sat daily teaching in the Temple, Matth. 26. 55. and from his Practice throughout the Evangelists: See Luke 2. 46. John 8. 2. Moreover, the Book which he read in, being made of Skins of Parchment sewed to each other, and joined to a Stick, upon which it was rolled; he that was to read, unrolled it, till he came to the place where he was g to read, and this was ἀναπτύξαι, to unfold it; and when he had done reading he did πτύξαι, roll it up again, and gave it to the Chaſan, ſtiled here, ὑπηρέτης, the Miniſter of the Synagogue.

h Ver. 18. Εὐαγγελίζεσθαι πτωχοῖς, to preach the Goſpel to the Poor.] To the humble, or poor in Spirit, Matth. 5. 3. See Note on Matth. 11. 5. ἰάσασθαι τοὺς συντετριμμένους τὴν καρδίαν, to heal the broken hearted, i. e. thoſe who are ſo pierced in Heart, and contrite in Spirit for their Sins, as to repent, and turn from them, Iſa. 57. 15. Pſal. 34. 18. — 51. 17. κηρύξαι αἰχμαλώτοις ἄφεσιν, to preach Deliverance to the Captives, to the Jews in Bondage to the Law, Gal. 4. 9. to both Jew and Gentile, under Captivity to the Law of Sin, Rom. 7. 23. and recovering of Sight to the blind Jews and Phariſes, who had Eyes and ſaw not, John 9. 40, 41. and the blind Gentiles, Rom. 2. 19. See the Note there; ἀποστεῖλαι τεθραυσμένους ἐν ἀφέσει, to ſet at Liberty thoſe that are bruiſed with the Chain of their Sins. See Examen Millii here.

i Ver. 19. Κηρύξαι ἐνιαυτὸν Κυρίου δεκτόν, To preach the acceptable Year of the Lord;] The Year of Jubilee and Reſt, when Liberty was to be proclaimed throughout the Land to all the Inhabitants of it, Lev. 25. 8. when Debts were to be remitted, and Poſſeſſions reſtored to the Poor, the Hebrew Servant of the Jew ſet free, and he that was ſold to a Sojourner was to be redeemed, ibid. Hence this Jubilee is by Joſephus rendred ἐλευθερία, Liberty, and by Aquila, ἄφεσις, Remiſſion; and that the Jews themſelves thought this Jubilee did ſignifie a ſpiritual Redemption, is proved by Voiſin de Jubilæo, l. 1. c. 2. and the 42d and 61ſt of Iſaiah being by the Jews themſelves interpreted of the Meſſiah, See Targ. on Iſa. 42. 1. and Synopſis on chap. 61. 1. well might our Lord ſay, ver. 21. This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your Ears.

Ver. 23. See Additions N° 7. (7)

Ver. 25. Ἐπὶ τρία καὶ μῆνας ἕξ, When Heaven was ſhut up three Years, and ſix Months.] k
For Elias tarried a Year at the Brook Kerith, 1 Kings 17. 7. and then in the middle of the third Year came to Ahab, 1 Kings 18. 1.

Ver. 28. Καὶ ἐπλήσθησαν πάντες θυμοῦ, They were all filled with Wrath.] When they heard Chriſt declaring them unworthy of the Benefit of thoſe Miracles which he had done at Capernaum; and by the Inſtances of the Sidonian Widow, and Naaman the Syrian, plainly intimating that his Goſpel ſhould chiefly be received among the Gentiles, they, in a furious Zeal ſeek to deſtroy him; but he, by paſſing unſeen through the midſt of them, or reſtraining their Violence, gave an inſtance of his Divine Power. l

Ver. 32. Ἐν ἐξουσίᾳ ὁ λόγος αὐτοῦ, For his Word was with Power.] That is, either as being confirmed by his Miracles; ſo, with great Power gave the Apoſtles Teſtimony to the Reſurrection of the Lord, Acts 4. 33. Mark 16. 20. See Note on Matth. 7. 29. Or he taught them as a Prophet ſent from God, and delivering his Meſſage to them, which from the time of the Prophets had not been done; whence it was uſually ſaid by the Jews of the times of Ezra, hitherto the Prophets, the Wiſe Men follow, See 1 Maccab. 9. 27. — 14. 41. and of a difficult Queſtion, We leave it undecided till a Prophet ſhall ariſe, 1 Maccab. 4. 46. and when Chriſt came, they ſay, a great Prophet is riſen up among us, Luke 7. 16. and enquire of him ποίᾳ ἐξουσίᾳ, by what extraordinary Authority he did theſe things, and who gave him that Authority, Matth. 21. 23. m

CHAP. V.

1. AND it came to paſs, that as the People preſſed upon him to hear the Word of God, he ſtood by the Lake of Genneſareth.

2. And ſaw two Ships ſtanding by (the Shoar of) the Lake; but the Fiſhermen were gone out of them, and were waſhing (Gr. having waſhed) their Nets.

3. And he entred into one of the Ships, (viz. that) which was Simon's, and prayed him that he would thruſt out (the Ship) a little from the Land, and (this being done) he ſat down, and taught the People out of the Ship.

4. Now when he had left ſpeaking (to the People,) he ſaid to Simon, launch out into the Deep, and let down your Nets for a Draught (of Fiſhes;)

5. And Simon anſwering, ſaid to him; Maſter, we have toiled all the Night, and have taken nothing, nevertheleſs, at thy Word I will let down the Net.

6. And when they had done this, they incloſed a great Multitude of Fiſhes, and the Net brake;

7. And they (finding this) beckned to their Partners which were (now) in the other Ship, that they ſhould come and help them: And they came, and filled both Ships, ſo (full) that they began to ſink (with the weight of the Fiſhes.)

8. When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus's Knees, saying, Depart from me, a for I am a [a] sinful Man, O Lord, (and so unworthy of the Presence of so Divine a Person as I perceive thou art.)

9. (This he spake from a great sense of the Majesty of Christ;) for he was astonished, and all that were with him at the Draught of Fishes which they had taken:

10. And so were also James, and John, the Sons of Zebedee, which were Partners with Simon, (and were in the other Ship;) And (but) Jesus said to Simon, Fear not, from henceforth thou shalt catch Men, (i. e. shalt be instrumental to draw Men into the Net of the Gospel, See Acts 2. 41.)

11. And when they had brought their Ship to Land, they forsook all (their other Business,) and followed him.

12. And it came to pass when he was in b (the Confines of) a [b] certain City, (to wit Capernaum, Mark 2. 1.) behold a Man (was there) full of Leprosie, who seeing Jesus, fell on his Face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt thou canst make me clean:

c 13. And he put forth his Hand, and [c] touched him, saying, I will, be thou clean; and immediately the Leprosie departed from him.

14. And he charged him to tell no Man, but (or, and said to him) go and shew thy self to the Priest (first,) and offer for thy cleansing according as Moses commanded, for a Testimony to them, (that thou art cleansed from thy Leprosie.)

15. But so much the more (did he divulge it, so that thence) went there a Fame abroad of him, and great Multitudes came together to hear (him) and to be healed by him of their Infirmities.

16. And he withdrew himself into the Wilderness, and prayed; (Gr. he was withdrawn into the Wilderness, and praying;)

17. And it came to pass on a certain day, as (that) he was teaching, that (Gr. and) there were Pharisees and Doctors of the Law sitting by, which were come out of every Town of Galilee, and Judea, and Jerusalem;
d and the [d] Power of the Lord was present (with him) to heal them, (who came to be healed of their Infirmities, ver. 15.)

18. And behold, Men brought in a Bed a Man that was taken with the palsie, and they sought means to bring him in (to the House) and lay him before him.

19. And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in, because of the Multitude, they went up on the House top, and let him down through the Tiling with his Couch, into the midst (of the People) before Jesus.

20. And when he saw their Faith, he said to him, Man, thy Sins are forgiven thee.

21. And the Scribes and Pharisees began to reason; saying, Who is this who speaketh (these) Blasphemies, (making himself God? For) who can forgive Sins but God alone?

22. But when Jesus perceived their Thoughts, he answered, and said to them, (for) what (cause) reason ye (thus) in your Hearts?

23. (For) whether is easier to say, thy Sins be forgiven thee, or to say (effectually, that which is a certain Indication that the Punishment of them is remitted, viz.) rise up, and walk.

24. But (I chuse to say the first) that ye may know, that the Son of Man hath Power upon Earth to forgive Sins; (then) (he said unto the sick of the Palsie) I say unto thee, arise, and take up thy Couch, and go to thine House:

25. And immediately he arose up before them, and took up that whereon he lay, and departed to his own House, glorifying God.

26. And they (who saw this) were all amazed, and they glorified God, and were filled with fear, saying, We have seen strange things to Day.

27. And after these things he went forth, and saw a Publican named [e] Levi (or Matthew) sitting at the Receipt of Custom, and he said to him, follow me. e

28. And he left all (his Toll business, and) rose up (instantly,) and followed him:

29. And Levi made him a great Feast in his own House, and there was a great Company of Publicans, and others that sat down with him, (and his Disciples, Matth. 9. 10.)

30. But [f] their Scribes and Pharisees, (i. e. f the Scribes and Pharisees of that place) murmured against his Disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with Publicans and Sinners?

31. And Jesus answering, said to them, (this is done because they most need my help, for) they that are whole need not the Physician, but they that are sick;

32. (And this suits best with the reason of my Advent, for) I came not to call the Righteous but Sinners to Repentance.

33. And they (who followed John, Matth. 9. 14.) said to him, Why do (we) the Disciples of John fast often, and make Prayers, and likewise the Disciples of the Pharisees; but thine eat and drink (on our Fasting Days?)

34. And he said to them, Can ye (reasonably) make the Children of the Bride-chamber, (or Guests of a Marriage Feast,) fast while the Bridegroom is with them?

35. But the days will (shortly) come, when the Bridegroom shall (by Death) be taken from them, and then shall they fast in those days.

36. And he spake also a Parable to them (relating to the same purpose saying,) No

a Ver. 8. Ἔξελθε ἀπ' ἐμοῦ ὅτι ἀνὴρ ἁμαρτωλός εἰμι Κύριε, Depart from me, for I am a ſinful Man, O Lord!] Not in that famous ſenſe in which the Sinner is joined with Publicans and Heathens, and denotes, one who hath caſt off the Fear of God, and given up himſelf to Wickedneſs; for this his Fear was an indication of a Religious Mind. Moreover, hence it is probable, that St. Peter had higher Apprehenſions of Chriſt, than of a mere Man, ſeeing of old, Men were only ſtruck with ſuch a Fear from the Preſence of the Divine Majeſty, or of ſome Angels delivering their Meſſage in his Name, Gen. 32. 30. Judg. 6. 22.—13. 22. Iſa. 6. 5.

b Ver. 12. Ἐν τῇ μιᾷ τῶν πόλεων, When he was in one of the Cities,] i. e. When he came down from the Mount, Matth. 8. 2. being about to enter into Capernaum, (into which he entred after he had healed the Leper, Mark 2. 1.) a Leper meets him in the Field of that City, the Law not admitting ſuch to come into a City; he is therefore here ſaid to be in the City, as being in the Field near to it; ſo to be in Jericho, Joſh. 5. 13 is to be in the Field of Jericho, or by Jericho; and to ſmite them begibajon in Gibeon, Joſh. 10. 10. is to do it in the Fields of Gibeon. This Leper came to him πεσὼν ἐπὶ πρόσωπον, bowing down with his Face to the Earth, ſaith Luke here, προσκυνῶν, worſhipping, Matth. 8. 2. γονυπετῶν, bending his Knees, Mark 1. 40. So Luke 8. 41. Jairus came to him πεσὼν παρὰ πόδας, falling down at his Feet, προσκυνῶν, Matth. 9. 18.

c Ver. 13. Ἥψατο αὐτοῦ, he touched him;] To ſhew, that he, being a Prophet, was not obliged to obſerve the Punctilio's of the Ceremonial Law.

(8) Ver. 14. See Additions N°. 8.

d Ver. 17. Καὶ δύναμις Κυρίου ἦν εἰς τὸ ἰᾶσθαι αὐτούς, And the Power of the Lord was preſent to heal them,] who came to be healed of their Infirmities, ver. 15. not the Phariſees and Lawyers, who had no Faith to be healed, and perhaps no need of it; it being a known Rule that Pronouns often do refer not to the immediate precedent, but the remoter Noun. So Matth. 11. 1. he taught ἐν ταῖς πόλεσιν αὐτῶν, not in the Cities of his Diſciples, for they had none, but of the Jews. So Pſal. 99. 8. Thou anſwereſt them, Moſes and Aaron, ver. 6. and tookeſt Vengeance on their Inventions, i. e. the Inventions of the People. See Matth. 12. 9. Acts 15. 11. See Glaſſ. de Pronom. l. 3. Tr. 2. Can. 10.

e Ver. 27. Τελώνην ὀνόματι Λευὶν, A Publican named Levi.] That this Levi was not the ſame with Matthew, mentioned Matth. 9. 9. Grotius, and thoſe who follow him conceive; (1.) Becauſe Matthew never calls himſelf Levi, nor doth Mark, Chap. 2. 14. or Luke, ever call Levi, Matthew: To which Argument (a) St. Jerom anſwers, that Matthew out of Modeſty and in remembrance of his former Life, ſtiles himſelf Matthew the Publican, Chap. 10. 3. But Mark and Luke never call him the Publican, but mention his more honourable Name, ne antiquæ converſationis recordantes, leſt they ſhould ſeem to reproach him by remembring his former Converſation; it is enough that St. Mark calls his Levi the Son of Alpheus, as Matthew is in Church Hiſtory ſaid to be the Son of Alpheus. As therefore Saul after his Converſion is almoſt always called Paul, ſo might Matthew the Publican, by theſe two Evangeliſts be called Levi. (2.) He adds that Heracleon who was near to the Apoſtle's time, reckons Matthew, and Philip, and Thomas, and Levi, among them who had no occaſion to own Chriſt before Princes, or ſuffer Martyrdom on that account, as (b) Clemens of Alexandria teſtifies. I anſwer, There is no regard to be had to this Valentinian Heretick, eſpecially when he contradicts the Opinion of all the Ancients, in ſaying that Matthew and Philip, and Thomas did not ſuffer Martyrdom.

dom. See Dr. Cave in the Life of Matthew, p. 134. of Philip, p. 125. of St. Thomas, p. 139. Against him we oppose the Apostolical Constitutions, introducing him speaking thus, ἐγὼ Ματθαῖος ὁ καὶ Λεύις, I Matthew named also Levis; the Testimonies of St. Jerom and Sophronius, in voce Matthæus, and others of the Ancients; See Cotelerius in Constit. Apost. p. 315. (3) He adds, that when Celsus objected that our Lord gathered Publicans, (c) Origen confesses that Matthew was a Publican, but he denies that Levi was so. To this it is answered, that the same Origen, in his Preface to the Epistle to the Romans, and in the place cited in the Catenæ on St. Matthew, says expressly, that he whom St. Matthew stiles by the Name of Matthew the Publican, is by St. Luke called Levi. See another Answer in Cotelerius, ibid. In a word, sure it must be in vain to object against an History in Mark, and Luke, where he is called Levi, so exactly agreeing with that in St. Matthew, where he is called Matthew, that not a circumstantial difference can be discerned; insomuch, that even Mr. Cl. who in his Annotations quarrels with Dr. Hammond for following an Opinion confuted by Grotius, in his Harmony is himself forced to do what he corrects Dr. Hammond for doing; his words are these, vidit Publicanum cui nomen erat Levi, seu Matthæus. Moreover, that this Levi being called, instantly left all, and followed Christ, both Mark and Luke attest; now this is the Note of an Apostle, Matth. 19. 27. See also Examen var. lect. Mill. in Matth. 10. 3.

Ver. 30. Ἐγόγγυζον οἱ γραμματεῖς αὐτῶν, Their Scribes and Pharisees murmured; saying, διὰ τί; why eateth?] i.e. The Scribes and Pharisees, not the Guests that sat down μετ' αὐτῶν, with them, ver. 29. (for then they must themselves have been guilty of the same Crime, for which they murmured against Christ,) but the Scribes of the Jews; for what is here, their Scribes, is absolutely, Mark 2. 16. the Scribes. So in their Cities, Matth. 11. 1. is in the Cities, not of Christ's Disciples, but of the Jews; and he entred εἰς συναγωγὴν αὐτῶν, into a Synagogue of theirs, Chap. 12. 9. i.e. not into a Synagogue of the Pharisees to whom he spake, ver. 2. but of the Jews. Schmidius also here observes, that διὰ τί here, is as much as, by what Privilege? for εἰς τί and ἵνα τί, denote the final Cause, but διὰ τί, the antecedent reason. f

Ver. 39. Ὁ παλαιὸς χρηστότερός ἐστιν, For he saith, the old is better.] So Cicero de Amicitiis, veterrimæ quæque, ut ea Vina quæ vetustatem ferunt, esse debent suavissimæ, old Friendships, as old Wines, are to be deemed the sweetest. g a 1. AND it came to pass on the [a] second Sabbath after the first, (Gr. on the first Sabbath after the second Day of the Feast of unleavened Bread,) that he (Christ) went through the Corn Fields, and his Disciples plucked the Ears of Corn, and did eat (of them) rubbing them in their Hands.

2. And certain of the Pharisees said to them, Why do ye that which (it) is not lawful to do on the Sabbath days?

3. And Jesus answering them, said, Have ye not read so much as this, (which is a case parallel to that of my Disciples, viz.) what David did, when himself was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4. How he went into the House of God, and did take, and eat the Shew-bread, and gave also to them that were with him, which (Bread by the Letter of the Law) it is not lawful to eat, but for the Priests alone?

5. And (moreover) he said to them, that the Son of Man is Lord also of the Sabbath, (i. e. he who came to save Mens Lives must have Power in such cases, as concern the Good and Welfare of Men, to dispense with the strict Rest required by the Law of the Sabbath.)

6. And it came to pass also on another Sabbath, that he entred into a Synagogue, and taught; and there was a Man whose right Hand was withered:

7. And the Scribes and Pharisees, (having asked him whether it were lawful to heal on the Sabbath day, Matth. 12. 10.) watched him, whether he would heal on the Sabbath day, that (if he did so) they might find an Accusation against him, (as one that kept not the Sabbath day, John 9. 16.)

8. But he knew their Thoughts, (or Reasonings,) and said to the Man who had the withered Hand, Rise up, and stand forth in the midst (of the Synagogue;) and he arose and stood forth.

9. Then said Jesus to them, I will (also) ask you one thing, (viz.) Is it lawful on the Sabbath days to do Good, or to do Evil, to save Life, or to destroy it?

10. And looking round about upon them all, (and receiving no Answer from any of them,) he said to the Man, Stretch forth thy Hand, and he did so, and his Hand was restored whole as the other:

11. And they were filled with Madness, and communed one with another, what they might do to Jesus, (i. e. how they might de- ſtroy or puniſh him with Death, for violating the Sabbath, Matth. 9. 14.)

12. And it came to paſs in thoſe Days, that he went out to a Mountain to pray, and b continued all Night in [b] Prayer to God, (Gr. ἐν τῇ προσευχῇ τοῦ Θεοῦ in God's Houſe of Prayer, or in a Synagogue dedicated to his Service.)

13. And when it was Day, he called to him his Diſciples, and (out) of them he choſe twelve (to be his conſtant Attendants, and Witneſſes of his Actions, John 15. 27.) whom alſo he named Apoſtles; (i. e. Perſons whom he would ſend to preach in his Name to the Jews firſt, and after to the Gentiles:)

14. (Viz.) Simon whom he alſo named Peter, and Andrew his Brother, James and John, Philip and Bartholomew, 15. Matthew and Thomas, James the Son of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelotes, 16. And Judas the Brother of James, and Judas Iſcariot, which alſo was the Traitor.

17. And he came down with them, and ſtood in the Plain, and (with him were) the Company of his Diſciples, and a great Multitude of People out of all Judea, and Jeruſalem, and from the Sea Coaſt of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed of their Diſeaſes;

18. And they that were vexed with unclean Spirits, and they were healed.

19. And the whole Multitude (of them who came to be healed,) ſought to touch him, for there went Virtue out of him, and healed them all (who thus touched him.)

20. And he lifted up his Eyes on his Diſ-c ciples, and ſaid, [c] bleſſed be ye (who are) poor (in Spirit,) for yours is the Kingdom of God.

21. Bleſſed are ye that hunger now (after Righteouſneſs,) for ye ſhall be filled: Bleſſed are ye that weep now (with that godly Sorrow which works Repentance,) for ye ſhall (find that Comfort which will make you) laugh.

22. Bleſſed are ye when Men ſhall hate you, and when they ſhall ſeparate you from their Company, and ſhall reproach you, and ſhall caſt out your Name as evil (Doers,) for the Son of Man's ſake; (i. e. for the ſake of the Meſſiah, ſtiled by Daniel, the Son of Man, Dan. 7. 14.)

23. Rejoyce ye in that day, and leap for Joy, for behold your Reward is great in Heaven; (your caſe being like in this to thoſe holy Prophets, who are now in Heaven,) for in the like manner did their Fathers to the Prophets.

24. But wo to you that are rich, (and by thoſe Riches are indiſpoſed to follow me,) for you have received your Conſolation (in this Life;)

25. Wo to you that are full, (and therefore do not hunger after Righteouſneſs,) for ye ſhall hunger: Wo to you that laugh now, (when you are called to Repentance, to fit you to receive the Goſpel,) for ye ſhall mourn and weep, (when ye find your ſelves excluded from the Kingdom of God, Matth. 8. 12.)

26. Wo to you when [d] all (the) Men (of d the World) ſpeak well of you, (this being a Sign that you imitate thoſe falſe Prophets who ſpake things pleaſing to the People;) for ſo did their Fathers to the falſe Prophets.

27. But I ſay to you that hear (me) Love your Enemies, do good to them that hate you,

28. Bleſs them that curſe you, and pray for them that deſpitefully uſe you.

29. And to him that ſmiteth thee (with his Palm) on the one Cheek, offer (i. e. permit) alſo the other (to be ſmitten;) and him that taketh away thy Cloke, forbid not to take thy Coat alſo, (rather than contend by force, or before the Magiſtrate, about ſupportable Injuries.)

30. Give to every (indigent) Man that aſketh of thee (what he wants, and thou canſt ſpare) and of him [e] that taketh away thy e Goods, ask them not again, (in a judiciary manner; See Note on Matth. 5. 42. or urge not the reſtoring them to the Detriment of Charity, or ſo as to quarrel, or ſhew a contentious Spirit about them.)

31. And as ye would that Men ſhould do to you, (in equal Circumſtances,) do ye alſo to them likewiſe.

32. For if [f] ye love them (only) that love f you, what thank have ye? (i. e. what Reward can ye expect for that which even the worſt of Men will do? ver. 35.) for Sinners alſo love thoſe that love them.

33. And if ye do good to them (only) which do good to you, what thank have ye? for Sinners alſo do even the ſame.

34. And if ye lend to them (only) of whom ye hope to receive (what ye lend,) what thank have ye? for Sinners alſo lend to Sinners, tō receive as much again.

35. But love ye your Enemies, and do good, and [g] lend, (tho') hoping for nothing g again, and your Reward (in Heaven) ſhall be great, and ye ſhall (ſhew your ſelves to) be the Children of the higheſt (God;) for he is kind to the unthankful, and to the evil.

36. Be ye therefore merciful as your Father alſo is merciful.

37. Judge not (unneceſſarily,) and ye ſhall not be judged; condemn not, and ye ſhall not be condemned; forgive (others their Treſpaſſes,) and ye ſhall be forgiven (yours;)

38. Give, and it ſhall be given to you; good Meaſure, preſſed down, and ſhaken together, and running over, ſhall [h] Men give h the same (liberal) Measure that ye mete withal, it shall be measured to you (by God) again, (2 Cor. 9. 6, 8, 10.)

[To this Sermon of Christ the Evangelist here adds other things spoken by Christ at other times, but tending to engage Men to observe these Precepts, or to take off their Exceptions against them.]

39. And (first against the Pharisees, who being covetous derided these charitable Doctrines, Luke 16. 14.) he spake a Parable to them (that heard him, saying,) Can the blind (Pharisees) lead the blind (in the right way? if they commit themselves to their Conduct,) shall they not both fall into the Ditch?

40. And to remove that fear of Poverty, Reproach, and Injuries, to which this practice might subject his Followers, he said,) Thy Disciple is not (to expect to be) above his
i Master, but every one that [i] is perfect, (i. e. fully instructed in these Rules,) shall (will) be as his Master, (i. e. conformed to him in these things; See Matth. 10. 25.)

41. And (as for his Command not to judge others, when we our selves are greater Criminals, his Question upon that occasion was,) Why beholdest thou the Mote that is in thy Brother's Eye, but perceivest not the Beam that is in thine own Eye?

42. Either (or) how canst thou say to thy Brother, Brother, let me pull out the Mote that is in thine Eye, when thou thy self beholdest not the Beam which is in thine own Eye? Thou Hypocrite, cast out first the Beam out of thine own Eye, and then shalt thou see clearly (how) to pull out the Mote that is in thy Brother's Eye.

43. For (then only wilt thou be fit to direct others well, both by Example, and by Words, when thou art good thy self, seeing,) a good Tree bringeth not forth corrupt Fruit, neither doth a corrupt Tree bring forth good Fruit;

44. For every Tree is known by his own Fruit; for of Thorns Men do not gather Figs, nor of (or from) a Bramble Bush gather they Grapes:

45. (And in like manner) A good Man out of the good Treasure of his Heart, bringeth forth that which is Good, and an evil Man out of the evil Treasure of his Heart, bringeth forth that which is Evil; for of (from) the abundance of his Heart his Mouth speaketh.

46. And (he said moreover,) why (to what purpose) call ye me Lord, Lord, (i. e. profess your selves my Disciples, and (yet) do not the things that I say (ye ought to do?)

47. (For) Whosoever cometh to me, and heareth my Sayings, and doth them, I will shew you to whom he is like,

48. He is like a Man who built an House, and digged deep, and laid the Foundation on a Rock; and when the Flood arose, the Stream beat vehemently upon that House, and (yet) could not shake it; for it was founded upon a Rock.

49. But he which heareth (my words,) and doth (them) not, is like a Man that without a Foundation built an House upon the Earth; against which the Stream did beat vehemently, and immediately it fell, and the Ruin of that House was great.

a Ver. 1. Ἐγένετο ἐν σαββάτῳ δευτεροπρώτῳ, It came to pass in the second Sabbath after the first.] This should have been render'd, in the first Sabbath after the second day of the Passover; for after the first Day of the Passover which was a Sabbath, Exod. 12. 16. ἀπὸ τῆ ἐπαύριον τῆ σαββάτων, from the Morrow after the Sabbath, (that is, saith Josephus, τῆ δευτέρᾳ ἀζύμων ἡμέρᾳ, from the second day of unleavened Bread, that is, the sixteenth of the month. Antiq. l. 3. c. 10.) ye shall count unto you seven Sabbaths complete, Lev. 23. 15. reckoning that day for the first of the first Week, which was therefore called δευτεροπρώτον, the first Sabbath from this second day of unleavened Bread; the second was called δευτεροδεύτερον, the second Sabbath from that day, and the third δευτερότριτον, the third Sabbath from that second day; and so on till they came to the seventh Sabath from that day, i. e. to the 49th day, which was the day of Pentecost. The mention of the seven Sabbaths to be numbred with relation to this second day, answers all that Grotius objects against this Exposition; see Petavius on Epiphan. Hær. 30. n. 32. where Epiphanius expresly says, our Lord's Disciples did this τῷ σαββάτῳ τῷ μετὰ τὴν ἡμέραν τῶν ἀζύμων, on the Sabbath following the day of unleavened Bread; which if understood of the second day, is the truth. And if Pentecost was called, the Feast of Harvest, Exod. 23. 16. (as Bochart, Hieroz. part 1. l. 3. c. 13. Nicholas Fuller, Miscell. l. 3. c. 11. Mr. Mede, Disc. 46. p. 355. Dr. Lightfoot and the Jews say. See Temple Serv. c. 14. Sect. 4.) because then their Barley and Wheat-Harvest was gathered in, this Feast could not be Pentecost, as Grotius conjectures, because then the Corn must be gathered in; and therefore could not be pluck'd by Christ's Disciples in the Field.

And ſo the word προσευχὴ is certainly uſed, Act. 16. 13. and by (a) Philo, in his Oration againſt Flaccus, where he complains, That αἱ προσευχαὶ, their Houſes for Prayer were pull'd down; and there was no place left, in which they might worſhip God, or pray for Cæſar: And by (b) Joſephus, who ſays, The Multitude was gathered, εἰς τ῀ προσευχὴν, into the Houſe of Prayer: And ſo (c) Juvenal ſpeaks of the mendicant Jew, Ede ubi conſiſtas, in quâ te quæro Proſeuchâ? In what Houſe of Prayer may I find thee begging, or asking Alms?

c Ver. 20 ---- 26. Μακάριοι οἱ πτωχοὶ, Bleſſed are the Poor, the Hungry, the Mourners, for the Son of Man's ſake.] Here being but four of the eight Beatitudes mentioned Matth. 5. and not one of theſe being delivered in the ſame words which are there uſed; as it is certain, this muſt be another Sermon than that on the Mount, and ſpoken to other Auditors; ſo is it only probable, not neceſſary, that they ſhould bear the ſame ſenſe. However, it ſeems neceſſary, that what is here added to the laſt Clauſe, ſhould agree to them all, Bleſſed are they who patiently ſuffer Poverty, and Hunger, Grief, and Perſecution, for the ſake of Chriſt, that they may obtain that Kingdom, and that Reward in Heaven he hath promiſed to his faithful Servants; or, that the Poor ſhould be the poor in Spirit, the Hungry thoſe that hunger after Righteouſneſs, and the Mourners thoſe that ſorrow to Repentance after a godly manner; 2 Cor. 7. 9. for to thoſe that are otherwiſe poor and hungry, and upon other accounts, theſe Bleſſings cannot always belong; And the oppoſite Woes, which ſeem to favour the firſt Interpretation of theſe four Beatitudes, muſt be reſtrained to them, who, by the love of Riches, Pleaſures, and plentiful Proviſions, are kept from preparing themſelves by Repentance for, and ſo from entring into Chriſt's Kingdom, or chuſing that narrow and afflictive Way which leadeth unto Life eternal; for even here, the very Chriſtian Sufferer is to rejoice, and leap for joy; and the rich Man, who is ready when Chriſt calleth, to leave all, and follow him, who is rich in good Works, ready to give, and willing to diſtribute, layeth up for himſelf a good Foundation againſt the time to come, 1 Tim. 6. 19.

Ver. 26. Οὐαὶ ὑμῖν ὅταν καλῶς ὑμᾶς εἴπωσι πάντες οἱ ἄνθρωποι, Woe unto you when all Men ſpeak well of you; for ſo did your Fathers to the falſe Prophets:] For he that will be pleaſing to all, muſt ſpeak things grateful to all, and do what they like; now that cannot be good which is grateful to bad Men: Thus the falſe Prophets, whom the Jews commended, ſpake to them ſmooth things, Iſa. 30. 10. they propheſied Lies, becauſe the People loved to have it ſo; they propheſied of Peace, when War was at hand, Jer. 6. 14. — 8. 11. — 14. 13. Ezek. 13. 10, 16. Zach. 10. 2. they ſtrengthened the Hand of Evil doers, Jer. 23. 14. and daubed with untempered Mortar, Exek. 13. 10, 11. See examen Milii. d

Ver. 30. From him that taketh away what is thine, μὴ ἀπαίτει, ask it not again;] i. e. if any Man will not ask, but without asking will take away, or detain from thee what is thine, ask it not again, either in a Judiciary manner, See Note on Matth. 5. 40, 42. or urge not the reſtoring of it to the detriment of Charity or Mercy; They who would interpret theſe words thus, From him that receiveth any Loan from thee, exact no Uſury, put a double Force upon the words: For, (1*ſt*,) Our Saviour doth not here ſay as he doth, Matth. 5. 42. τ῀ θέλοντα ἀπὸ σοῦ δανείσασθαι, From him that would borrow of thee, turn not thou away; but ἀπὸ τ῀ αἴροντος τὰ σὰ, from him that will take up, or take away that which is thine, ask it not again: Now he that is willing to borrow of me, owns that which he would borrow to be mine, and ſo cannot be willing at the ſame time, to take away what is mine: (2*dly*,) Whereas, they render the word ἀπαιτεῖν, to exact Uſury, and for this ſenſe appeal to the uſe of it in Nehemiah; it is evident, that there it hath no ſuch ſenſe, but plainly relates to their unjuſt Exactions of Debts, and Services of their Brethren, againſt the Law, requiring them to remit thoſe Debts and Services every ſeventh Year, ſaying, Every ſeventh Year thou ſhalt make a Releaſe; and this is the manner of the Releaſe; Every Creditor that lendeth any thing to his Neighbour, (Gr. πᾶν χρέος ἴδιον ὃ ὀφείλει σοὶ ὁ πλησίον, every Debt of thine thy Neighbour oweth thee, thou ſhalt releaſe; and of thy Brother, οὐκ ἀπαιτήσεις, thou ſhalt not exact it; of a Foreigner, ἀπαιτήσεις, thou mayeſt exact it, but e to thy Brother thou shalt remit thy Debt, Deut. 15. 1, 2, 3. and so for Services, Ex. 21. 2. Jer. 34. 14. Accordingly, saith Nehemiah, let us remit the seventh Year, ומשא כל יד, ἡ ἀπαίτησιν πάσης χειρός, and the Exaction of every Debt: So Deut 15. 2. כל משה ידו, πᾶν χρέος ἴδιον, All thy own Debt thou shalt remit. When therefore he saith, Chap. 5. 10. Let us remit, I pray you, τὴν ἀπαίτησιν ταύτην, this Exaction, he must refer to the same Debt; and when he says, ver. 7. ἀπαιτήσῃ, Should a Man exact of his Brother, ἃ ὑμεῖς ἀπαιτεῖτε, the things which ye exact? He plainly refers to the Sin taxed in the Jews by Jeremy, Chap. 34. of demanding Service of them again after these Years of Release were expired. So also, Ecclus. 20. 14, 15. The Gift of a Fool will do thee no good, σήμερον δώσει, καὶ αὔριον ἀπαιτήσῃ, he will lend to day, and ask it again to morrow: And, Lastly, If the first Words referred to Matth. 5. 42. μὴ ἀπαιτεῖν here, must be the same with μὴ ἀποστρέφειν there, which sure hath no relation to Usury.

f Ver. 32. Ἐὰν ἀγαπᾶτε τοὺς ἀγαπῶντας ὑμᾶς ποία ὑμῖν χάρις; If you love them that love you, what thank have you? for Sinners also love those that love them.] Here, saith Theophylact, if you only love them that love you, you are not only like to Sinners and Heathens; but if you love those that do evil to you, you are like to God; Ποῖον οὖν θέλεις ὅμοιοι εἶναι, τοῖς ἁμαρτωλοῖς, ἢ τῷ Θεῷ; Which therefore should you chuse to be like Sinners, or like God?

g Ver. 35. Καὶ δανείζητε, μηδὲν ἀπελπίζοντες, and lend, hoping for nothing again.] They who render these Words, making no Man to despair, put a double Force upon the Words; (1*st*,) Reading μηδένα, no Man, for μηδὲν, nothing; and (2*dly*,) Interpreting ἀπελπίζειν, to make to despair; of which sense, they afford no instance: They who render them, distrusting nothing, i. e. not fearing lest thou shouldest be reduced to Poverty by this Charity, give a sense alien from the Text; for when they say, the Heathens give, and lend, knowing that they may want themselves, this they add of their own to the Words of Christ, who says, They lend, ἵνα ἀπολαβῶσι τὰ ἴσα, that they may receive as much again; and they reject that sense the Text doth manifestly require; for so run the preceding Words, If ye lend to those, παρ' ὧν ἐλπίζετε ἀπολαβεῖν, from whom you hope to receive again what you lend, what thank have you? for, do not Sinners lend to Sinners to receive, or that they may receive what they lend again? But, lend not you on so mean account, but even when you hope to receive nothing back from them you lend to. And whereas we are told, That the Word ἀπελπίζω bears no such sense; I hope the credit of Stephanus, who says, the Word is rightly rendred by the Vulgar, nihil inde sperantes; and of Casaubon, who saith, ἀπελπίζειν is ἀπὸ τοῦ πράγματός τι ἐλπίζειν, to hope for something from a Person, or Matter; may be sufficient to support the Credit of our Translation; especially when we read in the Life of Solon, that he made no Law against Parricides, διὰ τὸ ἀπελπίσαι, because he did not expect that such a Crime would be committed, Diog. Laert. l. 1. p. 17. See Additi- (10) ons N° 10. But, (2.) Where it is rendred by them, to despair, or to be desperate, the sense is still the same, viz. to be μηδὲν ἀπελπίζοντες, hoping for nothing from Men, and therefore repairing to God. This is the plain sense of it, Isa. 29. 19. Jud. 9. 12. Esth. 14. 19. So Ecclus 22. 21. — 27. 21. μὴ ἀπελπίζῃς, is, Be not without hope of Reconciliation with thy Friend; and why then may not the Words here signifie, Being without hope of receiving any thing again from him you lend to? So that it is not to be doubted, that these Words are well rendred by (d) Chrysostom, Πρὸς ὧν δ' προσδοκῶμεν ἀπολαμβάνειν, From whom you expect not to receive.

Ver. 38. Δώσουσι,] impersonaliter interpre- h tandum, is to be rendred impersonally, saith Grotius. See Note on Chap. 16. 9.

Ver. 40. Καταρτισμένος δὲ πᾶς ἔσται ὡς ὁ διδάσκαλος αὐτοῦ, But every one that is perfect, shall (will) be as his Master.] Καταρτίζεσθαι, is to be perfect in any thing, Matth. 21. 16. 2 Cor. 13. 9, 11. Heb. 13. 21. 1 Pet. 5. 10. The sense therefore of these Words may be this, The Disciple that perfectly understands the Rules, and sees the Example of his Master, will think it is his Business to tread exactly in his Steps, to do and suffer, upon like Occasions, as his Master did, and so he will be like his Master.

8. For I alſo am a Man ſet under Authority, having under me Soldiers; and I ſay to one, Go, and he goeth; and to another, Come, and he cometh; and to my Servant, Do this, and he doth it: (How much more then canſt thou, who haſt all Power in Heaven and Earth, command one of the miniſtring Spirits to come and heal my Servant?)

9. When Jeſus heard theſe things he marvelled at him and turned him (ſelf) about, and ſaid to the People that followed him, I ſay to you, I have not found ſo great Faith, no not in Iſrael; (and upon this Faith, he told them that were ſent, it ſhould be as he believed, Matth. 8. 13.)

10. And they who were ſent, returning to the Houſe, found the Servant whole that had been ſick;

11. And it came to paſs the Day after, that he went into a City called Naim; and many of his Diſciples went with him, and much People:

12. Now when he came nigh to the Gate of the City, behold there was a dead Man carried out (who was) the only Son of his Mother, and ſhe was a Widow; (and ſo by the loſs of this Son, left deſtitute;) and much People of the City was with her, (to attend the Funeral:)

13. And when the Lord ſaw her, he had compaſſion on her, and ſaid to her, Weep not.

14. And (then) he came, and touched the Bier, and they that bare him, ſtood ſtill; and he ſaid, Young Man, [b] I ſay to thee, Ariſe:

15. And (at that word,) he that was dead, ſat up, and began to ſpeak; and he delivered him to his Mother:

16. And there came a Fear on (them) all, and they glorified God, ſaying, That a great Prophet is riſen up among us, and that God had viſited his People, (by ſending to them the promiſed Meſſias.)

17. And this Rumour of him went forth throughout all Judæa, and throughout all the Region round about.

18. And the Diſciples of John ſhewed him of all theſe things.

19. And John calling to him two of his Diſciples, [c] ſent them to Jeſus, ſaying, (in the Name of their Maſter, who ſent them for their own ſatisfaction,) Art thou he that ſhould come, (the Meſſiah,) or look we for another?

20. When (therefore) the Men were come to him, they ſaid, John (the) Baptiſt hath ſent us to thee, ſaying, (or to ſay,) Art thou he that ſhould come, or look we for (are we to expect) another?

21. And in that ſame Hour he cured many of their Infirmities, and Plagues, and of Evil Spirits; and to many that were blind, he gave ſight, (according to the Propheſie of Iſaiah concerning him; See the Note on Matth. 11. 5.)

22. Then Jeſus anſwering, ſaid to them, Go your way, and tell John what things ye have ſeen, and heard, how that the Blind ſee, the Lame walk, the Lepers are cleanſed, the Deaf hear, the Dead are raiſed, to the Poor the Goſpel is preached:

23. And bleſſed is he whoſoever ſhall not be offended in me; (i. e. who ſhall not fall off from me by reaſon of the Afflictions, he may ſuffer as John doth, or by reaſon of my mean Circumſtances in this preſent World.)

24. And when the Meſſengers of John were departed, he began to ſpeak to the People concerning John, (ſaying,) What went ye out into the Wilderneſs to ſee? (Was it) a Reed ſhaken with the Wind? (a Man wavering in his Doctrine or Teſtimony?)

25. But, what went ye out for to ſee? A Man cloathed in ſoft Raiment, (a Courtier and a Paraſite?) Behold, they that are gorgeouſly apparelled, and live delicately, are in King's Courts.

26. But what went ye out for to ſee? (Was it) a Prophet? Yea, I ſay to you, and (one that is) much more than a (n ordinary) Prophet?

27. (For) This is he of whom it is written, Behold, I ſend my Meſſenger before thy Face, which ſhall prepare thy way before thee.

28. (More, I ſay, than an ordinary Prophet:) For I ſay to you, among thoſe that are born of Women, there is not a greater Prophet than John the Baptiſt; but (yet,) he that is (the) [cc] leaſt (Prophet) in the Kingdom of God, is greater than he.

29. And all the People that heard him, and the Publicans, juſtified God, (i. e. approved the Wiſdom and Juſtice of his Counſel, in calling them by the Baptiſt, to Repentance,) being baptized with the Baptiſm of John.

30. But the [d] Phariſees and Lawyers rejected the Counſel of God againſt (towards) themſelves, being not baptized of him, (as being confident they were Righteous, Luke 18. 9. and ſo needed no Repentance.)

31. And

31. And the Lord said, Whereunto shall I liken the Men of this Generation? and to what are they like?

32. They are like to Children sitting in the Market place, and calling one to another, and saying, we have piped to you, (as at a Festival, and ye have not danced; we have mourned to you, (as they do at Funeral Solemnities,) and ye have not wept; (i. e. you have neither complied with us, when we called you to Mirth or Sadness.)

33. For John the Baptist came neither eating Bread, nor drinking Wine; (his Meat being only Locusts, and his Drink Water;) and ye say (of him,) he hath a Devil, (or is a melancholy, frantick Person:)

34. The Son of Man is come eating and drinking, (in the usual manner;) and ye say (of him,) Behold, (he is) a gluttonous Man, and a Wine-bibber, a friend of Publicans and Sinners.

e 35. But Wisdom is [e] justified, (i. e. approved) of all her Children, (i. e. of all true Lovers of Wisdom.)

36. And (or, then) one of the Pharisees desired him, that he would eat with him; and (thereupon) he went into the Pharisee's House, and sat down to Meat:

37. And behold, a Woman in the City, which was (formerly) a Sinner; when she knew that Jesus sat at Meat in the Pharisee's House, brought an Alabaster Box of Ointment;

38. And stood at his Feet behind him, weeping, and began to wash his Feet with Tears; and did wipe them with the Hairs of her Head, and kissed his Feet, and anointed them with Ointment.

39. Now when the Pharisee, which had bidden him, saw it, he spake within himself; saying, This Man, if he were a Prophet, would have known, who, and what manner of Woman this is that toucheth him, for she is a Sinner, (and so by touching must defile him.)

40. And Jesus answering (to his Thoughts,) said to him, Simon, I have somewhat to say to thee; and he saith, Master, say on:

41. (Jesus then began his Discourse thus;) There was a certain Creditor which had two Debtors, the one ought (him) Five hundred Pence, and the other Fifty.

42. And when they had nothing to pay, he frankly forgave them both: Tell me therefore, which of them will love him most?

43. Simon answered, and said, I suppose, he to whom he forgave most: And he said to him, Thou hast rightly judged.

44. And he turned to the Woman, and said to Simon, seest thou this Woman? (When) I entred into thy House, thou gavest me no Water for my Feet; but she hath washed my Feet with Tears, and wiped them with the Hairs of her Head:

45. Thou gavest me no Kiss; but this Woman, since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kiss my Feet:

46. My Head with Oil thou didst not anoint; but this Woman hath anointed my Feet with Ointment:

47. [f] Wherefore I say to thee, (This is a Testimony,) that her Sins, which are many, are forgiven; for she (hath) loved much: but to whom little is forgiven, the same loveth little. f

48. And (then) he said to her, Thy Sins are forgiven.

49. And they that sat at Meat with him, began to say within themselves, Who is this (Man,) that (he) forgiveth Sins also?

50. And he said to the Woman, Thy Faith hath saved thee (from the punishment of the past Sins;) go in Peace.

a Ver. 3. Ἀπέστειλε πρὸς αὐτὸν πρεσβυτέρους τῶν Ἰουδαίων, He sent to him the Elders of the Jews,] And ver. 6. the Centurion sent to him Friends; by Matthew 8. 5. the Centurion came to him, and ver. 8. the Centurion said to him. To reconcile this Difference. Note,

1*st*, That St. Luke relating this Story more largely than St. Mathew doth, and with this signal Circumstance said by his Messengers, I thought not my self worthy to come unto thee, ver. 7. These Circumstances must be as they are related by St. Luke. Note,

2*dly*, That it being a Rule among the Jews, that Apostolus cujusque est quisque, the Disciple, Messenger, or Proxy of any Man is as himself; and among the Civilians, quod facimus per alium, id ipsum facere judicamur, we our selves are reputed to do that which by another we do; St. Matthew might well say, the Centurion who sent these Elders and Friends, came to him by them. So Jethro comes to Moses by a Messenger, Exod. 18. 6. And Solomon speaks to Hiram by his Servants, 1 Kings 5. 7. So James and John come to Christ with a Petition presented by their Mother, Mark 10. 35. compared with Matth. 20. 20. John the Baptist speaks to Christ by his Disciples, Matth. 11. 3. Note,

3*dly*, That tho' it seems probable, from those words of Christ to the Centurion, Go thy way, and as thou hast believed, be it done unto thee, Matth. 8. 13. that when Christ was nigh to the House, the Centurion might come in Perſon to him, yet neither is this neceſſary; for when David ſent Meſſengers to commune with Abigal to take her to Wife, ſhe anſwers as if he had been preſent, Behold thy Handmaid to be a Servant to waſh the Feet of the Servants of my Lord, 1 Sam. 25. 40, 41.

b Ver. 14. Εἶπε, νεανίσκε, σοὶ λέγω, ἐγέρθητι, Jeſus ſaid, young Man, I ſay unto thee, ariſe.] Here Woltzogenius owns that Chriſt ſpake this by that Divine Power which he had over inanimate things, as the Wind, and the Sea, eſt quidem hoc Deo proprium, this indeed, ſaith he, is proper to God, who calleth things that are not as if they were, Rom. 4. 17. but God had communicated this Power to his Son, by whom he would moſt perfectly manifeſt himſelf to the World. So Peter ſpeaks to Tabitha, Tabitha, ariſe, Acts 9. 40. as Chriſt to Lazarus, Lazarus, come forth, John 11. 43. Now to this I reply,

1*ſt*, That the Inſtance of St. Peter ſaying to Tabitha, ariſe, doth not leſſen the Strength of the Argument from theſe words for the Divinity of Chriſt, ſeeing he doth this only by Prayer to, and Faith in the Lord Chriſt; to which he aſcribes all his Miracles, doing them in his Name, or Power, and through Faith in his Name, Acts 3. 16. and ſo in effect ſaith to her as he did to Æneas, ver. 34. Jeſus Chriſt healeth thee; ariſe, &c. Chriſt here doth this by his own Power, without any Prayers, as appears from thoſe words, I ſay to thee, ariſe; and he will raiſe all his Servants from the dead, and change their vile Bodies into the likeneſs of his glorious Body, according to the mighty Power by which he is able to ſubdue all things to himſelf, Philip. 3. 21. he prayed indeed when he raiſed Lazarus, but then even Woltzogenius obſerves he could not do this to receive Power to raiſe him, becauſe he had this Power in himſelf already, John 5. 26. and doth there challenge to himſelf to be the Reſurrection and the Life, John 11. 25. but for other reaſons accounted for, John 11. 41, 42.

2*dly*, When Woltzogenius can prove that Divine Virtue, which is proper to God alone, ever was, or ever can be communicated to a Creature, or to another without Communication of the Divine Nature, then, and not till then, will he have given a ſatisfactory Anſwer to this Argument.

d Ver. 30. Οἱ δὲ φαρισαῖοι καὶ νομικοὶ τὴν βουλὴν τοῦ Θεοῦ ἠθέτησαν εἰς ἑαυτοὺς, μὴ βαπτισθέντες ὑπ' αὐτοῦ, But the Phariſees and Lawyers rejected the Counſel of God againſt (Gr. towards) themſelves, being not baptized of him.] That ſome of them came to be baptized, we read Matth. 3. 7. it therefore muſt be ſaid, either that this is here ſaid of them in general, becauſe it was true of many of them, or that thoſe who came to him, hearing the Character he gave of them, refuſed his baptiſm; See Note on Matth. 3. 7. But the chief thing here obſervable is this, that in rejecting John's Baptiſm they are ſaid to reject the Counſel of God towards them, that is, his gracious Deſign of calling them by him to that Repentance which could alone exempt them from the Wrath to come; and by that refuſal declared they approved not of God's Counſel, as juſt, and righteous, in calling ſuch unblameable Perſons as they were, and ſuch Zealots for the Law, to Repentance, that ſo they might eſcape the Ruin threatned by St. John; for thus Eleazer one of them ſpeaks, after the Deſtruction of the Jews, that tho' all the reſt of the Jews periſhed (a) ἡμεῖς δ' ἄρα μόνοι ἠλπίσαμεν σωθῆναι ὡσανεὶ ἀναμάρτητοι πρὸς τὸν Θεὸν γενόμενοι, we alone expected to be preſerved, as having not ſinned againſt God, nor been guilty of any Fault, and who were Teachers to others. Chriſt tells us they were πεποιθότας ἐφ' ἑαυτοῖς, confident in themſelves, that they were righteous, Luke 18. 9. and repreſents them by the elder Son, ſaying, I never tranſgreſſed at any time thy Commandments, Luke 15. 29. They therefore judged it an incongruous thing to call ſuch righteous Perſons to Repentance, and threaten them with Ruin who were ſo dear to God; but the Publicans and common People were conſcious to themſelves of Sins ſufficient to expoſe them to Divine Judgments, and therefore they approved of this Counſel God ſent them by his Meſſenger, and declared him righteous, both in calling them to Repentance, and threatning his Judgments if they did neglect it; and therefore they ſubmitted to this Baptiſm of Repentance for the Remiſſion of Sins, to which God by the Baptiſt called them; That δικαιῶν is to declare, or approve a thing or Perſon righteous; See ver. 35. They whoſe Principles will not allow them to believe that God had any ſuch benign Deſigns towards ſuch a Generation of Vipers, ſay, 1*ſt*, That βουλὴ τοῦ Θεοῦ is not the Counſel, or the Purpoſe, but only the Command of God; But, (1.) This Phraſe in Scripture never ſignifies a bare Command, but always the Decree, the Purpoſe, or the Counſel of God. See Acts 2. 23. — 4. 28. — 13. 36. — 20. 27. Eph. 1. 11. Heb. 6. 17. should give Men any virtuous or moral Precepts, which he doth not design and purpose that they should obey. 2*dly*, They add, that εἰς ἑαυτὰς, towards them, is here put for ἐν ἑαυτοῖς, in themselves, and therefore render the Text thus, they despised in themselves the Counsel of God. But, (1.) Was it his Counsel towards them, or was it not? If not, how could they, by neglecting that which concerned not them, despise it? If so, then is it certain, that the Purpose, and Counsel of God towards them, was this, That they should repent, and bring forth Fruits meet for Repentance. (2.) The Phrase, in themselves, is always expressed by ἐν ἑαυτοῖς, Chap. 3. 8.—7. 49.—18. 9. εἰς ἑαυτὰς occurs but twice elsewhere, viz. 1 Pet. 4. 8, 10. and then it plainly signifies, towards themselves.

f Ver. 47. Οὗ χάριν, λέγω σοι, ἀφέωνται αἱ ἁμαρτίαι αὐτῆς αἱ πολλαὶ, ὅτι ἠγάπησε πολύ, For which cause, I say unto thee, her Sins which were many are forgiven, for she loved much.] Christ saith not, her Sins were forgiven, because she loved much, but this ought to be a Token to thee that her Sins, which rendred her unworthy to touch me, have been forgiven; this great Love to me being an indication of her deep sense of God's Mercy to her in pardoning her many Sins: And this do I the Prophet, and the Son of God declare unto her: To this sense lead both the Parable of the great Debtor, to whom the Lord frankly had forgiven all, for he loved much, because much had been forgiven, and the conclusion of it in these words, he that hath less forgiven, loveth less; whence it appears that ὅτι here cannot be causal, or intimate she was forgiven much, because she loved much; the cause assigned of her Forgiveness being not her Love, but Faith, ver. 50. but only consequential, denoting the effect, or indication of the Forgiveness of her many Sins. So Hosea 9. 15. all their Iniquity was in Gilgal, ὅτι therefore there I hated them; for they did not sin in Gilgal, because he hated them there; but he hated them there, because they were offended, Eccles. 5. 7. ὅτι σὺ τὸν Θεὸν φοβῇ, wherefore fear thou God. So John 14. 17. the World cannot receive the Spirit of Truth, ὅτι οὐ θεωρεῖ αὐτὸ, therefore it sees him not, neither knows him, but ye know him, ὅτι therefore he abideth with you, and shall be with you. In one at least of these two Paragraphs ὅτι must bear this sense.

CHAP. VIII.

1. AND it came to pass afterwards, that he went through every City and Village, preaching, and shewing the glad Tidings of the Kingdom of God; and the Twelve were with him;

2. And certain Women which had been healed of evil Spirits, and Infirmities, Mary called Magdalene, out of whom went seven Devils,

3. And Joanna the Wife of Chuza, Herod's Steward, and Susanna, and many others which a [a] ministred to him (Necessaries out) of their Substance.

4. And when much People were gathered together, and were come to him out of every City, he spake to them by a Parable,

5. (Saying,) A Sower went out to sow his Seed; and as he sowed, some fell by the b Way side, and [b] it was trodden down, and the Fowls of the Air devoured it;

6. And some fell upon a Rock, and assoon as it was sprung up, it withered away, because it lacked (Root and) Moisture:

7. And some fell among Thorns, and the c Thorns [c] sprang up with it, and (overgrowing it,) choaked it.

8. And other (Seed) fell upon good Ground, and sprang up, and bare Fruit an hundred Fold: And when he had said these things, he cried, He that hath Ears to hear, (i. e. Wisdom to discern, and Willingness to receive the Truth,) let him hear, (i. e. embrace it.)

9. And his Disciples asked him, saying, What might (the meaning of) this Parable be?

10. And he said (to them) to you it is given to know the Mysteries of the Kingdom of God; but to others (I speak) in Parables, (they having shut their Eyes, and closed their Ears, Matth. 13. 14.) [d] that see- d ing they might not see, and hearing they might not understand.

11. Now the (meaning of the) Parable is this, the Seed is the Word of God;

12. Those (Seeds sown) by the Way side, are (emblematically) they that hear, (but consider not what they hear, Matth. 13. 19.) Then cometh the Devil, (Gr. εἶτα so that the Devil cometh,) and taketh away the Word out of their Hearts, lest they should believe, and be saved.

13. They (who are represented by the Seed sown) on the Rock, are they which when they hear, receive the Word with Joy, and these have no Root, (being Persons) which for a while believe, and (but) in time of Temptation fall away.

14. And (by) that (Seed) which fell among Thorns, are they (repreſented) who when they have heard (the Word) go forth (into the World) and are choaked with Cares, and Riches, and Pleaſures of this Life, and bring no Fruit to Perfection.

15. But (by) that (Seed which fell) on e [c] good Ground, are they (repreſented) who in an honeſt, and good Heart, having heard the Word, keep it, and bring forth Fruit with Patience.

16. (And having thus explained this Parable, he ſaid, I do not impart this Knowledge to you that you may conceal it, but that ye may teach it to others, for) no Man f when he [f] hath lighted a Candle covereth it with a Veſſel, or putteth it under a Bed, but ſetteth it on a Candleſtick, that they which enter in (to the Houſe) may ſee the Light.

17. For nothing is (ſaid in) ſecret (by me) that ſhould not be made manifeſt, neither (is) any thing hid; that ſhould not be known, and come abroad.

18. Take heed therefore how you hear, for whoſoever hath (ſo as to improve it,) to him ſhall be given (more;) and whoſoever (thus) hath not, from him ſhall be taken (away) even that which he ſeemeth to have.

19. Then came to (ſee) him his Mother, and his Brethren, and (they) could not come at him for the Preſs:

20. And it was told him by certain, which ſaid, thy Mother and thy Brethren ſtand without, deſiring to ſee thee.

21. And he anſwered, and ſaid to them, (as) my Mother and my Brethren are they who hear the Word of God, and do it.

22. Now it came to paſs on a certain Day, that he went into a Ship with his Diſciples; and he ſaid to them, Let us go over to the other ſide of the Lake, and they launched forth:

23. But as they ſailed he fell aſleep, and there came down a Storm of Wind on the Lake, and they were filled with Water, and were in Jeopardy.

24. And they came to him, and awoke him, ſaying, Maſter, Maſter, we (are ready to) periſh; then he aroſe, and rebuked the Wind, and the raging of the Water, (ſaying to them, peace, be ſtill,) and (then) they ceaſed, and there was a Calm.

25. And he ſaid to them, Where is your Faith? And they being afraid, wondred, ſaying one to another, What manner of Man is this? for he commandeth even the Winds and Water, and they obey him.

26. And they arrived at the Country of the Gadarens, which is over againſt Galilee:

27. And when he went forth to Land, there met him out of the City, a certain Man which had (been poſſeſs'd with) Devils (a) long time, and (he) wore no Cloaths, neither abode in any Houſe, but in the Tombs.

28. When he (the evil Spirit) ſaw Jeſus, he cried out, and fell down before him, and with a loud Voice ſaid, What have I to do with thee, Jeſus, thou Son of God moſt High, I beſeech thee torment me not; (this he ſaid fearing he might be puniſhed for what he had done to the Man:)

29. For he (i. e. Jeſus) had commanded the unclean Spirit to come out of the Man, for oftentimes it had caught him, and (tho') he was kept bound with Chains, and in Fetters, and (yet) he brake the Bonds, and he was driven of the Devil into the Wilderneſs.

30. And Jeſus asked (the unclean Spirit in) him, ſaying, What is thy Name? and he ſaid, (it is) Legion; becauſe many Devils were entred into him:

31. And they beſought him, that he would not command them to go out into the Deep;

32. And there was there a Herd of many Swine feeding on the Mountains, and they beſought him, that he would ſuffer them to enter into them, and he ſuffered them:

33. Then went the Devils out of the Man, and entred into the Swine, and the Herd ran violently down a ſteep place into the Lake, and were choaked.

34. And when they that fed them ſaw what was done, they fled (from the place,) and went and told in the City, and in the Country, (what was done.)

35. Then they went out to ſee what was done, and came to Jeſus, and found the Man out of whom the Devils were departed, ſitting at the Feet of Jeſus, cloathed, and in his right Mind, and they were afraid.

36. They alſo who ſaw it, told them by what means he that was poſſeſſed of the Devils was healed.

37. Then the whole Multitude of the Country of the Gadarens round about, beſought him to depart from them, for they were taken with great fear (of what they might farther ſuffer by him) and he (accordingly) went up into the Ship, and returned back again.

38. Now the Man out of whom the Devils were departed, beſought him that he might be with him, but Jeſus ſent him away, ſaying,

39. Return to thy Houſe, and ſhew how great things [g] God hath done to (for) thee; g and he went his way, and publiſhed throughout the whole City, how great things Jeſus had done to him.

40. And it came to pass, that when Jesus was returned, the People gladly received him, for they were all waiting for him.

41. And behold, there came a Man named Jairus, and he was a Ruler of the Synagogue; and he fell down at Jesus's Feet, and besought him that he would come into his House.

42. For he had one only Daughter about twelve Years of Age, and she lay a dying; but as he went, the People thronged (about) him.

43. And a Woman having an Issue, (or Flux) of Blood twelve Years, which had spent all her Living upon Physicians, neither could be healed of (i. e. by) any (of them.)

44. Came behind him, and touched the Border of his Garment, and immediately her Issue of Blood stanched:

45. And Jesus said, Who touched me? When all (the rest) denied, Peter, and they that were with him, said, Master, the Multitude throng thee, and press thee, and sayest thou, who touched me?

46. And Jesus said, some body hath touched me (in order to some Cure,) for I perceive that Virtue is gone out of me, (to heal some body.)

47. And when the Woman saw that she was not hid (from him) she came trembling, and falling down before him, she declared to him before all the People, for what cause she had touched him, and how she was healed immediately.

48. And he said to her, Daughter, be of good comfort, thy Faith hath made thee whole, go in peace:

49. While he yet spake, there cometh one from the Ruler of the Synagogue's House, saying to him, Thy Daughter is Dead, trouble not the Master (any farther;)

50. But when Jesus heard it, he answered him, saying, Fear not, believe only, and she shall be made whole.

51. And when he came into the House, he suffered no Man to go in (to her Apartment,) save Peter, and James, and John, and the Father and Mother of the Maiden.

52. And all (present) wept, and bewailed her, but he said, Weep not, (you shall soon find) she is not (as one) dead, but (as one that) sleepeth.

53. And they laughed him to scorn, knowing that she was dead:

54. And he put them all out (who were thus weeping) and took her by the Hand, and called, saying, Maid, arise;

55. And her [h] Spirit came again, and she arose straightway, and he commanded to give her Meat: h

56. And her Parents were astonished, but he charged them that they should tell no Man what was done.

a Ver. 2, 3. Καὶ γυναῖκες τίνες αἱ ἦσ τεθεραπευμέναι ἀπὸ πνευμάτων πονηρῶν, καὶ ἀσθενειῶν, And certain Women which had been healed of evil Spirits, and Infirmities, ministred to him of their Substance.] This was customary, saith (a) St. Jerom, among the Jews, for Women, and especially for Widows, to minister necessaries to their Teachers; and his Disciples being with him, and they being not represented as of his Family, or Domesticks, but only as Followers of his Doctrine, could give no ground for any ill Suspicion in this case.

b Ver. 5. Καὶ κατεπατήθη, And it was trodden down.] This is not mentioned by St. Matthew, or Mark, and seems to signifie, a great Contempt of the Divine Seed, the things which we tread under our Feet being accounted vile, and not worthy to be taken up from the Ground.

c Ver. 7. Καὶ συμφυεῖσαι αἱ ἄκανθαι ἀπέπνιξαν αὐτό, And the Thorns springing up with it, choaked it.] There be two Principles of Action in Man, the Flesh, and the Spirit, or the inward Man; from which arise different Appetites, and Inclinations, the Flesh produceth an Affection to Riches, Pleasures, and other Allurements of the World, which are here called Thorns; the inward Man, or Mind approving of the Laws of God, Rom. 7. 22. and persuading to those things which conduce to the Peace, and Tranquillity, and Welfare of the Soul, is a Principle inclining us to virtuous Actions; but if we suffer these Thorns to take Root in our Hearts, and gain our Affections, these Inclinations to Virtue will be quickly choaked, or bring no Fruit to Ripeness or Perfection, which is all one as to be ἄκαρποι, without Fruit, as appears from ver. 14. compared with Matth. 13. 22. Mark 4. 19.

d Ver. 10. Ἵνα βλέποντες μὴ βλέπωσι, καὶ ἀκούοντες μὴ συνιῶσιν; That seeing they may not see, and hearing they may not understand; Mark 4. 12. That seeing they may see, and not perceive, and hearing they may hear, and not understand, lest they should be converted, and their Sins should be forgiven them.] Here, say some, this is plainly given as the reason why our Saviour spake to them without in Parables, viz. that they may not perceive, or understand, or be converted. But to take off this Pretension it is sufficient to observe, that the words in St. Mark and Luke are only only an abbreviation, or ſhort hint of what St. Matthew ſaith was ſpoken by our Lord more fully; for Chriſt might ſay what St. Mark and Luke relate, and yet ſay more than they relate, as St. Matthew doth aſſure us he did; but then St. Matthew could not have given us his Diſcourſe more fully, unleſs our Lord had ſpoken it more fully than it is related by St. Mark and Luke; whence it muſt follow, that the Relations of Mark and Luke muſt be allowed to be deficient, i. e. not to contain all that our Saviour ſaid on this occaſion, and therefore muſt be filled up, or rendred entire by the addition of the Words recorded in St. Matthew; ſince then St. Matthew doth expreſly tell us from the Mouth of Chriſt, he therefore ſpake to them in Parables, becauſe they ſeeing would not ſee, or did not ſee, and hearing did not underſtand, and that they therefore did not ſee, hear, and underſtand, becauſe their Heart was waxed groſs, and their Ears heavy, and they had cloſed their Eyes, leſt they ſhould ſee, and hear, and be converted; it ſeemeth evident, that the words of St. Mark and Luke muſt be filled up, or made entire thus: To others (of the Jews) ſpeak I in Parables, (becauſe they ſeeing, ſee not, and hearing, do not underſtand, for their Hearts are waxed groſs, and their Ears heavy, and their Eyes have they cloſed,) that ſeeing they may ſee, and not perceive, and hearing they may hear, and not underſtand, leſt they ſhould be converted: And tho' doubtleſs this ſad effect of their not hearing, and ſeeing, viz. leſt they ſhould be converted, was not intended by them, yet ſince it was the natural Iſſue of their ſhutting their Eyes againſt the Light, it fitly is aſcribed to them; as when the Prophet Hoſea ſaith, Chap. 8. 4. Of their Silver and Gold have they made them Idols, that they might be cut off; and the Prophet Micah, Chap. 6. 16. For the Statutes of Omri are kept, and all the Works of the Houſe of Ahab, and ye walk in their Counſels, that I ſhould make thee a Deſolation. A like Expreſſion to this, we find Iſa. 63. 17. Why haſt thou cauſed us to err from thy ways? τὶ ἐσκλήρυνας τὰς καρδίας ἡμῶν τ μὴ φοβεῖσθαί σε: why haſt thou hardned our Hearts that we ſhould not fear thee? And yet this is the Church's Prayer, imploring God's Mercy, and the Removal of his Judgments, viz. the long oppreſſion of the Heathens, which was a temptation to them to depart from him, and to caſt off his Fear, and therefore ſhews they were no otherwiſe hardned by God, than as theſe Providences were a ſtrong Temptation to them to caſt off his Service. Ver. 15. Τὸ δὲ ἐν τῇ καλῇ γῇ, οὗτοί εἰσιν οἵτινες ἐν καρδίᾳ καλῇ καὶ ἀγαθῇ ἀκούσαντες τ λόγον κατέχουσι, But that on the good Ground, are they who in (with) an honeſt and good Heart having heard the Word keep it, and bring forth Fruit with Patience.] From theſe Words it is manifeſt that ſome good Diſpoſitions of Heart is requiſite to render the Word truly and durably fruitful. Ver. 16. Οὐδεὶς γὰρ λύχνον ἅψας καλύπτει αὐτὸν, No Man when he hath lighted a Candle covereth it with a Veſſel.] Of this and the ſeventeenth Verſe, See Mark 4. 22. f

Ver. 39. Ὅσα ἐποίησέ σοι ὁ Θεὸς, Shew how great things God hath done to thee.] Here, ſaith Woltzogenius, Chriſt aſcribes this Miracle to God, the Author of that Power by which he did it, John 5. 19. whereas had he been the High God he ſhould have aſcribed it to himſelf. I anſwer, he doth this as not ſeeking his own Glory, but the Glory of him that ſent him, i. e. as one executing his Prophetick Office in his Father's Name, and caſting out Devils by that Spirit he received from his Father. g

Ver. 55. Ἐπέστρεψε τὸ πνεῦμα αὐτῆς, Her Spirit returned.] By adding this, ſaith Grotius, St. Luke ſhews that the Soul of Man is not corporeal, or any thing that periſheth with it, but ὑποστατόν τι, ſomething ſubſiſting of it ſelf, which when the Body dies exiſts elſewhere, as the word ἐπέστρεψε ſhews. But this is not a certain Inference from the Word; for of Sampſon refreſhed with the Water that came from the Jaw of the Aſs, it is ſaid ἐπέστρεψε τὸ πνεῦμα αὐτοῦ, his Spirit returned, Judg. 15. 19. and the like Phraſe we find, Pſal. 3. 23. Lam. 1. 11, 16, 19. plainly importing the reſtoring a Perſon to his Vigour. This therefore is more ſurely to be gathered from the Death of the Damſel, ver. 53. for ſo Elijah ſpeaketh in a like caſe, 1 Kings 17. 21. ἐπιστραφήτω δὴ ἡ ψυχὴ τ παιδαρίου τούτου, let, I pray thee, the Soul of this Child return unto it. h

CHAP. IX.

1. THEN he called his twelve Diſciples together, and gave them Power and Authority (through his Name,) over all Devils, and to cure Diſeaſes:

2. And he ſent them to preach the (coming of the) Kingdom of God, and to heal the ſick;

3. And he ſaid to them, Take nothing (with you) for your Journey, neither Staves, nor Scrip, neither Bread, neither Money, neither have two Coats apiece; (for you ſhall want neither Proviſions, nor Protection, Chap: 22. 35.)

4. And

4. And whatsoever House ye enter into, there abide (while ye continue in that City,) and (from) thence depart (to another.)

5. And whosoever will not receive you (r Words, Matth. 10. 14.) when ye go out of that City, shake off the very Dust from your Feet for a Testimony against them, (that ye account them as unclean, and not fit to be conversed with any more.)

6. And they departed, and went through the Towns (of Judea,) preaching the Gospel, and healing (the sick) every where.

7. Now Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him, and he was perplexed, because it was said of some; that John was risen from the Dead; (and so his great Wickedness appeared in killing a Man so highly favoured by God:)

8. And of some (it was said,) that Elias had appeared, (and so that Kingdom of the Messiah was to be set up which should destroy all other Kingdoms, Dan. 2. 44.) and of others, that one of the old Prophets was risen again.

9. And Herod said, John have I beheaded, but (if he be not risen again,) who is this of whom I hear such (wondrous) things? and he desired to see him, (that so he might discern whether he were the Baptist or not.)

10. And the Apostles, when they were returned, told him all that they had done (in his Name,) and he took them, and went aside privately into a desert place, belonging to the City called Bethsaida, (that they might rest a little,) Mark 6. 31.)

11. And the People, when they knew it, followed him; and he received them, and spake to them of the Kingdom of God, and healed them that had need of healing.

12. And when the day began to wear away, then came the Twelve, and said to him, Send the Multitude away, that they may go into the Country, and Towns round about, and (may) lodge, and get Victuals, (which here they cannot do,) for we are here in a desert place.

13. But he said to them, Give ye them to eat; and they (upon enquiry, Mark 6. 38) said, We have no more but five Loaves, and two (little) Fishes, and what are they among so many? we cannot therefore satisfie them,) except we should go, and buy Meat for all this People.

14. For they were about five thousand Men, (who were to be fed;) and he said to his Disciples, Make them sit down by Fifties in a Company;

15. And they did so (as he commanded,) and made them all sit down.

16. Then he took the five Loaves, and the two Fishes, and looking up to Heaven, blessed (God over) them, and brake (them,) and gave (of them) to the Disciples to set before the Multitude.

17. And they did eat, and were all filled; and there were taken up of Fragments that remained to them (that gathered them;) twelve Baskets.

18. And it came to pass, as he [a] was alone (from the Multitude) praying, his Disciples were with him; and (having ended his Prayer,) he asked them, saying, Whom say the People that I am? a

19. They answering, said, (Some say thou art) John the Baptist; but some say (thou art) Elias; and others say, that one of the old Prophets is risen again.

20. He said to them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answering, said, (Thou art) the Christ of God.

21. And he straightly charged them, and commanded them to tell no Man that thing,

22. Saying, The Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected of the Elders, and Chief Priests, and Scribes, and be slain, and be raised (again) the third day.

23. And he said to them all, If any Man will come after me, let him [b] deny himself, and take up his Cross daily, (as occasion serves) and follow me: b

24. For whosoever will (reject me, to) save his Life, shall lose it; but whosoever will (be ready to) lose his Life for my sake, the same shall save it; (and this surely will be his wisest Course;)

25. For what is a Man advantaged, if he gain the whole World, and lose himself, or be cast away, as they who reject me, to save this temporal Life, will be.)

26. For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words (now,) of him shall the Son of Man be ashamed, when he shall come in his own [c] Glory, and in his Father's (that of Light and Flame; See Note on Heb. 1. 3.) and (with the glorious Attendance) of the holy Angels. c

27. But (besides this coming at the dreadful Day,) I tell you of a truth, There be some standing here, which shall not taste of Death till they see the (Son of Man coming in the Kingdom of God (with Power, Mat. 16. 28. Mark 9. 1. to execute his Judgments on them that reject him.)

28. And it came to pass, about an eight Days after these Sayings, (See the Note on Mark 9. 2.) he took Peter, and John, and James, and went up into a Mountain to pray:

29. And as he prayed, the fashion (or appearance) of his Countenance was altered, and his Raiment was (or became) white, and glistering.

30. And behold, there talked with him two Men, which (by their Discourse) were (known to be) Moses and Elias, d his [d] Deceaſe, (the Death) which he ſhould accompliſh at Jeruſalem.

31. Who

32. But Peter and they that were with him (whilſt he was praying) were heavy with Sleep; and when they were awake, they ſaw his Glory, and the two Men that ſtood with him.

33. And it came to paſs as they departed from him, Peter ſaid to Jeſus, Maſter, it is e good for us to be here; [e] and (therefore) let us make (here) three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moſes, and one for Elias, not knowing (whether) what he ſaid (were well or ill ſaid.)

34. While he thus ſpake, there came a Cloud (of Glory,) and overſhadowed them; and they feared as they entred into the Cloud, (becauſe of the magnificent Glory of it, 2 Pet. 1. 17.)

35. And there came a Voice out of the Cloud, ſaying, This is my beloved Son, hear him.

36. And when the Voice was paſt, Jeſus was found alone; and they (three) kept it, (the Viſion) cloſe, and told no Man in thoſe Days, any of thoſe things which they had ſeen.

37. And it came to paſs, that on the next Day, when they were come down from the Hill, much People met him;

38. And behold, a Man of the Company cryed out, ſaying, Maſter, I beſeech thee, look upon my Son, for he is my only Child:

f 39. And lo, a [f] Spirit taketh him; and he ſuddenly cryeth out, and it teareth him that he foameth again; (Gr. it cauſeth him to beat himſelf, and foam,) and bruiſing him, hardly departeth from him.

40. And I beſought thy Diſciples to caſt him out, and they could not; (and this hath raiſed a Diſpute betwixt the Scribes and thy Diſciples concerning thy Power, Mark 9. 15.)

41. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid, O faithleſs and perverſe Generation, how long ſhall I be with you, and ſuffer you? Bring thy Son hither.

42. And as he was yet coming, the Devil threw him down, and tare him; (or, and he beat himſelf with his Fiſts;) and Jeſus rebuked the unclean Spirit, and healed the Child (of his Epilepſie,) and delivered him again to his Father:

43. And they were all amazed at the mighty Power of God, (viſible in Chriſt;) but while they wondered, every one at all (theſe) things which Jeſus did, he ſaid to his Diſciples,

44. Let theſe Sayings ſink down into your Ears; for (notwithſtanding this ſeeming Admiration,) the Son of Man ſhall (by theſe very Jews) be delivered into the Hands of Men.

g 45. But they [g] underſtood not this Saying, and it was hid from them, that they perceived it not; and they feared to ask him (of) that Saying.

46. Then there aroſe a Reaſoning among them, which of them ſhould be greateſt.

47. And Jeſus perceiving the Thought of their Heart, took a Child, and ſet him by him,

48. And ſaith to them, Whoſoever ſhall receive (ſuch a one as) this Child in my Name, receiveth me; and whoſoever ſhall receive me, receiveth him that ſent me; for he that is leaſt among you all, (in his own,) the ſame ſhall be great (in my Eſteem and Kingdom.)

49. And John anſwered (i. e. ſpake) and ſaid, Maſter, we ſaw one caſting out Devils in thy Name; and we forbad him, becauſe he followeth not with us.

50. And Jeſus ſaid to him, Forbid him not; for he that is not againſt us, (but perſues the ſame Deſign in beating down the Kingdom of Satan,) is for us.

51. And it came to paſs, when the time was (near) come, that he ſhould [h] be receiv- h ed up (into Heaven,) he [i] ſtedfaſtly ſet his i Face (or fully purpoſed) to go to Jeruſalem, (where he was to ſuffer.)

52. And (therefore) ſent Meſſengers before his Face; and they went, and entred into a Village of the Samaritans, to make ready (a Lodging) for him.

53. And they did not receive him, becauſe his [k] Face was as tho' he would go, (i. e. he k appeared to them to be going) to Jeruſalem (to worſhip.)

54. And when his Diſciples, James, and John ſaw this, they ſaid, Lord, wilt thou that we command Fire to come down from Heaven to conſume them, even as Elias did (to the Captains and their Fifties?)

55. But he turned, and [l] rebuked them, and l ſaid, Ye know not what manner of Spirit ye are of; (i. e. how oppoſite this exterminating Spirit is to the Deſign of my coming;)

56. For the Son of Man is not come to deſtroy Mens (temporal) Lives, but to ſave them; and they went to another Village.

57. And it came to paſs, as they went in the way, a certain Man ſaid to him, Lord, [m] I m will follow thee whitherſoever thou goeſt.

58. And Jeſus ſaid to him, (Thou canſt expect no Advantage at preſent by following me; for) the Foxes have Holes, and the Birds of the Air have Neſts, but the Son of Man hath not where to lay his Head.

59. And he ſaid to another, Follow me: But he ſaid, Lord, ſuffer me firſt to go (home,) and (ſtay till I) bury my (aged) Father, (and then I will attend upon thee.)

60. Jeſus ſaid to him, Let the Dead bury their Dead, (or thoſe who are dead to ſpiritual Things, be employed in thoſe Affairs;) but go thou (forthwith,) and preach the Kingdom of God.

61. And another also said, Lord, I will follow thee: But, let me first go bid them farewel, that are at home at my House.

a Ver. 8. Καὶ ἐγένετο ἐν τῷ εἶναι αὐτὸν καλὰ μόνας προσευχόμενον, And it came to pass, as he was alone praying, his Disciples were with him.] The word καλὰμόνας alone, excludes not his Disciples, but the Multitude now sent away, when they were filled, ver. 17. as appears from Mark 4. 10. Or καλαμόνας προσευχόμενος, may be rendred, as he was praying alone, or by himself; his Prayer being ended, his Disciples came to him.

b Ver. 23. Ἀπαρνησάσθω ἑαυτὸν καὶ ἀράτω τὸν σταυρὸν αὐτοῦ καθ' ἡμέραν, If any Man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his Cross daily, and follow me,] daily; i. e. as oft as an occasion offers it self. Here I shall recollect all that is said in several places of the Gospel concerning this Self-denial, and taking up the Cross; and thence give Rules comprising this whole Duty. And,

1*st*, We must deny Father and Mother; for, If a Man come to me, saith Christ, and hate not, Luke 14. 26. i. e. forsake not Father and Mother, Matth. 19. 29. he cannot be my Disciple. For he that loveth Father and Mother more than me, is unworthy of me, Matth 10. 37. Our Lord hath told them, v. 35, 36. That his Gospel would accidentally cause great Variance and Division, betwixt the Father and the Son, the Mother and the Daughter, and render those of their own Houshold, the most fierce and cruel Enemies; he therefore lets them know, that if, when this shall come to pass, Father or Mother did prevail upon them, either by that Affection which Men naturally bear to their Parents; or by that Reverence they give to their Authority and Commands, when these Commands do thwart his Precepts; or else by those Advantages, or outward Comforts, which they expect to receive from their Parents, and by adhering to the Doctrine of their Lord, might lose or hazard; i. e. if they by any of these Motives were induced to prefer the Commands, or Will of their Parents before Christ's, and value their Countenance and Affection before his Favour, they could not be sincerely his Disciples. Now this by parity of Reason, holds concerning Civil Magistrates, who are the Fathers of their Country, and spiritual Superiours who are Fathers of the Church; and of all others who have like Power to command, reward, or punish us; and so this instance affords this Rule of Self-denial, Rule 1. That they to whom we bear the greatest natural Affection, and the highest Reverence, to whose Commands we owe the most entire Obedience in lawful Matters, from whom we have received already, and may expect the greatest temporal Advantages provided we comply with their Desires, or the worst temporal Evils upon refusal, must be denied forsaken, and comparatively hated for the sake of Christ; so that altho' the yearning Bowels of a tender Mother, which at first conceived me, and the gray Hairs of an indulgent Father, should be pleaded as Motives to induce me to break the least Commandment of the Holy Jesus; tho' the Authority of Civil, Natural, and Ecclesiastical Superiours, should combine to tempt me to do what Christ forbids; tho' this Authority should allure me with proffers of the highest Honours, or Rewards, or should endeavour to affright me with the severest Menaces; yet if all these Considerations should prevail with me, to gratifie my self and them, by doing that which my own Conscience, and God's Word, assures me will be displeasing to my Saviour, or opposite to his Commands; 'tis evident that I regard my self, or them, more than I do my Saviour, and therefore am unworthy of him, and cannot be sincerely his Disciple.

2*dly*, We must deny our Wife and Children, even that Wife of our Bosom who is made one Flesh with us, whom we must love as dearly as we love our selves, Eph. 5. 33. and for whose sake, Father and Mother must be left, Gen. 2. 24. We also must deny those Children which are the Off-spring of our Bowels, the Joy and Comfort of our Lives; For, if any Man come to me, saith Christ, and hate not his Wife and Children, Luke 14. 26. if he forsake not Wife and Children for my Name's sake, and the Gospel's, Mark 10. 28. he cannot be my Disciple: Accordingly, it is recorded for the everlasting Honour of the Levites, that they observed God's Word, and kept his Covenant, saying unto their Father and Mother, I have not seen them, not knowing their own Children, not acknowledging their Brethren; that is, being commanded by God's Servant Moses, to kill every Man his Brother, Friend, and Son, that had been guilty of Idolatry in worshipping the Golden Calf; they executed the Command of God, without regard to Father, Mother, Son, or Brother, Exod. 32. 27, 28. Now the Children of our Loins, and the Wife of our Boſom, being the Objects of our ſtrongeſt Love, and greateſt Pity, and thoſe in whom we chiefly take delight and pleaſure; this Second inſtance will afford this Rule, viz.

Rule 2. That whatever we moſt paſſionately love, are moſt eſpecially concerned for, do cleave moſt cloſely to in our Affections, and above all Enjoyments do take the moſt pleaſure in; muſt be loved leſs than Chriſt; and conſequently muſt be denied, forſaken, and comparatively hated for his ſake and the Goſpel's. Now to this Rule by parity of Reaſon, may be reduced all our immoderate Affections to the Pleaſures of this World, whether they be the Pleaſures of the Appetite, ſuch as the Glutton and the Drunkard do purſue; the Pleaſures of the Senſes, which the voluptuous and luſtful Perſons chiefly proſecute; the Pleaſures of vain Sports and Paſtimes, Gamings, and other Recreations: So that if our Affection to a boſom Friend, prevail upon us to deſert that Religion we profeſs without Conviction, or to act in contradiction to any Precept of it, of which our Conſcience is convinced; if our love to our own off-ſpring, will not permit us to reprove, correct, or to reſtrain them, when they diſhonour God, and render themſelves vile, but with old Eli, we deſpiſe our God by thus preferring our Sons before him; if our Affections are inordinately ſet upon the Pleaſures of the World, now mention'd, ſo that we do more paſſionately covet, and delight more in them than the things of God, we do more eagerly purſue, more conſtantly employ our care and time about them than about ſpiritual Things, and ſo become lovers of Pleaſures more than lovers of God; if our Affection to them doth prevail upon us to neglect our Duty towards God, our Neighbour, or our ſelves, or to enjoy them in that degree or manner which is forbidden by the Laws of Chriſt, then do we love them more than Chriſt, and therefore cannot be ſincerely his Diſciples.

3*dly*, We muſt deny Brother and Siſter, which may be fitly ſtiled Denying of our ſelves, ſeeing a Brother is a ſecond ſelf, of the ſame Fleſh and Blood with us, and therefore ſtiled, Frater quaſi ferè alter; For, he that cometh unto me, ſaith Chriſt, and hateth not his Brother and his Siſter, Luke 14. 26. i. e. who will not leave them for my ſake, Mark 10. 28. cannot be my Diſciple. Now a Brother naturally, and in the Scripture import of the word, denotes a Perſon with whom we do familiarly converſe, and have an intimate acquaintance; hence, when the Spouſe deſireth to have more near Acquaintance, and more cloſe Communion with Chriſt, ſhe thus expreſſeth her deſire, Oh that he were as my Brother that ſucked the Breaſts of my Mother, Cant. 8. 1. And the Wiſe Man exhorting others to aſſociate themſelves with Wiſdom, and be more intimately acquainted with her Ways, doth bid them ſay to Wiſdom, Thou art my Siſter, Prov. 7. 4. Moreover, this Relation intimates the cloſeſt Union of Affection, and the greateſt Friendſhip; whence Friends in Scripture are ſo oft ſtiled Brethren, and Chriſtian Love in the ſuperlative degree is often repreſented by the Love of Brethren. So that our third Rule will be this, viz.

Rule 3. That Chriſtians muſt deny, forſake, and muſt comparatively hate their neareſt Relative, and deareſt Friend, who is as their own Soul, Deut. 13. 6. and cleave cloſer to them than a Brother, Prov. 18. 24. and him with whom they have enjoyed the ſweeteſt and moſt delightful converſe, and moſt familiar Acquaintance, when it is neceſſary for the ſake of Chriſt, and in obedience to his Precepts ſo to do; and then à fortiori this Rule muſt bind us to deny our Pot-Companions, our luſtful Dalilahs, our Brethren in Iniquity, our vain and ſinful Company, and to have no Communion with them in their Works of Darkneſs, but reprove them. If then the Importunity of Friend or Brother, prevail upon thee to tranſgreſs wilfully any Commandment of thy God, and Saviour; if they draw thee by their Examples or Perſuaſions to exceſs or Riot, to Chambering or Wantonneſs, or any other Sin, which is in effect to perſuade thee to be damned for Company; if in diſpenſing Puniſhments, Rewards, Preferments, Favours, thou doſt tranſgreſs this Rule of Equity on their Accounts; if thy regard to them reſtrain thee from reproving their Drunkenneſs and Swearing, their lewd, or atheiſtical Diſcourſe; nay, if the plain Command of God to hold no Friendſhip, or Familiarity with them, doth not prevail upon thee to abandon, and forſake their Company, as much as may be, then evident it is, thou loveſt the Company of ſuch vile Creatures, more than Communion with thy Saviour, thou doſt more prize their Friendſhip than his Favour, thou wilt not leave thy Friend for him, and therefore art not worthy of him.

4*thly*, We muſt deny our ſelves in Houſes, Lands, and Goods, or in thoſe things by which we, with God's Bleſſing on them, do ſubſiſt; and tho' theſe things be not ſo properly our ſelves, as Wife and Children, yet ſince Men are ſo hot in the purſuit of them that they will hazard their Reputation, Health, Life, Soul, or their whole ſelves in proſecution of them; ſince when theſe things are loſt, we are ſo apt to think, and ſay, we are undone; ſince by the Scriptures theſe things are called our Subſtance, and are indeed the things by which our Nature does ſubſiſt; our Denial of them upon theſe Accounts, may very fitly be called Self-denial and thus we are obliged to deny our ſelves:

Rule 4. That Christ's Disciples must, when his Providence doth call them to it, renounce, cast from them, abandon, even their whole Subsistence, and all their temporal good Things, in prospect of those spiritual Blessings which he hath promised to all, who for his, and his Gospel's sake, do thus deny themselves: And then much more must we renounce our Superfluities, and those Accommodations whereby we only gratifie our Phancies, and our carnal Minds, viz. our stately Palaces, our numerous Attendants, our delicious Fare, our rich Attire, our large and flourishing Estates. If then we cannot freely spend these temporal Enjoyments in the Cause of Christ, or part with Superfluities for the Relief, and Comfort of his Members; if we cannot cast away, abandon, or reject these things, tho' dear unto us as a right Hand, or Eye, when they prove Snares, Temptations, and Offences to us; if the rich Man cannot be contented to be brought low, and to take joyfully the spoiling of his Goods, in prospect of those never failing Riches Christ hath promised; if to enjoy, or to preserve these things, we venture to make Shipwrack of Faith, or a good Conscience, or out of Love unto this present World, are moved with Demas to forsake, or to neglect our Duty to Christ, then we love Mammon more than Christ, and therefore cannot be his true Disciples.

5*thly*, We must deny even Life it self, which is still a more high Degree of Self-denial: There is scarce any thing we do so highly value, and dearly love, and so much labour to preserve, and so unwillingly let go, as Life; for Skin for, or after, Skin, and all that a Man hath, will a Man give for his Life, and yet this also must be denied for Christ's sake; for if any Man come unto me, and hateth not his own Life, saith Christ, he cannot be my Disciple; i. e. if he doth not love God better, and prize his Favour more than he doth value the continuance of this present Life; if he cannot prevail upon himself to die for Christ, that he may live for ever with him, and lose this miserable Life, to find it happily improved into a Life of endless Bliss and Happiness; if he cannot follow the Example of his Lord, who suffered first, then entred into his Glory, he vainly doth pretend to be a Follower, or a Disciple of the Holy Jesus. This Instance then of Self-denial doth inform us, that even natural Life must be forsaken, and renounced, when we cannot preserve it without the loss of our more valuable Interest in Christ, and those eternal Blessings he hath promised to all those that suffer for the sake of Righteousness. And if this natural Life must be denied for Christ, much more my personal, or civil Liberty, my Habitation, or my Country.

Rule 5. If then I cannot live a Pilgrim and Stranger upon Earth, in expectation of an heavenly Country, or live in Banishment and Exile for the cause of Christ; if I cannot suffer Bonds and Imprisonments that I may still continue the Lord's Freeman; if I cannot be induced to lose my Life that I may find it, but will endeavour to preserve my Life, or Liberty, by the Violation of any Laws of Christ, 'tis evident I love this present Life more than I love my Saviour, more than that Crown of Life which he hath only promised to those who shall continue faithful to the Death, and therefore am unworthy of him, and falsly do pretend to be a true Disciple of the Holy Jesus.

6*thly*, We must deny our Honour, and our Reputation, our Ease, and our Deliverance from those Afflictions which render Life a Burthen, which is the last, and highest pitch of Self-denial: even when our Afflictions, and our Persecution do render Death it self a Mercy, and Deliverance, when with good Job, our Soul chuseth Strangling, and Death, rather than Life, and longeth for it more than for hid Treasure, Job 3. 21. when for his sake we are reproached all the day long, and are exposed as Spectacles of Shame, and Infamy to the Beholder; all this we must with Patience suffer for the Name of Jesus; for even after that our Lord had said, If any Man come to me, and hate not his own Life, he cannot be my Disciple, he adds, Luke 14. 27. And whosoever doth not bear his Cross cannot be my Disciple; wherefore this bearing of the Cross, imports some farther act of Self-denial; which that we may the better understand, consider, 1*st*, That the Cross among the Romans was accounted the most ignominious, and shameful Death, inflicted only upon Slaves; for, as Lactantius saith, Homine libero quamvis nocente indignum videbatur, now to a generous Spirit it is not so much to die, as it is to suffer in an ignominious manner, and as the worst of Malefactors, being innocent; whence, as the Heathen Seneca well notes, no Person can so much express his Love to Virtue, or more entirely be devoted to her, than he, qui boni Viri Famam perdit, ne Conscientiam perderet, that loses his Reputation to preserve his Conscience. 2*dly*, Consider that this was a most bitter, painful, and afflictive Death, whence, as Auſtin, notes, acerbiſſimi Dolores, cruciatus, à Cruce vocabantur: From this Expreſſion therefore thus explained, I collect this Rule, viz.

Rule 6. That the Diſciple of the Holy Jeſus muſt endure the moſt fiery Trials, the moſt ſharp Afflictions, and chuſe to die in the moſt ſhameful, ignominious manner for the cauſe of Chriſt; i. e. when he cannot eſcape thoſe things without Denial, or acting contrary to the Commandments of his Saviour; and then much more, when equal Circumſtances do concur muſt he deny himſelf his Eaſe, and worldly Quiet, his places of Grandeur, his Honour, and his Reputation, and thoſe Punctilio's of Honour which the Hectors of our Age ſo muſt inſiſt on; and muſt with Patience bear, and Readineſs forgive all the Affronts he ſuffers from the Hands of Men, which he can never leſs deſerve than by adhering firmly to his Lord. If then we cannot quit our Eaſe, and worldly Quietneſs for Chriſt, but rather will neglect known Duty, than give our ſelves the Trouble which Chriſt's Service calls for, rather comply with what is uppermoſt, than put our ſelves to any Trouble, or Diſquiet, to preſerve an upright Conſcience; if the Example, and Authority of Chriſt be not ſufficient to curb our angry Paſſions, quell our malitious and revengeful Tempers; if the Punctilio's of Honour tempt us to duel, and to ſpill our Brother's Blood; if we cannot lay down our Honour and our Reputation at the Feet of Chriſt, not ſeeking Honours from frail Creatures, but that which comes from God alone, and being willing to be diſhonoured for his ſake; if fiery Trials do cool our Love to Chriſt, or the moſt ſharp Afflictions do cauſe us to forget our Duty to him; if we do not rather chuſe to endure Affliction with the People of God, than to enjoy the Pleaſures of Sin for a ſeaſon, we either Love or fear thoſe things more than we love the Favour, or fear the Frowns of our bleſſed Lord, and therefore cannot be his true Diſciples.

c Ver. 26. Ὅταν ἔλθῃ ἐν τῇ δόξῃ αὐτοῦ, καὶ τοῦ πατρὸς καὶ τῶν ἁγίων ἀγγέλων, When he ſhall come in his own, and in his Father's Glory, and in the Glory of his holy Angels.] The Divine Apparitions in the Old Teſtament are repreſented by a great Light, or Splendour, by the Jews ſtiled Shechinah, and the Preſence and Attendance of the holy Angels; and theſe are ſtiled the Glory of God, or the Appearance of the Glory of God, and repreſenting to them God the Father, are here ſtiled, the Glory of the Father; and it being the λόγος or Son of God which uſually thus appeared, and who after his Aſcenſion was again inveſted with this Glory, it is here alſo ſtiled his Glory. See the Notes on John 17. 5. Philip. 2. 6. Heb. 1. 3.

d Ver. 31. Ἔλεγον τὴν ἔξοδον αὐτοῦ, And they ſpake of his Deceaſe, which he ſhould accompliſh ἐν Ἱερουσαλήμ, at Jeruſalem.] Not of that Deſtruction which he was to accompliſh on Jeruſalem, for that Moſes and Elias ſpake one word of that, we read not in the Holy Scripture, nor doth the word ἔξοδος abſolutely put, ever ſignifie any ſuch thing, but only when it is joined with Army, King, Captains, Soldiers, and the like; but 'tis the proper word uſed by Scripture and other Writers for a Departure out of this Life: So 2 Pet. 1. 15. I will endeavour that μετὰ τὴν ἐμὴν ἔξοδον, after my Departure, ye may have theſe things in Remembrance; Wiſd. 3. 2. In the Sight of the unwiſe they ſeemed to die, καὶ ἔξοδος αὐτῶν, and their Departure is taken for Miſery; and Chap. 7. 6. All Men have one Entrance into Life, ἔξοδός τε ἴση, and their Departure is alike; Eccluſ. 38. 23. Be comforted for him ἐν ἐξόδῳ πνεύματος αὐτοῦ, when his Spirit departeth. Hence Grotius notes this as one of thoſe Phraſes by which the old Tradition of the Immortality of the Soul was preſerved, tho' ἔξέλευσις τοῦ πνεύματος is only the Expiration, or going forth of the Breath of Man, Pſal. 104. 29,—146. 4.

Ver. 33. Καὶ ποιήσωμεν, And let us make three Tabernacles;] Καὶ here ſignifies therefore, as Gen. 12. 19. — 29. 33. — 42. 22 Deut. 4. 6, 15, 37, 40. Chap. 5. 32. — 6. 3. — 7. 9. — 8. 6. — 28. 48. Joſh. 23. 11. — 24. 10, 18. 1 Sam. 2. 17. Luke 12. 29. 1 Cor. 5. 13. e

Ver. 39. Καὶ ἰδοὺ πνεῦμα λαμβάνει αὐτὸν, And behold a Spirit taketh him.] That this Perſon was truly poſſeſſed with an evil Spirit, is evident, 1*ſt*, Becauſe St. Matthew ſaith expreſly that Chriſt rebuked him, and the Devil departed from him. Matt. 17. 18. 2*dly*, Becauſe Chriſt commands him to depart, and return no more, Mark. 9. 24. f

Ver. 45. Οἱ δὲ ἠγνόουν τὸ ῥῆμα, καὶ ἦν παρακεκαλυμμένον ἀπ' αὐτῶν, But they underſtood not this Saying, and it was hid from them.] They underſtood the Words, but knew not how to reconcile them with their own Traditions, that their Meſſiah ſhould live for ever, or with the great things they expected from him; and therefore in after Ages they invented the Diſtinction of Meſſiah Ben Joſeph who was to die, and Meſſiah Ben David who was to triumph, and live for ever. g

Ver. 51. Ἐγένετο δὲ ἐν τῷ συμπληροῦσθαι τὰς ἡμέρας τῆς ἀναλήψεως αὐτοῦ, When the time was come that he ſhould be received up.] Tho' this may be ſaid with ſome Analogy of his Death, which he was πληροῦσθαι ἐν Ἱερουσαλήμ, to accompliſh at Jeruſalem, whither he was now bound, becauſe that was by being lifted up upon the Croſs; yet that being only ſtiled ὕψωσις, but never ἀνάληψις, I incline rather to think, that as his ἔξοδος ſignifies his Departure, ſo his ἀνάληψις may import his glo- h rious Ascension into Heaven, the Fruit and consequent of his Death, who having purged away our Sins by his Death, is sat down at the right Hand of Majesty in the Highest, Heb. 1. 3. He for the suffering of Death being crowned with Glory and Honour, Chap. 2. 9. and διὸ for this cause exalted, Philip. 2. 9. So Elias is said ἀναληφθῶναι εἰς τ̀ ὐρανὸν, to be taken up into Heaven, 2 Kings 2. 1, 9. Eccluſ. 48. 9.

i Ibid. Καὶ αὐτὸς ἐστήριξε πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ τ̀ πορεύεσθαι εἰς Ἰερυσαλήμ, He ſtedfaſtly ſet his Face to go to Jeruſalem.] That is, he firmly purpoſed to go to Jeruſalem, and began to execute it by paſſing from Galilee, the Roadway through Samaria to Jeruſalem. This is the frequent import of this Phraſe in the Septuagint, when there is mention of the Counſel, Purpoſe, or Decree of God declared to his People. So Jer. 3. 12. ὐ μὴ στήσω πρόσωπόν μου ἐφ' ὑμᾶς, I will not ſet my Face againſt you; Chap. 21. 10. ἐστήριξα τὸ πρόσωπόν μου, I have ſet my Face againſt this City for Evil; and Ezek. 21. 2. στήσον τὸ πρόσωπόν σου ἐπὶ Ἰερυσαλήμ, Set thy Face againſt Jeruſalem. So Chap. 6. 2.—13. 17.—15. 7.—20. 46.—25. 2.—28. 21.—29. 2.—38. 2. Dan. 11. 16, 17.

k Ver. 53. And the Samaritans received him not, ὅτι τὸ πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ ἦν τὸ πορευόμενον εἰς Ἰερυσαλήμ, Becauſe his Face was as tho' he was going to Jeruſalem.] It appeared by the Road he took, and the places he went through, that he was going thither: So of Senacherib, Hezekiah ſaw ὅτι τὸ πρόσωπον αὐτοῦ, that his Face was to fight againſt Jeruſalem, 2 Chron. 32. 2. i. e. that he directed his Army thither; and they that firmly purpoſed to go to Ægypt are θέλοντες τὸ πρόσωπον αὐτῶν εἰς γῆν Αἰγύπτου, Men that ſet their Face to go into Ægypt, Jer. 42. 15, 17. See alſo 2 Kings 12. 17. The reaſon why the Samaritans knowing thus his Purpoſe, received him not, as they did other Galileans going thither, was, that by going thither on a religious account, viz. to celebrate the Paſſover, he decided the Controverſie betwixt them and the Jews, touching the place by God appointed for Worſhip, and for Sacrifice, againſt them; which tho' they regarded not when done by the Galileans, yet was it grievous to them that ſuch a celebrated Doctor as Chriſt was ſhould do it.

l Ver. 55, 56. But he turned and rebuked them, ſaying, οὐκ οἴδατε οἵου πνεύματός ἐστε ὑμεῖς, You know not what Spirit ye are of.] Here Interpreters truly note that πνεῦμα, Spirit, is put for the Affection, or Diſpoſition of the Mind; as when the Scripture ſpeaks of the Spirit of Bondage, and Adoption, Rom. 8. 15. and of the Spirit of Fear, Power, Love, and of a ſound Mind, 2 Tim. 1. 7. but that which is here chiefly to be obſerved is, the Contradiction of this Saying to the Popiſh practice of Perſecuting, Deſtroying, and Exterminating thoſe whom they call Hereticks, purely on the account of their Religion; for obſerve,

1*ſt*, That whereas they who are thus perſecuted by the Church of Rome, are falſly ſuppoſed to be Schiſmaticks, and Hereticks, the Samaritans undoubtedly were both. For, 1*ſt*, In oppoſition to the Temple of Jeruſalem, which God himſelf appointed for the place where he would be worſhipped, commanding all Men to repair to it, they erected a Temple upon Mount Gerizim, and there they worſhipped, deſerting the Temple of Jeruſalem; this was their Schiſm. 2*dly*, They alſo were Hereticks and Idolaters, for they erred in Matters which concerned Salvation; and this our Saviour teſtified in theſe words, Ye worſhip ye know not what, we know what we worſhip, for Salvation is of the Jews, John 4. 22.

2*dly*, Obſerve, That whereas Romaniſts do exerciſe this Cruelty on them whom they call Schiſmaticks, and Hereticks, chiefly for their refuſing to receive, and own him as Chriſt's Vicar, who manifeſtly doth uſurp that Title, theſe Samaritans refuſed to receive our Saviour himſelf in his own Perſon, and that becauſe he ſeemed to be going to Jeruſalem to worſhip; ſo that the Honour of God, and of Religion, and of Jeruſalem, the place of his peculiar Worſhip, were all concerned in this caſe.

3*dly*, Obſerve, That the Permiſſion of what was here deſired by St. John and Peter, would have been more effectual for the Conviction of the Heretical, Schiſmatical Samaritans, than any of the Puniſhments inflicted by the Inquiſition, or any Arts of Papal Tyranny can be for the Conviction of thoſe whom they call Hereticks, and Schiſmaticks; for theſe Diſciples did not deſire that they themſelves might execute on the Samaritans this Sentence, by committing them to the Flames, or by imploring the Magiſtrates Aſſiſtance to conſume, or burn them, they only did requeſt that they might call upon the God of Heaven to rain down Fire upon them, and conſume them; which had it pleaſed him to do on this occaſion, the reſt of the Samaritans, by what this Village ſuffered, muſt have been evidently convinced by Demonſtration from Heaven, of God's Diſpleaſure againſt their way of Worſhip, and of the Truth of that Meſſiah, and his Doctrine, who procured this Vengeance to be executed upon them; whereas the Perſecutions of the Church, becauſe they miniſter no Conviction to the Conſcience ſerve only to harden Mens Hearts, and imbitter their Spirits againſt thoſe who uſe them, and to induce them more firmly to believe, that ſuch barbarous Religion cannot be of God.

From theſe three Obſervations it is evident, that whatſoever may be pleaded by the Church of Rome to juſtifie her practice in Burning, Maſſacring, Extirpating of Hereticks, and Schiſmaticks, might with Advantage have been pleaded here. (b) " Doth " She practiſe her Severities out of a Zeal " for Truth, and for the Honour of God and " Chriſt, and of the true Religion, and for " the reclaiming Hereticks, and Schiſmaticks, " and the preventing or terrifying others from " adhering to them, or being deluded by " them; Upon all theſe accounts you ſee that the Diſciples had far greater cauſe to call for Fire from Heaven upon this Village of Samaria: And yet our Saviour, under theſe Circumſtances, thinks fit to rebuke even the Deſires of doing this to one ſmall Village; How then will he rebuke the actual Performance of it to many hundred thouſand Souls, after his ſolemn Declaration of the Repugnancy of theſe Proceedings to the Deſign of his moſt bleſſed Advent, and to the Spirit of the Goſpel? For the true Reaſons why Chriſt rebuked his Diſciples for their Deſire of dealing thus ſeverely with theſe Schiſmatical, and Heretical Samaritans were theſe.

1*ſt*, Becauſe this Spirit of Severity towards erroneous Perſons, in whomſoever it is found, is highly oppoſite to the calm Temper of Chriſtianity, as is inſinuated in that Reply of Chriſt to his Diſciples, Ye know not what Spirit ye are of; that is, ye do not well conſider under what way of Diſpenſation ye are placed by me. (c) The way I come to teach Men, the Temper, Diſpoſition, and Affection I would fix within them, is not a furious, perſecuting, and deſtructive Spirit, but mild, and gentle, and tender of the Lives, and Intereſts of Men, even of thoſe who are our greateſt Enemies. Under the (d) Old Teſtament indeed they who rejected, and ſcoffed at a Prophet, ſuffered ſeverely for it, the Prophet had commiſſion to call for Fire from Heaven to deſtroy them preſently, and curſe them in the Name of the Lord, 2 Kings 2. 24. But they who reject, and crucifie Chriſt are by him prayed for, and are, by his Command, to be ſtill preached to, and, if poſſible, brought to Repentance; and according to this Example are all Chriſtians to conform themſelves, acting towards Contemners of their Perſons, or Rejecters of their Doctrine, not according to the Legal, but the Evangelical, Diſpenſation; not according to the Severity of Elias, but the meekneſs and gentleneſs of Chriſt: And therefore your deſire of proceeding, according to the extraordinary Spirit of Elias, under the Goſpel-Diſpenſation, is intolerable; for that deſigns univerſal Love, Peace, and good-will even to Enemies; it doth engage us to ſhew all meekneſs to all Men, and ſo no difference of Religion, no pretence of Zeal for God, can juſtifie this fierce, vindictive, and exterminating Spirit.

2*dly*, Our Saviour's ſecond Reaſon againſt this Proceeding is, That it was repugnant to the End for which he came into the World, which was, not to deſtroy Mens Lives, but to ſave them. (e) " He came to " diſcountenance all Fierceneſs, and Rage, " and Cruelty in Men one towards another, " to reſtrain and ſubdue that furious and un- " peaceable Spirit, which is ſo troubleſome " to the World, and the cauſe of ſo many " Miſchiefs and Diſorders in it, to beget a " peaceable Diſpoſition in Men of the moſt " diſtant Tempers; making the Lamb and the Wolf lye down together, Eſa. 11. 6, 9. and no more to deſtroy and hurt each other, but turn their Swords into Plow-ſhares, and their Spears into Pruning-hooks, Mich. 4. 3. engaging them to lay aſide all Bitterneſs and Wrath, Anger and Clamour, and evil Speaking, with all Malice. He came to introduce that excellent Spirit, which conſults not only the external Salvation of Mens Souls, but their temporal Peace and Security, their Comfort and Happineſs in this World, whoſe Fruits are Righteouſneſs and Peace, Rom. 14. 17. Love, Peace, Long-ſuffering, Gentleneſs, Goodneſs and Meekneſs, Gal. 5. 22, 23. whoſe Wiſdom is pure, and peaceable, gentle, and eaſie to be intreated, full of Mercy and good Works, James 3. 17. and which commands the wiſe and knowing Man, to ſhew forth, out of a good Converſation, his Works with Meekneſs of Wiſdom, ver. 13. condemning all his bitter Zeal, as earthy, ſenſual and deviliſh, ver. 14, 15. which ſuffers not the Servant of Chriſt to be engaged in fooliſh Queſtions, which beget Strife; becauſe, that the Diſciple of this mild and gentle Saviour muſt not fight, but muſt be gentle towards all Men, patient, in Meekneſs inſtructing thoſe that oppoſe themſelves againſt the Truth, though their Doctrine ſpread as a Gangrene, and overthrow the Faith of ſome, 2 Tim. 2. 24, 25. — 17, 18. not diſpatching them out of the way, as is the manner of the Romaniſt, but with Long ſuffering expecting, if God peradventure will give them Repentance to the acknowledgment of the Truth; which teacheth us to bear the Infirmities of Perſons weak in Faith, Rom. 15. 1. to reſtore them in the Spirit of Meekneſs, Gal. 6. 1. to become as weak to the Weak, that we may gain the Weak, 1 Cor. 9. 22. to bear with the Weak, and be long-ſuffering to all Men, 1 Theſſ. 5. 14. to ſpeak Evil of no Man, to be no Fighters, but Meek, ſhewing all Gentleneſs ness towards all Men, and that upon this sole account, That we our selves were sometimes foolish, and deceived; Tit. 3. 2, 3.

Now both these Reasons are such as equally concern all Persons, Magistrates as well as Ministers, them who thus persecute out of misguided Zeal towards God: as well as those who do it out of Envy, Hatred, and such carnal Principles: And they seem plainly to infer, That no Man should be persecuted, as in the Church of Rome Men are, purely for his Mistake concerning, or his Denial of any Article of Faith revealed by the Gospel, but only for seditious and treasonable Doctrines, or for such Crimes as, had the Gospel never been revealed, might justly have been punished by the Civil Magistrate.

m Ver. 57. Master, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest.] This being said, as Christ perceived, from the common Opinion of the Nation, That the Disciples of the Messiah should get Wealth and Honour, Christ soon discourages him from executing this Resolution, by laying before him the mean and low Condition in which he was to be followed by his Disciples.

n Ver. 61, 62. Οὐδεὶς ἐπιβολὴν τῇ χειρὶ αὐτοῦ ἐπ' ἄροτρον, καὶ βλέπων εἰς τὰ ὀπίσω, No Man having put his Hand to the Plow, and looking back, is fit for the Kingdom of God.] Christ often compares his Word to Seed, and the time of gaining Others to the Faith, to the Harvest, Now of the Plower and Sower of the Seed, it was used to be said proverbially, He is no good Plow-man or Seeds-man, who being at that work, looketh back, because his Furrows will not be straight, nor his Seed cast even from him: Whence they require of such an one, First, That he should stoop, for then he cannot look back; according to that of (f) Pliny, Arator nisi incurvus prævaricatur: Secondly, That he should look straight before him, not back on his Associates, as Hesiod in these words:

Ὃς κ' ἔριδι μεθιεῖ ἰθεῖαν αὔλακ' ἐλαύνοι Μήκεϊ παπταίνων θοὸς ὁμήλικας.
——Ἔργ. V. 441.

This Christ applies to the spiritual Husbandry; to which he that applies himself, must forget the things which are behind, ἐπεκτεινόμενος, bending and stretching out himself to those which are before, Phil. 3. 14.

CHAP. X.

1. AFter these things the Lord appointed a other [a] seventy also, and sent them two and two before his Face into every City and Place, whither he himself would come (after them.)

2. (And because he sent them to so many Cities,) therefore said he to them, The Harvest truly is great, but the Labourers are few; pray ye therefore the Lord of the Harvest, that he would send forth (more) Labourers into his Harvest:

3. Go your ways; behold, I send you forth as Lambs among Wolves, (ready to devour them,)

4. (Yet) carry neither Purse, nor Scrip, b nor Shoes, and [b] salute no Man by the way; (i. e. spend no time in fruitless Civilities, which may divert you from your business.)

5. And into whatsoever House ye enter, first say, Peace be to this House.

6. And if the Son of Peace be there, (one fit, by reason of his peaceable Temper, to receive that Blessing,) your Peace shall rest upon it, (i. e. it shall be according to your Prayer;) if not, it shall turn to you again; (i. e. they shall receive no benefit by it, Psal. 35. 13. Isa. 55. 11.)

7. And in the same House (in which you find a Son of Peace,) remain, eating and drinking such things as they give (you as the reward of your Labour;) for the Labourer is worthy of his Hire: Go not from House to House (for better Entertainment.)

8. And into whatsoever City ye enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you:

9. And heal the Sick that are therein, and say to them, The Kingdom of God is come nigh to you.

10. But into whatsoever City ye enter, and they receive you not, go your ways out into the Streets of the same, and say,

11. Even the very Dust of your City which cleaveth on (to) us, we do wipe off, (as a Testimony) against you, (that we refuse all farther Commerce with you:) Notwithstanding, be ye sure of this, that the Kingdom of God is come nigh to you, (and you would not receive it.)

12. But (and) I say to you, that it shall be more tolerable in that Day, (when God shall judge the Disobedient and Unbelievers,) for Sodom, than for that City.

13. Wo to thee Corazin; wo to thee Bethsaida; for if the mighty Works had been done in Tyre and Sidon which have been done in you, they had a great while ago repented, sitting in Sackcloth and Ashes, (with

(with the deepeſt Sorrow and Humility.)

14. But (and accordingly,) it ſhall be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the (day of) Judgment, than for you.

15. And thou Capernaum, which art exalted to Heaven, (i. e. advanced highly above others, by my Doctrine taught in thy Synagogues, and Miracles wrought in thee,) ſhalt be thruſt down to Hell, (i. e. into a ſtate of the extremeſt Miſery.)

16. (And for your encouragement in the Work on which I ſend you,) he that heareth you, (preaching in my Name the Kingdom of God, ſhall be owned as one that) heareth me; and he that deſpiſeth you, (ſhall be treated as one that) deſpiſeth me; and he that deſpiſeth me, (as one that) deſpiſeth him that ſent me.

17. And the ſeventy returned again with c joy, ſaying, Lord, even the [c] Devils are ſubject to us thro' thy Name.

18. And he ſaid to them, (When I ſent you forth,) I beheld Satan as Lightning fall from e 19. [e] Behold, I give to you Power to tread on Serpents, and over all the Power of the Enemy, and nothing ſhall by any means hurt you; (i. e. I promiſe you protection againſt Satan and his Inſtruments, and whatever elſe may hurt you, and Power to prevail over all their Oppoſition.)

f 20. [f] Notwithſtanding in this rejoice not, that the Spirits are ſubject to you; but rather rejoice, becauſe your Names are written in Heaven; (i. e. you have a preſent right to an heavenly Kingdom.)

21. In that hour Jeſus rejoiced in Spirit, and ſaid, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of g Heaven and Earth, that thou haſt [g] hid theſe things from the (Men, in their own Conceits.) Wiſe and Prudent, and haſt revealed them to Babes (in their account, Rom. 2. 20.) even ſo Father, (hath the Event been in my Preaching;) for ſo it ſeemed good in thy ſight.

22. All things are delivered to me of (i. e. by) my Father, and no Man (Gr. none) h knoweth [h] who the Son is, (as to his Nature and Dignity,) but the Father; and (no Man knoweth truly) who the Father is, but the Son, and he to whom the Son will reveal (the ſaving knowledge of) him.

23. And he turned him (ſelf) to his Diſciples, and ſaid privately, Bleſſed are the Eyes which ſee the things that ye ſee:

24. For I tell you, that many Prophets and Kings have deſired to ſee thoſe things that ye ſee, (viz. the Days of the Meſſiah,) and have not ſeen them, and to hear the things that ye hear, (the Myſteries of the Kingdom of God,) and have not heard them.

25. And behold, a certain Lawyer ſtood up, and tempted him, (i. e. made trial of his Wiſdom,) ſaying, Maſter, what ſhall I do to inherit eternal Life?

26. And he ſaid to him, What is written in the Law? How readeſt thou?

27. And he (the Lawyer) anſwering, ſaid, Thou ſhalt love the Lord thy God with all thy Heart, and with all thy Soul, and with all thy Strength, and with all thy Mind, and thy Neighbour as thy ſelf.

28. And he (Chriſt) ſaid to him, Thou haſt anſwered right; this do, and thou ſhalt live.

29. But he willing to juſtifie himſelf, (as one that had already done this,) ſaid to Jeſus, And [i] who is my Neighbour (I am thus to i love? If thoſe of our Nation only, as we teach, I have done that.)

30. And Jeſus anſwering (by an Apologue,) ſaid, A certain Man went down from Jeruſalem to Jericho, and fell among Thieves, which ſtripped him of his Raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead:

31. And by chance there came down a certain Prieſt that way; and when he ſaw him, he paſſed by on the other ſide, (taking no Pity on him.)

32. And likewiſe a Levite, when he was come at the Place, came and looked on him, and paſſed by on the other ſide, (ſhewing no compaſſion for him.)

33. But a certain Samaritan, as he journied, came where he was; and when he ſaw him, he had compaſſion on him;

34. And went to him, and bound up his Wounds, pouring in (to them) Oil and Wine; and (he) ſet him on his own Beaſt, and brought him to an Inn, and took care of him.

35. And on the morrow when he departed, he took out two pence, and gave them to the Hoſt, and ſaid to him, Take care of him, and whatſoever thou ſpendeſt more, when I come again, I will repay thee.

36. Which now of theſe three, thinkeſt thou, was Neighbour to him that fell among Thieves?

37. And he ſaid, he that ſhewed Mercy on him: Then ſaid Jeſus to him, Go, and do thou likewiſe; (treat the Samaritan with like kindneſs, and then thou wilt do according to this Precept.)

38. Now it came to paſs as they went (to Bethany, John 11. 1.) that he entred into a certain Village; and a certain Woman, named Martha, received him into her Houſe:

39. And ſhe had a Siſter called Mary, which alſo ſat at Jeſus Feet, and heard his Word;

40. But Martha was cumbred about much ſerving, and came to him, and ſaid, Lord, doſt not thou care that my Siſter hath left me to ſerve alone? Bid her therefore that ſhe help me.

41. And Jesus answered, and said to her, Martha, Martha, thou art careful, and troubled about many things.

k 42. But one [k] thing is (absolutely) needful; and Mary (by hearing my Word, that she may do it,) hath chosen that good part, (the Fruits of) which shall not be taken from her.

a Ver. 1. Ἕτερους ἑβδομήκοντα, The Lord appointed seventy others.] Grotius saith, they were chosen according to the number of the Sanhedrim, and so were seventy two; six of them being chosen out of every Tribe, for which he cites the Authority of Josephus: Now Josephus doth indeed say of the Seniors sent to Ptolomæus Philadelphus, That they were (a) ἐξ ἀφ' ἑκάστης φυλῆς, six out of every Tribe, but he says not so of the Sanhedrim. And that they were only seventy without, and seventy one with Moses their Governour, see Seld. de Synedr. l. 2. c. 4. §. 5. and Dr. Lightfoot here. And, 2*dly*, He proves this from the Authority of Origen, who in his Book (b) de rectâ in Deum fide, saith Christ chose οϛ'. 72 Disciples; and from (c) Epiphanius, who saith, That St. Mark was one ἐκ τῶν ἑβδομήκοντα δύο, of the seventy two. But this they both speak by the by: And to Origen, if that be indeed his Work, we may oppose Tertullian, who stiles them the Seventy, saying, (d) Adlegit & alios Septuaginta Apostolos super duodecem. To Epiphanius, (e) St. Jerom, who saith, the seventy Palm-trees in the sixth Mansion of the Jews, signified, secundi ordinis prædicatores, the Preachers of the second Order, as the Fountains signified the twelve Apostles: And to both, we may oppose the more antient Testimonies of (f) Irenæus, who saith, That after the Twelve Apostles, septuaginta alios Dominus noster ante se misisse invenitur, our Lord sent seventy others before him: And of (g) Clemens, who in his Hypotyposes, makes frequent mention of Christ's seventy Disciples; of Eusebius there, and Ambrose here; and the Council of (h) Neocæsarea, saying, The Chorepiscopi were constituted εἰς τύπον τῶν ἑβδομήκοντα, after the Example of the Seventy. But it is more material to observe, That as the first Mission of the Apostles was only for a season, and ceased at their return, Mat. 10. 1. See the Note there; so was this first Mission of the Seventy, they returning quickly from it, v. 17. and they receive a new Commission; of which, see Note on ver. 19. Note, 2*dly*, That whereas some compare the Bishops to the Apostles, the Seventy to the Presbyters of the Church, and thence conclude, that divers Orders, in the Ministry were instituted by Christ himself: It must be granted that some of the (i) Ancients did believe these two to be divers Orders, and that those of the Seventy were inferiour to the Order of the Apostles; and sometimes they make the Comparison here mentioned; but then it must be also granted, that this Comparison will not strictly hold; for the Seventy received not their Mission as Presbyters do, from Bishops, but immediately from the Lord Christ as well as the Apostles, and in their first Mission were plainly sent on the same Errand, and with the same Power. Nevertheless, I think here is a fair Foundation for that, in which St. Chrysostom, and others, place the superiority of Bishops over Presbyters, to wit, in this, That the Power of Ordination belongs to them alone. See Note on 1 Tim. 3. 1, 2. For tho' the Commission to preach the Gospel belonged to the Seventy, as well as to the twelve Apostles, yet the Power of conferring the Holy Ghost, by laying on of Hands, belonged peculiarly to the Twelve; See Note on Acts 8. 15. This then seems to be the Reason, why the conferring of the Holy Ghost for the use of the Ministry, hath been perpetually esteemed peculiar to those Bishops, who in the Ecclesiastical Stile, are always called the Successors of the Apostles, and they have always done it by Imposition of Hands.

e Ver. 19. Ἰδοὺ δίδωμι ὑμῖν ἐξουσίαν τοῦ πατεῖν ἐπάνω ὄφεων, Behold, I give you Power to tread upon Serpents.] Note here, that theſe words plainly ſeem to give a new Inſtitution to the Seventy, relating not as the former, to the Cities of Iſrael, as the forerunners of their Lord, but to their preaching among other Nations; as we may gather, by comparing theſe words with the Commiſſion given by Chriſt to the Apoſtles, ſent into the World to preach the Goſpel to every Creature, Mark 16. 15, —18. according to theſe words of Grotius, non pro hâc tantum legatione dedi, ſed do nunc etiam in poſterum. 2dly, This Power ſeems to be given in words, containing a manifeſt Alluſion to Pſal. 91. 13. where a like protection from Danger is promiſed to the pious Man, under the Metaphor of treading on the Scorpion and the Baſilisk; and according to the Seventy, and the Chaldee, of protection from the Noonday Devil, or from Troops of Evil Spirits, ver. 5, 6. And after this manner, ſaith (l) Tertullian, we often help the Heathens, being inveſted with that Power which the Apoſtle dedicated when he deſpiſed the biting of the Serpent.

Now this includes Power to raiſe the dead, and to paſs Judgment on them according to their Works, and ſecret Thoughts, and ſo a Power, and Wiſdom which is plainly Divine, and conſequently the Divine Nature, from which thoſe Attributes are inſeparable; which is one Argument for the Divinity of Chriſt. 2dly, He ſaith here, no Man knoweth τίς ἐστιν ὁ υἱός, who is the Son, which ſeems not to reſpect what he was to do, or ſuffer, but his Nature, Excellence, and Dignity, as the words following, τίς ἐστιν ὁ πατήρ, who the Father is, reſpects his Nature, his Divine Excellency, and Dignity, exhibited to us ἐν προσώπῳ, in the Perſon of Jeſus Chriſt, 2 Cor. 4. 6.

Ver. 29. Καὶ τίς ἐστί μου πλησίον, But he willing to juſtifie himſelf (as one who had performed the Command of loving his Neighbour as himſelf,) ſaid, who is my Neighbour?] Now the corrupt Tradition of the Jews having reſtrained this Neighbour to Men of their own Nation, and Religion, to whom he might retain a very kind Affection, he thought this ſufficient to ſhew, that he had ſatisfied that Precept; Chriſt therefore here demonſtrates to him that every Perſon who ſtands in need of help, and who is capable of Kindneſs from us, tho' he be of a different Nation and Religion, muſt be deem-

CHAP. XI.

1. AND it came to pass, that as he was praying in a certain place, when he ceased, one of his Disciples said to him, Lord, teach us (a Form by which) to pray, as John also taught (one to) his Disciples.

2. And he said to them, When ye pray, say (these words,) Our Father which art in Heaven, Hallowed be thy Name; Thy Kingdom come; Thy Will be done, as (it is) in Heaven, so on Earth;

3. Give us day by (or after) day our daily Bread.

4. And forgive us our Sins; for we also a forgive every one that is [a] indebted, (or hath been injurious) to us; And lead us not into Temptation, but deliver us from evil. (See the Paraphrase and Notes on Matth. 6.

5. And (to encourage them to expect a return of their Prayers,) he said to them, Which of you shall have a Friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say to him, Friend, lend me three Loaves,

6. For a Friend of mine in his Journey is come to me, and I have nothing to set before him;

7. And he from within shall answer, and say, Trouble me not, the Door is now shut, and my Children are with me in bed, I cannot rise, and give (them to) thee.

8. I say to you, tho' he will not (be moved to) rise, and give him (them) because b he is his Friend; yet because of his [b] Importunity he will rise, and give him as many (Loaves) as he needeth:

9. And (accordingly) I say to you, Ask (in Faith,) and it shall be given you; seek (diligently.) and ye shall find; knock (earnestly,) and it shall be opened to you;

c 10. For every one that (thus) [c] asketh, receiveth; and he that seeketh, findeth; and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened (by his heavenly Father.)

11. (For) If a Son shall ask Bread of any of you that is a Father, will he give him a Stone? or if he ask a Fish, will he, for a Fish, give him a Serpent?

12. Or if he shall ask an Egg, will he offer him a Scorpion? (i. e. things unprofitable and hurtful to, rather than what is good and needful for him.)

13. If ye then, being evil, know how to give good Gifts to your Children, how much more shall your [d] heavenly Father give the d Holy Spirit, (the Fountain of all spiritual Blessings,) to them that ask him.

14. And he was casting out a Devil, and it was (such an one as made the Man) dumb; and it came to pass that when the Devil was gone out (of him,) the dumb (Man) spake, and the People wondred (at it.)

15. But some of (the Pharisees among) them said, he casteth out Devils, through (Confederacy with) [e] Beelzebub, the chief of e the Devils;

16. And others tempting him, (i. e. distrusting his Power, and doubting of his Commission.) sought of him a Sign [f] from Hea- f ven, (as the chief token of the Messiah mentioned by Daniel, Chap. 7. 14.)

17. But he knowing their Thoughts, said to them, (who accused him of Confederacy with Satan,) Every Kingdom divided against it self is brought to Desolation, and an House divided against an House, falleth (into Ruin.)

18. If Satan (then) also be divided against himself, (and he casts his own Subjects out of his Dominions,) how then shall his Kingdom stand? (and thus I argue,) because ye say, that I cast out Devils through Beelzebub.

19. And (moreover) if I by Beelzebub cast out Devils, (let me ask you) by whom do your [g] Sons, (who exorcise them in the g Name of the same God, by whose Power I profess to do it,) cast them out? therefore they shall be your Judges; (i. e. your Judgment, that they do this by the Power of God, shall condemn you, who ascribe the same thing done by me, to the Power, and Assistance of Satan,)

20. But if I with the Finger of God cast out Devils, no doubt, (can be made of it, that) the Kingdom of God is come upon you; (i. e. that the Messiah promised to erect this Kingdom is among you.)

22. But when a ſtronger than he ſhall come upon him, and overcome him, he taketh from him all his Armour wherein he truſted, and divideth his Spoils; (I therefore being thus able to overcome Satan, and caſt him out of his Dominions, muſt be ſtronger than he.)

23. (And in this work of beating down Satan's Kingdom,) He that is not with me, is againſt me; and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth; (i. e. he that aſſiſts me not in bringing Men to the Kingdom of God, ſcattereth them as Sheep without a Shepherd.)

24. (And to you from whom Satan hath been thus ejected, and you continue yet to ſide with him againſt me by whom he is ejected, I direct this Parable, viz.) When the unclean Spirit is gone out of a Man, he walketh through dry places, (not yet watered by the Word preached to them,) ſeeking reſt, and finding none (there, the Goſpel following him to the Gentiles, and diſpoſſeſſing him there,) he ſaith, I will return to my Houſe whence I came out:

25. And when he cometh, he findeth it ſwept and garniſhed, (and ſo ready to receive him;)

26. Then goeth he, and taketh to him ſeven other Spirits more wicked than himſelf; and they enter in, and dwell there, and (ſo) the laſt ſtate of that Man is worſe than the firſt; (thus alſo will it be with you, Satan ejected by me finding no where elſe Perſons ſo fitted to receive him, will return, and take more durable poſſeſſion of you, and render you ſeven times more the Children of Satan than ye were before.)

27. And it came to paſs as he ſpake theſe things, a certain Woman of the Company h lift (ed) up her Voice, and ſaid to him, [h] Bleſſed is the Womb that bare thee, and (bleſſed are) the Paps that thou haſt ſucked.

28. But he ſaid, Yea, rather bleſſed are they that hear the Word of God, and keep it.

29. And when the People were gathered thick together, he began to ſay, (in anſwer to thoſe who ſought of him a Sign from Heaven, ver. 16.) This is an evil Generation, they ſeek a Sign, and there ſhall no (farther) Sign be given it, but the Sign of Jonas the Prophet;

30. For as Jonas was a Sign to the Ninevites, (being three days and nights in the Whale's Belly, and yet raiſed out of it to preach to them,) ſo ſhall alſo the Son of Man be (raiſed from the dead after three days, for a Sign) to this Generation;

31. The Queen of the South ſhall riſe up in the Judgment with the Men of this Generation, and (ſhall) condemn them; for ſhe came from the uttermoſt parts of the Earth, to hear the Wiſdom of Solomon; and behold a (Perſon of) greater (Wiſdom) than Solomon is here, (and yet his Wiſdom is deſpiſed by them.)

32. The Men of Nineveth ſhall riſe up in the Judgment with this Generation, and ſhall condemn it; for they repented at the Preaching of Jonas, and behold, (theſe Men repent not, tho') a greater (Prophet) than Jonas is here.

33. (But tho' the Men of this Generation deſpiſe this heavenly Wiſdom, it becomes not me, or my Diſciples to conceal it; for) [i] No i Man when he hath lighted a Candle, putteth it in a ſecret place, neither under a Buſhel, but on a Candleſtick, that they which come in (to the Houſe) may ſee the Light.

34. (As) The Light of the Body is the Eye, (directing the Body how to walk, ſo the Light of the Soul is the Mind, directing it how to diſcern its Duty;) therefore [k] when k thine Eye is ſingle, (free from worldly-Mindedneſs, and liberal,) thy whole Body alſo is full of Light, (directed by the Love of God, and of our Neighbour for his ſake, into the way that leads to Life;) but when thy Eye is evil, (envious, and covetous,) thy Body alſo is full of Darkneſs, all thy Actions done in the Body will be Deeds of Darkneſs.)

35. Take heed therefore, that the Light which is in thee, (thy Mind which ſhould direct thy Actions,) be not (by Covetouſneſs, and an immoderate Love of the World, turned into) Darkneſs.

36. If (by this Care) thy whole Body therefore be full of Light, having no part dark, the whole (of thy Life) ſhall be full of Light; as (a Room is) when the bright ſhining of a Candle doth give thee Light.

37. And as he ſpake (theſe words,) a certain Phariſee beſought him to dine with him; and he went in (to his Houſe,) and ſat down to (eat of his) Meat:

38. And when the Phariſee ſaw it, he marvelled that he had not firſt waſhed before Dinner;

39. And the Lord ſaid to him, Now do ye Phariſes make clean the outſide of the Cup, and Platter, (i. e. take care to have a fair outſide, and Bodies clean from ceremonial Defilement,) but your inward part is full of Ravening, and Wickedneſs;

40. Ye Fools, did not he that made that which is without, make that which is within alſo? (and ſhould ye not then be as careful to keep that clean, as ye do the outward Man by frequent waſhings?)

41. But rather give Alms of [l] ſuch things l as ye have, and (when God, and the Poor have had their dues,) behold all things (ye eat of or enjoy,) are clean to you.

God; these ought ye to have done, (as being your own Constitutions,) and not to leave the other undone; (as being the more weighty matters of the Law.)

43. Wo to you Pharisees, for ye love the uppermost Seats in the Synagogues, and Greetings in the Markets, (minding these Respects from Men, more than the Favour of God, John 5. 44. — 12. 43.)

44. Wo unto you Scribes and Pharisees, Hypocrites; for ye are as Graves that appear not (so to be, as being overgrown with Grass, and Herbs,) and (so) the Men that walk over them are not aware of them, (having specious Outsides, but Hearts defiled, and defiling others.)

45. Then answered one of the Lawyers, and said to him, Master, thus saying, thou reproachest us also, (for we are Scribes.)

46. And he said, Wo to you also, ye Lawyers; for ye lade Men with Burthens grievous to be born, and ye your selves touch not the Burthens with one of your Fingers; (i. e. ye will not shew the least Mercy to them, who are thus oppressed with them. See Note on Matth. 23. 4.)

47. Wo unto you, for ye build the Sepulchers of the Prophets, and your Fathers killed them, (as you your selves acknowledge.)

48. Truly ye bear witness that (ye are by Nature the Children of those Fathers, and) ye allow (or are well pleased with) the Deeds of your Fathers, (shewing the like Malice against me, and mine, as they did against the old Prophets; I say, you testifie this, viz. that ye are the Children of such Fathers:) For they (your Fathers) indeed killed them, and ye (their Children) build their Sepulchers.

49. Therefore also said the Wisdom of God, I will send them Prophets and Apostles, and some of them they shall slay, and persecute (to the Death.)

50. That (so) the Blood of all the Prophets, which was shed from the Foundation of the World, may be required of this Generation, (who by their Hatred to the last and chiefest of them, have filled up the Measure of their Sins;)

51. From the Blood of (righteous) Abel, (the first Prophet, and Preacher of Righteousness, Heb. 11. 4. 2 Pet. 2. 5.) to the Blood of Zacharias (the last Prophet slain by you, 2 Chron. 24. 22. and) which perished betwixt the Altar and the Temple; Verily I say to you, it shall be required of this Generation.

52. Wo to you Lawyers; for ye have taken away the [m] Key of Knowledge, (by which the Kingdom of God should be opened to Men;) ye entred not in your selves, and them that were entring in, ye hindred, (obstructing their Faith by your Traditions, and false Interpretations of the Scriptures.) m a Ver. 4. Καὶ γὰρ αὐτοὶ ἀφίεμεν παντὶ ὀφείλοντι ἡμῖν, For we forgive every one that is indebted to us.] That is, every one that offends against us, according to the usual import of that word in the Syriack, or Chaldee, where a Sinner is חיב, a Debtor, and Sin is חובא a Debt; thus Exod. 32. 30. חטאתם חטאה גדלא ye have sinned a great Sin, is in the Targum, חבתון חובא רבא you have contracted a great Debt. So Gen. 20. 9. — 26. 10. — 31. 36. Lev. 4. 3. See Buxtorf in the word חיב, and in this sense ὀφειλέτης, a Debtor, and ὀφειλήματα, Debts, are used, Matth. 6. 12. and Luke 13. 4. Think ye that they on whom the Tower of Siloam fell were ὀφειλέται, Debtors, that is, Sinners above all Men?

But then it is carefully to be observed, for the due stating the Controversie of Christ's Satisfaction, that Sins are not properly, and strictly compared to Debts, seeing by sinning we do not so properly contract a Debt, as a Guilt, or Obnoxiousness to Punishment; which two things will admit of these Differences; (1.) That if another will pay my Debt, the Creditor cannot justly refuse his paying it for me, or complain he is not satisfied when the whole Debt is paid; but let another be never so willing to suffer for my Offence, he can make no satisfaction for it, unless the Judge be willing to admit him to suffer in my stead. Hence, (2.) the Creditor does no act of Grace by admitting the Solution of another; and if that other pay the whole, he can require no Conditions for my Discharge: But the Ruler, against whose Laws I have personally offended, does me an act of Grace in admitting another to suffer in my stead, and so may do this only upon some reasonable Conditions. And, (3.) We do not properly pay our whole Debt unless we pay what was owing in Specie, or something admitted as an equivalent to it, but we may make satisfaction for our Sins against our Governour by any thing of less value, provided that it preserves the Honour of the Law-giver, and terrifies us and others for the future from lapsing into the same Offence. b Ver. 8. Διὰ τ ἀναιδείαν, For his Importunity,] i. e. His Requeſt ſo importunate as to admit of no refuſal, his continual coming and crying night and day, Chap. 18. 1, 5, 7. Gr. for his Impudence, according to that Saying of the Jews, (a) The impudent Man overcomes the modeſt and the baſhful, how much more God who is Goodneſs it ſelf!

c Ver. 10. Πᾶς γὰρ ὁ αἰτῶν λαμβάνει, For every one that asketh, receiveth;] i. e. who asks in Faith, ſeeks with Diligence, and knocks with Importunity, and Perſeverance, receives all that is needful for him; ſo the Connexion ſhews, he will ariſe and give him ὅσον χρήζει, as much as he wants, ver. 8. and I ſay to you, ask, and ye ſhall receive, all Knowledge neceſſary to your Salvation, all that Aſſiſtance which is neceſſary to preſerve you from thoſe ſinful Courſes which will exclude you from Salvation, or to the Performance of that Obedience which God hath made the Condition of your Salvation under the new Covenant, and to your Perſeverance in that Obedience to the end; he ſhall receive all things ſpiritually good for him; for if you being evil will give good things to your Children, much more will your heavenly Father give τὰ ἀγαθὰ, good things, Matth. 7. 11. his holy Spirit, ver. 13. to thoſe that ask him.

d Ver. 13. Ὁ πατὴρ ὁ ἐξ οὐρανοῦ δώσει πνεῦμα ἅγιον, Much more will your heavenly Father give the holy Spirit to them that ask him.] Ὁ ἐξ οὐρανοῦ is the ſame with ὁ ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς, Matth. 7. 11. So our Houſe from Heaven, 2 Cor. 5. 2. is our Houſe in Heaven, ver. 1. and the Lord from Heaven, 1 Cor. 15. 47. is ὁ ἐπουράνιος, the heavenly Lord, ver. 48, 49. πνεῦμα ἅγιον, the Holy Ghoſt, if it here ſignifies, as throughout the Old Teſtament, the Spirit of Propheſie, or as generally in the New, the miraculous inward Gifts and Operations of the Holy Spirit; See Note on 1 John 5. 6. it muſt be granted that Chriſt ſpeaks here, not of what they were to ask at preſent, for the Holy Ghoſt was not yet, becauſe Jeſus was not glorified, John 7. 39. And ſo muſt we underſtand our Lord's Words, Chap. 12. 11, 12. When they ſhall bring you before Princes, and Governours, meditate not before hand what you ſhall ſpeak, for the Holy Ghoſt ſhall teach you in that day; for neither were they brought before Princes till after our Lord's Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, nor did the Holy Ghoſt inſtruct them how to ſpeak till then. So our Lord's Commiſſion as to theſe Words, Matth. 10. 8. and all that follows in that Chapter, from ver. 16. to the end, plainly reſpects what they were to do, and ſuffer, after Chriſt's Aſcenſion; if it relates to the preſent time, and to Chriſtians in general, not only to the Apoſtles, as the words, every one that asketh, and the good Gifts, in Matthew, ſeem to argue; we by this Phraſe can only underſtand the ordinary Aſſiſtances and Operations of the holy Spirit.

e Ver. 15. Ἐν Βεελζεβὺλ, By Beelzebub the Prince of the Devils.] Of the right reading of this word Beelzebub, the Lord of Flies, or Beelzebul, the Lord of Dung, as St. Jerom reads, Matth. 12. 24. See Dr. Lightfoot there. But then when both he, and the great Bochartus wonder, how this God of Flies ſhould come to be ſtiled the Prince of Devils, that ſeems to be no great wonder, he being no leſs than the Heathen Jupiter, the Prince and Father of the Gods, as appears from the Titles of ἀπόμυος, μυάγρος, μυοδήτης, all given him à muſcis abigendis, from his Office of chaſing the Flies from the Sacrifices, the Temples, and Cities of the Heathens. See Bochart. Hieroz. part. 2. l. 4. c. 9. p. 499, 500, 501.

f Ver. 16. Σημεῖον ἐξ οὐρανοῦ, A Sign from Heaven.] Becauſe the Son of Man was to come in the Clouds of Heaven, Dan. 7. 13. See the Note on Matth. 12. 38.

g Ver. 19. Ὑμῶν ἐν τίνι ἐκβάλλουσι; By whom do your Sons caſt them out?] To what hath been ſaid on Matth. 12. 27. add, that ſome think that this relates to the Seventy Diſciples ſent by Chriſt to preach the Kingdom in every City, and Place whither he was afterwards to come, Luke 10. 2. For they return to him with theſe words, Even the Devils are ſubject to us in thy Name, ver. 17. Now doubtleſs they were the Sons of the Jews, and tho' they caſt out Devils in Chriſt's Name, yet is not this ſufficient to take off the Force of Chriſt's Argument; for 'twas not eaſie to ſuſpect ſo great a number of honeſt Men, of their own Nation, and Acquaintance, ſent by two and two into their Villages, and Cities ſhould be all Confederates with Satan; they therefore going through their Cities to aſſure them, the Kingdom of God was at hand, and confirming their Teſtimony, by healing Diſeaſes, and caſting out Devils in Chriſt's Name, gave in full Teſtimony againſt them who ſaid, that Chriſt himſelf did this by a Confederacy with Satan.

h Ver. 27, 28. Bleſſed is the Womb that bare thee, 28. μενοῦνγε, yea rather bleſſed are they that hear the Word of God, and keep it.] i. e. The Bleſſedneſs of my Mother ariſeth not from this, that ſhe conceived, and brought me forth into the World, but in order to that 'tis neceſſary for her, as well as others, to believe, and obey my Word. So Theophylact.

Connexion thus; Tho' you generally receive very little Benefit by my Preaching, it becomes neither me, nor my Diſciples to conceal our Wiſdom, but ſtill to let it ſhine forth to the World, Matth. 5. 15. But ſeeing it is evident that the ſame Expreſſions are oft applied to different things in divers Senſes, See Note on Matth. 12. 30. why may not this have relation to the following Verſe, thus? God never gives the Light of Nature, or of Revelation, as he hath done to you Jews, but that it may be improved, and ſhine forth in them to others: Now as the Light of the Body is the Eye, ſo the Light of the Soul is that Reaſon, and that Revelation of his Mind which God affords; and therefore it becomes you to take as great care that your Light be not turned into Darkneſs, by Prejudices which blind the Eyes, or by ſhutting your Eyes againſt the Light, or by your Infidelity, or thoſe vicious Habits which will not ſuffer you to come to the Light, or believe in it; as that the Eye of the Body be not darkned, or put out.

k Ver. 34. Ὅταν οὖν ὁ ὀφθαλμός σου ἁπλοῦς ᾖ, Therefore when thine Eye is ſingle, thy whole Body is full of Light, but when πονηρὸς ᾖ, it is evil, thy Body alſo is full of Darkneſs.] There is no Tautology in theſe, and the following words, but only a progreſſion from the Mind clearly enlightned, and directed, and the Faculties of the Soul rightly diſpoſed, to a Life led according to them, or in the Scripture Phraſe, a walking in the Light. For Chriſt here compares the inward Light of the Soul, or the Eye of it, to that of the Body, ſhewing that as that being pure from Spots, adventitious Humors, Cataracts, and other Blemiſhes, gives a clear Light for the Direction of the Body; but when it is ill affected, by reaſon of theſe, or other Maladies, the Body is in the dark; So if the Eye of the Soul be not ſingle, i. e. if it be not pure from Covetouſneſs, which is ἐπιθυμία τοῦ ὀφθαλμοῦ, the Luſt of the Eye after worldly things, 1 John 2. 16. from carnal Concupiſcence, which renders it the adulterous Eye, Matth. 5. 28, 29. 2 Pet. 2. 14. from Envy, which is ὀφθαλμὸς βασκανίας, the evil or bewitching Eye, Prov. 23. 6. Eccluſ. 14. 3, — 10. from Pride, which is ὀφθαλμὸς ὑπερηφάνων, the High-look, Pſal. 101. 5. ὀφθαλμὸς ὑψηλός, the Proud-look, Prov. 6. 17. ὀφθαλμὸς ὁ μετέωρος, the lofty Eye, Iſa. 5. 15. If, I ſay, it be not purified from theſe Diſtempers, it will not direct our way aright, or preſerve us from walking in the dark; for theſe are the Luſts of the World, which are contrary to the Friendſhip of God, making all the Actions of the Life perverſe; and therefore, they who do ſuch things, are ſaid to walk on ſtill in Darkneſs, Pſal. 82. 5. Eccleſ. 2. 14. John 8. 12. — 12. 46. 1 John 2. 9. to be in Darkneſs, 1 Theſſ. 5. 4. and to love Darkneſs more than Light, John 3. 19. Whereas, when the Mind is free from theſe Vices, and adorned with the contrary Virtues; it directs all our Actions to Piety, Virtue, and the Love of God, as a Lantern ſhining in Darkneſs directs our Feet, or as a Candle enlightens the whole Room where it is; and hence ſuch Perſons are ſaid to walk in the Light, 1 John 1. 7. and to be Children of the Light, and of the Day, Luke 16. 8. John 12. 36. Eph. 5. 8. 1 Theſſ. 5. 5. This therefore is the import of theſe words, That a Mind thus enlightned, and free from all theſe Diſtempers, which darken and make blind the Soul, will direct all our Faculties and Inclinations, and all the Actions of the Life aright, as a Light doth the Body when it walks in a dark Night.

Ver. 41. Πλὴν τὰ ἐνόντα δότε ἐλεημοσύνην, But give Alms of all that you have, and all things ſhall be clean unto you;] τὰ ἐνόντα, are τὰ παρόντα, τὰ ὑπάρχοντα, our Subſtance, or the things which we have; or as Stephanus, which are in our Power, according to thoſe words of Tobit, ἐκ τῶν ὑπαρχόντων σοι ποίει ἐλεημοσύνην, Give Alms of thy Subſtance, chap. 4. 7. and ver. 8. ὡς σοι ὑπάρχῃ, as thou haſt Ability, according to thy Abundance. Chriſt therefore here inſtructs us, that our temporal Enjoyments are unclean, i. e. unlawful to be uſed by us till we have ſanctified them by ſome Act of Charity; and this is the frequent import of the word καθαρὸς, clean, when it relates to Meats, as Acts 10. 14, 15. — 11. 8, 9. Rom. 14. 20. Tit. 1. 15. and ſuitable to this, is God's Command concerning the Tythe of the third Year, that it ſhould be given to the Stranger, the Orphan, the Widow, that God might bleſs the Land, Deut. 26. 13. 14. ſo that till this were done, they were not to expect from him a Bleſſing on their Subſtance. This alſo is frequently preſcribed as a means to procure the Pardon of our Sins. So Daniel ſaith to Nebuchadonoſor, Λύτρωσαι ἐν ἐλεημοσύναις, Redeem thy Sins, or expiate them, by Acts of Mercy to the Poor, Chap. 4. 27. For by Mercy and Truth, Iniquity is purged, Prov. 16. 6. Ἐλεημοσύνη, Mercy, or Charity, delivereth from Death, and ſhall purge away all Sins, Tobit 12. 9. Water will quench a flaming Fire, καὶ ἐλεημοσύνη ἐξιλάσεται ἁμαρτίας, and Alms maketh an Atonement for Sins; our Mercy to his Servants enclining God to be merciful to us.

ford to Conduct Men to it; and pretending, that for want of knowledge of the Law, they are not ſufficient to judge of theſe Matters, but muſt be guided by your Judgment of them, John 7. 48, 49. And thus you not believing in the Meſſiah, nor entring your ſelves into the Kingdom of God, now come among you, and preached to you, have obſtructed the Faith of them who otherwiſe would have believed, and entred into it. See Additions N° 17.

n Ver. 53. Καὶ ἀποστοματίζειν αὐτὸν περὶ πλειόνων, And to provoke him to ſpeak of many things;] Or to enquire of many things from his Mouth. For they did this ζητοῦντες θηρεῦσαι τι ἐκ τοῦ στόματος αὐτοῦ, ſeeking to catch ſomething out of his Mouth. So (b) Julius Pollux ſaith, That ἀποστοματίζειν is τι ἀπὸ στόματος εἰπεῖν, to ſpeak ſomething from the Mouth, or words not written: Suidas, That it is ἀπὸ στόματος λέγειν, to ſpeak from the Mouth, or Memory. So (c) Ariſtotle ſaith, The Grammarians learn τὰ ἀποστοματιζόμενα, thoſe things which are delivered from their Maſter's Mouth. See Stephanus on this word. Theophylact ſaith it is παρὰ τοῦ αὐτὸν μὴ ἀπὸ στόματος μαθεῖν.

CHAP. XII.

1. IN the mean time, when there were gathered together an innumerable Multitude of People, (Gr. ἐν οἷς, whilſt Chriſt was ſaying theſe things, an innumerable Multitude of People being gathered together,) inſomuch that they trod one upon another, he began to a ſay to his Diſciples firſt of all, [a] Beware of the Leaven of the Phariſees, which is Hypocriſie; (i. e an outward appearance of Sanctity, which puffs up, and deceives others, but yet is only a pretence.)

2. For there is nothing covered (under hypocritical pretences) which ſhall not be revealed, neither hid, that ſhall not be (made) known.

3. Therefore (Gr. ἀνθ' ὧν, becauſe, or foraſmuch as) whatſoever you have ſpoken in Darkneſs, ſhall be heard in the Light; and that which ye have ſpoken in the Ear in Cloſets, ſhall be proclaimed on the Houſe-top; (ſo that, tho' you ſhould be able to conceal the evil of your Hearts and Actions from Men, they will be all laid open at the Great Day of your Accounts.)

4. And (tho' I ſend you with a Meſſage which will ſo offend Men, and more eſpecially the Jews, that they will think by killing you, they do God good Service, John 16. 2. yet) I ſay to you, my Friends, be not afraid of them who (can only) kill the Body, and after that, have no more that they can do, (nothing to hurt the Soul:)

5. But I will forewarn you whom you ſhall (rather) fear, (viz.) fear him, who, after he hath killed, hath power to caſt (both Soul and Body) into Hell; yea, I ſay to you, Fear him.

6. (For) are not five Sparrows ſold for two Farthings, and (yet) not one of them is forgotten before (that) God, (whoſe Providence watches over the ſmalleſt things in the World? You may then be aſſured, your leaſt concerns are not neglected by him;)

7. But even the very Hairs of your Head are all numbred; fear not therefore, ye are of more value than many Sparrows; (and ſo the more peculiar Objects of God's Care and Providence.)

8. Alſo, (and farther to engage you to conſtancy in your Profeſſion, and patient Suffering for my ſake,) I ſay to you, Whoſoever ſhall (thus) [b] confeſs me before Men, him ſhall b the Son of Man alſo confeſs before the Angels of God; (he will own them before God, in whoſe Preſence the Angels ſtand.)

9. But he that to avoid the Rage of Men) denieth me before Men, ſhall be denied, (i. e. renounced as none of my Diſciples) before the Angels (ſtanding in the Preſence) of God.

10. And (as for the Enemies of me and my Doctrine,) whoſoever (of them being offended at my preſent humble Circumſtances,) ſhall, (notwithſtanding all the Convictions I have given them,) ſpeak a word againſt the Son of Man, (in derogation from his Miſſion,) it ſhall be forgiven him; but to him that blaſphemeth againſt the Holy Ghoſt, (when he cometh upon you in his Gifts and miraculous Operations, to aſſert my Reſurrection, and confirm my Doctrine,) it (that Blaſphemy,) ſhall not be forgiven.

11. And when they bring you to the Synagogues, and to Magiſtrates, and (Heathen) Powers, take ye no thought how, or what thing ye ſhall anſwer, or what ye ſhall ſay, (ſeeing it ſhall be given you in that ſame hour what ye ſhall ſpeak, Matth. 10. 19.)

12. For the Holy Ghoſt ſhall teach you in the ſame hour what ye ought to ſay.

13. And (then) one of the Company ſaid to him, [c] Maſter, ſpeak to my Brother, that c he divide the Inheritance with me; (for I would gladly have thee to be Arbitrator betwixt us concerning it.)

14. And he ſaid to him, Man, who made me a Judge, or a Divider over you? (This properly belongs not to my Propbetick Office, but to your Civil Conſiſtories.)

15. And

15. And (upon occasion of this Man's Concern for his Temporals,) he said to them, d Take heed, and [d] beware of Covetousness; for (the Comfort of) a Man's Life consisteth not in the Abundance of the things that he possesseth.

16. And (to this end) he spake a Parable to them, saying, The Ground of a certain rich Man brought forth plentifully:

17. And he thought within himself, saying (to himself.) What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow, (i. e. lay up) my Fruits?

18. And he said, This will I do, I will pull down my Barns, and build greater; and there will I bestow all my Fruits, and my Goods.

19. And (then) I will say to my Soul, Soul, thou hast much Goods laid up for many Years; take thine ease, eat, drink, and be merry.

20. But God said to him, Thou Fool, this e Night thy Soul shall be [e] required of thee; (i. e. thou shalt die this Night; and) then, whose shall those things be which thou hast provided?

21. So (such a Fool) is he, that layeth up Treasure for himself (on Earth,) and is not rich towards God, (i. e. in heavenly Treasures, which will alone commend him to God, and procure his Favour.)

22. And he said to his Disciples, Therefore I say to you, take no thought (be not anxiously concerned) for (the things necessary to preserve) your Life, (viz.) what ye shall (have to) eat, neither for the Body, what ye shall (have to) put on:

23. (For) The Life is more than Meat, and the Body is more than Raiment: (He then who gave this Life and Body, without your care, and your assistance, will not be wanting in making the Provisions necessary to preserve them.)

24. Consider the (young) Ravens, (excluded from their Nests by the old Ones, and crying to the Lord for Meat, Psal. 147. 9.) for (Gr. that) they neither sow nor reap, which neither have Store-house nor Barn, and (yet) God feedeth them, (giving them Food when they cry;) how much more are ye better than the Fowls, (and so more sure to be provided for?)

25. And which of you with taking thought, can add to his stature one Cubit, (one moment to his Life, or one inch to the growth of his Body; and how much less will your Solicitude preserve the whole?)

26. If ye then be not able to do that thing which is least, why take ye thought for the rest, (which you are less able to compass?)

27. (Again,) Consider the Lilies how they grow, they toil not, they spin not; and yet I say unto you, (they appear so beautifully cloathed by Nature,) that Solomon in all his Glory was not arrayed like one of these.

28. If then God so cloath the Grass, which is to day in the Field, and to morrow is cast into the Oven, (and so is of a very short duration,) how much more will he cloath you, oh ye of little Faith, (if you distrust his care in making these Provisions for you?)

29. And seek not ye, (or, seek not then) what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink, neither be ye of a [f] doubtful (wavering) Mind: f

30. For all these things do the Nations of the World seek after, (who have no hopes of better things,) and (you need not be concerned for them, seeing) your (heavenly) Father knoweth you have need of these things.

31. But rather seek ye (first) the Kingdom of God, and all these things shall be added to you.

32. Fear not (any want of these things,) little Flock; for it is your Father's good pleasure to give you the Kingdom (of Glory.)

33. [g] Sell that ye have, and give Alms, g
(even out of the main Stock, when the necessities of your Brethren require it, and so) provide your selves Bags that wax not old, a Treasure in the Heavens that faileth not, where no Thief approacheth, nor Moth corrupteth; (this being the only way to be heavenly minded.)

34. For where your Treasure is, there will your Heart be also.

35. Let your [h] Loins be girded about, and h your Lights burning; (i. e. as Servants attending still their Master's coming, and ready to execute his Commands.)

36. And ye your selves, like to Men (Servants) that wait for their Lord, (or Bridegroom,) when he will return from the Wedding, that when he cometh, and knocketh, they may open to him immediately.

37. Blessed are those Servants, whom the Lord, when he cometh, shall find watching: Verily I say to you, That he shall gird himself (as a Servant,) and make them sit down to Meat, and will come forth, and serve them; (i. e. he will administer to them in an unusual manner.)

38. And if he shall come in the second Watch, or come in the third Watch, and find them so, blessed are those Servants (whom he will so regard.)

39. And this know (that Men use the like vigilance in Temporals; for) if the good Man of the House had known what hour the Thief would come, (it is to be supposed) he would have watch'd, and not have suffered his House to be broken through.

40. Be ye therefore ready also, (and shew like care in Spirituals;) for the Son of Man cometh in an hour that ye think not (of.)

41. Then Peter ſaid to him, Lord, ſpeakeſt thou this Parable to us (Diſciples, and Apoſtles only,) or even to all?

42. And the Lord ſaid, (This Duty is incumbent on, and will be done by as many as expect a Reward from me, for their Prudence
i and Fidelity, τὶς ἄρα,) [i] who then is that faithful and wiſe Steward, whom his Lord ſhall make Ruler over his Houſhold, to give them their Portion of Meat in due ſeaſon, (as their wants require?)

43. Bleſſed is that Servant, whom his Lord when he cometh, ſhall find ſo doing.

44. Of a truth, I ſay to you, That he will make him Ruler over all that he hath (i. e. advance him to great Honour and Glory at his coming.)

45. But if that Servant ſay in his Heart My Lord delayeth his coming, (as many of the Jews did, revolting from his Service;) and (therefore) ſhall begin to beat the Menſervants, and Maidens (the perſevering Chriſtians, as the apoſtatizing Jews did,) and to eat and drink, and to be drunken; (i. e. return to a diſſolute courſe of Life, 2 Pet. 2. 22.)

46. The Lord of that Servant will come in a day when he looketh not for him, and at an hour when he is not aware; and (for his perfidiouſneſs,) ſhall cut him aſunder, and appoint him his Portion with the Unbelievers.

k 47. And that Servant who [k] knew his Lord's Will, and prepared not himſelf (for his coming,) neither did according to his Will, ſhall be beaten with many Stripes.

48. But he who knew (it) not, and did commit things worthy of Stripes, (as ſinning againſt the Law of Nature,) ſhall be beaten with few Stripes; for to whomſoever much is given, of him ſhall be much required; and to whom Men have committed much, of them they will ask the more.

49. (I farther tell you, that) I am come to ſend Fire on the Earth, (to publiſh that Doctrine which will cauſe great Heats, and Contentions;) and (yet ſo profitable is it to l the World, that) what will I, [l] if it be already kindled? (Gr. what do I deſire, even that it were already kindled?)

50. But (and) I have a Baptiſm to be baptized with, (i. e. a Death to ſuffer;) and how am I ſtraitned (as one in pain,) till it be accompliſhed!

51. Suppoſe ye that I am come to give Peace on Earth, (i. e. to free you from the Troubles of the World?) I tell you, nay, but rather, (to preach that Doctrine, which will cauſe) Diviſion.

52. For from henceforth, there ſhall be five in one Houſe divided, (on the account of this Doctrine, viz) three againſt two, and two againſt three.

53. The Father ſhall (by reaſon of it,) be divided againſt the Son, and the Son againſt the Father, and the Mother againſt the Daughter, and the Daughter againſt the Mother, the Mother-in-law againſt her Daughter-in-law, and the Daughter-in-law againſt her Mother-in-law.

54. And he ſaid alſo to the People, When ye ſee a Cloud riſe out of the Weſt, ſtraightway ye ſay, There cometh a Shower, and (uſually) ſo it is.

55. And when ye ſee (hear) the South-wind blow, ye ſay, There will be Heat, and (ſo) it cometh to paſs.

56. Ye Hypocrites, ye can diſcern (by) the Face of the Sky; (what Weather,) and (by the Face) of the Earth, (what Seaſon it is like to be;) but how is it, that ye do (Gr. how then do ye) not diſcern (from what I do and teach, that) this (is the) time (of the Meſſiah's Advent?)

57. Yea, and why even of [m] your ſelves judge ye not, (from the Agreement of my Doctrine with the Principles of Reaſon,) what is right?

58. When thou goeſt with thine Adverſary to the Magiſtrate, (it is good Counſel,) as thou art in the way, (to) give diligence that thou mayeſt be delivered from him, leſt he hale thee to the Judge, and the Judge deliver thee to the Officer, and the Officer caſt thee into Priſon:

Πᾶς ὃς ἂν ὁμολογήσῃ ἐν ἐμοὶ, Every one that shall confess me before Men, him also shall the Son of Man confess before the Angels of God; ver. 9. But he that denieth me before Men, shall be denied before the Angels of God.] The critical Note here, is, that as the Hebrew ב is very frequently only the sign of the Dative Case, See Nold. de Partic. p. 165, 166. so is ἐν, both in the Old and the New Testament: So Gen. 40. 14. ποιήσεις ἐν ἐμοὶ ἔλεος, thou shalt shew me kindness, Psal. 82. 8. So Rom. 11. 2. ἐν Ἠλίᾳ, to Elijah, 1 Cor. 9. 15. I have not written this that it should be so done, ἐν ἐμοὶ, to me; chap. 14. 11. ὁ λαλῶν ἐν ἐμοὶ βάρβαρος, he that speaketh shall be a Barbarian to me: So in Euripides, ἐν βέλῳ πληγείς, smitten with a Weapon, ἐν γλώσσῃ χαίρων· See Stephanus. And it is also used where the Sense requires an Accusative Case, as, σὺ ἐνελέξω ἐν Ἀβραάμ, thou hast chosen Abraham, Neh. 9. 7. Esdr. 2. 51. ἐμυκτήρισαν ἐν Ἀγγέλοις αὐτοῦ, they mocked his Messengers, 2 Chron. 36. 16; the Leprosie of Naaman shall cleave ἐν σοὶ, καὶ ἐν τῷ σπέρματί σου, to thee and to thy Seed. 2 Kings 5. 27. I will hear what the Lord will say ἐν ἐμοὶ to me. So ἐν πόλῃ ἐν Ἰερουσαλήμ, a City—Jerusalem, LXX. Moreover, These words ver. 9. afford us a full confutation of the pernicious Doctrine of Mr. Hobbs, against that Self-denial and taking up the Cross, our Lord so expresly and frequently requires from all Christians, and Mr. Hobbs, out of his more abundant Wisdom, fully doth excuse us from: For Faith, saith he, being internal and invisible, we need not put our selves into Danger for it; and therefore he alloweth Subjects, being commanded by their Sovereigns, to deny Christ. His Words are these, Profession with the Tongue is only an external thing, wherein a Christian believing firmly in his Heart the Faith of Christ, hath the same liberty which the Prophet Elisha allowed to Naaman the Syrian, who believed in his Heart, but by bowing before the Idol Rimmon, he denied the true God in effect, as much as if he had done it with his Lips. Moreover, He giveth licence to a Christian to commit Idolatry, or do an idolatrous Act, for fear of Death or corporal Danger; To pray, saith he, to a King voluntarily for fair Weather, or for any thing which God alone can do for us, is divine Worship and Idolatry; but if the King compel a Man to this by the terrour of Death, or other great corporal Punishments, it is not Idolatry; his reason is, because it is not a sign that he doth honour him as God inwardly, but that he is desirous to save himself from Death, or from a miserable Life: Thus doth he, with those Gnosticks of whom St. Peter speaks, bring in damnable Heresies, even denying the Lord that bought him. But, (1*st*,) This Doctrine renders Self-denial, or taking up the Cross, a thing impossible; for, where the Magistrate is not against the free Profession of our Faith, where he enjoyneth nothing opposite to the Command of Christ, we cannot suffer for the sake of Christ, and of his Gospel: And where the Magistrate compels us by Punishments or Threats to deny Christ, or do what he hath otherwise forbid, Mr. Hobbs tells us, we may lawfully obey, and therefore need not suffer. (2*dly*,) No Man, according to this Doctrine, can suffer according to the Will of God, as the Apostle Peter doth suppose, 1 Pet. 3. 17. No Man can suffer for Conscience towards God, or for Well-doing, as the same Apostle speaks, because 'tis not the Will of God we should thus suffer, since he permits us to deny our Faith, saith Mr. Hobbs, and practise contrary to what he hath forbid, when Faith or Practice will expose us to corporal Punishments, or to the fear of Death. (3*dly*,) No Man, according to this Doctrine, can promise to himself any Reward for what he suffers in the cause of Christ, because he never did require him to suffer; whereas a Crown of Glory is every where in Scripture promised to the patient Sufferer, his light Afflictions are said to work for him a more exceeding and eternal weight of Glory; and it is said to be a righteous thing with God, to recompence to them that suffer for him, rest with him.

Moreover, This Doctrine gives the Lie to our Saviour, who plainly tells us, That whosoever shall deny him before Men, he will deny him before his heavenly Father, Matth. 10. 33. That whosoever shall be ashamed of his Words and Doctrine in a perverse and an adulterous Generation, of him his Saviour will be ashamed, when he comes before his Father and his glorious Angels, Mark 8. 3, 8. But to this it is replied by Mr. Hobbs, That what a Subject is compelled to do in obedience to his Sovereign, and doth it not in order to his own Mind, but in order to the Law of his Sovereign, that Action is not his, but his Sovereign's; nor is it he that in this case denyeth Christ, but his Sovereign. Answ. 1. Seeing the persecuting World is that adulterous Generation of which our Saviour speaks, and the World persecuteth by the Civil Power; to be ashamed of Christ and of his Words in this adulterous Generation, is certainly to be aſhamed to confeſs him, and to own his Doctrine; by reaſon of the Ignominy or Troubles we may ſuffer for ſo doing from the Civil Power. 2*dly*, That to refuſe to bear our Croſs, and even loſe our Lives for Chriſt's ſake and the Goſpel's, is to be aſhamed of Chriſt, is evident from the connexion of the words; for Chriſt informeth his Diſciples, ver. 31. That he muſt ſuffer many things of the Chief Prieſts and Rulers of the Jews; and ver. 34. he tells them, All that would be his Diſciples, muſt alſo be content to bear the Croſs, and loſe their Lives for his ſake and the Goſpels, when Men ſaw fit to treat the Diſciple as they had done his Maſter, which, ſaith he, whoſoever doth refuſe to do, will be the greateſt loſer; ὃς γὰρ ἂν, for whoſoever will be aſhamed of me, &c. is it not therefore evident, That to refuſe even to loſe our Life for Chriſt's ſake and the Goſpel's, when Rulers ſhall think fit on that account, to take it from us, is to be aſhamed of Chriſt and of his Doctrine? And therefore Mr. Hobbs wiſely ſaid nothing to this Text. But, (2*dly*,) In his pretended Anſwer to thoſe Words of Matthew, he manifeſtly wreſts our Saviour's Words, who plainly ſpeaks of denying him by Words in preſence of, or in compliance with the Magiſtrate. For ver. 18. he declares to his Diſciples, that they ſhould be brought before Kings and Rulers for his ſake, and by them ſhould be ſcourged, ver. 17. impriſoned, ver. 19. and killed, ver. 21. But notwithſtanding all their Menaces and Perſecutions, publiſh, ſaith he, my Doctrine openly to all the World; What I tell you in Darkneſs, that ſpeak ye in the Light; and what you hear in the Ear, that ſpeak on the Houſe top, ver. 27. and be not diſcouraged from ſo doing by fear of them who may kill the Body, which Magiſtrates who have the Power of the Sword have only right to do; and which they cannot do for our internal Faith, of which they cannot judge, but only for outward Profeſſion, or Confeſſion of it, which, ſaith Chriſt, I command you to make before them without fear, ver. 31. for whoſoever ſhall confeſs me before men, him will I confeſs — deny me before men — deny, ver. 32, 33. So ſaith our Lord. 'Tis no ſuch matter, ſaith the great Malmsburian Philoſopher, you are Fools if you offer your ſelves to be thus treated by the Magiſtrate for the Name of Chriſt; you need not run this hazard, you may deny, as well as preach Chriſt's Doctrine on the Houſe top, if ſo commanded by the Magiſtrate, and therefore only need not fear him, becauſe you need do nothing to provoke him; you may be found Believers, tho' ye deny, blaſpheme, or diſobey Chriſt, when by their Menaces or Precepts the Magiſtrates compel you ſo to do; and therefore you, notwithſtanding all your Blaſphemies, will be acceptable to Chriſt, but he will puniſh thoſe perſecuting Rulers as thoſe who only do indeed deny him. Now whether this be to interpret, or contradict our Saviour's Words, let any rational Man judge. 3*dly*, This Doctrine is a flat Contradiction to St. Paul, who doth expreſly teach as well Confeſſion of the Lord Jeſus with our Mouths, as Belief of him with our Hearts to be required to Salvation, for with the Mouth Confeſſion is made unto Salvation, Rom. 10. 10. adding, that if we do deny Chriſt he alſo will deny us, but if we ſuffer for him, we ſhall reign together with him, 2 Tim. 2. 12. It alſo thwarts the Doctrine of St. John, who having told us of ſome Jewiſh Rulers, who, when convinced that Jeſus was the Chriſt, would not confeſs him for fear of Puniſhment, and of Diſgrace, by being turned out of the Synagogue, ſaith, they loved the Praiſe of Men, more than the Praiſe of God, John 12. 43. which whoſoever doth can be no ſound Believer, and no true Lover of his Lord, John 5. 42, 44. Moreover by this Doctrine we muſt condemn the three Children who refuſed to worſhip the Golden Image which Nebuchadnezzar did erect, whereas God by their wonderful Deliverance approved their Diſobedience to the Command of the King; and all thoſe Martyrs and Confeſſors, who rather choſe to ſuffer, than deny their Lord, or worſhip Idols, when by the Heathen Magiſtrate they were commanded ſo to do, muſt be condemned as Fools, and Criminals; whereas the Miracles they wrought, and the Divine Aſſiſtance which they found under their Sufferings, ſufficiently convince us that God approved of their Actions. Laſtly, the Inſtance of Naaman the Syrian, as it may be rendred from the Hebrew, is wholly impertinent to this purpoſe; for there he doth not ask this Prophet's leave to ſin again, but only asks his Pardon that he had done it; in this thing the Lord pardon thy Servant, that when my Lord went into the Houſe of Rimmon to bow down himſelf there, and leaned on my Hand, I bowed down my ſelf there; that I bowed down my ſelf —the Lord pardon thy Servant in this thing; and ſo the Margins of ſome Bibles read; and that which may be fairly offer'd to confirm this reading is, that theſe very Hebrew words here uſed are elſewhere found, not in the future, but in the preterperfect Tenſe, the Lord pardon me, beboa in going to the Houſe of Rimmon, ſaith the Text here; a Pſalm of David, beboa Nathan when Nathan went unto him, Pſal. 51. 1. uhiſtahvati and I bow down my ſelf, ſaith our Tranſlation here uhiſtavau, and they bowed down themſelves Exod 33. 10.

Ver. 13. Εἰπὲ τῷ ἀδελφῷ μου μερίσασθαι τὴν κληρονομίαν μετ' ἐμοῦ, Maſter, ſpeak to my Brother to divide the Inheritance with me.] Here Dr. Lightfoot shews that this was usually done either by the Consistory of three, or by some chosen by them betwixt whom the Cause depended, as Arbitrators in the Case, as Grotius and Dr. Hammond have suggested; therefore there is no Ground for Mr. le Cl. to say this Man did not desire him to perform the Office of a Judge or Arbitrator between him and his Brother, but to use his Prophetical Authority to oblige his Brother, who detained the whole Inheritance, to divide it with him; for if so, why doth not Christ answer that this was no part of his Prophetick Office, but only, who made me a Ruler or a Judge? Now it is probable that Christ refused to take this Office upon him, not only to avoid the Envy, and Calumny of the Jewish Rulers, who might be apt to say, he took upon him an Office to which he was not called, in Prejudice to them who were appointed for that Work; but chiefly because he had but little time remaining which he could better spend in dividing to them the Word of Life, and in promoting their eternal Interest.

d Ver. 15. Φυλάσσεσθε ἀπὸ τῆς πλεονεξίας, Beware of Covetousness, for a man's Life consists not in the abundance of the things that he possesseth.] Hence we learn that the Desire of having more then we do really need, not to supply the Necessities of others, or to promote God's Glory, but that we may keep, and treasure them up, and enjoy them, is one Species of Covetousness; for these words are certainly produced as a dissuasive from the Sin of Covetousness, which sure they could not be, were not the Desire of having more, one Species, or Symptom of that Sin. 2dly, From the words following we learn, that to be more solicitous concerning Temporals than we are for Spirituals, and to be anxious about them, when we are not yet rich towards God, is another Sign of Covetousness. This may probably be concluded from the Concern of this Person for the dividing of his Inheritance, rather than that our Lord should instruct him in the way of Life, it being this which gave occasion to this Admonition, to beware of Covetousness; and it more clearly follows from the Example of the Fool, who was so much concerned to hoard up his Goods, but not at all concerned to be rich towards God, i. e. to have his Treasure with God in the Heavens, and to esteem it his chiefest Riches to be an Heir of the Kingdom of God, ver. 32. and to employ his Riches so as to procure God's Favour, and his own future Happiness; for this is a plain indication of an Heart that values these temporal Concernments more than God's Favour, or celestial Riches; which in St. Paul's Judgment renders the covetous Person guilty of Idolatry.

Ver. 20. Ταύτῃ τῇ νυκτὶ τὴν ψυχήν σου ἀπαιτοῦσιν ἀπὸ σοῦ·] i. e. Either thy Soul shall be required of thee by God that gave it, and whose Depositum it was, as the Jews speak; See note on 2 Tim. 1. 12. or else it shall be required by evil Angels, according to that other Opinion of the Jews, that the Souls of the Just when they die are carried into the Garden of Eden, per manum Angelorum, by the Ministry of Holy Angels, and the Souls of the Wicked to the place appointed for them, by evil Spirits. See the Note on Chap. 16. 22. e

Ver. 29. Καὶ μὴ μετεωρίζεσθε, Neither be ye of doubtful Mind.] Μετέωρος, saith the Glossary of Stephanus, is ὁ μὴ βεβαίως τὸν νοῦν, ταλαντευόμενος τῇ γνώμῃ, Budæus, one fluctuating, and unstable in his Mind, Judgment, or Counsel; hence μετέωρος κρίσις is a suspended Judgment μετέωρος ἀρχή, a doubtful or controverted Empire; μετέωροι, saith Suidas, are οἱ περὶς τὸ μέλλον ἔτι σαλεύοντες, those that are anxious and fluctuating as to future Events, or whatever may befal them; in which Sense, say Thucydides and Plutarch, μετέωρος ἦν ἡ Ἑλλας, Greece was in suspense touching the event of the War; and Josephus, that the Jews were μετέωροι ἐπὶ τῷ μέλλοντι πολέμῳ, anxious about the War with the Romans. Accordingly μετεωρισμὸς, the thing forbidden here. is, saith Theophylact, ὁ περισπασμὸς, καὶ τῆς λόγου ἄστατος περιφορά, a distracting and unstable Fluctuation of the Mind, or Reason, about Provision for the Body, which Christ would here remove from the Children of God, as being well assured that his Wisdom knoweth what is needful for them, ver. 30. and his Fatherly care would certainly provide for them what was so. f

Ver. 33. Πωλήσατε τὰ ὑπάρχοντα ὑμῶν, καὶ δότε ἐλεημοσύνην, Sell what you have, and give Alms;] i. e. Be ready when God calls, and the Exigences of Christ's Members do require it, so to do, and be so far from the Sordidness of the rich Man, who would not give of his Superfluities to the Needy, as in these cases to do it out of the main Stock, as knowing this heavenly Kingdom is to be obtained, not by hoarding up Treasures here on Earth, but by distributing them to Christ's needy Members. If it be asked how Moths can corrupt Treasures, seeing they eat not thro' Gold, or Silver, I answer, that precious Cloaths are also reckoned among Treasures, Ezra 2. 69. Neh. 7. 70. Job 27. 16. See the Note on Jam. 5. 2, 3. g

Ver. 35. Ἔστωσαν ὑμῶν αἱ ὀσφύες περιεζωσμέναι, καὶ οἱ λύχνοι καιόμενοι, Let your Loins be girded about, and your Lights burning.] The Servant when he was to minister to his Master, that his Cloaths might not hinder him, girded them about him. So Luke 17. 8. Gird thy self, and serve me: and when Christ ministreth to his Apostles, he takes a Towel, and girdeth himself, John 13. 4. and then h waſheth their Feet. Hence, ſaith (a) Philo, we are commanded to eat the Paſſover, τὰς ὀσφύας ἀναζωσαμένοι ἑτοίμως πρὸς ὑπηρεσίαν ἔχοντες, with our Loins girt as being ready for Service. Moreover, they waiting to expect their Maſter's coming home at night, were to have their Lamps burning, and ready to receive them, Matth. 25. 7. To Servants ſo provided, and ready for Service, our Lord here promiſeth a new and unuſual Honour, like that of the Romans in their Saturnalia, the (b) Cretans in their Hermæa, and of the Babylonians in their Feaſt called Saccæa, where the Servants ſat at Table, and their Maſters waited on them; Their Lord, ſaith he, ſhall gird himſelf, and make them to ſit down to meat, and will come forth to ſerve them, ver. 37. he coming into the World, not to be miniſtred unto, but to miniſter, Matth. 20. 28.

(18) Ver. 36. See Additions N°. 18.

i Ver. 42. Τίς ἄρα ἐστὶν ὁ πιστὸς οἰκονόμος; Who then is that wiſe Servant?] Our Lord here does not anſwer directly to the Queſtion of St. Peter, yet he ſufficiently doth it by declaring that this is to be done of every Servant who expects to be rewarded, or treated, as one faithful to him, and eſpecially of the Guides of the Church, Mark 13. 37.

k Ver. 47. 48. Ἐκεῖνος ὁ δοῦλος, &c. And that Servant who knew his Lord's Will, and prepared not himſelf, neither did according to his Will, ſhall be beaten with many Stripes, 48. but he that knew not, &c.] This being one great difference betwixt the Paſtors of the Church, and other Chriſtians they muſt expect a ſeverer Puniſhment, as ſinning againſt greater Evidence, and Knowledge of their Duty, for to whom much is given, of them much will be required; whereas they who through ſlowneſs of Underſtanding, or neglect of Paſtors, and multitude of worldly Buſineſs, are ignorant of their Duty, and ſo neglect it, will find a milder Puniſhment; for Ignorance may be pitied, but Contempt deſerves no Mercy.

Ver. 49. Πῦρ ἦλθον βαλεῖν εἰς τὴν γῆν, καὶ τί θέλω εἰ ἤδη ἀνήφθη, I came to ſend Fire on the Earth, and what will I if it be already kindled?] Here it is to be noted that the Particle εἰ hath two ſignifications, both agreeable to this place. (1) That, See note on 1 Tim. 5. 10. (2.) It is a Particle of wiſhing; ſo Numb. 22. 29. εἰ εἶχον μάχαιραν, I wiſh I had a Sword εἰ διαβαίναμεν, we wiſh we had continued beyond Jordan, Joſh. 7. 7. εἰ ἠκούσας, Pſal. 81. 13. and Iſa. 48. 18. Oh that thou hadſt hearkned to my Precepts; Luke 18. 42. εἰ ἔγνως, Oh that thou hadſt known. So then the Senſe of theſe words is this, I come to deliver to the World a Doctrine which will incenſe the World againſt me, and my Followers, and ſubject us to great Sufferings, ſignified in Scripture by Fire, Pſal. 66. 12. Iſa. 43. 2. Eccluſ. 51. 4. and therefore called fiery Tryals, 1 Pet. 4. 12. and will baptize me in my own Blood, but yet I am ſo far from being moved from proſecuting my Father's Pleaſure, by the Proſpect of them, that I wiſh the time of my Suffering were at hand, and my Goſpel preached to the World. l

Ver. 57. Τί δὲ καὶ ἀφ' ἑαυτῶν οὐ κρίνετε τὸ δίκαιον; And why even of your ſelves judge ye not what is right?] i. e. Take an Example from your ſelves; you are not wont to neglect the Means by which you may be preſerved from that Priſon here, from which you cannot eſcape till your whole Debt be paid, why then neglect you that Repentance towards God, and Faith in the Meſſiah; which can alone preſerve you from that infernal Priſon, from which you cannot eſcape? You can obſerve the Signs of Heaven for your own temporal Advantage, why therefore do you not obſerve the clearer Signs of the Meſſiah's coming, and calling you to Faith and Repentance by his Doctrine? m and sought Fruit thereon, and found none.

7. Then said he to the Dresser of the Vine-

8. And he answering, said to him, Lord, (be pleased to) let it alone this Year also, till I dig about it, and dung it;

9. And if it bear Fruit, well, (thou wilt see cause to spare it,) and if (it do) not, then after that thou shalt cut it down; (and such is now God's sparing Mercy to you, he is making farther trial of you, whether what I, or my Apostles, preaching after my ascent to Heaven, can do, will make you fruitful; and if after all our Labours, you continue still unfruitful, you must expect to be cut off.)

10. And he was teaching in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath.

11. And behold there was (there) a Woman which had a Spirit of Infirmity eighteen Years, and was bowed together (with it,) and could in no wise lift up her self.

12. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art (now to be) loosed from thine Infirmity;

13. And he laid his Hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

14. And the Ruler of the Synagogue answered, (i. e. said, with relation to this Cure,) with Indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the Sabbath day, and said to the People, There are six days in which Men ought (i. e. by the Commandment are allowed) to work; in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15. The Lord then answered him, and said, d Thou [d] Hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the Sabbath (day) loose his Ox or his Ass from the Stall, and lead him away to watering.

16. (This you do on that day for a Beast, to free it from a little Thirst,) and ought not (then) this Woman, being a Daughter of Ae braham, whom [e] Satan hath bound, lo, these eighteen Years, be loosed from this Bond on the Sabbath day?

17. And when he had said these things, all his Adversaries were ashamed; and all the People rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him.

18. Then said he, To what is the Kingdom of God like? and whereunto shall I resemble it?

19. It is like a Grain of Mustard Seed, which a Man took, and cast into his Garden, and it grew, and waxed a great Tree, and the Fowls of the Air lodged in the Branches of it; (For thus from a very small beginning, will it grow up into the greatest of all Kingdoms, as that becomes the greatest of all Herbs, Matth. 13. 32.)

20. And again he said, Whereunto shall I liken the Kingdom of God?

21. It is like Leaven, which a Woman took and hid in three Measures of Meal, till the whole was leavened; (for so shall the Doctrine of the Kingdom spread, till it hath seasoned all the Regions of the Earth.)

22. And he went thro' the Cities, and Villages, teaching, and journying toward Jerusalem;

23. Then said one to him, Lord, are f there [f] few that (shall) be saved? And he said to them (that heard him, be not so much concerned to know how it will be with others, as to)

24. [g] Strive to enter (in) at the straight g Gate, (which leadeth to Life, while ye have h opportunity to do it,) for [h] many I say to you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able, (because they do it too late; for)

25. When once the Master of the House is risen up, and hath shut to the Door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the Door, saying, Lord, Lord, open to us; and (or then) he shall answer and say to you, I know you not whence ye are; (Be careful therefore now, oh ye Jews, to believe, and obey the Word, before the Kingdom of God be taken from you, and the Gate of the Gospel Banquet be shut, so that you after knock in vain for entrance, Matth. 25. 10.—13. for,)

26. Then if ye shall begin to say, we have eaten and drunk in thy Presence, and thou hast taught in our Streets, (he will answer,)

27. But he shall say, (λέγω ὑμῖν, and will say,) I tell you, I know not whence you are, depart from me, all ye Workers of Iniquity;

28. (And then) there shall be weeping and gnashing of Teeth, when ye (the Seed of Abraham) shall see Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the Kingdom of God, (enjoying the Blessings promised to the Members of that Kingdom,) and you your selves thrust out (of it.)

29. And (then) they (of the Gentiles) shall come from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit down in the Kingdom of God; (shall partake of the Blessings of the Gospel, and be owned as Children of his Kingdom.)

a Ver. 1. Περὶ τῶν Γαλιλαίων ὧν τὸ αἷμα Πιλάτος ἔμιξε μετὰ τῶν θυσιῶν, Whoſe Blood Pilate mingled with their Sacrifices.] It is not to be doubted, ſaith Grotius, but that the Sedition of Judas Gaulonites, as it had its riſe in Galilee, ſo found it many Followers, and Abettors there, who coming up to Jeruſalem, inſinuated into the People that they were the Lord's People, and therefore were to own him only as their King, and to pay Tribute, not to Cæſar, but to his Temple; it therefore ſemeth credible, ſaith he, as ſome of the Greek Fathers think, that ſuch as theſe were the Galileans, whoſe Blood Pilate mingled with their (Paſchal) Sacrifice, as finding they were then ſowing theſe Seeds of Sedition againſt Cæſar; and if this were at the Paſſover, then the words following, ye ſhall all likewiſe periſh, agree wonderfully with that account of their Deſtruction which Joſephus, and Euſebius give us, that when they were come up from all places to obſerve the Paſſover, they were encloſed in the City by the Romans, and upon the very day appointed for killing the Paſſover, many of them were ſlaughtered like Sheep in the very Temple, for this very cauſe, that they ſhook off the Roman Yoke, and refuſed to pay Tribute to Cæſar.

b Ver. 5. Ὁμοίως ἀπολεῖσθε, Ye ſhall likewiſe periſh.] That is, ſaith Grotius, among the Ruins of the City, of which that Tower was a part, they periſhing in Jeruſalem, v. 4. or rather among the Ruins of the Towers of the City, and the Temple. To illuſtrate theſe Conjectures of the Learned Grotius, let us a little conſider what Joſephus hath delivered of this matter; he therefore ſaith, that this Judas, with one Zadoch a Phariſee, incited the Jews to Rebellion, ſaying, (a) τὴν ἐπιλιμησιν οὐδὲν ἄλλο ἢ ἄνλιχρυς δουλείαν ἐπφέρειν, that the paying Tribute was a ſign of Slavery; and under this pretence they exhorted the whole Nation to maintain their Liberty; καὶ ἡδονῇ ἀκροάσιν ἐδέχονλο ἄνθρωποι, and this the Jews received with Pleaſure, and this became the Seed of their future Calamities. Hence they continually demanded (b) ἀναιρεῖν τὰ τέλη, that the Tributes might be taken away. When Coponius was Procurator of Judea, one Simon a Galilean reproved them, (c) εἰ φόρον τε Ῥωμαίοις ἐπιβαίεν ὑπομένουσι, καὶ μετὰ τὸν Θεὸν οἴουσι θνητοὺς δεσπότας, that they would endure to pay Tribute, and ſuffer mortal Lords to rule over them. When Felix was Procurator, ſome Magicans and Thieves met together calling the People to Liberty, and (d) θάνατον ἐπιμωνλες τοῖς πειθαρχέσι τῇ Ῥωμαίων ἡγεμονία, threatning Death to thoſe who obeyed the Roman Government. When Campanus was Procurator, one Dortus ſolicited the People (e) ἐπὶ τῇ Ῥωμαίων ἀποστασίᾳ, to ſhake off the Roman Yoke; ſo ready were they to embrace the Doctrine of this Galilean. That many of the Jews periſhed, as did theſe Galileans, the ſame Joſephus teſtifies, ſaying, that under the Preſident Cumanus twenty five thouſand (f) περὶ τὸ ἱερὸν ἀπώλοντο, periſhed about the Temple at the Feaſt of Paſſover. That under Florus (g) ζυχνὸς

c Ver. 7. Ἔτη τρία ἔρχομαι ζητῶν καρπὸν ἐν τῇ συκῇ ταύτῃ, These three Years have I come seeking Fruit of this Fig-tree, and found none.] These three Years seem not to signifie only the time of our Lord's Preaching among the Jews; for they were not destroyed the next Year, but above thirty six Years after our Lord's Ascension: They rather seem to be mentioned, because the Fruit of some Fig-trees came not to maturity till the third Year; the time he expected afterwards, includes the whole time of the Apostles preaching to them at Jerusalem, and to their Dispersions, and to the Gentiles, to gather and set up his Church among them; and then was the end of the Jewish Church and Temple, and the great Destruction of that Nation to come, Matth. 24. 14. Nor were the Jews then given over, but were after our Lord's Ascension, to be under the Dispensation of the Holy Ghost; and upon the rejection of that Call, was Christ's Prediction, that their House should be left to them desolate, to take place: Whence, after the Holy Ghost was fallen down upon them, the Apostles were to begin their preaching at Jerusalem, and to go thence throughout all Judea, Acts 1. 8. and to preach to them Remission of Sins, Acts 13. 38. and this they did with such success, as to convert many myriads of them, Acts 21. 20. And the Apostle Paul declares it necessary for them to preach the Word of God first to them, Acts 13. 46.

Ver. 15. Ὑποκριτά, Thou Hypocrite.] This d Christ pronounced upon the Ruler of the Synagogue, partly because he placed his Holiness chiefly in the Observation of Ritual Precepts, or the Rest of the Body on the Sabbath-day, preferring that before the great things of the Law, which Christ still represenleth as a sign of Hypocrisie, Mat. 23. 23. partly because he pretended a great Zeal for the Law of God, when he was rather acted in this matter by black Envy at the Glory of Christ, which he that saw his Heart well knew.

Ver. 16 Ἣν ἔδησεν ὁ Σατανᾶς, Whom Satan hath bound these eighteen Years.] That e sometimes by concurring with, and sometimes without natural Causes, many Diseases were by Divine Permission brought on Men by Evil Spirits, the Gospel, and Histories of Job and Saul inform us; for that Saul after the departure of the good Spirit, fell εἰς κακὴν δεινὰ καὶ δαιμονία, into demoniacal Passions, and had ὑπὸ τ δαιμόνων ταραχὰς, Perturbations from Dæmons, or as the Scripture speaks, by an evil Spirit from the Lord, 1 Sam. 16. 14, 23. we learn from (m) Josephus. And by confession of (n) Maimonides, Satan was the cause of all that Job suffered; not only in his Substance but his Body, Job 2. 7. And the Targum on Psal. 91. 6. numbers Troops of Dæmons, among those who inflict Plagues and Death upon Men.

Ver. 23. Εἰ ὀλίγοι οἱ σῳζόμενοι; Are there f few that be saved?] This Question seems to be propounded agreeably to that Sentiment of the Jews, that all Israelites should have their Portion in the World to come: To which Christ was not pleased to give an Answer that might satisfie the Curiosity of the Man, but rather an Instruction that might benefit him; it being not our concern to know how many will be saved, but how we may be saved.

Ver. 24. Ἀγωνίζεσθε εἰσελθεῖν διὰ τ στενῆς πύλης, Strive to enter in at the straight Gate.] g Here Christ shews, That the number of them who may be saved, is not defined by any Decree of God excluding all others from it, or rendring them unable to attain it; for then Christ must in vain exhort them to use

CHAP. XIV.

1. AND it came to paſs, as he went into the Houſe of one of the [a] chief Phariſees, (or of the Rulers, who was of the Phariſees,) to eat Bread on the Sabbath-day, that they watched him, (whether he would heal on the Sabbath-day, that they might accuſe him, Mark. 3. 2.) a

2. And behold, there was a certain Man (then) before him, which had the Dropſie:

3. And Jeſus [b] anſwering (to their Thoughts,) ſpake to the Lawyers and Phariſees, ſaying Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath-day (or not?)

4. And (but) they held their Peace; and (then) he took him, and healed him, and let him go;

5. And (he) anſwered them (who held this unlawful,) ſaying, Which of you ſhall have an Aſs or an Ox fallen into a Pit, and will not ſtraightway pull him out on the Sabbath-day? (And ſhall that kindneſs be denied to a Son of Abraham in his diſtreſs on that day, which you afford on it to your diſtreſſed Beaſt?)

6. And they could not anſwer him again to theſe things.

c 7. And he put forth a [c] Parable to thoſe that were bidden (to ſit down with him,) when he marked how they (the Phariſees) choſe out the chief Rooms (at Feaſts, on the account of their pretended Wiſdom,) ſaying to them,

8. When thou art bidden of any Man to a Wedding (or a Marriage Feaſt,) ſit not down in the higheſt Room, leſt a more honourable Man than thou be (alſo) bidden of him.

9. And (ſo) he that bad thee and him, come and ſay to thee, Give this Man place, and thou begin with ſhame to take the loweſt Room.

10. But when thou art bidden, Go, and ſit down in the loweſt Room, that when he that bad thee cometh, he may ſay to thee, Friend, Go up higher; then ſhalt thou have [d] Worſhip, (i. e. Honour) in the Preſence of them that ſit at Meat with thee. d

11. For whoſoever exalteth himſelf, ſhall be abaſed; and he that humbleth himſelf, ſhall be exalted (both by God and Man.)

12. Then ſaid he alſo to him that bad him, When thou makeſt a [e] Dinner or a Supper, (do it not from reſpect of an Invitation by way of Recompence; and therefore ordinarily) call not thy Friends, nor thy Brethren, neither thy Kinſmen, nor thy rich Neighbours, leſt they alſo bid thee again, and (ſo) a Recompence be made thee. e

13. But when thou makeſt a Feaſt, (do it out of Charity to the Needy; and therefore) call the Poor, the Maimed, the Lame, the Blind.

14. And thou ſhalt be bleſſed, for (ὅτι that) they (are called by thee, who) cannot recompenſe thee; for thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the [f] Reſurrection of the Juſt. f

15. And when one of them that ſat at Meat with him, heard theſe things, he ſaid to him, [g] Bleſſed is he that ſhall eat Bread in the Kingdom of God; (i. e. that ſhall partake of the Pleaſures and Enjoyments of the Kingdom of the Meſſiah.) g

16. Then (to convince him, that the generality of the Jews were for their Unbelief to be excluded from that Kingdom;) ſaid he to him (by way of Parable,) A [h] certain Man made a great Supper, and bad many: h

17. And ſent his Servant at Supper time, to ſay to them that were bidden, Come, for all things are now ready; (as God ſent firſt the Baptiſt to invite the Jews, and then the Apoſtles, and ſeventy Diſciples, to tell them the the Kingdom of God was at hand, and to persuade them to enter into it.)

18. And they all with one consent began to make excuse; (for) the first said to him, I have bought a piece of Ground, and I must needs go and see it; I pray thee have me excused:

19. And another said, I have bought five Yoke of Oxen, and I go to prove them; I pray thee have me excused.

20. And another said, I have married a Wife, and therefore I cannot come; (i. e. they either out of greater Love to the Pleasures, or the Advantages of this World, rejected the kind Invitation.)

21. So that Servant came, and shewed his Lord these things: Then the Master of the House being angry, (that they who were so lovingly invited, would not come,) said to his Servants, (the Apostles sent with a fresh Commission after Christ's Resurrection to go to Judea, and the Dispersions of the Jews, Acts 1. 8. saying,) Go out quickly into the Streets and Lanes of the City, and bring in hither the Poor and Maimed, the Halt and the Blind; (i. e. the Gentiles and the dispersed Jews.)

22. And the Servant said, Lord it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is room (for more Guests.)

23. And the Lord said to the Servant, Go out into the High-ways and Hedges, (i. e. to the Heathen Nations,) and [i] compel them to come in, that my House may be filled.

24. For I say to you, that none of those Men that were bidden, (and refuse to come,) shall taste of my Supper, (i.e. enjoy the Blessings of my Kingdom.)

25. And there went great Multitudes with him; and he turned, and said to them,

26. If any Man come to me, and [k] hate not his Father and Mother, and Wife and Children, and Brethren and Sisters, yea, and his own Life also; (i.e. if he prefers not my Service before all these,) he cannot be my Disciple.

27. And whosoever doth not bear his Cross, and come after me, (i. e. that will not obey me, and suffer any hardship for my sake,) cannot be my Disciple.

28. (Consider therefore well of these things before you enter on a Christian Life:) For which of you intending to [l] build a Tower, sitteth not down first, and counteth the cost, whether he have sufficient to finish it?

29. Lest haply after he hath laid the Foundation, and is not able to finish it, all that behold it begin to mock him,

30. Saying, This Man began to build, and was not able to finish (his Building: So before we enter on a Christian Life, we should sit down, and consider seriously what it will cost us to be indeed Christians, and whether we be stedfastly resolved to do and suffer all that Christianity requires.)

31. Or, what King going to make War against another King, sitteth not down first, and consulteth whether he be able with Ten thousand, to meet him that cometh against him with Twenty thousand?

32. Or else, while the other is yet a great way off, he sendeth an Embassage, and desireth Conditions of Peace.

33. So likewise, whosoever he be of you that (engageth not so manfully in his Christian Warfare against Sin, Satan, and the World, that when I call him to it, he) [m] forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my Disciple.

34. [n] Salt is good, (i. e. a Christian Life is very advantageous;) but if the Salt have lost his Savour, (if the Christian Apostle and Professor hath lost his Christian Conversation,) wherewith shall it be seasoned? (i. e. What can be used farther to recover him?)

35. It is neither fit for the Land, nor yet for the Dunghill; but Men cast it out: (i. e. Such an unsavoury Christian can neither do good to himself or others.) He that hath Ears to hear, let him hear.

So Jesus perceiving their Thoughts, ἀποκριθεὶς, answering, said to them, Luke 5. 22. So he answers to what Simon said within himself, Luke 7. 39, 40. Sometimes he answers to

So to the barren Fig-tree, ἀποκριθεὶς, he anſwering, ſaid, Let never Fruit grow on thee more, Mark 11. 14. So reflecting on the Infidelity and Impenitence of thoſe Cities, among whom he had done his mighty Works; and of thoſe Phariſees who believed neither him nor the Baptiſt, ἀποκριθεὶς εἶπεν, he anſwering, ſaid, Father, I thank thee, Matth. 11. 25 So when Peter had ſmitten off the Ear of Malchus, ἀποκριθεὶς, Jeſus anſwering, with relation to that Action, ſaith, Suffer ye ſo far, Luke 22. 51. Ἔλεγε δὲ πρὸς τοὺς κεκλημένους παραβολὴν, And he put forth a Parable to them that were bidden, when he marked how they choſe out the chief Rooms:] i. e. Chriſt being in the Houſe of a Prince of the Phariſees, ver. 1. and obſerving how ſolicitous they were to chuſe the upper Rooms on the account of their reputed Wiſdom, becauſe Solomon had ſaid, Prov. 4. 8. Exalt Wiſdom, as Dr. Lightfoot here ſhews; that he might cure this ſwelling Pride in them, and teach them Humility, ver. 11. he propounds this Parable, as it is fitly called, according to the Definition of a Parable by the Greeks, that it is παράθεσις ὁμοιωματικὴ ἐπὶ ζαφηνείᾳ τῶν ὑποκειμένων, a comparative Reſemblance of Things, for the illuſtration of what is ſpoken of; or as Phavorinus, παράπλησίων πραγμάτων παράθεσις, a Collation of Things reſembling each other. This Parable being taken from a like Example of a Nuptial Banquet.

d Ver. 10 Τότε ἔσῃ σοὶ δόξα, Then ſhalt thou have Honour in the Preſence of them that ſit at Meat with thee;] i. e. This will ordinarily be the reſult of thy Humility; and tho' it ought not to be our chief deſign in any vertuous Action, yet hence it follows that this may be one Motive to the Performance of ſuch Actions. Philip. 4. 8.

e Ver. 12. Ὅταν ποιῇς ἄριστον, ἢ δεῖπνον· When thou makeſt a Dinner, or a Supper, call not thy Friends, and thy Brethren, &c. but call the Poor, the Maimed.] Some think, Chriſt ſpeaks here of the ſacred Banquet made by the Jews on their Peace-Offerings, and other Feaſts, to which they are bid to call the Poor, the Widow, and the Levite, Deut. 14. 29. but this ſeems a miſtake, for Chriſt ſpeaks not of any ſpecial ſtated Feaſts, but of ſuch Banquets as he was then at: Nor hath he one word of the Widow, and the Levite, who were to be Gueſts there, but of the Blind, the Lame, the Maimed, of which the Law ſaith nothing; nor doth he ſay, For this the Lord ſhall bleſs thee upon Earth as Deut. 14. 29 but, Thou ſhalt be recompenſed at the Reſurrection of the Juſt.

Note, 2*dly*, That Chriſt doth not abſolutely forbid us to invite our Friends, our Brethren, or Kinsfolk, to teſtifie our mutual Charity and Friendſhip, and how dear our Relations are to us; only he would not have us invite them out of a proſpect of a Compenſation from them again, but to prefer the exerciſing our Charity to them who cannot recompenſe us. See Additions N°. 20. Nor, (20)

3*dly*, Doth he lay upon us a neceſſity by this Precept, to call the Lame, the Blind or Maimed, to our Tables, but either to do this, or what is equivalent to us in reſpect of Charge, and more advantageous to them and their Families, viz. to ſend them meat, or Money to refreſh them at home. Note alſo, That (a) Dion Chryſoſtomus, who flouriſhed in the Time of Trajan, ſeems to have taken his Obſervation hence, That they did ἀνιδυθέρως προάγειν τὰ πρὸς τοὺς ξένους τοὺς πένητας, act ſordidly as to poor Strangers, who did μόνους τοὺς πλουσίους ὑποδέχεσθαι ξενίοις, καὶ δώροις, παρ' ὧν δῆλον ὅτι καὶ αὐτοὶ προσδόκων τι ἴσων ἀπολήψεσθαι, entertain the Rich only friendly, with their Hoſpitalities and Gifts, from whom they expected to receive as much again.

Ver. 15. Μακάριος, &c. Bleſſed is he who g ſhall eat Bread in the Kingdom of God.] It appears from the enſuing Parable, That the Kingdom of God here, doth not ſignifie the Kingdom of Heaven in the higheſt ſenſe, but only the Kingdom of the Meſſiah, of which the carnal Jew here ſpeaks, according to the received ſenſe of his Nation, as of a glorious temporal Kingdom, in which the Jews ſhould Lord it over the Gentile World, enjoy their Wealth, and be provided with all temporal Bleſſings and Delights, in which they placed their Happineſs.

i Ver. 23. Καὶ ἀνάγκασον εἰσελθεῖν, And compel them to come in.] How vainly these words are brought, to prove that Men may be compelled by the secular Arm to embrace the true Faith, appears, (1st,) From the nature of a Banquet, to which no Man is compelled by force, but only by the importunity of Persuasion, and from which no Man's Business doth by Force restrain him, but only by the inconvenience of attending on it; and yet one of the Guests saith, v. 18. ἀνάγκην ἔχω, I am compelled to be absent. (2dly,) From the Scope of the Parable which respects the calling of the Gentiles, which only Mahometans think fit by force of Arms, to compel to the Faith. We do ἀναγκάζειν, compel not only by Example, but by Exhortation, Mark 6. 45. Luke 24. 29. as here: And Christ, saith Theophylact, here not only commands them to call, but to compel them, tho' it be free to every one to believe that we may learn, ὅτι μεγάλης τῆς Θεοῦ δυνάμεως ἐστι τὸ πεῖσαι τὰ ἔθνη, that it is the Work of God's great Power to make the Gentiles believe. See the Note on Gal. 2. 14. and Grotius here, and Chap. 24. 29.

k Ver. 26. If any Man come to me, καὶ οὐ μισεῖ, and hate not his Father and Mother, &c.] It being impious to hate Father or Mother, Wife or Children, and impossible to hate our selves, Eph. 5. 29. to hate here, can only signifie comparatively, viz. to love them less than God; and therefore what is here, and hateth not Father and Mother, is Matth. 10. 37. and loveth Father and Mother more than me; for what we love less, we are comparatively said to hate, as in the case of God and Mammon, Matth. 6. 24. So ἐμισεῖτο Λεία, Leah was hated, Gen. 29. 31, 33. Now Leah surely was not hated by good Jacob, but loved less than Rachel. See Note on Rom. 9. 13.

l Ver. 28. Τίς γὰρ ὑμῶν θέλων πύργον οἰκοδομῆσαι; For which of you intending to build a Tower, sitteth not down first, and counteth the cost? ver. 31. What King going to War, consulteth not first whether he be able?] Two things do usually hinder Men from embracing that narrow way which leadeth to eternal Life; (1st,) The Difficulties of the Duties positively required of all Christians, viz. the Love of Enemies, requiring us not only to forgive their Injuries from the Heart, but also to overcome their Evil with our Good: The Reparation of any Injury done to another in his good Name, or Fortunes, not only by begging his pardon, but by restoring what we got injuriously, and endeavouring to repair his Credit; the restraining of the Tongue from all evil Speaking, and uncharitable Censures, and of our Appetites from all Carnal Desires, the exact government of our Passions, and the moderation of our Affections to all worldly things; an Heart restrained by the Fear of God from doing Evil, and constrained by the Love of him to yield sincere Obedience to his holy Laws. (2dly,) The greatness of the Temptations we must resist, and of the Injuries and Losses we may suffer, by persevering in this way, from the violent Assaults of Satan, and the continual Solicitations of the Flesh, the Examples and Allurements of the World, the Persecutions of it, the loss of all things, and even Life it self. Christ therefore by these Resemblances, adviseth us, before we enter on this Christian Life, seriously to consider of, and weigh these things, to form within us the most stedfast Resolutions to perform the one, and arm our selves with Fortitude and Patience again the other, that so we may not afterwards be moved by them to depart from it.

m Ver. 33. So likewise, whosoever he be of you, ὃς οὐκ ἀποτάσσεται πᾶσι τοῖς ἑαυτοῦ ὑπάρχουσιν, Who forsaketh not all that he hath, &c.] Christ doth not here require that we should actually renounce these things, for then we must renounce even Life it self, ver. 26. but that our Heart and our Affections should be so taken off from them, that we do always love them less than him, and that we in preparation of Mind be always ready to part with them when we cannot keep them, without making Shipwreck of Faith, and a good Conscience.

n Ver. 34. Καλὸν τὸ ἅλας, Salt is good; but if the Salt hath lost its Savour, wherewith shall it be seasoned? &c.] This excellently connects with the Discourse preceding, thus: The Gospel I require you to adhere to, is that Salt with which every Oblation that is acceptable to God, must be seasoned, Mark 9. 48, 49. The Preachers of it are the Salt of the Earth, Matth. 5. 13. As then Salt, when it hath lost its Savour, becomes good for nothing, but to be cast out into the Dunghil; so the Christian Professor who lives not according to the Prescripts of the Gospel, can do no good to himself or others; and if he fall off from it, can hardly be recovered, Heb. 6. 6.—10. 27. When Mr. Le Clerc, and others, object against this Comparison, or Similitude, that Salt cannot lose its Savour, they consider not, that in the boiling up of the saline Particles of which Salt is made, there is left a caput mortuum which is insipid.

a 1. THEN drew near to him [a] all the Publicans and Sinners, to hear him.

2. And the Phariſees and Scribes murmured, ſaying, This Man (now) receiveth Sinners, and (at other times) eateth with them.

3. And (upon this murmuring, he ſpake this Parable to them, ſaying,

4. What Man of you having an hundred Sheep, if he loſe one of them, doth not leave the ninety and nine in the Wilderneſs, and go after that which is loſt until he find it?

5. And when he hath found it, he layeth it on his ſhoulders, (and returns home with it,) rejoicing;

6. And when he cometh home, he calleth together his Friends, and Neighbours, ſaying to them, Rejoyce with me for I have found my Sheep that was loſt: (Now this is a juſt reſemblance of the Joy of God for the Converſion of a Sinner; for,) b 7. I ſay to you, that likewiſe [b] Joy ſhall be in Heaven over one Sinner that repenteth, more than over ninety and nine juſt Perſons, which need no Repentance, (i. e. no Converſion from a Life of Sin, to that of Holineſs.)

8. Either what Woman (is there,) having ten pieces of Silver, (who) if ſhe loſe one piece, doth not light a Candle, and ſweep the Houſe, and ſeek diligently till ſhe find it?

9. And when ſhe had found it, ſhe calleth her Friends and her Neighbours together, ſaying, Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece that I had loſt; (which is another true reſemblance of the Joy of God at the Recovery of a loſt Soul; for,) c 10. Likewiſe I ſay to you, there is Joy in the Preſence of the [c] Angels of God, over one Sinner that repenteth.

d 11. And he ſaid, (alſo by way of Parable, to the ſame purpoſe,) a [d] certain Man had two Sons;

12. And the younger of them ſaid to his Father, Father, give me the Portion of Goods that falleth to me, and he divided to them his Living, (i. e. gave him the Portion allotted for the Livelihood of his younger Son:)

14. And not many Days after, the younger Son gathered all (his Eſtate) together, and took his Journey into a far Countrey, and there waſted his Subſtance with riotous Living:

14. And when he had ſpent all, there aroſe a mighty Famine in that Land, and he began to be in want;

15. And he went, and joined himſelf to a Citizen of that Country (to become his Servant,) and he ſent him into his Fields to feed Swine;

16, And he would fain have filled his Belly with the Husks that the Swine did eat, and no Man gave to him, (enough to ſatisfie his hungry Appetite.)

[Now here the younger Son repreſents the Gentiles gone far off from God their Father, Eph. 2. 13. living in Riot and Drunkenneſs, 1 Pet. 4. 3. and committing Whoredom with Idols, againſt the Light of their Reaſon, Rom. 1. 20, 21. labouring under a Famine of the Word, and employed in the vileſt Drudgery by Sin and Satan, in which no Satisfaction can be found.]

17. And when he came to himſelf, (i. e. to conſider his own miſerable State,) he ſaid, How many hired Servants of my Father's have Bread enough, and to ſpare, and I (am ready to) periſh with Hunger!

18. I will ariſe, and go to my Father, and will ſay to him, Father, I have ſinned againſt (the God of) Heaven, and before thee, (by departing from thee,)

19. And am no more worthy to be called thy Son; make me as one of thy hired Servants: (And this repreſents the caſe of a penitent Sinner; conſidering his preſent Miſery, his Vileneſs and Unworthineſs, humbly acknowledging his Sin to God, reſolving on Amendment of Life, and actually returning to God as many of the Gentiles did, when the Goſpel was preached to them.)

20. And he aroſe, and came to his Father but when he was yet a great way off, his Father ſaw him, and had Compaſſion (on him) and ran, and fell on his Neck, and kiſſed him.

21. And the Son ſaid to him, Father, I have ſinned againſt Heaven and in thy ſight, and am no more worthy to be called thy Son:

22. But the Father ſaid to his Servants, Bring forth the beſt Robe, and put it on him, and put a Ring on his Hand, and Shoes on his Feet, (in token that I own him as my beloved Son.)

23. And bring hither the fatted Calf, and kill it, and let us eat and be Merry.

24. For this my Son was dead (in Sin,) and is alive again; he was loſt, and is found: And they began to be merry: (And this is a lively Repreſentation of God's great Love, and Mercy, to Sinners returning to him; forgetting all their former Provocations, and treating them aſſoon as they began to break off their Sins by Repentance, and to turn to him, with a moſt Fatherly Affection, and with Expreſſions of the greateſt Joy.)

25. Now

25. Now his elder Son was in the Field; (following his Father's Business,) and as he came, and drew nigh to the House (of his Father,) he heard Musick and Dancing;

26. And he called one of the Servants, and asked (him) what these things meant; (i. e. what was the Cause of all this Mirth;)

27. And he said to him, thy Brother is come, and thy Father hath killed the fatted Calf, because he hath received him safe and sound.

28. And he was angry, (at the Kindness shewed by his Father to his younger Brother,) and would not go in (to the House,) therefore came his Father out, and entreated him;

29. And he answering, said to his Father, lo, these many Years I (have) serve (d) thee, neither transgressed I at any Time thy Commandment, and yet thou never gavest me a Kid that I might make merry with my Friends;

30. But assoon as this thy Son was come (back to thee,) which hath devoured thy Living with Harlots, (committing spiritual Whoredom,) thou hast killed for him the fatted Calf:

31. And he said to him, Son, thou art ever with me, and all that I have is thine; (in the first place the Blessings of the Messiah being first promised to the Jews, and from them derived to others. See Treatise of the Millennium, Chap. 2. Sect. 2.)

32. It was meet that we should make merry, and be glad; for this thy Brother was dead, and is alive again, and (he) was (as the) lost (Sheep, and Piece of Money,) and is found (by the great Shepherd of Souls.)

[Now this elder Brother is a true Emblem of the Jews, and especially of the Scribes and Pharisees, murmuring at God's Kindness to the Sinners of the Gentiles in admitting them after so long Idolatry, to the Blessings of the Gospel, and to equal Privileges with them without Circumcision, and Obedience to that Law of Moses, under which they had still lived, and refusing to enter into the Kingdom of God, and come into the Faith by reason of the Kindness God thus shewed to the Gentiles. See Note on Rom. 11. 28.]

Annotations on Chap. XV.

Ver. 1, 2. Ἦσαν δὲ ἐγγίζοντες αὐτῷ πάντες οἱ τελῶναι, καὶ οἱ ἁμαρτωλοὶ ἀκούειν αὐτοῦ, καὶ διεγόγγυζον οἱ Φαρισαῖοι, Then drew near unto him all the Publicans, and Sinners for to hear him; ver. 2. And the Pharisees and Scribes murmured saying, this Man receiveth Sinners, &c.] For the better understanding of these three Parables, Note,

1*st*, That Publicans, gross Sinners, and Heathens, were by the Scribes and Pharisees judged unfit to be conversed with, even tho' it were with a design to reduce them from their evil Courses, they thinking God had cast off the care of them, and had no design to grant them Repentance unto Life; whence they abhorred their Company, as thinking it a Defilement to be touched by them, and never would concern themselves to make them better, and were offended that our Lord was thus employed, Matth. 9. 11. Luke 5, 30. Acts 10. 28. — 11. 18, 19. Note,

2*dly*, That Publicans and Heathens, Sinners and Heathens, are joined usually together, as being accounted Persons of the same desperate Wickedness, and equally unworthy to be conversed with, as in those Words of Christ, Matth. 5. 46, 47. do not even Publicans the same? or as other Copies read, οἱ ἐθνικοί; do not Heathens do the same? which in Luke 6. 33, 34. is, do not οἱ ἁμαρτωλοί; Sinners do the same? and Matth. 18. 17. if he refuse to hear the Church, let him be to thee as an Heathen, and a Publican, and in those Words of St. Paul, Gal. 2. 15. we that are Jews by Nature, and not Sinners of the Gentiles. That they thought God took no care of the Gentiles, is evident from the words of Esdras, saying to God, Thou hast said they are nothing, but are like unto Spittle, and hast counted the Abundance of them as a drop falling from a Vessel, 2 Esd. 6. 56, 57. And the Prayer of Mordecai, Lord, give not thy Scepter to them that are not, Esth. 14. 11. See Note on 1 Cor. 1. 28. Hence the converted Jews at first preached not to them, as judging it unlawful to go in unto, or converse with the uncircumcised, Acts 10. 28. and wondered that God should give the Gentiles Repentance unto Life, Acts 11. 18, 19. and only would converse with them when they shewed a willingness to be made Proselytes to their Religion. Some therefore here do think, that the word Sinners here may signifie the Gentiles, which will be more probable, if Christ were then beyond Jordan, as they collect from John 10. 40. or in Galilee of the Gentiles, from whence we find him going to Jerusalem, Luke 17. 11. otherwise it will not be so easie to discern, how all the Gentiles should draw nigh to hear him, or he should be eating with them, v. 12. Note,

3*dly*, That these Parables, and especially the last, are designed against the Scribes, and Pharisees, who thought so abjectly of Publicans, and Sinners, and so perversely of the whole Gentile World; and to convince them of their Inhumanity, and shew them that their Deportment was very alien from God's merciful Inclination to them, and that they ought ought not to be unmerciful to them, to whom God was ſo well inclined, to ſhew Mercy, or deny their Charity to them, to whom he was ſo ready to afford it. For he ſpake this Parable to them, ſaying, Which of you? ver. 3, 4.

b Ver. 7. Οὕτω χαρὰ ἔσται ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ, So Joy ſhall be in Heaven over one Sinner that repenteth. See Note on ver. 10. ἢ ἐπὶ ἐνενηκονταεννέα δικαίοις οἵτινες οὐ χρείαν ἔχουσι μετανοίας, more than over ninety and nine juſt Perſons who need no Repentance.] Here note that ἤ is here put for μᾶλλον ἤ, as uſually it is both in the Old, and New Teſtament, and in prophane Writers. So Gen. 38. 26. δεδικαίωται Θαμὰρ ἢ ἐγώ, Thamar hath been more righteous than I. Pſal. 118. 8. ἀγαθὸν ἐλπίζειν ἐπὶ Κυρίῳ ἢ, it is better to truſt in the Lord, than in Princes; 1 Cor. 14. 19. in the Church I would ſpeak five words ſo as to teach others, ἢ μυρίους, rather than ten thouſand in an unknown Tongue. So Luke 18. 14. See Stephanus giving Examples of this from Homer, Ariſtotle, Diogenes Laertius, and St. Chryſoſtom. Note,

2*dly*, That there being no Perſons in the World ſo juſt, as abſolutely to need no Repentance, becauſe there never was a Perſon in the World, beſides our Saviour, who did Righteouſneſs, and ſinned not; the beſt of Men being ſubject to ſome Faults and Infirmities, of which they ſtand obliged to repent; that our Lord may not here be thought to have ſuppoſed a Caſe that never was, let it be obſerved that the Repentance of the Sinner uſually imports an entire change of the whole Courſe, or Tenor of his Life, from the Service of Sin to the Service of God, from yielding Obedience to it in the Luſtings of it, to yielding our Members Inſtruments of Righteouſneſs unto Holineſs; and this is the Repentance of the Sinner mentioned in the Text; and in this ſenſe 'tis manifeſt the righteous Perſon, or new Creature, needeth no Repentance: (2) There is a Repentance which conſiſts in a godly Sorrow, for the particular Failings and Infirmities we may have committed through Surprize, a ſudden fear, a violent Temptation, or a ſingle Deviation from the general Courſe, and Tenor of our Lives; ſuch was that of David, and St. Peter, and the Humiliation of good Hezekiah for the Pride of his Heart; and in this ſenſe it is not to be thought that in this State of Imperfection, and continual conflict we have with the Fleſh, there ſhould be any righteous Perſon who needs no Repentance. And this Interpretation I prefer before that of St. Ambroſe, Hilary, and Chryſoſtom, who by the ninety nine Sheep not loſt, and the ninety nine Perſons who need no Repentance, underſtand the holy Angels that fell not; by the loſt Sheep all Mankind loſt in Adam, whom to recover the Son of God became incarnate, and in the gracious Work of our Redemption brought him home upon his ſhoulders; the Joy in Heaven for this returning is, ſay they, the Joy of God, and of his holy Angels for the Recovery of loſt Mankind; in which ſenſe the words are ſtrictly true, the holy Angels needing no Repentance, becauſe they never fell from their Obedience. And this Interpretation was ſo generally approved in the Church, that in (a) Tertullian's time it was appealed to as a proof of it, that in the bottom of their Sacramental Cups Chriſt was engraven carrying the loſt Sheep upon his Shoulders.

3*dly*, It is enquired with what reaſon it can be ſaid, there is more Joy in Heaven over one Sinner that repenteth, than over ninety nine righteous Perſons who need no Repentance; for is it not better not to offend, than to ſin and repent? Is not Innocence better than Amendment? And if Repentance be not better than Righteouſneſs, why is there more Joy in Heaven over the penitent than over the righteous? Yea, why over one penitent Sinner, than over ninety nine juſt Perſons?

Now to this ſome anſwer according to the forementioned Opinion of the Ancients, that the loſt Sheep, returning Prodigal, and the one Sinner that repenteth, comprehendeth all Mankind redeemed from a ſtate of Miſery by Chriſt; now this may fitly be repreſented as matter of the greateſt Joy to God, and the whole Court of bleſſed Angels, they being repreſented as ſtooping down to look into this Myſtery, 1 Pet. 1. 12. and learning from the Church the Wiſdom of God in it, Eph. 3. 10. and therefore in this ſenſe, do doubtleſs know, and rejoice in our Redemption. (2) Others anſwer, that the Sheep not loſt, the ninety nine righteous Perſons, and the elder Son who ſaid, he never had offended, repreſent the Jewiſh Nation, and eſpecially thoſe Scribes and Phariſees who truſted in their own Righteouſneſs, and deſpiſed others, See Mat. 9. 12. the loſt Sheep, and returning Prodigal repreſent the Gentile World which by the preaching of the Goſpel were to be converted to the Chriſtian Faith. Now the Church of the Gentiles being more numerous than was that of the Jews, the Deſolate having more Children than ſhe that had an Huſband, her Converſion may fitly be repreſented as matter of the greater Joy.

teous are here represented as ninety nine, the Penitent as one single Person, these Expositions make them equal to, if not more numerous than the Righteous. But to this it is answered, that in the Parables of the Gospel, it is usual to represent all of the same kind, tho' they be sometimes the greater Number, by one Man. Thus in the Parable of the Wedding-Supper, the Man that had not on his Wedding Garment, represents, according to most Interpreters, all wicked Men, and in our Lord's Intention it importeth the whole Race of unbelieving Jews, Mat. 22. 11. The slothful Person who hid his Talent in a Napkin, is represented as one Man, Matth. 25. 24. they who improved their Talents as three Persons, and yet who knows not, but there are fewer that improve, than they who do receive the Grace of God in vain? and all that came in at the last hour, and received their penny, that is, all the converted Gentiles, are reckoned as one Man in those words of Christ, I will give ἐχάτῳ τούτῳ, to this last Man even as to thee, Matth. 20 14.

But that which is principally to be considered for the full clearing of this Difficulty, is this, viz. that this Passage of our Lord being spoken of God after the manner of Men, is to be understood after the manner of Men, or suitably to the Nature of human Passions, and the usual Occasions of moving them. Now we are much affected with the obtaining what we have long and passionately desired, with the regaining that which we have looked upon as almost lost and desperate, with the Security of that which we lookt upon as in imminent Danger; at the first obtaining what we passionately desired, regaining what we lookt upon as lost, securing what was in great danger, our Joy is strong, and our Delight transporting, and afterwards it sensibly abates. So is it with us, that we are not so sensibly moved with the continuance of a Good which we have long enjoyed, as at the first recovery of it, after it was lost; we may have still a real Value for what we do possess, a setled Pleasure, and Contentment in it, but the sudden Joy, and Transport, is at the recovery of it. So a continued Course of Goodness may in it self be most valuable, and yet the recovery of a lost Sinner, the reviving of one dead in Trespasses, and Sins, the seeing him snatched as a Firebrand out of the Fire when he was ready to fall into it, may be the more affecting, and give us a more fresh and lively Joy. Thus v. g. it cannot but be comfortable to a loving Father to see his Children in a state of perfect Health, but if one of them fall sick, and beyond expectation of Recovery, to see him out of Danger, ministers more present Joy, than doth the constant Health of all the rest. And this is the reason given in the Parable of the Prodigal Son, why the kind Father rejoiceth more at his return, than at the continuance of his elder Brother always with him; that 'twas the recovery of one given over for dead, the finding one lookt upon as lost; It is meet saith the Father, upon this occasion that we should make merry; for this thy Brother was dead, and is alive again, was lost and is found. Our Saviour therefore to encourage the Repentance of the Sinner represents God after the manner of Men, as if he did conceive such a Joy at it, as earthly Parents are wont to do at the return of a wild extravagant Child to himself, and his Duty.

Ver. 10 Οὕτω χάρα γίνε᾽ ἐνώπιον τ῀ c ἀγγέλου, Likewise I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the Angels of God over one Sinner that repenteth.] Hence most Interpreters conclude that the Angels and blessed Spirits are acquainted with the Conversion of a Sinner; and seeing true Conversion is wrought in the Heart, hence the Romanists infer that they must have knowledge of that also. But,

1*st*, Here is not one word of blessed Spirits, but of Angels only; and whereas Papists argue for an equality of Knowledge in them to that of Angels, because it is said they are as the Angels of Heaven, Matth. 22. 30. I answer, Christ doth not say they are equal to Angels now, but at the Resurrection they shall be so. Nor doth he say this absolutely, or as to the Faculties of their Souls, but as to their Freedom from secular Actions, and Passions, and as to the state and condition of their Bodies, for so the Text runs, they that are counted worthy of the Resurrection neither marry nor are given in Marriage, neither can they die any more, i. e. they are equal to the Angels as to Immortality, and are the Children of God, being the Children of the Resurrection, Luke 20. 35, 36.

2*dly*, This Text affirms not, that the Joy here mentioned, is the Joy of Angels, but only that it is the Joy of God, ἐνώπιον τ῀ ἀγγέλων, before, or in the presence of the Angels, which stand continually before his Face. Now as an earthly King may rejoice before his Court, and they know not the special Motive of his Joy, so may the King of Heaven rejoice before the Angels of his Presence, and they know not the reason of that Joy, and much less the particular Convert that gave occasion to it. In a word, it is confessedly God who is compared to the Shepherd, seeking his lost Sheep, and to the Father rejoicing for the return of his Prodigal Son; and therefore the Similitude requires that the Joy conceived when a lost Sheep is found, or a Prodigal Son comes home, should be ascribed to him.

Note also that this Consideration should inflame the Zeal, and quicken the Industry of the spiritual Shepherd for the Conversion of Sinners, as knowing this is a Work so highly acceptable to the God of Heaven,

d Ver. 11. Ἄνθρωπός τις εἶχε δύο υἱούς, A certain Man had two Sons.] Here obſerve, (1.) That the elder Son in this Parable repreſenteth not the juſt, or righteous; for they are not angry either that Sinners do return to God, or that he graciouſly entertains them when they do ſo, but rather are induſtrious to bring them home to him, and rejoice at their Return: He rather repreſents the Jews murmuring, and being angry that the Gentiles, who before were μακρὰν ἀπὸ τοῦ Θεοῦ, far off from God, Eph. 2. 13. were by Faith without Circumciſion, or Obedience to their Law, brought nigh to him, and made Partakers of the ſame Privileges, God offered, or afforded to them. The Gentiles are repreſented as the younger Son, going into a far Country, as being far from God, and ſquandring away their Goods by riotous Living, as depraving that Knowledge they had of the true God, from Tradition, and his marvellous Works, by groſs Idolatry, on which account the Jews repreſented them as born of Harlots: See note on John 8. 41. as here v. 30. and ſerving them which by Nature were no Gods, by holding the Truth in Unrighteouſneſs, and giving up themſelves to all Uncleaneſs, Eph. 4. 19. yea labouring under a Famine of the Word of God, and of his ſaving Truth, and giving up themſelves to the meaneſt Services, ſuch as that of keeping of Hogs was deemed by the Jews, and the Egyptians, who ſuffered not ſuch to come into their Temples, or ſacred Houſes; they having now through Chriſt acceſs unto the Father, being adorned with the Wedding Garment of Faith, and the Robe of Righteouſneſs, fed with the Banquet of the true Paſchal Lamb, and admitted to wear their Father's Ring, as a Teſtimony that they were now his genuine Sons.

Nor is it a ſufficient Objection againſt this, that the Gentiles were never Sons before, or if ever they were ſo, they muſt be ſo before the Jews, and ſo the elder Sons; for God is not the God of the Jews only, but alſo of the Gentiles, he being the common Father of the World, and we being all his Offſpring; yea they are called the Sons of God before the Flood, Gen. 6. 2. and were ſo afterward before the Name of Jew was known: And the Jews here repreſent the elder Son, becauſe they being afterwards abdicated for their Idolatry, God gave to the Jews the Primogeniture, and ſtiled them his Sons, and his Firſt-born, Exod. 4. 22, 23. and accordingly beſtowed upon them the Privileges of the Firſt-born, chuſing them above all Nations of the World.

If it be again objected, that this elder Son ſaith, ver. 29. theſe many years have I ſerved thee and never tranſgreſſed I at any time thy Commandments, which could not be true of the Jew. I anſwer, neither could they ſay God never gave them a Kid, or treated them with the like Kindneſs, the Goſpel being firſt preached to them; this therefore only ſignifies their high Conceit of themſelves, that they were righteous; and ſo much for the chief import of the Parable. To touch a little on ſome other Circumſtances of it.

1*ſt*, From thoſe words, he went into a far Country, and ſpent all his Subſtance, Theophylact notes, that he who eſtrangeth himſelf from God loſeth all thoſe Seeds of Virtue, and Goodneſs which either Nature, or Revelation hath implanted in him.

2*dly*, From his being put to feed Swine, obſerve, to what vile and ſordid Employments they are put, who ſerve Sin, and Satan.

3*dly*, From theſe words, he would have filled his Belly with Husks but could not; obſerve, that there can be no Satisfaction to any Man who wants the Favour of God.

4*thly*, From theſe words, when he came to himſelf, obſerve, that he who lives a ſinful Life is beſides himſelf; for being a rational Creature, and having a Judgment, and Conſcience to direct his Actions, he acts againſt his reaſon, his Judgment, and his Conſcience.

5*thly*, From thoſe words, he aroſe and went, ver. 20. Theophylact notes, that 'tis not ſufficient to make good Reſolutions, ſaying, I will go, ver. 18. but we muſt practiſe ſuitably.

6*thly*, From thoſe words, ver. 21 his Father ſeeing him, ran to him, obſerve, that when God ſees Men truly willing to return unto him, he is ſtill ready to receive them, and even prevent them with his Grace.

7*thly*, From thoſe words, ver. 24. this my Son was dead, obſerve, that wicked Men are dead in the worſt Senſe; for as Philo ſaith, He that lives a ſenſual Life, τέθνηκε τῷ ὄντι μονα, is dead as to an happy Life.

8*thly*, From thoſe words, Father I have ſinned, ver 21 ſpoken after the Kindneſs of his Father, note that after Sin is pardoned, it becomes the Sinner ingenuouſly to acknowledge, and confeſs it.

9*thly*, As for the Phraſe, I have ſinned againſt Heaven, and againſt thee, it is a Jewiſh Phraſe, Shamaim, as (b) Buxtorf ſays being frequently uſed to ſignifie God. Accordingly they ſay, There is one who ſins againſt Earth, (i. e. Man,) but not againſt Heaven, (i. e. God;) and there is one that ſins againſt Heaven, but not againſt Earth; but he who ſpeaketh with an evil Tongue, ſins againſt Heaven and Earth. Tho' Theophylact here ſaith, he had ſinned againſt Heaven by preferring earthly things before heavenly.

a 1. AND he said also to his [a] Disciples, b There was a certain [b] rich Man who had a Steward, and the same was accused to him, (it being said,) that he had wasted his Goods:

2. And he called him, and said to him, How is it (thou hast dealt with me,) that I hear this of thee? Give (up) an account of thy Stewardship; for thou may'st be no longer (permitted to be) Steward.

3. Then the Steward said within himself, What shall I do (to live?) for my Lord taketh away from me the Stewardship: I cannot dig (for a Livelihood;) to beg (for it) I am ashamed.

4. I am resolved what to do, that when I am out of the Stewardship, they (whom I befriend,) may receive me into their Houses.

5. So he called every one of his Lord's Debtors unto him, and said to the first, How much owest thou to my Lord?

6. And he said, An hundred Measures of Oil, (i. e. about a thousand Gallons:) And he said to him, Take thy Bill, and sit down quickly, and write fifty.

7. Then said he to another, And how much owest thou? And he said, An hundred Measures of Wheat: And he said to him, Take thy Bill, and write fourscore; (And likewise he said to the rest.)

c 8. And the Lord [c] commended the unjust Steward, because he had done wisely; (i. e. he represented him as one that acted according to the Wisdom of this World; and was so far worthy to be imitated by the Children of Light, as to make this their chief care, when by Death they are removed from their Stewardship, that they may be received into everlasting Habitations:) For the Children of this World are in their Generation wiser than the Children of Light, (more provident and dextrous to provide for this Life, than they are to provide for Eternity.)

d 9. And I (likewise) say to you, [d] Make your self Friends of the Mammon of Unrighteousness, (i. e. make such Provisions for your selves of those Riches, which the Men of this World get by Falshood and Injustice;) that when ye fail they may receive you; (i. e. that when you die, ye may be received) into everlasting Habitations.

10. He that is faithful in that which is least, (i. e. in the Enjoyments of this World, so as to employ them in Works of Charity, and to the Ends for which he is entrusted with them,) is faithful also in much, (i. e. he will be so in the great Concernments of another Life;) and (likewise) he that is unjust in the least, is unjust also in much.

11. If therefore ye have not been faithful (Stewards) in (dispensing) the unrighteous Mammon, (or the false and deceitful Riches of this World, to the uses for which they were given you,) who will, (it is not to be expected God should,) commit to your trust the true Riches?

12. And if ye have not been faithful in that e which is (to be) [e] another Man's, who shall give you that which is your own, (i. e. that inheritance which shall never pass from you to others?)

13. (And there is great reason to caution you against that affection to the World, which obstructs your love to God; for) [f] no Servant
f can serve two Masters; for either he will hate the one, and love the other, or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other; ye cannot (then) serve God and Mammon (also.)

14. And the Pharisees also who were covetous, heard all these things, and they derided him, (looking on this as ridiculous Doctrine.)

15. And (but) he said to them, Ye are they which justifie your selves before Men, (i. e. seek to approve your selves to, and expect to be owned by them as righteous Persons,) but God knoweth (the Falshood of) your Hearts; for that (fair outside) which is highly esteemed among Men (who see no farther,) is (an) abomination in the sight of God, (who seeth the Filth and Hypocrisie of your Hearts.)

16. (Nor is it to be wondred, that you hear these higher Precepts of Charity from me, and John; for) the [g] Law and the Prophets, g (which engaged you to your Duty, chiefly by temporal Promises,) were until John; since that time the Kingdom of God (which promises Treasures in Heaven,) is preached, and every Man (that enters into that Kingdom,) presseth into it, (i. e. forces his way into it, by breaking thro' the love of temporal Concerns.)

17. And (this I say not to depreciate the Law, which as to its Moral Precepts shall obtain for ever; for) it is easier for Heaven and Earth to pass (away,) than (for) one tittle of the Law to fail. (See Matth. 5. 18.)

18. (And to give you another instance of the sublimer Precepts of the Gospel, the Law permits Divorces, but under the Gospel Dispensation) whosoever putteth away his Wife, and marrieth another, committeth Adultery (against her;) and whosoever marrieth her that is put away from her Husband, committeth Adultery, (as cohabiting with another Man's Wife.)

19. (And to ſhew them the miſchiefs of Riches, not charitably employed, he told them
h by way of Parable,) [h] There was a certain rich Man which was cloathed in Purple and fine Linen, and fared ſumptuouſly every Day:

20. And there was a certain Beggar, named Lazarus, (i. e. one without help,) which was laid at his Gate full of Sores;

21. And deſiring to be fed with the Crums which fell from the rich Man's Table, (but was denied them;) moreover, the Dogs (being more compaſſionate than the rich Man's Servants,) came, and licked his Sores.

i 22. And it came to paſs that the [i] Beggar died, and was carried by the Angels, (who are miniſtring Spirits to good Men,) into Abraham's Boſom? the rich Man alſo died, and was buried:

k 23. And in Hell he lift up his Eyes, being in Torments, and ſeeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his Boſom:

24. And he [k] cried, and ſaid, Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and ſend Lazarus, that he may dip the tip of his Finger in Water, and cool my Tongue, for I am tormented in this Flame.

25. But Abraham ſaid, Son, remember that thou in thy life-time receiveſt thy good things, and likewiſe Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted, and thou art tormented.

l 26. And beſides all this, [l] between us and you, there is a great Gulf fixed, ſo that they who would paſs from hence to you, cannot; neither can they paſs to us, that would come from thence; (i. e. good Men have all their Evils, and bad Men all their good things in this Life; and hereafter, the Happineſs of the one and the Miſery of the other will be unchangeable.)

27. Then he ſaid, I pray thee therefore, Father, that thou wouldſt ſend him to my Father's Houſe;

28. For I have five Brethren, (and am deſirous) that he may teſtifie to them, (the Happineſs of the Bleſſed, and the Miſery of the Wicked,) leſt they alſo come into this place of Torment.

29. And Abraham ſaith to him, They have Moſes and the Prophets (to teſtifie to them theſe things,) let them hear (and obey) them.

30. And he ſaid, Nay, Father Abraham, (they prevailed not with me, and therefore may not do ſo with them;) but if one went to them from the dead, (I ſuppoſe) they will repent.

31. And he ſaid (again) to him, If they m [m] hear (i. e. obey,) not Moſes and the Prophets, neither will they be perſuaded, tho' one aroſe from the dead, (to preach Repentance to them; for he could come with no greater Authority, deliver no better Motives to Repentance; and he could give them no greater aſſurance of the truth of what he ſaid, than they did.) a Ver. 1. Ἔλεγε δὲ καὶ πρὸς τοὺς μαθητὰς αὐτοῦ, And he ſaid alſo to his Diſciples;] i. e. not only to the Twelve, but to thoſe who followed him, attending on his Doctrine, as did the Publicans and Sinners, Chap. 15. 1.

b Ibid. Ἀνθρώπῳ τινὶ πλουσίῳ ὃς εἶχεν οἰκονόμον, There was a rich Man who had a Steward, and he was accuſed to him as waſting his Goods.] Kimchi on Iſaiah 40. ſaith, "The Fruits of the Earth are like a "Table ſpread in an Houſe; the Owner "of this Houſe is God; Man in this World "is, as it were, the Steward of the Houſe, "into whoſe Hands his Lord hath delivered "all his Riches; if he behave himſelf well, "he will find Favour in the Eyes of his "Lord; if ill, he will remove him from "his Stewardſhip. And ſo the ſcope of this Parable ſeems to be this, That we are to look upon our ſelves not as Lords of the good things of this Life, ſo as to get, and uſe them at our Pleaſure, but only as Stewards, who muſt be faithful in the Adminiſtration of them.

Ver. 8. Καὶ ἐπῄνεσεν ὁ Κύριος τὸν οἰκονόμον ἀδικίας ὅτι φρονίμως ἐποίησεν, And the Lord commended the unjuſt Steward, that he had done wiſely; i. e. diſcreetly, according to the Wiſdom of the Men of this World, whoſe Concern is only for the good things of this Life; he commended him as we do ſuch Perſons, when we ſay, Such a one is a ſhrewd Man for the World, he underſtands well the way of dealing in it; he commends him not abſolutely as a fit Example to be followed in his Injuſtice, Fraud, and waſting of his Maſter's Goods, but comparatively, as being worthy to be ſo far imitated by the Children of Light, as to make this their chief concern, that when by Death they are removed from their Stewardſhip, they may be received into everlaſting Habitations, or into an Houſe not made with Hands, eternal in the Heavens, 2 Cor. 5. 1. This being an Inſtruction needful for them, becauſe the Children of this World are wiſer in their care to make Proviſions for themſelves, than are the Children of Light, i. e. they who enjoy the Light of the Goſpel, to make Proviſions εἰς

d Ver. 9. Καγὼ ὑμῖν λέγω, ποιήσατε ὑμῖν φίλους ἐκ τ μαμωνᾶ τ ἀδικίας, I therefore say unto you, Make your selves Friends of the Mammon of Unrighteousness.] That the Mammon of Unrighteousness is the false Mammon, according to the common import of the word ἀδικία, for Falshood; of which see Jer. 27. 15, 29, 31. and the Note on 1 Cor. 13. 6. may be gathered from the true Riches opposed to it, ver. 11. But then it remains to be enquired, whether it be called here the Mammon ἀδικίας, or false Mammon, because it deceives them who trust to, and seek for satisfaction from it, and comparatively, to the true Riches; or else as the unjust Steward is stiled οἰκονόμ@ ἀδικίας, unjust, because he betrayed his Trust, and dealt falsly with his Master; to which sense, the preceding Verse and the Parable seem plainly to direct, and the use of the Phrase Mammon Dishekar in the Targumists do constrain us to interpret it, as being usually put for Gain, gotten by unfaithfulness, to our Trust, or falseness in the discharge of our Office. So of the Sons of Eli it is said, That they had respect to Mammon Dishekar, the Mammon of Falshood, 1 Sam. 8. 3. and chap. 12. 3. Samuel enquires, from whose Hand have I received Mammon Dishekar? and, 2 Sam. 14. 14. A just Judge will not receive Mammon Dishekar. So Prov. 15. 27. He destroys his House, who heaps up to himself the Mammon of Falshood: See to the same sense, Isa. 5. 23.—35 15. Ezek. 22. 27. Hos. 5. 11. Amos 5. 12. But then, whereas it is hence inferr'd, that our Lord here speaks of making restitution of such Goods, and spending some of the remainder in Acts of Charity; which, when Zacheus had resolved to perform, Christ saith, This Day is Salvation come to this House, chap. 19. 9. Tho' this be a good sense, and fit to be preached to those Publicans and Sinners who came to attend upon his Doctrine, yet is it not necessary; for Christ's Intendment may be only this, to advise his Followers to be so far from getting Wealth by such Unfaithfulness and Falshood as the Men of the World do, as rather to expend what Providence hath entrusted them with, in acts of Charity and Mercy, that so they may lay up for themselves Treasures in the Heavens, or be received into Heaven when they die, for ἐκλείπειν bears this sense in Scripture. So Gen. 25. 8. ἐκλείπων ἀπέθανεν Ἀβραάμ, Abraham gave up the Ghost, and died; Jer. 42. 17. ἐκλείψουσι ἐν τῇ ῥομφαίᾳ, they shall die by the Sword, and ver. 22. ἐν λιμῷ ἐκλείψετε, ye shall die by the Pestilence; Wisd. 5. 13. ὅτως κ ἡμεῖς γεγηθότες ἐξέλιπομεν, so we that are born die. See Gen. 35. 29 49. 33. Job 13. 19. Psal. 103. 10. Isa. 38. 12. Jer. 9. 10. —44. 12, 18, 27. Lam. 1. 20. Zeph. 1. 2, 3. Psal. 73. 19.—89. 7. 9. —101. 4. Δέξων@ ὑμᾶς, they may receive you, is impersonally put for you may be received. So Luke 6. 38. give, and δώσουσιν, it shall be given into your Bosoms; Chap. 12. 20. τ ψυχήν σου ἀπαιτοῦσιν, thy Soul shall be required.

e Ver. 12. Καὶ εἰ ἐν τῷ ἀλλοτρίῳ πιστοὶ οὐκ ἐγένεσθε, τὸ ὑμέτερον τίς ὑμῖν δώσει, And if you have not been faithful in that which is another's, who will give you that which is your own?] The 11th Verse seems to bear this sense, if you have not been faithful in those temporal Concerns which minister Temptations to Unrighteousness, but have either sought to obtain them by Fraud, and unfaithful Dealings, when they have been committed to your Trust, or by withholding more than is right, or that which the great Lord of them required you to expend upon his needy Servants, how can you reasonably expect the true Riches which are only promised to the upright, and charitable Person? And again, if you have been thus unfaithful in those things which you cannot properly call your own, because they may by various Accidents be devolved on, and must at last be left to others, what reason have you to expect that which is your own, as being the Inheritance of the Children of Light, and that which they are to enjoy for ever? where the Concerns of this World are stiled ἀλλότρια, things which belong not to us, because we have no assurance of the Enjoyment of them, and know that we must leave them to others, and this is said agreeably to the Philosophy of the Heathens: Thus in Arian the dying Man is said τὰ ἀλλότρια ἀποδιδόναι, to render up that which belongs to others, lib. 1. c. 1. And every one is bid τὰ ἴδια τηρεῖν, τ ἀλλοτρίων μὴ ἐπιποθεῖν, to keep that which is in his Power, and not desire external things, l. 2. c. 16. p. 215. and l. 3. c. 24. We are taught that the things we may be hindred of, or which may be taken from us, are τὰ ἀλλότρια; and so, saith he, are all those things which we must leave to others, or restore to God that gave them, l. 4. c. 5. So Hermes l. 3. Sim. 1. τί εἰς τ ἀλλοτρίαν ἑτοιμάζομεν ἀγρούς, οἰκοδομάς, Why do we, who know the City in which we are to dwell, prepare for our selves, Fields, Houses, &c. in another City? this being a sign that we expect not to return to our own City, to the Jerusalem above; which is here stiled by St. Luke our own, by Hermes ἡ πόλις ἡμῶν, because prepared for, and promised to us Christians; here we are only Travellers, there is our City, Philip. 3. 20. here we are only Dispensers, there Heirs; here we enjoy things for a season, there for ever.

f Ver. 13. Οὐδεὶς οἰκέτης δυσὶ δυσὶ Κυρίοις δουλεύειν, No Man can serve two Masters, —— ye cannot serve God and Mammon.]

The coherence of theſe words ſeems to lie thus, I have juſt reaſon to caution you thus againſt that affection to the World which obſtructs your Charity, and tempts you by Fraud, and Falſhood, to acquire it, becauſe it will not permit you to love God truly, or to be faithful Servants to him; and whereas you covetous Phariſees deride me for this Doctrine, ver. 14. as thinking your ſelves highly favoured of God for other things, viz. your long Prayers, your Waſhings, your exactneſs in paying Tithes, your niceneſs in obſerving your vain Traditions, and your ſeparation from the Men of the World, know, that however you may think well of your ſelves upon theſe accounts, and highly be eſteemed of others, whilſt ye continue covetous, and full of Rapine and Uncleanneſs, Matth. 23. 25. Hypocriſie and Injuſtice, v. 27. ye are abominable in the Sight of God.

g Ver. 16, 17, 18. Ὁ νόμος καὶ οἱ προφῆται ἕως Ἰωάννου, The Law and the Prophets were until John, ſince that time the Kingdom of God is preached, and every one preſſeth into it.] Here the Coherence ſeems to run thus, it is not to be wondred that you now hear from John and me, higher Precepts of Charity, and Contempt of the World than you find in the Law or Prophets, who moved you to your Duty by the Promiſes of temporal Bleſſings in the Land of Canaan; ſince now the Kingdom of Heaven is preached, and every one that enters into it, forces his way by breaking through the Love of temporal Concerns, and ſenſual Pleaſures: For to give you another inſtance of like nature, whereas the Law admitted of Divorces at the Pleaſure of the Huſband, by reaſon of the Hardneſs of your Hearts, the Goſpel forbids this now on any other Score, than that of Fornication, which from the Nature of the Sin diſſolves the Marriage; yet that you may not cavil at me as a Diſſolver of the Law, I declare that all the moral Precepts of it ſhall obtain, and be of perpetual Obligation under the Goſpel Diſpenſation.

h Ver. 19. Ἄνθρωπος πλούσιος ἦν, There was a rich Man, &c.] That this is only a Parable, and not a real Hiſtory of what was actually done, is evident, (1.) Becauſe we find this very Parable in the Gemara Babylonicum, whence it is cited by Mr. Sheringham, in the Preface to his Joma. (2.) From the Circumſtances of it, viz. the rich Man's lifting up his Eyes in Hell, and ſeeing Lazarus in Abraham's Boſom, his Diſcourſe with Abraham, his Complaint of being tormented with Flames, and his deſire that Lazarus might be ſent to cool his Tongue; and if all this be confeſſedly Parable, why ſhould the reſt, which is the very Parable in the Gemara, be accounted Hiſtory? As for the Judgment of Antiquity in this caſe, they who owned this as an Hiſtory, owned the whole ſo to be, thinking the Soul to be corporeal, as Tertullian did, and that there was διαφορὰ καὶ τὰς μορφὰς, ſome Diſcretion, or Reſemblance of Men as to their Shapes after Death, which was the Sentiment of (a) Irenæus, proving from this very inſtance, that Souls when they have put off the Body, do yet characterem corporum cuſtodire, preſerve the Shape, or Character of the Body to which they were united, as (b) Tertullian before from the ſame inſtance had inferred, effigiem animæ, & corporales lineas, the Shape, and corporeal Lineaments, and alſo corporalitatem animæ. Much as (c) Theſpeſius returning to Life repreſents τὰ τῶν ψυχῶν χρώματα, the Colours of Souls, and ſaith that there be ἕλκη καὶ μώλωπες ἐπὶ τῶν παθῶν ἑκάστῳ, Ulcers and Scars of their Paſſions left upon them by which they are diſcerned; whereas they who renounced theſe Opinions as falſe, and ridiculous, delared that this was not an Hiſtory, but only a Repreſentation, (d) That after the Separation of the Soul from the Body, ſhe could receive no Advantage from any Man, and that 'twas fooliſh to think it an Hiſtory; and this they alſo gather, becauſe there was to be no future Retribution before the general Reſurrection. And whereas againſt this it is objected that the proper Name Lazarus ſhews it to be an Hiſtory; it is anſwered that the Name Lazer being only the Contraction of Eliezer is the ſame with Ani Achad, a poor Man in the Gemara, as being in ſenſe ἀβοήθητος, one that hath no help, or one who hath God only for his help. Note,

2*dly*, That tho' this Parable contains ſomething ſuitable to the Opinion of the Jews touching the ſtate of Souls after Death, yet doth it not reſpect their ſtate immediately after Death, but the Puniſhments that wicked Men are to ſuffer after the Reſurrection of the Dead, or, ἐν ἐσχάτῃ ἡμέρᾳ, at the laſt Day, ſaith Theophylact. For as Cicero ſays of the Fables, by which the Poets repreſent the Puniſhments of evil Souls, that corpora cremata cum ſcirent tamen ea fieri apud inferos fingebant, quæ ſine corporibus nec fieri poſſint, nec intelligi, tho' they know their Bodies have been burnt, yet they do repreſent them ſuffering ſuch things in the infernal Regions, which neither can be done nor ſuffered, or even underſtood to be ſo without Bodies. So is it plainly here in the forementioned Inſtances produced to prove this a Parable.

i Ver. 22. Ἐγένετο δὲ ἀποθανεῖν τὸν πτωχὸν, And it came to pass that the Beggar died, and was carried by the Angels into Abraham's Bosom.] Here are two things said agreeably to the Tradition of the Jews touching good Men which was, (1.) That their Souls were in the Garden of Eden, in Paradise or in Abraham's Bosom; thus of R. Judah, when he died they said, this day he sits in Abraham's Bosom, See Lightfoot on the place; and (e) Josephus saith of good Men, that they are gathered εἰς πατέρων χορὸν, to the Region of the Patriarchs, and that Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob do ὑποδέχεσθαι, receive their Souls. (2.) That they are carried thither by good Angels; so the Targum on Cant. 4. 12. saith, No Man hath Power to enter into the Garden of Eden, but the Just, whose Souls are carried thither by the Hand of Angels. See Cartw. on Luke 2. 29. p. 2994. they add, that when evil Men die, the evil Angels come and say, there is no Peace to the Wicked. So Dr. Lightfoot here and in like manner Socrates in (f) Phæd. saith, λέγεται it is reported that assoon as any Man dies, every one's Demon whom he chose to himself whilst he lived, brings him to a certain place where all are to be judged, and then he goes to Hades, μετὰ ἡγεμόνος ἐκείνου ᾧ παρεδόθη τὸν ἐνθένδε ἐκεῖσε πορεύεσθαι, with the Governour to whom it was appointed to bring them that depart k hence to those places.

Ver. 24. Καὶ αὐτὸς φωνήσας εἶπε, πάτερ Ἀβραὰμ ἐλέησόν με, And he cried and said, Father Abraham have Mercy on me.] As the Baptist taxeth their vain Imaginations in hoping to be preserved from divine Judgments whilst they lived, because they were the Children of Abraham, so our Lord here may perhaps strike at a like Imagination got among them, that Hell-fire had no Power over the Sinners of Israel, because Abraham and Isaac came down thither to fetch them thence; See the Note on Rom. 2. 13. declaring even from the Mouth of Abraham that no help was by them to be expected from him, when they were in that place.

l Ver. 26. Μεταξὺ ἡμῶν καὶ ὑμῶν χάσμα μέγα ἐστήρικται, Betwixt us and you there is a great Gulf fixed, so that none can pass to us from thence.] The words seem plainly to refute the Opinion of Origen, that there would come a time when the Punishments of the Wicked would have an end, and they should at last live with God, and his Saints.

Ver. 31. Εἰ Μωσέως καὶ τῶν προφητῶν οὐκ ἀκούουσιν, m If they hear not Moses, nor the Prophets, they would not be persuaded tho' one rose from the Dead.] If they hear not, i. e. obey not Moses and the Prophets, whom they own to be Persons sent from God, and delivering his Message, one rising from the Dead would not persuade them to break off their Iniquities; for he could come with no greater Authority than they did, he could deliver no other Message, to the Sinner than they had done, that if they turned not from their evil ways they should die, and be obnoxious to eternal Shame and Misery, Dan. 12. 2. he could give them no more assurance of the Truth of what he said, than did the Word of that God who cannot lie; no reason therefore could be conceived why they should hearken to one risen from the Dead, and calling them to Repentance, rather than to those Prophets whom they acknowledged to be sent from God. And of this we have a clear instance in the Resurrection of our Lord from the Dead, for of this they had the Testimony of our Lord's Predictions, of their own Prophets, of the Guards that kept the Sepulchre, of their own Senses, of the Apostles and five hundred Witnesses, and all this confirmed by the miraculous Effusions of the Holy Ghost on those that believed on him, and a continual Throng of Miracles wrought in his Name, and yet all this was insufficient to reclaim that wicked Generation from their Infidelity, and to provoke them to Repentance. The Practical Observations made from this Parable are,

1*st*, That this rich Man is not accused of getting Riches by Injustice, but only of faring deliciously and luxuriously, with the neglect of others, oppressed with Misery, and Want, before his Eyes. How then will many Christians escape the same place of Torments who indulge to the same Luxury, and carnal Pleasures, and are as little touched with an affectionate sense of the Wants and Miseries of others?

2*dly*, That they who have their good things in this Life, i. e. that which they chiefly valued, pursued, and delighted in whilst they lived here, are to expect no Comfort, nothing but evil, after Death.

CHAP. XVII.

1. THEN said he to the Disciples, it is impossible, (through the unrestrained Wickedness of Men,) but that Offences will come, (i. e. things will be said, and done, which will hinder some from embracing, and cause others to fall off from the Faith,) but wo to him through whom they come;

2. It were better for him that a Milſtone were hanged about his Neck, and he caſt into the Sea, than that he ſhould (thus) offend one of theſe little ones, (that believe in me.)

3. Take heed (therefore) to your ſelves (that ye be not guilty of any degree of this Offence; and therefore) if thy Brother treſpaſs againſt thee, rebuke him, and if (upon this Reproof) he repent forgive him;

4. And if he treſpaſs againſt thee ſeven times in a day, and ſeven times in a day, turn again to thee, ſaying, I repent (of what I have done againſt thee,) thou ſhalt (as oft) forgive him;

a 5. And the Apoſtles ſaid to the Lord, [a] Increaſe our Faith, (that ſo we may be enabled to perform thoſe Duties contrary to Fleſh and Blood, or that we may more ſucceſsfully miniſter to the Welfare of Souls without offence.)

6. And the Lord ſaid, If ye had Faith as a Grain of Muſtard Seed, ye might ſay to this Sycamine Tree, be thou plucked up by the Root, and be thou planted in the Sea, and it ſhould obey you; (i. e. the leaſt ſincere, and active Faith, would enable you to do the moſt difficult things in order to the promotion of the Chriſtian Faith.)

7. But (then) which of you having a Servant plowing, or feeding Cattle, will ſay to him by and by, when he is come from the Field, Go and ſit down to Meat?

8. And will not rather ſay to him, Make ready wherewith I may ſup, and gird thy ſelf and ſerve me, till I have eaten and drunken, and afterward thou ſhalt eat and drink.

9. Doth he thank that Servant, becauſe he did the things that were commanded him? I trow not.

b 10. So likewiſe you, when ye ſhall have done [b] all thoſe things which are commanded you, ſay, we are unprofitable Servants, we have (only) done that which was our Duty to do; (i. e. whereas the performance of the greateſt things, which I your Maſter do require, may ſeem to you a very eminent piece of Service, know, that in obeying all my Precepts, you only do the Office of good and faithful Servants, obeying the Commands of your great Maſter as ye ought to do, and ſo muſt look on the Reward promiſed, not of Debt, but Grace.)

c 11. And it came to paſs, as he went to Jeruſalem, that he paſſed through the [c] midſt (or confines) of Samaria and Galilee;

12. And as he entred into a certain Village, there met him ten Men that were Lepers, which ſtood afar off;

13. And they lifted up their Voices, and ſaid, Jeſus Maſter have Mercy on us, (and heal us.) d 14. And when he ſaw them, he ſaid to them, [d] Go ſhew your ſelves to the Prieſts, (as when a Cure is wrought the Lepers are to do by the Law, Lev. 14. 2.) and it came to paſs that as they went they were cleanſed;

15. And one of them when he ſaw that he was healed, turned back, and with a loud Voice glorified (or praiſed) God;

16. And fell down on his Face at his (i. e. Chriſt's) Feet, giving him thanks, and he (who did this) was a Samaritan:

17. And Jeſus anſwering, ſaid, Were there not ten cleanſed (doubtleſs there were) but where are the (remaining) nine (of them?)

18. There are not found (any of them) that returned to give Glory to God, ſave this Stranger;

19. And he ſaid to him, Ariſe, go thy way, thy Faith hath made thee whole.

20. And when he was demanded of the Phariſees, when the Kingdom of God ſhould come, he anſwered them, and ſaid, The Kingdom of God cometh not with [e] Obſervation, e (i. e. with outward Pomp and Splendor, viſible in earthly Kingdoms;)

21. Neither ſhall they (have need to) ſay (of it,) Lo here, or lo there (it is,) for behold the Kingdom of God is [f] within (already among) you; f

22. And he ſaid to the Diſciples (or Followers,) the days will come when ye (of this Nation) ſhall deſire to ſee [g] one of the days g of the Son of Man, (the Meſſiah coming to deliver Iſrael, chap. 24. 21.) and ye ſhall not ſee (one of them) it.

23. And (when) they ſhall ſay to you, See here, or ſee there (for him,) go not after them, nor follow them:

24. [h] For as the Lightning that lighteth h out of the one part under Heaven, ſhineth to the other part under Heaven, ſo (viſible) ſhall alſo the (coming of the) Son of Man be in his day.

25. But firſt he muſt ſuffer many things, and be rejected of this Generation;

26. And as it was in the Days of Noe, (a Preacher of Righteouſneſs to the old World,) ſo ſhall it be alſo in the days of (the coming of) the Son of Man;

27. They (then) did eat, they drank, they married Wives, they were given in Marriage, (not expecting the threatned Judgments,) until the day that Noe entred into the Ark, and the Flood came and deſtroyed them all.

28. Likewiſe alſo as it was in the days of Lot, they did eat, they drank, they bought, they ſold, they planted, they builded.

29. But the ſame day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained Fire and Brimſtone from Heaven, and deſtroy'd them all.

30. Even thus ſhall it be in the day when the ſon of Man is revealed; (a ſudden and unexpected Deſtruction ſhall then fall upon the Men of this Nation.)

i 32. i Remember (therefore) Lot's Wife, (what her delay, and looking back brought upon her.)

33. Whosoever shall seek to save his Life, (by Apostacy from the Faith,) shall lose it, and whosoever shall lose his Life (for my sake,) shall preserve it.

a Ver. 5. Πρόσθες ἡμῖν πίστιν, Increase our Faith.] In the beginning of this Chapter, our Lord requires his Apostles to be careful, that they do not offend one of his little ones; 2*dly*, To be so charitable to their offending Brother, as to rebuke him for his Sins; and, 3*dly*, To pardon their offending Brother, tho' he should daily multiply his Provocations, provided that he only say unto them, I repent, ver. 4. Now these three Duties of an inoffensive Conversation, fraternal Correption, and full Forgiveness of a Brother daily multiplying fresh Indignities, and Provocations, being so difficult, and contrary to their natural Inclinations, and Faith being the Foundation of all Christian Virtues, the Apostles in order to the Performance of these Duties beg the increase of Faith. Moreover, seeing Faith is wrought in the Heart, which God alone can search, and can immediately work upon, by thus repairing to Christ to increase their Faith, they must ascribe to him, as Woltzogenius here confesseth, a Divine Virtue, which being proper to the Deity, and incommunicable to a finite Nature, must consequently shew that Christ had in him a divine Nature.

b Ver. 10. Οὕτω καὶ ὑμεῖς ὅταν ποιήσητε πάντα τὰ διαταχθέντα ὑμῖν, λέγετε, ὅτι δοῦλοι ἀχρεῖοί ἐσμεν, So likewise you, when you have done all Things that are commanded you, say that we are unprofitable Servants, for we have done that (only) which it was our duty to do.] Here Christ destroys two Doctrines of the Schools, the Merit of good Works, and Works of Supererogation. For, (1.) we being in respect of God unprofitable Servants, (for can a Man be profitable to God, as he that is wise may be profitable to himself, is it any Advantage to him that we are righteous, or is it gain to him that we make our ways perfect? Job 22. 2, 3. If thou be righteous what giveth thou him, or what receiveth he at thy hands? Chap. 35. 7. seeing thy Goodness reacheth not to him, Psal. 16. 2.) sure we cannot merit from him by doing that which is unprofitable to him: 2*dly*, Because we only can do that which is our Duty to perform; for (1.) We are all God's Servants; now it being the Duty of a Servant to do all his Master's Pleasure, and what he hath declared to be grateful to him, and this being only ministerium servi, the proper Business of a Servant, which he lies under a necessity of doing, that he may please his Lord, even reason shews he cannot put it to account to his Superior, or be supposed to merit by it as (a) Seneca grants, and that it may not be said that this is the condition only of Slaves, and not of Servants in the general, which we all are to God and Christ, 1 Cor. 7. 22. Rom. 14. 4. Coloss. 3. 24. Eph. 6. 9. it is to be observed from these words, οὕτω καὶ ὑμεῖς, so also ye, that Christ speaks this to his Disciples, who are not to be reckon'd as his Slaves, but Servants, whose Duty it was to have their Loins girt, and their Lamps burning, upon that account, Luke 12. 35, 36. who therefore doing all that he required, were still unprofitable Servants, in the Sense forementioned, and did only what they ought. Christ therefore here seems to speak to them thus, It is the Duty of Servants after they have done their work in the Field, to minister to their Lord as he shall require, and when they have done what he requires, they for that Service merit not so much as thanks, because they only do their Duty; if then I treat you more liberally, rather as Friends than Servants; if I condescend to minister to you, Luke 12. 37. and place you over all that I have, ver. 44. you are not to imagine that I am indebted to you, or owe you ſuch Favours, but rather are to acknowledge, when you have done all, that you are ſtill unprofitable Servants, and only have performed your Duty. See here Examen Millii in locum.

c Ver. 11. Διὰ μέσου Σαμαρείας καὶ Γαλιλαίας As he went to Jeruſalem he paſſed through the midſt of Samaria and Galilee.] It is well known that Samaria lay betwixt Galilee and Judea, and ſo our Lord taking his Journey to Jeruſalem, muſt go firſt through Galilee, then through Samaria; why therefore is it here ſaid, that he paſſed through Samaria and Galilee? To this it may be anſwered, that בתוך in medio, is often the ſame as μεταξὺ between, and ſo is διὰ, as διὰ νήσων inter inſulas; ſo here the Arabick and Syraick, between Samaria and Galilee i. e. between the Confines of both Countries, Chriſt in this Journey going to the Scythopolitan Bridge, ſaith Lightfoot, by which he paſſed into Peræa, and ſo on by Samaria into Judea.

d Ver. 14. Πορευθέντες ἐπιδείξατε ἑαυτοὺς τοῖς ἱερεῦσι, Go ſhew your ſelves to the Prieſts.] By ſending them thus to the Prieſts, who were to make their Offerings in the Temple, Chriſt decides the Cauſe betwixt the Jews and the Samaritans, ſending the Samaritan not to Mount Gerizim, but to Jeruſalem.

e Ver. 20. Οὐκ ἔρχεται ἡ βασιλεία τοῦ Θεοῦ μετὰ παρατηρήσεως, The Kingdom of God cometh not with Obſervation;] i. e. not with that Royal Splendor, or Worldly Pomp and Grandeur, which ſhall render it conſpicuous in the Eyes of the World, as you expect it ſhould; ſo that a Man may be able to ſay from the luſtre of its firſt Appearance, Lo it is here, or it is there.

f Ver. 21. Ἰδοὺ γὰρ ἡ βασιλεία τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐντὸς ὑμῶν ἐστιν, Behold the Kingdom of God is within you;] i. e amongſt you; for it is certain that our Lord ſpeaks not of the Power it had gained over the Hearts of the Jews, and much leſs of the Phariſees to whom he ſpeaks, but that the Kingdom of the Meſſiah began now to appear, and the Goſpel of the Kingdom was now preached among them; ſo that Chriſt ſays thus, This Kingdom which you enquire after, as if it had not yet appeared, becauſe you ſee not that outward Splendor you expect when the Meſſiah comes, is even now among you, and is come unto you; ſo ἐντὸς ὑμῶν and ἐν ὑμῖν are uſed frequently in the Old Teſtament. So Gen. 23. 9. Give me it for a place of Burial ἐν ὑμῖν among you. See ver. 6. Chap. 34. 10. ἐν ἡμῖν κατοικεῖτε, ye dwell among us; Exod. 17. 7. is the Lord ἐν ἡμῖν; among us or not? So Joſh. 3. 5.—9. 22. Mic. 3. 11. Hence alſo it is evident that the Kingdom here cannot ſignifie Chriſt's coming to deſtroy Jeruſalem, for of that certainly the Jews did not think that it ſhould ſuddenly appear; of that our Lord could not ſay, it was now among you, or that it came not with Obſervation, it being attended with ſo many glorious Signs of their approaching Ruin, and the Preſence of the Roman Army.

Ver. 22 Ἐλεύσονται ἡμέραι, ὅτι ἐπιθυμήσετε, &c. And the days ſhall come, when you ſhall deſire to ſee one of the days of the Son of man, and ſhall not ſee them.] One of the days of the Son of Man ſeems here to ſignifie the time of their Viſitation by him, Chap. 19. when he came to offer them all the Bleſſings of the Kingdom of God upon their Faith and Repentance; this offer, ſaith Chriſt, in your Extremity you will be glad to hear, but ſhall not hear it. g

Ver. 34. Ὥσπερ γὰρ ἡ ἀστραπὴ, For as the Lightning (or Splendor) which ſhineth from one part of the Heaven to the other part under the Heaven, ſo ſhall alſo the (coming of the) Son of Man be in his day.] Chriſt had told them that the Kingdom of God was already come among them, and had appeared in the Purity of his Doctrine, and the Miracles by which it was confirmed, tho' not with ſuch an outward Splendor as might enable them to point to it, and ſay, Lo it is here, or there, ver. 20, 21. He tells them in the 25th Verſe, that this Son of Man ſhould ſuffer, and be rejected by them, and ſo the Glory of it would be for a while eclipſed; And here, that after his Reſurrection it would ſhine with ſuch a freſh and glorious Brightneſs, by the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt on his Diſciples, as it would render it equal to the Splendor of the Sun ſhining from one part of Heaven to the other, and cauſe it to be propagated almoſt as quick as Lightning through the World, ſo that there ſhall be no need to attend to any Man, ſaying, it is here, or there, ſeeing it would be quickly and conſpicuouſly ſet up among all Nations, Matth. 24. 15. and that then this Son of Man ſo faſtidiouſly rejected by them, would alſo appear ſuddenly and gloriouſly, to revenge upon them their Infidelity, and the Affronts which they had offered to him. h

Ver. 32. Μνημονεύετε τῆς γυναικὸς Λώτ, Remember Lot's Wife;] what befel her for looking back to Sodom, leſt you likewiſe periſh in this Slaughter of the unbelieving Jews, by looking back to what you have in your Houſes, or in the Fields, ver. 31. i

Ver. 37. Ὅπου τὸ σῶμα, Where the Carcaſs is, there will the Eagles be gathered together;] That is, where ever the Jews are, there will the Sword of the Romans, whoſe Enſign is the Eagle, be ready to devour them, and their Army will aſſemble to deſtroy them. k

CHAP. XVIII.

1. AND he spake a Parable to them, to a this end, that Men ought [a] always to pray, and not to faint, (or cease from the performance of that Duty, because they are not presently heard; See 2 Cor. 4. 1.)

2. Saying, There was in a City a Judge that feared not God, neither regarded Man, (to do Justice or to shew Mercy to him)

3. And there was a Widow in that City, and she came to him, saying, avenge me of (or do me Justice against,) my Adversary.

4. And he would not for a while; but afterward he said within himself, Tho' I fear not God, nor regard Man, (so as to be moved by either of those Motives to do this,)

5. Yet because this Widow troubleth me (with her Importunity,) I will avenge her, (or do her right) lest by her continual coming she weary me.

6. And the Lord said, Hear what the unjust Judge saith, (on the account of the Widows Importunity,)

b 7. And shall not God [b] avenge his own Elect, (i. e. his Christian Sufferers,) which cry day and night to him, tho' he bear long with them (who afflict them, and so for a season seemeth not to hear them?)

8. I tell you, that he will avenge them speedily (after a little time, Heb. 10. 37.
c Rev. 1. 1.) [c] Nevertheless, when the Son of Man cometh (to do this,) shall he find Faith on the Earth, (that he will come to execute this Vengeance on the Jews?)

9. And he spake this Parable to certain who trusted in themselves that they were righteous, (as the Pharisees generally did;) and despised others, (as they did the Publicans, counting them Sinners unfit to be conversed with.)

10. Two Men went up into the Temple to pray, the one a Pharisee and the other a Publican:

d 11. The [d] Pharisee stood, and prayed thus with (by) himself, God I thank thee, that I am not as other Men are, Extortioners, Unjust, Adulterers, or even as this Publican (perhaps guilty of all these Crimes:)

12. (I am so far from these things, and so exact in my Duty, that I do more than is com- e manded; for) [e] I fast twice in the Week; (and) I give Tithes of all that I possess, (even of Mint and Cummin, Matth. 23. 23.)

f 13. And (but) the Publican [f] standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his Eyes to Heaven, (as judging himself unworthy so to do) but smote upon his Breast, saying, God be merciful to me a Sinner.

14. I tell you, (that) this Man went down to his House justified, (i. e. approved g of God, and pardoned) [g] rather than the other for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased, and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted:

15. And they (who believed he was a true Prophet,) brought to him also Infants, that he would touch, (or lay his Hands upon) them, (and Pray, Matth. 19. 13.) but when his Disciples saw it, they rebuked them (that brought them:)

16. But Jesus (being much displeased at this Action of his Disciples, Mark 10. 14.) called them to him, and said, Suffer little Children to come to me, and forbid them not; for of such is the Kingdom of God.

17. Verily I say to you, Whosoever shall not receive the Kingdom of God (with Affections, as free from covetous and vain glorious Desires,) as (those of) a little Child, shall in no wise enter therein; (his love of Honour, Joh. 5. 44. and of the World, ver 24. being great Obstructions to it.)

18. And a certain Ruler (who had a good Opinion of him, and some religious concern for future Happiness,) asked him, saying, Good Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal Life?

19. And Jesus said to him, Why callest thou me good? (Seeing) none is good save one, that is God; (doest thou own me as one commissionated by God to teach the way of Life? I will then do it from his Word;)

20. Thou knowest the Commandments; (viz.) Do not commit Adultery, Do not Kill, Do not Steal, Do not bear false Witness, Honour thy Father and thy Mother; (do this and thou shalt live.)

21. And he said, all these have I kept from my youth up.

22. Now when Jesus heard these things, he said to him, Yet lackest thou one thing, (viz. an Heart so free from the love of Riches, as to be ready to part with them at my command for heavenly Blessings; I therefore say to thee,) Sell all that thou hast and distribute (it) to the Poor, and thou shalt have Treasure in Heaven, and (then) come, (and) follow me.

23. And when he heard this he (went away, and) was very sorrowful, for he was very rich, (and unwilling to part with his Estate.)

24. And when Jesus saw that he was very sorrowful, he said, how hardly shall they that have Riches, (and trust in them, Mark 10. 24.) enter into the Kingdom of God?

25. For it is easier for a Camel, (or a Cable,) to go thro' a Needle's Eye, than for a rich Man, (thus affected to his Riches that he cannot part with them for Treasures in Heaven,) to enter into the Kingdom of God.

26. And they that heard (this saying,) said, Who then can be saved?

27. And he ſaid, The things which are impoſſible with Men, are poſſible with God; (he can take off Mens Hearts from this Love of the World, tho' the Perſuaſions of Men cannot do it.)

28. Then Peter ſaid, Lo, we (thy Apoſtles) have left all, and followed thee; (what ſhall we have therefore? Mat. 19. 27.)

29 And he ſaid unto them, Verily I ſay to you, there is no Man that hath left Houſe, or Parents, or Brethren, or Wife, or Children, for the Kingdom of God's ſake,

30. Who ſhall not receive manifold more in this preſent time, (from the Joys of a good Conſcience, and of the Holy Ghoſt, the ſenſe of God's Favour, and the hopes of Treaſures in Heaven, and the affection of good Chriſtians to him,) and in the World to come Life everlaſting.

31. Then he took to him the Twelve, and ſaid to them, Behold we go up to Jeruſalem, and (then) all things that are written by the Prophets concerning the Son of Man, ſhall be accompliſhed:

32. For he ſhall be delivered to the Gentiles, and ſhall be mocked, and ſpitefully entreated, and ſpit on;

33. And they ſhall ſcourge him, and put him to death, and the third Day he ſhall riſe again.

34. And they underſtood none of theſe things; (i. e. they knew not how to reconcile them with their apprehenſions of his Temporal Kingdom, and their Traditions that the Meſſiah ſhould not die, Joh. 12. 34.) and (ſo) this Saying was hid from them, neither knew they the things which were ſpoken.

35. And it came to paſs, that as he was come nigh (Gr. was nigh,) to Jericho, a certain blind Man (named Bartimæus, Mark 10. 46.) ſat by the Way-ſide begging, (and another with him, Matth. 20. 30.)

36. And hearing the Multitude paſs by, he asked what it meant, (i. e. what was the reaſon of that Concourſe.)

37. And they told him that Jeſus of Nazareth paſſeth by.

38. And (upon this) he cryed, ſaying, Jeſus thou Son of David, (whoſe Office it is to give ſight to the Blind, Iſa. 35. 5.) have mercy on me.

39. And they that went before rebuked him, (ſaying,) that he ſhould hold his peace; but he cried ſo much the more, Thou Son of David, have mercy on me.

40. And Jeſus ſtood (ſtill,) and commanded him to be brought to him: And when he was come near, he asked him, 41. Saying, What wilt thou that I ſhall do to thee? And he ſaid, Lord, (I deſire) that I may receive my Sight.

42. And Jeſus ſaid to him, (Thou ſhalt) receive thy ſight, thy Faith have ſaved thee, (i. e. hath made thee whole, Mark 10. 52.)

43. And immediately he received his Sight, and followed him, glorifying God (for his Mercy to him;) and all the People when they ſaw it, gave praiſe (alſo) to God.

a Ver. 1 ΠΡΟΣ τὸ δεῖν πάντοτε προσεύχεσθαι καὶ μὴ ἐκκακεῖν, That Men ought always to pray, and not to faint.] Of the Notion of praying always, ſee Note on 1 Theſſ. 5. 17. Here it ſignifies, not to pray oft every day, but to pray perſeveringly day after day, without giving off our ſuit; and then μὴ ἐκκακεῖν will be, not to faint under the Preſſures and Perſecutions they ſuffered, either from the perſecuting Jews, or others by their inſtigation; from which they are here ſuppoſed to pray for Deliverance, ver. 7. or not to deſpond under them: For ἐκκακεῖν is not ſo properly to be ſlothful, as malis ſuccumbere, animo concidere, malis cedere, to faint and deſpond, ſay the Lexicons; and this eſpecially when it relates as here, to Tribulations. So Eph. 3. 13. μὴ ἐκκακεῖν ἐν θλίψεσι is well rendred, not to faint under Tribulation; and, 2 Cor. 4. 16. οὐκ ἐκκακοῦμεν, we faint not under thoſe Afflictions which make the outward Man periſh, but continue ſtedfaſt in the Faith; ver. 1. We faint not; tho' we are troubled on every ſide, and perplexed, we deſpair not of Help from God, ver. 8. So Gal. 6. 9. μὴ ἐκκακεῖν, not to grow weary of well-doing, is μὴ ἐκλύεσθαι not to faint; which two things are put together in St. Paul's Injunction to the Chriſtian Sufferer, not to grow weary or faint in his Mind, Heb. 12. 3. And ſo 2 Theſſ. 3. 13. μὴ ἐκκακεῖν not to be weary of well-doing, being an Exhortation to them who received the Word with much Affliction, 1 Theſſ. 1. 6. and were in danger by them to fall from their ſtedfaſtneſs, chap. 3 2, 3, 5. may reaſonably be ſuppoſed to have the ſame import.

b Ver. 7. Ὁ δὲ Θεὸς μὴ ποιήσῃ τὴν ἐκδίκησιν τῶν ἐκλεκτῶν αὐτοῦ, καὶ μακροθυμῶν ἐπ' αὐτοῖς; And ſhall not God avenge his Elect that cry unto him day and night, tho' he bear long with them?] Here note,

1*ſt*, That the Elect in general, ſignifie all Chriſtians choſen out of the World thro' Faith in Chriſt, to be the Church and People of God? See Note on 1 Pet. 2. 9. When it relates particularly to the Jews, it ſignifies thoſe of them who believed in Chriſt, and upon that account are ſtiled the Election of Grace, and abſolutely the Election, Rom. 11. 5, 7. under which Character, St. Peter writes unto them, 1 Pet. 1. 1. See Note on Mat. 24. 22.

24. 22. and this seems to be the import of the word here: For μακροθυμῶν some Copies read μακροθυμεῖ· and so Interpreters read the whole by way of Interrogation, And will he be slack towards them? i. e. towards his Elect; and this well agrees with the following words, I tell you, he will avenge them speedily; and with the words ἐπ' αὐτοῖς, which have no other Substantive to refer to but the Elect; and with the like Passage, Eccluſ. 35. 17, 18, 19. The Prayer of the Humble, (or Afflicted,) pierceth the Clouds; and till it come nigh, he will not be comforted, and will not depart till the Moſt High ſhall behold to judge righteouſly, and execute Judgment. For the Lord will not be ſlack, οὐδὲ μὴ μακροθυμήσῃ ἐπ' αὐτοῖς neither will the Almighty be patient towards them, till he hath ſmitten aſunder the Loins of the Unmerciful, and repaid ἐκδίκησιν, Vengeance to the Heathen, ver. 19. till he hath judged the cauſe of his People, and made them rejoice in his Mercy.

Yet, becauſe the common Reading is μακροθυμῶν, and becauſe Sinners, and eſpecially the unbelieving Jews, are reckoned as the Objects of God's long Suffering, and not the Elect, as when St. Paul ſaith to them, Deſpiſeſt thou the Riches of his Goodneſs, Patience and long ſuffering? Rom. 2. 4. and as Perſons, God endured with much Long-ſuffering, chap. 9. 22. And St. Peter ſaith God was long-ſuffering towards them, not being willing they ſhould periſh, but ſhould all come to Repentance, 2 Pet. 3. 9. Others make the ſenſe run thus, Shall he who is thus long-ſuffering towards the worſt of Men, and the perſecutors of his People, be ſlack to avenge the Cauſe of his People whom he loves, and to whoſe Prayers his Ears are always open?

c Ver. 8. Πλὴν ὁ υἱὸς ἀνθρώπου ἐλθὼν ἆρα εὑρήσει τὴν πίστιν ἐπὶ τῆς γῆς; Nevertheleſs, when the Son of Man comes, ſhall he find Faith upon the Earth?] i. e. When the Son of Man comes to exerciſe this Vengeance on the Jewiſh Nation, how few ſhall he find in the Jewiſh Nation that will believe it? As for the unbelieving Jews, tho' Chriſt, and his Forerunner, had told them ſo frequently and plainly of their approaching Ruin; and tho' they had ſo many Signs of it, recorded in Joſephus, he tells us, they were ſtill expecting Deliverance from God: And they among them who believed and profeſſed the Chriſtian Faith, being preſſed with continual Sufferings, began to grow weary, and faint in their Minds, and to ask, where is the Promiſe of his coming? Yea, ſome of them began to forſake the Aſſemblies of the Saints, Heb 10. 25. and many of them became Apoſtates, and fell back to their old Judaiſm; ſo that all the Epiſtles directed to them, are manifeſtly deſigned to keep theem ſtedfaſt in the Faith. See the Preface to thoſe Epiſtles, and Note on 2 Theſſ. 2. 3.

CHAP. XIX.

1. AND Jeſus entred (into) and paſſed thro' Jericho.

2. And behold, there was a Man named Zacheus who was the chief among the Publicans, and he was rich:

3. And he ſought to ſee Jeſus, who (i. e. what kind of Man) he was; and could not for the Preſs, becauſe he was little of ſtature.

4. And he (therefore) ran before, and climbed up into a Sycamore Tree to ſee him, for he was to paſs that way.

5. And when Jeſus came to the place, he looked up, and ſaw him, and ſaid to him, Zacheus, make haſte, and come down, for to day I muſt abide at thy Houſe:

a 6. And he [a] made haſte, and came down and received him joyfully.

7. And when they (the Phariſees) ſaw it, they all murmured, ſaying, That he was gone to be Gueſt with a Man that is a Sinner; (thinking that matter of Defilement and Reproach to him, not conſidering the Deſign on which Chriſt came into the World.)

8. And Zacheus ſtood (up,) and ſaid to the Lord, Behold Lord (not the fifth part only, but) the b [b] half of my Goods I (now reſolve to) give to the Poor; and if I have taken any thing from any Man by falſe Accuſation (or Oppreſſion, See Note on Luke 3. 14.) I (will) reſtore him four fold, (i. e. beyond the rigor of the Law.)

9. And Jeſus ſaid to him, This Day is Salvation come to this Houſe, (Zacheus having done like a true Convert,) for as much

c as he alſo is the [c] Son of Abraham, (i. e. a Jew.)

10. And this is ſuitable to the deſign of my coming, and juſtifies my eating and converſing with him;) For the Son of Man is come to ſeek (after,) and to ſave that which was loſt.

11. And as they heard theſe things, he added, and ſpake a Parable, becauſe he was nigh to Jeruſalem, (which ſhortly was to be the Scene of Miſery, ver. 41, 42.) and becauſe they thought that the Kingdom of God (or of the Meſſiah,) ſhould immediately appear.

12. He ſaid therefore, (the Kingdom of God

d is like to) a [d] certain Noble Man, (who) went into a far Country to receive for himſelf a Kingdom, and to return; (and thus ſhall I go to Heaven, and be inſtalled in my mediatory Kingdom, and then return to execute the ſevereſt Judgments on this Nation, for their Non-proficiency.)

13. And he called his Ten Servants, and delivered to them Ten pounds and ſaid to them, Occupy till I come, (i. e. improve them till I come and take an account of your Proficiency.)

14. But his Citizens (the Jews) hated him, and ſent a Meſſenger after him, (diſclaiming and rejecting his Authority, and) ſaying, We will not have this Man to reign over us.

15. And it came to paſs that when he was returned, having received the Kingdom, then he commanded theſe Servants to be called to him to whom he had given the Mony, that he might know how much every Man had gained by trading:

16. Then came the firſt, ſaying, Lord, thy Pound hath gained Ten pound.

17. And he ſaid to him, Well (done) thou good Servant, becauſe thou haſt been faithful in a very little, have thou Authority over ten Cities, (i. e. be thy Reward proportionable to the increaſe of thy Talent.)

18. And the ſecond came, ſaying, Lord, thy Pound hath gained Five pounds:

19. And he ſaid likewiſe to him, Be thou alſo over five Cities; (i. e. be thy Reward anſwerable to the improvement of thy Talent.)

20. And another came, ſaying, Lord behold, here is thy Pound which I have kept laid up in a Napkin, (making no uſe of it;)

21. For I feared thee, becauſe (I judged) thou art an auſtere Man; thou takeſt up what thou laidſt not down, and reapeſt that thou didſt not ſow, (requiring an increaſe far exceeding what thou gaveſt.)

22. And he ſaith to him, Out of thine own Mouth will I judge (and condemn) thee thou wicked Servant; (for) thou (owneſt that thou) kneweſt, that I was an auſtere Man, taking up that I laid not down, and reaping what I did not ſow.

23. Wherefore then gaveſt not thou my Mony to the Bank, (i. e. didſt not thou improve my Talent,) that at my coming (back) I might have required, (and received) my own with uſury (or improvement?)

24. And he ſaid to them that ſtood by Take from him the Pound, and give it to him that hath Ten pounds.

25. And they ſaid to him, Lord, he hath Ten pounds; (but he anſwered, Therefore I give him more.)

26. For I ſay to you, That to every one that (improveth what he) hath, ſhall be given (more;) and from him that hath not, (ſo as to improve it,) even that he hath ſhall be taken away from him.

27. But

27. But thoſe mine Enemies (of the Jewiſh Nation,) that would not I ſhould reign over them, bring hither, and ſlay them before me.

28. And when he had thus ſpoken, he went before (his Diſciples,) aſcending up to Jeruſalem.

29. And it came to paſs, when he was come nigh to Bethpage and Bethany, at the Mount called the Mount of Olives, he ſent two of his Diſciples,

30. Saying, Go ye into the Village over againſt you, in which at your Entring, you ſhall find a Colt tied, whereon yet never Man ſat; looſe him, and bring him hither:

31. And if any Man ask you, Why do ye looſe him? Thus ye ſhall ſay to him, (We do it) becauſe the Lord hath need of him.

32. And they that were ſent, went their way, and found (all things) even as he ſaid to them.

33. And as they were looſing the Colt, the Owners thereof ſaid to them, Why looſe ye the Colt?

34. And they ſaid, The Lord hath need of him; (and then they let them go with him.)

35. And they brought him to Jeſus; and they caſt their Garments on the Colt, and they ſet Jeſus thereon.

36. And as he went, they (the Multitude) ſpread their Cloaths in the way, (as at the triumphant Entrance of a Prince.)

37. And when he was come nigh (to Jeruſalem, being) even at the deſcent of the Mount of Olives, the whole Multitude of the Diſciples began to rejoice, and to praiſe God with a loud Voice, for all the mighty Works which they had ſeen (done by Chriſt,)

38. Saying, Bleſſed be he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, (may) Peace (be procured by him to us) in Heaven, and Glory (to God who lives) in the higheſt (Places.)

39. And ſome of the Phariſees from among the Multitude, ſaid to him, Maſter, rebuke thy Diſciples (for theſe Acclamations.)

40. And he anſwered, and ſaid to them, I tell you, that if theſe (my Diſciples) ſhould hold their peace, the [e] Stones would immediately cry out; (i. e. my Kingdom would be proclaimed by far more unlikely means.) e

41. And when he was come near, he beheld the City, and [f] wept over it, f

42. Saying, (happy had it been for thee) [g] if thou hadſt known, even thou, at leaſt in this thy day (of Viſitation, Luke 1. 68.) the things which belong to thy Peace, (and welfare,) but now (through thy Infidelity) they are hid from thine Eyes. g

43. For the days ſhall (ſhortly) come upon thee, that thine Enemies ſhall [h] caſt a trench about thee, and compaſs thee round, and keep thee in on every ſide. h

44. And ſhall lay thee [i] even with the Ground, and thy Children within thee; and they ſhall not leave in thee one Stone upon another, becauſe thou kneweſt not, (i. e. didſt not improve aright, to Faith, and Repentance,) the time of thy Viſitation; i

45 And he went into the Temple, and began to caſt out them that ſold therein, and them that bought,

46. Saying to them, It is written, (Iſa. 56. 7.) my Houſe (ſhall be called, or) is the Houſe of Prayer, but ye have made it (by your fraudulent, covetous Dealings, and Extortions,) a Den of Thieves.

47. And he taught daily in the Temple; but the Chief Prieſts, and Scribes, and Chief of the People ſought to deſtroy him;

48. And could not find what they might (ſafely) do, (becauſe of the Multitude; for all the People were very attentive to hear him.

a Ver. 6. Καὶ ἀποδύσας καλῶς, καὶ ὑποδέξαλο αὐτὸν χαίρων, and he made haſt, and came down, and received him joyfully.] By this Joy, and by his Diligence to ſee him, he ſhewed what an high eſteem he had for that holy Jeſus, whom the Scribes and Phariſees deſpiſed.

b Ver. 8. Ἰδὺ τὰ ἡμίσια τῶν ὑπαρχόντων μου, Κύριε, δίδωμι τοῖς πτωχοῖς, Behold, Lord, the half of my Goods I give to the Poor, and if I have wronged any Man I reſtore him four fold.] By two things Zacheus ſhews the Sincerity of his Reformation, and Converſion; (1.) That he is ready to repair any Injury that he had done to any Man by Oppreſſion, or falſe Accuſation; which is the proper import of the word συκοφαντέω, not only by adding a fifth part, as the Law required in caſe of Theft, when what was purloined was voluntarily reſtored, Numb. 5. 7. nor by reſtoring double, as the Treſpaſſer was to do by Law, when that which was taken away was found in his Hands, Exod. 22. 4. but by reſtoring for Money and Goods, what the Rigour of the Law required only in the caſe of an Ox or Sheep killed after it was ſtollen, Exod. 22. 1. i. e. fourfold; doing not only what Juſtice required for Compenſation of the Injury; for no Man can be righteous till he, if he be able, hath ſatisfied for the Injury done to his Brother, but inflicting on himſelf this Surpluſage by way of Penalty for his Sin; and as a Teſtimony of his great Diſpleaſure againſt himſelf for committing it. And, (2.) Whereas the Law and Tradition of the Jews required only that a fifth

c Ver. 9. This day is Salvation come to this House, forasmuch as he also is ὑὸς Ἀβραάμ, A Son of Abraham;] Not only by Faith, of which Sonship the Jews, to whom Christ spake, had then no notion, but by Birth, for the Pharisees do not murmur against Christ that he did eat with one uncircumcised, but that he did it with a Sinner; it would also have been no indication to the Jews, that he was a Son of Abraham, that he believed in Christ, and lastly his respect to the Law of Moses, in making Restitution, shews he was no Stranger to that Law. Moreover, tho' the Phrase, Salvation is come unto this House, doth not necessarily argue that his whole Family believed, and the pronoun ipse, and the reason here assign'd, seem personally to respect Zacheus, the Master of the House, yet is it piously observed that Christ here promiseth Salvation to the House, because it was the Duty, and usually the Practice of the Master of the Family, to reduce his whole House to the Faith he had embraced; as in the Case of the Centurion, Acts 10. 2. of Lydia, Acts 16. 14, 15. of the Jaylor, ver. 33. 34. of Crispus the Ruler of a Synagogue, Acts 18. 8. and of the Nobleman, John 4. 46, 53.

d Ver. 12. Ἄνθρωπός τις εὐγενὴς ἐπορεύθη εἰς χώραν μακρὰν, λαβεῖν ἑαυτῷ βασιλείαν, καὶ ὑποστρέψαι, A certain Nobleman went into a far Country to receive a Kingdom, and to return.] Here observe,

2*dly*, That the Parable here, as it respects our Lord Christ going into a far Country to receive a Kingdom, and return, either respects his going to Heaven to sit down at the right Hand of God in Majesty and Glory, and so take Possession of his mediatory Kingdom, and then return to punish the Unbelieving and obdurate Jews; or going by his Apostles and Disciples to erect a Kingdom among the Gentiles, and then coming as it were back to punish the Jews, according to these words of his, the Gospel of the Kingdom shall be preached throughout the World for a Testimony to all Nations, and then shall the end (of the Jewish Polity) come, Mat. 24. 14. Note,

3*dly*, That this Parable doth certainly respect the Jewish Nation; as appears, (1.) Because they are here said to reject Christ's Kingdom, saying, we will not have this Man to reign over us; and upon this account are stiled his Enemies, and devoted to Destruction by him, which agrees still only to the Jews, ver. 27. (2.) To them is threatned the Punishment of the unprofitable Servants, to wit, to be cast out into outer Darkness, &c. Matth. 8. 12.—22. 13. Luke 13. 28. Matth. 25. 30. In fine, it is expresly said, he therefore spake this Parable to them, because they thought the Kingdom of God should immediately appear, ver. 11, 12.

4*thly*, The only Difficulty remaining is, how to apply the Pounds here, and the Talents mentioned Matth. 25. to any of the Jews; but this seeming Difficulty is removed by a careful Observation of the Words, which shew they were distributed not to his Citizens, but τοῖς ἰδίοις δούλοις, to his own proper Servants, Matth. 25. 14. to his Servants, ver. 13. i.e. to his Apostles, five; and to the Seventy Disciples, or those who had received lesser spiritual Gifts, two Talents; to the Jews, who are also stiled his own, John 1. 14. only one Talent; (viz. the Law and the Prophets, promising to them the Messiah, and pointing out his Advent, and his Characters to them,) which they might, and ought to have employed, so as to have believed, and fitted themselves to receive, and to improve the Gifts of the Holy Ghost, as others did.

5*thly*, Observe, that as the dreadful Destruction of the unbelieving Jews was an Emblem of the last Judgment, so Christ's reckoning with them, is a Representation of that reckoning he will make with all Men, at the Great Day, for all the Talents they have respectively received, and with respect to that, this Lord is said, Matth. 25. 19. to come μετὰ χρόνον πολύν, after a long time.

Ver. 25. See Additions, No. 23. (23)

Ver. 40. Οἱ λίθοι κεκράξουσι]; If these hold their Peace, the Stones will cry out.] This is a proverbial Expression, signifying, that if these Followers of Christ should hold their Peace, some more unlikely way should be found out for the proclaiming the Messiah, even by those who are reckoned the most stupid, and insensate People, as by you the Gentiles are. So lapidi loqueris, thou speakest to one who hath little Sense to hear, or understand, lapis being metaphorically put for a stupid, and brutish Person; so when f Ver. 41. Καὶ ἔκλαυσεν ἐπ' αὐτῇ, And he wept over it.] I hope (b) Epiphanius may be mistaken when he tells us, these words, and the like in John 11. 35. were blotted out, as being denied to be in the most correct Copies; for it is certain, and confessed by him, that they were to be found in (c) Irenæus, and in (d) Origen twice, who saith, our Lord wept εὐλογῶς with good reason over Jerusalem. For he did it out of a profound Charity, and deep Commiseration of the Evils coming upon Jerusalem; in both which Virtues he came to be an Example to us, and therefore could do nothing in it unworthy of himself.

g Ver. 42. Λέγων, ὅτι εἰ ἔγνως καὶ σὺ, Saying, (happy hadst thou been) if thou hadst known in this thy day, the things which belong to thy peace, &c.] Here the Criticks note that εἰ often signifies utinam, and so the words will contain an ardent wish, that the People of Jerusalem had been thus wise, conceived after this manner, Oh that thou hadst known! but tho' this be true, See Note on Luke 12. 40. yet the particle ὅτι that, makes it not applicable to this place, and therefore I think it better to supply the deficient sense, by the Words contained in the Parenthesis. Here then observe, (1.) That Christ here plainly shews, and takes it for granted, that the People of Jerusalem, in this day of their Visitation by the Messias, might have savingly known the things belonging to their Peace, since otherwise our Saviour's Tears may rather have been looked upon as the Tears of Crocodiles, than of Charity, and true Commiseration; and either his Assertion, that they might have been happy, would have been contrary to Truth; or his Wish, that they had thus known the things belonging to their peace, contrary to his Father's Will and Decree; both which are palpably absurd: And seeing the Will of Christ was always the same with that of his Father, it follows also that God the Father had the same charitable Affection to them, and so had laid no bar against their Happiness by his Decrees, nor been wanting in any thing on his part, necessary towards their everlasting Welfare; See the Note on Matth. 23. 37.

Ver. 43. The days shall come upon thee, that h thine Enemies shall cast a Trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keep thee in on every side.] How exactly this was done we learn from Josephus, saying, that (e) when Vespasian besieged Jerusalem, his Army compassed the City round about, and kept them in on every side, and tho' 'twas judged a great, and almost impracticable work to compass the whole City with a Wall; yet Titus animating his Soldiers to attempt it, they in three days built a Wall of thirty nine Furlongs, having thirteen Castles in it, and so cut off all hopes, that any of the Jews within the City should escape.

Ver. 44. And shall lay thee even with the i Ground, — and they shall not leave in thee one Stone upon another.] How this also was exactly done Josephus teacheth, by saying, that (f) Titus having commanded his Soldiers to dig up the City, this was so fully done by levelling the whole Compass of it except three Towers, that they who came to see it, were persuaded it never would be built again.

2. And ſpake to him ſaying, Tell us, by what Authority doſt thou theſe things, (which only Prophets, and Perſons allowed, and approved by Authority, ſhould do?) and who is he that gave thee this Authority?

3. And he anſwered, and ſaid to them, I will alſo ask you one thing; and (if you) anſwer me, (you may thence know by what Authority I do theſe things:)

4. The Baptiſm of John, was it from (the God of) Heaven, or of Men (only?)

5. And they reaſoned with themſelves, ſaying, If we ſhall ſay (it was) from Heaven, he will ſay, Why then believed ye him not, (when he teſtified that I was the Chriſt?)

6. But if we ſay of Men, all the People will (be ready to) ſtone us; for they be perſuaded that John was a Prophet;

7. And they anſwered, that they could not tell whence it was:

8. And Jeſus ſaid to them, Neither tell I you by what Authority I do theſe things.

9. Then began he to ſpeak to the People this Parable; A certain Man planted a Vineyard, and let forth to Husbandmen, (the Jewiſh Doctors,) and went into a far Country for a long time; (i. e. left them a long time to manage, and to make it fruitful.)

10. And at the Seaſon he ſent a Servant to the Husbandmen, (requeſting) that they ſhould give him of the Fruit of the Vineyard; but the Husbandmen, (the Guides and Rulers of the Jewiſh Church,) beat him, and ſent him away empty;

11. And again he ſent another Servant, and they beat him alſo, and entreated him ſhamefully, and ſent him away empty;

12. And again he ſent the (a) third, and they wounded him alſo, and caſt him out, (killing God's Prophets, and ſtoning them that were ſent to them, Chap. 13. 34. 2 Chron. 36. 15, 16.)

13. Then ſaid the Lord of the Vineyard, what ſhall I do? I will ſend my beloved Son, it may be they will reverence him when they ſee him.

14. But when the Husbandmen ſaw him, they reaſoned among themſelves, ſaying, this is the Heir, come let us kill him, that the Inheritance may be ours;

15. So they (the Jews,) caſt him out of the Vineyard, and killed him, (Chriſt the Son of God;) what therefore ſhall the Lord of the Vineyard do to them?

16. He ſhall come, and deſtroy theſe Husbandmen, and ſhall give the Vineyard to a others; and [a] when they (the Phariſees) heard it, they ſaid, God forbid (that this ſhould happen to us.)

17. And he beheld them, and ſaid, (if this will not be ſo,) What is then (the import of) this that is written, (Pſal. 118. 22.) The Stone which the Builders rejected, the ſame is become the Head of the Corner? (Now you are theſe Builders, and I, whom you reject, am that chief corner Stone.)

18. (And) Whoſoever ſhall fall upon (or ſtumble at) that Stone, ſhall be broken, (i. e. ſhall do it to his Ruin;) but on whomſoever it ſhall fall, (as it will moſt ſeverely on you of this Nation,) it will grind him to Powder; (i. e. ſubject him to the heavieſt Judgements, both here and hereafter; for they who through Weakneſs, or the Prejudices of their Education, or Reverence to their Guides, ſhall ſtumble at this Stone, and not believe, ſhall be hereafter puniſhed, yet with much fewer Stripes than thoſe Jewiſh Doctors, who obſtinately, and againſt full conviction hated, and rejected the Meſſiah, and would not he ſhould reign over them, cap. 14.)

19. And the Chief Prieſts, and the Scribes the ſame hour ſought to lay hands on him, and (but) they feared the People, for they perceived that he ſpake this Parable againſt them, (repreſenting them as the Perſons who would thus treat the Son of God, and ſhould thus ſuffer by him for ſo doing.)

20. And they watched him, and ſent forth Spies, which ſhould feign themſelves juſt Men, that they might take hold of (i. e. advantage againſt him from) his words, that ſo they [b] might deliver him (up) to the Power, and Authority of the Governour.

21. And they asked him, ſaying, Maſter, we know that thou ſayeſt, and teacheſt rightly, neither acceptеſt thou the Perſon of any, but teacheſt the way of God truly, (without Favour to, or fear of any, tho' the greateſt in Power and Dignity; we therefore enquire of thee,)

22. Is it lawful for us (Jews) to give Tribute to Cæſar, or no?

23. But he perceived their Craftineſs, (in deſigning from his Anſwer to repreſent him to the Governours, as an Enemy to Cæſar, Chap. 23. 2. or to the People, as an Enemy to their Liberty,) and (therefore) ſaid to them, Why tempt ye me?

24. Shew me a (Roman) Penny, (and tell me) whoſe Image and Superſcription hath it? they anſwered, and ſaid, (it is) Cæſar's (Image that is ſtampt upon it.)

25. And he ſaid to them, (this by your own Rules is an Evidence that Cæſar's Government hath obtained among you,) Render therefore to Cæſar the things which are Cæſar's, (the Tribute due to him as your Governour under God,) and to God the things that are God's; (i. e. the Tribute due to his Temple.)

26. And (when he had thus ſaid,) they could not take hold of his Words before the People, and they marvelled at (the Wiſdom of) his Anſwer, and held their Peace.

27. Then

27. Then came to him certain of the Sadducees, who deny that there is (to be) any Resurrection (of the Body,) and they asked him,

28. Saying, Master, Moses wrote to us, if any Man's Brother die, having a Wife, and he die without Children, that his Brother should take his Wife, and raise up seed to his Brother:

29. There were therefore (with us) seven Brethren, and the first (of them) took a Wife, and died without Children,

30. And the second took her to Wife, and he (also) died Childless;

31. And the third took her, and in like manner (the residue of) the seven also, and they left no Children, and died;

32. Last of all the Woman died also;

33. Therefore in the Resurrection (of the Body from the Dead, Mark 12. 23.) whose Wife of them is she (to be?) for seven had her to Wife:

34. And Jesus answering, said to them, (this Question proceeds from a gross Ignorance of the future state, for,) the Children of this World (only) marry, and are given in Marriage;

35. But they that shall be counted worthy to obtain that World (which is to come,) and (attain to) the Resurrection from the Dead, neither marry, nor are given in Marriage;

36. Neither can they die any more; for they are (as to duration) equal to the Angels, and are [c] Children of God, (who are to live with him for ever, John 8. 35.) being the Children of the Resurrection;

37. Now that the Dead are (to be) raised, even Moses shewed at the Bush, when he (i. e. God) calleth (to him, saying I am) the Lord, the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob, (long after they were dead.)

38. For he is not a God of the Dead (i. e. of them who are so dead, as not to be the Sons of the Resurrection,) but of the Living; (i. e. of them whose Bodies shall live again,) [d] for all live unto him.

39. Then certain of the Scribes answering, said, Master, thou hast well said, (in relation to the Sadducees.)

40. And after that, they durst not ask him any Questions at all.

41. And he saith to them, How say they (of the Scribes,) that Christ is David's Son?

42. And (when) David himself saith in the Book of Psalms, the Lord said to my Lord, sit thou on my right Hand,

43. Till I make thine Enemies thy Foot-stool, (by subduing them, and putting them under thy Feet, 1 Cor. 15. 25.)

44. David therefore (in these Words) calleth him Lord, how is he then his Son?

45. Then in the Audience of all the People, he said to his Disciples,

46. Beware of the Scribes, which [e] desire (affect) to walk in long Robes, and love Greetings in the Markets, and the highest Seats in the Synagogues, and the chief Rooms at Feasts;

47. Which devour Widows Houses, and for a shew (of Devotion) make long Prayers the same shall receive greater Damnation (for their Hypocrisie.)

a Ver. 16. Ἀκούσαντες δὲ εἶπον, μὴ γένοιτο, And when they heard it, they said, God forbid.] In Matthew, chap. 21. 41. and in Mark 12. 9. Christ enquires of them, what the Lord of the Vineyard will do to these Husband-men? And they answer, He will destroy them, and let out his Vineyard to other Husband men: Here Christ himself declares, what the Lord of the Vineyard will do to those Husband men; and they seem to say, God forbid that he should do so. Now this seeming Contrariety is by some solved thus, That the Pharisees do not by these Words deny, that the Lord of the Vineyard would destroy those Husband-men; but knowing, that the Parable was spoken against them, they say, μὴ γένοιτο, far be it from us Husband-men, to do a work so worthy of this Punishment; and this sense Christ's Reply seems to require, viz. τί οὖν ἐστι τὸ γεγραμμένον, i. e. If the Priests and Pharisees will not do this, what means that which is written? what means that Saying of the Psalmist? which even you Jews interpret of the Messiah, The Stone which the Builders refused, is become the Head-stone of (in) the Corner, Psal. 118. 22. To strengthen this Interpretation, let it be considered, that our Lord spake this Parable against them, Matth. 21. 45. Mark 12. 12. They therefore deny what they understood, that they should destroy the Son of the Lord of the Vineyard, i. e. the Messiah, as not believing Christ to be the Messiah, but an Impostor; but they deny not, that they who should do this, were worthy of this Punishment: Or, (2.) Because St. Luke peculiarly notes, ver. 9. that this Parable was spoken to the People, this may be their Answer, Far be it from our Rulers to do so vile a Thing as may bring down this Judgment on us, whilſt the Rulers and Phariſees, who thought themſelves far from being ſuch Husband-men as they knew Chriſt ſuggeſted they would be, ſtick not to ſay ſuch Husband-men deſerve indeed to be deſtroyed, as thinking they ſhould never be concerned in their Ruin.

Either of theſe Solutions I like better than that of Mr. le Cl. who will have theſe Words in the beginning of this Verſe, (He will come and will deſtroy theſe Husband-men, and let out his Vineyard to others,) to be the Words not of Chriſt, but of the Sanhedrim; and yet will have the Words immediately following in the ſame Verſe, (ἀκούσαντες δὲ εἶπον μὴ γένοιτο, and underſtanding, they ſaid (within themſelves) God forbid,) to be alſo the Words of the ſame Sanhedrim. For could they, underſtanding that theſe Words were ſpoken againſt them, firſt give this ſevere Sentence againſt themſelves, and then in the ſame Breath contradict themſelves? And, 2dly, Why muſt εἶπον be rendred they ſaid within themſelves, and not in the hearing of Chriſt, who, when they had ſaid this, looks upon them, and enquires of them, What then is it which is written? ver. 17.

b Ver. 20. Εἰς τὸ παραδοῦναι αὐτὸν τῇ ἀρχῇ, καὶ τῇ ἐξουσίᾳ τοῦ ἡγεμόνος, To deliver him up to the Power and Authority of the Governour:] And therefore they put to him the Queſtion about paying Tribute to Cæſar, hoping, that by denying it to be due to him from the Jews, they might accuſe him as an Enemy to Cæſar; for they knew that his Deciſion of Queſtions, relating only to their Law and Controverſies would not offend thoſe Gallios.

c Ver. 36. Καὶ υἱοὶ εἰσι θεῷ τῆς ἀναστάσεως υἱοὶ ὄντες, And being Sons of the Reſurrection, are the Sons of God.] For this υἱοθεσία Sonſhip, imports the Redemption of the Body from Corruption, Rom. 8. 23. and they that are Sons, are Heirs of God, joint Heirs with Chriſt, and to be glorified with him, ver. 17. See the Note there; and the Strength of Chriſt's Argument depending on this Notion, Note on Matth. 22. 31, 32. Jamblicus very likely from hence makes it the Reward of good Souls going out of the Body, to be converted εἰς Ἀγγέλους καὶ ἀγγελικὰς ψυχὰς into Angels, and Angelick Souls, apud Stob. Ecl. Phyſ. p. 144.

d Ver. 38. Πάντες γὰρ αὐτῷ ζῶσιν, For all live to him.] Woltzogenius interprets theſe Words thus, They live in reſpect of God's Power and Decree, that they ſhall live again; and hence he argues, that the Souls of good Men live not after Death till the Reſurrection; for, ſaith he, Chriſt argues thus, If Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, were not to live again, God, who ſtiles himſelf their God, would be the God of the Dead; whereas, if their Souls lived, and enjoyed a ſtate of Happineſs, God would not be the God of the Dead, tho' they never roſe again. To this I anſwer, Anſw. 1. Firſt, That when 'tis ſaid, God is not the God of the Dead, the meaning is, He is not the God of them who are to abide in a ſtate of Death, and never to enjoy the Reſurrection of the Juſt; i. e. he owns not them for his, who are not to be the Sons of the Reſurrection, ver. 36. and will not be called their God, as having not prepared for them an heavenly City, Heb. 11. 16. Hence doth the Scripture ſay of them, That they are paſſed from Death unto Life, John 5. 24. and that they ſhall not die, becauſe Chriſt will raiſe them up at the laſt Day, John 6. 50. And in the Opinion of the Jews, they only ſeem to die in the Eyes of Fools, becauſe their Hope is full of Immortality, Wiſd. 3. 2, 3, 4. and they proverbially ſay, the Juſt live when they are dead; and in this ſenſe, Abraham, and Iſaac, and Jacob, would not live to God tho' their Souls lived with him, unleſs their Bodies alſo roſe again.

Anſw. 2. Secondly, God here ſtiles himſelf the God of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, i. e. not of their Souls only, but of their Perſons; in which ſenſe, the Jews always underſtood theſe Words; now thus he would be the God of the Dead, tho' their Souls lived, unleſs their Bodies alſo roſe again.

Ver. 46. Θελόντων περιπατεῖν ἐν στολαῖς, Affecting to walk in long Garments,] down to their Ancles, or to their Feet, that no part of their Bodies might be ſeen; for this, ſays Dr. Lightfoot upon the Place, was the Talith that the Diſciples of the Wiſe Men wore. Good here is the Obſervation of Mr. le Clerc from Pope Celeſtine, touching the Clergy, that they are to be diſcerned à plebe vel cæteris, doctrinâ, non veſte; converſatione, non habitu; mentis puritate, non cultu; not ſo much by their Apparel, as by their Learning; not only by their Habit, but their Converſation; not by the Adornment of their Body, but by Purity of Mind.

CHAP. XXI.

1. AND he looked up, and saw the rich Men casting their Gifts into the Treasury:

2. And he saw also a certain poor Widow casting in thither two Mites:

3. And he said, Of a truth I say to you, that this poor Widow hath cast in more than they all.

4. For all these have of their Abundance cast in unto [a] the Offerings of God, (i.e. the Treasure designed for the use of his Temple;) but she of her Penury hath cast in all the Living that she had, (i.e. all that she had to live upon that Day.)

5. And as some spake of the Temple, (shewing) how it was adorned with goodly Stones, and Gifts, he said,

6. [b] As for these things which ye behold, the Days will come in which there will not be left one Stone upon another, which shall not be thrown down (from its place.)

7. And they asked him, saying, Master, (thou speakest dreadful things of this place,) but (tell us) when shall these things be? and what Sign will there be (to inform Men,) when these things shall come to pass? (We hope thou only speakest of the Desolation which shall over-turn all things at the end of this World.)

8. And he said, Take heed that ye (of this Age) be not deceived; for (after my departure,) many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and the time (of your Redemption) draweth near, (but must be all false Christs;) go ye not therefore after them.

9. But (and) when ye shall hear of Wars, and Commotions, be not terrified; for these things must first come to pass, but the end (of the Polity and Temple of the Jews) is not by and by.

10. Then said he to them, Nation shall rise against Nation, and Kingdom against Kingdom.

11. And great Earthquakes shall be in divers Places, and Famines, and Pestilences, and fearful Sights, and great Signs (of approaching Judgments) shall there be from Heaven.

12. But before all these (things,) they shall lay their Hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the Synagogues, and (casting you) into Prisons, (you) being brought before Kings and Rulers for my Name's sake.

13. And it shall turn to you for a Testimony (of my Presence with you; they being not able to resist the Wisdom of your Doctrine, ver. 15. or gain-say the Miracles by which you do confirm it.)

14. Settle it therefore in your Hearts not to meditate before what ye shall answer (to their Enquiries and Accusations;)

15. For I will give you (in that hour, Mark 13. 11.) a Mouth (full of such Power,) and Wisdom, which all your Adversaries shall not be able to gainsay or resist (Acts 6. 10.)

16. And (thro' the Persecutions which shall then be great, and the Apostates which shall then be many, Mat. 24. 10,—13.) ye shall be betrayed both by Parents, and Brethren, and Kinsfolks, and Friends, and some of you they shall cause to be put to Death:

17. And ye shall be hated of all (sorts of) Men for my Name's sake.

18. But (notwithstanding, if ye continue faithful to the end, Matth. 24. 13.) there shall not [c] one Hair of your Head Perish; (i.e. you shall not perish in that Destruction which shall then come upon the unbelieving Jews.)

19. In your Patience possess ye your Souls, (ἐν τῇ ὑπομονῇ ὑμῶν κτήσασθε τὰς ψυχὰς ὑμῶν, you shall have your Lives preserved as the reward of your Christian Patience.)

20. And when ye shall see Jerusalem compassed with (the Roman) Armies, then know that the Desolation thereof is nigh.

21. (And) then let them that are in Judea, flee to the Mountains (of Peræa,) and let them that are in the midst of it depart out (of Judæa,) and let not them that are in the Countries enter thereinto.

22. For these be the Days of Vengeance (upon Judæa,) that all things which are written may be fulfilled (upon them.)

23. But wo to them that are with Child, and to them that give suck in those Days, (and so are not in a Condition thus to flee;) for there shall (then) be great Distress in the Land, and Wrath upon his People.

24. And they shall (many of them) fall by the Edge of the Sword, and (many of them) shall be led away [d] captive into all Nations, and [e] Jerusalem shall be trodden down of (or trodden by) the Gentiles, till the times of the Gentiles be fulfilled; (i.e. till the glorious Conversion of the Gentiles at the coming in of the Jews, who shall then also be gathered to their own City and Country.)

25. And there shall be Signs in the Sun, and in the Moon, and in the Stars, (i.e. in the Heavens where they move,) and upon the Earth distress of Nations, with perplexity, [f] the Sea and the Waves roaring. (See the Note.)

26. Mens Hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after these Things that are coming on the (habitable) Earth; for the Powers of Heaven, (the Eccleſiaſtical and Civil Government,) ſhall be ſhaken.

27. And then ſhall they ſee the Son of Man coming in a Cloud, (or as upon a Cloud,) with Power and great Glory.

28. And when theſe things begin to come to paſs, then look up, and lift up your Heads, for your Redemption (from your Troubles) draweth nigh.

29. And he ſpake to them a Parable (to this effect,) Behold the Fig-tree, and all the (other) Trees.

30. When they now ſhoot forth (their Leaves and Branches,) ye ſee, and know of your own ſelves, that Summer is now nigh at hand.

31. So likewiſe ye, when ye ſee theſe things come to paſs, know ye that the Kingdom of God, (or the coming of Chriſt, as a King, to execute his Vengeance on his diſobedient Subjects of the Jewiſh Nation,) is (alſo) nigh at hand.

32. Verily I ſay to you (the Men of) this Generation ſhall not paſs away till all (that I have ſpoken) be fulfilled.

33. Heaven and Earth ſhall paſs away, but my Words ſhall not paſs away (unperformed.)

34. And [g] take heed of your ſelves, leſt at any time your Hearts be (overcharged with Surfeiting and Drunkenneſs, and (with the) Cares of this Life, (which will unfit, and indiſpoſe you for your Flight, or your care to avoid theſe things,) and ſo that Day (will) come upon you unawares. g

35. For as a Snare ſhall it come on all them that dwell on the Face of the whole Earth, (or Land of Judæa,)

36. Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be counted worthy to eſcape all theſe things which ſhall come to paſs, and to ſtand before the Son of Man, (thus coming to avenge himſelf on that Nation.) c

37. And in the day-time he was teaching in the Temple, and at night he went out, and abode in the Mount, that is called the Mount of Olives.

38. And all the People came early in the Morning to him, (being) in the Temple, to hear him.

Καὶ αἰχμαλωτισθήσονται εἰς τὰ ἔθνη, And shall be carried captive into all Nations.] Accordingly Josephus informs us that the number of those who were taken Captives by the Romans during the War, was (d) ἐννέα μυριάδες καὶ ἑπτακόσιοι, ninety and seven thousands, of which some of the fairest, and tallest, Titus reserved for his Triumph; of the rest, that were above seventeen Years old, he sent some to Egypt to work in the Mines, πλείστους δ' εἰς τὰς ἐπαρχίας διεσπάρησαν, most of them he dispersed through the Roman Provinces, to be destroyed in their Theatres, by the Sword and wild Beasts; but they that were under seventeen Years of Age ἐπράθησαν, were sold.

e Ibid. Καὶ Ἰερουσαλὴμ ἔσται πατουμένη ὑπὸ ἐθνῶν ἄχρι πληρωθῶσι καιροὶ ἐθνῶν, And Jerusalem shall be trodden down of the Gentiles, till the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.] That is, say some Interpreters, till the full Number of the Gentiles, which God shall call, be compleated: This, I confess, is a very ancient Interpretation of these words, but it is contrary to the express word of the Apostle Paul, who declares, that at the Conversion of the Jews, there shall be a greater and more glorious Conversion of the Gentiles, than that which happened at the Fall of them; that their Fulness should be much more the Riches of the Gentiles than their Fall was, Rom. 11. 12, 13. and that their coming in should be to the Gentiles as Life from the Dead, and should much more enrich them, than their casting off, ver. 15. I therefore do interpret these words thus, Jerusalem shall be inhabited, not by the Jews, but by the Gentiles ruling there, till the season for the full Conversion of the still Heathen Gentiles shall come in, i. e. till the time of the Conversion of the Jews, and the flowing in of all Nations to them. See this Exposition confirmed in the Appendix to the 11th Chapter to the Romans, p. 76, 77. and Dr. Hammond's Sense of the words confuted, p. 73, 74. See here examen Milii. See Additions N°. 25.

f Ver. 25. Ἠχέσης θαλάσσης καὶ σάλου, The Sea, and the Waves roaring.] To this I would refer those Words of Josephus, at that time ἀμήχανος ἐκρήγνυται χείμων, an immense Storm of the Sea brake out, and violent Winds with most vehement Showers, and terrible Lightnings, and Thunders, and mighty Roarings of the shaken Earth, de bello Jud l. 4. c. 17. p. 881. or rather to that violent Storm called Malemboreas, which happened to the Jews at Joppa, got in Boats to the Sea, in which their Boats perished with a violent noise, the People howling, and the Waves roaring at the same time, of which Josephus gives a very tragical Description, de bello Jud. l. 3. c. 29. p. 855.

g Ver. 34, 35, 36. Προσέχετε δὲ ἑαυτοῖς, But take heed to your selves, &c.] Here our Saviour calls upon the believing Christians, to take Care, and use the greatest Vigilance that they do not miscarry in this dreadful Season, by reason of that Excess and Luxury which may render them unmindful of it, or those Cares which may render them unwilling to part with their temporal Concerns, lest they should be involved in that Ruin which would come on others, as a Snare suddenly, and unexpectedly; and that they should add to this Vigilance, constant Prayer to God that they might be found worthy to escape these tremendous Judgments, and might stand safely and boldly, before the Son of Man, when he comes to execute them on the unbelieving Jews. Whence note,

1*st*, That God's Promise of a Deliverance to the Christians then, was only conditional, provided that they took care to avoid those Sins which might render them obnoxious to these Judgments, and to do those things which might render them worthy to escape them.

2*dly*, That there is to be a Connexion of our Endeavours with the Divine Aid, and Providence, for our Preservation; and that we are not to expect Preservation immediately from him, without the use of those means which he hath put into our Power to effect it.

CHAP. XXII.

1. NOW the Feaſt of unleavened Bread drew nigh, which (from the beginning of it,) is called the Paſſover:

2. And the Chief Prieſts, and Scribes, a ſought [a] how they might (ſafely) kill him, for they feared the People.

b 3. Then [b] entred Satan into Judas, ſirnamed Iſcariot, being of the Number of the Twelve (which attended him.)

4. And he went away (from the Twelve,) and communed with the Chief Prieſts, and Captains, how he might betray him to them;

5. And they were glad (of the motion,) and covenanted to give him Money, (even thirty pieces of Silver, Matth. 26. 15.)

c 6. And he [c] promiſed (to make good his Word,) and ſought opportunity to betray him to them in the abſence of the Multitude, (or ἄτερ ὄχλου, without Tumult.)

7. Then came the day of unleavened Bread, when the Paſſover muſt (according to the Law) be killed.

8. And he ſent Peter, and John, ſaying, Go, and prepare us the Paſſover, that we may eat (of it.)

9. And they ſaid to him, (or, for they had ſaid to him, Matth. 26. 17. Mark 14. 12.) Where wilt thou that we prepare (it?)

10. And he ſaid to them, Behold, when ye are entred into the City, there ſhall a Man meet you bearing a Pitcher of Water, follow him into the Houſe where he entreth in;

11. And ye ſhall ſay to the good Man of the Houſe, the Maſter ſaith unto thee, Where is the Gueſt Chamber, where I ſhall eat the Paſſover with my Diſciples?

12. And he ſhall ſhew you a large upper Room furniſhed; there make ready:

13. And they went, and found (it) as he had ſaid to them, and they made ready the Paſſover:

14. And when the hour (of eating it) was come, he ſat down, and the twelve Apoſtles, with him;

d 15. And he ſaid to them, with [d] Deſire I have deſired, (i. e. I have earneſtly deſired) to eat this Paſſover with you before I ſuffer.

16. For I ſay to you, I will not any more eat thereof, until it (that which was typified by it,) be fulfilled in the Kingdom of God, (procuring your ſpiritual Redemption, by the Oblation of the true Paſchal Lamb.)

17. And he took the Cup, and gave Thanks, and ſaid, take this, and divide it among your ſelves,

18. For I ſay to you, I will not (any more) drink of the Fruit of the Vine, until the Kingdom of God ſhall come;

19. And he took Bread, and gave Thanks (over it,) and brake it, and gave (it) to them, ſaying, This (Bread given) is (the memorial of) my Body which is given for you, [e] this do, (break bread henceforth thus) in remembrance of me, (giving my Body to be broken for you, 1 Cor. 11. 24.) e

20. [f] Likewiſe alſo (he took) the Cup, f after (the end of the Paſchal) Supper, ſaying, (the Wine contained in) this Cup is (the memorial of) the New Teſtament, (or Covenant ratified) in my Blood, which is ſhed for you, (for the Remiſſion of your Sins, Matth. 26. 28.)

21. But behold, the Hand of him that betrayeth (or delivers) me (up to the Chief Prieſts) is with me on the Table;

22. And truly the Son of Man goeth, as it was [g] determined, (by that God who by his Prophets hath foretold my ſufferings,) but (yet) wo to that Man by whom he is betrayed. g

23. And they began to enquire among themſelves, which of them it was that ſhould do this thing;

24. And there was alſo a [h] Strife among them, which of them ſhould be accounted the greateſt (in Chriſt's Kingdom;) h

25. And (to remove the cauſes of that Strife,) he ſaid to them, The Kings of the Gentiles exerciſe Lordſhip over them (at pleaſure,) and they that exerciſe Authority over them, are called Benefactors, (or they who are called Benefactors, or Princes, exerciſe Authority upon them as their Subjects; See Matth. 20. 25. Mark 10. 42.)

26. But ye ſhall not be (or do) ſo (i. e. ye ſhall not exerciſe ſuch Dominion over others in my Kingdom,) but he that is greateſt among you, let him be (ſubject) as the younger (are to the elder, 1 Per. 5. 5.) and he that is chief, (let him be) as he that doth ſerve;

27. For whether is greater, he that ſitteth at Meat, or he that ſerveth? Is not he that ſitteth at Meat? but I (the Head of this Kingdom) am among you as he that ſerveth, (and ſo ſhould you be among others.)

28. Ye are they that have continued with me in my Temptations, (i. e. my low, and afflicted ſtate on Earth.)

29. And (tho' I permit you no Dominion over others at pleaſure, but a Miniſtry only for their good, yet) I appoint to you a [i] Kingdom, as my Father hath appointed to me; i (giving you Power in my Name to preſide over my Church, making Laws, as I have done in his Name, by which they ſhall be governed;)

30. That ye may eat and drink at my Table, (and ſo have the Honour of Grandees) in my Kingdom, and (may) ſit on Thrones, judging the twelve Tribes of Iſrael, (and ſo may have the higheſt Power in it.)

31. And the Lord said, Simon, Simon, k behold Satan hath [k] desired to have you, that he may sift (i. e. toss and shake) you (by Temptations) as Wheat (is tossed and shaken in a Sieve.)

32. But I have prayed for thee, (who wilt suffer most by his Temptations,) that thy Faith fail not (utterly;) and when thou art converted, (i. e. returned from thy Fall,) strengthen thy Brethren (subject to like Temptations.)

33. And he said to him, Lord, I am ready to go with thee, both into Prison, and to Death.

34. And he said, I tell thee, Peter, the Cock shall not crow this day (in the morning,) before that thou shalt thrice deny that thou knowest me.

35. And he said to them, when I sent you without Purse, and Scrip, and Shoes, lacked ye any thing? and they said, (we lacked) nothing.

36. Then said he to them, But now he that hath a Purse let him take it (with him,) and likewise his Scrip; and he that hath no
l Sword, [l] let him sell his Garment, and buy one; (i. e. now the times will be so perillous that I have need to warn you to arm your selves as much as may be by Faith, and Patience, against the danger of them.)

37. For I say to you, this that is written (of me) must yet be accomplished in (upon) me (viz.) And he was reckoned among the Transgressors, (Isa. 53. 12.) for the things (written) concerning me (will) have an end, (or accomplishment.)

38. And they said, Lord, behold here are two Swords, and he said to them, It is enough (to answer my design, for I intended only by this monition to warn you of the Distresses that were now approaching, that you may be prepared for them.)

39. And he came out, and went as he was wont to the Mount of Olives, and his Disciples also followed him;

40. And when he was at the place, he said to them, Pray, that ye enter not into Temptation; (i. e. that you be not overcome by it.)

41. And he was withdrawn from them about a Stones cast, and kneeled down, and prayed, 42. Saying, Father, if thou be willing let m this [m] Cup pass from me, nevertheless not my Will, but thine be done.

n 43. And (upon this Prayer) there [n] appeared to him an Angel from Heaven, strengthning him, (by letting him know he should be heard in what he feared, Heb. 5. 7.)

44. And being in an Agony, he prayed more earnestly, and his Sweat was as it were o [o] great Drops of Blood falling down to the Ground.

45. And when he rose up from Prayer, and was come to his Disciples, he found them sleeping, for (their great) Sorrow (had dispirited them, and so rendred them sleepy.)

46. And (he) said to them, Why sleep ye? rise, and pray, lest ye enter into Temptation;

47. And while he yet spake, behold (there came to apprehend him) a Multitude, and (with them) he that was called Judas, one of the Twelve, (who) went before them, and drew near to Jesus to kiss him; (this being the Sign given, by which they that were with him should know Jesus:)

48. But Jesus said to him, Judas, betrayest thou the Son of Man with a Kiss? (Art thou guilty of such vile Hypocrisie as to make this the Signal of thy Treachery?)

49. When they which were about him saw what would follow, they (not rightly apprehending the meaning of his Words, vet. 46.) said to him, Lord, shall we smite with the Sword?

50. And one of them, (not staying for his Answer,) smote the (a) Servant of the High-Priest, and cut off his right Ear:

51. And Jesus answered, (i. e. spake with relation to that Action,) and said, [p] Suffer ye p (me) thus far (to be at liberty, as to restore the Man to his Ear;) and he touched his Ear, and healed him.

52. Then Jesus said to the Chief Priests, and [q] Captains of the Temple, and the Elders q which were come to him, Be ye come out as against a Thief with Swords and Staves?

53. When I was daily with you in the Temple, ye stretched forth no Hands against me; but [r] this is your hour, and (the hour r of) the Power of Darkness; (i. e. the Devil, and you his Instruments, are now permitted to compass my Death.)

54. Then took they him, and led him, and brought him into the High-Priest's House, and Peter followed afar off.

55. And when they (the Servants) had kindled a Fire in the midst of the Hall, and were set down together, Peter sat down amongst them.

56. But a certain Maid beheld him, as he sat by the Fire, and earnestly looked upon him, and said, This Man was also with him.

57. And he denied him, saying, Woman, I know him not.

58. And after a little while another saw him, and said (as he had heard from another Maid,) Thou art also of them; and Peter said, Man, I am not.

59. And about the space of one hour after, another confidently affirmed, saying, Of a truth this Fellow also was with him, for he is a Galilean.

60. And Peter ſaid, Man, I know not (any thing of) what thou ſayeſt; and immediately while he yet ſpake, the Cock crew;

61. And (then) the Lord turned, and looked upon Peter, and Peter remembred the Word of the Lord, how he had ſaid to him, before the Cock crow thou ſhalt deny me thrice;

62. And (upon this) Peter went out, and wept bitterly:

63. And the Men that held Jeſus, mocked him, and ſmote him;

64. And when they had blindfolded him, they ſtrook him on the Face, and asked him, ſaying, (thou who calleſt thy ſelf a Prophet,) propheſie, (or tell us) who it was that ſmote thee?

65. And many other things blaſphemouſly ſpoke they againſt him;

66. And aſſoon as it was day, the Elders of the People, and the Chief Prieſts, and the Scribes came together, and led him unto their Council, ſaying,

67. Art thou the Chriſt? tell us, (whether it be ſo, or not?) And he ſaid to them, If I tell you, ye will not believe (me.)

68. And if I alſo ask you (Queſtions, to convince you that I am ſo, as formerly I have done, Chap. 20. 3.) ye will not anſwer me, nor let me go;

69. (Yet this I do aſſure you, that) hereafter (ἀπὸ τ νυ῀, from this time of my Death,) ſhall the Son of Man (ſoon) ſit on the right Hand of the Power of God.

70. Then ſaid they all, Art thou then the [s] Son of God, and he ſaid to them, Ye ſay that (which) I am: s

71. And they ſaid, What need we any farther Witneſs? for we our ſelves have heard (out) of his own Mouth, (that he ſtiles himſelf the Son of God, and ſo blaſphemes, by making himſelf equal with God, John 5. 18. —10. 33.)

a Ver. 2. Πῶς ἀνέλωσιν αὐτὸν, How they might take him away;] i. e. without a Tumult of the People, Mark 14. 2.

b Ver. 3. Εἰσῆλθε ὁ Σαλὼμᾶς εἰς Ἰούδαν, Then entred Satan into Judas;] That is, two days before the Paſſover; for, 1ſt, As for that Supper in which our Saviour gave him the Sop, at which Satan entred, the Scripture doth expreſly tell us that it was held πρὸ τ̃ ἑορτ̃ς τ̃ πάσχα, before the Feaſt of the Paſſover, John 13. 1. And when our Saviour having given him the Sop, ſaid, what thou doeſt, do quickly, ſome of our Lord's Diſciples thought that Chriſt had bid him buy thoſe things which were needful for the Paſchal Feaſt, ver. 29. whence it is evident that Feaſt was not yet celebrated by them; and here St. Luke ſaith, Satan entred into Judas, and he conſulted with the High-Prieſts, and with the Soldiers, how he might deliver him up unto them; and then it follows, ver. 7, 8. then came the days of unleavened Bread, and Chriſt ſaid to his Diſciples, prepare the Paſſover for us that we may eat, ſo that Satan muſt have entred into Judas before the Paſſover was prepared. The Apoſtle declares that Satan ἐνεργεῖ, inwardly worketh in the Children of Diſobedience, Eph. 2. 2. and leads them captive at his Will, 2 Tim. 2. 26. When therefore Judas had, through the Temptation of his Covetouſneſs, robbed even the Poor of the Charity deſigned for them, John 12. 6. Satan ſuggeſts unto him another way to ſatisfie his Avarice, even the betraying of his Maſter for a Sum of Money; and when this Suggeſtion prevailed with him to go to the High-Prieſts with that Queſtion, What will you give me to betray him? Matth. 26. 15. then Satan fully entred into him, and carried him on without Remorſe to the Performance of that horrid Enterprize.

Ver. 6. Ἐξωμολόγησε, And he promiſed;] i. e. conſented to do the thing: For that this word doth not only ſignifie to confeſs; and to give thanks, but alſo to conſent, and engage, is evident, not only from the Inſtitutions of Theophilus, where we read thus, προμίτλις πρόμιτλω, τῦτ' ὅστ, ὁμολογεῖς ὁμολογῶ, that is, ὁμολογεῖν, is to promiſe, but from Phavorinus, who renders ὁμολογῶ, συνίθεμαι, σύμφημι, I promiſe, I conſent, of which import of the word we find many Inſtances from Plato, Zenophon, Demoſthenes in Conſtantine, ſo that ἐξωμολόγησε is here well rendred, he promiſed, or conſented to the Price; nor is it to be wondred that St. Luke, born at Antioch, where there was an Academy, and ſtudying in the Univerſities of Greece, ſhould uſe this word, not as the Septuagint, but as thoſe Græcians did.

Ver. 15. Ἐπιθυμίᾳ ἐπεθύμησα, With deſire I have deſired to eat this Paſſover with you before I ſuffer.] I cannot here ſee, what Grotius, and others affirm, that Chriſt gives here a reaſon why he would anticipate the Paſchal Supper, our Lord himſelf giving a reaſon of theſe words in the following Supper, viz. that he would eat no more of it, till that which was typified by this Paſchal Lamb, was fulfilled in the Kingdom of Heaven; that is, till he, who is ſtiled our Paſchal Lamb, was offered, and by his Death had procured to Men a Liberty from that Death, by the fear of which they were formerly kept in Bondage, Heb. 2. 15. and in d perpetual Memory of his Oblation, and the Benefits purchased by it, had instituted a new Paschal Supper, in which his Disciples should eat at his Table with him; that our Lord did not antedate the Paschal Supper, See in the Discourse on that Subject.

e Ver. 19. Τοῦτο ποιεῖτε, Do this in remembrance of me;] That is, say the Papists, sacrifice this, very absurdly; for who ever read in any Greek Author, that Σῶμα ποιεῖν signified to sacrifice a Body? nor do the Latins say, facere victimam, but facere victima, understanding sacra; moreover it is said also of the Cup τοῦτο ποιεῖτε, do this, 1 Cor. 11. 25. and yet it is not the Cup by which the new Covenant is sacrificed, but by which it is established; nor do the Papists say this Cup is sacrificed, but only that it is consecrated by those words.

f Ver. 20. Ὡσαύτως καὶ τὸ ποτήριον, μετὰ τὸ δειπνῆσαι, Likewise also the Cup, after Supper, saying, this Cup is the New Testament in my Blood.] Here is a double Metonymy; (1.) That of the Cup for the Wine contained in it; (2.) That of the Sign for the thing signified by it, the Wine being the Symbol of that Blood in which that new Covenant was established. And this, saith the Evangelist, was said after the Paschal Supper, to signifie that this Cup pertained not to the Solemnity of the Passover.

g Ver. 22. Καὶ ὁ μὲν υἱὸς τοῦ ἀνθρώπου πορεύεται κατὰ τὸ ὡρισμένον, And the Son of Man goeth as it was determined (of him) but (yet) woe to that Man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed.] Κατὰ τὸ ὡρισμένον, i.e. according to the Prophesies concerning the Death of Christ, made by the Counsel, and Appointment of God. From the woe, denounced upon him that should betray the Messias, we learn, that he was highly criminal in so doing, and therefore could not be under an absolute necessity of doing so; they therefore who from these words gather that Judas was, from the beginning of this Action to the end, under an absolute necessity of doing as he did, by virtue of the Decree of God impelling him to this Action, render Judas free from guilt; and to them, saith Grotius, we may say as (a) Irenæus did to Florinus, maintaining that some Souls were not by choice, but by nature good; and others were by nature evil; these Doctrines are not sound, nor consonant to the Sentiments of the Church, nay, they induce the greatest Impiety; these things neither the Ancients which were before us, and which were the Disciples of the Apostles delivered, nor durst our Hereticks assert. Since God is good, saith (b) Plato, we must by no means allow any body to say, he is the cause of the evil done by any, but must by all means refel, and reject such Opinions; and indeed all the Ancients unanimously held, that neither Prophecies, nor the Prescience, nor the Decrees of God laid any necessity upon the Will of Man; for they who assert this, saith (c) Origen, absolve Sinners from all guilt, and lay the charge of all the Evils which they do upon God, as by his Decree, Prescience, or Prediction, laying upon them that necessity which will not suffer them to do otherwise. They also, saith he, take away τὸ ἐφ' ἡμῖν, the freedom of our Will, and with that all Praise and Dispraise, or all Difference betwixt things worthy of Praise or Reprehension: (d) This Doctrine also cuts off all that is said of the Equity of the Divine Judgment, and of the Threats made against, or the Punishments inflicted on the Wicked, and of the Promises of a better Life, and the Reward of them that do well. For, saith, (e) Clemens of Alexandria, there is no difference betwixt Faith and Infidelity, nor is either of them worthy of Praise or Dispraise, if they have προηγουμένως τὸ ἐκ τοῦ τὰ πάντα δι' αἰτίας φυσικῆς ἀνάγκης, an antecedent physical Necessity from God: Nor are Praises or Reprehensions, Rewards or Punishments just, (f) μὴ τῆς ψυχῆς ἐχούσης τὸ ἑκουσίου τῆς ὁρμῆς καὶ ἀφορμῆς, if the Soul hath not a freedom of desiring, or abstaining from things, but is carried on to them by an unwilling necessity: God, saith (g) Irenæus, hath always preserved to Man his Freedom and Power over his own Actions, ut juste damnentur qui non obediunt ei, that they may justly be condemned who do not obey him: For Man, saith (h) Justin Martyr, would neither be worthy of Praise or Reward, ἐκ ἀφ' ἑαυτοῦ ἐλόμενος τὸ ἀγαθὸν, did he not of himself chuse what is good, but was so by Nature; nor being evil, could be justly punished, if he were not so of himself; (i) ἀλλ' οὐδὲν δικαίως ἂν εἴη ἕτερον παρ' ὃ ἐγεγόνει, but could be no other than what he was made; for we are crowned or punished διὰ τὸ ἐφ' ἡμῖν, for that which it is in our power to do. And this they especi-

I ſee not any reaſon why Interpreters ſhould here ſay, this account of their Contention is miſplaced, ſince in the other Evangeliſts it is mentioned after Chriſt's Admonition concerning his Paſſion, viz. Matth. 20. 25. Mark 10. 42. here Chriſt ſaith more than he did there.

i Ver. 29. Καγὼ διατίθεμαι ὑμῖν, And I appoint to you a Kingdom, as my Father hath appointed to me:] Chriſt ſpeaks not here of the heavenly Kingdom common to all the Faithful, but of a Kingdom proper to his Apoſtles, viz. that as his Father had given him power to make Laws, by which all his Subjects ſhould be governed, and to which they ſhould be ſubject, ſo did he give to his Apoſtles power to deliver to Chriſtians thoſe Evangelical Laws which they ſhould all be obliged to obey. Now hence it follows, that the Goſpels and Epiſtles of the Apoſtles, muſt be owned as the Laws of Chriſt; and whereas the Nobility in a Kingdom, uſe to be known by two things, the Honour and the Power imparted to them, their Honour in eating at the King's Table, their Power in having a ſhare in the Government under the King; therefore our Saviour repreſents the Honour of his Apoſtles by eating and drinking with him at his Table, and their Power by judging the Twelve Tribes of Iſrael.

2*dly*, That Satan is ſaid σινιάσαι, to ſift thoſe whom he tempts and afflicts, becauſe Afflictions toſs and ſhake them, as Wheat is toſſed and ſhaken in a Sieve.

3*dly*, That Chriſt prayed that the Faith of Peter might not fail, not becauſe he was conſtituted by him the Head of the Church, but becauſe he was ſo infirm in Faith as to deny his Maſter thrice; whence he deſerved to make Shipwrack of his Faith by the ſubtraction of Divine Grace; and had actually done ſo, had not his ſudden Converſion obtained the Pardon of his Sin.

Note, Laſtly, That 'tis the Duty of thoſe who truly have repented of their Faults, to commiſerate the Fall of others, and be ſolicitous for their confirmation in the Faith.

Ver. 36. Καὶ ὁ μὴ ἔχων, &c. And he that hath no Sword, let him ſell his Garment and buy one.] This is not a command to buy a Sword, or to uſe one to repel Force with Force, as is apparent, partly becauſe Chriſt ſaith here, Two Swords are enough, ver. 38. which ſure they could not be for the repelling thoſe that were to come againſt them; and partly, becauſe he reprehends Peter for uſing one in this manner, Matth. 26. 52. 'Tis therefore only a Monition, that the Times were now to be ſo perillous, that if things were to be acted by human Power; there would be more need of Swords and Purſes than ever: And by ſaying that two Swords were enough, ſome good Interpreters think, he deſigned they ſhould underſtand, he ſpake not this to bid them provide Swords, but rather to acquaint them by Symbols after the Oriental manner, with the approaching Danger, that they by Faith and Patience might be the better armed againſt it. According to the Deſcant of Theophylact, οὕτω προνοεῖτε ἑαυτοῖς ὡς κινδύνοις καὶ πολέμοις προσκρούσοντες. So provide for your ſelves as Perſons that may expect to meet with Perils and Wars. l

Ver. 42. Εἰ βούλει παρένεγκεῖν τὸ ποτήριον τοῦτο ἀπ' ἐμοῦ, Father, if thou be willing to remove this Cup from me.] He by the Jewiſh Phraſe of a Cup, expreſſes his Death. So *R. Ver. 43. But (l) Epiphanius anſwering an Objection of the Arians, contending Chriſt could not be God, ὅτι ἐπεδεῖτο καὶ ἰσχύος ἀγγέλων, becauſe he wanted the help of Angels, acknowledged, that this was written in the Goſpel of St. Luke, making no mention of any variation of the Copies; whence it may be conjectured, this Variation hapned after the Conflict with the Arians. But whereas, Woltzogenius ſaith after them, That this Anxiety and Conſternation of our Lord, which required, that he ſhould be ſtrengthned by an Angel, proves, he was not God; he might n might as well have hence concluded, that he was not filled with the Spirit above measure; and before he made this Conclusion, he should have confuted Grotius, saying here, That the Divinity dwelling in him, had substracted his Influence; whence, Christ being left to his human Nature, needed the comfort of an Angel; for otherwise, he who with a word made the whole Band of Soldiers fall to the Earth, Joh. 18. 6. and healed the Ear of Malchus with a touch, ver. 51. of this Chapter, sure gave sufficient indications of the Divinity residing in him.

o Ver. 44. Ἐγένετο ὁ ἱδρὼς αὐτοῦ ὡσεὶ θρόμβοι αἵματος, And his Sweat was as it were great drops of Blood.] I own, that these words do not certainly signifie, that the matter of this Sweat was Blood, but only that it was thick and viscous, like to Blood falling from the Nose in a small Clot, at the end of Bleeding; but I see nothing why this might not be so great an Agony, as to force Blood out of his Capillary Veins to mix with it; this being no unusual thing: For (m) Aristotle says, ἤδη τίνες ἱδρῶτα αἱματώδη ἱδρῶτα, Some have sweat a bloody Sweat; and again, (n) ἤδη τισιν ἱδρῶσαι ζωϊκὴν αἱματώδη ὥσπερ αἷμα διὰ κακεξίαν, Some thro' an ill habit of Body, have sweat a bloody Excrement. And (o) Diodorus Siculus saith of the Indian Serpents, That if any one be bitten by them, he is tormented with excessive Pains, καὶ ῥύσις ἱδρῶτος αἱματοειδὴς καλεῖται, and seized with a bloody Sweat.

p Ver. 51. Ἐᾶτε ἕως τούτου, Suffer ye thus far.] I do not think that Christ spake this to his Disciples, bidding them to permit his Enemies to deal thus with him, and not do any thing for his Rescue, but rather that he spake thus to the Soldiers, Permit this Injury, or Assault, offered by one of my Apostles, which I will presently repair; for it follows, and he healed him; and this he said, and did, partly to shew, that he who had such Power to heal, and throw down his Enemies, was taken willingly, and not for want of Power to preserve himself, and partly to preserve his Apostles from their Assaults.

q Ver. 52. Καὶ στρατηγοὺς τοῦ Ἱεροῦ, And Captains of the Temple.] It is past doubt with me, saith Dr. Lightfoot, that these Captains of the Temple were not the Roman Soldiers placed in the Tower of Antonia, of whose conspiring against the Life of Christ we read not, but the Captains of the several Watches of the Temple. For, say the Jews, the Priests kept watch in three places of the Temple, and the Levites in twenty one; and to every one of these Watches, there was a Chief, they consisting of many, and to them all, one who was eminently ἀρχηγὸς, the Captain, or chief Ruler of the Temple. But these, say some, could not be Jews, because they kept Watch at the Passover, and on the Sabbath. To this I answer, That the Jews did not think their Feasts or Sabbaths were prophaned by Service done in, and for the Temple on that day. See the Notes on Matth. 12. 5. That the Jews had then such Watches, we learn from those words of Pilate, Matth. 27. 65. ἔχετε κουστωδίαν, Ye have a Watch: That the Office of the Priests and Levites was called a Warfare, See Note on 1 Cor. 9. 7. That these Captains were not Romans, may probably be argued even from their Name, Captains of the Temple; which Name is never given by Josephus to the Governours of the Soldiers in the Tower of Antonia; they being by him called (p) φρούραρχοι, the Governours of the Castle; whereas this Officer is still called ὁ στρατηγὸς, the Ruler of the Temple, both by the Scripture, Acts 4. 1. — 5. 24, 26. and by (q) Josephus: And by Dr. Lightfoot, he is supposed to be the same with the Man of the Mount, so often mentioned in the Jewish Writers, or the Ruler of the Mountain of the House. And by what we read of him both in Josephus and the Scripture, he seems to be an Officer of the High Priests, appointed to bring them who offended in the Temple, (as the Apostles were thought to have done, by preaching in it Jesus,) to the High Priest and Sanhedrim, to be punished.

Ver. 53. Αὕτη ὑμῶν ἐστιν ἡ ὥρα, καὶ ἡ ἐξουσία τοῦ σκότους, This is your Hour, and the Power of Darkness:] i. e. This is the time in which it is permitted to you, to exercise your Malice, and execute your bloody Designs against me. and in which Satan is permitted to rush upon me with his most furious Temptations. r

Ver. 70. Σὺ οὖν εἶ ὁ υἱὸς τοῦ Θεοῦ; Art thou the Son of God? — I am, ver. 71. what need we any farther Witnesses? Matth. 26. 63, 65. Behold ye have heard his Blasphemy.] They conclude Christ guilty of Blasphemy, and consequently of Death, because he stiled himself the Son of God, not in their sense, in which they allowed that of the Psalmist to belong to him, Thou art my Son, Psal. 27. 12. but in his own; i. e. because being a Man he made himself God, Joh. 10. 33. Whence it is manifest, (1) That in the sense of the Jews, to own himself the Son of God, and to make himself God, was the same thing. (2) Hence also it is certain, that the Jews of that Age did not think the Messias was to be God, but only a Man, who could not challenge to himself Divinity, seeing s

CHAP. XXIII.

1. AND the whole Multitude of them (of the Sanhedrim) aroſe, and led him to Pilate.

2. And they began to accuſe him, ſaying, We found this Fellow perverting the Nation, and [a] forbidding to give Tribute to Cæſar, (See Chap. 20. 25. by) ſaying, That he himſelf is Chriſt a King.

3. And Pilate asked him, ſaying, Art thou the King of the Jews? He anſwered and ſaid, Thou ſayeſt it; (i. e. it is as thou haſt ſaid.)

4. Then ſaid Pilate to the Chief Prieſts, and to the People, I find no fault in this Man.

5. And they were the more fierce (upon theſe words of Pilate,) ſaying, He ſtirreth up (all) the People, teaching throughout all Jury, beginning from Galilee to this place.

6. When Pilate heard of Galilee, he asked them, whether the Man was a Galilean:

7. And aſſoon as he knew that he belonged to Herod's Juriſdiction, he ſent him to Herod, who himſelf was alſo at Jeruſalem at that time.

8. And when Herod ſaw Jeſus, he was exceeding glad; for he was deſirous to ſee him of a long ſeaſon; becauſe he had heard many things of him, and he hoped to have ſeen ſome Miracle done by him.

9. Then he queſtioned with him in many words, but he anſwered him (to) nothing.

10. And the chief Prieſts and Scribes ſtood (before Herod,) and vehemently accuſed him.

11. And Herod with his Men of War ſet him at nought, and mocked him, and arrayed him in a gorgeous Robe, (as a Mock-king,) and ſent him again to Pilate.

12. And the ſame day Pilate and Herod were made Friends together; for before, they were at enmity between themſelves.

13. And Pilate, when he had called together the chief Prieſts, and Rulers, and the People,

14. Said to them, Ye have brought this Man to me, as one that perverteth the People; and behold, I having examined him before you, have found no fault in this Man, touching thoſe things whereof ye accuſe him.

15. No, nor yet Herod; for I ſent you to him (to whoſe Juriſdiction he belongs;) and lo, nothing (as to one) worthy of Death is done to him (by Herod.)

16. I will therefore [b] chaſtiſe him, (as if he were to die,) and (then I will) releaſe him, (as the fitteſt Perſon to be releaſed at this Feaſt.) b

17. (This he ſaid,) For (becauſe) of neceſſity, he muſt releaſe one to them at the Feaſt (of the Paſſover.)

18. And (but) they cried out all at once, ſaying, Away with this Man, and releaſe to us Barabbas:

19. Who for a certain Sedition made in the City, and for Murther, was caſt into Priſon.

20. Pilate therefore (being) willing to releaſe Jeſus, ſpake again to them (of releaſing him:)

21. But they cried, ſaying, Crucifie him, crucifie him.

22. And he ſaid to them the third time, Why (are ye ſo deſirous of his Death?) what Evil hath he done? (For my part) I have found no cauſe of Death in him; I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and (then) let him go, (as the fitteſt Perſon to be releaſed at this Feaſt.)

23. And they were inſtant with loud Voices, requiring that he might be crucified; and the Voices of them, and of the chief Prieſts, prevailed (at laſt with Pilate, to conſent to his Crucifixion.)

24. And (ſo) Pilate gave Sentence, that it ſhould be as they required.

25. And he releaſed to them, him that for Sedition and Murther was caſt into Priſon, (viz. Barabbas,) whom they had deſired; but he delivered (up) Jeſus to (be dealt with according to) their Will.

26. And as they led him away, (bearing his Croſs, Joh. 19. 17. finding him weak, and not well able to ſuſtain it,) they laid hold on one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the Country; and on him they laid the Croſs, that he might bear it after Jeſus.

27. And there followed him a great company of People, and of Women, which alſo bewailed and lamented him:

28. But Jeſus turning to them, ſaid, Ye Daughters of Jeruſalem, (ye have cauſe to) weep not for me, but for your ſelves, and for your Children.

29. For behold, the Days are [c] coming in which they ſhall (find cauſe to) ſay, Bleſſed are the Barren, and the Wombs that never bare, and the Paps that never gave ſuck. c e 31. For if they do these things in a [e] green Tree, (i. e. to me a righteous Person, Ezek. 20. 47.—21. 2, 3.) what shall be done in the dry? (i. e. to those wicked Persons, who like the dry Tree, are fit to be burned in the Fire.)

30. Then

32. And there were also two other Malefactors led with him, to be put to Death.

33. And when they were come to the Place, which is called Calvary, there they crucified him, and the Malefactors, one on the right hand, and the other on the left (hand of Jesus.)

34. Then said Jesus, Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do, (i. e. who it is they crucifie, Acts 13. 27.) And they (viz. the Soldiers) parted his Raiment, and cast Lots (for his upper Garment, John 19. 23, 24.)

35. And the People stood beholding (him,) and the Rulers also with them, derided him, saying, He saved others, let him (now) save himself, if he be the Christ, the chosen of God.

36. And the Soldiers also mocked him, coming to him, and offering him
f [f] Vinegar;

37. And saying, If thou be (indeed) the King of the Jews, save thy self.

38. And a Superscription also was written over him, in Letters of Greek, and Latin, and Hebrew, (viz.) THIS (MAN) IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

39. And one of the Malefactors which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be (the) Christ, save thy self, and us (also.)

g 40. But the [g] other answering, rebuked him, saying, Dost thou not fear God, seeing thou art in the same Condemnation? (i. e. Dost thou not fear him, now that thou art under the Sentence of Death?)

41. And we indeed (are sentenc'd to die) justly: for we receive (only) the due Reward of our Deeds; but this Man hath done nothing amiss, (whereby to deserve this Sentence.)

And he said to Jesus, Lord remember me when thou comest into thy Kingdom, (to be the Judge of all Men, and exercise all Power in Heaven and Earth.)

h 43. And Jesus said to him, [h] Verily, I say to thee, To day shalt thou be with me in Paradise, (and there enjoy the greatest Blessing which belongeth to the Members of my Kingdom.)

44. And it was about the sixth hour (when he was crucified;) and there was Darkness over all the Earth, (or Land of Palestine,) until the ninth hour:

45. And the Sun was darkned, and the Veil of the Temple (which parted the inward Temple from the Sanctuary,) was rent in the midst.

46. And when Jesus had cried with a loud Voice, he said, Father, into thy Hands I commend my Spirit; and having said thus, he gave up the Ghost.

47. Now when the Centurion saw what was done, he [i] glorified God, (by) saying, i Certainly, this was a righteous Man.

48. And all the People that came together to that Sight, beholding the things that were done, smote their Breasts, and returned (to their Houses full of trouble for it.)

49. And all his Acquaintance, and the Women that followed him from Galilee, stood afar off, beholding these things, (and were sad.)

50. And behold there was a Man named Joseph, a Counsellor, and he was a good Man and a just;

51. The same had not consented to the Counsel, and Deed of them (who condemned Jesus, he was of Arimathea, a City of the Jews, (and he was one) who also himself waited for the Kingdom of God; (i. e. expecting it should suddenly appear.)

52. This Man went to Pilate, and begged the Body of Jesus;

53. And (by his Permission) he took it down, and wrapped it in Linen, and laid it in a Sepulchre which was hewn in Stone, wherein never Man before was laid; (taking this care, that our Lord's Body might not be cast into the common-place assigned for Malefactors.)

54. And that day was the Preparation, (i. e. Friday,) and the Sabbath drew on.

55. And the Women also which came with them from Galilee, followed after, and beheld the Sepulchre, and how his Body was laid.

56. And they returned, and prepared Spices and Ointments (to embalm him,) and rested (from doing this) on the Sabbath day, according to the Commandment.

b Ver. 16. Παιδεύσας ὃν οὖν ἀπολύσω, I will therefore chaſtiſe him, and let him go.] Note that this Chaſtiſement was not in order to his Crucifixion, and therefore not that Puniſhment the Romans uſed to inflict upon Malefactors, as a preparative to their Crucifixion; of which ſee Lipſius de Cruce, l. 2. c. 2. for Pilate intended it in order to his releaſe; he therefore ſeems willing to inflict upon him the Puniſhment ſo common among the Jews towards thoſe who did perverſly againſt their Law, and their Traditions, that he might exempt him from that Death they did ſo ſtudiouſly endeavour to expoſe him to.

c Ver. 29. The days will come in which ye ſhall ſay, μακάριαι αἱ στεῖραι, bleſſed are the barren.] This they undoubtedly had occaſion to ſay at the Siege of Jeruſalem, and during the War againſt the Romans, not only on the account of the loſs of their Children, and the ſale of them who were under 17 Years for Bondſlaves; but chiefly on the account of that Famine in Jeruſalem, which forced Mary, the Daughter of Eleazer, to eat her own ſucking Child; upon which, ſaith (a) Joſephus, there was a vehement deſire of the famiſhed Perſons to die, καὶ μακαρισμὸς τῶν φθασάντων τοῖς θνῄσκουσι καὶ θεάσασθαι κακὰ τηλικαῦτα, and he counted himſelf bleſſed that could die before he ſaw, or heard ſuch evil things.

d Ver. 30. Τότε ἄρξονται λέγειν τοῖς ὄρεσι, πέσετε ἐφ' ἡμᾶς, Then ſhall they begin to ſay to the Mountains, fall on us.] That this is a proverbial Expreſſion, uſed Hoſ. 10. 8. and not to be fulfilled by what the Jews ſhould then ſay, but by what they ſhould afterwards ſuffer, is evident in it ſelf, and confeſſed by the Jews; for the Targum upon Hoſea ſpeaks thus, He will bring ſuch Judgments upon them, which will render their condition as miſerable, as if the Mountains ſhould cover them, and the Hills fall upon them; See the like words, Rev. 6. 15, 16.

e Ver. 31. Ὅτι εἰ ἐν τῷ ὑγρῷ ξύλῳ ταῦτα ποιοῦσιν, ἐν τῷ ξηρῷ τί γένηται; For if theſe things be done in the green Tree, what ſhall be done in the dry?] The good, and juſt Man, is by the Prophets, and Jews, repreſented under the Metaphor of a green Tree, or a Tree whoſe Leaves do not wither, Pſal. 1. 3. of a green Olive Tree, Pſal. 52. 10. of a green Fir Tree, Hoſ. 14. 8. of a Tree whoſe Leaves are ever green, Jer. 17. 8. Whereas of the Wicked it is ſaid, his Branch ſhall not be green, Job. 15. 32. Thus God by Ezekiel threatens, that he will cut off every green Tree, and every dry Tree in Jeruſalem, Ezek. 20. 47. that is, as it is interpreted Chap. 21. 3. that he will cut off the righteous and the wicked; and 'tis proverbial among the Jews, that two dry Sticks will burn a green one; i. e. that the Company of two wicked Men will corrupt, and bring Judgments upon a good Man.

Ver. 36. Ὄξος προσφέροντες αὐτῷ, The Soldiers offered him Vinegar.] Dr. Lightfoot ſhews from Ælius Spartianus, Capitolinus, and Trebellius Pollux, that Vinegar was the uſual Drink of the Soldiers, two Cups were therefore offered to Chriſt, one of Wine mixed with Myrrh, before he was nailed to the Croſs, Mark 15. 23. and this was offered by the Jews as the cuſtom was to do towards Men condemned to capital Puniſhments; the other of Vinegar by the Soldiers, in a ſcoffing manner, after he was nailed to the Croſs. f

Ver. 40. Ἀποκριθεὶς δὲ ἕτερος ἐπετίμα αὐτῷ, But the other anſwering, rebuked him, &c.] Almoſt all Interpreters that I have read, here ſay, that this Thief began his Repentance upon the Croſs; and hence others are apt to conceive, that tho' they repent only at the laſt Gaſp they may enter into Paradiſe as he did, but this is but a precarious Suppoſition at the beſt, and like to prove a broken Reed to the Chriſtian that depends upon it. For, g

1*ſt*, It is not certain that this Thief only then began to act the Penitent, for any thing we know to the contrary, he might have begun that Work in Priſon long before, and ſo the whole Foundation of their Hopes who depend upon this Inſtance, is built upon a great uncertainty.

Object. And whereas in favour of this Opinion it is ſaid, that both the Thieves upbraided him, and therefore this Thief muſt do ſo at the firſt, and after that repent.

Anſw. I anſwer, That St. Luke here expreſly ſays that one of them only did it, and that the other did rebuke him for it, and therefore to reconcile him with St. Matthew let it be obſerved, that it is uſual in the Evangeliſts to aſcribe that to many, which agrees only to one of them. See the Note on Matth. 27. 38. So that is ſaid to be written in the Prophets which is only written in one of them, as will be evident from comparing Mark 1. 2. — Mal. 3. 1. John 6. 45. — Iſa. 54. 13. Acts 13. 40. — Hab. 1. 5. See Glaſſius l. 3. tr. 1. de nomine Can. 27.

againſt no ſuch Light and ſtrong Convictions reſiſted no ſuch Strivings of the Spirit, as they who live under the Goſpel Diſpenſation muſt have often done; what Comfort therefore can this Example give to them, who having once been waſhed in the Laver of Regeneration ſtill wallow in the Mire; who having often heard the joyful Sound, have ſlighted all the Promiſes, deſpiſed all the Threats, been deaf to all the Callings of the Word, abuſed all the Means of Grace, and reſiſted all the Motions of the Spirit? and to whom Chriſt may ſay as to the Jews, how oft would I have gathered you under my Wings, and ye would not?

3*dly*, Obſerve, that this Thief improved his time at laſt in that extraordinary manner, as perhaps no Man ever did before, or will hereafter; he then believed Chriſt to be the Saviour of the World, when one of his Diſciples had betrayed, another had denied him, and all of them had forſook him; to be the Son of God, the Lord of Life, when he was hanging on the Croſs, ſuffering the Pangs of Death, and ſeemingly deſerted by his Father; he proclaims him the Lord of Paradiſe, when all the Jews condemned him, the Gentiles crucified him as an Impoſtor, and a Malefactor; he feared God, acknowledged the Juſtice of his Puniſhment, and did with Patience ſubmit unto it; he condemned himſelf, and juſtified the holy Jeſus declaring that he had done nothing amiſs; he was ſolicitous, not for the Preſervation of his Body, but the Salvation of his Soul, not only for his own, but the Salvation of his Brother Thief, whom he ſo charitably reprehends, ſo earneſtly requeſteth not to proceed in his blaſphemous Language, ſo lovingly inviteth to the Fear of God. So that the Glory which he did to Chriſt by his Faith and Piety upon the Croſs, ſeems ſuch as the whole Series of a pious Life in other Men can hardly parallel.

h Ver. 43. Ἀμὴν λέγω σοὶ, σήμερον μετ' ἐμοῦ ἔσῃ ἐν τῷ παραδείσῳ, Verily I ſay unto thee, to day thou ſhalt be with me in Paradiſe.] That the word σήμερον, to day, is not to be connected with I ſay, as if the ſenſe were this, I ſay to thee to day, but with the words following, ſo as to contain a Promiſe, that the Thief ſhould even that day be in Paradiſe, as to his better part, appears from the familiar Phraſe of the Jews, who ſay, of the juſt Man dying, היום ישכב, to day he ſhall ſit in the Boſom of Abraham. 2*dly*, To be ſure Chriſt ſpake in that ſenſe in which the Thief could, and in which he knew he would underſtand him; now he being a Jew would ſurely underſtand him according to the received Opinion of his Nation concerning Paradiſe; now they plainly held it to be the place into which pious Souls, ſeparated from the Body, were immediately received. Hence ſprung that Oracle of the (b) Chaldees, Seek Paradiſe, the glorious Country of the Soul. Hence their kind Wiſh for the dying or dead Perſon, let his Soul be in Paradiſe. Now hence it follows, (1*ſt*,) That the Souls of Men die not with their Bodies, but remain in a ſtate of Senſibility. Chriſt here commends his into the Hands of God, ver. 46. where the Souls of the Juſt are, Wiſd. 3. 1. in peace, ver. 3. and in hope, ver. 4. (2*dly*,) That the Souls of good Men after Death are in an happy ſtate, a ſtate of Joy and Felicity, for Paradiſe, ſaith (c) Philo, is σύμβολον ψυχῆς τῷ πλήθει καὶ μεγέθει χαρᾶς ἀναπιμπλώσης, the Repreſentation of a Soul leaping for fulneſs and greatneſs of Joy; and 'tis according to (d) Tertullian, a place of divine Delights. So that, as the Thief could only be there that day by the preſence of his Soul, ſo could not his Soul be there without the greateſt Joy and Felicity. See examen Millii bis in locum.

CHAP. XXIV.

1. NOW upon the firſt day of the week, very early in the morning, they (i. e. the Women, mentioned Chap. 23. 55.) came to the Sepulchre, bringing the Spices which a they had prepared, [a] and certain other (Women came) with them.

2. And (being come) they found the Stone rolled away from (the Mouth of) the Sepulchre;

3. And they entred in (to the outward Sepulchre,) and (ſtooping down to look into the inward, they) found not the Body of the Lord Jeſus (there.)

4. And it came to paſs, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two Men ſtood by them in ſhining Garments:

5. And as they were afraid, and bowed down their Faces to the Earth, they ſaid to them, Why ſeek ye the living among (i. e. in the place of) the Dead?

6. He (whom ye ſeek) is not here, but is riſen; remember how he ſpake to you when he was yet in Galilee, (that he would riſe the third day, Matth. 17. 23.)

7. Saying, the Son of Man muſt be delivered into the Hands of ſinful Men, and be crucified, and the third day riſe again;
8. And they remembred his Words;
9. And returned from the Sepulchre, and told all theſe things to the Eleven, and to all the reſt:
10. (And) It was Mary Magdalene, and Joanna, and Mary the Mother of James, and other Women that were with them, which told theſe things to the Apoſtles;
11. And their words ſeemed to them as idle Tales, and they believed them not.
12. Then aroſe Peter, and ran to the Sepulchre, and ſtooping down, he beheld the linen Clothes laid by themſelves, and depar-b ted, wondring [b] in himſelf at that which was come to paſs.
c 13. And behold two [c] of them (who belonged to Jeſus) went the ſame day to a Village called Emmaus, which was from Jeruſalem about threeſcore Furlongs:
14. And they talked together of all theſe things which had hapned;
15. And it came to paſs, that while they communed together, and reaſoned, Jeſus himſelf drew near, and went with them:
d 16. But their Eyes were [d] held, (either miraculouſly, or by his appearance in another form, Mark 16. 12.) that they ſhould not know him.
e 17. And he ſaid to them, [e] What manner of Communications are theſe that ye have one to another, as ye walk, and are ſad?
18. And one of them, whoſe Name was Cleophas, anſwering, ſaid to him, Art thou f only a [f] Stranger in Jeruſalem, and haſt not known the things which are come to paſs there in theſe days?
19. And he ſaid to them, What things? And they ſaid to him, (the things) concerning Jeſus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet mighty in Deed and Word, (in Miracles and Doctrine,) before God, and all the People;
20. And how the Chief Prieſts, and our g Rulers delivered him (up) to be [g] condemned to Death (by Pontius Pilate,) and (thereupon) have crucified him;
21. But we truſted that it had been he which ſhould have redeemed Iſrael; and beſide all this, to day is the third day ſince theſe things were done; (i. e. the very day in which he promiſed to riſe again;)
22. Yea, and certain Women alſo of our Company made us aſtoniſhed, which were early at the Sepulchre (of Jeſus;)
23. And when they found not his Body, they came (to us,) ſaying, that they had alſo ſeen a Viſion of Angels, which ſaid that he was alive.
24. And certain of them that were with us, (viz. Peter, and John,) went to the Sepulchre, and found it even ſo as the Women had ſaid, but him they ſaw not.
25. Then he ſaid to them, [h] O Fools, and h ſlow of Heart to believe all that (which) the Prophets had ſpoken;
26. Ought not Chriſt (according to the Scriptures) to have ſuffered theſe things, and (then) to enter into his Glory?
27. And beginning at [i] Moſes, and (going through) all the Prophets, he expounded to i them in all the Scriptures the things concerning himſelf.
28. And they drew nigh to the Village whither they went, and he (kept on walking, and ſo) [k] made as tho' he would have gone k farther;
29. But they (by their Intreaties) [l] conſtrained him, ſaying, Abide with us, for it is towards evening, and the day is far ſpent; and he went in to tarry with them:
30. And it came to paſs, as he ſat at Meat with them, [m] he took Bread, and bleſ- m ſed it, and brake (it,) and gave (of it) to them.
31. And their Eyes were opened, (that which obſtructed the diſcerning of him being removed,) and they [n] knew him, and he va- n niſhed (or conveighed himſelf ſecretly) out of their ſight, 32. And they ſaid one to another, Did not our Hearts burn within us, (i. e. was there not in us a great warmth of Affection,) while he talked with us by the Way, and while he opened to us the Scriptures?
33. And they roſe up the ſame hour, and returned to Jeruſalem, and found the Eleven gathered together, and them that were with them,
34. (And heard them) [o] Saying, The Lord o is riſen indeed, and hath appeared to Simon;
35. And they told (them) what things were done in the Way (to Emmaus,) and how he (the Lord) was known of them in breaking of Bread.
36. And as they thus ſpake, Jeſus himſelf ſtood in the midſt of them, and ſaid to them, Peace be to you;
37. But they were terrified, and affrighted and ſuppoſed that they had [p] ſeen a Spirit, p
(rather than a real Body, becauſe they knew not how he came in to them.)
38. And he ſaid to them, Why are ye troubled, and why do (ſuch) Thoughts ariſe in your Hearts?
39. Behold my (pierced) Hands, and Feet, (and ſee) that it is I my ſelf, (that ſpeak to you;) [q] handle me and ſee, for a Spirit q hath not Fleſh and Bones, as ye ſee me have.
40. And when he had thus ſpoken, he ſhewed them his Hands, and his Feet.
41. And while they yet (firmly) believed not for Joy, and wondred (how this could be, thinking it was too good to be true, and rather might be a pleasant Dream; Psal. 126. 1.) he said to them, have ye here any Meat?

42. And they gave him a piece of a broiled Fish, and of an Honey Comb;

r 43. And he took it, and did [r] eat it before them, (for farther Confirmation to them, that he had a real Body.)

44. And he said to them, These (things) are (done according to) the words which I spake to you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled which were

s written [s] in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalms concerning me.

45. Then (by the special Operation of the t Holy Ghost) opened he their Understandings, that they might understand the Scriptures (concerning his Death, and Resurrection, which as yet they knew not, John 20. 9.)

46. And said to them, Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the Dead the third day.

47. And that Repentance, and Remission of Sins should be preached in his Name among all Nations, beginning at Jerusalem; (i. e. that all Men should be called to repent, Acts 17. 30. and to believe in him, for the Remission of their Sins;)

48. And ye are (to be) [u] Witnesses of these u things.

49. And behold (in pursuance of that end,) I (shall shortly) send the Promise of my Father (i. e. the Holy Ghost promised by him, Joel 2. 28.) upon you; but tarry ye in the City of Jerusalem, until ye be endued with (this) Power from on High, (Isa. 32. 15.)

50. And he led them out as far as to Bethany, and he lift up his Hands, and blessed them;

51. And it came to pass, while he blessed them, (that) he was parted from them, and (was) carried up into Heaven;

52. And they worshipped him, and returned to Jerusalem with great Joy.

53. And (they) were [x] continually in the x Temple (at the hours of Prayer,) praising, and blessing God. Amen.

Annotations on Chap. XXIV.

a Ver. 1. ΚΑΙ τινες σὺν αὐταῖς, And some other Women of Jerusalem with them.] Viz. Joanna and Μαρία ἡ Ἰακώβου, Mary the Mother of James, as we read Mark 15. 40. So in Herodotus Ἄδραστος ὁ Γορδίεω τοῦ Μίδεω, Adrastus the Nephew of Gordius and Father of Midas: In (a) Elian, Ὀλυμπιὰς ἡ Ἀλεξάνδρου, Olympias the Mother of Alexander; and in (b) Stephanus; ἡ ὃ πόλις ἀπὸ Δαιδάλου τοῦ Ἰκάρου ἡ ἐν Λυκίᾳ, a City in Lycia, built by Dedalus the Father of Icarus. So Acts 7. 16. ἔθαψε τοὺς υἱοὺς Ἐμμὸρ τοῦ Συχὶμ, of the Sons of Emmor, the Father of Sichem, for so he was.

c Ver. 13. Δύο ἐξ αὐτῶν.] Not of the Apostles, for these two returning told, what passed betwixt Christ and them, to the eleven Apostles, ver. 33, 35. but two of the rest that were with them, ver. 9, 33. The Village Emmaus to which they were going, was not that Emmaus near Tiberias, so called from the hot Baths there, for that was in Galilee, but a Village in the Tribe of Juda, sixty Furlongs from Jerusalem, say St. Luke and (c) Josephus, thirty, saith his Translator.

d Ver. 16. Οἱ δὲ ὀφθαλμοὶ αὐτῶν ἐκρατοῦντο, But their Eyes were held.] That they knew him not, might be, not because their Eyes were held by a Miracle, but because he appeared to them ἐν ἑτέρᾳ μορφῇ, in another Form or Shape, than that which formerly he had when he conversed with them, Mark 16. 12. and which when they knew him might be changed; for that their Eyes did not perceive him, through Grief, as Mr. le Cl. conjectures, is not very likely, for tho' they were sad, ver. 17. we read not that they wept; and seeing it is elsewhere said, that the Lord opened the Eyes of Balaam to see the Angel, Numb. 22. 31. and the Lord opened the Eyes of the young Man to see Chariots of Fire, 2 Kings 6. 17. and the Lord opened the Eyes of the Host of the King of Syria, ver. 20. which was withheld from seeing, or struck blind, ver. 18. I say, seeing in all these cases doubtless an extraordinary Power was exerted; I believe rather according to the plain import of the words, that God withheld the Eyes of Hagar from seeing the Well, and then opened her Eyes, Gen. 21. 19. by taking away that Impediment, and that here Christ some way withheld their Eyes from perceiving him, and then removing that Impediment opened their Eyes that they knew him.

Ver. 17. Τίνες οἱ λόγοι οὗτοι; What manner of Communication are these?] Christ asks, saith Woltzogenius, not because he knew not what they said, for what could he be ignorant of who knew Mens Hearts and Reins?

f Ver. 18. Σὺ μόνος παροικεῖς ἐν Ἱερουσαλὴμ; Art thou only a Stranger in Jeruſalem?] Παροικεῖν here may ſignifie to be extra patriam, one of another Country, and as ſo a Stranger to the Affairs of Judea and Jeruſalem. So the Seed of Abraham was πάροικον ἐν γῇ ἀλλοτρίᾳ, Stranger's in another Country, Acts 7. 6. Moſes was πάροικος, a Stranger in the Land of Midian, ver. 29. The Gentiles, not yet called to be Fellow Citizens with the Saints, are ξένοι καὶ πάροικοι, Strangers and Aliens, Eph. 2. 19. And according to this Metaphor the Patriarchs are ſaid παροικεῖν, to ſojourn in the Land of Promiſe as in a ſtrange Country, Heb. 11. 9. The Chriſtians to live in this World, ὡς πάροικοις, as Strangers and Pilgrims, 1 Pet. 2. 11. the time they ſpend here is the time παροικίας ὑμῶν, of their ſojourning, 1 Pet. 1. 17. So alſo the (d) Philoſophers held, that Heaven was their own Country, that they were τὴν τοῦ ὑπερτάτου τὴν ἀνωτάτω πολίν, Citizens of the City above, and Strangers in this World. Hence any one who is ignorant of what is done in any place, is ſtiled a Stranger in it. So (e) Antoninus ſaith they are ξένοι κόσμου, Strangers in the World, who know not what is done in it. And (f) Cicero ſpeaks thus to Atticus, I deſire thee, ne illuc hoſpes veniam, that I may not come thither as a Stranger, that is, as ignorant of things done there. And again, 'tis ſomething for him that comes to Rome, non eſſe Hoſpitem, & Peregrinum, not to be ignorant of what is done there; and in his familiar Epiſtles he writes for Inſtructions in what is done in the Common-wealth, (g) ne Hoſpes plane veniam, that he might not come thither as a Stranger; So here, Art thou a Stranger? i. e. art thou ignorant of things well known to all that dwell at Jeruſalem?

g Ver. 20. Εἰς κρίμα θανάτου, To the Sentence of Death.] So 1 Kings 13. 28. all Iſrael heard τὸ κρίμα τοῦτο, this judicial Sentence of King Solomon: τὸ κρίμα τοῦ Μωὰβ, is God's Sentence againſt Moab, Jer. 48. 46. and τὸ κρίμα Βαβυλῶνος, his Sentence againſt Babylon, ch. 51. 9. Let my Sentence τὸ κρίμα μου, come forth from thy Preſence, ſaith the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 17. 3. See the Note on Rom. 3. 4.

h Ver. 25. Oh Fools!] Hence note, that the Command, Matth. 5. 22. is not always tranſgreſſed by this Expreſſion, but only then when it is uſed without cauſe, from an undue commotion of Spirit, or a Mind evilly affected towards our Brother.

i Ver. 27. Καὶ ἀρξάμενος ἀπὸ Μωσέως, And beginning from Moſes, he expounded the things concerning him.] If the things concerning him, relate to his Sufferings and future Glory, mentioned in the preceding Verſe, we may hence learn, that the Moſaical Sacrifices, and eſpecially the ſolemn Anniverſary Expiation, typified the Sufferings of Chriſt; as alſo did the Oblation of Iſaac, and the lifting up of the Brazen Serpent.

k Ver. 28. Προσεποιεῖτο πορρώτερον πορεύεσθαι, He made as if he would have gone farther.] Yea, perhaps he would have done ſo, had they not been urgent with him to abide with them, ver. 29. or he ſeemed to them by continuing on his courſe, to be willing ſo to do: So Mark 6. 48. ἤθελε παρελθεῖν αὐτούς, he would have paſſed by them; not that Chriſt intended this, but that he ſeemed to them by continuing his courſe on the Sea, to be willing ſo to do: Here therefore was no Diſſimulation in Chriſt, but only in the Diſciples and Apoſtles a miſtaken conjecture from his Walking. Now, tho' words ought to be the certain Interpreters of our Minds, and therefore ought not to be uſed ſo as that we may be deceived by them, yet Walking hath no certain ſignification, nor was inſtituted to be a certain indication of the Mind; and ſo there ſeems here to be no juſt occaſion for the long Diſcourſes which ſome hence make of Lying, Simulation, or Diſſimulation; here being no inſtance of that kind.

l Ver. 29. Καὶ παρεβιάσαντο αὐτὸν, And they conſtrained him, ſaying;] They laid this conſtraint upon him only by their earneſt deſire: So Lot, παρεβιάσατο, conſtrained the Angels to lodge with him, Gen. 19. 3. So Jacob conſtrained Eſau to accept his Preſent, Gen. 33. 11. So Judg. 19. 7. 2 Kings 2. 17. —5. 16. Matth. 11. 12. Luke 16. 16. Acts 16. 5. See Note on Gal. 2. 14.

m Ver. 30. Λαβὼν τὸν ἄρτον εὐλόγησε καὶ κλάσας ἐπεδίδου αὐτοῖς, He took Bread, and bleſſed it, and brake and gave it to them.] This he did, ſay the Papiſts, when he celebrated the Sacrament, Luke 22. 19. Therefore here alſo he celebrated the Sacrament, tho' in Bread only. This he did, ſay I, when he fed the four and the five thouſand; for then ἄρτους εὐλόγησε καὶ κλάσας ἔδωκε, he bleſſed the Bread, and breaking it, gave it to his Diſciples to give to the Multitude, Matth. 14. 19. Mark 6. 41.—8. 6. And will they ſay, that then alſo he celebrated the Sacrament before the Inſtitution of it? 2dly, To make of Bread a Sacrament, 'tis abſolutely neceſſary according to them, that Chriſt ſhould ſay, This is my Body, which here he ſaid not; if they rejoin that this is to be underſtood, I ſay with as much reaſon, That Wine, the uſual usual concomitant of a Supper, is to be understood; and so here will be no Example of Communicating in one Kind. 3*dly*, If Christ here celebrated a Sacrament without Wine, he also consecrated without Wine, which yet the Papists say is never to be done.

n Ver. 31. Καὶ ἐπέγνωσαν αὐτὸν, And they knew him.] Christ having now removed the Obstruction from their Eyes; for he would conceal himself from them for a season, that he might more freely discourse with them; when he had done that sufficiently, he would be known to them, for the confirmation of their Faith: And when they had obtained the certain knowledge of him, ἄφαντος ἐγένετο, he withdrew himself again out of their sight, either by a sudden change of Place, or by a Cloud cast over his Body: Whence we can no more argue, that he had only an aery Body, than that he had the like when ἐκρύβη, he hid himself, passing thro' the Jews, when they were about to stone him, Joh. 8. 59. Where this word is used of Pelops in (h) Pindar; it signifies one that was lost, and no where to be found, tho' much sought after, by the Men his Mother sent to look after him; and I grant to Mr. Cl. that a Man may be lost, and not found by them that seek after him without a Miracle, but ἄφαντος ἀπ' αὐτῶν ἐγένετο, he became invisible to them, or disappeared from them, seems to carry the Matter higher, tho' it may be otherwise.

o Ver. 34. Λέγοντας, Saying;] They found the Eleven, saying at their very Entrance, The Lord is risen, or those that were with them, ver. 33. thus greeting them before they could speak.

p Ver. 37. Ἐδόκουν πνεῦμα θεωρεῖν, They supposed they saw a Spirit; i. e. a Phantasm, or a Spirit assuming the Shape of Christ, and appearing to them in it, viz. because they heard no noise of any Doors opening, or of Feet moving towards them; and so, tho' they doubted not of Christ's Resurrection, ver. 34. yet might they for these Reasons doubt of this Appearance of him in the midst of them, without knocking at the Door for Entrance, or giving any Indications of his Coming to them.

q Ver. 39. See my Hand and Feet ψηλαφήσατέ με, handle me.] Christ proves, that he had a true Body from the Evidence of their Sight and Touch: And the Apostles testifie to the truth of the Resurrection of his Body, as being that which their Eyes had seen, and their Hands had handled, 1 Joh. 1. 2. Therefore those Senses must be sufficient to testifie to the truth of any body, and much more of the truth of the Substance of Bread remaining after the Sacrament, confirmed also by the Taste and Smell; and the Denial of this, must render the Argument of Christ here, and the Testimonies of the Apostles, infirm: Our Saviour goes on in confirmation of the same thing, by saying, A Spirit hath not flesh and Bones, as ye see me have. Now certain it is, that our Lord's Argument must be firm; it therefore must be certain, that evil Spirits cannot assume such a Body as will not yield unto the Touch, but only a meer Phantom, or an aerial Appearance of a Body, which cannot cheat the Touch and Eyes of Men. And, 2*dly*, That good Spirits, if they can assume a more solid Body, yet cannot put Illusions upon Men in things belonging to their Faith, or be sent by God for such Ends.

r Ver. 43. He did eat before them;] Not to satisfie any Hunger his Body could have after his Resurrection, but to prove to them that his Body was truly raised; and seeing it cannot be supposed, that Christ in this Action designed any Illusion, it follows from his truly eating, that his Body had those Parts by which Meat is chewed; and a Stomach to receive it.

s Ver. 44. All things must be fulfilled which are written ἐν τῷ νόμῳ Μωσέως, καὶ Προφήταις, καὶ ψαλμοῖς περὶ ἐμοῦ in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and the Psalms, concerning me.] This Division of the Books of the Old Testament obtained in our Saviour's time, as (i) Josephus witnesseth, who saith, We have only twenty two Divine Books; of which, five are the Books of Moses, thirteen the Writings of the Prophets, four contain Hymns to God, and Documents of Life; of which Hymns, the Psalms obtained the first place.

t Ver. 45. Τότε διήνοιξεν αὐτῶν τὸν νοῦν, Then he opened their Minds, that they might understand the Scriptures.] It is one thing to open τὰς γραφὰς, the Scriptures themselves, or to explain them; and another, to open their Understandings to perceive them; Christ did the latter, probably by giving them now some First Fruits of that Spirit of Prophesie which fell more plentifully on them at the Day of Pentecost.

u Ver. 48. Ὑμεῖς δὲ ἐστε μάρτυρες τούτων, And ye are Witnesses of these things.] Christ's Resurrection being a Matter of Fact, must be proved by the Testimony of Eye witnesses, who, if they be honest Men, and such as suffer the greatest Prejudices in Fortunes, Reputation, and Life, for this Testimony,

THE PREFACE TO THE Gospel of St. John.

BY way of Preface to this Gospel I shall endeavour to shew,

1*st*, Against some ancient Hereticks, and modern Socinians, that not Cerinthus, but St. John the Evangelist was the true Writer of this Gospel.

2*dly*, At what time he writ it, and upon what occasion. And,

3*dly*, Why Christ still speaketh in this Gospel, as one that did, and could do nothing of himself, but acted all things by Commission from, and by the Authority, and Power of God the Father. And,

§. 1. 1*st*, That not Cerinthus, but St. John the Evangelist was the true Writer of this Gospel may be concluded;

1*st*, From these words, Chap. 21. 22, 23. Then went this Saying abroad among the Brethren, that that Disciple should not die; 24. this is that Disciple which testifies of these things, and wrote these things. For, (1*st*,) Hence it is evident, that he who wrote that Gospel was a Disciple of our Lord, which Cerinthus never was. (2*dly*,) That he was that Disciple whom Jesus loved, and who leaned on his Breast at Supper, and who said, Lord, who is it that betrayeth thee? ver. 20. Now this is the constant Periphrasis of St. John the Evangelist, throughout this Gospel, viz. John 13. 23.—19. 26.—21. 7. the whole Christian World having still applied these Sayings to St. John, who being in this Gospel still mentioned by this Periphrasis, and never by his proper Name, as he is in the other Evangelists, no better reason can be given of this, than that he was the Writer of this Gospel, and therefore named not himself. And (3*dly*,) It was that Disciple of whom the Fame went abroad among the Brethren that he should not die; now this was so constantly applied to St. John the Evangelist, that some of the Ancients declare he died not at all, but was translated, and others, that he only lay sleeping in his Grave. See Dr. Cave in the Life of St. John, Sect. 8, 9. and it was he alone of the twelve Apostles who tarried till our Lord came to the Destruction of Jerusalem, which he outlived many Years. See Note on Chap. 21. ver. 22.

2*dly*, For this we have the Testimony of all the ancient Fathers of the Church, they all concurring in this as an unquestionable Truth, that this Gospel was written by St. John the Apostle of our Lord. This follows from what hath been already proved in the general Preface, viz. That the four Gospels were generally received by the universal Church of God, as Gospels written by those Authors whose Names they bear. Add to this, that the Gospel of St. John was, saith (a) Eusebius, always reckoned among τὰς ἀνομολογουμένας γραφὰς, the Books not controverted among Christians. And again, that the Gospel of John must be received as being known to all the Churches of the World; and a third time, that this Gospel, with his first Epistle, was without Controversie, admitted both by the Ancients, and by those of his time, (b) Irenæus informs us that Ἰωάννης ὁ μαθητὴς τοῦ Κυρίου, John the Disciple of our Lord, who leaned upon his Breast, writ his Gospel Gospel at Ephesus. (c) Clemens of Alexandria saith, Ἰωάννῃ πνεύματι θεοφορηθέντα, that St. John being moved by an Afflatus of the Spirit, writ this spiritual Gospel. (d) Origen reckons the Gospel of St. John among τὰ ἀναντίῤῥητα, the Gospels received without Dispute by every Church under Heaven. And Tertullian, among the Apostles which instructs us in the Faith reckons St. Matthew and St. John; among the Apostolical Men that do it, Mark and Luke, Contr. Marcion. l. 4. cap. 2.

3*dly*, They who ascribed this Gospel to Cerinthus, were guilty of a great Absurdity, as (e) Epiphanius observes, for how could those things be wrote by Cerinthus, which do in direct Terms contradict his Doctrine? he asserted as (f) Tertullian, and others of the Ancients testifie, the Doctrine of the Ebionites, that Christ was born as other Men, and was a mere Man without the Divinity; Whereas the Author of this Gospel declares him to be the Word which in the beginning was with God, and was God, and that all things were made by him, and not by a Virtue far separate and distant from God, as, saith (g) Irenæus, Cerinthus held; Cerinthus therefore could not be the Author of this Gospel, unless we will suppose that he forged a Gospel under the Name of an Apostle, on purpose to condemn his own Opinions. And this Consideration is strengthened by the Tradition of many of the primitive Fathers, and others, who say expressly, this Gospel was written by St. John the Disciple of our Lord, to (h) remove that Error which Cerinthus had dispersed among Men; or that he writ it against the Doctrine of the Ebionites.

And, Lastly, Whereas some Unitarians have the Confidence to conclude this Gospel was written by Cerinthus, because he, and his Followers did use this Gospel, it appears from (i) Irenæus and Epiphanius, that they did constantly reject it, and use only the Gospel of St. Matthew, and not that entirely.

§. 2. The other Objections of the same Persons against this Gospel are the Fruits of Ignorance. For whereas,

1*st*, They say that 'the other Evangelists 'agree, that immediately after his Baptism 'our Lord was led into the Wilderness to 'be tempted forty days; this Forger of 'St. John's Gospel saith, the next day after '(his Baptism) our Saviour spake with Andrew and Peter, and the day after went to 'Galilee.

Answ. This is a miserable Mistake, of the next day after the Baptist returned his Answer to the Pharisees enquiring who he was, and why he baptized, John 1. 29. for, the next day after Christ's Baptism. The Series of the Story lieth thus, Christ being newly baptized goes into the Wilderness, and leaveth John at Jordan on Judea side. In the time of our Lord's Temptation, John having finished his Work at Jordan goes over into the Country beyond Jordan, out of the Precincts of Judea, and into the Scythopolitan Region, and baptizeth at Bethabara, at a Water distinct from Jordan, and somewhat above it; thither some Pharisees are sent to him, by Commission from the Sanhedrim, to enquire of the Authority by which he baptized; the next day after they had made this Enquiry, Christ cometh in sight, and John bears Record to him; and the next day after that he renews his Record, saying in the presence of Andrew, behold the Lamb of God, ver. 29, ---37. and he following Christ, finds out Simon, and brings him to Christ.

Object. 2. 'The other three Evangelists 'suppose all along that our Saviour preached 'but one Year, and therefore they reckon but 'one Passover, but (the pretended) St. John 'counts three Years, and three Passovers before 'his Death, which seems to be an unaccountable Contradiction.

Answ. But here again we find nothing but Mistakes, for none of the three Evangelists suppose that our Saviour preached but one Year. This, at the first, was the Opinion of the (k) Valentinians, and other Gnosticks, not of the Apostles or Evangelists, and it is confuted by Irenæus from the Passovers of St. John; tho' some of the Fathers fell into the same Error, not on the account of these Evangelists, but of the Prophet Isaiah, saying, he was sent to preach the acceptable Year of the Lord, Isa. 61. 2. that is, the Year of Jubilee. See Note on Luke 4. 19.

2*dly*, Tho' the other Evangelists mention expressly but one Passover at the close of Christ's Life, of which they speak to shew he was the true Paschal Lamb; yet are they so so far from contradicting, that they confirm St. John's account of more Passovers during the time of our Lord's Preaching. For, (1.) St. Matthew, Chap. 12. 1. St. Mark, Chap. 2. 23. St. Luke, Chap. 6. 1. speak of our Lord's Disciples plucking Ears of Corn on the Sabbath-day, and rubbing them in their Hands, and eating the Corn; whereas till after the Passover was over, and the First-fruit's Sheaf offered, which was always done the second day after the Passover, it was not lawful to eat either parched Corn, or green Ears, Levit. 23. 14. this therefore is a sufficient Indication of one Passover then past. And this is still clearer from the Words of St. Luke, who says they did this ἐν Σαββάτῳ δευτεροπρώτῳ, on the first Sabbath after the second day of the Passover, or after the Oblation of the First-fruit's Sheaf. See the Note there. So that (l) Epiphanius saith truly ἵνα δείξῃ ἐντεῦθεν, hence it is proved, that not St. John only, but St. Luke, and the other Evangelists mention more than one Passover. St. John mentions another Passover, Chap. 6. 4. in these Words, and the Feast of the Passover was near, and then immediately follows the mention of the feeding five thousand People with five Loaves, and two little Fishes; now this Miracle is recorded, Matth. 14. 15. Mark 6. 35. Luke 9. 12. And so they all suppose our Lord was also preaching at this other Passover.

§. 3. 2*dly*, As for the second Enquiry, at what time, and upon what occasion this Gospel was written by St. John, Irenæus saith only in the general, that he writ his Gospel during his stay at Ephesus in Asia; but whether he writ it there before his Banishment from thence by Domitian, or after his Return from it, or in the Isle of Patmos to which he was exil'd, he saith not. The (m) Fathers of the fourth and fifth Centuries do all agree, that he writ it either (n) in that Isle, or after his Return from it, when he was ninety Years old; saith (o) Epiphanius, when he was an hundred, saith (p) Chrysostom. So that according to the Account of all these Ecclesiastical Writers, St. John must have writ this Gospel a considerable time after the Destruction of Jerusalem.

And yet the latter Writers and Commentators upon this Gospel have almost generally gone off from this Opinion, asserting that St. John writ this Gospel in the (q) thirty second or thirty third Year after our Lord's Ascension. And,

§. 4. 3*dly*, Touching the occasion of the Writing of it, (r) St. Jerom having told us that St. John writ this Gospel, Rogatus ab Asiæ Episcopis adversus Cerinthum, aliosque Hæreticos, At the Desire of the Bishops of Asia against Cerinthus, and the Heresie of the Ebionites, who held that our Lord was a mere Man, unde & compulsus est divinam ejus Nativitatem edicere, and so he was compelled to speak of his Divine Original, in which Opinion most of the latter Writers agree with him; he adds another Cause of writing this Gospel, current before, and in his Time, viz. That (f) having perused and approved the other three Gospels, he supplied what was wanting in them, especially as to what our Saviour did before John was cast into Prison. Accordingly Clemens of Alexandria and Eusebius say that St. John observing that the other Evangelists had written, τὰ σωματικὰ, that is, the Series of our Lord's Generation according to the Flesh, he writ a spiritual Gospel beginning from the Divinity of Christ, this being reserved for him, as the most excellent Person, by the Holy Ghost. See and compare Euseb. Hist. Eccl. lib. 3. c. 24. with lib. 6. c. 14. And that he did this to supply those excellent Discourses, and those signal Miracles which the other Evangelists had omitted, seems manifest from the whole Tenor of this Gospel.

§. 5. I proceed to the third Enquiry, why Christ still speaketh in this Gospel, as one who did, and could do nothing of himself, but acted all things by Commission from, and by the Power and Authority of God the Father.

This is a matter of very great Importance, for it is observable, that whereas Crellius in his Book De uno Deo Patre, Sect. 2. reckons up thirty six Arguments against the Divinity of Christ; and Woltzogenius in his Præparatio ad utilem lectionem librorum Novi Testamenti, reckoneth up sixty against it, one half of them are taken from some Passages of this Gospel. And the same Author, in his Prolegomena to this Gospel, saith, that in no Writing of the Evangelists, or Apostles, are there more Arguments against the Devinity of Christ, than in this Gospel. Nor have I yet been so happy as to see one Author who hath given a sufficient, clear, and satisfactory Answer to the Arguments produced from this Gospel against that necessary Article: And I could heartily wish that Men so skill'd in the Controversies betwixt us, and the Socinians, as Dr. Edwards of Jesus College is, would rather give us a clear Answer to the Arguments of Crellius de uno Deo Patre, against the Divinity of Christ, which is too much wanted, than furnish us with Antidotes against Socinianism, by producing Arguments against it, whilst that, and such like Books unanswered, seem to be Antidotes against Antidotes.

I have endeavoured in my Annotations on this Gospel to do this, by asserting that our Blessed Lord did execute his Prophetick Office by virtue of that Unction of the Holy Ghost which he received at his Baptism; and that all the things which the Socinians urge from this Gospel as Arguments against his Divine Nature, were spoken by him as acting in that Office here on Earth; not by an immediate Efflux, or Exertion of his Divinity, but by virtue of the Holy Ghost conferred upon him without measure. And that I may not seem singular in this Assertion, I shall strengthen it with the Suffrage of some of our most able, and judicious Divines, and then confirm it from the plain Testimonies of Scripture, and our Lord's own Words. Now of those able, and judicious Divines, who concur with me in this Notion, the first is Dr. Barrow, who in his Sermon on these words, Acts 2.38. Ye shall receive the Gift of the Holy Ghost, saith thus, (t) 'The Holy Spirit not only conducted God our Saviour into his fleshly Tabernacle, and with unmeasurable Communications of himself, did continually reside within him, but also did attend him in the conspicuous Performance of innumerable miraculous Works of Power and Goodness, exceeding not only any natural, but all created Power. Such as were by mere Word, and Will, healing the Sick, and restoring the Maimed, ejecting evil Spirits, discerning the secret Thoughts of Men, foretelling contingent Events, reviving the Dead, raising himself from the Grave; which Works, some expressly, others by parity of Reason, are ascribed to the Holy Spirit; for if, saith our Lord, I by the Spirit of God cast out Devils, Matth. 12. 28. and God, saith St. Peter, anointed him with the Holy Ghost, and with Power, Acts 10. 38.

The second is the judicious (u) Dr. Scott, who speaks thus, 'When Christ came down into the World, to transact personally with Men, he generally acted by the Holy Spirit, for at his Baptism we are told, that the Holy Ghost descended on him in a bodily Shape, Luke 3. 22. upon which it is said, that he went away full of the Holy Ghost, Luke 4. 1. After which, it is plain that it was by the Holy Ghost in him that he prophesied, and wrought his Miracles, for so Isa. 61. 1. the Prophet attributes the whole Prophesie of Christ to the Spirit of the Lord, which was upon him; and in Matth. 12. 28. our Saviour himself affirms, that he cast out Devils by the Spirit of God; and therefore he saith that the Jews, by attributing his miraculous Works to the Devil, blasphemed against the Holy Ghost, Matth. 12. 31. because it was by the Power of the Holy Ghost, that he wrought them.

The last is Dr. Lightfoot, who in his Note on Mark 13. 32. saith, 'We must distinguish between the Excellencies, and Perfections of Christ, which flowed from the Hypostatical Union of the two Natures, and those which flowed from the Donation, and anointing of the Holy Spirit. From the Hypostatical Union of the Natures flowed the infinite Dignity of his Person, his Impeccability, his Self-sufficiency to observe the Law, and to satisfie the Divine Justice; from the anointing of the Spirit, flowed his Power of Miracles, his Fore-knowledge of things to come, and all kind of Knowledge of Evangelick Mysteries: Those rendred him a fit and perfect Redeemer, these a fit and perfect Minister of the Gospel.

To illustrate, and confirm this Assertion, let it be considered, 1st, That Jesus Christ, while he was on Earth, delivered all his Doctrines and Precepts in his Father's Name, or as one sent from him, and authorized to speak what he delivered in his Name, according to those words of his Fore-runner, He whom God hath sent, speaketh the Words of God, John 3. 34.

He himself often declares in express words, that he was come in his Father's Name, John 5. 43. that the Father had sent him, John 8. 29. that he came not of himself, but he sent him, ver. 42. that he came not to do his own Will, but the Will of him that sent him, Chap. 6. 38, 39, 40, 57. that the Works which he did bare witness of him, that the Father had sent him, John 5. 36, 37. that he spake those things which he had heard of and seen with his Father, Chap. 8. 26, 38. And that the Jews were guilty of great Sin in that they believed not in him whom the Father had sent, ſent, John 5. 38. Of his Doctrine he ſaith, my Doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me, and if any Man will do his Will he ſhall know of the Doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I ſpeak of my ſelf, Chap. 7. 16, 17. See the Note there. That he ſpake not from himſelf, but from him that ſent him, ver. 18. that as his Father had taught him, ſo he ſpake theſe Things, Chap. 8. 28. that he had told the Jews that Truth which he had heard of God, ver. 40. that the Word which they heard was not his, but the Father's that ſent him, Chap. 14. 24. that he had not ſpoken of himſelf, but the Father which ſent him gave him Commandment what he ſhould ſay, and what he ſhould ſpeak, whatſoever he ſpake therefore, even as the Father ſaid to him, ſo he ſpake, Chap. 12. 49, 50. And of his Diſciples he ſpeaks thus to his Father, I have given to them the Words which thou gaveſt me, and they have received them, and have known ſurely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou haſt ſent me, Chap. 17. 8. From all which Sayings he concludes, that he that heareth me, heareth him that ſent me, and he that believeth in me, believeth in him that ſent me, Chap. 12. 44. — 13. 20. Conſider, 2*dly*, That he preached his Doctrines, and delivered his Sayings to the Word, by virtue of that Spirit with which he was anointed; ſo we learn plainly from thoſe Words of John the Baptiſt, Chap. 3. 24. He whom God hath ſent ſpeaketh the Words of God, for God giveth not the Spirit by Meaſure to him. See the Note there. So alſo he himſelf declares in his firſt Sermon preached at Nazareth after his Temptations; for having read thoſe words of Iſaiah, Chap. 61. 1. The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, becauſe he hath anointed me to preach the Goſpel to the Poor, he hath ſent me to heal the Broken-hearted, to preach Deliverance to the Captives — to preach the acceptable Year of the Lord; he began to ſay to them, This Day is this Scripture fulfilled in your Ears, Luke 4. 18, 19, 21.

Moreover it ſeems eſſential to a Prophet to act as he is moved, aſſiſted, and incited by the Holy Ghoſt; for a Prophet, ſaith (x) Philo, ἴδιον μὲν οὐδὲν ἀποφθέγγεται, ſpeaks nothing from himſelf, but all things from another; no Propheſie being, ſaith St. Peter, ἰδίας ἐπιλύσεως, of the proper Motion, or Incitation of the Prophets, they ſpeaking ſtill as they were moved by the Holy Ghoſt, 2 Pet. 1. 20, 21. And it is eſſential to a Prophet ſent from God, and ſpeaking in his Father's Name, to ſpeak that only which he had received from him, even as other Prophets did, that is, by Inſpiration of the Holy Ghoſt; whence by this Spirit our great Prophet is ſaid to be ſanctified, or conſecrated to his Office, and ſent into the World, Chapter 10. 36.

Prop. 3. The Miracles he did on Earth in Confirmation of his Miſſion, and his Doctrine, were alſo done by the Aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt. So we learn plainly from theſe words of the Apoſtle Peter, Acts 10. 37, 38. Ye know how God anointed Jeſus of Nazareth with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Power, (or with the Power of the Holy Ghoſt,) who (thereupon) went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the Devil, for God was with him. And Chriſt himſelf affirms in one Place, that he did caſt out Devils by the Finger, (i. e. the Power) of God, Luke 11. 20. and in another, that he did caſt them out by the Holy Ghoſt, Matth. 12. 28. from the Collation of which two places we may rationally conclude, that what he elſewhere ſaith, he did by the Power of God, was done by the Spirit of God abiding in him: Thus when our Lord came from the Wilderneſs, where he was tempted of the Devil, he goes throughout all Galilee, healing every Diſeaſe, and every Malady in the People, and the Fame of him goes out through all Syria, and they brought to him all ſick People, and all that were taken with divers Diſeaſes and Torments, and thoſe that were poſſeſſed with Devils, and thoſe that were Lunatick, and thoſe that had the Palſie, and he healed them, Mat. 4. 23, 24. Now by what Power he healed all theſe Diſeaſes, and Maladies, which raiſed this Fame of him in Galilee, St. Luke inſinuates, by ſaying, He returned in the Power of the Holy Ghoſt into Galilee, and the Fame of him was ſpread throughout all that Region, Luke 4. 14.

Moreover, our Lord declares he did his Miracles by the Father abiding in him, bidding the Jews believe his Works, that they might know, and believe that the Father was in him, and he was in the Father, Joh. 10. 37, 38. and Chap. 14. he proves, that he is in the Father, and the Father in him, becauſe, ſaith he, the Father that dwelleth in me, he doth the Works, v. 10. and v. 11. he adds, Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me, or elſe believe me for the Works ſake. Now theſe Works being done, as hath been proved, by the Holy Ghoſt, it follows that he muſt be here ſaid to be in the Father, and the Father in him, becauſe the Spirit of the Father ſtiled the Power of the moſt High, Luke 1. 35. reſided in him without Meaſure. And having promiſed to ſend the Holy Ghoſt upon them, and ſaid, they ſhould do greater Works than he had done, becauſe he went to the Father, to ſend this Promiſe of the Father, ver. 12, 17. he adds, ver. 20. In that day ye ſhall know, that I am in the Father, and you in me, and I in you. Now it is certain, that Chriſt was in his Apoſtles by his Spirit abiding with them, ver. 16. and that they were in him by the ſame Spirit uniting them to their Head Chriſt, Eph. 2. 22.—3. 16, 17.—4. 16. and therefore Chriſt muſt be here ſaid to be in the Father by the Spirit of his Father; See the Note there, and ſee more Proofs of this, Note on John 17. 19, 20, 22. ſo that from theſe things I conclude, That Jeſus Chriſt being then in the State of Humiliation, and emptied of the Form of God, acted, in things relating immediately to his Prophetick Office, not as God, but only as a Prophet ſent from God, not by the Power of his Divine Nature, but of that Spirit by which he was anointed, and ſanctified to that Office: Tho' being alſo God of the ſame Eſſence derived from the Father, he might do many other Things by virtue of his Divinity, by that diſcerning what was in the Hearts of all Men, by that walking on the Sea, and ſtilling the ſtormy Winds with a word, which he did only in the Preſence of his Diſciples; and by that doing many other things of a like Nature.

Moreover, his Divinity being part of that Doctrine which he was to publiſh, he might upon occaſion aſſert it, by ſaying, God was properly his Father, and He was properly his Son; and that he and his Father was one, and that all Men were to worſhip the Son even as they worſhipped the Father; with other things of a like Nature, relating to his Divinity.

The Objection of the Socinians againſt this Hypotheſis, is fully anſwered Note on Matth. 3. 16.

POSTSCRIPT.

I Come now to the chief Controverſie betwixt me and Mr. Whiſton, which is concerning the time of Chriſt's Preaching, and his Baptiſm.

He ſaith Prop. the 8th, "That the "beginning of our Saviour's Miniſtry, "both as to his Preaching, and Mira- "cles, commenced ſoon after that of John "the Baptiſt, towards the beginning of "the famous fifteenth Year of Tiberius, long before his own Baptiſm, i. e. according to his computation near two Years before it

Now to this Propoſition, I oppoſe the contradictory Aſſertion of (a) Cyril of Jeruſalem, viz. That Jeſus Chriſt preached not before his Baptiſm, but then only began to preach when the Holy Ghoſt bodily deſcended on him in the ſhape of a Dove: And this probably he might know from the Tradition of the Jewiſh Converts, who might be baptized with him. Agreeable to this Aſſertion is that of (b) Euſebius of Paleſtine, That our Lord beginning to be thirty, came to John's Baptiſm, καὶ ἀπ' ἐκείνου τε ποιεῖ τριακοντα ἐτῶν κ) τὸ εὐαγγέλιον κηρύσσειν, and from thence he began to preach the Goſpel, (c) Epiphanius, who was born in Paleſtine of Jewiſh Parents, ſaith, That our Lord came to the Baptiſm of St. John the Baptiſt in the 30th Year of his Incarnation, κ) ἀπενθένδε, and from that time preach'd the acceptable Year of the Lord. And laſtly, (d) Irenæus ſaith, That he neither could have Diſciples, nor could teach before he began to be thirty, Magiſtri ætatem non habens; but then he came to his Baptiſm, triginta quidem annorum exiſtens cum veniret ad Baptiſmum, deinde Magiſtri ætatem perfectam habens, being then of perfect Age to be a Teacher. And hence aroſe that (e) Canon of the Church, to ordain a Presbyter τριάκοντα ὄντα ἐτῶν, when he was thirty Years old. This being by all the Fathers (one alone excepted) gathered, and thought certain from St. Luke, that Chriſt came to his Baptiſm when he was in his 30th Year; ſee the Note on Luke 3. 33. where this is proved, and the ſenſe of the words of St. Luke is fully conſidered: And ſaith (f) Langius, That which hath this full conſent of Antiquity, and is agreeable to Scripture, is certainly the truth.

2*dly*, It is the expreſs Aſſertion of St. Luke, That the Baptiſt began his Miniſtry in the fifteenth Year of Tiberius; for then, ſaith he, the Word of the Lord came to him, and he came forth preaching the Baptiſm of Repentance, Luke 3. 2, 3. and it is the general Aſſertion of all Antiquity, that Chriſt was baptized in the ſame Year; it is therefore impoſſible that either John ſhould ſo long begin to preach, or that Chriſt ſhould preach ſo long, as he ſaith he did, before his Baptiſm. And, ſiſt in this; that they ſaid nothing of the time of the beginning of Chriſt's Preaching, (which, ſaith he, was from his Baptiſm by John in Jordan,) till after John's impriſonment, whereas the Evangeliſt St. John begins there, (i. e. at the beginning of Chriſt's Preaching after his Baptiſm,) ſaying, This beginning of Miracles did Jeſus; and goes on through all the time of John's baptizing afterward, till his Impriſonment, as he ſhews by ſaying, John was baptizing in Ænon, near Salim, for John was not yet caſt into Priſon, John 3. 23. Who ſees not now that Euſebius places all the time of Chriſt's Preaching mentioned by St. John from the ſecond to the fifth Chapter, betwixt Chriſt's Baptiſm, and St. John Baptiſt's being caſt into Priſon: Now this being the way that Jerom, Euſebius, and all the Ancients, who undertook to anſwer the Cavils of Porphyry, and others, who queſtioned the truth of the Goſpels, took to reconcile the Evangeliſts in this matter, demonſtrates that they knew, and believed nothing of this new Revelation, that our Saviour preached about two Years before his Baptiſm.

3*dly*, That which Mr. Whiſton offers from (g) Euſebius in favour of his Opinion, is a perfect demonſtration againſt it; for he ſaith, St. John writ his Goſpel to ſupply the defects of the other Evangeliſts, who had omitted τὴν ἀρχὴν ἐν πρώτοις κ) καθ' ἀρχὰς τοῦ κηρύσσειν τοῦ τοῦ Χριστοῦ πεπραγμένων διήγησιν, the Narrative of the things done by Chriſt at the beginning of his Preaching: Now, ſaith the ſame Euſebius, in the ſame Book, Chriſt beginning to be thirty Years old, came to John's Baptiſm, καὶ ἀφ' ἐκείνου τε ποιεῖ τριακοντα, &c. and from thence he began to preach the Goſpel; moreover, he makes the defect of the other Evangeliſts to conſiſt

To proceed now to the Arguments from Scripture concurring with the Suffrage of Antiquity, I aſſert,

1*ſt*, That John the Baptiſt did ſee the Holy Spirit deſcending from Heaven, and abiding upon Chriſt at his Baptiſm. This is evident, (1*ſt*,) from the nature of the thing, it being almoſt inconceivable that there ſhould be ſuch a glorious opening of the Heavens, and ſuch a viſible deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt in a bodily Shape, and that he who ſtood by all the while, and ſaw Chriſt come out of the Water, ſhould not diſcern what was more viſible, as being a more glorious Appearance.

2*dly*, This ſeemeth farther evident from the words following, ϗ ἰδοὺ, and behold a Voice from Heaven, ſaying, ὅτι, this is my beloved Son; for as in the like caſe, ϗ ἰδοὺ, and behold a Voice out of the Cloud, ſaying, ὅτι, This is my beloved Son, hear him, Matth. 17. 5. was an Advertiſement to the Diſciples preſent there, that God from Heaven gave them this Teſtimony concerning him who was transfigured before them; ſo the ϗ ἰδοὺ ὅτι, And behold this, &c. Matth. 3. 17. muſt be an Advertiſement to the Baptiſt, that he on whom the Holy Ghoſt thus deſcended, was the Son of God. And hence John's Teſtimony is thus related, Chap. 1. 32, 33, 34. He that ſent me to baptize, ſaid, On whomſoever thou (baptizing) ſeeſt the Spirit deſcending, and abiding on him, he it is that baptizeth with the Holy Ghoſt; and I ſaw (this,) and (hearing alſo at the ſame time the Voice from Heaven ſaying, This is my beloved Son,) I teſtified that this is the Son of God.

Nor is it any Objection to the contrary, that St. Mark, Chap. 1. 11. and St. Luke, Chap. 3. 22. give the words of the Voice from Heaven thus, Thou art my beloved Son; for as neither of them hath the Advertiſement to behold, which St. Matthew hath, ſo he that ſaith to another of Chriſt in his Audience, This is my beloved Son, ſaith in effect to him, Thou art ſo.

Hence I infer, That the Baptiſt ſaw not the Holy Ghoſt deſcending upon Chriſt as a Dove before Chriſt's Baptiſm, and conſequently that his Teſtimony of this matter, John 1. 32. muſt relate to what he had ſeen at his Baptiſm, ſince otherwiſe the Baptiſt muſt have ſeen him twice deſcending thus upon Chriſt, in the very ſame ſhape, and after the ſame manner; whereas, if by the firſt Viſion, the Sign of the Meſſiah promiſed to him was ſo fully given him, that he declares that he had ſeen it, and by it was enabled to teſtifie Chriſt was the Son of God, what need was there of a ſecond Viſion, or to what end was it deſigned.

3*dly*, There is no reaſon to ſay, that the Holy Ghoſt deſcended twice in the ſame Shape, and with the ſame Circumſtances from Heaven upon Chriſt, as this Opinion doth ſuppoſe, ſince by the firſt Deſcent upon him he muſt be ſufficiently ſanctified, and conſecrated to his Office. Moreover, he ſpeaks of himſelf, John 3. 17. as of one ſent into the World by the Father, and therefore ſanctified already, John 10. 36. And the Baptiſt ſpeaks of him, not only as one who teſtified what he had ſeen and heard (at his Baptiſm,) but alſo as one ſent from God, and filled with his Spirit above meaſure, and who had all things put into his hands, complaining that no Man received his Teſtimony, tho' God the Father had ſet his Seal unto it, ver. 31——34. Now is it reaſonable to conceive, as Mr. Whiſton's Opinion forces us to do, that all this ſhould be ſaid by Chriſt, and by the Baptiſt, before that Baptiſm in which alone the Father had declared him to be his beloved Son.

Object. It is objected, That when Chriſt came to be baptized of John, he not only knew him, but ſpeaks thus to him, I have need to be baptized of thee, and comeſt thou to me? Which words imply not only his Knowledge who he was, but alſo that he

he baptized as well as himſelf; yet after his Baptiſm was over, and not before, Jeſus went up out of the Water, and the Heavens were opened, &c. ſince then the Baptiſt ſaid, I knew him not, but had this Signal given me whereby to know him, viz. the Deſcent and Abode of the Holy Ghoſt, how comes he to be ſo well acquainted with him before his Baptiſm, as the words above-mentioned do imply?

Anſw. 1. To this I anſwer, (1ſt,) That as theſe words, He it is that baptizeth with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Fire, do not intimate that Chriſt did then, or whilſt he was on Earth, do this, but only that he was to do it after his Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, John 7. 39. Acts 1. 5. 11. 16. So the words of the Baptiſt, I have need to be baptized of thee, do not intimate the Baptiſt's knowledge that Jeſus then baptized, (partly becauſe it is not true, ſince Jeſus baptized not whilſt John was at Jordan, but only when he was baptizing at Ænon, John 3. 23. partly becauſe Jeſus himſelf baptized not, but his Diſciples only, John 4. 2. and ſurely John who had commiſſion from God to uſe this Baptiſm, and probably had baptized theſe Diſciples, could not need their Water-Baptiſm;) they therefore only ſignifie, that Chriſt was the Perſon who ſhould afterwards baptize with the Holy Ghoſt and Fire, and that John needed that Baptiſm which would enable him to work Miracles, and to ſpeak with unknown Tongues.

Anſw. 2. 2dly, I anſwer, That John the Baptiſt being filled with the Holy Ghoſt from his Mother's Womb, Luke 1. 15. knew by the afflatus of that Spirit, that he who then came to him was the very Perſon on whom the Holy Ghoſt ſhould deſcend ſo glorioufly, and on whom he ſhould abide, that he might impart him to others, ſuch Matters being frequently imparted to holy Prophets by an immediate intimation of the Holy Ghoſt; ſo Simeon being told, he ſhould not die till he had ſeen the Lord's Chriſt, Luke 2. 26. had alſo an afflatus, declaring to him that our Lord was the Chriſt, ver. 27. 32. So Samuel being told by God, that on the morrow a Man ſhould come to him to be the Captain over his People Iſrael, 1 Sam. 9. 15. When Saul appears, had another afflatus reſembling that of the Baptiſt's here, viz. Behold the Man of whom I ſpake to thee, ver. 17. In a word, the Baptiſt being moved to ſay, When he baptized with Water, that another was coming after him who ſhould baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt; God tells him, that of this he ſhould ſee an Evidence by the viſible Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon that Perſon who from his fulneſs was to impart of this Spirit to all Believers; and when our Lord came to be baptized, tells him again, this was that very Perſon.

Anſw. 3. 3dly, It is not ſaid; I knew him not, but ἐκ ἤδειν αὐτὸν, I had not known him, John 1. 31, 33. and this is ſo ſaid as to give us juſt reaſon to believe, that this was ſaid after our Saviour's Baptiſm, for the words of the Baptiſt bear properly this ſenſe, And I had not known him, but that I came for this cauſe to baptize with Water, that he might be made manifeſt to Iſrael (by me,) then follow the words of the Evangeliſt, ver. 32. And John bare record, ſaying, I ſaw, (Gr. have ſeen) the Spirit deſcending from Heaven like a Dove, and it abode upon him, (which, as I have proved, the Baptiſt ſaw at his Baptiſm,) and no Man can prove that he ſaw this before. Then follow again the words of the Baptiſt, ver. 33. And I had not known him, (viz. by this Sign of the Spirit's deſcending on him,) but (that) he who ſent me to baptize with Water, the ſame (had) ſaid to me, upon whom thou ſhalt ſee the Spirit deſcending and remaining on him, the ſame is he who baptizeth with the Holy Ghoſt. Now, why is the Baptiſt ſo particular in ſaying twice, that he had not known him except he who ſent him to baptize had given him this Sign, if this Sign had not been given him at his baptizing of Chriſt; but long before, why doth he ſay, he came to baptize that he might be made manifeſt to Iſrael? (viz. by him baptizing) if he were not to be made manifeſt to him by his baptizing him, but long before. Why, Laſtly, ſhould a thing of ſo great moment to the confirmation of Chriſt's Miſſion, and the Baptiſt's Teſtimony of him, as this Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon Chriſt in this manner, ſo long before his Baptiſm, be never hinted in the leaſt in any place of the New Teſtament, the Scripture being as ſilent in it as in the Aſcent of Chriſt into Heaven after his Baptiſm, which the Socinians have imagined? To make this farther evident, conſider that the Baptiſt only ſaith in the other Evangeliſts, ἔρχεται, one cometh; or is coming after me, who ſhall baptize you with the Holy Ghoſt; but the Evangeliſt St. John begins his Teſtimony thus; John bare record, and cryed, ſaying; This is he of whom I ſaid, he that cometh after me is preferr'd before me, Chap. 1. ver. 15. Plainly, according to the Obſervation of the Ancients, beginning his Teſtimony after Christ's Baptism, whither the other Evangelists had only brought him; for when St. Matthew had introduced John, saying, One cometh after me, &c. whose Fan is in his hand, &c. he immediately adds τότε, then cometh Jesus to be baptized of John in Jordan; the words then this is he of whom I said this, must intimate that this was spoken after Christ's Baptism, and not almost two Years before it. Moreover, when the Priests and Levites sent from Jerusalem to Bethabara beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing, asked him, why he baptized? the Baptist answers, I baptize with Water, but there standeth Gr. ἕστηκεν, (hath stood) one among you whom ye know not, he it is who coming after me is preferr'd before me: Now (1*st*,) when had Christ stood in the midst of them, but when he came from Galilee to Jordan to be baptized of John, seeing we find not in all the Evangelists, that Jesus ever went any whither but to a Feast at Jerusalem when he was twelve Years old, till he went from Nazareth to Galilee to be baptized of John in Jordan? Mark 1. 9. Matth. 3. 13. Whereas the Evangelist St. John represents him first at Cana, then going thence to Capernaum as to his Abode, then to the Passover, then to Samaria, which shews that this was done after his Baptism. 2*dly*, These words whom ye know not, fairly intimate, that the Baptist then knew him, as also doth the demonstrative Pronoun ὅτος, this is he who coming after me, &c. and the words spoken the next day, This is he of whom I said, He that cometh after me is preferr'd before me; which, as I have shewed, were then said, when Christ came to be baptized of John; whereas the Baptist saith, I had not known him had not God given me this Sign of the Descent of the Holy Ghost upon him, to know he was that very Person: And therefore when Christ came to his Baptism, God saith first to John, by an afflatus, This is the very Person on whom thou shalt see this Sign, and then instantly upon his Baptism affords it to him. Moreover, the Evangelist adds, these things were done at Bethabara, where John was baptizing; they therefore must be spoken before the Baptist left that place to go to Ænon, and therefore after Christ's Baptism; for that the Baptist ever returned afterwards to Jordan, where Christ was baptized, we read not.

Object. 1. Christ was then only baptized when all the People had been so, Luke 3. 21.

Answ. To this I answer, That Christ was baptized of John in Jordan, Mark 1. 7. whereas John continued afterwards at Ænon, and the People came and were baptized of him there, John 3. 33. so that when St. Luke saith, When all the People were baptized, Jesus was baptized also; 'tis evident, he meaneth only all the People then present, or baptized at Jordan by him, Matth. 3. 5, 6. And hence the Scripture makes an exact distinction betwixt John's baptizing at Jordan, and afterwards at Ænon, and perhaps at other places, by saying, John 10. 40. that Christ went again beyond Jordan to the place, ὅπου Ἰωάννης ἦν τὸ πρῶτον βαπτίζων, where John was first baptizing, making it evident, that John still followed his Office after he had baptized Christ, baptizing still in other places; false therefore is the Inference from St. Luke's mentioning the Imprisonment of John before he speaks of Christ's Baptism, that our Saviour was baptized at Jordan at the conclusion of John's Ministry, that being only the place of John's first Baptism; after which, he comes to Ænon, in the half Tribe of Manasseh, within the Precincts of Samaria, and baptizeth, and the People come to him there, and were baptized, for John was not yet cast into Prison, John 3. 23, 24. St. Luke therefore speaks of John's Imprisonment by a long anticipation, that he might put all that he had to say of the Baptist together, which perhaps St. John intended to intimate, by saying the Baptist was not yet cast into Prison.

Object. 2. All the other Evangelists after Christ's Baptism, say nothing of him more, but that he was tempted in the Wilderness; and then when John was cast into Prison, ἀνεχώρησεν, he returned into Galilee, came to Nazareth, and so to Capernaum, Matth. 4. 12, 13. Mark 1. 14. Luke 4. 14. Whence it seems to follow, that Christ was baptized but a little before John was cast into Prison.

Answ. 1*st*, But how much more natural is the Observation of the Ancients, That the Evangelist St. John observing this, begins where they had ended, viz. at the first Appearance of our Blessed Lord after his Baptism, John 1. 29. and gave the Testimony of him recorded, ver. 15. and ver. 26, 27. a little before that.

Answ. 2. 2*dly*, All the other Evangelists speak only of the Baptist as the Fore-runner of Christ, or as one sent before him to prepare his way, and to preach the Baptism of Repentance to the People, πρὸ τῆς εἰσόδου αὐτοῦ, before the entrance of Christ upon his Office, Acts 13. 24. which, all these three Evangelists having told us that he did, and by what Arguments he enforced this Repentance on them, they all immediately subjoin join our Lord's coming to Jordan to be baptized of him, and the History of his ensuing Baptism; the Baptist being therefore only his Fore-runner till Christ by his Baptism was anointed with the Holy Ghost, and consecrated by this Unction to his Office, they had no more to say of the Baptist afterwards; and so they only speak of what Christ began to say after that John was cast into Prison, viz. the time is fulfilled, &c. Mark 1. 14, 15. But the Evangelist St. John speaks of the Baptist, not as the Fore-runner of, but as one sent to be a witness to Christ, chap. 1. 6. which he was enabled to be, only by what he saw and heard of Christ's Baptism, ver. 31, 33. before which time, he only spake indefinitely of one coming after him; but when he had baptized him, he saith demonstratively, This is he of whom I spake; and therefore he had reason to speak of him as long as he bore witness of him, as he afterwards amply did at Ænon, and of our Lord's Performances before John was cast into Prison; they being also Testimonies of Christ's Mission, and that he was the Son of God, and yet entirely omitted by the former Evangelists. And whereas,

3*dly*, It is said by the other Evangelists, That Christ returned again into Galilee; this well agrees with St. John, saying, After he had ended his whole History of the Baptist, that Christ ἀπῆλθε πάλιν, went again, or receded into Galilee, to avoid the Fury of the Pharisees, Chap. 4. 3. And it seems worthy of observation, that after Christ was baptized he came to Capernaum, saith St. Matthew, that what was spoken by the Prophet of the Land of Zebulon and Naphthali, in the Borders of which Capernaum lay, might be fulfilled; whereas, if Christ did what St. John mentions, Chap. 2. before his Baptism, he must have been there before, and probably have taken up his Abode there, John 2. 12. and must have done many Miracles there before; since, when he came to Nazareth, they spake thus to him, What things we have heard done in Capernaum, do also in thy own Country, Luke 4. 23. and so he needed not to come thither again after his Baptism to fulfil that Prophesie.

Object. 3. 3*dly*, From the connexion of the words of St. Luke concerning Christ's Temptation in the Wilderness. Chap. 4. 1. with those following, Ver. 13, 14. And Jesus returned in the Power of the Spirit into Galilee, and there went out a Fame of him throughout all the Region round about; it is argued that these two things must be immediately connected.

Answ. 1. This is said, not considering that both St. Matthew and St. Mark assure us, that this was only done after that John was cast into Prison; which, as I have shewed already, was long after our Lord's Baptism at Jordan.

Answ. 2. There is nothing more common in St. Luke than such connexion of things done a considerable time after one another: Thus when he had spoken of Christ's Circumcision, he immediately speaks of his Appearance at the Temple when he was forty Days old; and yet Mr. Whiston will have his Flight into Egypt, and his Return thence, to intervene. He introduceth John, saying, I baptize with Water, but one mightier than I cometh, the latchet of whose Shoes I am not worthy to unloose, Chap. 1. 16. and then follows Christ's Baptism, ver. 21. and yet the Baptist tells us, this was he of whom he had said this, John 1. 27. and so according to the Opinion of Mr. Whiston, he must have said this almost two Years before our Saviour's Baptism. Again, He speaks of the Baptist's imprisonment by Herod, Chap. 3. 20. before Christ's Baptism, and yet 'tis certain that he could not baptize Christ in Jordan after he was in Prison. In fine, having spoken of Christ's presentment in the Temple after he was forty Days old, Chap. 2. 39. He adds, ver. 40. That the Child being filled with Wisdom, encreased, and waxed strong in Spirit, which supposes him then of some Years capable of Wisdom.

Object. 4. But, saith Mr. Whiston, this Opinion that Christ was baptized before he did the things mentioned in the four first Chapters of St. John, puts a chasm of almost two Years betwixt Christ's Baptism, and his return to Galilee, after the imprisonment of the Baptist.

Answ. 1. It is somewhat surprizing to find that which hath been the observation of all the Fathers who have writ upon this Subject, from (a) Clemens Alex. to Theophylact, that is, for a thousand Years, turned now into an Objection; their Observation is this, That the other Evangelists have passed over over all that our Saviour did after his Baptiſm till John was caſt into Priſon; but the Evangeliſt St. John paſſing by all that they had ſaid of Chriſt to his Baptiſm, and Temptation, begins where they left off, and having told us of many things done after by Chriſt, he adds, that John was not yet caſt into Priſon; clearly ſhewing, that according to the Tradition they had received, the Evangeliſt ſpeaks in theſe four Chapters, of what hapned between the interval of Chriſt's Baptiſm and St. John's Impriſonment.

Anſw. 2. Moreover, ſeeing there muſt be a like chaſm of Time in theſe Evangeliſts, who ſpeak not one word of Chriſt's leaving Nazareth till he came thence to be baptized of John, or of his Preaching, Miracles, or baptizing others before he was himſelf baptized, what abſurdity is it to place this chaſm after Chriſt's Baptiſm, as the (b) Ancients do, who alſo poſitively ſay, that Chriſt preached not before he was baptized, rather than againſt the Suffrage of all Antiquity, to place it before his Baptiſm. This will be farther evident from the words of St. Peter, rightly interpreted, viz. of thoſe who have accompanied with us all the time that our Lord Jeſus went in and out among us, ἀρξάμενος ἀπὸ βαπτίσματος Ἰωάννου, (he beginning ſo to do from the Baptiſm of John till the Day that he was taken up from us,) muſt one be choſen to be a witneſs of his Reſurrection, Acts 1. 20, 21. For, (1*ſt*,) I have proved Note on ver. 20. That to go in and out is to perform his Prophetick Office. (2*dly*,) Thoſe words beginning from the Baptiſm of John, cannot be expounded truly of Chriſt's Entrance on his Office at the beginning of John's Baptiſm; for then the Baptiſt could not be Chriſt's Fore-runner, nor could he repreſent Chriſt as one that was to come after him, nor could he ſay he came to baptize, that he might be made manifeſt to Iſrael, ſeeing his Preaching and his Miracles by which he manifeſted his Glory, John 2. 11. — 3. 2. according to the Opinion of Mr. Whiſton, muſt be done long before his Baptiſm; and much leſs could St. Paul ſay ſo emphatically, That John was ſent πρωτηρύξαι πρὸ προσώπου τὴν εἴσοδον αὐτοῦ, to preach firſt the Baptiſm of Repentance to all the People of Iſrael, before the Entrance of Chriſt upon his Miniſtry, Acts 13. 24. but, as Grotius truly ſaith, they are to be underſtood of the time, ex quo Jeſus fuit à Johanne baptizatus, from Chriſt's being baptized by John; for it is reaſonable to conceive, St. Peter ſpeaks of his Baptiſm, of whoſe Aſcenſion he ſpeaks in the ſame place, ſince otherwiſe the terminus à quo, the Baptiſm, and the terminus ad quem, his Aſcenſion, will not reſpect the ſame Perſon, it being, doubtleſs, Chriſt's Aſcenſion that is ſpoken of. In a word, if Chriſt preach'd two Years before his Baptiſm, he preach'd a Year and a half before his Fore-runner; for it was only in the 15*th of Tiberius that the Word of the Lord coming to the Baptiſt, he went out, and preached the Baptiſm of Repentance*, Luke 3. 2, 3. Now in this very 15*th* of Tiberius, the Baptiſm of Chriſt is placed by all the Ancients, ſaying, That he was baptized duobus Geminis conſulibus, which fixeth his Baptiſm to that very Year. And hence Mr. Whiſton's Inference, that St. John's Preaching and Chriſt's muſt begin in the ſame Year, is confirmed by all Antiquity, declaring that Chriſt was baptized, and afterwards began to preach in the ſame 15*th* Year of Tiberius; and the Epocha of the Baptiſt's Preaching, ought to be made the beginning of the Goſpel, becauſe, as St. Luke truly ſaith, John did εὐαγγελίζασθαι τὸν λαὸν, preach the Goſpel to the People, he preaching that Men ſhould believe on him that ſhould come after him, that is, on Jeſus Chriſt, Acts 19. 4. He not only baptized with the Baptiſm of Repentance for the remiſſion of Sins, but pointed to the Lamb of God which taketh away the Sins of the World, John 1. 29. Now this Faith, and this remiſſion of Sins thro' the Blood of Chriſt, are the two great Doctrines of the Goſpel.

And whereas, to avoid the Teſtimony of St. Luke, who when he had ſpoken of Chriſt's Baptiſm after the People were baptized, and the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon him in the ſhape of a Dove, and of the Voice from Heaven, ſaying, Thou art my beloved Son, which in St. Matthew and St. Mark are expreſly ſaid to follow Chriſt's Baptiſm; immediately adds, And Jeſus himſelf began to be about thirty Years of Age; Mr. Whiſton ſaith, this relates not to the time of his Baptiſm, but of his Miniſtry long before his Baptiſm; in this, as he contradicts all the Ancients, ſo he makes St. Luke to relate firſt what happen'd at Chriſt's Baptiſm, and in his own Opinion at the end of the Baptiſt's Miniſtry; and then in the immediate enſuing words, to ſpeak of what was done almoſt two Years before, than which nothing can be more improbable.

2*dly*, They who refer the word ἀρξάμενος to the beginning of Christ's Ministry, or preaching as some Chronologers, and others do, still refer it to his Ministry after his Baptism; so that Mr. Whiston is still left alone with his new Notion of Christ's Ministry long before his Baptism, and his groundless distinction betwixt Christ's private and his publick Ministry, for which there is neither Foundation, nor colour in Scripture or Antiquity. And, 3*dly*, Whereas Mr. Whiston will not allow the word ἀρχόμενος to refer to Christ's Years, but will rather have it to refer to κηρύξαι, or some such word, i. e. to a word not used, i. e. to a matter not so much as hinted by him, as I have in my Note justified the Greek from the censure of the Criticks, and strengthned our Version with the concurrence of all the Greek Fathers who accord with it, and thence infer, that Christ was beginning his 30th Year at his Baptism: So may it be confirmed by the concurrence of (a) Jerom, and of all the ancient Versions, with the sense of our Translation.

Lastly, Whereas he cites, for confirmation of his Opinion, the words of the Jews, saying, Luke 23. 5. He stirreth up the People, teaching thro' all Judea, beginning from Galilee to this place; and those of St. Peter, Acts 10. 37. The Word ye know which was published through all Judea, beginning from Galilee, after the Baptism which John preached.

Answ. 1. 1*st*, I answer, that these words agree exactly with our Hypothesis, who say, that after Christ's Temptation, he returns to John, and receives his Testimony, that he was the very Person of whom he had before indefinitely spoken, yea, that he was the Son of God, Joh. 1. 34. which he had heard only at his Baptism. And that he was the Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins of the World, of all which things the other Evangelists had given no account; then he goes into Galilee, manifesting his Glory there; from thence to Jerusalem, then to Judea, where he baptized by his Disciples, as John did, into the Faith of the Messiah, whose Kingdom was shortly to be set up, and for which they were to prepare themselves by the Baptism of Repentance, and then again goes back to Galilee. See the Note on John 3. 22, 26.

Answ. 2. 2*dly*, St. Peter plainly saith, That this word was spoken by Jesus of Nazareth, (1*st*,) when he had been anointed by the Holy Ghost, and Power, which after his Baptism he was; for then he return'd from Jordan full of the Holy Ghost, Luke 4. 1. and into Galilee, ἐν δυνάμει τοῦ πνεύματος, in the Power of the Spirit, ver. 14. whereas, before his Baptism, nothing of this nature is said of him. 2*dly*, That he is said to begin from Galilee after the Baptism which John preach'd, i. e. after that Baptism was concluded by the imprisonment of the Baptist; now tho' our Lord was baptized above a Year before, and by his Disciples did baptize after the manner of John; and to the same Ends, whilst John himself continued so to do, and no longer, yet it was after the ceasing of the Baptism of St. John, that he begins in Galilee to preach the Kingdom of God, and declare it was now coming. Thus St. Mark tells us, That after that John was put in Prison, Jesus came into Galilee preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom of God, and saying, the time (of the coming of the Messiah to erect it) is fulfilled, and the Kingdom of God is at hand, repent ye therefore, and believe the Gospel, Mark 1. 14, 15. and in like manner St. Matthew, that from that time (that the Baptist was cast into Prison,) Jesus began to preach, and to say, Repent, for the Kingdom of Heaven is at hand, Matth. 4. 17. the time before, recorded by the Evangelist St. John, was spent in doing such Miracles, and teaching such Doctrines, as might prepare them to receive, and believe in him, when he began to preach the Doctrine of his Kingdom, and to set it up. And hence we find, That tho' Christ had Disciples, or Followers before, yet he had called none before to follow him, or be continually with him, as afterwards he did, Matth. 4. 19, 21. Mark 1, 17, 20. Here therefore seems to be a clear Account of this whole matter, Christ cometh from Nazareth to Jordan to be baptized of John, that he might see the Sign God had promised, and hear him stiled from Heaven the Son of God, and so by testifying these things, might make him manifest to Israel: he hereupon declares what he had seen and heard, and so pronounces Christ the Son of God; then Christ goes on during the Baptism of John at Bathabara, at Ænon, and perhaps elsewhere, to work Miracles, and to declare that God had sent his Son to be the Saviour of the World, (but not yet saying that he was that Son,) and by his Disciples to baptize Men, as St. John did, to fit them for, and to prepare them to embrace the Doctrine of his Kingdom, when it was to be set up. When therefore John was was cast into Prison, and so his Ministry was finished, and give place to that of Christ's, Christ goes into Galilee, and there begins to preach that Doctrine which was to commence at the cessation of John's Baptism, and succeed to it; and therefore the three first Evangelists passing by what Christ did after his Baptism to fit Men for this Kingdom, begin, what they had farther to say of him, when Christ himself began to preach the Doctrine of that Kingdom. And Christ himself saith, with relation to that Epocha, From the Days of John the Baptist till now, the Kingdom of Heaven suffers violence, Matth. 11. 12. and Luke 16. 16. ἀπὸ τότε, From the time of John the Kingdom of Heaven is preached, and all Men press into it.

Note also, that whereas in the Preface to the Gospel of St. John, p. 438. I had said, the Passovers during the time of our Saviour's Ministry were but four, I find now reason to conceive with the Right Reverend Bishop of Worcester, Dr. Allix, and Mr. Whiston that they were five.

First, From our Saviour's Baptism, which by the Suffrage of all Antiquity, was in the 15th of Tiberius, which began on the 19th of August, and so Christ's first Passover must begin in the same fifteenth of Tiberius, and so his last Passover, which according to the Greek Chronicle of Eusebius was in the nineteenth of Tiberius, and according to Phlegon in the fourth Year of the twenty second Olympiad, must be his fifth Passover.

2*dly*, Christ was baptized in the fifteenth of (d) Tiberius duobus Geminis consulibus, i. e. C. Rubellio Gemino & C. Fusco Gemino Cos. He dying therefore in the nineteenth of Tiberius, must die, Servio Sulpitio Galba, & L. Cornelio Sulla Cos. That is, in the fifth Year following. And this I also gather from (e) Dion, who saith, That Tiberius died after 22 Years, 7 Months, 7 Kal. April. or the 26th of March, Cn. Proculo & Pontio Negrino Cos. Now reckon the Consuls backward to the nineteenth of Tiberius, and you come to Galba and Sulla.

A PARAPHRASE WITH ANNOTATIONS ON THE Gospel of St. John.

a b c 1. IN the [a] beginning (of the Creation) was the Word, and the Word was [b] with God, and the Word was [c] God.

2. The same was in the beginning with God; (i.e. that divine Person of whom I am to speak, neither began to be when he was born into the World, nor when the World and all Things in it were made, for he then was, and so was not a Creature, but was God of the same Nature with him, tho' as to Personality distinguished from the Father.)

d 3. [d] All things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made, (whether it be in Heaven, or in Earth, visible or invisible, Colos. 1. 16.)

e 4. In him was [e] Life (eternal, he having first brought it to light, 2 Tim. 1. 10. promised it to those that believe in him, John 6. 40. purchased it by his Death, Rom. 5. 21. and being the Giver of it,) and the (Doctrine of that) Life (which he taught) was the Light of Men (directing them to it.)

5. And the Light (now) shineth in Darkness (the ignorant and vitious World,) and the Darkness comprehendeth it not; (i.e. the Lovers of Darkness will not receive it, John 3. 19.)

6. There was a Man sent from God, whose Name was John (the Baptist.)

7. The same came for a Witness to bear witness of the Light, (this Word was to exhibit,) that f [f] all Men through (that Testimony of) him, might believe (in him.)

8. He (himself) was not that Light (which came into the World,) but (he) was sent to bear witness of that Light.

9. That (Person to whom he bare Witness) was the true Light which g [g] enlightneth every Man that cometh into the World.

10. He was in the World (from the beginning, preserving the Men of it by his Providence, and not leaving them without a Witness of his care of them, Acts 14. 17.) and the World was made by him, (so that all Men might by his Works discern his eternal Power and Godhead, Rom. 1. 20.) and (yet) the World (through that Wisdom he had given them,) h [h] knew him not, (1 Cor. 1. 21.)

11. He came unto his i [i] own (People the Jews, to whom he was sent,) and (but) his own received him not;

12. But as many as received him, to them gave he (the) k [k] Power (or Privilege) to become the Sons of God (by Adoption to Life eternal. See Note on Rom. 8. 23.) even to them that believe on his Name;

13. Who were born (to that inheritance,) l [l] not of Blood, (by Circumcision rendring them the Seed of Abraham,) nor of the Will of the Flesh, (by carnal Descent, from their Parents,) nor of the Will of Man (by his Adoption,) but of (the Will of) God, (receiving us for his Children thro' Faith in Christ Jesus, for we are all the Sons of God by Faith in Christ Jesus, Galat. 3. 26. and by his Spirit sanctifying us, for as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the Sons of God, Rom. 8. 14.)

14. And

14. And (that mortal Men might attain m this Life,) the Word was made [m] Fleſh, and n [n] dwelt among us, [and we beheld his o p [o] Glory, the Glory [p] as of the only begotten Son of the Father, (i.e. his Power in doing ſuch Works as none but he could do)]
q [q] full of Grace, (to procure that pardon of Sin and Juſtification which the Law could not give,) and Truth, (in oppoſition to thoſe Types and Shadows of ſpiritual Bleſſings, and good Things to come, of which Chriſt exhibited the Subſtance and the Truth, Heb. 10. 1. giving us an Inheritance in the celeſtial Canaan, and an Entrance into the true Tabernacle, ver. 19.)

15. John bare witneſs of him, and cried, ſaying, This was he of whom I ſpake, (when I ſaid,) He that cometh after me is (to be) r preferred [r] before me, for he was before me, (both as to Being, and as to Dignity.)

16. And of his Fulneſs have all we receiv-
s ed, and (even) [s] Grace for (according to the Meaſure of the) Grace (of Chriſt, Eph. 4. 7.)

17. For the Law was given by Moſes, but Grace and Truth (the Grace of that Goſpel which is ſtiled Truth; See Note on Rev. 2. 1.) came by Jeſus Chriſt.

18. (Nor is there any other means of coming to the Knowledge of the Truth, and the t Enjoyment of that Grace, for) [t] no Man hath ſeen God at any time, (i.e. as to his Eſſence, or that glorious Light in which he dwells, and to which no mortal Eye can approach, 1 Tim. 6. 16. or as to any full Diſcovery, or perfect Idea of his Attributes,) the only begotu ten Son, who is [u] in the Boſom of the Father, (i.e. moſt intimately acquainted with his Secrets, and is the Image of the inviſible God, Col. 1. 15.) he hath declared him (i.e. his Will and Attributes to us in the moſt perfect manner.)

19. And this is the Record of John (concerning Jeſus, which he gave to him) when the (Sanhedrim of) the Jews ſent Prieſts and Levites from Jeruſalem to ask him, who art thou? (i. e. Art thou the Chriſt?)

w 20. And (then alſo) he [w] confeſſed, and denied not (the Truth,) but confeſſed, (ſaying of himſelf,) I am not the Chriſt.

21. And (when he had ſo ſaid,) they asked him, What then (art thou?) Art thou x [x] Elias (the Tiſhbite whom we expect to anoint him?) and he ſaid, I am not; (then they enquired farther,) Art thou that Prophet (raiſed from the Dead whom we expect? Matth. 16. 14.) and he anſwered, No.

22. Then ſaid they to him, Who (then) art thou, (tell us) that we may give an Anſwer to them that ſent us, what ſayeſt thou of thy ſelf?

23. He ſaid, I am the Voice of one crying in the Wilderneſs, make ſtraight the way of the Lord, as ſaid the Prophet Iſaias, (Chap. 40. 3, 4.)

24. And they which were ſent were of (the Sect of) [y] the Phariſees, (and ſo exact, as they y ſuppoſed, in all the Rites and the Traditions which ought to be obſerved.)

25. And they asked him (therefore,) and ſaid to him, [z] Why baptizeſt thou then, if z thou be not the Chriſt, nor Elias, neither that Prophet? (or, by what Authority doeſt thou this?)

26. John anſwered them, ſaying, [aa] I bap- aa tize (you) with Water, (to call you to Repentance, as I was ſent by God to do, ver. 33.) but there ſtandeth one among you whom ye know not;

27. He it is who coming after me is preferred before me, whoſe Shoes Latchet I am not worthy to unlooſe, (i.e. to whom I am unworthy to be a Servant.)

28. Theſe things were done in [bb] Betha- bb bara beyond Jordan, where John was baptizing.

29. The next day John ſeeth Jeſus coming to him, and ſaith, Behold (here is) the (true) [cc] Lamb of God that taketh away the Sins cc of the World, (by making a full Expiation for the guilt of them.)

30. This is he of whom I ſaid, After me cometh a Man who is preferred before me, for he was before me;

31. [dd] And I knew him not (till God re- dd vealed it to me, or when I ſaid this,) but (knowing) that he ſhould (ſuddenly) be made manifeſt to Iſrael, therefore am I come (came I firſt) baptizing with Water.

32. And John bare Record, ſaying, I ſaw (Gr. have ſeen) the Spirit deſcending from Heaven like a Dove, and it abode upon him, (and by this Sign given me of God, I knew him to be the Chriſt, from whom that Spirit ſhould be derived on others, ver. 26.)

33. And (before) I (thus) knew him not, but he that ſent me to baptize with Water, the ſame (had) ſaid to me, Upon whom thou ſhalt ſee the Spirit deſcending, and remaining on him, the ſame is he who baptizeth with the Holy Ghoſt;

34. And I ſaw, and bare Record, that this is the Son of God.

35. Again the next day after, John ſtood, and two of his Diſciples;

36. And looking upon Jeſus as he walked, he ſaith (to them,) Behold the Lamb of God.

37. And the [ee] two Diſciples heard him ee ſpeak (this,) and they followed Jeſus.

38. Then Jeſus turned, and ſaw them following, and ſaith to them, What ſeek ye? they ſaid to him, Rabbi, which is to ſay, being interpreted, Maſter, where dwelleſt thou? (that we may be there with thee?)

39. He ſaith to them, Come and ſee; (and) they came and ſaw where he dwelt, and abode with him that day (and the night following,) for it was about the tenth hour, (or four in the Afternoon.)

40. One

40. One of the two which heard John ff speak, and followed him, was [ff] Andrew, Simon Peter's Brother.

41. He first findeth his own Brother Simon, and saith to him, We have found the (promised) Messiah, which is, being interpreted, the Christ;

42. And he brought him to Jesus, and when gg Jesus beheld him, he said, [gg] Thou art Simon the Son of Jona, thou shalt be called Cephas, which is, by Interpretation, a Stone, (or a Rock, upon whose preaching the Foundation of my Church shall be laid; See Note on Matth. 16. 18.)

43. The day following Jesus would go forth into Galilee, and (as he was going, he) findeth Philip, and saith to him, Follow me.

hh 44. Now Philip was [hh] of Bethsaida, the City of Andrew and Peter, (and so came next to be found by him.)

45. Philip findeth Nathaniel, and saith to him, We have found him of whom Moses in the Law, (Deut. 18. 18.) and (of whom) the Prophets did write, (as of the Messiah which was to come,) Jesus of Nazareth, the Son of Joseph.

46. And Nathaniel said to him, Can there any good thing come out of (such a wicked, Luke 4. 28. and despicable place; See Note on Matth. 2. 23. as) Nazareth? Philip saith to him, Come, and (thou wilt) see (sufficient reason to believe there may.)

47. Jesus saw Nathaniel coming to him, and (instantly) saith of him, Behold an Israelite indeed, in whom is no Guile, (but plain Honesty towards Men, and Sincerity of Affection towards God.)

48. Nathaniel said to him, Whence knowest thou me (so entirely as to pronounce thus of my inward Man, seeing thou hast not before seen, nor conversed with me?) Jesus answered and said to him, Before that Philip called thee, when thou wast under the Fig-tree, I saw thee, (and this thou mayst believe, seeing I tell thee where thou wast, and how Philip called thee, tho' I never heard him call thee, nor saw thee there with my bodily Eyes.)

49. Nathaniel answered, and said to him, Rabbi, (this Knowledge so proper to a Divine Person, convinceth me that) thou art the [ii] Son ii of God, thou art the King of Israel.

50. Jesus answered, and said to him, Because I said to thee, I saw thee under the Fig-tree, believest thou? thou shalt see greater things than these; (stronger, and more convincing Arguments than these to confirm thy Faith in this particular.)

51. And (then) he saith to him, Verily, verily I say unto you (my Disciples, that) [kk] hereafter ye shall see Heaven open (as Jacob did, Gen. 28. 12.) and the Angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man; (i. e. such extraordinary Signs of the Divine Presence with, and his Direction and Assistance in all my Works and Words, as Jacob had of God's Presence with him, when he saw the Angels ascending to receive God's Commands, and descending to be with him, and direct him in his way.) kk a Ver. 1. Ἐν ἀρχῇ ἦν ὁ λόγος. In the beginning was the Word.] Here note,

1*st*, That ἐν ἀρχῇ, in the beginning, cannot here signifie in the beginning of the Gospel, but, as Grotius saith, it being taken from the Word Berischeth, Gen. 1. 1. translated by the Septuagint ἐν ἀρχῇ, must signifie cùm primum rerum universitas cæpit creari, from the beginning of the Creation, as appears,

1*st*, From the following Words, declaring positively, that all things were made by the Word here mentioned, ver. 3. even the World it self, ver. 10. and negatively, that without him was not any thing made that was made; which plainly shews that the Evangelist is here speaking of the Creation, Rise, or Beginning of all Things created: And this Interpretation is strengthened by all those other Scriptures which speak of a Glory this Word had with the Father before the Foundation of the World, and represent him as one begotten before the whole Creation, as being πρὸ πάντων, before all things; so that they all were both at first created, and still subsisted by him, Col. 1. 15, 16, 17. and that he in the beginning framed the Heavens and Earth, even those Heavens and that Earth that shall decay and perish, Heb. 1. 10, 11.

2*dly*, This Socinian Gloss makes a very plain and flat Tautology in the words of the Evangelist, for the sense of them, according to it must be this, that Christ was, when John Baptist preached that he was, or, which is all one, that he was when he was, or when he was Preaching his own Gospel. Now, how can it be worthy of an inspired Apostle to assert, that the Word had a Being when he began to Preach, or when he was twenty nine Years old, that is, when the Baptist came to make him manifest to Israel, this being as true of any other Man living, as of the Word, even of Judas who betrayed him, and of Pilate who condemned him, and being told as plainly by all the foregoing Evangelists?

3*dly*, Can we imagine that the Apostle speaking of Christ as the Word before he had begun his Prophetick Office, from which they do ascribe this Name to him, and at the least aſſoon as he was made Fleſh, ſhould conſtantly uſe this Phraſe which belonged only to him as executing that Office, and when, that Office being ended, he aſſumed his Kingly Office, ſhould again aſcribe this Title to him, by ſaying, his Name is the Word of God, Rev. 19. 13. and yet in his large account of his Prophetick Office throughout this whole Goſpel, he never ſhould be once mentioned by him under that Name or Title which then ſo properly belonged to him? And,

4*thly*, All the Philoſophers who ſpake περὶ τ λόγ, of the Word, ſpake of it as that Principle καθ' ὃν ἀεὶ ὄντα, τὰ γινόμενα ἐγένετο, by whom ever exiſting, all things were made; this was the Doctrine of the Platoniſts, ſaith Amelius, as it was alſo of Zeno who ſtiles the λόγ eternal, and all the other Heathens who ſpeak of this Logos, and of all thoſe Jews who ſpake of him in the Language of Philo, as πρεσβύτατ, the moſt ancient of all Beings, and of all thoſe Targumiſts who tell us the World was made by the Memra Jehovah, Word of God, and as the Jeruſalem Targum, that it was he who ſaid to the World, let it be, and it was. I ſay, all theſe Jews and Heathens could not underſtand the Apoſtle otherwiſe than Amelius did, when he ſaid, This Barbarian hath placed the Logos ἐν τῇ τ ἀρχῆς τάξει κ ἀξίᾳ, in the Order and Dignity of a Principle by whom all things were made.

2*dly*, Note alſo from the ſame Grotius, that, to be in the Beginning, is in the Hebrew Language put for, being from Eternity, for ſic mos eſt Hebræis æternitatem populariter exprimere, the being in the beginning, and before the World was, importing a Being before time, and therefore from Eternity. So Prov. 8. 23. I was ſet up from everlaſting, or ever the Earth was, מראש מקדמי־ארץ ἐν ἀρχῇ πρὸ τ τ γῆν ποιῆσαι, Micah 5. 2. whoſe goings forth are Mekedem from the beginning, from everlaſting. And God that abideth Mekedem, Pſal. 55. 19. Habbak. 1. 12. is ὁ ὢν ἀρχων πρὸ τ αἰώνων, he that is from everlaſting: And ſo it may here ſignifie, and being ſpoken of him who was from Eternity, muſt import. See Additions, N°. 2.

(2) b Ibid. And the Word was πρὸς τ Θεὸν, with God.] And ver. 2. he was in the beginning with God.] Πρὸς Θεὸν, i. e. μετὰ Θεᾶ, Theophyl, that is, Reaſon was in God, ſaith Mr. Cl. but he gives no inſtance where the Prepoſition πρὸς in the New Teſtament ſignifies in; whereas there be many Inſtances where it hath the Signification of πρὸς and μετὰ with, as when 'tis ſaid, Matth. 13. 56. his Siſters are πρὸς ἡμᾶς; with us; Matth. 26. 18. I keep the Paſſover πρὸς σὲ, with thee; Mark 9. 19. How long ſhall I be, πρὸς ὑμᾶς, with you? And, Chap. 14. 49. I was always πρὸς ὑμᾶς, with you. See 1 Cor. 2. 3. —16. 6. So in this Evangeliſt, 1 Eph. 1. 2. πρὸς τ πατέρα, with the Father. So Chap. 3. 21. — 5. 14. And thus in (a) Ignatius, Chriſt is mentioned as πρὸ αἰώνων πρὸς πατέρα ὤν, κ ἐφ' ἑνὸς πατρὸς προελθών, being with the Father before the World, and proceeding from him alone.

Nor will this Phraſe admit of either of the ſenſes impoſed on it by the Sociniians, v. g. not of that which ſaith, he was with God, that is, he was known to God alone; for (1.) This is not abſolutely true, he being known before his Prophetick Office was begun, to the Angels, ſaying to the Shepherds, Luke 2. 11. To you is born this Day a Saviour, which is Chriſt the Lord, to the Virgin Mary, to whom the Angel had revealed that he was the Son of the Higheſt, one that ſhould ſit on the Throne of David, and was to be called Jeſus, Luke 1. 30. — 33. to Zachary, Joſeph, Simeon, Anna, and the Wiſe Men. (2*dly*,) It is a Gloſs without Example of any ſuch import of the Phraſe, and without any probability; for who would think that by ſaying only Titius was with Sempronius, I ſhould mean that he was known to him alone? And, (3*dly*,) This is as true of Antichriſt, of Hypocrites latent among Believers, of a ſecret Thief, or Murtherer, but can it therefore properly be ſaid that they are with God? Wherefore this Gloſs being ſo plainly abſurd they flie to a ſecond, viz. that Chriſt before he entred upon his Prophetick Office was taken up into Heaven to be inſtructed in the Mind and Will of God, as Moſes was into the Mount, and upon that account it is here ſaid, that he was with God. But here lies the great Difference betwixt Chriſt's ſuppoſed Aſcent to Heaven, and that of Moſes into the Mount, that when Moſes was called up into the Mount, the People had publick Notice given of it; and he took Aaron and his Sons, and ſeventy Elders of Iſrael with him, who ſaw the Glory of God, Exod. 24. 10. and all Iſrael beheld the Glory of God, as a devouring Fire on the top of the Mount, ver. 17. and after the forty days were over, it is ſaid, that Moſes came down from the Mount, and the Children of Iſrael ſaw him with his Face ſhining, Exod. 34. 30. Now if Chriſt was taken up into Heaven, as Moſes was into the Mount, why was it not made publick at that Time? Why no Witneſſes? Why no appearance of the Glory to ſatisfie Mankind of the Truth of it? And yet we find, that when he was tranſfigured on the Holy Mount, he took Peter and James, and John with him, which circumſtance is carefully mentioned by three Evangeliſts; And Peter, who was one of the Witneſſes then preſent, lays great Weight upon upon this being done in the Presence of Witnesses. For, saith he, we have not followed cunningly devised Fables, when we made known unto you the Power and Coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were Eye-witnesses of his Majesty. For he received from God the Father, Honour and Glory, when there came such a Voice to him from the excellent Glory.—And this Voice which came from Heaven we heard when we were with him in the Holy Mount, 2 Pet. 1. 16, 17, 18. Now let any one compare this with the account which they give of Christ's Ascension into Heaven; the Transfiguration was intended only for a particular Testimony of God's Favour before his Suffering; but even in that he took care there should be very credible Witnesses of it. And is it then possible to believe there should be such an Ascension of Christ into Heaven, for no less a purpose than to be instructed in his Ambassage, and to understand the Mind and Will of God as to his Office; and yet not one of the Evangelists give any account of the Circumstances of it? They are very particular, as to his Birth, Fasting, Baptism, Preaching, Miracles, Sufferings, Resurrection, and Ascension; but not one word among them all as to the Circumstances of this being taken up into Heaven for so great a purpose. Now if it were necessary to be believed, why is it not more plainly revealed? Why not the time and place mentioned in Scripture as well as of his Fasting and Temptation? Who can imagine it consistent with the Sincerity and Faithfulness of the Writers of the New Testament, to conceal so material a part of Christ's Instructions, and Qualifications, and to wrap it up in such doubtful Expressions that none ever found out this Meaning till the Days of Socinus? In a word, had either of these Senses been intended by the Apostle, why speaks he so obscurely, and says not, as the Socinians, that he was taken up into Heaven, or was known to God alone; but so as to have given so great occasion to that dangerous Error, as they suppose it, of all Christians before Socinus, that Christ had a Being before the World, or before any thing that was made, and therefore could not be a Creature? For the words following, all things were made by him, and without him was not any thing made that was made, must exclude him from being of the number of Things made, and therefore evidence that he was so in the beginning with God, as to be before all created Beings.

c Ibid. And the Word was God.] He was so, say the Socinians, by Office, not by Nature, as being the Legate and Ambassador of God; but,

1*st*, They have not yet, nor can they shew that any thing is in the Scripture absolutely, and in the singular Number called God, for any other reason than that the Divine Nature was imparted to it. 'Tis said indeed of Moses, Thou shalt be to Aaron Beheloim in the Place of God, τὰ πρὸς τ Θεὸν, saith the Septuagint, in things pertaining to God, Exod. 4. 16. and Exod. 7. 1. God saith, See I have made thee Elohim a God to Pharaoh, viz. by giving thee Authority to speak unto him in my Name, but then in neither of these places is he called Jehovah, nor absolutely Elohim, but only with respect to Aaron and Pharaoh, to whom he was to speak God's Message. Grotius saith, that the same Person is stiled Jehovah in the Old Testament, who in the New is stiled an Angel, and that the same Person is sometimes called in the Old Testament an Angel, and sometimes Jehovah; so also doth Mr. le Clerc on Gen. 16. 13. —18. 1.—20. 1. but without just Ground; for the Angels being God's Retinue, and always present with him when he made his glorious Appearances, there is no reason to say the Angel was God because he appeared with him, or sometimes speaks or acts by his Appointment or in his Presence; but only that God and his glorious Angels appeared at the same time, and that they sometimes spake as from the Schechinah, v. g. Exod. 3. 2. we read that an Angel of the Lord appeared to Moses in the Bush, and St. Stephen saith, that the Angel of the Lord appeared to Moses in the Bush, Acts 7. 30. but neither of them say that Angel was Jehovah, or that the Lord was not present there himself; but on the contrary say expressly that Moses heard the Voice of the Lord saying to him, I am the God of Abraham. St. Stephen, Acts 7. 53. and St. Paul, Galat. 3. 19. say, the Law was delivered by Angels; but hence it doth not follow that any Angel was so employed in the delivery of the Law as to take upon him the Person of God, or that any Creature said, I am the Lord thy God, &c. And when 'tis said, that some have entertained Angels unawares, Heb. 13. 2. I own that Abraham and Lot did so; but hence it doth not follow that any Angel spake as if he were Jehovah, or that Abraham spake to them as such, or owned one of them to be the Judge of the whole Earth; I rather think with the Bishop of Ely, that it may be granted that the three that appeared to Abraham were created Angels; but then they appear'd only as the Retinue of the Schechinah, or Divine Majesty stiled the Lord, ver. 1. and 13. For after the same Men who came in, and did eat with Abraham, and rose from the Table, were departed, ver. 16. and 22. Abraham stands still before the Lord, that is, before the Divine Majesty, ver. 1. and stiles him the Judge of the whole Earth. And this agrees well with the Opinion of the Jews, who, as they acknowledge that the three Men whom Abraham entertain'd were created Angels, so also do they own that there was then a ſeparate Appearance, or Divine Majeſty, which talked with Abraham. And this takes off the Obſervation of Crellius, and others in this Place, That the Name Jehovah is given to Angels; for according to this Interpretation, the Name Jehovah is not given to any of the three Angels which were entertained by Abraham, but only to the Schechinah, or Divine Majeſty which appeared with them, and ſpake to Abraham, from ver. the 10th to the 17th, and to whom after the departure of theſe three, one into Heaven, and two to Sodom, Abraham ſtill ſpeaks to the end of that Chapter. It was an Angel of, or Meſſenger from the Lord that ſpake to Hagar, Gen. 16. as appears from his ſaying (not I but) Jehovah heard thy Affliction; when therefore we read, ver. 10. that the Angel of the Lord ſaid to her, multiplying I will multiply thy Seed, 'tis to be underſtood thus, he ſaid this to her, in the Name and Words of the Lord, ſpeaking not his own, but the Lord's Words, and therefore B. Uziel here ſaith, She gave thanks before the Lord, whoſe Word had ſpoken to her. Thus Solomon ſent to Hiram, ſaying, either by Letters, as Hiram returned his Anſwer in Writing, 2 Chron. 2. 11. or commanding his Servants to ſay in his Name, David my Father, for David was not the Father of the Meſſengers, and ſo they could not ſay, my Father. So the Centurion ſent firſt by the Rulers of the Jews, deſiring Chriſt to heal his Servant, and after by other Friends ſaith to Chriſt, I am not worthy that thou ſhouldſt come under my Roof, i. e. he deſires them to ſay theſe Words as from him, Luke 7. 2.— 10. theſe two are by le Clerc produced as inſtances of Meſſengers and Legates, ſpeaking as if they were the very Perſons from whom they were ſent; whence he and others infer that an Angel ſent from God may ſay, I am Jehovah, I am the God of Abraham, as Exod. 3. and I am the Lord thy God which brought thee out of the Land of Egypt, thou ſhall have no other Gods but me; whereas in truth they are both inſtances of Meſſengers and Friends, ſpeaking in the Name of them that ſent them, the Words which they had bid them ſay, as from them, and had put into their Mouths; and ſo in like manner the Words of the Angel, ſpeaking to Agar, and others, what belonged to God alone, muſt only be the Words which God had commanded them to ſay in his Name, and as from him; and this is a ſufficient Anſwer to all that is produced by Grotius, le Clerc, and the Socinians, to prove that Angels repreſenting God, are ſometimes ſtiled Jehovah, and ſpeak as if they were the Lord of Heaven and Earth, or the God of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob.

2*dly*, That the Word is here properly ſtiled God, is evident from the Context; for, (1.) When it is ſaid in the precedent Words, the Word was with God, and when this is repeated in the following Verſe, the Socinians themſelves own that the word God, ſignifies him who truly and properly is ſo. The Apoſtle then muſt either underſtand the ſame God as to Eſſence, when he ſaith, the Word was God, or leave all Chriſtians liable to a great and dangerous Miſtake, by reaſon of the Ambiguity of his Words. Moreover, the word God, in this Chapter is uſed eleven times in its proper Senſe, nor can one inſtance be produced from the whole New Teſtament, where, in the ſingular Number, it is uſed in any other Senſe; is it then reaſonable to conceive it is here uſed in that improper Senſe in which it never is again once uſed throughout this Goſpel, or the whole New Teſtament, rather than in that Senſe in which it is continually uſed in all other Places?

Object. Yes, ſay the Socinians, becauſe it is here ſaid, the ſame was in the beginning with God; whereas God, properly taken, cannot be ſaid to be with God, that is, with himſelf.

Anſw. But to this I anſwer, (1*ſt*,) That nothing formerly, and in the ſame Conception can be ſaid to be with that which is one with it ſelf; but yet that which is eſſentially the ſame, but hath this Title from an internal relation to another, as being God of God, or as having the Divine Eſſence communicated to it, may be ſaid to be with him; for, (1.) The Wiſdom of God is identically God, according to the old Axiom, quicquid eſt in Deo eſt ipſe Deus, whatſoever is in God is God, and yet παρ' αὐτῷ, with him are Wiſdom and Power, ſaith Job, Chap. 12. 13. I was παρ' αὐτῷ, with him, ſays Wiſdom, Prov. 8. 27, 30. all Wiſdom is from the Lord, and μετ' αὐτοῦ, with him, Eccl. 1. 1. Thus (b) Philo obſerves, that when God ſaith, He made Man after the Image of God, Gen. 1. 27. ſpeaking ὡς περὶ ἑτέρου Θεοῦ, as of another God, he ſpeaketh of; and πρὸς τὸ δεύτερον Θεὸν ὃς ἐστὶν ἐκείνου λόγος, to that ſecond God, who is his Word.

2*dly*, The Primitive Fathers do very plainly and frequently ſay, that the Word was ſtrictly, and from all Eternity in God the Father, and yet that before the Creation of the World there was a προβολὴ καὶ ἐκπόρευσις, a Projection, or Efflux of this Word from the Father, which made him λόγος προφορικὸς καὶ προβλητὸς, a Word emitted or coming forth from the Father; but yet becauſe he came not ſo forth from him as to be ſeparated from him, but was ſemper apud Deum & nunquam ſeparatus à Patre, not ſeparated from the Father, (c) they thought it was here ſaid againſt the Valentinians, that he was with the Father, So Juſtin M. ſaith, he σωών, was with the Father, as being ἀπὸ τοῦ παλαιοῦ προβληθὲν γένημα, a Progenies projected from the Father, Apol. 1. p. 44. p. 285. D. 359. A. 284. B. 357. A. So speaks Athenagoras, p. 101. C. D. and Theophilus, p. 100. B. making him from Eternity λόγος ἐνδιάθετος, an internal Word, and then saying that he was λόγος προφορικὸς πρὸ τῶν ὅλων, a word emitted before all things. And Tatian, that the Word which was ἐν ἀρχῇ γεγονὼς, p. 145. And Tertullian speaks as of a time, cum nondum Deus Sermonem suum emiserat, adv. Praxeam, c. 5, 6, 8. adv. Hermog. c. 18. 20, 45. and Lact. l. 2. c. 8. p. 177. 178. and l. 4. c. 6. p. 364, 365, 366. See Dr. Bull, Sect. 1, 2.

3*dly*, This also is extremely evident from the third Verse; whence ariseth this Argument, He that made all things is God, in the proper Acceptation of the Word, Heb. 3. 4. but by the Word here spoken of were all Things made, and without him was not any thing made that was made; he in the beginning laid the Foundations of the Earth, and the Heavens are the works of his hands, Heb. 1. 10, 11. he created all things visible and invisible, Col. 1. 16. he therefore must be God in the proper Acceptation of the Word.

4*thly*, It is very manifest that the Apostle here designs to tell us what the Word was, and where, before he came into the World, and what and where he was when he came into the World, as may appear from comparing his words together, thus,

In the beginning was the Word, ver. 1.	He came to his own, ver. 11.
The Word was with God, v. 1, 2.	He dwelt with us, ver. 14.
The Word was God, v. 1.	The Word was made Flesh, ver. 14.
He was in the World, ver. 10.

And lastly, Whereas these Words expounded according to the Socinian Sense were utterly unintelligible to all the Jews, and all the Philosophers who ever made mention of the Logos; according to our Sense, which maketh the Word truly God, and a first Principle of the Creation, they agree perfectly with what they have asserted of the Logos. I say,

1*st*, That they agree fully with the Opinion of the Jews, nothing being more evident than that (d) Philo frequently stiles the λόγος, God, and by the Targumist he is very often stiled God, as when Jacob saith, in the Chaldee of Onkelos, Gen. 28. 21. the Word of Jehovah shall be my God, and Lev. 26. 12. I will walk among you, and the Word shall be to you for God. The Redemption and nothing is more frequent with Onkelos and the Targumists than to put, the Word of Jehovah, for Jehovah, and of this Dr. Allix gives above an hundred Testimonies; from all which Observations it is evident, that the Evangelist here used the Language of his Nation when he here said, the Word was God.

2*dly*, They accord as fully with the Doctrine of the ancient Philosophers, who lived before the Times of this Evangelist. Thus (f) Porphyry saith, that Plato extending the Divine Essence into three Hypostases, the supreme God called Optimus, ὁ πρῶτος ἀγαθὸς, ὁ δεύτερος δημιουργὸς, and after him a second God the Maker of all Things; and (g) Plato himself bids us swear by τὸν τῶνδε θεὸν ἡγεμόνα καὶ ποιητὴν καὶ πατέρα, God who is the Governour of all Things, and by the Father of him who is the Ruler, and the Cause. (h) Zeno the Stoick saith, there be two Principles of all Things, Matter, which is the Patient, τὸ δὲ ποιοῦν ἐν αὐτῇ λόγον θεὸν, and the Efficient, God the Word, which being eternal goes through all Matter, forming every Thing. And hence (i) Amelius having read these Words of our Evangelist, cried out, that the Barbarian by saying that this Logos was πρὸς τὸν θεὸν καὶ θεὸν ἦν, was with God, and was God, and that all things were made by him, was of the same Opinion with Heraclitus and Plato, who made him an eternal Principle.

In a word, not only the Orthodox, but all the Hereticks did perfectly agree in this import, if (k) Sandius may be credited, who saith expressly, that all Hereticks agreed with the Orthodox and Catholicks in this, that the Word was God, and was before all Ages, and that the World was made by it. And as for the Orthodox, scarce is there any Christian Writer of Bulk, from Justin M. to the Nicene Council, except Arnobius, who doth not insist upon this Text as a plain Proof of the Divinity of Christ.

Ver. 3. All things were made by him.] The Socinian Comment, which restrains all things here to all things belonging to the Gospel-state, and saith that all Things were said to be made by him, because all things were renewed, i. e. all Believers were made new Creatures by him, is sufficiently refuted by what hath been already proved, viz. that this Word is here said to have been in the beginning, not of the new, but of the old

Creation, and that he was properly and truly God, and so the Maker of all things in Heaven and Earth. And from the parallel places produced already, that God made all things by Jesus Christ, Ephes. 3. 9. that he created all things in Heaven and in Earth, visible and invisible, Col. 1. 16. that by him God made the World, Heb. 1. 2. that he in the beginning laid the Foundations of the Earth, and the Heavens were the Work of his Hands, ver. 10, 11. and here, ver. 10. that he was in the world, and the world was made by him, even the World into which he came, which doubtless was the material World, that World which knew him not, and therefore could not be renewed by him.

In a word, all the ancient Jews and Paraphrasts agree in the common Interpretation of the words, viz. that the word was the Maker of the material World, and all things in it; this Doctrine is taught very frequently by (l) Philo, that it was the Logos by which the whole world was made.

The (m) Targumists say it was this Logos or Memra, which first said to the world, Be, and it was; and which shall again cause it to cease to be; it was the word which created the world and Man in it. And where it is said (n) God created the world, it is usual for them to say he did it Bememrah by his word.

This was taught by (o) Aristobulus a Jew, who lived in the time of Ptolomæus Philometer, as a Doctrine received from Solomon, and delivered by him, Prov. 8. for he is represented by him there, αὐτὴ σοφία καὶ αὐτὸς Θεὸς λόγῳ τὴν ἀρχὴν ἀναλήψεως τοῦ παντὸς συστάσεως, ascribing the beginning of the Frame of the Universe to the Wisdom, and the word of God; so that (p) Eusebius had just Cause to say that the Hebrews, μετὰ τὴν ἀναρχον καὶ ἀγέννητον τοῦ Θεοῦ τῶν ὅλων οὐσίαν, after the Essence of the God of all things, which was without beginning, and unbegotten, introduced a second Essence and Divine Power, ἀρχὴν τῶν γενητῶν ἁπάντων which was the Principle of all things that were made, λόγον καὶ σοφίαν, καὶ θείαν δύναμιν αὐτὸν προσαγορεύοντες, calling him the Word and Wisdom, and a Divine Power. And that on this account the evangelical Doctrine of St. John, renewing that of the Prophets, and his Country τῶν ἡμετέρων ἁγίων, illustrates it by saying, in the beginning was the word, and the word was with God, and the word was God, all things were made by it, &c.

As for the Heathen Philosophers, they did so plainly agree in that of Plato, that the Logos was the αἰτία, Cause; and that of Zeno, that he was τὸ ποιοῦν, the Efficient of the World, that the Primitive Fathers pleaded this in Favour of the Christian Doctrine, that even the Logos was in their common Language δημιουργὸς, the Maker of the world. Many Philosophers affirm, saith (q) Origen, that there is one God who created the world, in this they agree with the Law of Moses, aliquanti etiam hoc addiderunt quod cuncta per Verbum facta, & fecerit, & regerit, and many add, that God hath made, and governed all things that were made by his word; in hunc non solum legi sed & Evangelio consona sentiunt, in this they speak things consonant not only to the Law but to the Gospel; we teach that the Word was the Artificer of all Things, saith (r) Tertullian; hunc etiam Zeno determinat factitatorem, and Zeno saith the same. Cyril in his Book against Julian gathers up from the Heathens many things of a like nature to shew ὅτι τὸν ἐξ αὐτοῦ καὶ φύσιν ἡμῖν ἐγνωκέναι ἴδιον καὶ δημιουργὸν αὐτὸν λόγον ἐξωμολόγησαν καὶ αὐτοί, l. 2. p. 33. C. That they owned the Son essentially begotten of the Good, that is, the Father, to be the Word that made all things. And (s) Eusebius introduceth Plotinus and Numenius, speaking of a second God whom they called νοῦς, as the Artificer of all Things, and Plato himself speaking of that World, ὃν ἔταξε ὁ λόγος ὁ πάντων θειότατος, which the most Divine Word framed.

As for the Christian Fathers, they from the beginning have asserted this as the Rule of Truth delivered to them from the Apostles, and confounding the Hereticks, (t) quia unus est Deus qui fecit omnia per Verbum suum, Verbum nempe quod extra eum non fit, sed in sinu Patris existit, that there is one God who made the World by that Word who is not separated from him, but is in the Bosom of the Father. See this largely proved Note on Heb. 1. 2. tho' therefore it will still admit of a Dispute whether the latter Jews did by their Memra, mean the promised Messiah, yet two things cannot reasonably be doubted, viz. (1.) That the Jews did by their Memra understand a Divine Person who was from the beginning, and who gave beginning to all Things, and that the Heathens had the same Notion of their Logos. (2.) That the Christians did understand these Words of the Evangelist

Evangelist in the Sense now received by the Orthodox, viz. as asserting the Pre-existence and Divinity of the Word made Flesh, and the Production of all things by him. Whence, (3dly,) it must follow that the Evangelist, who was an Hebrew of the Hebrews, must here have spoken of the Logos in the received Sense of Jews and Heathens; for this being apparently the Notion which then obtained both among Jews and Gentiles, if they had been mistaken in it, it is incredible that the inspired Evangelist coming after them should so conspire with them as to express the very same thing in the same Stile, and almost in the same Words, much more that he should do it without giving the least caution to this purpose, that he meant quite another thing by it, than what the Platonists and some Jews meant by such words as these. For instance, that by the Word he meant, not, as they did, one that was for ever, but a Person that never was in Being till some few Years since; and that by all things that were made, he meant not, with them, all the whole Universe, but only, all Persons that were reformed by the Faith of Christ; and that by the beginning, he meant not, the beginning of the World, as they did, but only the beginning of the Gospel, as the Socinians interpret these Expressions. If, I say, the Word, of which St. John speaks, did not pre-exist from all Eternity, and was not properly the Creator of the World, certainly he would have prevented their concluding the contrary from his Words by some very plain Caution, because he used that Stile, and those words under which the contrary had been taught by Men of great Reputation; and so he would not have affirmed the same things with them concerning the Word, without any farther Interpretation or Addition, saving this only, that Jesus was that Word. Again, all Christians, whether Orthodox or Heretical, being either Jews or Gentiles, it is still more incredible that both should have conspired in this import of these words, had it not been received from the Tradition both of the Converts among Jews and Gentiles, that this was really the import of them, or with such Confidence have appealed to the Prophetick and Country Theology of the Jews, and the concurring Sentiments of the Heathens, with the words of this Evangelist, if they had understood them in a sense so much different from that, both of the Jews and Heathens, as that is which the Socinians now put upon them; if then the universal Church from the beginning did not err in their Interpretation of these words, 'tis certain we who continue to receive that sense and import of them which they have from the beginning handed down unto us, must still retain the true and genuine Signification of them.

(3) Ibid. See Additions, N°. 3.

e Ver. 4. In him was Life.] That this is to be understood not of Life natural, but of that Life eternal which he revealed to the World: 2 Tim. 1. 10. to which he taught the way, Chap. 14. 6. which he promised to Believers, Chap. 10. 28. which he purchased for them, Chap. 6. 51, 53, 54. which he is appointed to give them, Chap. 17. 2. and to which he will raise them up, Chap. 5. 29. as having ζωὴν ἐν ἑαυτῷ, Life in himself, 26. may be argued, (1st,) From the like Expression, 1 John 5. 11. This is the Promise that God hath given us, eternal Life, and that Life is in his Son; whence he is stiled the true God and eternal Life, ver. 20. the Resurrection and the Life, Chap. 11. 25. the Way, the Truth, and the Life, Chap. 14. 6. (2dly,) From these words, ver. 7. John came to bear Witness of this Light, that all Men might believe on him, viz. to eternal Life, 1 Tim. 1. 16. for so John witnesseth, Chap. 3. 15, 36. And this answers the only Objection against this Interpretation, that the Evangelist speaks not of the word incarnate till ver. 14. and that in that respect alone was he the Teacher of eternal Life, for John bare Witness of him when he was the Word incarnate; 'twas thus also he came into the World, and came to his own, and made Believers the Sons of God, ver. 11, 12, 13. and yet all these things are spoken of him before it is said, ver. 14. the Word was made Flesh.

And hence it follows that this Life must be the Light of Men, by giving them the Knowledge of this Life, and of the way leading to it, and in which they that walk are said to walk in the Light, 1 John 1. 7. to abide in the Light, 2. 10. and to be the Children of the Light according to those words of Christ, whilst ye have the Light, walk in the Light, and believe in the Light, that ye may be the Children of the Light, Chap. 12. 35, 36. I am the Light of the World, he that follows me shall have the Light of Life, Chap. 8. 12.—9. 5.—12. 46. and then the words following, the Light shineth in Darkness, must respect the Heathen World stiled Darkness, Eph. 5. 8. See the Note on Rom. 13. 12. and the blind Jews; and the Darkness must be said not to comprehend it, because the vitious part of the World would not own, but hated the Light, and loved Darkness rather than Light, because their Deeds were evil, and so they were reproved by it, Chap. 3. 19, 20, 21.

f Ver. 7. He came to testifie of this Light, that all Men might believe on him.] See here the Design of the Baptist's Testimony, not only that some few Elect, but that all Men might believe in Christ.

biguous, and may be rendred, which coming into the World enlightens every Man, or as our Tranſlation doth; but that which countenanceth our Tranſlation, is the Hebrew way of ſpeaking, that a Man born, is a Man coming into the World; See Dr. Lightfoot here, and the Words of Chriſt, ſaying, for this cauſe was I born, and came into the World, Chap. 18. 37. See Additions, N°. 4.

i Ver. 11. He came to his own;] i. e. to the Jewiſh Nation to whom he was promiſed, and to whom only he was perſonally ſent; he being therefore ſtiled, a Miniſter of the Circumciſion for the Truth of God, to confirm the Promiſes made to the Fathers, Rom. 15. 8. from whom according to the Fleſh he came, Rom. 9. 5. and they received him not, i.e. they generally would not own him as their Meſſiah, and their Saviour.

k Ver. 12. But to as many as received him he gave ἐξουσίαν Power to become the Sons of God.] Ἐξουσία here ſignifies the Right, Privilege, Dignity, and Prerogative, as when the Apoſtle warns the ſtrong Chriſtians to ſee to it, leſt their ἐξουσία Privilege or Freedom from the Jewiſh Rites he uſed as a ſtumbling Block to the weak, 1 Cor. 8. 9. and ſaith chap. 9. 5, 6. have we not ἐξουσίαν, a Right, or Privilege, by virtue of our Office, to eat and drink? This Privilege to be the Sons of God is, as Grotius well notes, a Right to the Inheritance of the Saints; for, if Children, ſaith the Apoſtle, then are we Heirs, Heirs of God, Joint-heirs with Chriſt, Rom. 8. 17. a right to a bleſſed Reſurrection, the Sons of God being the Sons of the Reſurrection, Luke 20. 36. a Right to abide always in our Father's Houſe, John 8. 35. a Right to a ſtate of Immortality and Incorruption, this υἱοθεσία Sonſhip including the Redemption of the Body from Corruption, Rom. 8 23.

l Ver. 13. Being born not of Bloods, nor of the Will of the Fleſh, nor of the Will of Man.] i. e. we are born Sons, not by virtue of the Blood of Circumciſion, by which the Jews entred into Covenant with God, and became his Sons; not by reaſon of that carnal Generation which makes us Sons by Nature of ſuch Parents, who by their fleſhly Luſtings are incited to beget us; not by the Will of Man adopting another for his Son and Heir, for want of natural Iſſue; but this Sonſhip ariſeth from the good Pleaſure of God receiving us for his Sons, through Faith in Chriſt Jeſus. Some obſerving, that the Apoſtle ſaith, God made all Men ἐξ ἑνὸς αἵματος, of one Blood, Acts 17. 28. refer this Birth of Bloods to our natural Production, and our being born of the Will of the Fleſh, to the Birth of the Jews by that Circumciſion which was made in the Fleſh; I prefer the former Expoſition, becauſe though Circumciſion be made in the Fleſh, it proceeds not ἐκ θελήματος σαρκὸς, from the Will, Deſire, or Luſting of the Fleſh, but was done by them in Obedience to the Command of God.

Ver. 14. And the Word was made Fleſh, &c.] i.e. Man according to the uſual import of that Phraſe, as when 'tis ſaid, Gen. 6. 12. all Fleſh had corrupted their ways, Pſal. 56. I will not fear what Fleſh, ver. 5. that is, what Man can do to me, ver. 12. Iſa. 40. 5. all Fleſh ſhall ſee the Salvation of God, and ver. 6. all Fleſh is Graſs, and all the Glory of Man is as the Flower of the Field, Jer. 17. 5. curſed is he that truſteth in Man, and maketh Fleſh his Arm. See Matth. 24. 22. Rom. 3. 20. And this Phraſe is uſed, ſay the (u) Fathers, not only to expreſs the great Affection of the Word to Man, declared in taking on him even his vileſt part, but alſo to ſhew he came to heal, and to recover from Corruption that Fleſh which by the Sin of Adam was made obnoxious to Death and Corruption, and that this Fleſh, which ſo inſeparably was united to the Divine Nature, muſt be capable of Salvation, which the Gnoſticks and Valentinians denied, and the Ebionites who denied the Union of the two Natures.

The Socinian Gloſs upon theſe Words, is this, That Chriſt was born mortal, ſubject to Infirmities, Sufferings, and Death, and ſo frail and infirm as Fleſh. But,

1*ſt*, It is to be noted from (w) Novatian, that this is the Gloſs of thoſe Hereticks who denied the Diſtinction betwixt the Son of God and Man, leſt they ſhould be obliged from theſe Words to own his Divine Nature; that is, this is a Socinian Gloſs. Note,

2*dly*, That this Gloſs is contrary to the true import of the words; for it makes the words

(u) Num quemadmodum initio plaſmationis noſtræ in Adam, ea quæ fuit in Deo inſpiratio vitæ, unita plaſmati animavit hominem & animal rationale oſtendit; ſic in fine, verbum Patris & Spiritus Dei adunitus antiquæ ſubſtantiæ plaſmationis Adam, viventem & perfectum effecit hominem capientem perfectum Patrem, ut quemadmodum in animali omnes mortui ſumus, ſic in ſpirituali omnes vivificemur, Iren. l. 5. c. 1. Vani igitur qui à Valentino ſunt hoc dogmatizantes uti excludunt ſalutem carnis, & reprobent plaſmationem Dei: vani autem & Ebionæi unitionem Dei & hominis per fidem non recipientes in animam ſuam. ibid.

words frail, infirm, and mortal, and all these Epithets to predicate of, and belong to the Word. Now who can reasonably imagine that he, who had before told us, the Word was God, and so immortal, the Maker of the world, and all things in it, and so infinite in Power, v. 3, 10. should instantly add, the Word was Flesh, i. e. frail, infirm, obnoxious to Death, and yet should immediately say again of this infirm, frail Being, we have seen his Glory, as the Glory of the only begotten Son of God, and of his fulness have we all received, Grace for Grace; that he was one in the Bosom of the Father, and who alone had seen the Father, v. 14, 16, 18. Mr. Clerc interprets the words thus, And that Reason was made conspicuous by the Man in whom it was, telling us that Flesh signifies a conspicuous Nature, in Opposition to that which is spiritual, as 1 Tim. 3. 16. but there it is not said as here, the Word was made Flesh, but Θεὸς ἐφανερώθη ἐν σαρκὶ, God was manifested in, or made conspicuous in the Flesh, that is, in the humane Nature, which is the import of the word Flesh in all the other Places where it is attributed to Christ, by way of distinction from his higher Original, as when the Apostle saith, the Son of God was of the Seed of Abraham, κατὰ σάρκα, according to the Flesh, Rom. 9. 5. And that the Son whom he had proved to be God, Heb. 1. was Partaker also of Flesh and Blood, Heb. 2. 14. For it is manifest, that in all these Places Flesh signifies, not the Frailty or Infirmity of Flesh, according to the Socinian Gloss, nor Flesh as conspicuous and visible, according to Mr. Clerc's Gloss, but the humane Nature absolutely taken, according to the Exposition of all the ancient Fathers; of (x) Ignatius, who saith, he was a Physician, σαρκικὸς καὶ πνευματικὸς, fleshly and spiritual, ἐν σαρκὶ γενόμενος Θεὸς, being God in Flesh; of (y) Justin M. who saith, he was the Son and the λόγος, ὃς σαρκοποιηθεὶς ἀνθρωπος γέγονεν, who by his Incarnation was made Man; of (z) Irenæus, saying, Deus igitur homo factus est, God therefore was made Man; of (a) Tertullian, saying, that Christus vere hominem indutus Deus perseveravit, Christ putting on the Manhood remained God; and of (b) Origen, who saith, that Christ being in the form of God, and a Son of the Jerusalem which is above, left his Father and Mother for his Church, διὰ αὐτὴν γὰρ γέγονε καὶ αὐτὸς σάρξ, being made Flesh for her, it being said the Word was made Flesh.

Moreover the Wisdom of God was made conspicuous in the Gospel, that being the Wisdom of God, 1 Cor. 2. 7. and by the Church by which the manifold Wisdom of God was made known even to the Angels, Eph. 3. 10. If then that were the reason why the Word is said to be made Flesh, the Gospel and the Church might also be said to be made Flesh. It follows.

Ibid. Καὶ ἐσκήνωσεν ἐν ἡμῖν, And dwelt or pitcht its Tabernacle among us.] This word ἐσκήνωσεν hath such an apparent affinity both in sound and sense with the Hebrew Shacan used in the Old Testament, when mention is made of God's dwelling by the Schechinah, or his glorious Presence in the Tabernacle, and often shining forth there, and thence ἐν δόξῃ, in Glory; See the Notes on Rom. 1. 23. Phil. 2. 6. that we have reason to believe this Phrase relates to the Divine Nature, or to the fulness of the Deity dwelling in Christ's human Nature. This Schechinah, say the Jews, was wanting in the second Temple, and this Defect was now repaired by the Habitation of the Divine Nature in the Temple of Christ's Body, so as never to be separated from it, according to the Prediction of the Prophet Haggai, Chap. 2. 7. The Desire of all Nations shall come, and I will fill this House with Glory. As then God said with respect to the Times of the Messiah, I will come to thee, ושכנתי, καὶ κατασκηνώσω, and will dwell in the midst of thee; that is, saith the Chaldee Paraphrast, ואשרי שכינתי, and I will put my Schechinah, or Divine Majesty, among you, Zach. 2. 10, 11. so did he fulfil his Promise, by sending this Emanuel, or Word made Flesh among them. n

Ibid. And we have seen τὴν δόξαν αὐτοῦ, his Glory;] viz. appearing in, and shining from the Tabernacle of Christ's Body, as the Glory of the Lord did from the Tabernacle of Old; for the Glory of God in the Old Testament, doth not barely signifie the Miracles wrought by God, but either the Glory appearing in the Cloud of Glory, as Exod. 16. 7, 10. by which God testified his Presence with them; and Numb. 14. 22. and v. 21. or it signifies the Miracles done by the Glory of God then appearing; and in 2 Pet. 1. 16. it signifies, the bright Cloud, or Glory of God, appearing at our Lord's Transfiguration; not any Miracle then wrought, of which we have no mention in the History of Christ's Transfiguration: Here therefore the Apostle saith, We have seen the Glory, or the Divinity of the Word Conspicuous in the Miracles wrought by him. o q Ibid. Πλήρης χάριτος καὶ ἀληθείας, Full of Grace and Truth.] Here πλήρης the nominative Caſe, is put for the Genitive. So Eph. 3. 17. that Chriſt may dwell ἐν καρδίαις ὑμῶν· ver. 18. ἐῤῥιζωμένοι for ἐῤῥιζωμένων· and Rev. 1. 5. ἀπὸ Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ ὁ μάρτυς for τοῦ μάρτυρος. See Examples of the like Conſtruction in prophane Authors, produced by Grotius on Mark 6. 40. and by Schmidius. Note alſo, that it appeareth from the following words, ver. 17. For the Law came by Moſes, but Grace and Truth by Jeſus Chriſt, that this Son of God is ſaid to be full of Grace and Truth, in Oppoſition to the Law of Moſes. Now Grace in the New Teſtament, implies two Things; both which are declared to be wanting in the Law of Moſes: 1*ſt*, The Mercy of God in the free Pardon of our Sins, or our Juſtification or Freedom from the Guilt of Sin; from which we could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes, Acts 13. 38, 39. For by the Law, ſaith the Apoſtle, can no Man be juſtified, Gal. 3. 11. Rom. 3. 20. We being juſtified freely by his Grace thro' the Redemption which is in Jeſus, ver. 24. Whence it is ſaid to them, who ſeek to be juſtified by the Law of Moſes, that they are fallen from Grace, Galat. 5. 4. 2*dly*, Grace doth in Scripture ſignifie the Gifts of the Holy Spirit freely conferred upon Believers, who is therefore ſtiled ἡ δωρεὰ ἐν χάριτι, the Gift by Grace, Rom. 5. 15. and his Gifts are repreſented by the word Grace, as when St. Peter ſaith, As every Man hath received the Gift, ſo let him miniſter, as good Stewards, ποικίλης χάριτος Θεοῦ, of the manifold Grace of God, 1 Pet. 4. 10, 11. and St. Paul, Rom. 12. 6. having therefore Gifts differing κατὰ τὴν χάριν, according to the Grace given us, whether Propheſie, &c. See Gal. 2. 8, 9. Eph. 3. 7. Now this promiſe of the Spirit, was the Conſequence of Faith in Chriſt, Gal. 3. 14. Hence are theſe two aſſigned as the great Differences betwixt the Law and the Goſpel; that the firſt was the Adminiſtration of the Letter only, the other of the Spirit; the firſt the Adminiſtration of Condemnation, the ſecond of Juſtification, 2 Cor. 3. 7, 8. Again, The Law is ſaid to have been only a Shadow of things to come, and an Image of thoſe things of which Chriſt exhibited the Body, Truth, and Subſtance, Col. 2. 17. Heb. 8. 5.—10. 1. See the Note there: and hence Truth is here ſaid to come by Chriſt; and he is here repreſented as full of Truth.

(5) Additions, N°. 5. This Glory is ſaid to be the Glory μονογενοῦς, of the only begotten of the Father; i. e. of him who was begotten of him after that ſingular and extraordinary manner, that this Title can agree to him alone, as being, ſaith Lucian, the unchangeable Image, οὐσίας, καὶ βουλῆς, καὶ δυνάμεως, καὶ δόξης τοῦ Θεοῦ, of the Eſſence, Council, Power, and Glory of God. Hence is the Logos ſtiled by Philo, ὁ πρωτόγονος υἱὸς, de Agricult. p. 152. By (c) Plato, he is ſtiled, ὁ ἔκγονος τοῦ ἀγαθοῦ καὶ ὁμοιώτατος ἑαυτῷ, One begotten of the Good, and moſt like to him. And Porphyry ſays, That according to the Doctrine of Plato, of the Good, i. e. of the Father, was begotten in a manner unknown to Men, an Underſtanding in which are all Things. Apud Cyril. contr. Julian. l. 8.

Ver. 15. He that cometh after me, is (to r be) preferred before me; for he was before me, πρῶτός μου ἦν.] Here the critical Note is this, That πρῶτος, firſt, here ſignifies before; ſo 1 John 4. 19. He loved us, πρῶτος, before; Matth. 17. 20. Elias ſhall come πρῶτον, before Chriſt; John 19. 39. Nicodemus who came πρῶτον, before to Chriſt by Night; 2 Theſſ. 2. 3. There ſhall come an Apoſtaſie πρῶτον, before Chriſt's coming; and, John 15. 18. They hated me πρῶτον ὑμῶν, before they hated you.

2*dly*, As for the words ἔμπροσθέν μου γέγονεν, I find no inſtance where it ſignifies, He was preferred before me; and therefore rather chuſe to retain the proper import of the words, and give the Senſe of the whole, thus, This is he of whom I ſaid, He that cometh after me is before me; and this I ſaid, becauſe he indeed was before me, as being in the beginning with God, ver. 2.

Ver. 16. And of his fullneſs we have all s received, καὶ χάριν ἀντὶ χάριτος, even Grace for Grace;] i. e. of the Fullneſs of Grace in him to procure Pardon for us, and of that Fullneſs of the Spirit which was in him without meaſure, John 3. 34. Luke 4. 1. according to the meaſure of the Gift of Chriſt. So Jer. 11. 17. the Lord hath pronounced againſt thee, κακὰ ἀντὶ κακίας, Evil for the Evil of the Houſe of Iſrael and Judah. So κακὸν ἀντὶ κακοῦ; Evil for Evil done to us, or according to it, Rom. 12. 17. 1 Theſſ. 5. 15. 1 Pet. 3. 9. So ἀντὶ τούτου, ob hanc Rem, ἀνθ' ὧν, for the ſake of which. See many Examples of this kind in Stephanus. See Additions, N°. 6. (6)

Ver. 18. No Man hath ſeen God at any t time, θεὸν οὐδεὶς ἑώρακε.] Here Grotius thinks, that ἑώρακε hath ſeen, is put for hath known, as chap. 3. 32. and Eph. 3. ver. 11. giving the Senſe thus, No Man hath known the ſecret Counſels of God at any time, concerning the Redemption of Mankind, which Chriſt now declareth to the World; but tho' this Senſe of the

the words be good, yet the Phrase in the Old and the New Testament representing God as one, whom no Man can see and live, as Exod. 33. 20, 23. and who dwells in Light inaccessible, to which no mortal Eye can approach, and whom no Man hath seen or can see, 1 Tim. 6. 19. and the seeing of him in the Cloud, the Symbol of his glorious Presence, being called the seeing of him Face to Face, Gen. 32. 30. Numb. 14. 14. and being deemed such a Vision as would cause God to take away their Lives, Judg. 6. 22, 23. — 13. 22. Isa. 6. 5. I would rather refer this here to the Presence of the Word with the Father, mentioned chap. 1. 1. and his being with him in Heaven in that Glory, in which he there dwells, and his coming down from thence as from the Bosom of the Father, to declare heavenly things to us, which, saith he, none can do but the Son of Man who is in Heaven, chap. 3. 12, 13. See the Note there. For if this being in the Bosom of the Father, did only signifie his Friendship and intimate Acquaintance with God, it may be ascribed to Abraham who was the Friend of God, James 2. 23. to Moses, who talked with him Face to Face as a Man speaking to his Friend, Exod. 33. 11. and to the Apostles, who had the Mind of God revealed to them, 1 Cor. 2. 16 Whereas in the other sense, it will be proper and peculiar to Christ, to be in the Bosom of the Father, as St. John seemeth here to represent it.

u Ibid. Εἰς τὸν κόλπον, In the Bosom.] Note, that εἰς τὸν κόλπον is here put for ἐν τῷ κόλπῳ. So εἰς πόλιν, in the City, Matth. 2. 23. εἰς τὸν καίρον αὐτῶν, in their times, Luke 1. 20. εἰς ὃν, in which, Acts 7. 4. εἰς χόλων, in the Gall, Acts 8. 22. See the Note on Matth. 11. 9, 10. When the People were musing among themselves, whether the Baptist were the Christ, he takes off that Suspicion of his own accord, Luke 3. 15. Here he returns an Answer to the Enquiries of the Pharisees.

Ver. 24. And they that were sent, were of the Pharisees;] i. e. of the Patrons of Tradition, who thought themselves so exact in all the ordinary Rules which were to be observed, that this new right of Baptizing, by way of Preparation for the Messiah, of which their Traditions were wholly silent, must be extraordinary, and therefore they enquire. y

Ver. 25. Τί οὖν βαπτίζεις; Why then baptizest thou?] Why usest thou towards us Jews, who are already Holy and in Covenant with God, a Rite only used by us towards Heathen Proselytes, to cleanse them from their Impurity, and to prepare them to enter into Covenant with God? Note also, That τί here is put for διὰ τί, why, or, for what cause, as Matth. 17. 10. τί οὖν, why say the Scribes, chap. 6. 28. τί μεριμνᾶτε, why take ye thought. So Chap. 7. 3. — 16. 8. — 19. 7. — 22. 18. John 4. 17. — 7. 19. — 9. 27. — 10. 20. — 18. 21, 23. — 20. 13, 15. z

Ver. 29. Behold the Lamb of God, ὁ αἴρων τὴν ἁμαρτίαν, who taketh away the Sin of the World.] This Grotius refers to the Reformation of Mens Lives; whereas it plainly respects the Lamb slain, as a piacular Victim, 1 Pet. 1. 19. to redeem us to God by his Blood, Rev. 5. 9. or to procure for us Redemption, that is, the Remission of Sins, Eph. 1. 7. Col. 1. 14. and to exempt all that believed in him from that Sentence of Death which came upon the World for the Sin of Adam. To illustrate this, let it be noted, (1.) That when a Sacrifice was offered for Sin, he that brought it, laid his Hand upon the Head of the Victim, according to the Command of God, Lev. 1. 4. — 3. 2. — 4. 4. and by that Rite transferred his Sins upon the Victim, who is said to take them upon him, cc and to carry them away: Accordingly, in the daily Sacrifice of the Lamb, the Stationary Men, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, who were the Repreſentatives of the People, laid their hands upon the Lambs thus offered for them; and theſe two Lambs offered for the daily Sacrifice, were bought with that half Shekel. which all the Jews yearly paid, εἰς λύτρον τῆ ψυχῆς αὐτῶν ἐξιλάσασθαι περὶ τῶν ψυχῶν αὐτῶν, as the price of Redemption of their Lives, to make an atonement for them, Exod. 30. 12, 14, 16. This Lamb was therefore offered to take away the Guilt of their Sin, as this Phraſe ſignifies when it relates to Sacrifices. See the Note, 1 Pet. 2. 25. Ver. 44. Of Bethſaida, the City of Andrew and Peter;] i. e. where they dwelt: This ſeems to be added, to ſhew the reaſon why Philip followed Jeſus before he knew any thing of his Doctrine, becauſe what he had heard from them who dwelt near him, had prepared his Mind ſo to do; and from the following Words of Philip and Nathaniel, we have found him, &c. we learn, that not only Peter and Andrew, but Chriſt himſelf had diſcourſed to Philip of the Predictions of the Law and the Prophets concerning him. Note alſo, that ὅν, ver. 46. is put for ᾧ of whom, as ver. 15. hh

Ver. 49. Thou art the Son of God, thou art the King of Iſrael.] Theſe ſeem to be the two Titles of the Meſſiah, in the Jewiſh Phraſe ſignifying the ſame thing; for though the Jews acknowledged the Meſſiah ſhould be the Son of God, yet not in that high ſenſe in which Chriſt was ἴδιος υἱὸς, the proper and peculiar Son of God; for this they look upon as Blaſphemy, John 5. 18. but in that ſenſe in which they ſtile themſelves his Sons, John 8. 41. ii

Ver. 51. Hereafter ſhall ye ſee the Heavens opened, and the Angels of God aſcending and deſcending on the Son of Man.] Chriſt here ſeems to allude to Jacob's Ladder, of which we read Gen. 28. 12, 13. on the top of which was the Divine Majeſty, and the Angels aſcending, ſaith Maimonides, to receive his Commands, and deſcending to execute them; Chriſt therefore by theſe Words ſeems to inform them, that the Miracles which they ſhould ſee performed by him, ſhould declare the Divine Majeſty preſent with him, and giving him thoſe Commands he was to execute by his Prophetick Office, as clearly as if they had ſeen the Angels of God aſcending and deſcending on him. They who refer this to the Day of Judgment, did not conſider this was to happen ἀπαρτὶ, within a little while; and they who refer it to Chriſt's Paſſion and Reſurrection, muſt ſhew how the Angels then aſcended and deſcended on Chriſt in the ſight of the Apoſtles. kk

CHAP. II.

1. AND the third Day (from Simon's coming to Chriſt, chap. 1. 42.) there a was a Marriage (Feaſt) in [a] Cana of Galilee, and the Mother of Jeſus was there (uncalled.)

2. And both Jeſus was called and his Diſciples, (Gr. but both Jeſus and his Diſciples were called) to the Marriage.

3. And when they wanted Wine, the [b] Mo- b ther of Jeſus (being concerned for this want of her Relations,) ſaith to him, they have no Wine; (hoping by this Intimation, he by a Miracle would ſupply this Want.)

4. Jeſus ſaith unto her, [c] Woman, what c have I to do with thee? [d] mine hour (i. e. d the time for manifeſting my Glory by my Miracles, racles, ver. 11.) is not yet come, (and ſo I am not bound to have regard to thy Solicitations in this thing.)

5. His Mother (expecting, notwithſtanding this Anſwer, that he might gratifie her,) ſaith to the Servants, Whatſoever he ſaith to you, do it.

6. And there were ſet there ſix Water-pots (or Ciſterns) of Stone, after the manner of the purifying of the Jews, (who conſtantly waſhed before Meals,) containing two or three Firkins apiece.

7. Jeſus ſaith to them, Fill the Water pots with Water: And they filled them up to the brim.

8. And he ſaith to them, Draw out now (of this Liquour,) and bear (it) to the Governour of the Feaſt, and they bare it.

9. When the Ruler of the Feaſt had taſted the Water which was made Wine, and knew not whence it was; but the Servants that drew the Water knew, (i. e. not knowing it to be Water, miraculouſly turned into Wine by Chriſt, e as the Servants did,) the [e] Governour of the Feaſt, called the Bridegroom;

10. And ſaith to him, Every Man at the beginning (of a Feaſt) doth (uſe to) ſet forth f good Wine; and when Men [f] have well drank, then that which is worſe, (i. e. ſmaller,) but thou haſt kept the good Wine until now.

11. This beginning of (his) Miracles did Jeſus in Cana of Galilee, and (thereby) g [g] manifeſted forth his Glory; and his Diſciples (who ſaw the Miracle) believed on him.

12. After this he went down to Capernaum, he, and his Mother, and his Brethren, and his Diſciples, and they continued there not many Days.

13. And (for) the Jews Paſſover was at hand, and Jeſus went up (with them) to Jeruſalem.

14. And (there he) found in the Temple thoſe that ſold Oxen, and Sheep, and Doves, (for Sacrifices;) and the Changers of Money, (or thoſe who returned it by way of Exchange,) ſitting.

h 15. And when he had made a [h] Scourge of ſmall Cords, (or of Ruſhes,) he drove them all out of the Temple, and (that is) the Sheep, and the Oxen, and poured out (upon the Ground) the Changers Money, and overthrew the (counting) Tables, (no Man making any reſiſtance.)

16. And (he) ſaid to them that ſold Doves, Take theſe things hence; (and) make not my Father's Houſe an Houſe of Merchandize.

17. And his Diſciples (afterwards) remembred that it was written (of him,) The Zeal of thine Houſe hath eaten me up, (Pſal. 69. 9. i. e. hath ſed upon my Spirits, and conſumed them.)

18. Then anſwered the Jews, and ſaid to him, [i] What Sign ſheweſt thou to us (that i thou art a Prophet,) ſeeing that thou doeſt theſe things, (which only Magiſtrates or Prophets have Authority to do?)

19. Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to them, (This ſhall be a Sign to you,) [k] Deſtroy this k Temple (of my Body,) and (when you have done this,) in three Days I will raiſe it up (again,)

20. Then ſaid the Jews, [l] Forty and ſix l Years was this Temple in building, and wilt thou rear it up in three Days? (and this they ſaid, thinking that Chriſt had ſpoken of the Temple of Jeruſalem.)

21. But he ſpake of the Temple of his Body.

22. When therefore he was riſen from the Dead, his Diſciples remembred that he had ſaid this to them, and they believed the Scripture, (ſpeaking of his Reſurrection,) and the Word which Jeſus had ſaid.

23. Now when he was in Jeruſalem at the Paſſover, on the Feaſt-day, (Gr. ἐν τῇ ἑορτῇ, in the time of the Feaſt,) many believed in his Name, when they ſaw the Miracles that he did.

24. But Jeſus did not commit himſelf unto them, (or confide in them as his ſincere Diſciples,) [m] becauſe he knew (the Hearts of) m all Men.

25. And needed not that any ſhould teſtifie of Man; for he knew what was in Man.

Annotations on Chap. II.

a Ver. 1. IN Cana of Galilee;] to diſtinguiſh it from another Cana which was in the Tribe of Ephraim, Joſh. 16. 8. — 17. 9. whereas this was in the Tribe of Aſſur in Galilee, Joſh. 19. 28. and probably where Alphæus or Cleopas, whoſe Wife was Mary, the Siſter of the Mother of our Lord, lived: For that this Marriage was in his Houſe, is conjectured, 1ſt, Becauſe the Mother of our Lord is there uncalled, by reaſon of her near relation to them; whereas Chriſt and his Diſciples are bid to the Wedding. 2*dly*, Becauſe his Mother is ſo ſolicitous for the ſupply of the Wine.

Ver. 3. The Mother of Jeſus ſaith to him, b they have no Wine.] Some conceive, by reaſon of this Expectation of his Mother, that Chriſt miraculouſly might provide Wine for them, that whilſt he lived privately with his Parents, he might upon ſome occaſion in an extraordinary manner ſupply their want of Neceſſaries. St. Chryſoſtom, ſays ſhe was moved to ask this from the Conſideration of his miraculous Conception and Birth, the Teſtimony of the Baptiſt, and his gathering Diſciples. Grotius thinks, that Joſeph was then dead, becauſe he is not mentioned here.

c Ver. 4. Τί ἐμοὶ κ) ϛοὶ γύναι; Woman, what have I to do with thee?] The Papiſts here contend, that theſe Words are not to be deemed a Reprehenſion of his Mother, but only an Inſtruction to his Diſciples, that in the things of God, they ought not to have reſpect to the Solicitations of earthly Parents. But,

1*ſt*, The word γύναι, Woman, plainly ſhews, theſe words were directed not to his Diſciples, but to his Mother. And,

2*dly*, We never find this Phraſe uſed in Scripture otherwiſe, than by way of Objurgation or Reprehenſion; as when Jephtha ſays to the King of Ammon, Judg. 11. 12. τί ἐμοὶ κ) ϛοὶ; what have I to do with thee, that thou comeſt to fight againſt my Land? And David to the Sons of Zerviah, 2 Sam. 16. 10. τί ἐμοὶ κ) ὑμῖν; what have I to do with you? And again, chap. 19. 22. and Pharaoh-Necho to Joſias, 2 Chron. 35. 21. 1 Eſdr. 1. 26. 1 Kings 17. 18. and Eliſha to Joram, 2 Kings 3. 13.

3*dly*, (a) Maldonate confeſſeth that moſt of the ancient Fathers do openly or obſcurely, intimate what (b) Irenæus plainly ſaith, that ſhe was guilty of ſome fault or error in inciting her Son to this Miracle unſeaſonably. So (c) Chryſoſtom, Eutychius, and (d) Theophylact upon the Place.

d Ibid. Οὔπω ἥκει ἡ ὥρα μου, My hour is not yet come.] Dr. Lightfoot thinks this is ſpoken becauſe Chriſt was to begin this publick Miniſtry, and to confirm it with Miracles at Jeruſalem, and therefore ſaith, chap. 7. 8. ὁ καιρὸς ἐμὸς, my time of going up to Jeruſalem is not yet. Others, with Dr. Hammond, ſay, this hour ſignifies the time of doing his Miracles, ἐν παῤῥησίᾳ, openly was not yet, and therefore tho' he did this Miracle, he did it ſo privately, that neither the Governour of the Feaſt, nor the Bridegroom, nor the Gueſts knew that he had done it, but the Servants only. Laſtly, it is obſervable that G. Nyſſen reads theſe words by way of Interrogation, viz. Woman, what have I to do with thee? I have begun to gather Diſciples, and to act as one ſent from God, and is not the hour of my Exemption from thy Authority yet come?

e Ver. 9. Φωνεῖ τὸν νυμφίον ὁ ἀρχιτρίκλινος, The Governour of the Feaſt called the Bridegroom.] To this Governour of the Feaſt it belonged to bleſs what was prepared, and having drank of the Cup thus bleſſed, to ſend it about to the whole Company, whence Chriſt ſaith to the Servants, draw out and bear it to the Governour of the Feaſt, v. 8. Moreover the word φωνεῖν doth not neceſſarily ſignifie to call the abſent Bridegroom, but may only intimate that the Ruler of the Feaſt ſpake thus to him being preſent; for, as Phavorinus ſaith, this word with an accuſative Caſe ſignifies τὸ λαλῶ κ) τὸ καλῶ, both to call and to ſpeak to. Thus in Sophocles, τί φωνεῖς is, what ſayeſt thou? and here, chap. 13. 13. ὑμεῖς φωνεῖτε με Κύριον, is, you ſay I am your Maſter: So ἐκ τῆς κοιλίας φωνεῖν is, to ſpeak out of the Belly, Iſa. 8. 19. ἐκ τῆς γῆς φωνεῖν, to ſpeak out of the Earth, Iſa. 19. 3. and ὐ φωνεῖν, not to ſpeak, Pſal. 113. 15.

Ver. 10. Καὶ ὅταν μεθυσθῶσι, And when f Men have well drunk then that which is worſe.] The word μεθύσκεσθαι does not here ſignifie to be drunk, but to drink to ſatiety, or as Phavorinus ſaith, πλησθῆναι, to be filled with Wine. So Gen. 43. 34. The Brethren of Joſeph drank, κ) ἐμεθύσθησαν μετ' αὐτοῦ, and were merry with him, ſaturati ſunt cum eo, they were ſatisfied, ſaith the Vulgar. So Pſal. 23. 5. My Cup runneth over, ποτήριόν μου μεθύσκον, ſaith the Septuagint. So πίετε κ) μεθύσθητε, Cant. 5. 1. is drink abundantly. Hag. 1. 6. ἐπίετε κ) ὐκ εἰς μέθην, ye drank but not to ſatiety. So Eccluſ. 1. 16. The fear of the Lord μεθύσκει, repleniſheth Men with her Fruits; and chap. 32. 13. Bleſs the Lord, μεθύσκοντά σε, who filleth thee with good things. So Jerom on Jer. 31. 14. κ) μεθύσω τὴν ψυχὴν τῶν Ἱερέων, I will ſatiate the Soul of my Prieſts with Fatneſs, and ver. 25. ἐμέθυσα πᾶσαν ψυχὴν ὀδυνῶσαν, I have ſatisfied every thirſty Soul; and on thoſe Words, Hoſea 14. 7. μεθυσθήσονται σίτου. Tom. 5. F. 151. H. 152. H. 1. See 1 Maccab. 16. 16. Moreover theſe are not the words of Chriſt, but of the Ruler of the Feaſt, declaring, not how it was with the Gueſts there preſent, but only that it was the uſual cuſtom to bring the beſt Wine firſt, and when Men had well drank, then the meaner ſort, and that this cuſtom was not then obſerved. And, 2*dly*, Admit ſome Perſons might exceed in drinking of this very Wine miraculouſly made, which yet is more than can be gathered from the Text, our Lord cannot be charged with miniſtring to that Exceſs by making this Proviſion of it, unleſs we alſo charge the Providence of God as being inſtrumental to all that Gluttony and Drunkenneſs which is committed in the World, becauſe it doth afford

g Ver. 11. Κὶ ἐφανέρωσε τ δόξαν αὐτ, And he manifested his Glory;] i. e. his Power of working Miracles which is stiled his Glory, John 17. 22. 2 Cor. 3. 18. and for which he was glorified of all, Luke 4. 15. And this was opportunely done to confirm the Faith of the Apostles who were newly come to him, and therefore it is added, that they believed on him.

h Ver. 15, 16. He made a Scourge of small Cords, &c.] To what hath been said, Note on Matth. 21. 14. Mark 11. 17. add, (1.) That Christ by making such a Whip of Bull-rushes, which could hurt no body, seemed to insinuate, that he would not use external force to take away the abuses of Men relating to his Worship. And, (2.) By calling the Temple his Father's House, he distinguisheth himself from other Prophets, who sometimes stile God their God, Isai. 57. 21. but never their Father. And, (3.) By purging the Court of the Gentiles from Merchandize, not unlawful in it self, but necessary for the Sacrifices which were to be offered in the Temple, tho' not necessary to be bought there, he sufficiently insinuates that a distinction is to be made betwixt places sacred and prophane, and that what may as well be done elsewhere, ought not to be done in the House of God, the Place appointed immediately for his Worship.

i Ver. 18. Τί σημεῖον δεικνύεις, What Sign shewest thou? &c.] This they ask because it belonged only to the Magistrate, as being God's Minister and Vicegerent, or to a Prophet to take away Abuses in God's Service. Now a Prophet must shew himself to be so by some Miracle, or some Prediction of a thing future, this last Christ doth by saying;

k Ver. 19. Λύσατε τ ναὸν τοῦτον, Destroy this Temple, and I will build it up in three days.] When elsewhere they require a Sign, he remits them to the Sign of Jonas the Prophet, Matth. 12. 39, 40. And here he also seems in effect to do the same thing, by saying, that by raising of the Temple of his Body after they had destroyed it, or by his Resurrection from the Dead, he would afford them a convincing Demonstration that he had good Authority for what he said, and did, and that he was that Prophet which was to come.

Note also that these words are not imperative, i. e. Christ doth not bid them destroy his Body, but only permissive and predictive of what he saw they would do, and therefore he saith, λύσατε ye will destroy this Temple. Examples of like nature we have in the Old Testament, as Gen. 20. 7. He shall pray for thee, and live thou; and chap. 42. 18. Do this and live, i. e. thou shalt live; Deut. 32. 50. Die in this Mountain, i. e. thou shalt die there. See Isa. 8. 9, 10. —— 54. 1. And in the New, as in those words of Christ to Judas, what thou doest, do quickly, John 13. 27. and that of St. Paul, be angry, and sin not, Eph. 4. 26. See the Note there. Moreover he seemeth here to call his Body a Temple, and elsewhere to declare he was one greater than the Temple, Matth. 12. 6. because the Divinity dwelt always, and inseparably in it, as the Jews thought the Divinity did in the Temple built by Solomon, Josephus not only tells us that Solomon prayed thus at the Dedication of it, ἱκετεύω κ μοίραν τινὰ τ Σὲ πνεύματ εἰς τ ναὸν κατοικῆσαι, that some portion of the Divine Spirit might come down upon the Temple, Antiq. l. 8. c. 2. p. 264. F. but that in all Mens Opinion there was an ἐπιδημία Θεῦ κ κατοικισμὸς, an Advent to, and Habitation of God in it, ibid. p. 263. and that God came down into the Temple, and did κατασκηνῶν ἐν αὐτῷ, pitch his Tabernacle in it, ibid. D. G. See the Note on 1 Cor. 6. 19. In the second Temple, say the Jews, were wanting the Urim and Thummim, the Divine Glory, the Holy Spirit, and the Oil of Gladness. Now Christ was that Oracle from whom we might receive Answers full of Truth and Light; in him dwelt the true Schechinah, he had the Spirit without measure, and he was anointed with the Oil of Gladness above his Fellows; and so in these respects was greater than the Temple. The Temple which you have polluted, saith he, I have cleansed; that Temple of my Body which you will destroy, I will raise up; and that I e did so, is evident from this, that after his Resurrection his Disciples believed the words which Jesus had said, ver 22. which, had not Christ raised his own Body from the Dead, they could not have done. See the Note on Chap. 10. 18. I confess it is more frequently said in Scripture, that the Father raised him from the Dead, and this was necessary to be said, that it might appear, that he had fully satisfied the Divine Justice for our Sins, in that he was by him delivered from that Death he suffered for them. But then as the Resurrection in general is often ascribed to God the Father, and yet it cannot be denied that God the Son shall raise the Dead by his own Power, as the Scripture testifies, John 5. 28, 29. —— 6. 39, 40, 44, 54. 1 Cor. 15. 21, 22, 25, 26. Rom. 14. 19. Philip. 3. 21. Rev. 1. 18. So is it to be owned that the Father raised Christ from the Dead, nor yet is it to be denied that our Lord raised up himself, seeing he was quickned by the Spirit, Rom. 8. 22. 1 Pet. 3. 18. and God raised him up διὰ πνεύματ αὐτ, by his Spirit, Rom. 1. 4. and this Spirit as he was the Spirit of the Father, so was he also the Spirit of Christ, 1 Pet. 1. 11. and dwelt essentially in him. And thus it is easie to conceive how he raised up himself, and yet his Resurrection might be ascribed to God the Father, viz. Because he did it by virtue of the Spirit of the Father dwelling in him.

Ver. 20. Τεσσαρακοντα κ ἓξ ἔτεσιν ᾠκοδομήθη ὁ ναὸς οὗτ, Forty and six Years hath this Temple been building.] Mr. Wh. here saith, the words should be rendred Forty six Years hath this Temple been built; but our Version is justified from the use of the same word in the Septuagint, in the same Case Ezra 5. 16, ἀπὸ τότε ἕως τ νῦν ᾠκοδομήθη κ οὐκ ἐτελέσθη, this Temple hath been building from that time to this, and hath not yet been finished. 2*dly*, The Argument of the Jews requires this Sense, which our Translation giveth of these words, for it is plain Folly to state thus the Years from which it had been built, to prove it could not be built again in three Days; since this could have no more Force to prove it could not be built in three Days, than its being built at any other time; but the Argument is plain and strong, according to our Version, viz. That it could not reasonably be thought that Christ himself, or with his small retinue should do that in three Days, which had already cost many thousand Labourers forty six Years to build.

Mr. Whiston's Computation, I confess, is very plausible at the first View, it begins thus,

Digitized by Google

" (e) Joſephus aſſures us that the ναὸς or Temple was begun in the 18th Year of Herod from " the Death of Antigonus, and that it was finiſhed in a Year and ſix Months; now from " theſe Circumſtances we may certainly find the " Year we enquire for, Antigonus was ſlain about " July, A. p. J. 4677. and ſo Herod's 18th Year " muſt begin about July 4694, and continue till " July 4695. Let us ſuppoſe the Temple begun about the Feaſt of Tabernacles in this 18th Year 4694, add a Year and ſix Months, the ſpace in which it was building, and it will appear to have been finiſhed at the Paſſover Niſan 4696; from that Paſſover let us count forty ſix Years, and this will bring us to the Paſſover we enquire for, Niſan 4742. which is A. D. 29. But yet from an exact view of this Computation, I find it fails in almoſt every Particular. For, 1ſt, It is certain from (f) Joſephus that Antigonus neither was, nor could be ſlain in the Month of July, becauſe the Temple was not taken by Herod and Soſius, till the 10th Day of September, it being taken, ſaith Joſephus, τῇ ἑορτῇ τ νηστείας, on the feaſt of the Faſt, by which words, ſaith (g) Langius, he intends no other than the Faſt preſcribed by the Law of Moſes, and mentioned in his own Hiſtory as a Faſt; for he names the Day, that every one might know certainly when the City was taken, which had there been more Faſts, they could not have done by this Character, Sed omnem dubitationem eximit appoſita vox ἑορτῆς, but the word Feaſt added to it, puts the matter beyond doubt, for there was but one Faſt ſo called in a Year. This, ſay I, is demonſtrable from the word ἑορτὴ, the Feaſt of the Faſt, the 10th of Tiſri, being the only Faſt mentioned among the Feaſts of the Lord, and called a Sabbath of Sabbaths, Lev. chap. 16. and chap. 21. and being by all Writers called the Feaſt of Expiation. And this is alſo evident from the word νηστεία, for this being the only Faſt of God's appointment is by the Scripture, Philo and Joſephus emphatically ſtiled the Faſt-Day: thus, ſailing was dangerous, ſaith St. Paul, becauſe the Faſt was paſt, Acts 27. 9. for on the 10th Day of the ſeventh Month we faſt till eventide, ſaith (h) Joſephus, and on the 15th Day of the ſaid Month τρέπεται ὁ καιρὸς εἰς τ χειμέριον ἄγων, begins the Winter. Ἡ λεγομένη νηστεία the Day by us called a Faſt is reverenced every where, ſaith (*) Philo. This, ſaith (i) Joſephus, is the Day ἣν ἰουδαῖοι νηστείαν ἄγουσιν, on which the Jews faſt; which had they then obſerved any other annual, and ſtated Faſts, could have been no Character of time, as in Joſephus and St. Paul it is. This is yet farther evident from what Joſephus ſaith in the ſame place, viz. that the City was taken, ἐπ ὀλυμπιάδ τῷ γ μηνὶ, in the 3d Month of the 185th Olympiad. Now the Years of the Olympiads beginning in July, the 3d Month of any Year of an Olympiad muſt anſwer to the Julian September. Mr. Whiſton indeed will not allow that ancient Writers uſe to cite the Months of an Olympiad, but he may be convinced of his miſtake in this matter, from the Teſtimony of (k) Diogenes Laertius, who ſaith, that Socrates was born in the 4th Year of the 77th Olympiad Θαργηλιῶνος ἕκτῃ, on the 6th of Thargelion, that (l) Plato was born in the 88th Olympiad Θαργηλιῶνος ἑβδόμῃ, on the 7th of Thargelion, and that (m) Epicurus was born in the 3d Year of the 109th Olympiad on the 7th of Gamelion.

Mr. Whiſton to avoid this, ſaith the City was taken on the Day of a ſolemn Faſt in the 23d of the 3d Month Sivan, kept for the defection and Idolatry of Jeroboam. But (1ſt,) Joſephus doth not ſay it was taken in a Faſt, on the 3d Jewiſh Month, but ὀλυμπιάδ τῷ γ μηνὶ on the 3d Month of the 185th Olympiad, which anſwers to September, and then by way of appoſition τῇ ἑορτῇ τ νηστείας at the Feaſt of the Faſt, which plainly fixes the taking of it to the 10th of September. (2dly,) As Jeroboam celebrated a Feaſt in the 8th Month which he deviſed of his own Head, ſo Mr. Whiſton hath deviſed a Faſt of his own Head in the Month Sivan, not mentioned by Joſephus, nor any Jewiſh Writer, of, or near thoſe times, nor extant in (n) Buxtorf's Hiſtory of their Feaſts and Faſts, but a pure product of that famous Chronicle Megillah Taanith, of which I have already given an account. (3dly,) When Herod began to batter the Wall it was then Summer, ſaith (o) Joſephus, and ſo he had no hinderance from the Weather; now there being three Summer Months, let us take the middle of them; July the 15th, the firſt Wall, ſaith (p) Joſephus, was taken after forty Days, i. e. Auguſt the 25th; the ſecond, fifteen Days after that, i. e. on the 10th of September; ergo, not on the Month Sivan, when Summer was but juſt begun. (4thly,) Joſephus adds, (q) that Herod began the Siege λωφήσαντος τ χειμῶνος when Winter was over, ſuppoſe about the midſt of March, that he went ſoon back to Samaria, and married the Daughter of Ariſtobulus, that then he gathers a greater Army, and Soſius comes to him with Auxiliaries, and then he places his Camp near the North Wall, let all this be done by the 10th of April; and then he adds, that after this the Party of Antigonus endured the Siege πέντε μησὶ five Months, i. e. till the 10th of September; how therefore is it poſſible that the City ſhould be taken in the Month Sivan or the 3d Month. Nor was Antigonus ſlain till about a Month or more after the City was taken. For (r) Joſephus informs us, that he was afterwards carried by Soſius to Antioch, where Anthony then was, and that he kept him there intending to reſerve him to his Triumph at Rome; but when he heard that the Jews

Jews had so great Favour for him, and so great hatred to Herod, that they would not be prevailed upon by torments to own him as their King, he beheaded him at Antioch. Antigonus therefore in all probability, could not be slain till about the 10th or 15th of October, and so Herod's 18th Year could not begin till that time. And so if Herod began his Project of building the Temple, on the very 1st Day of his 18th Year, which yet is both uncertain and improbable, he could not begin it at the Feast of Tabernacles, that being fixed to the 15th Day of September.

2*dly*, (f) Josephus doth not say that Herod began to build the Temple in his 18th Year, but only that ἐπεβάλετο he cast in his mind to do so, and when he had proposed this to the Rulers of the Jews, he engages not to attempt the Work, till he had prepared all the Materials for it, nor doth he say how long he was preparing these Materials, tho', saith Casaubon, all Men will think it reasonable to allow him at least a Year for that; and Bishop Usher saith, they were only provided in two Years space. So that Herod could not begin the Work till the middle of his 19th Year (t). Now admit the Phancy that the ναὸς was first built in eighteen Months, he could not finish the building of it till his 21st Year from Antigonus, from thence he reigned only thirteen Years; now thirteen and twenty nine will never make forty six Years.

But, 3*dly*, That which entirely confoundeth this account is this Consideration, that when Herod began to build, he first built the ἱερὸν, i. e. the Court of the Gentiles and Lay Jews, and the building of this, saith Josephus, took up eight Years, absolutoque octo Annis reliquo ædificio, tandem etiam Templum ipsum Sacerdotum operâ sesquianno perfecit, and having finished that in eight Years, he afterwards by the assistance of the Priests, built the ναὸς or the inward Temple, in a Year and half more; so that according to Josephus, the ναὸς was not built till the 28th of Herod; i. e. but six Years before his Death, now six, and twenty nine make only thirty five Years.

Mr. Whiston indeed saith that I perplex the matter, when I place the building of the ἱερὸν before the ναὸς i. e. the outward before the inner Temple. But this I do with good Authority, and with better Reason; for Josephus saith, the ἱερὸν was finished in eight Years, and then follow these words (u) τῶν δὲ ναῶν διὰ τῶν ἱερέων οἰκοδομηθέντων ἐνιαυτῷ καὶ μησὶν ς ἅπας ὁ λαὸς ἐπληρώθη χαρᾶς, καὶ τὸ τάχος πρῶτον τῷ θεῷ τὰς εὐχαεισίας ἐποιήσατο, then the Temple being built by the Priests in a Year and six Months, all the People returned thanks to God, and celebrate the encænia. Who sees not now that the Work done about the ναὸς was done last of all, and that instantly thereupon follow the encænia for the dedication of the whole? And this is also suitable to Reason, for the Jews fearing that Herod would not be able to perform his promise, would surely keep that part of the Temple on which their daily Sacrifices, and the Service of the great Day of expiation depended, standing; till they saw by what he had done about the other Temple, that he was likely to accomplish his undertaking, and would not have suffered themselves to be deprived of the benefit of those Sacrifices for nine Years and a half, as they must have done, if either the Temple of the Priests had not been standing, or not dedicated till that time. Wherefore for the right stating of this matter, let it be noted,

1*st*, That whether this Computation of the Jews be true or false, neither Christ, nor the Evangelist are concerned in the matter, seeing St. John only relates what the Jews said to Christ; and if they said any thing that was not true, he who relateth truly what they said, can lose no Credit by it. Note,

2*dly*, That the Opinion of them who say the second Temple was (including the times of the interruption to its compleat finishing) forty six Years in building, tho' it may not be true, as Drusius thinks it was, yet was it so as here he saith, ex opinione vulgi & sapientum, according both to the Opinion of their Wise-men, and the Common People; and it is certain from (w) Josephus, that they had not compleatly finished it till long after; for he having told us that the Foundation of it being laid in the close of the Reign of Cyrus, it was interrupted nine Years till the time of Darius, that (x) Ezra finished the Temple for Service in the ninth Year of Darius, in whose second Year they began again to build; adds, (y) That in the twenty fifth Year of Xerxes (i. e. Artaxerxes) Nehemias was sent with his Commission to repair the Walls of Jerusalem, and τὸ λειφθὲν τοῦ ἱεροῦ τελειῶσαι, to finish the Remainder of the Temple, the Court of the Sanctuary being not yet built, Neh. 2. 8. And seeing they constantly called the Temple built by Zorobabel, and restored by Herod, the second Temple, till the Destruction of it by Titus, and of necessity it must be so in some true sense, that the Prophecy of Haggai concerning Christ's coming to that very Temple might be fulfilled, They who always called this the second Temple built by Zorobabel, why might they not say of that, according to their received Computation, forty six Years was this Temple in building.

But, 3*dly*, The Opinion of Ludovicus Capellus, Dr. Allix, and others who understand this of the Temple of Herod, is exact, plain, and evident; for if you begin the time of the building in the eighteenth of Herod, when he began to set about it, and employ'd a thousand Carts to bring the Materials, and provided the most skilful Artificers for that Work, from that time to his Death is exactly sixteen Years. This was said to Christ in the thirtieth Year of his Age, at the first Passover after his Baptism. Now thirty and sixteen make forty six Years.

Object. If it be here objected that Josephus informs us that Herod's Temple was finished in nine Years and an half.

Answ. The Answer is, that it was then finished as to Use; but saith Capellus, Planum est ex eodem semper aliquid additum, & extructum ab eo tempore fuisse in illo Templo, It is plain from the same Josephus that from that time there was always something added to, or new built in the Temple, even till the time of Agrippa Junior, i. e. about the space space of sixty Years. Bishop Usher adds, that all Herod's Wealth was not sufficient for the building, but that was continued still by the Gifts consecrated to God: And this is confirmed by the saying of (z) Josephus, That all the holy Treasures, and the Tributes sent from all Parts of the World were spent in building and adorning the Temple. And that the abundance of Money, and the largesses of the People were beyond Expression, and so τὸ μηδὲ ἐλπισθὲν ἔξω πάσης ἐπιμηχανῆς καὶ χρόνοις ἂν πώποτε, that which Men thought would never be finished (the Attempt of (a) Herod being τὸ μὲν ἐπιχείρημα θαυμαστὸν ἄπιστον, *beyond all Mens Hopes) was thro' patience, and length of time, expedited. CHAP. III.

1. THERE was (at Jerusalem) a Man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, (who was) a Ruler of the Jews; (i. e. one of the Jewish Sanhedrim, John 7. 50.)

2. The same (οὗτος he) came to Jesus by night (that he might not offend his Colleagues,) and said to a him, Rabbi, [a] we know, (i. e. I know, See Note on Chap. 21. 24, or, it may be certainly known) that thou art a Teacher come from God, for no Man can do these Miracles that thou doest, except God be with him, (the Power that enables thee to perform them, exceeding all that Men, or Devils can do.)

3. Jesus observing that he said nothing of the Excellency and Power of his Doctrine, to change the Hearts, and reform the Lives of Men, but only of his Miracles by which it was confirmed,) answered and said to him, Verily, verily I say to thee, (this acknowledgment will not be sufficient to render thee a Member of that Kingdom I am to set b up, for) except a Man [b] be born again, (i. e. renewed in his Mind, Will, and Affections by the Operation of the Holy Spirit, and so become a new Creature, 2 Cor. 5. 17.) he cannot see (i. e. enjoy the Blessings of) the Kingdom of God.

4. Nicodemus (being a Pharisee exact in the observance of their Traditions, and ritual Observances, but having no Knowledge of this spiritual Regeneration,) saith to him, How can a Man be born (again) when he is old, can he enter the second time into his Mother's Womb and be born?

5. Jesus answered, (tho' you so little understand it, yet I have told you a great Truth, which farther
c to explain) Verily, verily I say to thee, [c] except a Man be born (again) of Water, (and so become one of my Disciples by that baptismal Regeneration by which your Proselytes are said to become as Infants new born.) and of the Spirit (purifying his Heart from all worldly and carnal Lusts, and enabling him to live a spiritual Life according to my Doctrine,) he cannot enter into the Kingdom of God, (or enjoy the Blessings of my Kingdom.)

6. (And the reason and necessity of this Regeneration by the Spirit is evident, as also that it cannot be sufficient to this end to be of the Seed of Abraham, he being only the Father of our Flesh, d for) [d] that which is born of the Flesh (only) is Flesh, (still mindeth chiefly carnal things, and lives after the motions of the Flesh; and (but) that which is born of the Spirit; is Spirit; (i. e. is acted by, and lives after the Motions and Directions of the Holy Spirit, Rom. 8. 5.)

7. (And) marvel not that I (have) said to thee, Ye must be born again, (because this Birth is not discernable by the Eye of Sense, nor do Men fully know the manner how this new Birth is wrought within them by the Spirit, for thus it is in other matters; as for Example,)

8. The [e] Wind bloweth where it listeth, (as e the Vapours move it) and thou hearest the sound thereof, (and by that discernest the thing it self,) but (yet thou) canst not tell whence it cometh and whither it goeth, (tho' it came certainly from one place, and goeth certainly to another,) so is (it with) every one that is born of the Spirit; (the effects produced in him by the Holy Spirit plainly shew a great change in him, and he himself perceives it, but the Operations of the Spirit producing this change, are not perceptible to others, nor is the renewed Person always able to perceive, and to distinguish them from the inward workings of his own Mind.)

9. Nicodemus answered, and said to him, (I apprehend not,) how can these things be?

10. Jesus answered, and said to him, art thou, f
[f] a Master (διδάσκαλος a Teacher) of Israel, (one of those who say of their baptized Proselytes, they are as new born Babes, and of Wisdom, that it comes from above,) and (yet) knowest not these things?

11. Verily, verily, I say to thee, We speak that we do know, and testifie that we have seen, (that is, I deliver to you what I know certainly to be true,) and ye receive not our Witness, (you do not believe and own that Truth which by my Miracles is confirmed.)

12. If I have told you (of) earthly things, (or that which may be represented to you by Similitudes taken from earthly things, or things done by you here on Earth,) and ye believe (them) not, how shall you believe if (when) I tell you of heavenly things; (i. e. of things which cannot be thus represented, viz. of my Descent from Heaven, and Abode still there?)

13. And (yet no other Person can acquaint you with these heavenly things, for) [g] no man g hath ascended up to Heaven (to learn them there, See Note on Rom. 10. 6.) but he that came came down from Heaven, even the Son of Man, who (according to his divine Nature) is in Heaven (while ye ſee him here on Earth.)

14. And (yet as great as this Son of Man is, he muſt die for the Sins of Men, for) as Moſes lifted up the Serpent in the Wilderneſs, (that they who were bitten by poiſonous Serpents, and ſo would otherwiſe have died, looking up to it might live, Numb. 21. 8, 9.) even ſo muſt the Son of Man be [h] lifted up (upon the Croſs.) h

15. That whoſoever believeth in him ſhould not periſh (by that Death which the Temptation of the old Serpent brought upon all the Sons of Adam) but (being delivered from it by the Death of this Son of Man, who is the Antitype of that brazen Serpent, might) have eternal Life.

16. (Nor is it to be wondred that God ſhould thus ſuffer his only begotten Son to die, this being only the effect of his great Love to Mankind,) for [i] God ſo loved the World i that he gave (up) his only begotten Son (to the Death for us all, Rom. 8. 32.) that whoſoever believeth in him ſhould not periſh, (by lying ſtill under the Power of Death,) but (by riſing from it, John 5. 28, 29. ſhould) have everlaſting Life.

17. For (ſurely) God (acting thus in purſuance of his great Love to the World,) ſent not his Son into the World to condemn the k World, but that the [k] World through him might be ſaved (by Faith in him.)

18. (And therefore) he that (having heard his Doctrine, and ſeen the Miracles by which it is confirmed,) believeth in him, is not condemned, (there being no Condemnation to them which are in Chriſt Jeſus, Rom. 8. 1.) but he that (after the Knowledge of this ſalutary Doctrine) believeth not, is condemned already, becauſe he (after ſuch Conviction) hath not believed in the Name of the only begotten Son of God.

19. And this is (the ground of) the Condemnation (of ſuch a Man,) that (he continues in his Infidelity, not for want of Light but from love to his Sins, for) Light is come into the World, and (theſe) Men (have) l loved (to continue in) Darkneſs [l] rather than (to embrace the) Light, becauſe their Deeds were evil.

20. (And this is the proper effect of a prevailing love to Sin.) for every one that doth evil, (naturally) hateth the Light, neither cometh to the Light, leſt (the evil of) his Deeds ſhould be (diſcovered, and) reproved (by it.)

21. But he that doth (ſincerely love) the Truth, cometh to the Light, that (by it) his Deeds may be manifeſted (both to himſelf and others,) that they are wrought in (the Fear, and according to the Will of) God.

22. After theſe things came Jeſus, and his Diſciples into the Land of Judea, and there he tarried with them, and (by them) [m] baptized, (Chap. 4. 2. to prepare the Jews by the Baptiſm of Repentance as John did, for the Reception of the Meſſiah; See the Note.) m

23. And John alſo was baptizing in Ænon, near to Salem, (the place being convenient for that purpoſe,) [n] becauſe there was much n Water there; and they (the People) came (to him) and were baptized (of him there.)

24. For John was not yet caſt into Priſon (by Herod.)

25. Then there aroſe a Queſtion (or Diſpute) betwixt ſome of John's Diſciples and the Jews, about purifying, (it being without Example to baptize a Jew; and they being ſtiled θεῖοι Θεῷ καθαροί, the pure Servants of God, Nehem. 2. 20. and thought to be born in Holineſs, the Phariſees might ask what need there was of any Baptiſm to purifie them; and if John's Baptiſm was ſufficient for this end, why did Chriſt ſet up another after it, which ſeem'd to argue him greater than John, and that his Baptiſm muſt confer ſome higher degree of Purity.)

26. And (upon this) they came unto John (for ſatisfaction in this matter,) and (by way of complaint) ſaid to him, Rabbi, he that was with thee beyond Jordan (to be baptized of thee,) to whom thou beareſt witneſs, behold the ſame baptizeth, (i. e. he takes upon him thy Office, as if thy Baptiſm were imperfect,) and all Men come to him; (i. e. the Concourſe to him is ſo great, that we fear thy Baptiſm will be neglected.)

27. John anſwered, and ſaid, ° A Man o can receive nothing (of Power or Authority) except it be given him from Heaven:

28. Ye your ſelves (can) bear me witneſs, that I ſaid, I am not the Chriſt, but (only) that I am ſent before him (to prepare his way; ſeeing then God hath only made me his Forerunner, I muſt not pretend to an equality with him whoſe Fore-runner and Servant I am.)

29. He that hath the Bride is the Bridegroom, but the Friend of the Bridegroom, which ſtandeth and heareth him, (Gr. ſtanding and hearing him careſs, and expreſs his Affection to his Spouſe,) rejoiceth greatly becauſe of the Bridegroom's Voice; (Chriſt is this Bridegroom, and the Church is his Bride, I only am the Bridegroom's Friend,) this my Joy therefore is fulfilled, (by hearing that he is thus graciouſly ſpeaking to his Church, and calling her by this and other methods to fit her ſelf for his Embraces.)

30. He muſt increaſe (in his Glory, and the extent of his Government, Luke 1. 32, 33.) but I (his Fore-runner, whoſe Office ceaſeth when he comes, and manifeſts himſelf to the World,) muſt decreaſe.

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Ver. 2. Οἴδαμεν, We know that thou art a Teacher ſent from God.] This could not be ſaid of his Brethren, the Phariſees and Rulers of the Sanhedrim, for none of the Phariſees or of the Rulers believed on him, Chap. 7. 48. οἴδαμεν therefore here may relate chiefly to Nicodemus, and only ſignifie, I know, as it often doth: See Note on Chap. 21. 24. or elſe may ſignifie it is, or may be known, as when the blind Man ſaith, we know God heareth not Sinners, Chap. 9. 31. See Matth. 26. 2. Luke 20. 21. Rom. 2. 2.—3. 19. —7. 14. 1 Cor. 8. 4. 1 Tim. 1. 8.

b Ver 3. Ἐαν μὴ τις γεννηθῇ ἄνωθεν δύναται ἰδεῖν, If a Man be not born again, he cannot ſee the Kingdom of God.] It is here needleſs to enquire whether the word ἄνωθεν ſhould be rendred from above, or again, as our Tranſlation doth, and as Nicodemus underſtood Chriſt's Words, ſince every one who is born again, is alſo born from above, Jam. 3. 17. as being born of that Spirit which cometh from above.

Note alſo that to ſee the Kingdom of God here, and to enter into it, ver. 5. is the ſame thing, and both theſe Phraſes ſignifie to be a real Member of that Kingdom, and to enjoy the Bleſſings belonging to them who are ſo; thus to ſee good, Eccleſ. 6. 6. to ſee good days, Pſal. 34. 12. and to ſee Life, ver. 36. is to enjoy them, and to ſee God, Job 19. 26. Matth. 5. 8. and to ſee the Lord, Heb. 12. 14. is to enjoy him.

Note, 3*dly*, That Chriſt ſeems to ſpeak this not primarily of that heavenly Kingdom, into which the Bleſſed ſhall enter at the day of Judgment, but of that ſpiritual Kingdom which was to be erected by the Meſſiah; and into which Men entred by Baptiſm; whence it muſt follow, that no Man is indeed a Member of Chriſt's Kingdom, who is not truly regenerate. If you continue in my Word, ſaith Chriſt, then are ye my Diſciples indeed, John 8. 31. and if any Man hath not the Spirit of Chriſt, he is none of his, Rom. 8. 9.

Note, Laſtly, That this ſeems to be directed againſt the falſe and pernicious Conceptions of the Jewiſh Doctors, the Scribes and Phariſees, who thought they had a Title to the Kingdom of God, and the Bleſſings of it, as being the Seed of Abraham according to the Fleſh, and promiſed to all Iſraelites on that account a Portion in the World to come; declaring, ſaith (a) Juſtin Martyr

Martyr, that to all that were of the Seed of Abraham, tho' they were Sinners, and disobedient to God's Laws, should be given an eternal Kingdom.

c Ver. 5. Ἐὰν μή γεννηθῇ ἐξ ὕδατος, If a Man be not born of Water.] That our Lord here speaks of baptismal Regeneration, the whole Christian Church from the beginning hath always taught, and that with very good Reason; for,

1*st*, Tho' Water is sometimes put to signifie, or represent the purifying Operations of the Holy Spirit, yet to be born of Water is a Phrase never used in Scripture, for being born of the Spirit; but very properly is it used of that Baptism which is the Laver of Regeneration, Tit. 3. 5. and was by all the Antients stiled παλιγγενεσία, or Regeneration. See the Note on 1 Cor. 7. 14.

2*dly*, To be baptized with the Holy Ghost and with Fire, Matth. 3. 11. Luke 3. 16. is to be baptized with the Holy Ghost descending on the Apostles in the Symbol of Fire, as the Event declared, the Holy Ghost falling upon them in the shape of Cloven Tongues like as of Fire, Acts 2. 2, 3. and therefore in like manner to be baptized with Water and the Holy Ghost, most likely signifies to be baptized with the Holy Ghost, and with the Symbol of Water.

3*dly*, The Question betwixt Christ and Nicodemus was about that which was requisite to fit a Man to enter into the Kingdom, that is, the Church of God, and make him Partaker of the Blessings of the Gospel; now it is certain that Baptism by Water is by our Lord declared to be the ordinary means of entring into his Kingdom, for he saith, Mark 16. 16. he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; or, of becoming one of Christ's Disciples, for he not only made Disciples by Baptism, John 4. 1. but gave Commission to his Apostles to make Disciples in all Nations by baptizing them, Matth. 28. 19. and therefore must here speak of that; hence even when the Holy Ghost was actually fallen upon Cornelius and his Friends, St. Peter commands them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus, i. e. to be admitted to be Christ's Disciples by that Rite, and looks upon it as a necessary Consequent of that higher Baptism, Acts 10. 47, 48. Christ therefore here declares it to be a Rite necessary for the Entrance of adult Persons into his Kingdom; and it seems highly reasonable to esteem so of it; for what Salvation can be expected by them, who, after he hath told them they must be baptized with Water that they may enter into his Kingdom, do by refusing that Sacrament too plainly shew that they refuse that way of entring into his Kingdom, and becoming his Disciples, which he had appointed for that end? But then here,

1*st*, Infants must be excepted from this Necessity, as being incapable of knowing, and therefore of transgressing this Command; they therefore shall not suffer in their eternal Interests for the mistake or neglect of any of their Parents.

2*dly*, They also are to be excepted who want that Baptism they desire, not out of contempt, but of necessity, as dying before they can procure it; thus tho' the Infant who died before the eighth Day died without the Sign of the Covenant, the Jews never thought fit to circumcise them before that Day; and since it is not the washing of the Body, but the Stipulation of a good Conscience that renders Baptism saving, 1 Pet. 3. 21. it cannot be purely the want, but the Contempt of that, which must condemn us: And,

3*dly*, Whatever Ignorance of the Precept, or mistake about the Nature of it, renders not Men incapable of Baptism by the Holy Ghost, can never render them incapable of the Salvation promised to the baptized.

Ver. 6. Τὸ γεγεννημένον ἐκ τῆς σαρκὸς, σάρξ ἐστι. d
That which is born of the Flesh, is Flesh.] (only) our Parents being only the Fathers of the Flesh, Heb. 12. 9. Whence it is that it cannot be sufficient to entitle Infants to the Blessings of this Kingdom without Baptism, that they are born of Christian Parents according to the Flesh, but that some Operation of the Spirit is necessary to fit them for the Kingdom of Heaven. See Addition, N°. 9. (9)

Ver. 8. Τὸ πνεῦμα, The Wind bloweth f where it listeth.] They who here say that the Word πνεῦμα signifies here not the Wind, but the Holy Spirit, 1*st*, Destroy the Comparison intimated in the Word οὕτως so; and, 2*dly*, They make Christ say that Nicodemus heard the Voice of the Spirit, which is not very probable.

Ver. 10. Art thou ὁ διδάσκαλος, a Master, e or Teacher in Israel?] These being received Maxims among the Jews, that Wisdom is given from above; Targ. in Eccles. 7. 7. and that when a Man is a Proselyte he is reputed as an Infant new born, Selden de jure Natural. l. 2. c. 4. Our Saviour might well admire that a Teacher of Israel should have no Notion of a new Birth by Water, or a Birth from above.

Ver. 13. And no Man hath ascended into g Heaven, but he that came down from Heaven, even the Son of Man, ὁ ὢν ἐν τῷ οὐρανῷ, who is in Heaven.] The Jews say, for the Honour of their Prophet Moses, that he ascended לשמי מרומא, into the high Heavens, Targ. in Cant. 1. 5, 11, 12. That this was not true of Moses, these words of Christ shew, and the History of Moses which saith, he only ascended to Mount Sinai; but of Christ, who in the beginning was with the Father, Chap. 1. 1. and who came down from Heaven to do, and to declare his Father's Will, Chap. 3. 35. this is most true; but then he is said as to his Divine Nature to descend from Heaven, not by a local Descent, or by quitting Heaven, but only by a Manifeſtation of himſelf on Earth; in which ſenſe God himſelf is ſaid in the Old Teſtament to deſcend to ſee the Tower of Babel, Gen. 11. 5. and to confound the Lips of them that built it, ver. 7. and to ſee the Iniquity of Sodom, Gen. 18. 21. and to deliver his People from the Hand of the Egyptians, Exod. 3. 8. and to give them the Law, Exod. 19. 18. and thus ſaith St. Auſtin, he is ſaid to deſcend, not when he from Heaven obſerves what is done on Earth, for that is metaphorically to look down from Heaven; but when he doth ſomething upon Earth beyond the uſual courſe of Nature, which therefore ſeemeth to require his more than ordinary Preſence there, and then he is uſually ſaid to appear either attended by his Holy Angels, or in a Flame, or Cloud of Glory, the Symbol of his Majeſtick Preſence. Note,

2*dly*, That thoſe things are frequently aſcribed by this Evangeliſt to Chriſt, which neither do, nor can agree, and which elſewhere are not aſcribed to any Creature, viz. that he is he who in the beginning was with God, Chap. 1. 1. ὁ ὢν that is in the Boſom of the Father, ver. 18. ὁ ὢν πρὸς τὸν Θεὸν, that is with God, Chap. 6. 46. and here, who is in Heaven. Now this never was or could be ſaid of a mere Creature, for, as Woltzogenius confeſſeth, no Creature can be in Heaven and on the Earth at the ſame time. The Gloſs of Grotius here is this, ſingulari Dei dono nobis conceſſus eſt, he is given to us by the ſpecial Gift of God; but this anſwers not the fulneſs of the Phraſe, He came from Heaven; for all the Prophets were ſent to the Jews, and the Apoſtles both to Jews and Gentiles by the eſpecial Gift, and Kindneſs of God, and yet none of them are ſaid to come down from Heaven; Chriſt is ſtiled the Lord from Heaven, 1 Cor. 15. 47. as coming down from thence to judge the World, 1 Theſſ. 4. 16. the new Jeruſalem is ſaid to come down from Heaven, Rev. 3. 12.—21. 2, 10. becauſe 'twas repreſented ſo in a Viſion to St. John, the Baptiſm of John is ſaid to be from Heaven, but neither he nor his Doctrine to deſcend from Heaven. See the Note on John 6. 32. In vain do ſome Socinians produce, as parallel Expreſſions, thoſe words of St. Paul, He hath ſeated us in the heavenly Places in Chriſt Jeſus, Eph. 2. 6. and our City is in Heaven, Philip. 3. 20. for the laſt only ſignifies, that Heaven is the Place where we are to dwell for ever; the firſt, that Chriſt hath exalted the Human Nature thither. Their Strength conſiſts in their ſecond Anſwer, viz. that ὁ ὢν is to be rendred, who was with God, and who was in Heaven; and this, ſay they, is here apparent, becauſe Chriſt ſpeaks of himſelf as the Son of Man, both here and Chap. 6. 62. to which it might be anſwered, that Chriſt in theſe Places ſaith, the Son of Man is in Heaven, as St. Peter ſaith, the Prince of Life was crucified, Acts 3. 15. St. Paul, that the Lord of Glory ſuffered, 1 Cor. 2. 8. and that God purchaſed a Church with his own Blood, Acts 20. 28. viz. the Son of Man is in Heaven, not as the Son of Man, but as the Son of God. But that which fundamentally deſtroys this Anſwer is this Conſideration, that it is not true that Chriſt, as to his Human Nature in the beginning, was with God, or was in Heaven: Yes, ſay they, after his Baptiſm he was taken up into Heaven, there to be made acquainted with the Will of God. But,

2*dly*, To what end ſhould our Saviour be thus ſnatched up into Heaven, or what Neceſſity was there of it? Could not the Father declare his Will to him as to other Prophets, while he was on Earth? Sure an Almighty and All-preſent God could as well do this out of Heaven, as in it; or was it becauſe he would not do this to him upon Earth? This cannot truly be affirmed, ſeeing Chriſt was anointed, and filled with that Spirit by which he performed his Prophetick Office, not in Heaven, but on Earth. There was it that the Spirit deſcended on him as a Dove, Matth. 3. 16. and by virtue of this Spirit he received at Jordan, he taught in the Synagogues, and was glorified of all, Luke 4. 14, 15. By this Spirit he was ſanctified for his Office, and ſent into the World, John 10. 36. By this Unction the Father ſent him to preach Remiſſion of Sins, and the acceptable Year of the Lord, Luke 4. 18, 19. On this Account he ſpake the words of God, becauſe the Father had given him the Spirit, not by meaſure, here ver. 34. Whence it appears that Chriſt was fitted for this Prophetick Office by that Spirit he received on Earth. Well then, either our Lord, was taken ken up into Heaven to be thus instructed, before this Unction he received on Earth, or afterwards; if before, this Unction of the Spirit must be needless, unless God did his Work imperfectly in Heaven, and gave him there no full and perfect Knowledge of his Will; if after this Unction, this Ascent was needless, he being by it filled with the Spirit of Wisdom, Counsel, and Power above measure. What therefore could be wanting to him, who from this Spirit had received all the Treasures of Wisdom, and Power to perform the greatest Miracles for the Discharge of his Prophetick Function? See Placæus Disp. prima & secunda, and Note on John 6. 61.

h Ver. 14. Οὕτως ὑψωθῆναι δεῖ τὸν τὸν ἀνθρώπου, So must the Son of Man be lifted up, that all that believe in him may have eternal Life.] He saith not here, as the Socinians, that the Death of Christ was necessary for the Confirmation of the Gospel, but, with the Fathers, that it was necessary to procure to us Life eternal, by removing that Death which Sin had brought upon us: Note also, that as ὑψοῦν here, and chap. 8, 28, 12, 32. is to be lifted up upon the Cross; so Rabbi Solomo interprets the Pole on which the Serpent was lifted up, a Fork; and (b) Justin M. (c) Tertullian, and (d) Barnabas, say, This was a Figure of the Cross, and that it was a Symbol of Salvation; he that turned to it, being preserved from Death, not by what he saw, but by the Saviour of all Men.

i Ver. 16. God so loved the World, &c.] Two things in Scripture are noted as Indications of God's especial Love to Man: 1*st*, That he sent his Son into the World to die for him. 2*dly*, That he who was thus sent, was υἱὸς ἴδιος καὶ μονογενής, his proper only Son, Rom. 8. 32. 1 John 4. 9, 10.

Object. Woltzogenius here saith, 1*st*, That this Son of God could not be God, since then he must be his own Son.

Answ. It only follows hence, that he could not be God the Father, but yet he might be God of God by the Union of the Λόγος, or the Divine Nature to his Human Nature.

Object. But then, saith he, God must have suffered.

Answ. It follows only hence, That he who suffered was God, but not that he suffered as God; and this those ancient Fathers well understood, who read, Heb. 2. 9. That Christ suffered, χωρὶς Θεοῦ, his Divinity suffering nothing.

2*dly*, Hence he objects against Christ's Satisfaction thus; seeing God shewed the highest love to Men in sending thus his Son to die for them, he could not then be angry with them, and therefore could require no atonement to be made to him for them; Christ therefore could not die to reconcile this kind and loving God to the World.

Answ. To this I answer, That we are taught by plain Examples of Holy Scripture that love of Benevolence in God towards the Sinner, is well consistent with his Displeasure against him for his Sin; as in the case of Job's three Friends; For the Lord said to Eliphaz the Temanite, My Anger is kindled against thee, and thy two Friends, because ye have not spoken of me the Things which are right, Job 42, 7. in which Words, there is a Declaration of God's Anger against them for their Sin, exactly parallel to that of God supposed by us in this Case; and yet we find a like Expression of his Love in the ensuing Words, Therefore take to you now seven Bullocks, and seven Rams, and go to my Servant Job, and offer up for your selves a burnt Offering, for him will I accept, lest I deal with you after your Folly. God's Love is visible in directing them to that Sacrifice which would obtain his Favour, but it was only after the Oblation offered, and the Prayer of Job, that ἔλυσε τὴν ἁμαρτίαν αὐτοῖς, he forgave their Sins. Again, Did not God shew his kindness to his People Israel, in admitting a Beast to suffer in their stead, and appointing his Blood to make atonement for them; and yet did not he himself require this atonement to be made, that so their Sins might be forgiven? Did he not appoint this Blood to be offered to him as a Propitiation for their Sins? And, did not then the Victim die? And, was not his Blood offered to reconcile this loving God to Sinners? And is it not hence evident, That God's Love to Sinners is well consistent with his Displeasure against them for their Sins?

Ver. 17. For God sent not his Son—to condemn the World, but that ὁ κόσμος, the World by him might be saved.] The Jews imagined, that God first made the World only for their sakes, 2 Esd. 6. 55. 56, 59. and also, that the Redemption of it was only designed for their good, and that their Messiah would come to subdue and condemn the Nations whom he hated. Christ on the contrary here declares, That God was so far from hating or condemning them, that he sent the Messiah into the World to save them, and consequently to die for them. k Vain here is their Imagination, who by the World understand only the Elect out of the World; for then Christ here must only say, that he was sent that the Elect who believed in him should not perish; as if any who were absolutely elected to Salvation by Faith in him, could either periſh or not believe. No, 'tis apparent from theſe Words, That of this World thus beloved by God, ſome would not believe, and ſo would periſh. And this is more apparent from the Words immediately following, in which the World which he was ſent to ſave, is divided into Believers and Unbelievers, and into thoſe that will be ſaved and condemned; for thus they run, He (of this World) who believeth in him is not condemned, but he that believeth not is now condemned; which muſt be falſe, if you reſtrain this World to ſuch Elect as cannot periſh, and cannot but believe to Life eternal. And, laſtly, He that believeth not, ſaith Chriſt, ſhall therefore be condemn'd, becauſe he believeth not in the Name of the only Son of God. Now, is it not abſurd to ſay, Men ſhall eternally be condemned for not believing in him, who died not for them, and was not ſent for their Salvation? Since then, Chriſt frequently declares, That all to whom the Goſpel is propounded, ſhall be condemned, if, and becauſe, they believe not in him, John 3. 18. — 12. 47. 'Tis certain that he died for the Salvation of them alſo.

l Ver. 19. And Men have loved Darkneſs more than Light, μᾶλλον (κότ@ ἢ τὸ φῶς.] Here the Criticks note, that μᾶλλον ἢ is not a Comparative, as if the Workers of Iniquity did in ſome meaſure love the Light; for, ver. 20. they are ſaid to hate it; but, as in other places, is a Negative: So Chap. 12. 43. They loved the Praiſe of Men; μᾶλλον ἢπ δ, more than the Praiſe of God, i.e. and not the Praiſe of God. So 1 Tim. 1. 4. 2 Tim. 3. 4. Heb. 11. 25. in which places μᾶλλον ἢ, may be rendred as here, and not Light; and this they did, not only in thoſe times of Ignorance, at which God winked, Acts 17. 30. but after the clear Light had ſhined upon them; by which it appeared, that the Deeds of Darkneſs were ſo pleaſing to them, that when they were diſcovered to them ſo to be, they ſtill bore that Affection to them which rendred the Light diſpleaſing to them, becauſe it did reprove them: Whereas, they who had Hearts diſpoſed to obey that Light, which would direct them in the way to Happineſs came to it, that they might be the more aſſured they were doing the Works of God, i.e. thoſe Works which were performed according to his Will, which tended to his Glory, and chiefly did reſpect him as the End and Object of them.

m Ver. 22. Καὶ ἐβάπτιζεν, And he baptized] by his Diſciples, Chap. 4. 2. not, as moſt Interpreters conceive, into his own Name, or ſo as to exact from them a Belief that he was the Chriſt; for, this he forbids his Diſciples to divulge till he was riſen from the Dead, Matth. 16. 20.—17. 9. He therefore only did baptize as John had done, into the Faith of the Meſſiah which was to come, and with that Baptiſm of Repentance which prepared the Jews for the Reception of his Kingdom.

Ver. 23. Ὅτι ὕδατα πολλὰ ἦν ἐκεῖ, Becauſe there was much Water there:] In which their whole Bodies might be dipped; for in this manner only was the Jewiſh Baptiſm performed, by a Deſcent into the Water, Acts 8. 38. and an Aſcent out of it, ver. 39. and a Burial in it, Rom. 6. 3, 4. Col. 2. 12. Some here enquire, why Chriſt ſhould thus baptize when John had not deſiſted ſo to do? But ſince both by their Baptiſm intended the ſame thing, I ſee no reaſon why our Saviour might not as well baptize as preach Repentance, Matth. 4. 17. whilſt the Baptiſt was doing the ſame thing. a

Ver. 27. A Man can receive nothing of himſelf;] i. e. one who by Divine Authority is entruſted with any Commiſſion, cannot exceed that Commiſſion; ſince therefore God hath only made me the Forerunner of the Meſſiah, as I have told you, ver. 28. I cannot pretend to be equal with him. o

Ver. 31. Ὁ ὢν ἐκ τῆς γῆς, &c. He that is of the Earth is earthly.] See the Paraphraſe; and note, that ὁ ἐπ πάντων, is an Epithet proper to God alone, and yet aſcribed to Chriſt, Rom. 9. 5. p

Ver. 32. Καὶ ὃ ἑώρακε κ ἤκουσε τοῦτο μαρτυρεῖ, And what he hath ſeen and heard, that he teſtifies;] i.e. what he fully knows; for by ſeeing and hearing, we come to the moſt perfect knowledge of Things; or what he hath inwardly heard and ſeen by the dictate and irradiation of the Holy Spirit. q

Ver. 34. He whom God hath ſent, ſpeaketh the Words of God; For God giveth not to him the Spirit by meaſure;] i.e. he that hath the Spirit in a limited manner, at ſuch times only, and with reſpect to ſuch particular Revelations only, may ſometimes ſpeak from his own ſelf; but he who hath the Spirit always reſiding in him, without ſtint or meaſure, muſt always ſpeak the Word of God. To give a thing in meaſure in the Scripture-Phraſe, is to do it ſparingly; as when 'tis ſaid, They ſhall drink Water by meaſure, Ezek. 4. 16. and to correct in meaſure, Jer. 46. 28. — 30. 11. is to do it ſparingly, or in ſuch a Proportion; in which ſenſe we read of the meaſure of Faith, Rom. 12. 3. and the meaſure of the Gift of Chriſt, Eph. 4. 7. ſo that to give the Spirit without meaſure, is to give him in the greateſt affluence, and without reſtraint. r

CHAP. IV.

1. WHEN therefore the Lord knew, how the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more Disciples than John (the Baptist;)

2. Tho' (in truth) Jesus himself baptized not, but (only) his Disciples; (See the Note on Chap. 3. 22.)

3. He (in prospect of the Danger this might bring upon him from the Envy and Malice of these Pharisees, left Judea, (where the Power of the Sanhedrim, of which many of them were Members, prevailed,) and departed again into Galilee, (where they had less interest with Herod, and could less observe, or be offended with his Actions.)

a 4. And he must needs go [a] thro' Samaria, (that lying betwixt Judea and Galilee.)

5. Then cometh he (Gr. he cometh therefore) to a City of Samaria, which is called (by them Sichem, but by the Jews, see the b c Note,) [b] Sychar, near to the [c] parcel of Ground that Jacob gave to his Son Joseph (at his last Benediction, Gen. 48. 22.)

6. Now Jacob's Well, (i. e. a Well bearing his Name) was there; Jesus therefore

d being wearied with his Journey, sat [d] thus (weary and thirsty as he was,) on (or by) the Well; and it was about the sixth hour, (i. e. it was then about Noon.)

7. (Then) There cometh a Woman of Samaria (to that Well) to draw Water; (and) Jesus saith to her, Give me (some Water) to drink:

8. For his Disciples were gone away to the City to buy Meat, (and so could not draw it for him:

9. Then saith the Woman of Samaria to him, how is it that thou being a Jew, askest Drink of me who am a Woman of Samaria?

e (This she had cause to wonder at,) [e] for the Jews have no Dealings with the Samaritans; (They would buy of them any thing, but they would receive no Gratuity or Kindness from them. See the Note.)

10. Jesus answered and said to her, If f thou knewest [f] the Gift of God, (i. e. what an excellent Gift the Holy Spirit is,) and who it is who saith to thee, Give me to drink, (i. e. how able he is to impart this Gift to thee,) thou wouldst have asked of him, and (then) he would have given thee (this) Living Water, (which will spring up so continually in him that hath it, that he shall thirst no more, ver. 15. See John 7. 38, 39.)

11. The Woman (thinking Christ only meant Spring-water, that being in the Hebrew Idiom, Living-water, Gen. 26. 19.) saith to him, Sir, thou hast nothing to draw with, and the Well is deep; from whence then hast thou that Living Water (of which thou speakest?)

12. Art thou greater than our Father Jacob who gave us the Well (for we claim our Descent from him,) and drank thereof himself, and his Children, and his Cattel?

13. Jesus answered and said to her, Whosoever drinketh of this Water, shall (soon after) thirst again.

14. But whosoever drinketh of the Water that I shall give him, [g] shall never (have g cause to) thirst (more;) but the Water which I shall give him (i. e. the Holy Spirit abiding in him,) shall be in him (as) a Well of Water springing up to everlasting Life.

15. The Woman (still understanding him as grosly as she did before,) saith to him, Sir, give me this Water, that I thirst not (any more,) neither (may have farther need to) come hither to draw (Water.)

16. Jesus (being willing to prepare her to receive his Doctrine, by convincing her that he was a Prophet,) saith to her, Go, call thy Husband, and come (ye both) hither.

17. The Woman answered, and said, I have no Husband: Jesus said to her, Thou hast well (i. e. truly) said, I have no Husband.

18. For thou hast had five Husbands (from whom thou hast been divorced for thy Adulteries;) and he whom thou now hast (i. e. cohabitest with) [h] is not thy Husband; (thou living with him in Fornication,) in that (therefore) saidst thou truly. h

19. The Woman (then) saith to him, Sir, I perceive that thou (who so exactly knowest the Secrets of my Life, and that which I thought was known to God alone,) art a Prophet.

20. [i] Our Fathers worshipped in this Mountain (as we do,) and ye (Jews) say, that in Jerusalem is the place where Men ought to worship (God; I ask therefore thy Opinion in this case?) i

21. Jesus saith to her, Woman, believe me, the hour (shortly) cometh when ye shall [k] neither in this Mountain, nor yet at Jerusa- k lem, worship the Father.

22. (But to your Question I answer, That) [l] ye worship ye know not what; (i. e. that l God which you do not truly and savingly know, because ye know him not according as he is revealed in his Word:) We know what (i. e. τὸ θεῖον ὅ, the Divinity which) we worship, (serving him according to those Laws to which he hath promised Salvation;) for Salvation is of the Jews, (and the Terms of it are to be derived from them to others.)

23. But the Hour cometh, and now is (inſtant,) when the true Worſhippers ſhall worſhip the Father, (not with carnal Sacrifices as
m both now do, but) in [m] Spirit (ual Sacrifices, acceptable to God thro' Jeſus Chriſt, 1 Pet. 2. 5.) and (not in the Types and Shadows of the Law, as the Jews now do, nor in that erroneous manner as ye do, but) in (the) truth (of the Goſpel, John 1. 17.) for the Father ſeeketh ſuch to worſhip him, (Gr. ſuch Worſhippers of him: For,)

n 24. [n] God is a Spirit, and they that worſhip him (aright) muſt worſhip him in Spirit and in Truth; (i. e. agreeably to his ſpiritual Nature, by giving up their Hearts and Spirit to him, and according to his Will, by ſerving him according to the Precepts of the Goſpel.)

25. The Woman ſaith to him, I know that Meſſias cometh, who is called Chriſt, and when he is come, he will tell us all things (that we are to believe and do.)

26. Jeſus ſaith to her, I that ſpeak to thee am he, (viz. the Meſſiah.)

27. And upon this came his Diſciples, o and [o] marvelled that he talked with the Woman; yet no Man ſaid (to him) What ſeekeſt thou (of,) or, Why talkeſt thou with her?

28. The Woman then left her Water-pot (at the Well,) and went her way into the City, and ſaith to the Men (of the City.)

29. Come, ſee a Man who told me all things that ever I did: Is not this (an evidence that he is) the Chriſt?

30. Then they went out of the City, and came to him.

31. In the mean while his Diſciples prayed him, ſaying, Maſter, eat.

p 32. But he ſaid to them, [p] I have Meat to eat, which ye know not of; (i. e. ſomewhat more valuable and pleaſant to me than Meat or Drink.)

33. Therefore ſaid the Diſciples one to another, Hath any Man brought him (Meat) to eat?

34. Jeſus ſaith to them, My Meat (i. e. my Delight) is to do the Will of him that ſent me, and to finiſh his Work.

35. Say not ye (proverbially, as an encouragement to the Sower,) There are yet four Months, and then cometh (on the) Harveſt? Behold, I ſay to you, Lift up your Eyes, and look on the Fields, for they are white already to Harveſt; (i. e. look upon the Samaritans flocking to me to hear my Doctrine, and you will ſee, that the time of my ſpiritual Harveſt is already come.

36. And he that reapeth (this ſpiritual Harveſt by bringing Men to the Faith,) receiveth Wages (for his Labour) and gathereth Fruit, (not to ſuſtain this mortal Life, but) to Life eternal; that both he that ſoweth, and he that reapeth, (be that laboureth to prepare Men for, and he that brings them to the Faith,) may rejoice together (in the Fruit of their Labours.)

37. And here is that (proverbial) [q] Saying q true, One ſoweth, and another reapeth.

38. I (have) ſent (or do ſend) you to reap that whereon you beſtowed no Labour; other Men laboured, (the Prophets by foretelling the Meſſiah, the Baptiſt by calling Men to Repentance, that they might be prepared to receive him.) and ye are entred into their Labours, (and only are to perfect what they have begun.)

39. And many of the Samaritans of that City believed on him, for the Saying of the Woman, which teſtified, (ſaying) He told me all that ever I did.

40. So when the Samaritans were come to him, they beſought him that he would tarry with them; and he [r] abode there two r days.

41. And (in that time) many more believed, becauſe of his own word:

42. And ſaid to the Woman, Now we believe, not becauſe of thy Saying; for we have heard him our ſelves, and know (by the excellency of his Doctrine, and the holineſs and goodneſs of his Precepts,) that this is indeed the Chriſt, the Saviour of the [s] World. s

43. Now after two Days, he departed thence, and went into Galilee, (paſſing not by Nazareth, the place of his Education, but another way.

44. For Jeſus himſelf teſtified, that a Prophet hath (comparatively) no Honour in his own Country.

45. Then when he was come to Galilee, the Galileans received him (gladly,) having ſeen all the things which he did at Jeruſalem at the Feaſt (of the Paſſover;) for they alſo went to the Feaſt.

46. So Jeſus came again into Cana of Galilee, where he had made the Water Wine; and there was a certain Nobleman, (a great Man of Herod's Court,) whoſe Son was ſick at Capernaum.

47. (And) When he heard that Jeſus was come out of Judea into Galilee, he went to him, and beſought him, that he would come down and heal his Son; for he was at the point of Death.

48. Then ſaid Jeſus to him, Except ye ſee [t] Signs and Wonders (done before your Eyes,) t ye (Jews and Herodians) will not believe (on the account of the Excellence and Goodneſs of my Doctrine, as the Samaritans did.)

49. The Nobleman ſaith to him, Sir, come down e'er my Child die.

50. Jeſus ſaith to him, (There is no need of my going down;) Go thy way, (and thou ſhalt find) thy Son liveth; and the Man believed the Word which Jeſus had ſpoken to him, and he went his way.

51. And as he was now going down (to his House,) his Servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy Son liveth.

52. Then enquired he of them, the hour when he began to amend; and they said to him, Yesterday at the seventh hour the Feaver left him.

53. So the Father knew that it was at the same hour, in the which Jesus said to him, Thy Son liveth; and (he) himself believed, and [u] his whole House. u

54. This is again the second Miracle that Jesus did, when he was come out of Judea into Galilee.

Annotations on Chap. IV.

a Ver. 4. HE must go through Samaria.] For, saith (a) Josephus, the Galileans going up to Jerusalem at the Feast, went through the Country of the Samaritans.

b Ver. 5. He cometh to a City of Samaria, called Σιχαρ, Sichar.] 'Tis certain, from the Son of Sirac, Chap. 50. 26. and from Josephus, Antiq. l. 11. c. 8. that the Name of the City was Sichem. This therefore is either a corrupt Pronunciation, as Βηθαρ for Βηθαλ· or a Name of Reproach put upon it by the Jews, from שכר, as if it were a City of Drunkards, as Achan, Josh. 7. 25. is called עכר, 1 Chron. 2. 7. as being a Troubler of Israel.

c Ibid. The parcel of Ground which Jacob gave to his Son Joseph;] i. e. That piece of Ground which he bought of Hamor, the Father of Sichem, Gen. 33. 19. for that was near Sichem, saith the Text there: And hence this place became not only the Inheritance of Joseph, but his own Burial-place; he being buried, not in the Cave of Machpelah, as his Father Jacob was, Gen. 50. 13. nor saying, I will lie with my Father as Jacob did, Gen. 47. 30. but being buried in this Place; for, the Bones of Joseph which the Children of Israel brought out of Egypt, buried they in (i. e. near to) Sechem, in a parcel of Ground which Jacob bought of Hamor, the Father of Sichem, for an hundred Pieces of Silver; and it became the Inheritance of the Children of Joseph, Josh. 24. 32. See Bochart. Hieroz. Part. 1. l. 2. c. 43. p. 435, 436.

d Ver. 6. Ἐκαθίζετο ὕτως, He sat thus on the Well;] i. e. either weary or thirsty as he was; so Acts 7. 8. ὕτως so Abraham begat Isaac, i. e. being circumcised, 1 Kings 2. 7. Shew kindness to the Sons of Berzillai, for ὕτως, so they came to me, i. e. with kindness; or as Chrysostom and Theophylact have it, he sat ἁπλως ὡς ἔτυχε, as he found a place: It follows, it was ὡρα ἕκτη, that is, saith one, six a Clock in the Evening; St. John counting by the Roman Hours in his Gospel: But this Mistake is plainly evident from Chap. 1. 39. they abode with him that Day; for it was about the tenth Hour, viz. four in the Afternoon, not ten of the Night, according to the Romish Computation.

e Ver. 9. Οὐ γὰρ (συγχρῶνται) Ἰουδαῖοι Σαμαρείταις, For the Jews have no Dealings with the Samaritans.] So in the Jerusalem Talmud the Samaritans say, your Fathers dealt with our Father, why therefore do not you so likewise with us? Buxt. Lex. Talm. p. 1370. By the Traditions of the Pharisees they might buy of them, and therefore Christ's Disciples do not scruple at this, ver. 8. but they were not to borrow any thing of them, or receive any kindness from them, or drink of their Water, or eat of their Morsels; for they bound them under an Anathema not to eat of the Fruit, or Morsel of a Cuthæan, and held the eating of their Flesh to be as bad as eating Swines Flesh. R. Eliezer c. 38. But Christ despising such Traditions as had no Foundation, either in the Law of God, or Equity, and tended to the imparing the Laws of common Friendship or Humanity, asks Drink of this Samaritan Woman, and eateth with them.

f Ver. 10. If thou hadst known τὴν δωρεὰν τοῦ Θεοῦ, the Gift of God.] By the Gift of God, and living Water, Christ seems here to understand the Holy Spirit, represented in the Old Testament by clean Water, Ezek. 36. 25, 27. and in the New by living Water, John 7. 38. Rev. 21. 6.—22. 1. For, (1) Spring Water is in the Hebrew Idiom called living Water, in opposition to that which stagnates; for Life consisting in continual motion, by reason of the continual Ebullition of this Water, it is said to live; See Lev. 14. 5. 50.—15. 13. Numb. 19. 17. Hence is it here said to be Water springing up, v. 14 And, (2.) This Holy Spirit to be communicated to Believers, is stiled, δωρεὰ τοῦ Θεοῦ, the Gift of God, Acts 8. 20. ἡ δωρεὰ ἐπουράνιος, the Heavenly Gift, Heb. 6. 4. ἡ δωρεὰ, the Gift, Acts 11. 17. See the Note on Rom. 5. 17.

g Ver. 14. He that drinketh of the Water that I shall give him shall never thirst;] i. e. He never shall have need to thirst for the Enjoyment of this Spirit, he being to abide with them for ever who have once received him, John 14. 16. if they do not expel, quench, or grieve him; or, he shall thirst no more because this Spirit will be in him the the earneſt of, and bring him to that happy Life, where there is no more thirſt, Rev. 7. 16.

h Ver. 18. Is not thy Husband.] See one reaſon in the Paraphraſe; others ſay, this is ſpoken, becauſe ſhe had divorced her ſelf from her former Husbands contrary to the Law, which permitted not Women to begin the Divorce, and ſo was really the Wife of ſome former Husband then living. So Grotius.

i Ver. 20. Our Fathers worſhipped in this Mountain.] We learn from (b) Joſephus, and from this Woman, that the Samaritans, when they ſaw it for their Advantage, pretended to be συγγενεῖς τῶν Ἰουδαίων, allied to the Jews, to have Jacob for their Father, ver. 12. καὶ ἐκ τοῦ Ἰωσήφου γεγενῆσθαι αὐτοὺς, ἐκγόνων Ἐφραίμου καὶ Μανασσῆ, and deduced their Genealogy from Ephraim and Manaſſes the Sons of Joſeph; they alſo contended that Mount Gerizim was the moſt ancient place of Worſhip, becauſe Abraham built there an Altar to God, Gen. 12. 6, 7. and ſo did Jacob, Gen. 33. 18. and therefore that was the place where Sacrifices were to be offered before the Temple at Jeruſalem was built. But the Jews anſwered that the Temple was built on the Mountain of Moriah, in the place where Abraham offered up Iſaac, Joſeph. Antiq. l. 7. c. 10. p. 254. F. and that that was the place of Worſhip throughout all Generations, Targum in Chron. 3. 1. See Maimonides de ædificio Templi, Tract. 1. Cap. 2. §. 2.

k Ver. 21. Οὔτε ἐν τῷ ὄρει τούτῳ ἔτε ἐν Ἱεροσολύμοις, Neither in this Mountain, nor yet at Jeruſalem.] Joſephus ſaith the Contention betwixt the Jews and Samaritans, was about the place to which they ought to bring thoſe Sacrifices and Oblations by which God was then chiefly worſhipped, the Jews declaring that it was their Temple, (c) καὶ τὰς θυσίας ἐκεῖ πέμπειν ἀξιούντων, and requiring that the Sacrifices ſhould be brought thither; the Samaritans that they ſhould be brought to Mount Gerizim. This Controverſie, ſaith Chriſt, will ſhortly be decided by removing the occaſion of it, viz. this way of worſhipping God by Sacrifices, and by giving liberty to worſhip God with ſpiritual Sacrifices in every place, as the Prophet Malachi foretold, Chap. 1. 11.

l Ver. 22. Ὑμεῖς προσκυνεῖτε ὃ οὐκ οἴδατε, Ye worſhip ye know not what, &c.] This many think is ſpoken with relation to ſome falſe Objects of their Worſhip, or ſome idolatrous way of Worſhip which obtained among them. The Jews gave it out that they worſhipped God (d) in the Image of a Dove; but this ſeems plainly fabulous, and invented by the Jewiſh Rabbins out of hatred to them. For, (1.) Among the Idols which they worſhipped when they came from Aſſyria to Samaria, there is not the leaſt hint of any Image of a Dove worſhipped by them. (2.) (e) Joſephus, tho' he in ſeveral places inveighs againſt them ſharply upon other accounts, doth never charge them with this Crime, which ſhews it to be a later Invention of their Rabbins; and, (3.) It is a thing wholly inconſiſtent with that Law of Moſes which they then owned; for as all Images are forbidden by it, ſo it did require them to ſacrifice the Dove to God, and it was always judged an abſurd thing to worſhip that which they did ſacrifice. See Bochart. Hieroz. part. 2. l. 1. C. p. 6, 8.

Others ſay they worſhipped God only as the topical God of that Country; but tho' this might be true of them when they firſt came into Samaria, and retained their Heathen Sentiments, yet could it not be true of them after, that, rejecting all their Heathenish Superſtitions, they had embraced that Law in which Jehovah is continually ſtiled the Maker of Heaven and Earth, and the God of all the Earth; and when, as (f) Epiphanius ſaith, they endeavoured to renounce all Idolatry, and to own one God.

3. Whereas Epiphanius, and many of the Jews pronounce them guilty of latent Idolatry, for worſhipping God in that Mountain where Jacob hid the Idols of the Nations, according to thoſe words, Gen. 35. 4. And they gave to Jacob all the ſtrange Gods that were in their Hands, and Jacob buried them under the Oak which was by Sychem; it is not probable that Chriſt ſhould accuſe them of falſe Worſhip on the account of Idols under Ground, which they knew nothing of, and which they never did intend to worſhip. Obſerve then,

1*ſt*, That the Enquiry of the Woman, and the Diſpute was, ſaith Joſephus, only about the place of Worſhip, and therefore it is very probable Chriſt's Anſwer chiefly doth reſpect the place.

2*dly*, That Chriſt by ſaying to the Samaritan Woman, that ſhortly they ſhould not worſhip the Father in that Mountain, does tacitly own that the Samaritans did worſhip the Father; nor doth he inſtruct her who was the true Object of her Worſhip, but only how ſhe was to worſhip the true God.

3*dly*, When they came firſt to Samaria, it is obſerved that they knew not Miſhpat, the manner of worſhipping the God of Iſrael,

2 Kings 17. 26. In this, saith Christ, you are still deficient, as not worshipping the God of Israel according to his Prescription in the Law, but according to your own Inventions. You therefore may be truly said not to know him, whose Will you observe not, neither worshipping him according to his Nature in the Spirit, nor according to that Law which is the Rule of his Worship, and according to which alone you can do him acceptable Service; if then you would obtain Salvation by the Worship of him, you must do it according to the Revelations made to the Jews, to whom, as the Promise of a Saviour was given, so from them is Salvation to come to the World, according to the Promise made to their Father Abraham, In thee shall all the Families of the Earth be blessed.

m Ver. 23. Shall worship the Father ἐν πνεύματι καὶ ἀληθείᾳ, in Spirit and in Truth.] That is, saith Origen, οὐ ζωϊκαῖς θυσίαις, not with carnal Sacrifices, but with spiritual Worship, or with those spiritual Sacrifices which are acceptable to God, through Jesus Christ; 1 Pet. 2. 5. οὐκ ἐν τύποις, not in Types, but according to the Truth contained in them, for the Law was by Moses, but Grace and Truth came by Jesus Christ, John 1. 17. Thus Philo saith, he brings to God γνήσιον θεραπείαν, the true Worship, who brings, τὴν ἀληθείαν, ἁπλῆν, καὶ μόνην θυσίαν, Truth, the simple and the only Sacrifice; not he who uses Washings and Purgations of Body, but defiles his Soul; or who builds and adorns Temples, and offers Hecatombs upon the Altar, πλανᾶται γὰρ ἑκὼν τὴν πρὸς εὐσέβειαν ὁδὸν, θρησκείαν ἀντὶ ὁσιότητος ἡγούμενος, for he errs from the way of Piety, as thinking outward Worship is to be preferred to Holiness. L. quod deter. pot. p. 123. C. D.

Now that we may thus worship God in Spirit, we must lay as the Foundation, not only Purity of Body from all Uncleanness, but of the Soul also, from all Spiritual Defilements, all Pride and Haughtiness of Mind, all Malice, Envy, Bitterness of Spirit, all impure Thoughts, and evil Concupiscence, for these are stiled Works of the Flesh, Gal. 5. 19,—21. Now they that are in the flesh, saith the Apostle, cannot please God, Rom. 8. 8. nor can they mind the things of the Lord, who are not pure in Body and in Spirit, 1 Cor. 7. 34. 2 Cor. 7. 1. And with this the very Heathens were so well acquainted that they often taught that God was, purâ mente colendus, to be worshipped with a pure Mind; this was (g) the best Offering we could give, and the best Habitation we could build him.

2*dly*, We must have just and awful Thoughts of the Divine Majesty, oft representing him to our Thoughts, as a God of infinite Purity and Justice, as well as Power and Wisdom, one who is always present with, and beholds all our secret Thoughts and Actions in order to a future Recompence; for by these Apprehensions fixed in our Hearts, we shall be naturally induced to glorifie him in our Spirits, 1 Cor. 6. 20. having laid this Foundation, we must endeavour to walk humbly with God, subjecting our selves wholly to his Providence, being contented with all Conditions in which he doth think fit to place us, and submitting our own Wills to his good Pleasure, which is in Scripture stiled Poverty of Spirit, Matth. 5. 4. and the Wisdom of the Spirit, Rom. 8. 6.

3*dly*, We must endeavour to resemble him as much as may be in Holiness and Righteousness, in Truth, in Goodness, and in Mercy; for even the Heathens say, (h) τιμήσεις τὸν Θεὸν ἀρίστα, ἐὰν τῷ Θεῷ ὁμοιότατα ὁμοιώσεις, we then worship God best, when we are most like to him.

4*thly*, We must worship God from Spiritual Principles, a sincere Love and filial Reverence of him; and to Spiritual Ends, that we may promote his Glory, and do what is well pleasing to him; and after a spiritual manner serving him with the whole Heart, Soul and Mind, and with a Fervency of Spirit.

Ver. 24. Πνεῦμα ὁ Θεὸς, God is a Spirit.] n
The Article here shews, that God is the Subject, and the Spirit is the Predicate; and this Opinion obtained among the Platonists, who stile him νοῦς, a Mind, and among the (i) Pythagoreans, who said, ἀσωμάτως πρὸ παντὸς ἡγοῦ Θεοὺς ὑπάρχειν, before all things you must hold the Gods to be incorporeal. Aristotle also thought it necessary to assert, that the first Mover was ἀμερὲς, or without Parts; yea even the Stoicks, saith (k) Plutarch, determined that God was an intelligent Spirit without form.

Ver. 27. They marvelled that he talked with the Woman.] This being one of the six things, o say the Rabbins, which render a Disciple impure, viz. That he talks with Women. Buxtorf. Lexic. p. 1145.

Ver. 32. I have Meat to eat, &c.] This p Phrase is used by the Ancients concerning things which were done by them with (l) Pleasure, istic mihi cibus est quod fabulare, thou sayest that which is meat to me. So the Servant

And he commanded his Apoſtles not to go to any City of Samaria, Matt. 13. 5. becauſe the Goſpel was firſt to be preached to the Jews, and then to the Samaritans, Acts 1. 8.

s Ver. 42. The Saviour of the World.] That is, ſaith Mr. Cl. of the Jews, for 'tis not likely the Samaritans thought of the Salvation of the Gentiles; but why might not they think ſo, who knew, that in the Seed of Abraham were the Families of the Earth to be bleſſed? And ſeeing the Samaritans were not Jews, had they uſed theſe words in that reſtrained ſenſe, they excluded themſelves from this Salvation. The Word doth ſometimes ſignifie the Multitude, or the Publick, as when Chriſt's Brethren ſay to him, Shew thy ſelf to the World, i.e. publickly, John 7. 4. and the Phariſees, the World is gone after him, John 12. 19. but never the Jews in Oppoſition to the Gentiles.

Ver. 48. If ye ſee not Signs and Wonders ye will not believe.] Hence ſome Interpreters conclude this Nobleman was a Jew, it being no wonder that an Heathen ſhould not believe without a Miracle. t

Ver. 53. Himſelf believed, and his whole Houſe;] i.e. all that by Age were capable of doing ſo. u

CHAP. V.

1. AFTER this there was a (nother) Feaſt of the Jews, (viz. that of the Paſſover, requiring the appearance of all the adult Males at the Temple, Deut. 16.
a 16.) and (therefore) [a] Jeſus went up to Jeruſalem.

b 2. Now [b] there is at Jeruſalem by the Sheep Market (or Gate) a Pool, which is called in the Hebrew Tongue, Bethesda, (the Houſe of Mercy,) having five Porches, (in which the ſick lay to be cured; for)

3. In theſe lay a great number of impotent Folks, (viz.) of blind, halt, withered (Perſons,) waiting for the moving of the Water;

c 4. For an [c] Angel (viſibly) went down at a certain ſeaſon into the Pool, and troubled (i. e. ſhook) the Water, whoſoever then firſt after the troubling of the Water ſtepped in was made whole of whatſoever Diſeaſe he had.

5. And a certain Man was there, who had (lain under) an Infirmity thirty and eight Years;

6. When Jeſus ſaw him lie, and knew (by his Divine Spirit) that he had been now a long time in that caſe, he (looking on him as an Object worthy of Compaſſion, ſaith to him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7. The impotent Man anſwered him, Sir, I have no Man when the Water is troubled to put me into the Pool, but while I am coming, another ſteppeth down before me.

8. Jeſus ſaith to him, [d] Riſe, take up thy Bed and walk; d

9. And immediately (at his word) the Man was made whole; and (to ſhew that he was ſo) took up his Bed and walked; and on the ſame day (that he did this) was the Sabbath.

10. The Jews therefore ſaid to him that was cured, It is the Sabbath-day, it is not lawful for thee to carry thy Bed (on that day of reſt.)

11. He anſwered them, He that (with a word) made me whole, the ſame ſaid to me, Take up thy Bed and walk; (and ſurely he that could heal me with a word muſt be a Prophet, and therefore muſt have Authority to bid me do this.)

12. Then asked they him, What Man is he that ſaid to thee, Take up thy Bed and walk, (that knowing him we may be the more able to judge of him?)

14. And he that was healed wiſt not who he was, for Jeſus (having done this) had conveyed himſelf away, (without being obſerved by him, as he might eaſily do,) a Multitude being in that place.

14. Afterward Jeſus findeth him in the Temple (giving Thanks to God for his Cure,) and ſaid to him, Behold thou art made whole (of a Diſtemper laid upon thee for the Puniſhment of thy Sins,) ſin no more, leſt a worſe thing come unto thee, (for thy Inſenſibility, and Contempt of this Mercy)

15. The Man (knowing now who had done this, and perhaps thinking himself obliged in Gratitude to own the Author of his Cure, and hoping hereby to convince them that he was a e Prophet,) departed (from the Temple,) [e] and told the Jews (who enquired after him that had done this,) that it was Jesus who had made him whole.

16. And (but tho' this Cure demonstrated that he was sent from God, because no Man could do these things except God were with him, John 3. 2. — 9. 30, 31, 32, 33. yet) therefore did the Jews persecute Jesus, and sought to slay him, because he had done these things on the Sabbath-day; (the doing any Work on the Sabbath-day being by the Law, as they thought, a capital Crime, Exod. 31. 14, 15.)

f 17. But Jesus answered them, [f] My Father worketh hitherto, (he from the beginning of the Creation till this present time continues to give and preserve Life, and do good on the Sabbath-day,) and I (after his Example) work (that which is good and salutary to Mankind on that day.)

18. Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, because he not only had broken
g the Sabbath, but said also that God was [g] his Father, (in a peculiar manner proper to him alone, πατέρα ἴδιον ἔλεγε τὸν Θεὸν, thereby) making himself equal with God (in Nature, as a Son to his Father.)

19. Then answered Jesus and said to them, h Verily, verily I say to you, the [h] Son can do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do (ing, Gr. i. e. without Commission from him to do it, and certain Knowledge that he doth what the Father would have done,) for whatsoever things he doth (ποιῇ or ποιήσῃ, he would have done) these also (καὶ even) doth the Son likewise; (i. e. after his Example as to the kind of them, and according to his Will, as to the manner of doing them; whence you may be assured this Action was done after his Example, and according to his Will, as to the time, as well as to the matter of it, and therefore cannot be worthy of Blame.)

20. For the Father loveth the Son, and sheweth him (by the Spirit with which he hath anointed him,) all things that himself (his Son) doth, and he will shew (i. e. incite and enable) him (by the same Power to do) greater Works than these, (so) that you may (will) marvel (at them, tho' you will not be convinced by them.)

21. For as the Father raiseth up the Dead, and quickneth them, even so (shall ye see that) i the [i] Son quickneth whom he will.

22. (And this Power of quickning and raising whom he will, the Father hath given him, because he hath made him the Judge of all k Men,) for the Father judgeth no Man, [k] but hath committed all Judgment to the Son, (who yet cannot judge them till he hath raised them from the Dead.)

23. (And this he hath done) that all Men should [l] honour the Son (for his Power and l Authority over them,) even as they honour the Father, (the great Judge of all the Earth, Gen. 18. 25.) he that honoureth not the Son (invested with this Power,) honoureth not the Father which hath sent (and authorized) him (to exercise it.)

24. (And having all Judgment committed to me,) Verily, verily I say to you, he that (obediently) heareth my Word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath (an assurance of) everlasting Life, and shall not come into Condemnation (for his past Sins,) but is passed from (the) Death (threatned to him) unto Life.

25. (And that you may have reason to believe I can thus raise the Dead, ye shall see an Instance of it shortly, not only in my Resurrection, but in the rising of many others with me by my Power, for) Verily, verily I m say unto you, [m] The hour is coming, and now is, when the Dead shall hear the Voice of the Son of God, and they that hear (it) shall live.

26. For as the Father hath (the Fountain of) Life in himself, (and so can impart Life to others,) so hath he given to the Son, [n] to n have Life in himself.

27. And he hath given him Authority to execute Judgment also (on the Dead thus raised,) because he is [o] the Son of Man, (whom o he hath appointed the Judge of the World, Acts 17. 31.)

28. Marvel not at this, for the hour is coming in the which (not these few only, but) all that are in the Grave shall hear his Voice.

29. And shall come forth, they that have done Good to the Resurrection of Life, and p [p] they that have done Evil to the Resurrection of Damnation.

30. (And in passing this Judgment of Absolution and Condemnation upon Men,) I (the Man Christ Jesus, Acts 7. 31. the Son of Man, ver. 27.) can of my own self (my own Impulse and Pleasure) do nothing, (but) as I hear, (i. e. receive the Terms of Absolution and Condemnation from my Father, so) [q] I judge, q and my Judgment is (therefore) just, because I seek (pursue) not (in it) mine own Will, but the Will of the Father which hath sent me.

31. (And) If (in ascribing this Honour and Power to my self) I (did) [r] bear witness r of my self, (and had no Credentials from my Father, or those whom he hath sent,) my Witness is not true, (for he that pretends to be sent, or delegated from God, and hath not his Testimony to confirm his Mission, cannot be true; but this is not my case, for) s 32. There is [s] another that beareth Witneſs of me, (to wit, John the Baptiſt,) and I know that the Witneſs which he (being a Prophet) witneſſeth of me is true, (ye alſo have heard his Teſtimony, for)

33. Ye ſent unto John, (Chap. 1. 22, 23.) and he bare Witneſs to the Truth, (3. 29, 30.)

34. But (I appeal not to his Teſtimony for my own ſake, but for yours, for) I receive not Teſtimony from Man, but theſe things t I ſay that [t] ye (believing his Teſtimony) might be ſaved.

35. He was a burning and a ſhining Light, (as Elias is by you repreſented, Ecclus. 48. 1. his Word being clear and powerful,) and ye u were willing for a [u] ſeaſon to rejoice in his Light, (owning him as a Prophet, and a juſt Man, and therefore I inſiſt upon his Teſtimony, as hoping it may have ſome Influence upon you, to work that Faith in you, by which you ſhall be ſaved, John 10. 41.)

36. But I have greater Witneſs than that w of John, for the Works which [w] the Father hath given me to finiſh, the ſame Works that I do (by his Power reſiding in me,) bear witneſs of me, that the Father hath ſent me.

x 37. [x] And the Father himſelf which hath ſent me hath born Witneſs of me, (by a Voice from Heaven, ſaying, This is my beloved Son; and by the Deſcent of the Holy Ghoſt upon me, in the Shechinah, or bright Light, which is the Symbol of his Preſence; but on this I inſiſt not, for) ye have neither heard his Voice at any time, nor ſeen his Shape, (Ezek. 1. 28. the likeneſs of the Glory of God.)

38. And (as ye have not known his Will this way, ſo neither will ye do it by his revealed Will, for) ye have not his Word abiding in you, for whom he hath ſent, him ye believe not, (as his Word would induce you to do.)

y 39. [y] Search the Scriptures, for in them ye think ye have (the words of) eternal Life, and they are they which teſtifie of me;

40. And (yet) ye will not (by them be perſuaded to) [z] come to me, (i. e. believe in z me,) that ye might have (the) Life (I promiſe to them that believe in me.)

41. (And yet you have no reaſon to diſbelieve me, for) I receive not Honour from Men, (I do nothing from deſire of their Applauſe, but purely for the Honour of God, and out of Love to him, and ſo act not like a falſe, but a true Prophet.)

42. But (this I cannot ſay of you, for) I know you, that you have not the Love of God in you.

43. I am come in my Father's Name, (i. e. with his Authority and Teſtimony,) and ye receive me not, (ye do not own me as the promiſed Meſſiah,) another ſhall [aa] come in his aa own Name, (without any Evidence of Divine Authority, even Barchochebas, and) him ye will receive (as ſuch.)

44. (And indeed) How [bb] can ye believe, bb who (ſtrive to) receive Honour (and Glory) one of another, and ſeek not (rather) the Honour that cometh from (the Approbation of) God only?

45. Do not think that I will accuſe you to the Father, (I ſhall not need to do it, for) there is one that accuſeth you (to him,) even Moſes, in whom you truſt, (that by Obedience to his Law you ſhall have Life, ver. 39.)

46. For had ye believed (the words of) Moſes, ye would have believed me, for [cc] he cc wrote of me, (ſaying, I will raiſe up a Prophet like unto thee, and I will put my words in his mouth, Deut. 18. 18.)

47. But if ye believe [dd] not his Writings, dd (whom you own as a great Prophet ſent from God,) how ſhall you believe my words, (when you have no ſuch Opinion of me, or reſpect for me?)

a Ver. 1. JESUS went up to Jeruſalem,] to hold Communion with the Jewiſh Church at the Feaſt of the Paſſover, by obſerving with them the Rites to be obſerved at that Feaſt; he therefore refuſed not Communion with a Church that had clogged theſe Feſtivals with Human Traditions, tho' perhaps he performed only the Rites required by the Law at theſe Feſtivals. See Dr. Lightfoot.

b Ver. 2. Ἐστὶ δὲ, There is at Jeruſalem by the Sheep-Gate a Pool, called in the Hebrew Bethſeda;] That is, the Houſe of Mercy, becauſe of the Mercy of God ſhewed there in curing their Diſeaſes. Moreover, if ἔστι δὲ there is, be the true reading, as the conſent of almoſt all the Greek Copies argues, it ſeems to intimate that Jeruſalem and this Pool were then ſtanding when St. John wrote this Goſpel, and therefore that it was written, as Theophylact and others ſay, before the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and not, as the more ancient Fathers thought, long after.

c Ver. 4. An Angel went down κατὰ καιρὸν, at a certain ſeaſon, and then he that firſt went down was made whole of whatſoever Diſeaſe he had.] All the Circumſtances of this Hiſtory ſhew, that Dr. Hammond's Conjecture, that this Angel was only an Officer ſent at a certain time to ſtir this Pool, and that the warm Entrails caſt into it communicated this healing Virtue to theſe Waters, tho' it ſeems to be ſupported by the Authority of St. Chryſoſtom, and Theophylact, is highly improbable. For,

(1.) How unlikely is it that this should be a natural means of curing all sorts of Diseases without Exception, the blind, the halt, and the withered? ver. 3. (2.) That it should only cure the Person that first stepped in, tho' he might be followed by others the same instant; for how should the natural Virtue of this Pool, impregnated with the warm Entrails of so many Sacrifices extend it self only to one Man? And, (3.) How unlikely is it that it should do this only at one time of the Year, viz. at the Feast of Passover? For this was done not at several times, but only κατ' καιρὸν, at a certain time, ver. 4. And, Lastly, The very Foundation of this Surmise is taken away by that Observation of Dr. Lightfoot, that there was a Laver in the Temple for the washing of those Entrails, and so they were not likely to be washed in this Pool.

It is farther to be noted, that these Waters of Siloam were a Type of the Kingdom of David, and of Christ; of the Kingdom of David according to those words, Isa. 8. 6. Forasmuch as this People refuseth the Waters of Siloah that go softly, that is, saith the Targum, the Kingdom of David that rules them quietly; and of Christ, according to those words of the same Prophet, chap. 12. 3. With Joy shall they draw Water from the Wells of Salvation, whence Siloah is interpreted sent. See Note on Chap. 9. 7. To this Type of the Messiah God might therefore give this Virtue about that time, to prepare the Jews to receive his Advent who was sent to them; and when a Fountain was to be opened for Sin and for Uncleanness, Zach. 13. 1. viz. that of the Blood of Christ, might communicate this Virtue to this Pool as a Prefiguration of it; whence, as (a) Tertullian notes, the Virtue of this Pool then ceased, when they persevering in their Infidelity rejected our Saviour. And this might be one reason why the Jewish Writers are so silent as to the Virtue of this Pool, because by its signification it related to Christ, and by this Miracle confirmed his Doctrine. See here Examen Millii in Locum.

d Ver. 8. Arise, take up thy Bed and walk.] Christ here requires not Faith of him, because he had seen, and perhaps heard of none of his Miracles, but he requires him to do that on the Sabbath, which was contrary to the Letter of the Law, to shew he was a Prophet, who by their own Rules had Power to require what was contrary to the Ceremonial Rest of the Sabbath, See Note on Chap. 9. 18. and to instruct them that to do this not in Contempt of the Law, or for bodily Advantage, but as a publick Testimony of the great Goodness of God to us, tended rather to the Sanctification, than to the Prophanation of the Sabbath, that Day being sanctified to this very end, that Men might employ it in glorifying and praising God for his Benefits.

Ver. 15. Told the Jews that Jesus had done this.] Not to accuse him to them, but partly out of Gratitude to own the Author of this Cure, and partly to excuse himself, as only doing this at the Command of so great a Prophet. e

Ver. 17. My Father worketh hitherto, &c.] Even from the time he rested from the Works of the Creation, continuing to preserve and govern all things he created, and do those things which tend to his Glory, and to the Good of his Creature, even on the Sabbath-Day; and in Imitation of him I do my wondrous Works of Mercy to the Glory of his Name upon that Day; which being Divine, and done by his Power and Assistance, shew that I do nothing in them contrary to his Will. Thus (b) Philo, speaking of God's resting on the seventh Day, saith, We have declared that God ceaseth not to work, but proceeds to the Production of other things, as being not the Artificer only, but the Father of them. f

Ver. 18. Therefore the Jews sought the more to kill him, ὅτι πατέρα ἴδιον ἔλεγε Θεὸν, ἴσον ἑαυτὸν ποιῶν τῷ Θεῷ, because he said, God was his own Father, making himself equal to God.] Here note, g

1*st*, That he is here said to stile God his Father, after a manner proper and peculiar to himself, as being ὁ ἴδιος Θεοῦ υἱὸς, the proper Son of God, Rom. 8. 32. and so as being his Son, not as Adam and the Angels were, by Creation, nor as good Men are, by Adoption only; in which Sense the Jews pretended to have God for their Father, chap. 8. 41. and in which Sense both (c) Philo, and the (d) Jewish Writers speak of him as the Father of Israel, and of those who had a true Knowledge of him; for in this Sense to call himself the Son of God, could neither be worthy of Death, nor worse than the Violation of the Sabbath. 'Tis therefore evident the Jews thought Christ, by saying God was his Father, made himself his Son in such a manner as rendred him equal to God in Nature,

Nature, as a Son is to his Father; and yet they thought he did this, not as the Socinians ſay, by ſaying he did the Works of his Father, but as their Words teſtifie, by calling God his Father, in a ſenſe peculiar to himſelf; and hence they accuſe him of Blaſphemy for ſaying that he was the Son of God, Matth. 26. 63, 64, 65. John 10. 33, 36. which they never do, for ſaying he was the Meſſiah, or that he did the Works of God.

Note, 2*dly*, Hence, that the Jews did not then think that their Meſſiah was to be God, or in the ſublime ſenſe, the Son of God. Hence (e) Origen declares, that having diſcourſed with many Wiſe Men of the Jews, he could find none of them who allowed, Θεὸν ὄντα ἢ Θεοῦ υἱὸν, that he was God, or the Son of God. And Jerom on thoſe words, Jer. 17. 5. Curſed is he who putteth his truſt in Man, ſaith, the Jews are accurſed, qui ſpem habent in homine Chriſto, videlicet ſuo, quem non Filium Dei ſed purum Hominem putunt eſſe venturum, who truſt in a Man, viz. in their Meſſiah, whom they expect to come as a mere Man, and not as the Son of God.

h Ver. 19. The Son of Man can do nothing ἀφ ἑαυτοῦ, of himſelf, ἐὰν μή τι βλέπῃ, but what he ſees the Father doing.] The Jews concluding Chriſt to be a falſe Prophet, becauſe he in this peculiar manner ſtiled God his Father, Chriſt here undertakes to ſhew, 1*ſt*, That he exerciſed his Prophetick Office according to the Will of the Father. 2*dly*, That he confirmed it by Miracles done by the Power of God reſiding in him. Chriſt therefore here ſeems not to ſpeak of his eſſential Power, but of his Prophetick Office, and of the Doctrine which he taught, and confirmed by Miracles. (1.) Becauſe, as to his Eſſential Power, the Action of the Father and the Son being one and the ſame, both as to Power and Time, he cannot properly be ſaid to do nothing of himſelf, or to do nothing but what he ſees the Father do. (2*dly*,) Becauſe, as to ſpeak nothing of himſelf, is to ſpeak nothing of his own Inſtinct, and Will, without Commiſſion from God; See Note on Chap. 7. 17. So to do nothing of himſelf, is to do nothing without Commiſſion from, and Knowledge of the Will of God that he ſhould do it, and ſo reſpecteth his Prophetick Office, and the things done in Confirmation of it; and then the words following, unleſs he ſee the Father doing them, muſt bear this ſenſe, Unleſs he, by the Spirit of the Father reſiding in him, ſee that the Father would have them done by him; for what the Father ποιῇ, would have done, he doth according to his Will, or as he would have them to be done. And this import of the words ſeems to be confirmed:

1*ſt*, From the following words; for the Father loveth the Son, καὶ πάντα δείκνυσιν αὐτῷ ἃ αὐτὸς ποιεῖ, and ſheweth him all things which he (the Son) doeth; and he will ſhew him greater Works than theſe, (which are to be done by him, even that of raiſing the Dead, ver. 21.) For, becauſe we receive all our Knowledge from our Eyes or Ears, therefore Chriſt ſpeaking of the Execution of his Prophetick Office, uſeth theſe Metaphors, declaring, that he ſpake and teſtified what he had ſeen, Chap. 3. 11. what he had ſeen with the Father, Chap. 8. 38. and ſo the Baptiſt ſaith, What he hath ſeen, he teſtifies: And again, that he ſpake what he had heard from the Father, Chap. 8. 26, 40. — 15. 15. And becauſe they who teach or declare things, do by that ſhew them to us; therefore Chriſt uſes this Metaphor here, and ſaith, Chap. 8. 28. I do nothing of my ſelf, but as my Father hath taught me, ſo I ſpeak: And again, Chap. 12. 49. 50. I have ſpoken nothing of my ſelf, but as the Father who ſent me, gave me Commandment what I ſhould ſay and ſpeak; the things therefore which I ſpeak, as the Father ſaid to me, ſo I ſpeak. Now that he ſpake this with reſpect to the Spirit of Propheſie, with which he was anointed, and by the Father ſent to preach the Goſpel to the Poor, &c. Luke 4. 18. the Baptiſt teacheth in theſe words, What he hath ſeen and heard, that he teſtifies; for he whom God hath ſent, ſpeaketh the Words of God; for the Father giveth not him the Spirit by meaſure, Chap. 3. 23, 34. And he himſelf intimates, by ſaying, Chap. 14. 10. The words that I ſpeak to you, I ſpeak not of my ſelf; the Father abiding in me, he doth the works. See the Note there.

2*dly*, That he ſaid truly, My Father worketh hitherto, and I work, he proves from the Divine Works God the Father had given him Power to do; though he was to do them after his Reſurrection and Advancement to his Kingdom, viz. the Reſurrection of the Dead, and the future Judgment: And therefore adds,

Ver. 21. As the Father raiſes the Dead, and i quickneth them, ſo the Son quickneth whom he will.] This is more than ever was ſaid of any Prophet or Apoſtle, that he did ſuch Works at his Will; and here chiefly reſpects Chriſt, not acting as a Prophet, but as a King ſitting at the right Hand of Power; and this being an Action repreſented as proper to God, who ſaith, I am, and there is none beſides me; I kill, and make alive, Deut. 32. 39. 1 Sam. 2. 6. A Work to be performed by his ſole Power, Matth. 22. 29. Acts 26. 8. and by the ſtrength of his Power, Eph. 1. 19. who is a God quickning the Dead, Rom. 4. 17. Hence it is evident, That Chriſt, who will not only raiſe our mortal Bodies, but alſo make them like like to his own glorious Body, by that Power by which he is able to subdue all things to himself, Philip. 3. 21. must be God; and that the Father, by giving him to have Life in himself, as he hath it in himself, ver. 26. must have given him the Fulness of the Deity from which this Power is inseparable.

k Ver. 22. For the Father judgeth no Man, but hath committed all Judgment to his Son.] Seeing this Judgment is committed to him, 'tis evident, saith Woltzogenius, that he cannot be God the Highest, because he reigns, and judges by his own Power derived from none; and yet he owns, that in this Judgment is comprehended, totum Regimen, & divinum totius Mundi Imperium, an entire Government, and divine Empire over the whole World, and especially over the whole Church of God; from whence it is demonstrable, that he must be God: For this Government must be attended with a Power of raising all them from the Dead whom he shall place before his Judgment-Seat, and with the perfect Knowledge, not only of the Actions of all Men from the beginning of the World, but also of their secret Thoughts; since otherwise he cannot bring every secret Thought and Work into Judgment, nor bring to light the hidden things of Darkness, or manifest the Secrets of the Heart, 1 Cor. 4. 5. or judge every Man according to his Works, 2 Cor. 5. 10. He also must be Omnipresent and Omniscient, even the Searcher of all Hearts, that he may know, and answer the Prayers of all his Servants in all Corners of the Earth, as the Socinians grant he doth; and Almighty, that he may be able to supply all their Wants, assist and enable them to do every where the greatest Miracles in his Name, defend and preserve them against all the Powers on Earth, and even the Gates of Hell, raise and condemn their Enemies, with the Devil and his Angels, to eternal Destruction from his Presence, and also crown his Servants with everlasting Glory. Now how all these things can be done by a mere Creature, is as difficult to conceive as any Mystery of the Blessed Trinity. I answer therefore in that Distinction of the Schools, that the Principium quod, or the Person thus judging, is the Son of Man, ver. 27. this Judgment being to be exercised by the Man Christ Jesus, Acts 17. 31. But the Principium quo, i. e. the Power or the Principle by which he does it, is the whole Fulness of the Deity, individually united to his Human Nature, or the Word made Flesh, John 1. 14. This therefore hinders not, but he to whom this Judgment is thus given, may be God of God.

l Ver. 23. That all Men may honour the Son as they honour the Father;] That is, saith Woltzogenius, "That they owning this Dig-" nity and Power, per quam Deo equalis " est, by which he is equal to God, may give " him that Obedience, Honour, and Worship, " which is due to a divine and heavenly " King; for that the Honour and Worship " due to Christ, is Divine Honour, is evident " from this, That it is such, qualis Patri de-" betur, as is due to the Father; to whom, " by the consent of all Men, belongs Divine " Worship: And hence he proves, That Christ is to be worshipped with Invocation; " Be-" cause, he who refuses to pray to him, " doth not honour him as he honours the " Father; in this, saith he, consists the high-" est Honour we give to the Father, that " we own him for the chief Monarch, and " Lord of all things, in whose Power is our " Salvation and Destruction; and therefore " by Prayer, endeavour to obtain from him " the enjoyment of good things, and the de-" liverance from Evil: Qui hæc eadem in " Christo agnoscit & eum sic colit, is hono-" rat & colit eum sicut Patrem; He that " owns these things to belong to Christ, and " doth thus worship him, he honoureth the " Son as he doth the Father; so He. Now, can he be equal to God, who is only a Creature, or be worthy of Divine Worship, who is no God? The Precept being plain, and owned by Christ himself, The Lord thy God is one Lord, and (therefore) thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve, Deut. 6. 13. Matth. 4. 10. Can he, who said, Thou shalt worship no other Gods but me, and I will not give my Glory to another, Isa. 42. 8. himself appoint, that any Creature should be worshipp'd as God, or have that Honour, Worship and Obedience, in which his Glory doth consist? It is therefore no injust imputation to call them Idolaters, who give this Worship to one, who, say they, is by Nature only Man, seeing they do the very thing charged on the Heathen Idolaters; i. e. they worship them which by Nature are no Gods, Gal. 4. 8. and do that to a Creature which God requires to be done to himself, viz. that they should glorifie him as God, Rom. 1. 21. and do that with which God upbraided his own People, viz. the worshipping a new God which their own Fathers had not known, Deut. 32. 17. If you say here, they give him the same Worship, but not as the first, but only as the intermediate Cause of our Salvation. It may be easily replied, That then they cannot honour him as they honour the Father, and much less, as the chief Monarch, and Lord of all things: Moreover, I enquire whether this middle Cause be created, or uncreated; if uncreated, he is by Nature God, and since there is but one God, of the same Essence with the Father; but if created, they must be guilty of Idolatry, who give him the same Worship with the Father, and therefore give the Creature the Worship due to the Creator.

m Ver. 25. The Hour—now is, when the Dead ſhall hear the Voice of the Son of God, and live.] That Chriſt here ſpeaks not only of a ſpiritual Reſurrection from the Death of Sin, is evident, (1.) Becauſe he ſpeaks of it as a thing ſhortly future; whereas the ſpiritual Reſurrection was in ſome already paſt. (2.) Becauſe he promiſes this Reſurrection not to them that ſhould hear his Word, but φωνῆ, his Voice; and that he ſpeaks of a proper Reſurrection, appears, (1.) From the Gradation he here makes from the Reſurrection of ſome, to the Reſurrection of all, ver. 28. (2.) Becauſe he adds, That they who hear, ſhall live; and that becauſe the Son, whoſe Voice they hear, hath Life in himſelf, ver. 26. I therefore think, that our Lord ſpeaks of that Hour, when, he riſing from the Dead, many Bodies of the Saints aroſe with him, Matth. 27. 52, 53.

n Ver. 26. He hath given the Son to have Life in himſelf;] i. e. the Power of raiſing whom he will, ver. 21. Hence tho' the Apoſtles, and others, raiſed Men from the Dead, 'tis ſaid of none of them, that they had Life in themſelves; becauſe they did this, not by their own, but by the Power of Chriſt. Note alſo, that the ſame thing is in both places, ſaid both of the Father and the Son; for it is not ſaid, the Father hath Life from himſelf, the Son in himſelf, but both have Life, ἐν ἑαυτῷ, in himſelf; and that as the Father, ſo the Son quickneth whom he will: Now the Operations follow the Eſſence; ſo that where the ſame Operation is, there muſt be the ſame Eſſence.

o Ver. 27. Becauſe he is the Son of Man,] i. e. the Meſſias, to whom all Power and Dominion is given, Dan. 7. 13, 14. and of whom the (f) Jews ſaid, that he ſhould raiſe the Dead; or, becauſe he took the Human Nature on him, he ſuffer'd in it, and by that Paſſion became the Author of Salvation to all that obey him, Heb. 5. 8, 9. And, Laſtly, In that Nature only could be a viſible Judge. See Examen Millii in Locum.

p Ver. 29. And they that have done evil into the Reſurrection of Condemnation.] This ſeems to be ſpoken in oppoſition to the Doctrine of the Phariſees, who, ſaith (g) Joſephus thought the Reſurrection pertained only to the Juſt, and that the wicked and antediluvian Sinners were to be excluded from it. See Additions N° 11.

q Ver. 30. As I hear, κρίνω, I judge;] i. e. I pronounce Sentence according to the Will of my Father; for κρίμα and κρίσις is a Sentence, ſo βλάσφημος κρίσις, is a blaſphemous Accuſation, or Sentence, 2 Pet. 2. 11. Κρίμα θανάτου, the Sentence of Death, Luke 24. 20. Κρίμα τῆς πόρνης, the Sentence upon the Whore; Rev. 17. 1. And, κρίνω, I give Sentence; ſo ὀρθῶς ἔκρινας, Luke 7. 43. thou haſt judged, or given Sentence aright: Out of thy own Mouth, κρινῶ σε, will I pronounce Sentence upon thee, Luke 19. 22. See Matth. 7. 1, 2. John 7. 24. —8. 15. Acts 15. 19. Rom. 2. 1, 3. —3. 4, 6, 7. Pſal. 51. 4.

Ver. 31. If I bear witneſs of my ſelf (only,) my witneſs is not true;] i. e. ſay moſt Interpreters, it is not valid, the Law requiring two Witneſſes. But to bear witneſs of himſelf here, is to declare himſelf a Prophet without any Atteſtation from God, as the falſe Prophets did; and had Chriſt done, he muſt have been like them, and ſo his Teſtimony would have been falſe; God never ſending any Prophet to Men, without ſufficient Teſtimonies that he was ſent from him. r

Ver. 32. There is another that beareth witneſs of me.] viz. whom ye counted as a Prophet, Matth. 14. 5. — 21. 26. and upon that account received his Baptiſm: Now according to your own Rules, he is to be owned as a Prophet, to whom a Prophet gives his Teſtimony. s

Ver. 34. But I ſpeak theſe things that ye might be ſaved.] Hence it is evident, that Chriſt ſeriouſly willed, and intended the Salvation of them who would not come to him, that they might have Life, ver. 40. and therefore were not actually ſaved. t

Ver. 35. For a Seaſon ye rejoiced in his Light:] He was a Burning Light, ſaith Chriſt here; His Word burned as a Lamp, ſaith the Son of Sirac, Eccleſ. 48. 1. and yet in this Light they rejoiced but for a Seaſon; for when he had freely given Teſtimony to Chriſt, and reproved their Vices, they blaſphemed him, and ſaid, He had a Devil, Luke 7. 30, 33. u

Ver. 36. The Work which my Father hath given me to do, &c.] He ſaith not, Which I do, but which the Father hath given me to do; ſo Woltzogenius: And yet the following words are ἃ ἐγὼ ποιῶ, which I do. He therefore here declares, that he had ſufficient Teſtimony of his Miſſion from the Works done by him, through the Father dwelling in him, Matth. 12. 28. and that the Father had given him to do them, by giving him his Spirit and his Power, together with his Eſſence, John 3. 34, 35. — 14. 10. w

Ver. 37. —And the Father that ſent me, beareth witneſs of me; —you have neither heard his Voice, nor ſeen his Shape,] as in the Paraphraſe; or thus, Nor are you to expect the Father ſhould teſtifie of me otherwiſe than by his Works, for that which was granted to your Fathers belongs not to you, viz. to ſee his Glory, and hear his Voice out of the middle of the Fire, Deut. 5. 24. ſo that he cannot now be otherwiſe ſeen than by his Works. x y Ver. 39. Ἐρευνᾶτε τὰς γραφὰς, Search,] (or ye search the Scriptures:) Which of these two Senses the Greek bears, I will not contend: Only note, (1*st*,) That Origen Philocal. cap. 1. & cap. 5. Chrysostom. Hom. 24. & 37. in Genesin, and St. Austin, in Psalm 108. col. 1269. and Epist. 80. col. 365. confirm our Version. Note, (2*dly*,) That if the Jews did truly think, the Doctrine of Life eternal was contained there, and that they by searching might find it there, it must be to them a sufficient Rule of Faith; if in this they erred, it behoved Christ to correct in them an Error so pernicious.

z Ver. 40. Ye will not come to me;] i. e. after the clear Testimonies which the Prophesies and Characters of the Messiah in the Old Testament afford, that I am he, ye will not believe in me; which shews, your Infidelity is the result, not of simple Ignorance, but of wilful Obstinacy.

a a Ver. 43. Another shall come in his own Name,] without Commission or Testimony from God; So did Barchochebas, working no Miracles. Many of the Fathers thought Antichrist was here meant.

Ver. 44. How can ye believe, who seek Honour one of another?] and so cannot bear the Reproach of the Pharisees, and the chief of the Jews, or endure the Infamy of being cast out of the Synagogue, which is the Sentence they have passed upon all that shall believe in me; Chap. 12. 42, 43. till you prefer the Approbation of God before that of Man, it is not to be expected ye should do it. b b

Ver. 46. For he wrote of me,] viz. Deut. 18. 17, 18, 19. Hence it follows, that these words of Moses are not primarily to be understood of a Succession of Prophets, but of a single Person, even Christ; for a Prophet, saith he, shall the Lord raise up to you like to me; whereas, no other Prophet rose up to them like to Moses, Deut. 34. 10. besides Christ. See the Bishop of Ely on that place. c c

Ver. 47. If ye believe not Moses,] for whom you pretend so great respect. Their pretences for not believing in Christ, were these two; their Love to God, and Reverence for the Law of Moses; Christ proves, they could have no true Love to God, ver. 42. nor Faith in Moses, ver. 46. for this very reason, that they believed not in him. d d a 1. [a] AFter these things Jesus went over the Sea of Galilee, which is (also named) the Sea of Tiberias:

2. And a great Multitude followed him, because they saw his Miracles which he did upon them that were diseased, (and because some of them also needed healing, Luke 9. 11.)

b 3. And Jesus [b] went up into a Mountain, and there he sat with his Disciples.

4. And the Passover, (which was) a Feast of the Jews, (which all their Males were bound to celebrate at Jerusalem,) was nigh; (to which the People were therefore hasting.)

5. When Jesus then lift up his Eyes, and saw a great Company come to him, he saith to Philip, Whence shall we buy Bread, that (all) these may eat.

6. And this he said, to prove him (who was slow of Faith, chap. 14. 9.) for he himself knew what he would do.

7. Philip answered him, Two hundred pennyworth of Bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may take a little.

8. (Then the Disciples desiring him to send the Multitude away, that they might go into the Villages, and buy themselves Bread: And Christ answering, that they should give them to eat: And they enquiring, how they should do this? He asks them also, how many Loaves have you? Mark 6. 36, 37.) One of his Disciples (to wit,) Andrew, Simon Peter's Brother, saith to him,

9. There is a Lad here, who hath five Barley-Loaves, and two small Fishes; but what are they among so many?

10. And Jesus said, Make the Men sit down. Now there was much Grass in the place: So the Men sat down, in number about Five thousand.

11. And Jesus took the Loaves; and when he had given thanks, he distributed (of them) to the Disciples, and the Disciples to them that were sat down, and likewise of the Fishes; (both which were so miraculously increased, as they went through his Hands, that every one of that great Company did eat) as much as they would.

12. (And) when they were filled, he said to his Disciples, [c] Gather up the Fragments that remain, that nothing (of God's good Creatures) be lost. c

13. Therefore they gathered them together; and (to evidence the truth and greatness of the Miracle) filled twelve Baskets with the Fragments of the five Barley Loaves which remained over and above to them that had eaten.

14. Then these Men, when they had seen the Miracle which Jesus did, (resembling that of Moses, who fed them with Manna in the Wilderness; and knowing he had told them, that God would raiſe them up a Prophet of their Brethren like to him,) ſaid, This is of a truth that Prophet which ſhould come into the World. (and having got a falſe Notion that their Meſſiah was to be a Temporal King; they finding him ſo able to ſupply them with Proviſions, were minded to ſet him up for their King.)

d 15. When Jeſus therefore [d] perceived that they would come, and take him by force to make him a King, he (firſt ſent away his own Diſciples, to whom he knew that Motion would not be unacceptable, and then diſperſed the Multitude, Mark 6. 46. and ſo) departed again into a Mountain himſelf alone.

16. And when Even was now come, his Diſciples went down unto the Sea.

17. And entred into a Ship, and went over e the Sea [e] towards Capernaum; and it was now dark, and Jeſus was not come to them.

18. And the Sea aroſe (and was tempeſtuous) by reaſon of a great Wind that blew.

f 19. So when they had rowed about [f] five and twenty, or thirty Furlongs, (about the fourth Watch of the Night, Mark 6. 48.) they ſee Jeſus walking on the Sea, and drawing nigh to the Ship, and (taking him for an Apparition, ver. 49.) they were afraid.

20. But he ſaid to them, It is I, be not afraid.

g 21. Then they [g] willingly received him into the Ship, (believing that then all things would go well with them;) and immediately the Ship was at the Land whither they went.

h 22. The day following, when [h] the People which ſtood on the other ſide of the Sea, ſaw that (laſt night) there was no other Boat there, ſave that one whereinto his Diſciples were entred; and that Jeſus went not with his Diſciples into the Boat, but that his Diſciples were gone away alone.

23. Howbeit, there came other Boats (afterwards) from Tiberias, (which in the morning they found) nigh to the place where they did eat Bread, after that the Lord had given Thanks.

24. When the People therefore ſaw that Jeſus was not there, neither his Diſciples, they alſo took Shipping (in thoſe Boats) and came to Capernaum, (his uſual Habitation,) ſeeking for Jeſus (there.)

25. And when they had found him on the i other ſide of the Sea, they ſaid to him, [i] Rabbi, (thou wenteſt not laſt night with thy Diſciples, nor ſaw we thee this morning where laſt night we left thee;) when (therefore) cameſt thou hither?

26. (But) Jeſus (without ſatisfying their Curioſity in this matter,) anſwered them and ſaid, Verily, verily, I ſay to you, Ye ſeek me not becauſe ye ſaw the Miracles, (as being ſo convinced by them as to hear and to obey my Doctrine, from a deſire to obtain by it eternal Life, as ye ſhould do) but becauſe ye did eat of the Loaves, and were filled, (and expect the like benefit again: And therefore I ſay to you,)

27. [k] Labour not for the Meat that pe- k
riſheth, but for that Meat which endureth to eternal Life, which (if you believe in him,) the Son of Man ſhall give to you: For him hath God the Father ſealed; (i. e. he hath ſhewed, that he hath authorized him to do this; and by giving him this miraculous Power to feed your Bodies, hath fully teſtified he is the Perſon by him appointed to convey theſe Bleſſings to the Souls of Men.)

28. Then ſaid they to him, What ſhall we do that we might work the Works of God? (We have already the Law of Moſes, and know what God requires by that Law; what farther Duties, or what more pleaſing to him, canſt thou inſtruct us to perform?)

29. Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to them, This is the Work (moſt acceptable in the ſight) of God, that ye believe on him whom He hath ſent.

30. They ſaid therefore to him, What Sign ſheweſt thou then (greater than Moſes hath done,) that we may ſee (it,) and believe thee? What doſt thou work (above what Moſes did?)

31. (Thou haſt indeed fed us one day in a Deſart, but) our Fathers did eat Manna in the Deſart (through which Moſes led them) forty Years, (and that was heavenly Food;) as it is written, (Pſal. 78. 25.) He gave them
l [l] Bread from Heaven to eat, (and ſo they had by Moſes a Sign from Heaven of his Commiſſion; ſuch an one would we ſee from thee, Mark 8. 11.)

32. Then Jeſus ſaid to them, Verily, verily, I ſay to you, Moſes gave you not that Bread from Heaven, (which I exhort you to labour for, and of which Manna only was a Type;) but my Father (now) giveth you the true Bread from Heaven.

33. For [m] the Bread of God (of which you m ſpiritually are to eat) is he that cometh down from Heaven, and giveth (not a fading Life, as Manna did to the Jews, but everlaſting) Life to the (whole) World.

34. Then ſaid they to him, Lord, evermore give us this Bread, (which will preſerve our Lives; ſtill thinking that he only ſpake of this preſent Life.)

35. And (then) Jeſus ſaid to them, I am the Bread of Life; he that [n] cometh to me n ſhall never hunger, and he that believeth in me ſhall never thirſt, (he being by that Faith united to me, who am the Life, Chap. 14. 6. and partaking of that Spirit which will be in him as a Well of Water ſpringing up to eternal Life, Chap. 4. 14. — 7. 38. and ſo ſhall need no more to hunger or thirſt after it.)

36. But

36. But I said to you, that ye also have seen me (doing Works sufficient to convince you of the Truth of what I say,) and (yet) believe (me) not; (and I shall find still cause to say so to Men so worldly-minded, and prejudiced against the Truth.)

o 37. (But tho' it be thus with you,) ° all that the Father giveth me, (i. e. all that he prevails on by the Miracles he works by me, and the Doctrine he teacheth me to deliver to the World, to judge of me as one sent from him to propound the Terms of Life eternal,) shall come to me, (i. e. embrace my Doctrine, and believe in me;) and him that cometh (thus) to me, I will in no wise cast out, (i. e. reject from that Life.)

38. For I came down from Heaven not to do my own Will, but the Will of him that sent me.

39. And this is the Father's Will that hath sent me, that of all that he hath given me I should lose nothing, (i. e. should suffer none p to perish, Chap. 17. 12.) but should ᵖ raise it up again at the last Day.

40. And this (also) is the Will of him that sent me, that every one that seeth the Son, (i. e. discerneth him to be the Prophet sent from God,) and (therefore) believeth on him, may have everlasting Life; and I (for that end) will raise him up at the last Day.

41. The Jews then murmured at him, because he said, I am the Bread which came down from Heaven.

42. And they said (one to another,) Is not this Jesus the Son of Joseph, whose Father and Mother we know? How is it then that he (being born of earthly Parents,) saith, I came down from Heaven?

43. Jesus therefore answered, and said to them, Murmur not among your selves, (on the account of these Words; for 'tis not want of Truth in my Words, but want of Affection to my Doctrine, and due Consideration of the Testimonies God hath given to it, that makes you thus murmur at, and reject them.)

44. (And indeed) no Man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me, (by thus confirming my Testimony, and disposing you to prize and value that eter-
q nal Life I promise,) ᵠ draw him (to believe and embrace my Doctrine, and live according to it;) and I will raise him up at the last Day (who is thus drawn to believe and embrace it.)

45. It is written in the Prophets, (That the Kingdom of the Messiah shall be set up,)
r and (then) they shall be all ʳ taught of God; every one therefore that hath heard (the Father speaking in and by me,) and hath learned of the Father (the Truth of my Doctrine,) cometh to me.

46. (This I say,) not that any Man hath seen the Father, (and so immediately is taught by him, this Privilege none can claim,) save (but) he who is (the only begotten Son) of God; he (only) hath (thus) seen the Father.

47. (Being therefore thus alone acquainted with his Will,) Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believeth in me, hath (an assurance of) everlasting Life.

48. (For) I am that Bread of Life, (of which if a Man spiritually eat, he shall not die, ver. 50.)

49. Your Fathers did eat Manna in the Wilderness; and (notwithstanding this they) are dead, (most of them in their Sins, and for their Unbelief; and all of them, because it could neither preserve Life, nor restore it.)

50. This (Bread of which I speak,) is the Bread which cometh down from Heaven, that a Man may eat thereof, and not die (for the Punishment, but for the Abolition of Sin, and then be raised to a state in which he can die no more.)

51. I am the living, (or life-giving) Bread which came down from Heaven; if any Man eat of this Bread, (tho' he die,) he shall live (again) for ever, (by vertue of his eating of it;) and the ˢ Bread that I will give s is my Flesh, which I will give (up to the Death,) for the Life of the World, (that whosoever believeth in me thus dying for him, may not perish, but have everlasting Life, Chap. 3. 16.

52. The Jews therefore strove among themselves, saying, How can this Man give us his Flesh to eat?

53. Then Jesus said to them, Verily, verily, I say to you, Except ye (by Faith in my Death) ᵗ eat the Flesh of the Son of Man, t and drink his Blood, you have no Life in you, (no Spiritual Life at present, nor any right to Life eternal.)

54. (But) whoso eateth (thus) my Flesh, and drinketh my Blood, hath (by that Faith an Interest in) eternal Life, and I will raise him up at the last Day (to enjoy it.)

55. For ᵘ my Flesh is Meat indeed, and u my Blood is Drink indeed; (i. e. Faith in me, giving up my Body to the Death, and shedding my Blood for the Remission of your Sins, is the true Meat and Drink which nourisheth to eternal Life.)

56. (For) he that (thus) eateth my Flesh and drinketh my Blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him, (by that Spirit which will quicken your mortal Bodies, and raise them from the Dead, Rom. 8. 11.

57. As the living Father hath sent me, and I (tho' I die, shall) ʷ live (again) by the Fa- w ther; so he that (thus) eateth me, even he shall live by me.

58. This is that Bread which came down from Heaven (to be eaten of you,) not as your Fathers did eat Manna, and are dead; (See ver. 49. for) he that eateth of this Bread, ſhall live for ever, (and have that Life which Manna never could, nor was deſign'd to afford.)

59. Theſe things ſaid he in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60. Many therefore of his Diſciples, when they had heard this, ſaid, This is an hard Saying, who can hear (i.e. receive) it?

61. When Jeſus knew in himſelf that his Diſciples murmured at it, he ſaith to them, Doth this (Diſcourſe of eating my Fleſh) offend you (now?)

62. What and if (ἐὰν οὖν, if, or when therefore) ye ſhall ſee the Son of Man [x] aſcend up where he was before? (How much more will you be then offended, ſeeing my Body will be then leſs capable of being eaten by you, in that groſs ſenſe in which you underſtand my words?)

63. (But know that) it is [y] the Spirit (imparted to Believers,) that quickneth (their mortal Bodies, Rom. 8. 11.) the Fleſh (even of my Body, could you eat it) profiteth nothing (to that end; now) the words that I ſpeak to you, they are Spirit, and they are Life; (i.e. they are the means of obtaining this Spirit, and Life by him.)

64. But there are ſome of you (my Diſciples) who believe not, (and ſo cannot obtain this Spirit, and this Life; this he ſaid,) for Jeſus knew from the beginning (of his Miniſtry, John 2. 24, 25.) who they were that believed not (ſincerely,) and who ſhould betray him.

65. And he ſaid, Therefore ſaid I to you, that no Man can [z] come to me, (i.e. believe in me,) except it were given to him of my Father; (i.e. unleſs he were throughly convinced, by the Miracles wrought by me, that I was ſent from God, and had by God wrought in him a prevailing Affection to eternal Life; both which were wanting in theſe Diſciples.)

66. From that time many of his Diſciples went back, and walked no more with him.

67. Then ſaid Jeſus to the Twelve, Will ye alſo go away?

68. Then Simon Peter anſwered him, Lord, to whom ſhall we go, (ſince) thou (only) haſt the Words of Eternal Life, (and for that above all things we are and ought to be concerned.)

69. And we believe, and are ſure; that thou art that (the) Chriſt the Son of the living God, (ſent by him to reveal this Life, and to impart it to thoſe who do ſincerely believe in thee.)

70. Jeſus anſwered them, have not I choſen you Twelve, and one of you is a Devil? (i.e. an Adverſary to me and my Doctrine.)

71. (This) he ſpake of Judas Iſcariot the Son of Simon, for he it was that ſhould betray him, being one of the Twelve.

Annotations on Chap. VI.

a Ver. 1. AFTER theſe things,] (related in the former Chapter, i. e. the Year following, for he healed the Man at the Pool of Bethesda at the Paſſover, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, and fed the Jews with the five Loaves the following Paſſover, ver. 4) he went over the Sea of Galilee. See the Note on Matth. 14. 13.

tion, but to divert from them to more profitable Subjects. So Luke 13. 23, 24. John 12. 34, 35.

k Ver. 27. Labour not for the Meat which perisheth.] The Massalian Hereticks, say Chrysostom and Theophylact, abused these words to prove it was not lawful for them to work to sustain this present Life; by which Doctrine, saith Chrysostom, they do ὅλον διαβάλλειν τ χριστιανισμόν, wholly subvert Christianity, commanding Christians to work with their Hands that which is good, Eph. 4. 28. to do their own Business, and to work with their Hands, 1 Thess. 4. 11. and he confutes them with the Example of St. Paul, labouring with his own Hands night and day, Acts 18. 3. — 20. 34. 1 Thess. 2. 9. 2 Thess. 3. 8. and of the other Apostles, 1 Cor. 4. 12. These words are therefore to be taken not absolutely, but comparatively, i. e. do not chiefly and primarily labour for the Meat that perisheth, but let your regard for that Meat which nourisheth to Eternal Life be so great, as that your concern for perishing Enjoyments shall be comparatively as nothing; in which sense only we are bid not to take thought for Food and Raiment, Matth. 6. 28, 31. not to fear them who can kill the Body, Matth. 10. 28. not to seek earthly things, Colos. 3. 2.

But chiefly here observe, that whereas Christ in this whole Chapter speaks of believing in him, and in his salutary Passion, and of receiving his Doctrine, under the Metaphor of Meat and Drink, he doth this by a Metaphor very familiar to the Eastern Nations, and frequent in the Jewish Writings; thus Wisdom crieth in the Streets, Come, eat of my Bread, and drink of the Wine that I have mingled, Prov. 9. 5. that is, go in the way of Understanding, ver. 6. eat you that which is good, and let your Soul delight it self in Fatness, Isa. 55. 2. that is, hear, and your Soul shall live, ver. 3. Thus doth the Son of Syrac introduce Wisdom, saying, They that eat me shall yet be hungry, and they that drink me shall yet be thirsty, Eccluss. 24. 21. i. e. they that obey me, ver. 22. Hence (a) Philo often speaks of Prudence, Wisdom, Virtue, as the Food of the Soul, or that spiritual Meat and Drink which nourisheth to Life eternal. So to eat of every Tree in Paradise, is, saith he, an Exhortation, τ ψυχὴν μ ἀπὸ πασῶν τ ἀρετῶν ὠφελεῖσθαι, that the Soul should receive Advantage by all Virtues. The Soul, saith he, is nourished with Knowledge, not with Meat and Drink; for the Scripture testifies, (b) ὅτι ὁ γήϊνος ἀλλ' οὐράνιος αὐ ψυχῆς τροφαί, that the Food of the Soul is not earthly, but heavenly, by saying, I rain down Bread from Heaven; and this Principle, that God is the Beginning and the End of all things, brings forth Piety, (c) κάλλιστον κ τροφιμώτατον καρπόν, which is the best and most nourishing Food. And the (d) Talmudists say, that all Eating and Drinking, mentioned in the Book of Ecclesiastes, relates to the Law and good Works; and that their Wise Men are that Staff of Bread, of which Solomon saith, Come, eat of my Bread. See v. 22. So that the Sense of these words is this, Labour by Faith in me, and embracing my Doctrine to obtain that eternal Life which the Son of God will give to you, for he is to be lifted up upon the Cross, that every one that believeth in him might not perish, but have everlasting Life, chap. 3. 16, 17. and him hath God the Father sealed, i. e. he hath by his Authority commissionated, and by his Testimony owned him to be that Prophet and Messiah from whom all Blessings are to be expected, and by anointing him with his Spirit above measure, hath as it were set his Seal in Confirmation of his Message; so that you may be sure the Life he promises in his Father's Name shall be given you; So Christ expounds himself, ver. 29. saying, This is the Work of God, that ye believe in him whom he hath sent, i. e. this is that which he commands, and which is highly acceptable to him; so the Sacrifices of God are a broken and a contrite Heart, Psal. 51. 17. i. e. these are the most acceptable Sacrifices to him; and the Righteousness of God, Rom. 1. 17. 2 Cor. 5. 21. is that Righteousness which he alone accepts.

Ver. 31, 32. He gave them Bread from l
Heaven; Moses gave them not that Bread from Heaven, &c.] That we may the better understand what Christ here saith of himself, as the true Bread coming down from Heaven, that they might eat of it and live. Note,

1*st*, From what hath been observed on ver. 27. that among the Orientals and (e) Jewish Writers, to eat ὅτι τὸ φαγεῖν, σύμβολον τροφῆς ψυχικῆς, is used as a Symbol of the Food of the Soul, because the Soul, saith (f) Philo, is nourished by receiving, and practising good Things; and Wisdom, Temperance and Piety, are ψυχῆς τροφαὶ τ θηλάζειν ἱκανῆς, the Food of a Soul that can suck them in.

2*dly*, They say that Divine Wisdom was this Meat and Drink of the Soul, according to that Exhortation of Wisdom, Prov. 9. 5. Come, eat of my Bread, and drink of the Wine that I have mingled. Thus (g) Philo saith, of the Ascetick employed in Divine Contemplations, τὸν Θεὸν πολίζῃ κάλλιστον πότον τον Ϛοφιαν, God gives him to drink of the beſt Drink, Wiſdom, even from the Fountain of his own Wiſdom. Accordingly Chriſt, the Wiſdom of the Father, ſaith, He that drinketh of the Water which I ſhall give him ſhall never thirſt, John 4. 14. — 7. 38, 39. See ver. 35.

3*dly*, They add, that this Meat and Drink comes down from Heaven, and prove this from the words here cited by our Lord. So (h) Philo proves that God only gives heavenly Bleſſings from thoſe Words of Moſes, I rain down Bread from Heaven; for what Food, ſaith he, can be rained down from thence, ὅτι μὴ τ ἐρανιον Ϛοφιαν, but heavenly Wiſdom, which he ſends down upon the Soul deſirous of it, who hath the Fulneſs and Abundance of it in himſelf?

4*thly*, They declare that this Meat and Drink is therefore to be preferred to Corporeal Food, becauſe it nouriſheth to eternal Life, or renders them Immortal who partake of it. So Philo ſaith, that the Wiſdom of God is the Nurſe and Nouriſher, (i) τ ἀφθάρϛε ϵϛίας ἐφιεμϵνων, of thoſe that deſire incorruptible Diet. He adds, that ſeeking what was the food of the Soul, they found it was the Word of God, (k) καὶ θεῖῳ λόγῳ, and the Divine Word, ἀφ' ϵ πᾶσα παιδεία, καὶ Ϛοφια ῥέουσιν ἀίνναοι, from whom all eternal Wiſdom and Inſtruction flows, and that this was the heavenly Food of which Moſes ſaid, I rain down Bread from Heaven; and that this Wiſdom of God, gives to the Soul that drinketh of it, (l) ἀμεταθϵτον ὑϒιειαν, an unchangeable Health. And even Pythagoras inſtructed Parents to provide for their Children, not what would preſerve the Body to old Age, but τὰ τ ψυχὴν θρέψαντα ἀιδίῳ τροφῇ, what would nouriſh their Souls with eternal Food. Stob. Serm. 1. p. 3.

Laſtly, They ſay this Meat and Drink is the Wiſdom of God, and the Word of God ſignified to them by that Manna which fed the Jews, and by that Rock which gave them Drink; thus (m) Philo having ſaid the Wiſdom of God was a ſolid Rock, which could not be broken, he adds, τ πέτραν ταύτην ἐτέρωθι Ϛωώνυμία χορήγῳ κλῆσι μάννα τ πρεσβύτατον τ ὄντων λόγον θεῖον, that Moſes called this Rock, which was the moſt ancient of Beings, the Divine Word by the Synonymous Name of Manna; the good Man, ſaith he, lifts up his Eyes to Heaven, ἀφορῶν τὸ μάννα τ θεῖον λόγον, τ ἐρανιον τ φιλοθεαμόνος ψυχῆς ἄφθαρϛον τροφὴν, looking to the Manna, the Divine and Heavenly Word, the incorruptible Food of the Soul which loves God. (n) Ainſworth alſo notes from R. Iſaac, and R. Menahem, that Manna ſignified the Food of the Juſt in the World to come, and others, that it was a Type of Life eternal. See Buxtorf's Hiſtory of Manna, p. 336, 339, 352. From which Obſervations it is eaſie to diſcern why Chriſt here ſtiles himſelf, the Bread which came down from Heaven, and gave Life to the World, viz. becauſe he was that ſpiritual Bread prefigured by the Manna coming down from Heaven; and why he ſaith, that not Moſes, but his Father gave them the true Bread from Heaven, viz. becauſe he only, by ſending his Son from Heaven, gave them that Bread which nouriſheth to Life eternal, ver. 49, 50, 51. And laſtly, why he inſiſts ſo much upon this Metaphor, viz. becauſe it was familiar to the Jews, and uſed by their moſt celebrated Writers.

Hence alſo we may ſee a probable Reaſon why they deſire a Sign, i. e. a Sign from Heaven, Matth. 12. 38. Mark 8. 11. and do it for this reaſon, that their Fathers did eat Bread from Heaven, ver. 30, 31. viz. they do it ſeeking an Experiment whether he was the Meſſiah, or not, (o) they being uſed to ſay, that as their firſt Redeemer made Manna deſcend from Heaven for them, ſo ſhould their ſecond Redeemer do; and how appoſitely our Lord anſwers, that what they deſired was already done by his Father ſending his Son, the true heavenly Manna, to them.

Ver. 33. For the Bread of God is he that m cometh down from Heaven, &c.] The Oblations made to God are ſtiled in the Old Teſtament, the Bread of God, tho' they were Sacrifices of living Creatures, and by the Septuagint δῶρα Θεῦ, the Gifts of God, Lev. 21. 6, 8. accordingly Chriſt ſtiles his piacular Victim by the ſame Name; and whereas the Socinians ſay Chriſt is here only ſaid to come down from Heaven, not as being in Heaven firſt, and then condeſcending to dwell on Earth, but only as every good and perfect Gift is ſaid to deſcend from above, Jam. 1. 17. I know not why the Gifts of the Spirit imparted then to Believers by the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from Heaven, and being Gifts of Illumination, may not be properly ſaid to deſcend from above, even from the Father of Lights. That the Jews underſtood him in a ſenſe intimating his coming down from Heaven in a real ſenſe, as from a place of his abode, appears from their murmuring at his words on account of his earthly Parentage, ver. 41, 42. which yet they could have had no cauſe to have done, had he meant this in ſuch a ſenſe only, in which all their own Prophets muſt be allowed to come from Heaven: Moreover, thus even the Baptiſt came down down from Heaven, his Authority, Commission, and Doctrine being from Heaven, Matth. 21. 25. and yet he maketh this Distinction betwixt himself and Christ, that he was from Earth, but Christ was emphatically ὁ ἐκ τ ἔρανῦ ἐρχόμ῾ος, one coming from Heaven. 2*dly*, The Antithesis put here betwixt Christ and Manna, and the Declaration that Christ was that Bread, which the Psalmist says was given them from Heaven, shews the Phrase must be used of a true Descent from Heaven, that Manna and Bread, of which the Psalmist and Moses speak, coming down truly from the Clouds of Heaven. And, 3*dly*, This is farther evident from Christ's Question, ver. 62. What if you shall see the Son of Man ascending where he was before? i. e. to his Father, chap. 14. 2. unless they will say that as his Descent signified his having his Commission, Wisdom, and Power from Heaven, so his Ascent signifies his Deprivation of that Commission, Wisdom, and Power.

o Ver. 37. All that my Father giveth me shall come to me.] For Explication of these words, let it be noted,

(1*st*,) That to believe in Christ, and to come to him, is the same thing; So John 5. 38. in him whom the Father hath sent ye believe not, is, ver. 40. ye will not come to me, that ye may have Life. So John 7. 37. if any Man thirst, let him come to me and drink; and to encourage them to embrace this Invitation, he adds, he that cometh to me, out of his Belly shall flow Rivers of living Water, ver. 38. So ver. 35. of this Chapter, he that cometh to me shall not hunger, is the same with the following words, he that believeth in me shall not thirst. So when Christ had said, ye have seen me and have not believed, he adds this reason of their Incredulity, you come not to me, because you are not given of the Father; and ver. 40. saith, he that cometh to me I will not cast forth, for this is the will of my Father, that he who hath seen the Son, and believed in him, should have eternal Life. Note,

(2*dly*,) That to be given of the Father, cannot here signifie to be absolutely chosen by him to eternal Life, for then the Jews could not be reasonably accused for not coming to Christ, or not believing in him, much less that they would not believe, or come to him, seeing upon this Supposition, that only they whom God had absolutely chosen to eternal Life could come to him, it was impossible they should believe who were not thus elected, and so it could not be imputed as their Crime, that they did not that thing which 'twas impossible for them to do; whereas 'tis certain that our Saviour represents it as their great Sin, that in him whom the Father had sent they believed not, John 5. 38. and that they would not come unto him that they might have Life, ver. 40. telling them that the Spirit would convince them of Sin, because they believed not in him, John 16. 9. and that they had no excuse for that Sin, John 15. 22, 24. Whereas, what better excuse could be made for them than this, that they could not come to him, as being not elected by God to that Life he offered, to induce them so to do? (2) Hence it must follow that Christ could not rationally have invited them to come to him, or called them to believe in him, who were not given him by the Father; for this was to invite them to come to him that they might live, whom he well knew could never come, as being never chosen to obtain that Life; much less could he have told them that this was the Work which God required them to do, or that the Father had given them this Bread from Heaven, this being to require them, according to this Supposition, to believe a Lie, viz. that Christ was sent to be the Bread of Life, and a Saviour to them, for whom the Father never did intend Salvation by him; and yet Christ manifestly says to them, who seeing him did not believe, and therefore were not given to him by the Father, Labour for that Meat which nourisheth to Life eternal, which the Son of Man shall give to you, ver. 27. and that this is the Work of God, that ye believe in him that he hath sent, ver. 29. and my Father giveth you the true Bread from Heaven, even him that cometh down from Heaven, and giveth Life (not to the Elect only, but) to the World, ver. 32, 33. I therefore here enquire thus, Was our Lord truly willing that those he speaks to should have Life? If not, why doth he say, these things I speak unto you, that ye might be saved, John 5. 34. but ye will not come unto me that ye might have Life? if so, why did he say that he did always those things which pleased him? John 8. 29. and could do nothing but what he saw his Father doing, seeing 'twas not the Father's Will that they should be saved, or come unto him that they might have Life, whom he had not given to him, that is, had not elected to Salvation. Note,

(3*dly*,) That Christ here gives a reason why they believed not, viz. You have seen, and yet believe not, because ye are not given to me of my Father: Now it is reasonable to conceive this reason should agree with all his other reasons assigned of their Infidelity, which yet are manifestly founded not on any thing wanting on the part of God, but on something wanting in themselves that they might do so, viz.

1*st*, That they came not to the Light because their works were evil, and being so they hated the Light, and would not come to it, John 3. 19, 20. that they believed not in him, because he spake the Truth, which was distasteful to them, Chap. 8. 45.

2*dly*, Becauſe they had not the Word of God abiding in them, nor believed God bearing witneſs to him, nor Moſes ſpeaking of him, John 5. 38, 46. and ſo being taught of God they would not learn.

3*dly*, Becauſe they were not of God; ye therefore do not hear his Word, becauſe ye are not of God, John 8. 47. and becauſe they had not the Love of God in them, John 5. 40, 42.

4*thly*, Becauſe they preferred the Praiſe of Men before the Praiſe of God, not ſeeking that Glory which cometh of God only, John 5. 44.

5*thly*, Becauſe they were not of his Sheep, i. e. not docile, nor diſpoſed to hear his Voice; ye therefore believe not, becauſe ye are not of my Sheep, John 10. 26.

6*thly*, Becauſe through the perverſeneſs of their Hearts they could not hear his Words; Why do you not know my Speech, even becauſe ye cannot hear my Words? John 8. 43. and this they could not do, becauſe they were of their Father the Devil, and his Works they would do. And therefore,

(4*thly*.) To be given of the Father, is, (1.) To be convinced by the Miracles which God had wrought by him to teſtifie the Truth of his Miſſion, and thereby to ſet his Seal unto him, that he was the Meſſiah, and the Son of God, and to be willing upon theſe Teſtimonies to own him as ſuch, laying aſide all thoſe unreaſonable Prejudices, and carnal Affections which obſtructed their coming to him. This appears, (1.) From the Deſcription which Chriſt gives of thoſe whom God had given him, viz. they were thine, and thou gaveſt them to me, and they know that I came from thee, and they have believed that thou haſt ſent me, John 17. 6, 8. for this is ſpoken of Chriſt's Diſciples, of whom it is ſo often ſaid, they ſaw his Miracles, and believed on him, John 2. 11. by them they therefore knew that he came forth from God; and ſo are ſaid to be given him of God, who by theſe Miracles convinced them of this Truth, and ſo they believed that he had ſent him. (2.) This appears farther from theſe words, There are ſome of you that believe not, for Jeſus knew from the beginning who they were that believed not (ſincerely,) and ſaith, Therefore I ſaid to you, No Man can come unto me except it were given him of my Father, v. 64, 65. For theſe Men had not laid aſide their Prejudices againſt his Words, they could not believe that he came down from Heaven, who was the Son of Joſeph, ver. 42. They murmured at his Words, and were ſcandalized, ver. 61. they went away from him, and walked no more after him; and therefore thro' their Prejudices againſt his Perſon and his Doctrine, they could not prevail with themſelves to think that he came forth from God, and upon that account Chriſt here informs us that he ſaid, No Man could come unto him, unleſs it were given him of the Father. And, (3.) This we may learn from a like Expreſſion in the Book of Deuteronomy, chap. 29. 2, 3, 4. Ye have ſeen all the Lord did before your Eyes in the Land of Egypt, the great Temptations, Signs and Miracles which there he wrought, yet the Lord hath not given you an Heart to perceive, and Eyes to ſee, and Ears to hear unto this day, לא and the Lord hath not given, or rather, hath not the Lord given you? לא being put for הלא. So ולא ילך Shall not Ammon go with us? 2 Sam. 13. 26. לא לבו הלך went not my Heart with thee? 2 Kings 5. 26. So alſo Job. 2. 10. Mal. 2. 15. For here 'tis manifeſt, that the way of God's giving them an Heart to perceive, was by working thoſe Signs and Miracles before their Eyes which might induce them ſo to do; and yet, for want of this Improvement of them to this end, it is admired that the Lord hath not given them this Heart, or is imputed as their great fault that he had not given it; i. e. that after all he had done to produce it in them they had it not.

(2.) Chriſt being ſent by God the Father, that the World through him might be ſaved, and he having ſent his Son to propound to them that eternal Life, which was with the Father, and was manifeſted to us by his Son, and to propoſe to us the Terms on which this Life might be obtained (as Chriſt doth throughout this Chapter;) he is ſaid to have given us eternal Life, and that this Life is in his Son, 1 John 5. 11. and that this is his Record concerning him, and here, that the Father had given them the true Bread from Heaven, that giveth Life unto the World, ver. 32, 33. And they who were ſo convinced of the Truth of this Promiſe by our Saviour's Miracles as to expect to receive it by Faith in him, and Obedience to his Doctrine, and ſo affected with this Promiſe of eternal Life, as to eſteem it above all other things, and ſo were willing to apply themſelves to the performance of thoſe Duties which he required to obtain it, and to reject and quit thoſe things which might obſtruct them in the proſecution of it, are ſaid to be given to him of the Father, becauſe he wrought thoſe Miracles which gave them this Conviction; on which account, when Peter had confeſſed that he was the Chriſt, Chriſt anſwered, Fleſh and Blood hath not revealed this to thee, but my Father which is in Heaven, Mat. 16. 17. See the Note there; and becauſe he gave this Promiſe of eternal Life, and ſent his Son to reveal it to the World; and therefore when he ſaith to his Apoſtles, whom the Father had given him, Will ye alſo go away? Simon Peter anſwers, ver. 68, 69. Lord, to whom ſhould we go, ſeeing thou haſt the Words of eternal Life? and we have believed, lieved, and know that thou art the Christ the Son of the living God. Now it is evident, that all who have this strong Conviction that our Saviour came from God, and this Concernment for that eternal Life he promised as the Encouragement to come to him, will believe on him, because such Persons can neither want assurance that they ought to do so, nor the most prevalent Engagements so to do, as having that eternal Life before their Eyes, which they more value than all worldly things, and for which they are willing and prepared to quit all their lower Interests.

p Ver. 39. But I will raise it up at the last day.] This being said of all who are given to Christ by the Father, it follows, that none of them shall rise till that day; and it being here said they are to be raised to receive eternal Life, which Life is only to be enjoyed in the Heavens, it follows, that none of them are to be raised to reign with Christ a thousand Years.

(12) Ver. 40. See Additions N° 12.

q Ver. 44. No Man can come unto me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him.] For Explication of these Words consider,

1*st*, That to be drawn of God, cannot import our being moved by any inward and irresistible Impressions from God to believe in him; for then no Man could come to Christ without these irresistible Impressions, and therefore none could be blame-worthy for not believing in him, because they could not do it without that powerful Impression, which God was not pleased to afford them; nor could it be praise-worthy to believe in him, because they only did so when they could not chuse but do it, as being acted in so doing by a force which they could not resist. And therefore,

2*dly*, To be drawn of God, can only signifie to be persuaded, and prevailed on so to do by the Consideration of those mighty Works which God had done to testifie that Christ was the true Messiah, and that Prophet which he had sent into the World; to these Christ still appeals as Divine Testimonies concerning him, by saying, The Works which my Father hath given me to do, bear witness of me, chap. 10. 25. by the Consideration of them he persuades others to believe in him, saying, Believe me for the Works sake, John 14. 11. and upon this account he represents the unbelieving Jews as inexcusable, that he had done those Works among them which never Man did, chap. 15. 22, 24. and all those Works are said to be recorded, that Men might believe that Jesus is the Son of God, and believing might have Life through his Name, chap. 20. 31. all which things must convince us that these things were sufficient to draw Men to Christ; whence he himself speaks thus, When I am lifted up, I will draw all Men after me, chap. 12. 32. viz. by the Power of my Resurrection, by which I shall so fully be demonstrated to be the Son of God, by the Mission of the Holy Ghost to confirm my Resurrection, and the Truth of my Doctrine by Signs and Wonders; and powerful Distributions of the Holy Ghost, sufficient to prevail with all Men to believe in me; tho' the Event shewed that all Men were not actually drawn to him by these means. Or,

3*dly*, To be moved by the great Promise of Eternal Life to do it; for whereso'ever there is any lively sense of that inestimable Blessings, it strongly must engage us to use the means by which we may obtain it, and so to come to Christ, if from him only this Blessing is to be expected; and this is a familiar sense of the word draw, both in the Scripture and in other Writings; thus God is said to draw them to him by the Cords of Love, Hos. 11. 4. who yet were bent to backsliding from him, ver. 7. and Men are said to be drawn away by their own Lusts, Jam. 1. 14. For, saith the Poet, trahit sua quemque voluptas, every Man's Pleasure draws him to a compliance with it. Thus, say the (p) Jews, The Master draws the Scholar by his Parables, i. e. incites them to learn; and a Man is drawn by Wine, and by his Pleasures; and 'tis a celebrated Saying among them, that a Precept draws a Precept, and a Transgression draws on a Transgression, i. e. one Sin disposeth us to commit another, and Obedience to one Precept to obey another; and that we are only said to be drawn by the Father to Christ, viz. by his Miracles and Divine Instructions, is evident from the words following, as the proof of this, it is written they shall be all taught of God, he therefore who hath heard of the Father, i. e. perceived him speaking, and doing his mighty Works by me, cometh to me. Without this drawing, none can come to Christ, for none but God can give this Promise of eternal Life to encourage us to do so, and no Power but that of God can work those Miracles which proved his Commission from God; and hence Christ owns, that if he had not done these Miracles among them they had had no Sin of Infidelity, John 15. 22, 24.

ſo ſaith (q) Clemens of Alexandria, are we taught of God. And, Laſtly, By his Son, delivering the Mind of God to us as his Prophet, and ſo giving us the Knowledge of what he requires us to believe, and do, in order to Salvation; and, 2dly, Confirming the Truth of what he thus deliver'd in his Name, by Miracles done by the Finger of God, and ſo ſetting his Seal to the Doctrine taught. And of this teaching by God are theſe words to be underſtood; (1.) Becauſe the Prophet Iſaiah is there ſpeaking of the ſetting up the Kingdom of Chriſt, and of the Teaching then promiſed. (2.) Thus is it that the Father draws Men to Chriſt, of which theſe words are made the Proof. See Note on ver. 37. (3.) From the Argument following, ver. 46. That they were not to expect to be taught immediately by the Father, as a Scholar is by his Maſter ſeeing him preſent, and hearing him ſpeak, but only by him that had ſeen the Father, and ſo ſpake, and did thoſe things which he had ſeen of the Father, John 3. 12. — 8. 28. — 12. 50. So that he who had ſeen him, had ſeen the Father, chap. 14. 9, 10.

s Ver. 51. And the Bread which I will give is my Fleſh, that I will give, &c.] up to the Death, to obtain that eternal Life which was loſt by the Sin of Adam. Hence it is evident, that Chriſt here ſpeaks of Faith in him, as ſuffering, and ſhedding his Blood for Mankind, he being our Propitiation only through Faith in his Blood, Rom. 3. 25. and we being reconciled to God by his Death, Rom. 5. 9, 10. See here Examen Millii.

t Ver. 53, 54. Except ye eat the Fleſh and drink the Blood of the Son of Man, you have no Life in you.] To prove that Chriſt in this Chapter ſpeaks not of Oral and Sacramental Eating, but only of doing this ſpiritually by Faith in his Blood, I premiſe,

1*ſt*, That nothing was more common among the Eaſtern Nations than to uſe the Metaphor of Eating and Drinking, when they ſpake not of corporeal Meat or Drink which was to go into the Mouth, but only of ſpiritual, to be fed on by the Soul, as hath been fully prov'd already, Note on ver. 27, 31, 32. Thus Clemens of Alexandria, diſcourſing upon that Paſſage of St. Paul to the Corinthians, I have fed you with Milk and not with ſtrong Meat; ſaith, That Milk is the Rudiments of Faith, or the Doctrines of the Catechiſm, the firſt Nouriſhment of the Soul; Strong Meat, a Contemplation which makes us to diſcern the Divine Power and Eſſence; Ταῦτες ὧν ἡ αἷμα τ λόγ, theſe Contemplations are the Fleſh and Blood of the Word; βρῶσις γὰρ ἡ ποσις τ θείε λόγ ἡ γνῶσις ὅτι τ θείας ἐσίας, the Meat and Drink of the Divine Word, is the Knowledge of the Divine Eſſence; and Irenæus ſaith, that Chriſt taught the weak τρφγειν ἡ πίνειν τ λόγον τ θεῦ τ, to eat and drink the Divine Logos, l. 4. c. 74.

2*dly*, That it is the ſame thing in this Chapter, to eat of the Bread which came down from Heaven, and to believe in Chriſt breaking the Bread of Life to us by his Doctrine, and offering himſelf a Sacrifice and Oblation for us to obtain that Life; for when he had exhorted them to labour for the Meat that did not periſh, he tells them, ver. 29. That this was to believe on him whom God had ſent: When he had told them, ver. 35. That he was the Bread from Heaven, he immediately adds, He that cometh to me ſhall never hunger, and he that believeth in me ſhall never thirſt. Having ſaid, that he was the Bread which cometh down from Heaven, and giveth Life unto the World, ver. 33. he confirms this Expreſſion, ver. 40. by theſe words, This is the Will of my Father, that every one that ſeeth the Son, and believeth on him, ſhould have eternal Life. And again, ver. 47. Verily, verily, I ſay unto you, He that believeth on me, hath everlaſting Life; I am that Bread of Life.

3*dly*, Obſerve, that from theſe Metaphors our Lord proceeds to that contained in theſe words, objected by the Roman Doctors, ver. 51. The Bread which I will give, is my Fleſh, which I will give for the Life of the World; that is, it is my Body which I will give up unto Death, that by it the World may have Life. The Jews taking theſe Words in a groſs ſenſe, as if our Lord had promiſed to give his real Fleſh to be ſwallowed down their Throats, and eaten by them as they had eaten Bread the Day before, and as their Fore-Fathers had eaten Manna in the Wilderneſs, exclaiming againſt him, as promiſing a thing abſurd, inhuman, and impoſſible, ſaying, How can this Man give us his Fleſh to eat? To this our Saviour anſwers, ver. 53. in words ſtill more expreſſive, of his violent and bloody Death for the Salvation of Mankind, viz. Except you eat my Fleſh and drink my Blood, &c. Now theſe words are by ſome conceived to import thus much; Unleſs you with the Mouth of your Bodies, do eat my real and corporeal Fleſh, and drink my proper Blood, you cannot have eternal Life. Againſt this Senſe, I argue,

1*ſt*, From ver. 51. thus, The Fleſh which Chriſt here promiſed to give for the Life of the World, is the ſame with the Bread that cometh down from Heaven; if any Man eat of this Bread, he ſhalll live for ever, ſaith Chriſt; and the Bread which I will give is my Fleſh, that I will give for the Life of the World.

World. And again, having ſaid, He that eateth my Fleſh and drinketh my Blood, hath eternal Life, ver. 54. and he that eateth me, ſhall live by me, ver. 57. he adds immediately, This is the Bread which came down from Heaven,—and he that eateth of this Bread ſhall live for ever. Now our Lord hath expreſly taught us, That the eating of this Bread of Life, imported only our believing on him, ver. 35. as hath already been made evident from our ſecond Obſervation; therefore, the eating of his Fleſh doth certainly import the ſame ſpiritual Action. Moreover, we are only to eat of Chriſt as Fleſh, in that importance of the Phraſe in which we are to eat of Chriſt as Bread; for as Chriſt ſaith, He will give Fleſh to eat, ſo doth he ſay, He will give Bread to eat; as he ſaith, He that eateth my Fleſh ſhall live for ever, ſo he ſaith, He that eateth of this Bread ſhall live for ever; but none could ſay, that Chriſt was, or could properly be Bread, or eaten by the Mouth as ſuch; wherefore, he being only figuratively and ſpiritually Bread, could only figuratively and ſpiritually be to be eaten as ſuch: If therefore in the ſame importance only we are to eat his Fleſh, that alſo is to be eaten in a ſpiritual Senſe.

2*dly*, From theſe words, ver. 52. How can this Man give us his Fleſh to eat? 'Tis evident, the Jews conceived that our Lord promiſed to give them his proper Fleſh to eat, and ſwallow down their Throats, as they had done the Bread with which he fed them; and it on all hands is agreed, that they miſtook the ſenſe of Chriſt's words, and fanſied ſuch a meaning of them as he did not intend; but had our Lord intended the corporeal eating of his Fleſh, and drinking of his Blood, 'tis certain that it muſt be ſwallowed down their Throats, as properly as the Bread which they had eaten; and therefore, no Man who maintaineth this corporeal eating of Chriſt's Fleſh to be intended here, can, ſuitably to his Opinion, ſay, that they impoſed a falſe Senſe upon our Saviour's words, ſince from this Senſe it doth inevitably follow, That Chriſt intended, that his human Fleſh ſhould properly be eaten; and their words ſignifie no more. Add to this one Conſideration, which ſhews what Apprehenſions the Fathers of the firſt three Centuries had of this eating of the Fleſh of Chriſt, viz. When 'twas objected to them by the Heathens, that they did eat Man's Fleſh, they conſtantly in their Apologies reject the Accuſation as the vileſt Calumny, and as a moſt abominable thing ſufficient to diſcover the Author of ſuch an Accuſation, muſt be ſome wicked Dæmon. See this fully proved, Note on Matth. 26. 26.

3*dly*, The 53[d] Verſe affords two farther Arguments, in refutation of the corporeal Senſe of theſe Expreſſions: (1.) That it follows plainly from it, That the Thief upon the Croſs, and all the pious and believing Jews who heard theſe words, and died before our Saviour's Paſſion, muſt of neceſſity be damned; for our Lord ſaith, with an Aſſeveration to them, Except you eat the Fleſh, &c. Now this was ſaid at the Paſſover then inſtant, ver. 4. and ſo at leaſt above a Year before our Saviour's Paſſion, and ſo before the Inſtitution of that Sacrament, in which alone his Fleſh could be corporally eaten; and therefore had it been intended of corporeal and ſacramental Eating, it was impoſſible that any Perſon of thoſe Hearers could be ſaved, who died in the enſuing Year. (2.) Theſe words interpreted in the corporeal Senſe, do plainly and inevitably infer, That they who do deprive the Laity all their whole Lives, of drinking of this Blood, expoſe them to inevitable Damnation; Chriſt having ſaid, Except you drink the Blood of the Son of Man, you have no Life in you: For tho' eating and drinking, being taken figuratively, do ſignifie the ſame thing, viz. believing in a crucified Saviour; yet being taken properly, they cannot be reputed the ſame thing: For albeit, they who receive the Body only, may be well ſaid to eat the Fleſh of Chriſt, becauſe they take ſomething by way of Meat into their Mouths, yet cannot they be ſaid to drink his Blood, if they take nothing into their Mouths by way of Drink: Since therefore eating and drinking are two diſtinct Actions, ſo that he cannot properly be ſaid to drink who only eats; ſince the Privation of Life is here connected with not drinking of Chriſt's Blood, as much as with not eating of his Fleſh, according to the corporeal Interpretation of theſe words; he muſt certainly be deprived of the Life here promiſed who doth not receive the Cup, becauſe he is deprived of drinking of the Blood of Chriſt.

4*thly*, From ver. 54, 56. the Argument runs thus; Whoſoever eateth the Fleſh and drinketh the Blood of Chriſt, in the ſenſe here ſpoken of, abideth in Chriſt, and Chriſt in him; and therefore is a true and living Member of Chriſt's Body, and he ſhall have eternal Life, and be partaker of an happy Reſurrection; and ſo no Perſon can either be wicked here, or deprived of everlaſting Life hereafter, who in this ſenſe here mentioned, eats of the Fleſh and drinketh of the Blood of Chriſt. Now this is very true, of eating Spiritually, and by Faith, as it imports believing on Chriſt: For, this, ſaith Chriſt, is the Will of him that ſent me, That every one who believeth on the Son may have everlaſting Life, and I will raiſe him up at the laſt Day; but then of ſacramental eating of Chriſt's Fleſh, it is as falſe; for this was eaten by a Judas, and continually is eaten by Millions, who are both wicked here, and will be damned hereafter: This therefore cannot be the import of our Saviour's words. And here obſerve, (1.) That our Lord ſpeaks in the general, Whoſoever eats. (2.) That he ſpeaks thus not by way of Promiſe, which might be conditional, but by way of plain Aſſertion, and Declaration of a thing moſt certain. And, (3.) That the Text ſhews the eating mentioned here can never be performed unprofitably, no not without the greateſt benefit; for 'tis oppoſed to eating Manna in the Wilderneſs, on this account, that whereas that gave only temporal Life, this would aſſuredly confer eternal; whereas that was not able to preſerve from temporal, this would preſerve from Death eternal.

5*thly*, Moreover, ver. 61, and 62. our Lord ſpeaks thus, Doth this offend you? What if you ſhould ſee the Son of Man aſcend up where he was before? i. e. Are you offended that I thus ſpeak of giving you my Fleſh to eat? Do you look on this Expreſſion now as ſo abſurd and unintelligible? What then will you think of it, when this Body ſhall be removed hence to Heaven? i. e. How will you then be ſcandalized, and think it ſtill more difficult and more impoſſible to apprehend, how you ſhall eat my Fleſh and drink my Blood, provided you go on to underſtand my words in the groſs carnal ſenſe. For (r) Athanaſius ſaith well, That Chriſt here mentioneth his Aſcent into Heaven, ἵνα τὴν σωματικὴς ἐννοίας αὐτὲς ἀφέλκύσῃ, that he might divert them from the corporeal Senſe; and therefore argued thus, "Seeing it will be then impoſſible, that you "ſhould corporeally eat my Fleſh, when it "is ſo far removed from you; by this you "may diſcern, I ſpeak of a ſpiritual eating "of it. Whence by the way we learn, That Chriſt thought his Aſcenſion into Heaven ſufficient Demonſtration to the Jews, his Fleſh could not be eaten upon Earth; and why it ſhould not be ſo to the Chriſtian, I am yet to learn.

6*thly*, The 63d Verſe affords us a more plain and certain Expoſition of our Saviour's meaning in the precedent words; for thus it runs, It is the Spirit that quickneth; the Fleſh profiteth nothing: The words that I ſpeak unto you, they are Spirit and they are Life. For the import of theſe words is to this effect; To that eating and drinking, of which in this Diſcourſe I have ſtill ſpoken, I have annex'd the Promiſe of Life, ſaying expreſly, He that eateth me, ſhall live by me; he ſhall by me be quickned, i. e. be raiſed up to Life eternal; and that he abideth in me by that Spirit which quickneth our mortal Bodies, Rom. 8. 11. ſo that my words are Spirit and Life, as being the means of obtaining the Spirit, and by him this Life; to which effects my Fleſh, if you could eat it, would profit you nothing. Had our Lord ſaid, it is the Spirit that quickneth, the Fleſh profiteth nothing, therefore the Fleſh which I will give ſhall be joined to my Divinity, and by the virtue of it give you Life, he had ſaid ſomewhat like the ſenſe which others put upon this Text; but ſaying only, The words which I ſpeak unto you, they are Spirit; we cannot doubt, but he ſpeaks of eating and of drinking of his Fleſh and Blood ſpiritually.

7*thly*, Our Saviour having ſaid to the Twelve, Will ye alſo go away? St. Peter anſwers, To whom ſhould we go? Thou haſt the words of eternal Life, and we believe thou art that Chriſt the Son of the living God. Where, (1.) obſerve, That Peter here doth as it were repeat the words of Chriſt; My Words are Life, ſaith Chriſt; Thou haſt the Words of Life eternal, ſaith St. Peter; whereas, if he had underſtood our Saviour to have ſpoken here of Oral Manducation, his Anſwer would in all probability have been to this effect, Whatſoever appearance there may be of Inhumanity, Abſurdneſs and Impoſſibility, of eating thy natural Fleſh, and drinking of thy Blood; yet we believe it, becauſe thou haſt ſaid it, who art Truth it ſelf, and who art able to make good thy Words: We therefore hearing nothing of this tendence from him, may conclude, that he knew nothing of this import of them. And, (2.) obſerve, That he thought it ſufficient to ſay, We believe thou art the Chriſt; which, if our Lord ſpake here of Oral Manducation, was nothing to the purpoſe; but if he only ſpake of ſpiritually eating of him, was the very thing which was deſigned by our Lord in this Diſcourſe, and which he ſpake of in thoſe words which ſo much offended others. We therefore conclude with (s) Clemens of Alexandria, That when our Lord ſaid, Eat my Fleſh and drink my Blood, he allegorically meant the drinking of Faith and of the Promiſes; and that our Lord is by way of Allegory to thoſe that believe in him, Meat, and Fleſh, and Nouriſhment, and Bread, and Blood. With (t) Tertullian, That our Lord all along urged his intent by Allegory, calling his Word Fleſh, as being to be hungred after, that we might have Life; auditu devorandus, ruminandus intellectu, & fide digerendus, to be devoured by the Ear, ruminated upon by the Mind, and by Faith digeſted. With (u) Origen, That we

we are said to drink his Blood, when we receive his Words, in which Life consists; that his Flesh is Meat indeed, and his Blood Drink indeed, because he feedeth all Mankind with the Flesh and Blood of his Word as with pure Meat and Drink. With (w) Eusebius, That his Words and Doctrines are Flesh and Blood. With (x) Athanasius, That the Words which Christ spake, were not carnal, but spiritual; for how could his Body have sufficed for Meat, that it should be made the Food of the whole World? With (y) St. Austin, Utquid paras dentes & ventrem? crede & manducâsti, credere enim in eum, hoc est manducare panem vivum. Why provideſt thou Teeth and a Belly? Believe, and thou haſt eaten; for to believe in him, is to eat the living Bread. And, Laſtly, with (z) Jerom, In the trueſt ſenſe, the Body and Blood of Chriſt is the Word and Doctrine of the Scripture; Caro Chriſti & ſanguis ejus in autibus noſtris infunditur, the Fleſh and Blood of Chriſt is poured into our Ears. We ſay in the Language of (a) Origen, Si Filii eſtis Eccleſiæ, — agnoſcite quia figuræ ſunt, — ſi enim ſecundum literam ſequaris; If you are the Sons of the Church, own theſe things to be Figures; for if you follow the Letter, this very Saying, Except you eat the Fleſh, is a killing Letter. In the words of (b) Euſebius pronounced in the Name of Chriſt, Do not think that I ſpeak of that Fleſh with which I am compaſſed, as if you muſt eat of that; neither imagine, that I command you to drink of my ſenſible and bodily Blood, but underſtand well, that the Words that I have ſpoken to you, they are Spirit and Life: For as (c) St. Auſtin ſaith, touching the Expoſition of Scripture Phraſes, If the Saying be preceptive, either forbidding a wicked Action, or commanding that which is good, it is no figurative Speech; but if it ſeems to command any Wickedneſs, or to forbid what is profitable and good, it is figurative. This Saying, Except you eat, &c. ſeems to command a wicked thing; it is therefore a Figure, enjoining to communicate in the Paſſion of our Lord, and ſweetly and profitably remember, that his Fleſh was wounded and crucified for us.

u Ver. 55. For my Fleſh ἀληθῶς ἐστι βρῶσις, is Meat indeed, and my Blood is Drink indeed.] From what hath been ſaid, Note on ver. 53. it appears, This cannot be meant of eating and drinking corporally the Fleſh and Blood of our Lord Jeſus in the Holy Sacrament; it remains therefore, that they muſt here be ſtiled, truly Meat and Drink in the ſpiritual ſenſe, becauſe the eating of this Fleſh by Faith in his ſalutary Paſſion, doth nouriſh the Soul to Life eternal; and the drinking of this Blood by Faith, in the Blood of Chriſt, ſhed for the Remiſſion of our Sins, doth ſo refreſh the Perſon thirſting after Righteouſneſs, that being juſtified by Faith in his Blood, and having the Spirit promiſed to all Believers, conveyed to him as a Fountain of Living Waters, he ſhall thirſt no more, John 4. 14. — 7. 38, 39. Thus in the Scripture Language, a thing is ſaid to be that ἀληθῶς truly, which it is only ſpiritually, or by way of allegory, or reference to ſome Effects which it performeth anſwerable to ſome natural Effects performed by that which it is ſaid truly and indeed to be; ſo our heavenly Treaſure is called τὸ ἀληθινὸν, the true Riches, as making us rich towards God, and being a Treaſure of ſpiritual Wealth never to be taken from us, Luke 16. 11. Thus Chriſt is ſtiled, τὸ φῶς τὸ ἀληθινὸν, the true Light, John 1. 9. becauſe his Doctrine was that to the Underſtanding, which Light is to the Eye, directing us into the way of Life; he alſo is ſtiled ἄμπελος ἀληθινὴ, the true Vine, John 15. 1. as being one who did more certainly refreſh the thirſty Soul, and fill it with ſpiritual Joy, than will the Fruit of the Vine refreſh the thirſty Body, and rejoice the Heart: Thus Heaven is called ἡ σκηνὴ ἡ ἀληθινὴ, the true Tabernacle, Heb. 8. 2. And Chriſt here ſaith of himſelf, ver. 32. I am ὁ ἄρτος ὁ ἀληθινὸς, the true Bread which came down from Heaven, i. e. more nouriſhing and ſtrengthning to the Soul of the Believer than Bread can be to the Body. See Examen Millii.

Ver. 57. And I live by the Father.] How w ſaith Stegmannus, can he be God who lives by the Benefit of another? I anſwer, Even as he can have Life in himſelf, Chap. 5. 26. by the Life of the Father communicated to him with his Eſſence.

Ver. 62. What if you ſee the Son of Man x aſcending where he was before? 'Tis certain, ſaith Stegmannus, this is ſpoken of the Son of Man, and ſo not of a Perſon who is God. But I deny the Conſequence; it being indeed ſpoken of him who was the Son of Man, but not as he was ſo only, but as being alſo the Son of God, his only begotten Son, who is in the Boſom of the Father, John 1. 18.

CHAP. VII.

a AFTER theſe things Jeſus walked in Galilee, for he [a] would not walk in Jury, becauſe (the Rage of the Chief Prieſts and principal Men of) the Jews (was ſuch, that they) ſought to kill him.

2. Now the Jews Feaſt of Tabernacles (kept in remembrance of their living in Tents forty Years in the Wilderneſs,) was at hand.

b 3. His Brethren therefore ſaid to him, Depart hence, and go into Judea, that [b] thy Diſciples (there) alſo may ſee the Works that thou doeſt.

4. For there is no Man who doth any thing in ſecret, and he himſelf ſeeketh to be known openly, if thou (canſt) do theſe things (in truth at any time, and in any place,) ſhew thy ſelf to the (great Men of the) World; (the Sanhedrim, and the Phariſees and Rulers there, that they may be convinced of the Truth. And this they ſaid being deſirous that his Miracles might be tried by them, hoping they would find out the Cheat of them;)

c 5. For neither did [c] his Brethren believe in him, (that he did theſe things in Truth, and for a good end, but for Vain-Glory, ver. 4.)

6. Then Jeſus ſaid to them, my time is not yet come (to go up thither, ver. 8.) but your time is always ready (to go thither without Moleſtation from any Body there.)

7. (For) the World cannot hate you, (who live in conformity to the Manners of it,) but me it hateth, becauſe I teſtifie of it, that the Works thereof are evil;

d 8. [d] Go ye up to this Feaſt; I go not up yet to this Feaſt, for my (fit) time (of going up) is not yet full come.

9. (And) when he had ſaid theſe words to them, he abode ſtill in Galilee;

10. But when his Brethren were gone up, then went he alſo up to the Feaſt, (in Obedience to the Divine Command, but this he did) not openly, (and with Company,) but as it were in ſecret, (as privately as he could, to avoid the Deſigns of them that ſought to kill him, ver. 19.)

11. Then the Jews ſought him at the Feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he?

12. And there was much murmuring (i. e. private Diſcourſe) among the People concerning him; for ſome ſaid, He is a good Man, others ſaid, Nay, but he deceiveth the People, (applying himſelf ſtill to them, and not to the wiſe and great ones.)

13. Howbeit no Man (i. e. none of his Favourers) ſpake openly of him (as of the Chriſt,) for fear of the Jews, (who had decreed that if any Man ſhould confeſs that he was the Chriſt, he ſhould be put out of the Synagogue, chap. 9. 22.)

e 14. Now about the [e] midſt of the Feaſt, (when the Number of the Sacrifices leſſening, the People were more at leiſure to hear,) Jeſus went up into the Temple, and taught;

15. And the Jews marvelled, ſaying, How knoweth this Man Letters (how comes he ſo skilful in the Knowledge of the Scriptures,) having never learned (in the Academies, or from the Scribes?)

16. Jeſus anſwered them, and ſaid, (ye need not admire at this, if ye conſider that) f [f] my Doctrine is not mine, but his that ſent me, (i. e. I did not frame it of my ſelf, but received it immediately from God.)

17. (And) if any Man will (honeſtly reſolve to) do g [g] his Will (made known to him,) he ſhall know of the Doctrine (which I teach) whether it be of God, or whether I ſpeak (only) of my ſelf.

18. (And by this teſt you may diſcern it, for) he that ſpeaketh of himſelf, ſeeketh his own Glory, (and therefore ſpeaketh not thoſe things which he knows will diſguſt, and procure hatred to him from Men;) but he that ſeeketh (only) his Glory that ſent him, the ſame is (a) true (Prophet) and no [h] Unrighteouſneſs (i. e. Falſhood) is in him. h

25. Then ſaid ſome of them of Jeruſalem, (who knew the Deſigns of the Phariſees againſt him,) Is not this he whom they ſeek to kill?

26. But lo he ſpeaketh boldly, and they ſay nothing to him; Do the Rulers know indeed that this is the very Chriſt, (and for this reaſon have they laid aſide that Deſign?

29. But I know him, for I am from him, and he hath ſent me, (and thus I have an Original ye know not of.)

30. Then they ſought to take him, (for aſſuming to be a Teacher ſent from God,) but no Man laid hands on him, (God ſo ordering it) becauſe his hour was not yet come.

31. And many of the People (who had ſeen his Miracles) believed on him, and ſaid, (in juſtification of their Faith,) When Chriſt cometh, will he do more Miracles (to convince us that he is the Chriſt,) than theſe that this Man hath done (to prove himſelf ſo to be?)

32. The Phariſees heard that the People murmured (i. e. ſaid privately) ſuch things concerning him, and (therefore) the Phariſees and the Chief Prieſts ſent Officers to take him.

33. Then ſaid Jeſus (to them that were ſent, ye need not trouble your ſelves to take me, for) yet (but) a little while am I with you, and then I go (again) to him that ſent me.

34. And (then) [p] ye ſhall ſeek me (in your p diſtreſs, Luke 17. 22. See Chap. 8. 21.) and ſhall not find me, and where I (then) am, thither ye cannot come.

35. Then ſaid the Jews among themſelves, Whither will he go, that we ſhall not (be able to) find him? Will he go to [q] the diſ- q perſed among the Gentiles, and teach the Gentiles?

36. What manner of Saying is this, (what other meaning can he have in) that he ſaid, Ye ſhall ſeek me, and ſhall not find me, and where I am, thither ye cannot come?

38. He that believeth on me as the Scripture hath ſaid, (Iſa. 32. 1, 2. — 44. 3. Ezek. 36. 27. ſo ſhall it be with him, for) out of his Belly ſhall flow Rivers of living Waters, (ſpringing up to eternal Life, John 4. 14.)

52. Doth our Law (permit us to) judge (and condemn) any Man before it hear him (making his defence,) and know what he doth (worthy of Condemnation?)

52. They anſwered, and ſaid to him, Art thou alſo (an Abettor) of (thoſe of) Galilee, (as by thy Actions thou ſeemeſt to be?) Search, and look, for (by ſo doing thou wilt find, that) x out of Galilee ariſeth no Prophet. x

53. And (when they had ſaid this, they diſſolved the Aſſembly, and) every Man went to his own Houſe.

a Ver. 1. HE would not walk in Judea, becauſe the Jews ſought to kill him.] His time being not yet come he departed thence, inſtructing us by his Example not to irritate Men, or run into Danger without neceſſity, upon preſumption of Divine Protection; but that we are to uſe all lawful means which God hath put into our Hands to avoid them. Only Note, that by departing from Judea into Galilee he declined not the end of his coming into the World, becauſe in Galilee his Doctrine and Miracles found more Faith than in Judea, ſo that he choſe to be moſt there, where his Doctrine was like to do moſt good. Note alſo, that to walk when it relates to Places or Perſons, ſignifies to tarry there or with them for a time; as his Diſciples walked no more with him, John 6. 66. See Chap. 11. 54. When it relates to Things or Actions, it ſignifies to be often doing them, or converſant about them, as to walk after their Covetouſneſs, to walk in Malice, &c.

b Ver. 3. That thy Diſciples alſo may ſee the Works that thou doeſt.] Either that thy Diſciples in Judea may ſee the Works thou doſt in Galilee, or that thy Diſciples in Galilee going up to the Feaſt, and ſeeing thee doing the like Works before the Sanhedrim, who can beſt judge of them, may be the more confirmed in the Faith. For the Galileans received him, having ſeen the Works that he did at Jeruſalem at the Feaſt, chap. 4. 45.

c Ver. 5. For neither did his Brethren believe in him;] i. e. They believed not that he was the Meſſiah, becauſe they ſaw not that Pomp and outward Splendor which they expected from the Meſſiah; or imagining that he ſought to be ἐν παῤῥησίᾳ, a publick Perſon, they conceived that he pretended to do more than indeed he could; as appears from thoſe words, ver. 4. If thou doſt theſe things, ſhew that thou doeſt them where the beſt Judges of thy Actions are. See Additions N° 16. (16)

d Ver. 8. Go ye up to the Feaſt.] You may do this ſecurely at any time, for the Phariſees bear no hatred to you, whereas my Doctrine being oppoſite to their Manners and Affections, may expoſe me to their Rage, I therefore ſhall not yet go up. He would go up in Obedience to the Divine Command, but he would go as privately as he could, to avoid danger, by humane Prudence, when there was no neceſſity of doing it by a miraculous Power. Ἐγὼ οὔπω ἀναβαίνω, I go not up yet to this Feaſt: Here Grotius notes that this particle οὔπω yet, was not originally in the Text, becauſe Porphyry accuſes Chriſt of Inconſtancy and Mutability, ſaith St. (a) Jerom, as ſaying, I go not up to this Feaſt, when afterwards he went; and therefore concludes this Particle was after added by the Chriſtians to avoid the force of his Objection; but this is to accuſe the Chriſtians of adding to, and altering the Scriptures to ſave the Credit of an Heathen, and profeſs'd Enemy to Christianity, as if he could not read negligently, or meet with a deficient or corrupt Latin Copy. 'Tis certain that Chrysostom reads, νυῦ or ὄπω; so did also the Syriack and Arabick Versions, the Alexandrian, and most other Manuscripts, and both the words preceding, and the words following require this reading; Christ saying, ver. 6. my time (of going up) ὄπω πάρεστι, is not yet come; and here, I go not up (yet) unto the Feast, for my time ὄπω πεπλήρωται, is not yet come; where he respects not the time of his Death, as some imagine, for then he should not have gone up to Jerusalem till the time came that he was to suffer there; whereas we find him at this Feast of Tabernacles, ver. 10. and at the Feast of Dedication of the Altar, Chap. 10. 12. He therefore must there speak of his going up to this Feast. See here Examen Millii.

e Ver. 14. Τῆς ἑορτῆς μεσούσης, About the midst of the Feast Jesus went up.] Dr. Pocock informs us, that the Days betwixt those which were ordinary and festival were stiled dies medii, intermediate Days, because some Works might be done in them, which were not lawful on their Feast-Days.

f Ver. 16. My Doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.] If Christ, saith Stegman, had any other Nature besides the Humane, according to which he was the prime Author of his Doctrine, could he have truly said, my Doctrine is not mine? Could one who was the true God deny that he sought his own Glory? Since the true God cannot do otherwise, sure he that thus denies these things which are so proper to God, cannot be God most High.

Answ. To this some answer, That this indeed cannot properly be said of him, super quem alius non est, which is the Distinction put by Justin M. and Irenæus, betwixt God the Father, and the Son, whom they believed to be truly God; viz. that this cannot be said of him who is the Original, and the Fountain of the Deity, and derived his Essence from none, but it may be said of him, who is God of God, as deriving his Divine Essence from the Father, especially when being in the form of God he did not covet to appear as God, but took upon him the form of a Servant. See the Note on Philip. 2. 6. and upon 1 Cor. 8. 5. he acting even when Lord of all things, to the Glory of God the Father, Phil. 2. 11. For thus he speaks of himself as having an Original, according to which the Jews knew who he was, and whence he was, ver. 28. of this Chapter, i. e. saith Stegmannus, of what Parents he was according to the Flesh; and yet, Chap. 8. 14. he saith, ye know not whence I am, and ver. 19. ye neither know me nor my Father; that is, saith the same Stegman, ye know not my divine Excellency; and so both, saith he, are true, but in a diverse manner, they knowing him as to his Earthly Parents, but not as to his Divine Excellency and Descent from Heaven. Why therefore may we not use the like distinction here, viz. that his Doctrine was not his (only,) and yet was his; that he came not to do his own Will, and yet he did it, i. e. he did not do it as he was Man, but yet did do it as he was God as well as Man? Since from this Instance it appears, that truly may be ascribed to him in an higher sense, which he removes from himself, when he speaks of himself as acting here on Earth. Thus he tells his Apostles he was to be no more in the World, but to leave the World, and go to the Father, and even to go away from them, Chap. 16. 7, 28. — 17. 11. And yet he promiseth to be always with them, Matth. 28. 28. and to abide with them for ever, John 14. 16, 23. See the Note on ver. 28. But,

2*dly*, I answer, That Christ by saying these, and the like words, respects himself as a Prophet sent by his Father into the World. Now the very Office of a Prophet requires that he should speak nothing of himself, nor deliver his own Mind and Doctrine, nor seek his own Glory, but should speak all things in the Name, and do all things for the Glory of him that sent him; and to this may be referred most of those Passages of this Gospel which the Socinians urge against the Deity of Christ, they being spoken by him, not to declare by what Power and Wisdom he acted as he was the only begotten Son of God, but to demonstrate he was no false Prophet, that he delivered not a Doctrine invented by himself to get a Name and Reputation to himself, but only taught that Doctrine he had received from his Father, and which tended to advance his Glory: For,

First, To speak of himself in the Scripture Phrase is to speak from his own Heart, and private Motion and Invention, what he had not received from God as the false Prophets did. So Moses saith, Numb. 16. 28. Hereby shall ye know that the Lord hath sent me to do all these things, and that I do them not מלבי of my own Heart, or at my own Will, say all the Targums. And Balaam speaks thus, Numb. 24. 13. If Balak would give me his House full of Silver and Gold, I cannot transgress the Word of the Lord, to do good or evil, מלבי ἀφ' ἑμαυτοῦ, of my self, or as it is Chap. 22. 18. ἐν τῇ διανοίᾳ μου, of my own Mind, of my own Will, saith the Targum; but what the Lord saith, that will I speak. Hence God complains of the false Prophets, that they spake ἀπὸ καρδίας αὐτῶν, from their own Hearts, and not from the Mouth of the Lord, Jer. 23. 16. and τὰ ἐνύπνια τῆς καρδίας αὐτῶν, the Deceits of their own Hearts, ver. 26. Thus to speak from himself here, ver. 17, 18. is oppoſed to ſpeaking from God, and Chap. 8. 28. it ſtands oppoſed to ſpeaking what he was taught by God, in theſe words, I ſpeak not of my ſelf, but as the Father hath taught me, ſo I ſpeak; and Chap. 12. 49. I ſpeak not of my ſelf, but as the Father hath given me Commandment. See alſo Chap. 14. 10. When therefore Chriſt ſaith, my Doctrine is not mine, he ſpeaks not this in reſpect of his own Knowledge, he having in him all the Treaſures of Wiſdom, Coloſ. 2. 3. nor in reſpect of Authority, for he oft ſtiles it his Word, his Commandment; nor in reſpect of his Will, which was always one with that of his Father's; but he only denies that he ſpake as a falſe Prophet, ſaying things of himſelf without Commiſſion from his Father, or running when he had not ſent him, as they did, but as the Baptiſt ſaith of him, ſpake the Words of God. Now what Reaſon can be given, why Chriſt, tho' having in him all the Fulneſs of the Godhead, might not ſay, when upon Earth, he ſpake and acted as a Prophet ſent from God, that he was no falſe Prophet, that he uttered no Doctrine of his own Invention, nor any thing which he had no Commiſſion to ſpeak to them; and that in the delivery of it he ſought not his own Glory, as the falſe Prophets did?

g Ver. 17. If any Man will do his Will, &c.] That is, if he hath an honeſt Heart, prepared to obey the Truth when he is convinced of it, he ſhall know of the Doctrine, i. e. ſhall have means ſufficient to convince him that it is of God.

h Ver. 18. He is true, καὶ ἀδικία ἐν αὐτῷ οὐκ ἔστιν, and there is no Unrighteouſneſs, i. e. no Falſhood in him.] So ἀδικία ſignifies; So οἰκονόμῳ τῆς ἀδικίας, is the falſe Steward, Luke 16. 8. ἀπάτῃ τῆς ἀδικίας, Deceit by Falſhood, is oppoſed to the Love of the Truth, 2 Theſſ. 2. 10. See Note on 1 Cor. 13. 6. So that this ſeems to be the import of theſe words, He is a true Prophet, and no falſe Impoſtor.

i Ver. 19. None of you keep the Law,] i. e. None of you who go about to kill me as a Violator of the Sabbath, that requiring you not to condemn the Innocent, Exod. 23. 7.

k Ver. 21. Καὶ πάντες θαυμάζετε, And ye all wonder;] i. e. Ye do it with Anger and Offence, ver. 23. ταράττεσθε, θορυβεῖσθε, Theophylact. So θαυμάζειν ſignifies, Eccles. 5. 8. when thou ſeeſt the Oppreſſion of the Poor, μὴ θαυμάσῃς, be not troubled, or offended at the matter. And Ecclus. 11. 21. μὴ θαύμαζε ἐν ἔργοις ἁμαρτωλῶν, be not offended at the Works of Sinners. Note alſo that the words διὰ τοῦτο, for this cauſe, are added to this Verſe thus, that you may, or ſo that you will marvel at this, by Chryſoſtom and Theophylact. See Examen Millii in Locum.

Ver. 22, 23. Moſes gave you Circumciſion;] i. e. he continued to you that Rite which began from Abraham, to whom it was commanded that it ſhould be performed τῇ ἡμέρᾳ τῇ ὀγδόῃ, on the eighth Day, Gen. 17. 14. tho' it fell upon the Sabbath, and you accordingly perform it on that Day, and teach that (b) Circumciſion drives out the Sabbath, or makes it lawful to perform Work on that Day, even all things which are neceſſary to be done for the Circumciſion of the Child; and if this be lawful by the Command of Moſes to be done on that Day for the Benefit of a Child, why may it not be lawful, according to Moſes, to do a like work for the Benefit of one of riper Years? l

Ver. 24. Judge not κατ' ὄψιν according to appearance.] i. e. Abſolving them who do theſe Works of Circumciſion, &c. on the Sabbath-Day in Obſervation of a ritual Precept, and condemning me who by healing with a word on that Day, do what is leſs laborious, in Obſervance of the higher Precepts of Charity and Mercy, and then, conſidering that God will have Mercy, and not Sacrifice, you will judge righteous Judgment. See Additions N° 17. m

Ver. 27. But when Chriſt cometh, no Man knoweth whence he is.] This is doubtleſs ſpoken from the vain Traditions of their Rabbins; who owned indeed that their Meſſiah was to be born at Bethlehem, but imagined that he was preſently to be conveyed thence, and concealed till Elias came to anoint him. That this was an ancient Conceit among them, appears not only from the Targum of Jonathan, who on Micah 4. 8. ſaith thus, Thou, O Chriſt, who lyeſt hid for the Sins of the Children of Sion, to thee ſhall the Kingdom come; but alſo from theſe words of (c) Trypho, If Chriſt be born, and is any where, ἄγνως ἔστι, he is unknown, nor hath he any Power till Elias comes to manifeſt him to the World: And hence Juſtin M. ſaith, I know your Maſters ſay that Chriſt is not yet come, and if he be come, οὐ γινώσκεσθαι ὃς ἔστιν, it is not known who he is, p. 336. C. (17) n

Ver. 28. Ye both know me, and ye know whence I am.] Here Stegman the Socinian notes, that what Chriſt grants here, he denies, Chap. 8. 14, 19. ſaying, Ye neither know me, nor whence I am, becauſe in different reſpects, mentioned Note on ver. 16. both are true; when then he argues from thoſe words, I came not from my ſelf, Chriſt is not God, becauſe God cannot but come from himſelf, why did he not from theſe words infer in like manner that Chriſt had no Divine Excellence unknown to the Jews? But he conſidered not that to come of himſelf, did only ſignifie to come as a falſe Prophet o without Commission from God, and delivering in his Name a Doctrine he received not from him; in which sense, tho' Christ could not come of himself, yet might he say these things of himself as a Prophet here on Earth, tho' he had also in him the fulness of the Godhead.

p Ver. 34. Ye shall seek me (in your distress) and shall not find me.] So have I interpreted this Passage in the Paraphrase, as most Commentators do; yet the precedent words, and the words following, seem to require this sense, I go to my Father, and tho' you should seek me, ye cannot then find me, for you are not fitted to go to Heaven where my Father is.

q Ver. 35. Will he go εἰς τὴν διασπορὰν ἑλλήνων, to the dispersed among the Gentiles? &c.] 'Tis matter of Dispute what is here meant by the Dispersion of the Greeks, some understanding by this Phrase, the Dispersion of the Jews among the Greeks in Asia and Europe, as the διασπορὰ Ποντῦ, the Dispersion of Pontus and Galatia, 1 Pet. 1. 1. is the Dispersion of the Jews in those places, because the word Dispersion is not thought to agree well with the Gentiles being in their native Soil; but yet there seems a necessity of understanding by this Phrase, the Gentiles dispersed, from the time of Building the Tower of Babel, into divers Nations, Gen. 10. For, (1.) it is not said, will he go to the Dispersion and teach the Jews? but, will he go and teach τὰς ἕλλωας; the Gentiles? which fixes the sense to them. Moreover, this seems here to be said by way of Imputation and Reproach to Christ; whereas it could be no Imputation on him to preach to the Jews to whom he was sent, nor could this seem strange to them, but they thought it unlawful for a Jew to converse with the Uncircumcised, Acts 10. 28. nor could they patiently hear of one sent to preach to the Gentiles, Acts 22. 22. nor is the Phrase in St. Peter parallel, it being not simply διασπορὰ, the Dispersion, but παρεπίδημοι τ διασπορᾶς, the Strangers of the Dispersion of Pontus, &c. See Examen Millii in Locum.

r Ver. 37, 38, 39. Ἐν τῇ ἐσχάτῃ ἡμέρᾳ τῇ μεγάλῃ τ ἑορτῆς· In the last, i. e. the great Day of the Feast, Jesus cried, if any Man thirst let him come to me and drink — This said he of the Spirit.] For Explication of these Verses, observe,

1*st*, That Christ here speaks of the internal Gifts of the Spirit, viz. those of Prophecy, Tongues, of Wisdom, and the Knowledge of all Mysteries, for he speaks of those Gifts of the Holy Spirit which were not yet given, because Jesus was not glorified; he therefore speaks of the Gifts to be received after his Ascension, now they were these internal Gifts. See Note on Heb. 2. 4. 1 John 5. 6.

2*dly*, Observe, that these Gifts of the Spirit are promised under the Metaphor of Waters flowing out of the Belly of Believers, agreeable to the Nature of internal Gifts. So Christ saith to the Samaritan Woman, The Water which I will give will be a Fountain of Water springing up to Life eternal, Chap. 4. 14. So Isai. 32. 1, 2. Behold a King shall reign in Righteousness, and Princes shall rule in Judgment; and a Man shall be as Rivers of Water in a dry place. And Chap. 44. 3. I will pour Water upon him that is thirsty, and Floods upon the dry Grounds; I will pour my Spirit upon thy Seed, and my Spirit upon thy Offspring; that is, saith the Targum, as Waters are given to the thirsty Earth, so will I give my Spirit upon thy Sons. And Ezek. 36. 25, 26, 27. I will pour clean Water upon you, and ye shall be clean; I will put my Spirit בקרבכם in the midst of you, in your Bowels, saith the Targum; whence it is manifest that they must be mistaken who say, the words of Christ are not to be found in the Old Testament, and so interpret his words thus, He that believeth in me (as the Scriptures require him to believe) out of his Belly shall flow Rivers of living Water; whereas that Phrase, καθὼς εἶπεν ἡ γραφὴ, as the Scripture hath said, is never used to express the manner after which a thing is to be done, but always to confirm the Truth and the Authority of the thing mentioned. See v. 42. Rom. 4. 3.—9. 17.—10. 11.—11. 2. Gal. 4. 30. Jam. 2. 8.

3*dly*, Observe that Christ spake thus on the last Day of the Feast of Tabernacles: Now on that Day, say the Jews, they used to compass the Altar seven times with Branches in their Hand, saying some Prayers in which they often repeated the words Hosanna and Hatzlicka, Save now and prosper us; whence that Day was stiled, Hosanna Rabba, or the great Day of the Feast, as here; and as they add, by the Institution of their Prophets Haggai and Zachariah, they then fetch'd Water with great Joy and Pomp from the Fountain of Siloah, and brought it to their Priests, who poured it upon the Altar with the Wine of their Sacrifice, singing these words of Isaiah, Chap. 12. 3. With Joy shall ye draw Water from the Fountain of Salvation; that is, saith the Targum, with Joy shall ye receive a new Doctrine from the Elect of the Just; and whilst they were thus singing, they expected the Holy Spirit should fall upon them, as they said he did on the Prophet Jonas, whilst he was employed in this very Action: They farther say, that there was a place in the Court of the Women, whither they carried these Waters, called Beth-Hasscoavah, the place of drawing, because thence they drew the Holy Spirit. And Lastly, Zachary foretels, that all the Nations should come to Jerusalem at the Feast of Tabernacles, Chap. 14. 16. and in that day, ſaith he, living Waters ſhall go forth from Jeruſalem, ver. 8. And hence we learn why that Day was called the great Day of the Feaſt, and how appoſitely our Lord ſpake to them of receiving the Holy Ghoſt, under the Metaphor of Living, i.e. Fountain Water. See Tremellius here, and Buxtorf. Lex. p. 2298.

s Ver. 39. Οὔπω γὰρ ἦν πνεῦμα.] Many Copies read ἅγιον, and ſome διδόμενον; but I ſuſpect that neither διδόμενον, nor ἅγιον was in the Original; (1.) Becauſe Origen reads ὅπω γὰρ ἦν πνεῦμα, and no more continually. See apud Huet. Tom. 1. p. 299. B. Tom. 2. p. 359. D. 398. C. 422. H. nor is τὸ ἅγιον interpreted by the Syriack or Vulgar. And, (2.) The words foregoing are only theſe, he ſpake περὶ τοῦ πνεύματος, of the Spirit, and ſo thoſe anſwer theſe, the Spirit was not yet.

t Ver. 40. Of a truth this is the Prophet,] In whoſe time the great Effuſion of the Spirit mentioned by Iſaias and Joel, is to be expected.

u Ver. 46. Never Man ſpake like this Man.] Here two things are obſervable; (1.) The Power of Chriſt's Words to change the Frame and Temper of Men's Spirits; for theſe Men came with Hearts alienated from Chriſt, and with intention to carry him to the Chief Prieſts, but return with a great Admiration of his Excellency and Worth. (2.) Here is obſervable, the Honeſty of theſe Men; for they do not return with a pretence that they feared the Multitude, and therefore thought it dangerous to apprehend him, but they ingenuouſly confeſs, they could not prevail with themſelves to apprehend a Perſon whoſe Diſcourſes were ſo holy and divine.

Ver. 48. Have any of the Rulers, or of the Phariſees believed on him?] This is plainly the Popiſh Argument, by which they attempt to prove, That private Men, Laicks, and inferiour Prieſts, are not to be govern'd by their own Sentiments of Chriſt's Doctrine, but muſt ſubmit to their General Councils, and the major part of their Church-Guides: And that it is as ſtrong in the Mouth of the Phariſees againſt Chriſt being the true Meſſiah, as it is in the Mouth of Papiſts againſt Proteſtants; ſee the Sermon following upon this Text. w

Ver. 52. Search and look, for out of Galilee ariſeth no Prophet.] It is wonderful, that not the Multitude only who had heard the Shepherds declaring from an Angel, that Chriſt was born at Bethlehem, Luke 2. 15, 16. and had wondred at the words which had been told them by the Shepherds, ver. 18. ſhould make this Objection, ver. 41. but that the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees, who knew that the wiſe Men went to Bethlehem to worſhip him who was born King of the Jews, ſhould inſiſt upon it. This is an Inſtance of the Power of Prejudice, to ſhut the Eyes againſt the cleareſt Truth. x

CHAP. VIII.

1. JESUS went unto the Mount of Olives.

2. And early in the Morning he came again into the Temple, and all the People came to him, and he ſat down and taught them.

3. And (as he was teaching) the Scribes and Phariſees brought to him a Woman taken in Adultery; and when they had ſet her in the midſt (of the Company,)

4. They ſay to him, Maſter, this Woman (being eſpouſed to an Husband) was taken in Adultery in the very Act.

a 5. [a] Now Moſes in the Law commanded us, (Deut. 22. 23.) that ſuch ſhould be ſtoned; but what ſayeſt thou?

6. This they ſaid, tempting him, (to ſay ſomething in derogation from that Law of Moſes,) that they might have to accuſe him, (of contempt of, or oppoſition to the Law of Moſes;) but Jeſus (knowing that he was no Judge to paſs Sentence on her, and looking upon them as unworthy of an Anſwer, as coming not to learn of, but to enſnare him,) ſtooped down, and with his Finger wrote on the Ground, (making) as though he heard them not.

7. So when (ὡς δὲ, but as) they continued asking him, he lift up himſelf, and ſaid to them, [b] He that is without Sin (in this kind) among you (her Accuſers,) let him firſt caſt b a Stone at her.

8. And again he ſtooped down, and wrote on the Ground, (that they might ſlip away without thinking he took notice of them.)

9. And they which heard (this,) being convicted by their own Conſcience, (and not knowing but that Jeſus might diſcover their Guilt if they ſhould execute this Sentence on her,) went out one by one, beginning at the eldeſt, even to the laſt; and Jeſus was left [c] alone, and the Woman ſtanding in the midſt c (of the People.)

10. When Jeſus had lift up himſelf, and ſaw none (of the Phariſees,) but the Woman (only,) he ſaid to her, Woman, where are thoſe thine Accuſers? hath no Man condemned thee?

11. She ſaid, No Man, Lord: Jeſus ſaid to her, Neither do I (who have no Commiſſion sion to pass Sentence on thee, take upon me to) condemn thee (to die;) go, (and in the fear of Divine Judgment, repent,) and sin no more.

12. Then spake Jesus again, (this Interruption of his Teaching being ended,) to them, d saying, [d] I am (sent to be) the Light of the World; he that followeth me, shall not walk in (the ways of) Darkness, but (obeying my Doctrine) shall have the Light of Life.

13. The Pharisees therefore (then present) said to him, Thou bearest Record of thy self; thy Record (therefore) is not true; (for had God sent thee, he would have given Testimony to thee.)

14. Jesus answered and said to them, e [e] Though I bear Record of my self, yet my Record is true (and certain in it self, tho' it appear not so to you;) for I know whence I came, (viz. from the Father,) and whither I go, (viz. to him again;) but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I go, (and for want of this Knowledge, cannot believe my Record.)

f 15. [f] Ye judge (of me) after the Flesh, (i. e. according to the meanness of my Extraction and Appearance, which is all that you know of me;) I judge no Man (at present; my business being now that of a Prophet, not of a Judge.)

16. And yet if I (at any time do) judge (of you,) my Judgment is true; for I am not alone (in that Judgment,) but I and my Father that sent me (so judge, i. e. I do it by that Spirit of the Father in me, which enables me to discern the inward Temper of your Spirits.)

17. And (whereas you object, that I bear Record of my self, note that) it is also written in your Law, (Deut. 17. 6.) That the Testimony of two Men is true, (i. e. is valid in Causes of the greatest Consequence; and this Evidence of the Truth of my Mission ye have: For,)

g 18. [g] I (whom the Father hath sent) am one that bear witness of my self (that he hath sent me;) and that Father that sent me, (he also) beareth witness of me, (by the Miracles by which he enables me to confirm my Mission.)

19. Then said they to him, Where is (he whom thou stilest) thy Father; Jesus answered, Ye neither know me nor my Father; if ye had known me, (or had a due sense of my spiritual and heavenly Doctrine, and of the Miracles by which it is confirmed,) ye should (would) have known my Father also; (i. e. would have discerned the Divine Power and Wisdom shining in them, and would have had the most perfect Knowledge of his Will.)

20. These words spake Jesus in the Treasury as he taught in the Temple; and (tho' they incensed the Pharisees, yet) no Man laid hands on him, (the Providence of God restraining them,) for (because) his hour was not yet come.

21. Then said Jesus again [h] to them, I h (shortly) go my way, and ye shall seek me (in your Distress, desiring the Messiah would come to deliver you, Luke 17. 22.) and (ye) shall die in your Sins; (for) whither I go, ye cannot come; (being not fitted for the celestial Mansions, or you cannot come to fetch me thence.)

22. Then said the Jews, Will he kill himself, because he saith, whither I go, you cannot come? (Sure, if he be alive, and in Judea, we can reach him.)

23. And he said to them, Ye are from beneath, (and so can think and speak only of earthly things;) I am from above, (and so speak of the things above, whither I am going;) ye are of this World, (and so your Thoughts, Affections, Words and Actions, wholly respect this World;) I am not of this World, (and so my Life and Doctrine suits not with your Temper, nor have you any right apprehensions of my Sayings.)

24. I said therefore to you, (so indisposed to believe and receive my Doctrine,) that ye shall die in your Sins; for [i] if ye believe i not, that I am he (whom God hath sent into the World as your Messiah, or that Prophet which was to come,) ye shall die in your Sins.

25. Then said they to him, Who (then) art thou? And Jesus said to them, Even the same that I said to you [k] from the beginning, k
(viz. one sent of God to reveal his Will to you.)

26. [l] I have many things to say, and to l
judge of you, (which ye will not believe;) but he that sent me (to speak them,) is true; and I speak to the World (only) those things which I have heard of him, (and which therefore must be true.)

27. (But) they understood not that he
[m] spake to them of (his being sent from) the m Father.

28. Then said Jesus to them, When ye have lift up the Son of Man (upon the Cross,) [n] then shall ye know, (some to Conviction, and some to Condemnation,) that I n am he, and that I do nothing of my self, but as my Father hath taught me I speak these things.

29. And (even now) [o] he that sent me is o with me; (and) the Father hath not left me alone, (or deserted me;) for I do always those things that please him.

30. As he spake these words, many (who had seen the Miracles by which he confirmed his Sayings, chap. 7. 31.) believed on him.

31. Then said Jesus to those Jews that believed on him, [p] If ye continue in (obedience p to) my word, then ye are my Disciples indeed.

32. And

a Ver. 5. NOW Moses, in the Law commanded, that such should be stoned.] If she who was taken in Adultery was a married Woman, the Law required she should be put to Death, Levit. 20. 10. Deut. 22. 22. that is, say all the Jews, that she should be strangled; but if she were only a Damsel espoused, the Law saith, she shall be stoned, Deut. 22. 23. whence Interpreters conclude, this Adultress was only espoused. Seld. de Ux. Heb. l. 3. c. 11.

b Ver. 7. He that is without Sin among you, let him cast the first Stone at her.] Christ speaks here, not to the Magistrate, who must do his Office, tho' he himself should not be innocent, but to the Accusers of this Woman before him, to whom it belonged not to pass Sentence on her. Moreover, the Jews say, the Woman was not to be accused of her Husband, nor to be tried by the Waters of Jealousie, if the Husband was guilty of the same Crime: Christ therefore might speak thus to him in the first place, Let him who is to accuse her, and to begin the Execution, if he be free from the like Sin, cast the first Stone at her. Nor is it to be wondred, that all her Accusers having heard this, should depart from her, being convinced by their own Consciences of like Guilt, seeing that was an adulterous Generation, Matth. 12. 39. and the Jews own, that the Adulterous did multiply under the second Temple: And St. Paul speaks thus, even to the Doctors of the Jews, Thou that sayest, a Man should not commit Adultery; dost thou commit Adultery? Rom. 2. 22. See the Note there. And Lastly, Justin M. saith, That Trypho, and other Jews, complied with the Sentiments of their Rabbins, who permitted them τέσσαρας ἢ πέντε ἔχειν γυναῖκας ἕκαστον, to have every one four or five Wives, and said, they sinned not if, after the Example of the Patriarchs, seeing a beautiful Woman, they desired her, and so taught them to commit Adultery. Dial. p. 363, 364.

c Ver. 9. The Woman was left alone.] i. e. Without any of her Accusers; for she stood still in the midst of the People, saith the Text, and the Apostles were then with their Lord.

I come now to vindicate the truth and sincerity of this History from the Censures of the Criticks who suspect it. And,

1*st*, It appears from the Testimony of St. (a) Jerom, That this History was found in multis & Græcis & Latinis Codicibus, in many Greek and Latin Copies of the Gospel of St. John, and therefore was wanting but in few of them. The (b) Apostolical Constitutions acknowledge it, saying, That Christ said to the Woman brought before him by the Elders, Go thy way, οὐδὲ ἐγὼ σε κατακρίνω, neither do I condemn thee. The Greek Code, cited by Cotelerius, saith, These words are not to be found in some Manuscripts nor in Apollinares, ἐν οἷς τοῖς ἀρχαίοις ὅλα κεῖν), but they are entire in the ancient Manuscripts, and that all the Apostles made mention of them in the Constitutions they set forth for the Edification of the Church. Athanasius speaks plainly of it, saying, ἐνταῦθα τὰ περὶ τῆ καταδικασθείσης ἐπὶ μοιχείᾳ, hither must we refer what is spoken of the Woman accused of Adultery. St. (c) Ambrose saith, The Question and Absolution of the Woman, which in the Gospel of St. John was brought to Christ, was always famous in the Church; and St. Austin speaks often of it, and saith, They are Enemies to the Faith who take these words out of the Books, perhaps fearing lest it give Impunity to the Women: And Prosper owns it. Moreover, all the Versions in the Polyglot own this History; it was found in the sixteen MSS. of Stephanus, in the seventeen MSS. of Beza, save one. Nor is it to be doubted, saith Selden, that it was received from Primitive Antiquity in the Copies of the East, as appears from the Harmonies of Tatian and Ammonius of Alexandria, and the Canons thence made. Now this Tatian flourished A. D. 160. that is, sixty Years after the Death of St. John, and made his Harmonies of the Gospels out of the Copies then in use. Ammonius flourished about the Year

Year 230. and did the ſame. And Euſebius of Cæſarea, who flouriſhed about the Year 320. made his ten Canons out of thoſe Harmonies; whence it may eaſily be diſcerned what is contained in all the Goſpels, what in three, what in two, and what in one only: Now the number Eighty ſix in the Canon belonging to St. John, contains this Hiſtory; whence we may certainly conclude, that it was in his Codex.

That it was wanting in ſome few Greek Copies, is not to be wondred, if we conſider that the Sentence of many of the Ancients was ſo ſevere, that they would not admit Adulterers or Adultereſſes into the Church after the longeſt penance, and thought τὸ ἐπὶ μοχθηρίᾳ λέφενλα ὃς ἀποκλεῖναι θέλη, κακὸν οὐκ ἐξαίρειν, that it was no hurt to kill them; for Men of theſe ſevere Opinions might be unwilling to admit this Hiſtory, as St. Auſtin ſaith, quaſi permiſſionem peccandi tribuerit, as thinking it gave a permiſſion to this Sin, by ſaying, Neither do I condemn thee. The Hiſtory which (d) Papias mentions of a Woman ἐπὶ πολλαῖς ἁμαρτίαις διαβληθείσης ἐπὶ τοῦ Κυρίου, accuſed of many Sins before our Lord, or rather by him, ſeems not to be this, but rather that of the Woman of Samaria, this being accuſed but of one, ſhe of many ſuch Sins, and ſo no Inference can be thence made for, or againſt the Truth of this Hiſtory. See F. Simon Crit. Hiſt. l. 1. c. 13. and Dr. Mills in locum.

d Ver. 12. I am the Light of the World.] The Jews ſaid this of the firſt Adam; See Buxt. Lex. Talm. p. 1321. This Chriſt applies to himſelf the ſecond Adam.

e Ver. 14. Though I bear Record of my ſelf, yet my Record is true, becauſe I know whence I came, and whither I go;] i. e. This makes it to me certain, that my Teſtimony of my Miſſion from him is true, though it carry no ſuch force with you, who have no Knowledge of this Matter, till it ſhall appear by my Miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt, that I am indeed gone to the Father, Chap. 16. 10.

f Ver. 15. Ὑμεῖς κατὰ τὰ σάρκα κρίνετε, &c. You judge according to the Fleſh, I judge no Man.] Κρίνω is here put for καταικρίνω, as John 3. 17. ——12. 47. Rom. 2. 1. ——3. 4. —14. 3, 4, 10, 13. 1 Cor. 11. 29, 34. So that the Senſe runs thus, You paſs ſentence on, and condemn me according to your carnal Tempers, I, whilſt I am on Earth, paſs not the Sentence of Condemnation on Men, for I came not to condemn the World.

g Ver. 18. I am one that bear witneſs of my ſelf.] i. e. I in whoſe Life you can find no fault, for which of you convinceth me of Sin? ver. 46. I whoſe Doctrine tends to promote Piety and Holineſs, and to advance the Honour of God, for I do always the things that pleaſe him, ver. 29. Ver. 24. If ye believe not,—ye ſhall die in your Sins,] As wanting that Faith in me which can alone procure the Pardon of them. i

Ver. 25. As I ſaid τὴν ἀρχὴν, from the beginning, or before.] So Gen. 13. 4. Abraham came to the place of the Altar which he had made, τὴν ἀρχὴν, before; Chap. 41. 20. the lean Kine were κατὰ τὴν τὴν ἀρχὴν, as before; and Chap. 43. 18, 20. we came to buy Corn, τὸ τὴν ἀρχὴν, before. See Additions N° 18. Ver. 26. I have many things to ſay, and to judge of you;] i. e. You ſay and judge many things of me, which from my Words and Deeds will appear to be falſe, but I have many things to ſay of you, what you are as to your Manners, and what you will be through the juſt Judgment of God; which, tho' you will not believe, will be found true, for he that ſent me, to ſay them, is true. l

Ver. 27. They underſtood not, ὅτι τὸν πατέρα αὐτοῖς ἔλεγεν, that he ſpake to them of the Father.] So Chap. 6. 71. ἔλεγε τὸν Ἰούδαν, he ſpake of Judas; ſo here, ver. 54. ὃν ὑμεῖς λέγετε ὅτι Θεὸς ὑμῶν ἐστιν, of whom ye ſay that he is your God; and Chap. 9. 19. ὃν ὑμεῖς λέγετε ὅτι τυφλὸς ἐγεννήθη, who ye ſay was born blind. So (e) Plato, ἰατροῦ ὃν σὺ λέγεις, the Phyſician of whom you ſpake, and again, οὐ γὰρ οἴει με τοὺς τὰ βαλλάντια ἀποτέμνοντας λέγειν, you think I ſpeak of thoſe that cut Purſes. m

Ver. 28. Then ſhall ye know that I am he;] i. e. Then ſhall you have ſuch Teſtimonies, by the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt upon my Diſciples, as ſhall be ſufficient to convince you, and ſhall prevail upon many to believe that I am the Chriſt. n

Ver. 29. And he that ſent me is with me.] Yea, ſaith Stegman, that one God, who is the Father, is in me. And why then doth he deny Chriſt to be God? It follows, for I do all thoſe things which pleaſe him. See here the true way to have God always graciouſly preſent with us. o

Ver. 31. If you continue in my Word, then are you my Diſciples indeed;] i. e. Such Diſciples to whom I ſhall ſtill more make known my Doctrine, and on whom I ſhall confer the Life eternal promiſed to them, Matth. 24. 13. Heb. 10. 35, 36. 2 John 8. Rev. 2. 10. p q Ver. 32. And ye shall know the Truth.] Christ thought no general Council, no infallible Judge necessary to the Knowledge of the Truth, but promiseth this to him, who was stedfast in the Faith, and honestly disposed to do what he knew to be his Duty.

r Ver. 33. We never were in Bondage, οὐδενὶ δεδουλεύκαμεν, we never were Servants to any Man.] What! were they not brought out of the Land of Bondage? Does not Nehemiah confess, Behold, ἡμεῖς ἐσμεν σήμερον δοῦλοι, we are Servants this day? And must they not have been then in Bondage to the Egyptians and Babylonians? Or if they spake of their own Age, were they not Tributaries to the Romans? And did they not still clamour against this Tribute, as a Sign of Servitude? See Note on 1 Tim. 6. 2. and Jam. 4. 3. Though therefore they were under the Romans not as Servants, but as Tributaries, yet since they thought, saith (f) Josephus, the Payment of this Tribute did, δουλείαν ἐμφέρειν, bring them into Servitude; they seem not well consistent with themselves, in saying, they never were Servants to any.

s Ver. 34. Πᾶς ὁ ποιῶν τὴν ἁμαρτίαν, Every one that committeth Sin is the Servant of Sin.] That ποιεῖν ἁμαρτίαν is to live, and go on in any course of Sin, tho' our Reason may condemn, and Conscience boggle at it; see Note on 1 John 3. 9. He that doth this, saith Christ, is a Servant of Sin, and in Bondage to it; for when we thus obey Sin in the Lustings of it, then doth it κυριεύειν, Lord it over us, and we become δοῦλοι εἰς ὑπακοὴν, Servants to obey it, Rom. 6. 14, 16. and of what a Man is overcome, of that is he brought in Bondage; and this the very (g) Heathens saw, that the Man that was forced to cry out through the Law of his Members, warring against the Law of his Mind, that he did not the Good that he would, but the Evil that he would not, had lost his Freedom, and was under Servitude, because he could not do as he would, but sinned, tho' he was not willing so to do. See Examen Millii here.

t Ver. 37. Ὁ λόγος ὁ ἐμὸς οὐ χωρεῖ ἐν ὑμῖν, My Word hath no place in you;] i. e. Your corrupt Affections will not permit you to embrace it: So Matth. 19. 11. all Men, οὐ χωροῦσι, cannot receive this Saying. See Note on Chap. 21. 25.

u Ver. 38. I speak what I have seen, ver. 40. what I have heard of my Father;] i. e. what I have learned of my Father abiding in me; for we learn by hearing and seeing.

w Ver. 39. If you were Abraham's Seed, you would do the Works of Abraham.] Christ owns they were Abraham's Seed according to the Flesh, ver. 37. and therefore only denies them to be so as to their Manners, or that resemblance with the Works of Abraham, which would make God own them as his Children, viz. his steady Faith, Rom. 4. 16. and ready Obedience, Heb. 11. 8, 17. by which alone they could obtain the Blessing of Abraham, Gal. 3. 9, 14.

x Ver. 41. We are not born ἐκ πορνείας, of Fornication, we have one Father, even God.] The Prophets representing the Idolaters among the Jews, as Fornicators, and their worshipping other Gods, as their going a whoring from their own God, Lev. 17. 7. Ezek. 23. 30. Hos. 4. 12.—9. 1. when they had brought themselves off from that Sin, they represented the Idolatry of others under that Name. So that their very Treatises of Idolatry bore the Name of זנות (h) Treatises of Whores, or Whoredom; and the Book of Wisdom saith, The Invention of Images was ἀρχὴ πορνείας, the beginning of Whoredom, or Idolatry, Chap. 14. 12. Hence (i) Philo saith, they who introduce many Gods differ nothing τῶν ἐκ τῆς πόρνης ἀποκωθένλων, from those that are born of Whoredom, and so are to be driven from the Congregation, the Law saying, ὁ ἐκ πόρνης, a Bastard shall not enter into the Congregation of the Lord, but they who have the Knowledge of God, υἱοὶ τοῦ Θεοῦ προσαγορεύονται δεόντως, are fitly stiled the Sons of God. And again, The Law, saith he, (k) expels both the Atheist and Polytheist from the Congregation, the first as barren, the second as born of Whoredom, ἄθεος μὲν γὰρ ὁ ἄπαις, πολύθεος δὲ ὁ ἐκ πόρνης. And hence the Jews here, being free from Idolatry, say, they were not born of Whoredom, but were the Children of God, as worshipping one God only, and thinking that on this account God would not impute to them their other Sins. See Note on Jam. 2. 19. But against this Christ here declares they only are to be own'd as the Children of God who do the Works of God.

y Ver. 42. I proceeded forth ἐξῆλθον and came from God,] into the World, being sent by him, and not coming of my self; others are said to be ἐκ τοῦ Θεοῦ, of God, even all that hear his Word, ver. 47. and the Prophets are stiled Men of God in the Old Testament, and his Ministers in the New, 1 Tim. 6. 11. 2 Tim. 3. 17. but though Moses, the Prophets and Apostles were sent of God into the World, it is said of none of them that they did ἐκ τοῦ Θεȣ̃ ἐξελθεῖν, come forth from God; this therefore muſt import ſomething peculiar to Chriſt; it therefore either muſt reſpect the Socinian Gloſs of Chriſt's Aſcent into Heaven, to be inſtructed in his Prophetick Office, and his Deſcent again from thence; which Gloſs I have confuted, Note on Chap. 3. 13. or the Jews Opinion that the Soul of the Meſſiah was created at the beginning of the World, and ſo came down from Heaven to animate his Body, which the Socinians, who deny that Chriſt had any Exiſtence before he was born of the Virgin, cannot approve of, or it muſt import his divine ἔξελυσις, or Original from the Father by the Communication of his Eſſence, or the Union of the Divine λόγȣ to the Humane Nature, which we aſſert. z Ver. 43. Becauſe ȣ̓ δύναδε ἀκȣ́ειν, ye cannot hear my Word;] That is, Men of your Tempers cannot yield Obedience to it. See the fifth import of the Phraſe μὴ δύναδαι, Note on Mark 2. 19. This doubtleſs was the great Sin of the Jews, and ſo they wanted not either natural Power, or Aſſiſtance neceſſary on God's part to do this, but only a moral Power, or a Mind well-diſpoſed to obey his Words.

aa Ver. 44. You are of your Father the Devil;] i. e. by reſembling him in your Actions; for as he is a Son of Abraham, who does the Works of Abraham, ver. 39. ſo is he a Child of the Devil, who doth his Works, 1 John 3. 8, 10. not only out of Ignorance, and Humane Frailty, but from Choice and Affection to, or good liking of them. He was a Murtherer from the beginning, i. e. as ſoon as Man was created, for through the Envy of the Devil Death entered into the World, Wiſd. 2. 24. and ſo came upon all Men, Rom. 5. 12. you by ſeeking my Death, in this reſemble him; He abode not in the Truth, but ſeduced Eve by a Lye; you in like manner therefore believe me not, becauſe I tell you the Truth, ver. 45. which ſhews you have Hearts alien from the Truth, but well affected to Falſhood, as it is with him. Oh how tremendous a thing is it to have the Devil for our Father! How careful therefore ſhould we be to avoid thoſe things which will ſubject us to this vile Relation? viz. Murther, Lying, Hatred of the Truth here, Envy, and Enmity to others, Matth. 13. 29. bitter Zeal, and Strife in the Heart, Jam. 3. 14, 15. Pride, 1 Tim. 3. 16. every cuſtomary Sin 1 John 3. 8.

bb Ibid. For he is a Liar, καὶ ὁ πατὴρ ἀυτȣ̃, and the Father of it.] Some of the Fathers conſtruing theſe words, and the Father of him, hence gathered that the Devil had a Father, and was the Son of ſome ſuperiour evil Spirit; this being the Sentiment not only of the Caſani and Archontici, who held that the God of the Jews was the Father of the Devil, as St. (l) Auſtin ſaith, but alſo of many of the Orthodox, as St. (m) Jerom teſtifies; and (n) Origen leaves it as a thing doubtful; whereas ἀυτȣ̃ here plainly refers to τȣ̃ ψεύδȣς, latent in the words ψεύσης ἐσὶ, of which ſee Examples in Caſaub. exercit. 15. ad Annal. Bar. c. 12. p. 394.

Ver. 46. Which of you convinceth me of Sin?] In a falſe Prophet ſome Marks to diſcern him may eaſily be found, viz. his thirſt after Honour and Applauſe, Covetouſneſs or Falſhood; what of this Nature do you ſee in me, that you do not believe me? cc

Ver. 47. He that is of God;] i. e. Who reſembles him in Holineſs and Goodneſs, and is diſpoſed to do his Will, is ready to receive the Doctrine that comes from him; and 'tis an Evidence that you do not thus reſemble him, nor bear a filial Affection to him, that you receive not his words. dd

Ver. 51. Shall not ſee Death εἰς αἰῶνα, for ever;] But ſhall after Death obtain that Life by which Death ſhall be ſwallowed up in Victory, 1 Cor. 15. 54. 2 Cor. 5. 4. ſo Chriſt expounds himſelf, Chap. 6. 58. ee

Ver. 53. Art thou greater than our Father Abraham who is dead,] as by this Promiſe thou pretendeſt to be? for who can promiſe others ſhall never die, but he who is himſelf to live for ever? See here Examen Millii. ff

Ver. 56. Your Father Abraham rejoiced (or vehemently wiſhed) to ſee my day;] i. e. to know the time when by my coming into the World, the Promiſe made to him, that in his Seed ſhould all the Nations of the Earth be bleſſed, was to be fulfilled. Thus the Days of Noah and Lot are the Times in which they lived, Luke 17. 26. and the Days of the Baptiſt is the time when he appeared, Matth. 11 12. Chriſt therefore here affirms of Abraham, what he had ſaid of others, Luke 10. 24, that many Prophets and Kings deſired to ſee the things which ye ſee, viz. Chriſt come into the World. gg

Ibid. And he ſaw it;] Viz. by the Eye of Faith, as a thing then afar off, to be accompliſhed in future Ages; for of this Salvation the Prophets enquired diligently, ſearching of what time the Spirit which was in them ſpake, when it teſtified of the Sufferings of Chriſt, and the Glories that ſhould follow them, to whom it was revealed, that not to themſelves, but to us, they did miniſter theſe things, &c. 1 Pet. 1. 10, 11, 12. hh ii Ver. 57. Thou art not yet fifty Years old.] There is no cause to wonder why the Jews, who were not solicitous about the Age of Christ, should speak thus of one whose Gravity, Wisdom, and Countenance might perhaps cause them to think him older than truly he was. It was more to be admired that Irenæus should plead Apostolical Tradition for this Jewish Error, especially when we consider that many of the Fathers, viz. Clemens of Alexandria, Strom. l. 1. p. 340. A. Tertullian, adv. Judæos, c. 8. Julius Africanus, apud Hieron. Comment. in Daniel 9. Lactantius, l. 4. c. 10. Orosius, l. 7. c. 10. and divers others, held that our Lord preached but one Year, and suffered in the 15th of Tiberius, and the 30th Year of his Age. Moreover, all Christians agree that our Lord suffered under Pontius Pilate; now he was deposed by Tiberius in the last Year of his Reign, saith Josephus, which demonstrates that our Lord's Sufferings must be past in the 37th Year of his Age. See the Note on Luke 3. 23.

kk Ver. 58. Before Abraham was, I am.] This the Socinians interpret thus, before Abraham is made the Father of many Nations, I am the Messiah; for, say they, πρὶν γένεσθαι doth not signifie, before he was, but, before he was made, as it doth, Chap. 13. 19. Chap. 14. 29. And (2.) Those words ἐγὼ εἰμι is Matth. 24. 5. I am the Christ, or the Messiah, as Mark 14. 62. Luke 21. 8. ἐγὼ εἰμι is Matth. 24. 5. I am the Christ. So the Phrase signifies, say they, here, ver. 24. 28. and Chap. 13. 19. But against this strained Exposition let it be considered,

1*st*, That the whole Series of the Discourse shews that the Opposition is here put, not betwixt Abraham's being the Father of all Nations, and Christ's being the Messiah, but between τὸ γένεσθαι, the Birth of Abraham, and τὸ εἶναι, the Being of Christ. Moreover, the word Abraham, so frequent in the Holy Scripture, doth always signifie his Person, and is never elsewhere used in this mystical sense, in which it imports not his Person, but his Privilege, or rather the Completion of a Promise made to him; it being therefore evident that the Discourse from ver. 55. is of Abraham's Person, it is incongruous here to introduce a mystical sense of the word, which the Jews never thought of, and which had Christ intended, he in all likelihood would have said πρὶν Ἀβραὰμ γένεσθαι Ἀβραάμ, i. e. before the reason of his new Name be accomplished. In Confirmation of this Argument, let it be noted, that the word γένεσθαι signifies as well to be, as to be made. It signifies to be, Matth. 5. 45. John 1. 6. ἐγένετο there was a Man named John, and ver. 30. ἔμπροσθέν μου γέγονε, he was before me, Chap. 20. 27. Acts 7. 38. — 13. 5. and when 'tis used of Persons in the sense of fieri to be made, it signifies to be born, produced, or generated; and so here, before Abraham was made, must be the same as, before he was born. The places cited by the Socinians are doubly impertinent, viz. John 3. 19.—14. 29. (1.) Because πρὸς τὸ γένεσθαι is, before they are; and, (2.) Because they speak not of Persons but only of Things, which were to happen afterwards.

2*dly*, Christ in these words answers the Objection of the Jews, that he being not yet fifty Years old, could not have seen Abraham. Now according to our Interpretation he answers it fully, by saying he was the eternal Logos, Chap. 1. 1. or the Person that said to Moses, I am, Exod. 3. 14. whereas according to the Socinian Comment, his Answer is nothing to the purpose, and was no more true of him than it was of all that heard him, that they were before Abraham, they being all before he was made the Father of all Nations; who therefore can believe our Saviour would, upon this occasion, put them off with such a piece of Sophistry? For as Novatian argues, either Christ lied, and put a Cheat upon them, if being from Abraham, he was not before him, or, he was before him, being the God of Abraham. De Trin. c. 23. To this Stegmannus answers, that this is no Absurdity, it being usual with Christ to answer nothing directly to the Objection of the Jews, to which effect he cites John 7. 20, 21.—12. 23, 25.—14. 23. Luke 13. 23, 24. but very fallaciously, for John 12. 23, 25. there is neither Question, nor Objection; Luke 13. 23, 24. there is a curious Question, but no Objection; John 14. 23. Christ speaks not to the Jews, but to his own Disciples; And John 7. 20. Christ answers to the Question sufficiently, by saying, ver. 23. ἐμοὶ χολᾶτε, are ye full of Choler, or Rage against me? and the People more directly, ver. 25. which made it the less necessary for him so to do. Let Stegman shew, if he can, when Christ answers in this impertinent and illusive manner to the Jews carping at his words as being false, and impossible to be true, with such an Asseveration, Verily, verily, I say to you.

3*dly*. Had this only been Christ's meaning, why do the Jews take up Stones to punish him as a Blasphemer, there being not the least semblance of Blasphemy in the words taken in this sense? They may do it, saith Stegman, because he professed himself the Messiah; for as Blasphemers, so also false Prophets were to be slain. But as they never did attempt to slay, or to accuse him upon this account, though he still owned himself a Prophet sent from God to them, so they themselves testifie they stoned, or attempted to stone him, for this Blasphemy, that being a Man, he made himself God, Chap. 10. 33.

4*thly*, I ask whether our Saviour was willing to be underſtood by the Jews, or not? If not, why did he uſe this ſolemn Preface, Verily, verily I ſay to you? If he would be underſtood, why did he ſpeak unto them in that Language in which they neither did, nor could they underſtand him? for how could they imagine the word Abraham was to be underſtood in ſuch a ſenſe in which they never knew it uſed? In a word, this Interpretation is contrary to all Antiquity, as their Expoſitions in theſe caſes uſe to be; for even the Antenicene Fathers proved that Chriſt was God perfect from the beginning, and no new God, from theſe words. So Iren. l. 4. c. 27. Orig. contr. Celſum, l. 8. p. 386. Tertul. adv. Prax. cap. 22. p. 513. Novatian cap. 23.

As for the Phraſe ἐγὼ εἰμι, I am, let it be noted, that in the other Evangeliſts it is only uſed to ſignifie what the falſe Chriſts would ſay, and ſo can have no other import than I am the Chriſt, but in this Goſpel it ſeems to ſignifie, I am the Son of God; for he that ſaith, I am, ver. 24, 28. is he who had God for his Father, ver. 19. and was ὁν ἐκ ἄνω, from above, ver. 23. and Chap. 13. 19. he that calls them to believe, I am, is he who came from the Father, ver. 1. and was their Lord, ver. 13. and was going to the Father, ver. 3. Now the Rulers of the Jews ſtill accuſed Chriſt of Blaſphemy, and condemned him upon this account, Matth. 26. 65. Luke 22. 70, 71. Thus therefore Chriſt might ſay, I am, and yet be God of God.

2*dly*, Others anſwer with Grotius, That Chriſt here only ſignifies that he was before Abraham in the Decree of God; but, (1.) Chriſt anſwers to the Objection of the Jews, which had no reſpect to the Priority of theſe two Perſons in the Decree of God, but as to actual Exiſtence. (2.) In this ſenſe even Judas, and all the Murtherers of our Lord, might be before Abraham had a Being: And, laſtly, the Arguments produced againſt the former Anſwer conclude as ſtrongly againſt this. See Placæus, Argument 11. a Sect. viceſim. prim. ad finem.

CHAP. IX.

1. AND as Jeſus paſſed by (them, chap. 8. 59.) he ſaw a Man which was blind from his Birth;

2. And his Diſciples asked him, ſaying, Maſter, (Diſeaſes and Imperfections in the a Body being the Fruit of Sin) [a] who did ſin, this Man (in the Womb, or in ſome other Body) or his Parents (at the time of his Conception, ſo as to be the occaſion) that he was born blind?

3. Jeſus anſwered, Neither hath this Man ſinned, nor his Parents, (ſo as to cauſe this Blindneſs in the Child;) but (the Divine Wiſdom hath permitted this to be ſo) that the b (miraculous) [b] Works of God ſhould be made manifeſt in (the Cure of) him.

4. (And having received Power from him c to do theſe mighty Works) [c] I muſt work the Works of him that ſent me while it is day, (i. e. while my time laſts, for) the night (my Paſſion) cometh (ſhortly) when no Man can work.

d 5. [d] As long as I am in the World, I am (to be) the Light of the World, (by giving Light to the Blind, and the Light of the Goſpel to them that ſit in Darkneſs.)

6 (And) when he had thus ſpoken, he e [e] ſpat on the Ground, and made Clay of the Spittle, and he anointed the Eyes of the blind Man with the Clay.

f 7. And ſaid to him, [f] Go waſh in the Pool of Siloam, which is by Interpretation, Sent, (and ſo may put you in mind of him who is ſent to give Light unto the Blind, See Note on Chap. 5. 3.) He went his way therefore (thither,) and waſhed, and came (back) ſeeing.

8. The Neighbours therefore, and they that before had ſeen him, that he was blind, ſaid, Is not this he that (before) ſat [g] and g begged?

9. Some ſaid, This is he, others ſaid, He is like him; but he (himſelf) ſaid, I am he.

10. Therefore ſaid they to him, How were thine Eyes (then) opened?

11. He anſwered and ſaid, A [h] Man that is h called Jeſus made Clay, and anointed mine Eyes, and ſaid to me, Go to the Pool of Siloam, and waſh; and (accordingly) I went and waſhed, and I received (my) ſight.

12. Then ſaid they to him, Where is he? He ſaid, I know not.

13. They brought to the [i] Phariſees him i that aforetime was blind.

14. And it was the Sabbath day when Jeſus made the Clay (mixed with Spittle) and (by it) opened his Eyes.

15. Then again the Phariſees alſo asked him how he had received his Sight; He ſaid to them, He put Clay upon my Eyes, and I waſhed, and do ſee.

16. Therefore ſaid ſome of the Phariſees, [k] This Man is not of God, becauſe he keep- k eth not the Sabbath day; others ſaid, How can a Man that is a Sinner, (not only by violating the reſt of the Sabbath, but alſo by pretending to be of God when he is not) do ſuch Miracles?

Miracles? And there was a Division among them (about him.)

17. They say to the blind Man again, What sayest thou of him, that he hath opened thine Eyes; He said, He is a Prophet.

18. But the (Pharisees among the) Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been Blind, and received his Sight, until they called the Parents of him that had received his Sight;

19. And they asked them, saying, Is this your Son, who ye say was born blind? (if so) how then doth he see?

20. His Parents answered them, and said, We know that this is our Son, and that he was born blind;

l 21. But by [l] what means he now seeth, we know not, or who hath opened his Eyes, we know not; he is of Age, ask him, he shall (will) speak for (Gr. concerning) himself.

22. These words spake his Parents, because they feared the (Rulers of the) Jews, for the Jews had agreed already, that if any Man did confess that he was (the) Christ, he should m be [m] put out of the Synagogue.

23. Therefore said his Parents, He is of Age, ask him; (this Cure being such that to affirm that Jesus had done it, was in effect to own him as that Prophet of whom Isaias had foretold, that he should open the Eyes of the Blind. See the Note on Matth. 11. 5.)

c 24. Then again called they the Man that was blind, and said to him, Give God the Praise (of this Cure, for) we know that this Man is a Sinner, (i. e. a false Prophet, ver. 16.)

n 25. He answered and said, [n] Whether he be a Sinner or no, I know not (Gr. that he is a Sinner I know not) one thing I know, that whereas I was blind, now I see.

26. Then said they to him again, What did he to thee? How opened he thine Eyes?

27. He answered them, I have told you already, and ye did not hear, (i. e. believe me,) wherefore would you hear (it) again, Will ye also be his Disciples?

28. Then reviled they him, saying, Thou art his Disciple, but we are Moses his Disciples;

29. We know that God spake to Moses, but as for this Fellow we know not whence he is:

30. The Man answered and said to them, Why herein is a marvellous thing, that ye know not from whence he is, and yet he hath opened my Eyes, (which is a Demonstration that he acteth by a Power derived from God.)

31. Now we know [o] that God heareth not o Sinners (usurping his Authority, or pretending falsly to come from him;) but if any Man be a Worshipper of God, and doth his Will, him he heareth.

32. Since the World began was it not heard, that [p] any Man opened the Eyes of p one that was born blind.

33. If this Man [q] were not of God, he q could do nothing (of this nature.)

34. They answered, and said to him, Thou wast altogether born in Sins, (being conceived by thy Parents in their Uncleanness,) and dost thou teach us? and they cast him out (of the Court.)

35. Jesus heard that they had cast him out, and when he had found him, he said to him, Dost thou believe on the Son of God, (the Messiah sent by him into the World to be the Saviour of it?)

36. He answered and said, Who is he, Lord, that (knowing him) I might believe on him?

37. And Jesus said to him, [r] Thou hast r both seen him, (or thou both seest him,) and it is he that talketh with thee, (i. e. and beareſt him talking with thee.)

38. And he said, Lord, I believe; and he worshipped him.

39. And Jesus said, For (manifesting the just) Judgment (of God on Men) I am come into this World, (viz.) that they [s] which see s not (i. e. that are rude and simple, and sit in Darkness, but are ready to own their own Blindness, and come to the Light) might see; and that they who (think they) see (already, and therefore shut their Eyes against any farther Light shining to them,) might be made blind, (might have this Light taken from them, and so be left in Darkness.)

40. And some of the Pharisees which were with him, heard these words, and said to him, Are we blind also (in thy Opinion?)

41. Jesus saith to them, [t] If ye were blind t
(i. e. unable to discern who I am; if ye had neither the Law and Prophets to direct you, nor the Light shining in your Eyes, which is the case of the Gentiles,) ye should have no Sin (of Infidelity,) but now ye say we see, (and arrogate to your selves the Knowledge of the Law and Prophets, and are confident you are Guides to the blind, Rom. 2. 19. and yet will not receive the Light which shineth in your Eyes,) therefore your Sin remaineth (inexcusable.)

Annotations on Chap. IX.

a Ver. 2. Τὶς ἥμαρτεν; Who hath sinned, he or his Parents? &c.] Here,

1*st*, It is certain that Christ's Disciples do not enquire whether this Person was born blind for his original Sin, since in that all others, who were born seeing, equalled him in Guilt; and yet they here suppose he might, and the Pharisees say positively, ver. 34. ἐν ἁμαρτίαις ἁμαρτίαις σου ἐγεννήθης ὅλος, thou waſt wholly born in Sins, when as yet they themſelves were equally guilty of original Guilt. Both therefore muſt underſtand this of ſome perſonal, and ſpecial Sin.

2*dly*, It is not hard to conceive what they might intend by the Sin of the Parents, viz. the begetting him in their Uncleanneſs, againſt the Law, Levit. 20. 18. and (a) this was thought to have ſo ill an Influence upon the Child, as to render it obnoxious to Leproſie, or Mutilation, and ſo might be the cauſe of this Perſon's Blindneſs. Whence (b) Philo ſaith, that it was forbidden, that they might not produce ἀτελεῖς γονὰς, imperfect Children. Note,

3*dly*, That the Opinion of the Platoniſts and Pythagoreans concerning the Tranſmigration of Souls from one Body to another, and being put according to their Merit into better or worſe Bodies, had obtained among the Jews, being perhaps derived from thoſe of Alexandria to their Brethren in Judea. To this effect is that Saying of the Author of the Wiſdom of Solomon, that being good he came into a Body undefiled, or free from any notable Infirmity; Chap. 8. 20. (c) Joſephus ſaith, that this Opinion firmly obtained among the Eſſenes, that Souls were immortal, and that they deſcended from the pure Air, ζυμπλέκεσθαι ὥσπερ εἱρκλοῖς τοῖς ζώμασι, to be chained to Bodies. And (d) Philo ſaith, the Air was full of them, and that thoſe which were neareſt to the Earth, καλιασιν ἐνδεθησομένας σώμασι θνητοῖς, deſcending to be tied to mortal Bodies, (e) πολυνοσεμένας ὠθεῖς, return back to Bodies, being deſirous to live in them. And ſo the Apoſtles may be ſuppoſed to enquire here whether our Lord allowed of any of thoſe Sentiments that the Soul of this Man might be put into this imperfect Body for the Puniſhment of what it had done before, whether in, or out of the Body.

b Ver. 3. But that the Works of God might be manifeſted in him;] i. e. Tho' God did not actively concur to render this Man blind, yet in his Wiſdom he thought fit to leave this Imperfection in the Plaſtick Matter unrectified, that he might ſhew his miraculous Power in giving Sight to ſuch a one, his Wiſdom uſing this as a Confirmation of Chriſt's Doctrine, and his Goodneſs in illuminating the Soul and Body of this Man at once, and miniſtring this Motive to others to believe.

c Ver. 4. I muſt work the Works of him that ſent me.] Here, ſaith Stegman, Chriſt ſpeaking of theſe Works, not as his Works, nor ſimply as the Works of God, but of him that ſent him, ſhews that he did them by the Command of another; whereas the true God can be ſubject to the Command of none; and hence he concludes Chriſt is not truly God. To this I anſwer, that Chriſt doth plainly call theſe Works the Works of God, ver. 3. and ſo declares that they were done by a divine Power, which is inſeparable from a divine Eſſence. 2*dly*, Chriſt here ſpeaks in the Perſon of a Prophet ſent from God, which Chriſt was only by virtue of his Humane Nature, and therefore could not here ſpeak of himſelf as God. See the Note on Chap. 7. 16.

Ver. 5. Whilſt I am in the World, I am the Light of the World.] 'Tis uſual with Chriſt, when he hath done his Cures upon the Body, to convert his Speech to thoſe ſpiritual things which were adumbrated by them, and for which cauſe they were done; ſo having given Sight to this blind Man, he ſtiles himſelf the Light of the World, which he was by that Evangelical Doctrine which did illuminate the Minds of Men; and tho' at his Departure from the World, he was no longer ſo by his bodily Preſence, and oral Inſtructions, he ſtill continued ſo to be by the Irradiations of his Holy Spirit, and by the Doctrine of his Apoſtles ſpread throughout the World. See Chap. 1. 9.—8. 2. — 12. 35, 36. d

Ver. 6. He ſpat upon the Ground and made Clay.] The Fathers here ſay that Chriſt, to illuſtrate his miraculous Power, uſed that to anoint the blind Man's Eyes which was the greateſt Impediment to ſeeing, and moſt pernicious to the Eyes, tho' the Jews thought Spittle good for the Eyes, as we now do. Chriſt bids him thus anointed, Go to the Pool of Siloam, and waſh, by this making trial of his Faith, which, had it not produced in him Obedience to this Command, he had not been healed. Laſtly, Chriſt does this on the Sabbath-day, ver. 14. when by the Canons of the Jews, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, It was not lawful to anoint the Eyes with Spittle, to arm his Diſciples againſt that pernicious Doctrine of the Phariſees, that it was not lawful to do Good, or perform Works of Mercy on that day; and this he might the rather do, becauſe he foreſaw what Danger this Superſtition might bring upon the believing Jews, when the days of Vengeance came upon that Nation; whence he exhorts them, to pray their Flight might not be on the Sabbath-day, Matth. 24. 20. e g Ver. 8. Who sat and begged.] Here the Form of begging among the Jews is observable, viz. זכו, deserve, or do thy self good by me; intimating that by Works of Charity, we do good as well to our selves as to others.

h Ver. 11. A Man that was called Jesus.] Had he not had some notice who he was, he would not have so readily obeyed his Commands; now this knowledge of him he might have, either from his Leader, or from Christ's Disciples.

i Ver. 13. They bring him to the Pharisees;] i. e. to the Council, chiefly consisting of that Sect; whence in this Evangelist, the whole Council passeth under the Name of Pharisees, Chap. 1. 24. — 4. 1. — 8. 3. — 11. 46. this they might do, either from Ill-will to Christ, or out of curiosity to know, whether they would own the Person who had done this signal Miracle, to be the very Man of whom Isaias had prophesied, that he should open the Eyes of the Blind. And surely the Providence of God so ordered this, that they might hear from the Mouth of the Blind Man, a Testimony which would either convince them, or render their Unbelief without excuse.

k Ver. 16. This Man is not of God, because he keepeth not the Sabbath;] i. e. He is not sent of God as a Prophet; and yet they themselves own, that a Prophet might do and command things contrary to the Rest required by the Sabbath, and prove this from the Example of Joshua, who commanded, that the Ark should be carried round Jericho, the armed Men going before and after it seven Days; one of which must be a Sabbath, Josh. 6. How then could that which Prophets were by their own Principles allowed to do, prove, that Christ was no Prophet; especially, if we consider, that by these Actions he did not indeed violate the Rest of the Sabbath, but only their corrupt Traditions concerning it?

l Ver. 21. But how he now sees, we know not.] Here his Parents seem to be faulty, (1.) In denying that which they had learned from their Son for fear of the Jews, ver. 22. (2.) By their Ingratitude to Christ, whose kindness to their Son ought to have been thankfully owned and acknowledged by them.

Ver. 22. Ἀποσυνάγωγος γένηται, should be excluded from the Synagogue;] i. e. should lye under the Sentence of Excommunication; either that called Niddai, which only separated him four Cubits from the Society of others, saith (f) Buxtorf, but left him free, saith (*) Lightf. at that distance, either to expound Traditions, or to hear them expounded in the Synagogue; but perhaps not free to joyn with them in Prayers, or giving of Thanks; such a one not being admitted to join with them in their Thanksgivings at their Table: Or else it was that of Cherem, which excluded the excommunicated Person from all Entrance into the Synagogue; this being, saith (g) Leo de Modena, forbidden to be Excommunicated; and to this rather do those Words encline, ver. 34, 35. ἐξέβαλον αὐτὸν, they cast him forth, i. e. out of the place of the Synagogue, and so ἀποσυναγώγους γένεσθε, they shall cast you out of the Synagogues, seems to import, chap. 16. 2. And hence the Primitive Excommunications of the Christians, excluded the Criminal from the Assembly, and from all Communion in sacred Offices for a time, and only gradually admitted him to them. m

Ver. 25. Εἰ ἁμαρτωλός ἐστιν οὐκ οἶδα.] These words I have thus rendred, That he is a Sinner I know not; and this the words following require, in which the blind Man proves by an unanswerable Argument, v. 31. that Christ was not a Sinner; so εἰ doth often signifie, so, do I not know εἰ σήμερον, that to day I am King over Israel? 2 Sam. 19. 22. 1 Kings 1. 51. let Solomon swear εἰ μὴ ἀποκτενεῖ that he will not kill his Servant. See the Notes on Acts 26. 8. 1 Tim. 5. 10. n

Ver. 31. God heareth not Sinners;] i. e. false Prophets who speak from themselves, and yet pretend to come from God; See ver. 16. and 24. for by so doing, he would confirm their Lies, and set his Seal to their false Doctrine. o

Ver. 32. That any Man opened the Eyes of one that was born blind.] They who lose their Sight by a Disease, may be cured; but no Man, no not Moses, or any of the Prophets, ever did or could, without the Assistance of a Divine Power, give Sight to one born blind; whence even the Jews reckon this among the Signs of the Messiah, that he should open the Eyes of the Blind. Midrash. in Psalm 146. 8. p

Ver. 33. If this Man were not of God, he could do nothing.] See here a blind Man, and unlearned, judging more rightly of Divine Things than the whole learned Council of the Pharisees; whence we learn, that we are not always to be led by the Authority of Councils, Popes, or Bishops; and that 'tis not absurd q a 1. VErily, verily, I ſay to you, [a] He that entreth not by the Door into the Sheepfold; (i. e. he who pretends to be a Guide and Ruler of God's Church and People, and owns not the Meſſiah, nor hath Commiſſion from him ſo to do,) but climbeth up ſome other way (to get into it,) the ſame is a Thief and a Robber.

2. But he that entreth in by the Door, is the (a true) Shepherd of the Sheep.

b 3. [b] To him (God) the Porter (or great Keeper of this Sheepfold,) openeth, (giving him his Teſtimony and Commiſſion to feed his Sheep,) and the Sheep hear (and obey) his Voice; and he calleth his own Sheep by name, (hath an exact Knowledge and care of them,) and leadeth them out (to their Paſtures.)

4. And when he putteth forth his own Sheep (to Paſture,) he goeth before them (after the manner of the Eaſtern Shepherds,) and the Sheep follow him; for they know his Voice.

c 5. And a [c] Stranger (who hath no Commiſſion from God, nor teacheth his Word,) will they not follow, but will flee from him; for they know (and approve) not the Voice of Strangers.

6. This Parable ſpake Jeſus to them, (and in reproof of them, as blind Guides, and not true Shepherds, becauſe they rejected him;) but they underſtood not what things they were which he ſpake to them, (i. e. they underſtood not the true import of his Words.)

7. Then ſaid Jeſus to them again, Verily, verily, I ſay to you, [d] I am the Door, (as of the Shepherds, ver. 1. ſo alſo) of the Sheep. d

8. [e] All that ever came before me (pretending to be the Prophet, or the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, or to inſtruct his People when God never ſent them ſo to do,) are (to be accounted as) Thieves and Robbers; but the Sheep (who only know and are obedient to the Voice of God,) did not hear them. e

9. I am the Door (of the Sheep;) if any Man enter in (to the Sheepfold) by (Faith in) me, he ſhall be ſaved (from the Thief and Wolf,) and ſhall go in and out, and find Paſture.

10. The Thief cometh not but for to ſteal and to kill, and to deſtroy; I am come that they (who are my Sheep) might have [f] Life, and that they might have it more abundantly, f ly, (Gr. and that they might have abundance of Pasture, ver. 5.)

g 11. [g] I am the good Shepherd, (and act as) the good Shepherd (who) giveth (or layeth down) his Life for the Sheep.

h 12. But he that is an [h] Hireling and not the Shepherd, (but one) whose own the Sheep are not, seeth the Wolf coming, and leaveth the Sheep, and flyeth (to secure himself;) and (so) the Wolf catcheth (some of) them, and scattereth (the rest of) the Sheep.

13. The Hireling (who regards his own safety and advantage, and not that of the Sheep, fleeth, because he is an Hireling, and careth not for the Sheep.

i 14. I am the good Shepherd, and [i] know (i. e. love) my Sheep, and am known (i. e. beloved) of (those that are) mine.

15. As the Father knoweth me, even so know I the Father; and (out of love and obedience to him) I lay down my Life for the Sheep.

k 16. And [k] other Sheep I have which are not of this Fold, (i. e. the Gentiles;) them also I must bring (into the Fold,) and they shall hear my Voice; and (so of Jew and Gentile) there shall be one Fold, and one Shepherd.

l 17. [l] Therefore doth my Father love me, because I lay down my Life (for the Sheep; and this I do, not that I might continue under the Power of Death; but) that I might take it again, (by a glorious Resurrection.)

18. No Man (by force) taketh it (away)
m from me (before the time,) but (then) [m] I lay it down of my self; I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again, (and rise from the Dead;) this Commandment (i. e. Commission of laying down my Life for the Sheep,) have I received of my Father.

19. There was a Division therefore again among the Jews, because of these Sayings, (which seemed to ascribe to him such power and relation to God as his Father, and spake of his Death and the Conversion of the Gentiles, which things the Jews could not well bear.)

20. And many of them said (with the Pharisees,) He hath a Devil, and is mad, (i. e. he is possessed with a melancholy Spirit, and a Phrensie,) why hear ye him, (or attend to any thing he says?)

21. Others said, These are not (like) the words of him that hath a Devil, (nor are his Works such; for) can a Devil open the Eyes of the Blind?

n 22. And it was at Jerusalem, (and [n] at) the Feast of the Dedication (of the Altar, profaned by Antiochus, 1 Mac. 4. 59. 2 Mac. 10. 8. that Christ spake this,) and it was Winter; (that Feast beginning to be celebrated the 25th of Chisleu, which answers to part of our December.)

23. And Jesus (then) walked in the Temple, [o] in Solomon's Porch? o

24. Then came the Jews round about him, and said to him, How long dost thou make us to doubt? (Gr. hold us in suspence,) if thou be (indeed) the Christ, tell us plainly (that so it is;)

25. Jesus answered them, I (have already) told you, and ye believed not; [p] the Works p that I do in my Father's Name, they bear witness of me (that so I am.)

26. But (notwithstanding) ye believe not, (not through want of Evidence of the Truth, but) [q] because ye are not of my Sheep, (i. e. q of them who are disposed to attend to, and obey my Doctrine,) as I said to you.

27. (For) my Sheep hear my Voice, and I know them (by this, that they obey,) and they follow me.

28. And (therefore) I give to them eternal Life, and they [r] shall never perish; neither r shall any Man (be able to) pluck them out of my Hand.

29. My Father who gave them me, is greater than all (their Adversaries,) and no Man is able to pluck them out of my Father's hand.

30. (Now) [s] I and the Father are one, s
(the Father dwelling in me, and I in him, ver. 38.)

31. Then the Jews took up Stones again to stone him, (as a Blasphemer who made himself equal with God, as they had done before; John 8. 59.)

32. Jesus answered them, Many good Works have I shewed (i. e. before) you from my Father; for which of these Works do you (go about to) stone me?

33. The Jews answered him, saying, For a good Work we stone thee not, but for Blasphemy; and (that is) because that thou being (only) a Man, makest thy self (a) God.

34. Jesus answered them, [t] Is it not written t in your Law, (Psal. 82. 6.) I said, ye are Gods?

35. If he call them Gods, to whom the Word of God came, (Gr. was, i. e. who were God's Prophets, as Moses and Samuel, and his Judges, as Joshua and others, and had the Assistance of his Spirit given them for the performance of those Offices;) and the Scripture cannot be broken, (Gr. dissolved, but what it saith must be true;)

36. Say ye of him whom the Father hath sanctified, (by the Holy Ghost essentially dwelling in, or without measure imparted to him, John 3. 34. and sent into the World, thou blasphemest; because I (after this Unction and Commission to make known his Will to you) said, I am the Son of God?

37. If I do not the Works of my Father, believe me not, (when I say, I and the Father are one, ver. 30.)

38. But if I do, tho' you believe not me, (on account of my own words,) believe (the Teſtimony of) the Works, that ye may know and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him, (and ſo am one with him.)

39. Therefore (upon this repeated Declaration that he was one with the Father,) they ſought again to take (or lay hold on) him; but he (miraculouſly) eſcaped out of their Hands.

40. And went away again beyond Jordan, to the place where John at firſt baptized; and there he abode.

41. And many reſorted to him, and ſaid, John did no Miracle (to confirm his Sayings, as Jeſus doth;) but all things that John ſpake of this Man were true; (and ſo if we believe John's Teſtimony, we muſt own this Perſon as the Son of God, and a much greater Prophet than he was, John 1. 15. — 3. 35.

42. And many believed on him there, (by reaſon of the Teſtimony which John had given to him.) a Ver. 1. HE that entereth by the Door into the Sheepfold, &c.] For the right underſtanding of this Parable, let it be noted:

Firſt, That Chriſt directs this Parable againſt the Scribes and Phariſees to whom he ſpake, Chap. 9. 40. as appears, (1.) From the Pronoun ὑμῖν, which begins this Chapter thus, I ſay to you. And, (2.) From theſe words, ver. 6. This Parable ſpake Jeſus to them. They therefore muſt be the Perſons concerned in the Contents of it. Note therefore,

2*dly*, That theſe Phariſees took upon them to be Guides and Teachers of the People, whence by our Saviour they are repreſented as blind Guides; they alſo held, that others were to receive Authority to teach from their Commiſſion or Ordination to that Office; tho' we find not, that they received any ſuch Authority from God, who rather had appointed the Prieſts Lips to preſerve Knowledge, and the People to ſeek the Law at their Mouths, Mal. 2. 4, 7. and thoſe of the Tribe of Levi, to teach his Judgments to Jacob, and his Law to Iſrael, Deut. 33. 10. even all the Commandments which God had delivered by the hand of Moſes, Levit. 10. 11. And hence Chriſt repreſents them as a Plantation which his Father had not planted, Matth. 15. 13. bids his Diſciples beware of their Doctrine, Matth. 16. 12. they teaching for Doctrines of God the Commandments of Men, and making void the Commandments of God by their Traditions, Matth. 15. 6, 9. their Voice therefore was ſuch as the true Sheep neither would nor ought to hear. Note,

3*dly*, That theſe Scribes and Phariſees believed not in Chriſt, John 7. 48. they neither would enter into the Kingdom of God themſelves, nor ſuffer others to enter into it, Luke 11. 52. and therefore are ſaid to have taken away the Key of Knowledge. Chriſt therefore here pronouncing himſelf the Door both of the Shepherds, ver. 1. and of the Sheep, ver. 6. by which they were to enter into the Sheepfold, informs them, that now that he the great Shepherd of the Sheep was come, they who refuſed to own him, and to teach the Sheep in his Name, according to his Doctrine, and by his Authority, as his Apoſtles, and the Seventy did, had no true Commiſſion to inſtruct them; and that they who ſet up in oppoſition to him, to be the Guides and Teachers of the People, were not only blind, but falſe Guides, and even Thieves and Robbers; the firſt, as taking away what belongs not to them; the ſecond, as deſtroying the Sheep.

Ver. 3. To him (thus entring by the Door) b the Porter (God the great Keeper of the Sheepfold) openeth,] as to one allowed by him to feed his Sheep, and him the Sheep hear and obey, teaching the Doctrine of the Goſpel, and the Kingdom of God to them, in the Name and by the Authority of the great Shepherd of the Sheep: And when this Shepherd by himſelf or others, acting in his Name, and by his Miſſion, leadeth forth his own Sheep, he goes before them after the manner of the Eaſtern Shepherds, to preſerve them from danger, and to conduct them into wholeſome Paſtures, ver. 4. So did Chriſt and his Shepherds, being τύποι, Examples for the Flock to follow, 1 Pet. 5. 3.

Ver. 5. A Stranger they will not follow:] c And ſuch are all they who do not teach them the Doctrine of the Goſpel in Chriſt's Name, and by his Authority.

Ver. 7. I am the Door of the Sheep.] Ver. 1, d 2. he had repreſented himſelf as the Door of the true Shepherds; here he declares himſelf the Door of the Sheep alſo, ſhewing, that ſince his Advent there is no Entrance into the Church or Kingdom of God, but by Faith in him, and embracing his Doctrine.

Ver. 8. All that ever came before me, are e Thieves and Robbers;] i. e. all that came under pretence of being their King, or their Meſſiah; as Theudas, not he who, ſaith (a) Joſephus, f Ver. 10. Ἵνα ζωὴν ἔχωσι καὶ περισσὸν ἔχωσι, That they might have Life, and have it more abundantly.] Having, saith Grotius, cum eâ vitâ omne genus felicitatis, with Life, all kind of Felicity; but βίος and ζωὴ, signifie not only Life, but that Sustenance by which it is preserved; as when the Widow's Mite is stiled, ὅλον τὸν βίον, her whole Life, Mark 12. 44. So he that takes the nether Millstone to pledge, taketh a Man's Life, Deut. 24. 6. i. e. saith the Chaldee, that which makes his Meat ready to preserve Life; the Necessaries of Life, Targum. Hidros. In Homer it is ἡ πρὸς τὴν ζωὴν παρασκευή, Provision for Life. See Budæus.

g Ver. 11. I am the good Shepherd,] referred to by the Prophets, Isa. 40. 11. Ezek. 34. 23. —37. 24. I am so καλὸς ἔξοχὴν, so as to lay down my Life for the Sheep, and take it up again, ver. 15, 17. which words can agree to no other Shepherd. I grant to Grotius, that the Apostles and their Successors were true Shepherds, and not Mercenaries; but none of them could be the good Shepherd here, or the one Shepherd, ver. 16. viz. the chief Shepherd of the Sheep, 1 Pet. 5. 4. tho' by their Ministry he brought both Jews and Gentiles into his Fold after his Resurrection; and they doing this in his Name, and by his Authority and Assistance, he himself is said to do it, ver. 16.

h Ver. 12. The Hireling——fleeth.] The Hireling here is not he who receives Maintenance from his particular Flock; for this he may do by virtue of Christ's Ordinance, 1 Cor. 9. 13, 14. Of this, saith Christ, he is worthy, Luke 10. 7. And much less, he who labours among them, with respect to that Recompence, or Crown of Glory he is to receive, when the chief Shepherd shall appear; but he who is an Intruder, whose the Sheep are not, who intends not their good so much as his own profit; and who in time of danger, flies for his own Safety, not caring tho' the Wolf tear and devour them. Hence also we may learn, that a true Pastor must not desert his Flock in time of Peril, when by his absence they may be brought into great Peril, and by his Presence may be happily preserved from it.

Ver. 14. I know mine, and am known of them;] i. e. I have an intimate Affection for them, and they sincerely love me; for this Phrase signifies, i

First, To approve; Thus the Lord knoweth the Righteous, Psal. 1. ver. the last; and whom he approveth not, he is said not to know, Matth. 7. 23.

2*dly*, To love, and to be kindly affected to; as when God saith to his own People, You have I known, of all the Families of the Earth, Amos 3. 2. If any Man love God, he is known of him, 1 Cor. 8. 3. See Deut. 2. 7.

3*dly*, To preserve and protect; as Psal. 31. 8. Thou hast known my Soul in Adversity; Nah. 1. 7. God is good to them that wait for him, γινώσκων, knowing them that fear him.

Ver. 15. See Additions N° 21. (21)

Ver. 16. And other Sheep I have, which are not of this Fold.] He calls the Gentiles Sheep by way of anticipation; because, as many of them as were docile, and fit to receive Instruction, would in time be so; and because the Partition-wall betwixt Jew and Gentile was to be broken, and the Gentiles to be admitted to the same Privileges with the believing Jews, he says, They shall be one Sheepfold. k

Ver. 17. Therefore the Father loveth me;] because out of obedience to him, and love to the Sheep, I lay down my Life for them; which I have good reason to do, seeing I am sure so soon to take it up again: This seems to be the sense of the words. Note also, that if we respect the Council of God and the Design of Christ, nothing is more certain than that Christ gave himself a Ransom for all, 1 Tim. 2. 6. and tasted Death for every Man, Heb. 2. 9. and was a propitiation for the Sins of the whole World, 1 John 2. 2. and that the Father so loved the World as that he sent his Son into it, that the World might be saved by him, chap. 3. 16, 17. But because the World can no otherwise obtain this Salvation than by believing in him, and obeying the Voice of this Shepherd, therefore he is said to do this more eminently for his Sheep. l

Ver. 18. Ἐγὼ τίθημι αὐτὸν, I lay it down.] Grotius having hinted, Note on ver. 11. that τίθεσθαι ψυχὴν, to lay down the Life, signifies only to expose it to danger, or put our Lives in our hands, as the Phrase is, Judg. 12. 3. 1 Sam. 28. 21. He saith also, that πάλιν λαβεῖν αὐτὸν, to take it again, is to rescue it from danger; but this is a very forced Exposition: For, m

Firſt, This Phraſe τίθεσθαι τὴν ψυχὴν, to lay down the Life, being abſolutely put, is only uſed in the New Teſtament, and there only by this Apoſtle; and it always ſignifies to die, or to give the Life to Death; as when St. Peter ſaith, τὴν ψυχήν μου θήσω, I will lay down my Life for thee, chap. 13. 37, 38. When Chriſt ſaith, chap. 15. 13. Greater love than this hath no Man, than ἵνα τις τὴν ψυχὴν αὐτοῦ θῇ, that one ſhould lay down his Life for his Friend. And the beloved Diſciple, 1 John 3. 16. argues thus, If he τὴν ψυχὴν ἔθηκε, laid down his Life for us, we ought τὰς ψυχὰς τιθέναι, to lay down our Lives for the Brethren. And ſurely, when Chriſt ſaith here, τὴν ψυχήν μου τίθημι, I lay down my Life for my Sheep, he meant not only, that he would expoſe himſelf to danger, but that he would ſuffer Death for them; when therefore he ſaith in the ſame place, I have power to take it up again, he doubtleſs meant, he had power to raiſe it from Death. Stegman the Socinian ſaith here, That Chriſt here aſcribes this Power to himſelf improperly, becauſe God had promiſed to uſe his Power in raiſing him from the Dead: But, (1.) Is it proper to introduce Chriſt poſitively ſaying, I have what he had not, only becauſe another had that Power? Since he ſays not, I have a Promiſe, but I have ἐξουσίαν, the power to reſtore this Life I lay down. (2.) If we conſider how plainly he had challenged this Power to himſelf, the Power of raiſing up, and quickning whom he would, and that becauſe he had Life in himſelf, chap. 5. 21, 26. and engaged his Word of Truth, both to raiſe up his own Body, chap. 2. 19. and the Bodies of all his Saints, chap. 6. 39, 40, 44, 54. yea, the Bodies of all that were in their Graves, chap. 5. 28, 29. as being the Reſurrection and the Life, chap. 11. 25. we cannot doubt his Power to raiſe his own Body. And, (3.) When he ſaith in the preceding words, No Man taketh my Life from me, but I lay it down of my ſelf, ἐξουσίαν ἔχω, I have power to lay it down; he plainly aſcribes to himſelf a right or power to give up himſelf to the Death: why therefore ſhould not the ſame words immediately following, viz. I have power to take it up again, bear the ſame ſenſe? The little Sophiſms of Stegmannus here, are of no force to the contrary: For, why might not Chriſt's Body die, tho' it was united to an immortal Nature, as well as when it was united to an immortal Soul? Nor do we ſay, that he was dead according to his humane Nature, but only according to his Body; or that the Union of his Body with the Divine Nature, was diſſolved by Death, but only the Union of his Body with his Soul.

Note alſo, that the words following, This Commandment have I received from the Father, reſpect not the raiſing of his Body, but only the laying down his Life, or his dying for the Sheep, as Grotius here notes.

Ver. 22. Ἐγένετο δὲ τὰ ἐγκαίνια, It was at the Feaſt of Dedication; and it was Winter.] The Feaſt of Dedication here mentioned, reſpects not the Dedication of the Temple, made by Solomon, or repaired by Zorobabel; for we read of no Annual Feaſt of Dedication appointed at either of them; but it reſpects the Dedication of the Altar, and Temple, celebrated by Judas Maccabæus; of which we read thus, 1 Macc. 4. 56. So they kept τὸν ἐγκαινισμὸν, the Dedication of the Altar eight days; and ver. 59. Moreover, Judas and his Brethren, and the whole Congregation of Iſrael, ordained, that the Days, ἐγκαινισμοῦ, of the Dedication of the Altar ſhould be kept in their ſeaſon from Year to Year, for the ſpace of eight Days, from the 25th Day of the Month Caſleu, which falls in with our December. See alſo 2 Maccab. 10. 5, — 8. and Joſephus, Antiq. l. 12. c. 11. — This is apparent, becauſe 'tis ſaid, It was Winter; whereas the Dedication of Solomon's Temple was in the ſeventh Month, or in Autumn, 1 Kings 8. 2. of Zorobabel's in the Month Adar, Ezra 6. 15. at the entrance of the Spring, this in December. Moreover, from our Saviour's Preſence at this Feaſt, Grotius well notes, that Feſtival-days in memorial of publick Bleſſings, may piouſly be inſtituted by Perſons in Authority, without a Divine Command. n

Ver. 23. And Jeſus walked in the Porch of Solomon,] in the Porch new built in the ſame place where Solomon erected his: In Summer they walked in the open Air, in Winter under covert. o

Ver. 25. The Works that I do in my Father's Name bear witneſs of me;] i. e. There is no cauſe why you ſhould thus be in ſuſpence concerning me, or hear me plainly ſaying, I am the Meſſiah, ſeeing this appears ſufficiently from my Works. He aſcribes not the Works to himſelf, ſaith Stegmannus, but to his Father; and yet the Text ſaith, ἃ ἐγὼ ποιῶ, the Works which I do, viz. by the Power of the Father dwelling in me, ver. 38. So out of Modeſty he ſpeaks, ſaith Grotius; So as a Prophet, ſay others. p

Ver. 26. You believe not, ὅτι οὐκ, becauſe you are not of my Sheep.] It is evident that Chriſt here gives the Reaſon why they believed not, as elſewhere he doth. So John 8. 43. ye own not my Word, ὅτι becauſe ye cannot bear it; ſee the Note there; and ver. 45. ye believe not, ὅτι becauſe I ſpeak the Truth, i. e. that Truth which is offenſive to you; and ver. 47. διὰ τοῦτο, for this Cauſe you do not hear, i. e. obey my Word, becauſe ye are not of God. And this Obſervation excludes the Evaſion of thoſe who ſay, becauſe, here is not rational, or renders not the Reaſon of q their Unbelief, but only intimates, that it was consequential to their being not his Sheep for the word here render'd because, is not ὅτι, but ὑμεῖς, for ye are not my Sheep; now γὰρ is a rational Particle pointing out the Cause. 2*dly*, The Reason which Christ here assigns of this defect of Faith, is doubtless such as render'd it a great Crime in them; for sure that must be such for which they were to die in their Sins, John 8. 24. 'Tis therefore certain this Unbelief cannot be resolved into any natural Defect of Knowledge on their part, or any Decree or Act of Reprobation on God's part, but into the want of a docile, and well disposed Mind; for were it the same to be one of Christ's Sheep, and to be predestinated to Faith and Salvation, the import of Christ's words must be this, Ye therefore believe not, because ye are not of the Number of the Elect, but of those whom God hath from Eternity rejected. Now, by this account of their Infidelity, Christ would not have accused, but excused the Infidelity of the Jews; for what fault could it be in them, that they did not that, which by reason of this Act of God before they had a Being, they were incapable of doing? Then might they have replied to Christ, We therefore believe not, because God by his Act of Reprobation hath shut the Door of Faith against us, and so our Infidelity is not to be imputed to us, but God.

r Ver. 28. And they shall never perish;] i. e. Through any defect on my part, or by the force of any plucking them out of my Hands: So the Particle καὶ, which is here illative, shews; viz. they therefore shall not perish, for none shall pull them out of my Hand: And this is still more evident from the reason following, My Father is greater than all their Adversaries, and none can pull them out of his Hands: Now his Power and mine is one, and the same. This appears, 3*dly*, From the frequent Exhortations directed to Christ's Sheep, not to fall away from the Grace received, Heb. 12. 15. not to lose what had been wrought in them, 2. Ep. John 8. to those that stand, to take heed they fall not, so as that God will not spare them, Rom. 11. 20, 21. because not continuing in his Goodness, v. 22. Whereas if the Sheep of Christ can no more cease to be so, than a Man whilst living can cease to be a Man, these Exhortations to take care they fall not off from being so, must be as vain, as a Caution to a Man not to outlive his Manhood. Well therefore said Isiodore Peleusiota, no Man can snatch them away by Force and Tyranny, for then they must perish without, and against their own Wills; but this may be done by Deceit and Allurements, διὰ τὴν τῶν αὐτεξουσίων ἀνθρώπων ῥᾳθυμίαν, through the Negligence of Men, who have the freedom of their Wills; for such Men, who by the Allurements of the World, the Flesh, and the Devil, thus cease to obey Christ's Laws, are not snatch'd out of Christ's Hands, but chuse to go from him. Or, 2*dly*, Christ may speak here of Sheep continuing so to the Death, promising to them, that neither Death, nor he that hath the Power of Death, should make them perish for ever, for he would raise them up at the last day.

Ver. 30. Ἐγὼ καὶ ὁ Πατὴρ ἓν ἐσμεν, I and the s Father are one.] That Christ here speaks not of an Unity of Will, and Concord only, appears,

(1*st*,) From the Reason assigned of the Security of the Sheep; the want of Power in any one to snatch them out of the Hands of Christ, because the Father being greater in Power than all, his Power could secure them from all, and so could also Christ, he being one in Power with the Father; for the Foundation of this Argument is not that the Father's Will, but that his Power was above all.

(2*dly*,) From the Inference of the Jews, that by these words he made himself God, and so was guilty of Blasphemy. Now this invidious Charge Christ doth not evade, by saying, He only conspired with the Will of God, as all true Prophets did, but by appealing to the Works, which, saith he, I do by the Power of the Father residing in me, which plainly carries this to an unity of Power, not of Will only; and then the Inference of St. Chrysostom is undeniable, εἰ ὃ ἡ δύναμις αὐτὴ, δῆλον ὅτι καὶ οὐσία, and if the Power be the same, the Essence must be so.

Ver. 34, 35. Is it not written in your Law, t
I have said, ye are Gods? If he called them Gods to whom the Word of God came — say you of him whom the Father hath sanctified, — thou blasphemest, because I said I am the Son of God?] From these words, and from Exod. 21. 6. — 22. 9, 28. where Judges and supreme Magistrates are called Elohim, Stegman gathers, that the Name of God in Scripture doth not always signifie the supreme God, but sometimes only them who have an high Power by God committed to them; amongst whom he places Christ, as having a divine Authority committed to him by the Favour of God; as if I should argue thus, Parents are stiled Gods by (b) Philo, and by the Heathens, therefore the Name of God in Philo, and among the Heathens, is common to the supreme God, and to our Parents. But notwithstanding this, no Parent ever was by Philo, or by the Heathens, distributively, or in the Singular Number, called God; nor is that Name thus given in Scripture ture to any Judge, or ſupreme Governour, as it is often in the New Teſtament attributed to our Saviour Chriſt. And, (2.) When Magiſtrates and Judges are in Scripture called Gods, the Holy Ghoſt ſtill addeth ſomething which excludes them from a true Divinity, as that they ſhall die like Men, Pſal. 82. 6. or that they are Rulers of the People, Exod. 22. 28. Whereas when Chriſt is called God, 'tis either with the addition of ſome Epithet belonging to the ſupreme God, as when he is ſtiled ὁ ἐπὶ πάντων Θεὸς, God over all, Rom. 9. 5. The great God, Tit. 2. 13. ὁ Θεὸς ὁ ἀληθινὸς, the true God, 1 John 5. 20. or with addition of ſome Operation proper to God, as when 'tis ſaid, The Word was God, and all things were made by him, Chap. 1. 1, 2. Stegmannus adds, that if theſe Perſons were not truly Gods, the Scripture falſly called them Gods; to which I anſwer, that they were truly ſo in Title, as being God's Vicegerents upon Earth, but not in Nature, as being only the Miniſters of God, Rom. 13. He adds, they muſt be properly and truly Gods, as being inveſted with divine Power; but here he trifles, for a divine Power may either ſignifie the Power eſſential to God, by which he is enabled to do all things; and to aſcribe this Power to mere Men, is Blaſphemy; or it may only ſignifie a Power of Government, and judging of the Offences done by Men derived from God, and in this ſenſe only is the divine Power aſcribed to Magiſtrates, and ſuch alſo is the Power of Parents over their Children, and of Maſters over their Servants; and yet can it be reaſonably ſaid, that the formal Reaſon of the Deity truly and properly agrees to them? He goes on, and argues againſt the Deity of Chriſt from this Text, thus; (1.) That the Argument of Chriſt hence for a proper Deity, that becauſe Magiſtrates are metaphorically, and by vertue of their Office called Gods, he muſt be truly ſo, muſt be infirm, ſeeing no Argument will hold from the metaphorical to the proper reaſon of the thing. (2.) The Reaſon which Chriſt here aſſigns of this, viz. becauſe the Father had ſanctified him, concerneth not his eternal Generation, nor can it hence be gathered that Chriſt is the ſupreme God, but rather the contrary, for greater is he who ſanctifies, and ſends, than he who is ſanctified, and ſent. And, (3.) Hence, ſaith he, we may learn there was no higher Reaſon of Chriſt's Filiation than this Sanctification, and Miſſion into the World; for then Chriſt would have produced that Reaſon when thus aſſaulted by his Adverſaries, and not, concealing it, have reſted in that Reaſon of his Sanctification, which proves not his true Divinity.

Now to theſe Arguments two Anſwers may be given,

1*ſt*, If by this Sanctification we underſtand the Unction of Chriſt by the Holy Ghoſt, then note, (1.) That the Jewiſh Doctors underſtand not the Pſalmiſt's words, I have ſaid ye are Gods, to be meant of Civil Magiſtrates, but of their Doctors ſitting in the Chair of Moſes, or rather of their Prophets ſent to reveal God's Will to them, to whom alone that Phraſe here uſed properly agrees, they only being the Men, πρὸς ὃς ὁ λόγος Θεοῦ ἐγένετο, to whom the Word of the Lord came. See Note on Luke 3. 2. Note,

2*dly*, That if we underſtand it of their Judges, and ſupreme civil Magiſtrates, yet of them it is certain, that they in difficult Caſes judged by conſulting God's Oracle, the Urim and Thummim, and in making War had ſtill reſort to this Oracle; whence all the Jews were upon pain of Death obliged to hearken to the Sentence of thoſe Judges and of thoſe Prieſts, by whom they did enquire from this Oracle the Mind of God, Deut. 17. 9 —— 12. and as doing preſumptuouſly, when they refuſed ſo to do, ver. 12. which they are only ſaid to do when they oppoſed the Mind of God made known to them, or wilfully rebell'd againſt it, by doing any thing in contempt of the divine Majeſty, and his Authority, Numb. 15. 30. Note, 2*dly*, That it is a received Opinion among the Jews, that even their Civil Governours had a particular Aſſiſtance and Afflatus of the Holy Spirit to fit them for that Employment. So when God choſe ſeventy Elders to manage the Government of the People under Moſes, he put his Spirit on them, and they propheſied, Numb. 11. 17, 25. And when Joſhua was appointed to rule them after Moſes, he is ſaid to be a Man in whom the Spirit was, Numb. 27. 18. and to be full of the Spirit of Wiſdom, becauſe Moſes had laid his Hand upon him, Deut. 34. 9. When Saul was anointed King over Iſrael, the Spirit came upon him, and he propheſied, 1 Sam. 10. 6. 10. And when David by his Sin had cauſed the Holy Spirit to depart from him, he prays not only for the Spirit of Holineſs, but that πνεῦμα ἡγεμονικὸν, the Spirit of Government God had given him might be reſtored, Pſal. 51. 12. and of Solomon, the Targum on 2 Chron. 7. 6. ſaith, God made the Spirit reſt upon him; and when God had rejected Saul, the Spirit of the Lord departed from him, 1 Sam. 16. 14. So that according to this Expoſition, the Argument of Chriſt is to this effect, If they are called Gods, and the Sons of the moſt High in the Scriptures of unqueſtionable Truth, who had the Spirit of Propheſie, Wiſdom and Government, more ſparingly, and only at ſome certain times imparted to them, and that rather to aſſiſt than abide in them, ſay you of him to whom the Father hath given the Spirit without meaſure, John 3. 34. and in whom he ſo abideth eſſentially, that by vertue of him, I am in the Father, and the Fa- ther in me, ἑνότητι καὶ δυνάμει τοῦ πνεύματος, by the Unity and Power of the Spirit, by which I am enabled to perform the Works which are properly Divine, and reveal to you all the hidden Treasures of Wisdom, thou blasphemest, because I said I am the Son of God? So that the Argument of Christ here proceeds from the less to the greater, from the Spirit assisting them by his Gifts, to the Spirit essentially dwelling in him, in which respect, greater is he who sanctifies and sends, than he who is sanctified and sent by virtue of his Original, tho' not by virtue of the Divine Nature, and the Fulness of the Godhead communicated to Christ; for even (c) Filbinger, a very acute Socinian, owns, that since the Spirit of God is the Power of God, Luke 1. 35. he must be God; Quia in Deo nihil est quod non sit Deus, there being nothing in God which is not God.

Answ. 2. The second Answer is, that he here saith the Father had sanctified him, not by reason of the Unction of the Holy Ghost coming down upon him at his Baptism, but because of the Union of the divine Logos to the humane Nature; for Explication of which Answer, Note, (1.) That according to the Tradition of the Ancients received from the beginning of Christianity, it was this Λόγος who appeared to the Patriarchs, and conversed with the Judges and Magistrates of the Jews, and so was literally ὁ λόγος τοῦ Θεοῦ, the essential Word of God, who came to them. Note, (2.) That Christ speaks of a Sanctification precedent to his Mission into the World, and so not of the Unction of the Holy Ghost received when he had been in it thirty Years, but at the Union of the divine Logos with the humane Nature; and then the Argument of Christ will be to this effect, If they were stiled Gods, and the Sons of the most High, to whom this Word only came, and with whom he conversed, can I, who am this very λόγος, be said to blaspheme, in saying, that I am the Son of God? And according to this sense 'tis evident, that Christ does here argue from the sublimest Notion of his Filiation, according to these words of the Reverend Dr. (d) Bull, 'It appears from a due Inspection of the Text, that Christ did not intend 'to say, or prove he was the Son of God, 'as being his Ambassador extraordinarily instructed, and so sent into the World, but on 'a far more excellent account, viz. that before he came into the World, he was with 'God the Father, and so was his true and 'essential Son, as being God of God, partaking of the same Nature, as a Son doth 'with his Father. For 'tis apparent, that 'from the 25th to the 30th verse inclusively, 'Christ so discoursed to the Jews, that they 'still thought he asserted that he was God, 'and therefore, say they, we stone thee, because thou being a Man, makest thy self God, 'ver. 33. viz. by calling God so emphatically, and with such property, his Father, as 'that he was so to him alone, and so that 'he, and his Father were one, ver. 30. Now 'Christ, saith he, does not answer by denying 'either that he was God, or that he ever 'challenged to himself that Dignity, which 'yet seems necessary had he been only Man 'to have been said, to take off this Objection 'of his Blasphemy, but rather seems to argue 'that he was so the Son of God, that he had 'the divine Nature in him.

1*st*, After this manner, If Judges and Magistrates are called Gods, for an imperfect Resemblance, and Participation of the divine Authority, how much more may I be called God, who am the natural Son of God, and am moreover in the most excellent manner authorized by him? For tho' Christ speaks not thus in express words, he not obscurely signifies it by saying, his Father had sanctified him, and sent him into the World; for, (1.) He saith not, me whom God, but whom the Father hath sanctified; declaring he had God for his Father, by virtue of that Sanctification. (2.) He adds, that he was first sanctified, and then sent into the World, signifying thereby that he was the Son of God in Heaven, before he was sent into the World; and so he speaks more plainly to his Disciples, saying, John 16. 28. I came forth from the Father, and came into the World; again, I leave the World, and go to the Father.

The second Argument by which our Lord defends himself, and proves his divine Original, is taken from the divine Operations he performed; for, saith he, ver. 37, 38. If I do not the Works of my Father, believe me not, (when I thus say he is my Father,) but if I do (them,) though ye believe not me, believe the Works, that ye may know and believe that I am in the Father, and the Father in me; as if he should have said, You might have some reason to say I blaspheme, in saying I am so the Son of God, and he is so my Father, as that I and the Father am one, and so as no other Person can stile God Father, or say, he is his Son, if I did not those divine Works which no other Person ever did, and which demonstrate the Father is so in me, as in no other Person; but seeing I do those Works of Omnipotency, which shew I am invested with the same Power with the Father, you have no reason to imagine I blaspheme in saying, I am the Son of God, and therefore call him Father, because the Father is in me, and I and the Father are one.

CHAP. XI.

a 1. NOW a certain Man was ſick, (to wit) [a] Lazarus of Bethany, (which was) the Town of Mary, and her Siſter Martha.

b 2. (And) it was [b] that Mary which anointed the Lord with Ointment, and wiped his Feet with her Hair, (as we ſhall ſhew preſently) whoſe Brother Lazarus was ſick.

3. Therefore his Siſters ſent to him, ſaying, Lord, behold he whom thou loveſt is ſick.

4. When Jeſus heard that, he ſaid, (to his Diſciples) This Sickneſs is not to (a laſting)

c [c] Death, but for the (manifeſtation of the) Glory of God, that the Son of God might be glorified thereby.

5. Now Jeſus loved Martha, and her Siſter, and Lazarus, (which made him the more willing to gratifie his Siſters.)

6. When he had heard therefore that he was ſick, (that God's Glory might be more

d conſpicuous in his Recovery,) he [d] abode two days ſtill in the ſame place where he was.

7. Then after that, ſaith he to his Diſciples, Let us go into Judea again.

8. His Diſciples ſay to him, Maſter, the Jews of late (Gr. but now) ſought to ſtone thee, and goeſt thou thither again?

9. Jeſus anſwered, Are there not twelve hours in the day? If any Man walketh in the day, he ſtumbleth not, becauſe he ſeeth (the Sun, which is) the Light of this World.

10. But if any Man walk in the night, he ſtumbleth, becauſe there is no Light in him; (now my day and hour ſtill laſteth, chap. 9.4. ſo that by my wonted Prudence I ſhall ſtill eſcape their Malice, till the Night of my Paſſion cometh.)

11. Theſe things ſaid he, and after that e he ſaid to them, Our Friend Lazarus [e] ſleepeth, (i. e. is dead) but I go that I may awake him out of (the) ſleep (of Death.)

12. Then ſaid his Diſciples, Lord, if he ſleep, he ſhall do well.

13. Howbeit Jeſus ſpake of his Death, but they thought that he had ſpoken of his taking reſt in ſleep.

14. Then ſaid Jeſus to them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

f 15. And [f] I am glad for your ſakes, that I was not there (before,) to the intent (that through the Miracle of his Reſurrection) ye may believe (more firmly;) nevertheleſs (tho' he be dead) let us go to him.

16. Then ſaid Thomas, who is called Didymus, to his fellow Diſciples, Let us alſo go that we may die with him, (for that we may expect by going thither again, ver. 8.)

17. Then when Jeſus came, he found that he had been in the Grave four days already.

18. Now Bethany was nigh to Jeruſalem, (being only) about fifteen Furlongs off (from it;)

19. And many of the Jews came (thence) to [g] Martha and Mary, to comfort them con- g cerning their Brother.

20. Then Martha, as ſoon as ſhe heard that Jeſus was coming, went and met him, but Mary ſat ſtill in the Houſe.

21. Then ſaid Martha to Jeſus, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my Brother had not died.

22. But (and) [h] I know, that even now h whatſoever thou wilt ask of God, God will give it thee, (tho' it be the raiſing him from the Dead.

23. Jeſus ſaith unto her, Thy Brother [i] ſhall i riſe again.

24. Martha ſaith to him, I know that he ſhall riſe again in the Reſurrection at the laſt day.

25. Jeſus ſaid to her, I am the Reſurrection and the Life, he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet ſhall he live; (and therefore I, who ſhall hereafter raiſe all Perſons to Life, can raiſe him now.)

26. And whoſoever liveth and believeth in me, ſhall never die, (Gr. ſhall not die for ever:) Believeſt thou this?

27. She ſaith to him, Yea, Lord, I believe that thou art the Chriſt, the Son of God, which ſhould come into the World, (of whom we have received by Tradition, that he ſhall raiſe the Dead.)

28. And when ſhe had ſo ſaid, (being ſent by Chriſt to do ſo) ſhe went her way, and called Mary her Siſter ſecretly, ſaying, The Maſter is come, and calleth for thee.

29. As ſoon as ſhe heard that, ſhe aroſe quickly, and came to him.

30. Now Jeſus was not yet come into the Town, but was in that place where Martha met him.

31. The Jews then which were with her in the Houſe, and comforted her, when they ſaw Mary that ſhe roſe up haſtily, and went out, followed her, ſaying, She goeth to the Grave to weep there.

32. Then when Mary was come where Jeſus was, and ſaw him, ſhe fell down at his Feet, ſaying to him, Lord, if thou hadſt been here, my Brother had not died.

33. When Jeſus therefore ſaw her weeping, and the Jews alſo weeping which came with her, he [k] groaned in the (his) Spirit, and k was troubled.

34. And ſaid (to them) [l] Where have ye laid l him? They ſay to him, Lord, come and ſee.

35. (And

35. (And from the abundance of his Affection to him) Jesus wept.

36. Then said the Jews, Behold how he loved him.

37. And some of them said, Could not this Man, who opened the Eyes of the Blind, have caused that even this Man should not have died?

38. Jesus therefore again groaning in himself, cometh to the Grave: It was a Cave, and a Stone lay upon (the Mouth of) it.

39. Jesus (then) said, Take ye away the Stone. Martha, the Sister of him that was dead, saith to him, Lord, by this time he m stinketh, for he hath been dead [m] four days; (and so in likelihood his Body is now corrupted.)

40. Jesus saith to her, Said I not to thee, that if thou wouldst believe, thou shouldst see the Glory of God (manifested in raising him from the Dead.)

41. Then they took away the Stone from the place where the Dead was laid: And Jen sus lifted up his Eyes, and said, [n] Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me, (requesting as thy Prophet, that this Man's Spirit might return unto him.)

42. And I knew that thou hearest me always, but because of the People which stand by I said it, (this) that (owning thee as the Author of this Miracle) they might believe that thou hast sent me.

o 43. And when he had thus spoken, [o] he cried with a loud Voice, Lazarus, come forth;

44. And (then) he that was dead came forth, bound Hand and Feet with grave Clothes, and his Face was bound about with p a Napkin; Jesus saith to them, [p] Loose him, and let him go.

45. Then many of the Jews which came to Mary (to comfort her,) and had seen the things which Jesus did, believed on him.

46. But some of them (who believed not) went their ways to the Pharisees, and told them what things Jesus had done.

47. Then gathered the Chief Priests and Pharisees a Council, saying, What do we? (Why do we suffer this Person to go on without Interruption?) for q this Man doth many q Miracles.

48. If (then) we let him thus alone, all Men will believe in him, and (then) the Romans shall come and take away both our Place and Nation.

49. And one of them, named Caiaphas, being the High-Priest r that (same) Year, r said to them, Ye know nothing at all (of Policy;)

50. Nor consider that it is expedient for us that one Man should die for (the Safety of) the People, and that the whole Nation perish not.

51. And this spake he not (intending any such thing) of himself; s but being High-Priest that Year, (in which Christ was to suffer,) he (spake as one that) prophesied that Jesus should die for that Nation.

52. And (indeed he died) not for that Nation only, but that also he should t gather together in one the Children of God that were scattered abroad (all the World over.) t

53. Then from that day forth they took Counsel together for to put him to Death.

54. Jesus therefore (after this Resolution) u walked no more openly among the Jews, u (till his time was come,) but went thence into a Country near to the Wilderness, into a City called Ephraim, and there continued with his Disciples.

55. And the Jews Passover was nigh at hand, and many went out of the Country up to Jerusalem before the Passover to w purifie w themselves, (either from some Defilement which was to be expiated by Sacrifice, or by reason of some Vow of Nazaritism which was upon them, Acts 21. 23.)

56. Then sought they for Jesus, and spake among themselves as they stood in the Temple, What think ye? (Is it,) that he will not come to the Feast?

57. Now both the Chief Priests and the Pharisees had given a Commandment, That if any Man knew where he was, he should shew it (to them,) that they might take him.

a Ver. 1. [L]Azarus of Bethany, the Town of Mary and Martha;] i. e. in which they dwelt; as Bethsaida is stiled the City of Andrew and Peter, Chap. 1. 44. Grotius here conjectures, that this remarkable History of Lazarus was therefore omitted by St. Matthew, Mark and Luke, because Lazarus was then living when they wrote their Gospels; the last of them writing, saith Theophylact, within fifteen Years after our Lord's Ascension; whereas Tradition saith, (*) that Lazarus lived thirty Years after that he was raised from the Dead: He therefore thinks, they would not publish this History of him in his Life-time, lest they should provoke the Jews to cut him off; whereas, according cording to the earlieſt Computation, St. John wrote his Goſpel thirty two Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion, and ſo after the Death of Lazarus. (2.) The laſt of theſe three Evangeliſts writing but fifteen Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion, might think it needleſs to mention a Miracle concerning a Perſon living ſo near Jeruſalem, where there was ſo great a Fame thereof, and ſo many living Witneſſes to atteſt it. St. John writing this Goſpel, ſay the Ancients, above ſixty Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion, when by the Death of the Perſon, and moſt of the Witneſſes which were preſent at his Reſurrection, the Memory and Fame of it might be much impaired, had great reaſon to perpetuate the Memory of it by this large rehearſal of it.

b Ver. 2. It was that Mary which anointed our Lord with Ointment.] This is by moſt Interpreters, thought to be ſpoken of Mary Magdalen: But, (1.) I find no mention in Scripture of her anointing the Head or Feet, of Jeſus, as this Mary did, Chap. 12. 3. Yea, when St. Luke had ſpoken of a Woman who anointed not our Lord's Head, as this Mary did, but his Feet only, Chap. 7. 46. he proceeds, Chap. 8. to the mention of Mary Magdalen, giving a Character of her, not from what ſhe had done to Chriſt, but from what he had done to her, ſaying, It was that Mary out of which he had caſt ſeven Devils, ver. 2. which alſo is the Character of her in St. Mark, Chap. 16. 9. Nor ſeems it for our Saviour's Honour to have been ſo converſant with one who had been a noted Harlot, tho' ſhe had now repented of that Lewdneſs, or ſuch an ardent Lover of her as he was of this Mary, ver. 5.

It alſo is to be noted, that the Apoſtle mentions this as a thing done, before he ſpeaks of the raiſing of Lazarus; not that it was done before his Reſurrection from the Dead, as appears Chap. 12. 3. but becauſe it was done before he writ his Goſpel, telling us when it was done in the Chapter following.

c Ver. 4. This Sickneſs is not, πρὸς θάνατον, to death;] i. e. Lazarus is permitted to be ſick by the ſpecial Providence of God; not that he deſigns to take him out of the World by Death, as he does other Men, but that the Son of God might be glorified, by ſhewing his Almighty Power in raiſing him from the Dead; by this declaring, that he hath given to the Son to have Life in himſelf, and to quicken whom he will, John 5. 22, 26. and therefore that he could fulfil his Promiſe made to them that believed in him, that he would raiſe them up at the laſt Day, Chap. 6. 39, 40, 44, 54. and ſo Chriſt expounds himſelf, ver. 25, 26.

d Ver. 6. He abode ſtill two days in the ſame place;] not coming to Bethany till Lazarus had been dead four days, ver. 17. not only that the Miracle of his Reſurrection might be the greater, but alſo that all pretence of his being only in a deliquium might be taken away.

Ver. 11. Our Friend Lazarus κεκοίμηται, e ſleepeth.] It is not only the Death of good Men, which is compared to, or ſtiled a ſleep, as v. g. the Death of Moſes, Deut. 31. 16. of David, 2 Sam. 7. 12. Pſal. 3. 13. but the Phraſe is uſed alſo of bad Men, who are ſaid κοιμᾶσθαι κακὸν ὕπνον, to have ſlept their ſleep, Pſal. 76. 5. to ſleep in the Duſt, Dan. 12. 2. and generally of the Kings of Iſrael and Judah, that they ſlept with their Fathers. So the word שכב, he ſlept, is uſed, ſaith Buxtorf, by the Talmudiſts and Rabbins; though ſaith he, it is uſed by them with a particular reſpect to the Bodies of pious Men, whoſe Death is but a ſleep; and perhaps the Ancient Jews might uſe this Metaphor as St. Paul doth, 1 Theſſ. 4. 13. in oppoſition to the Heathens, who having no expectation of the Reſurrection of the Body, ſtiled Death a perpetual Sleep; declaring, they expected to be raiſed out of it as certainly as they roſe from Sleep; and in alluſion to this Metaphor, Chriſt here ſaith, I go, ἐξυπνίζειν αὐτὸν, to awake him out of Sleep, i. e. to raiſe him from the Dead.

Ver. 15. Ἵνα πιστεύσητε, I am glad that I f was not there;] who, had I been preſent, could not have ſeen my Friend languiſhing, or reſiſted the importunity of his Siſters to prevent his Death; but now by raiſing him, after he had been four days dead, ſhall ſo confirm your Faith that I am the Meſſiah, as that you need not doubt of it when I ſuffer Death, as knowing my power to raiſe others, and therefore my own Bodody from the Dead, as I have told you, I both can and will do, Chap. 2. 19.—10. 18.

Ver. 19. Πρὸς τὰς περὶ Μάρθαν καὶ Μαρίαν, g to Martha and Mary,] not to thoſe that were about them, as ſome render the Words; for they could not come to them to comfort them concerning their Brother; and this Uſe of the word περὶ, with an Article prefixed, is very common among the Greeks, in whom οἱ περὶ Πλάτωνα is Plato, οἱ περὶ Πρίαμον, Priamus; οἱ περὶ Φιλλίππον καὶ Ἀλεξάνδρον, Philip and Alexander. See Stephanus Lexicon, and Budæus.

Ver. 22. And now I know, whatſoever thou h wilt ask of God he will give thee.] Here Woltzogenius ſaith, Her Faith was weak, in that ſhe believed not that Chriſt had in himſelf the power of doing this Miracle; and yet 'tis evident, that the raiſing one from the Dead is a demonſtration of a Divine Power, and therefore can reſide in him only who hath the Divine Eſſence reſiding in him. See the Note on Chap. 5. 21. Grotius here alſo ſaith, Her Faith was weak, becauſe ſhe only believed, that Chriſt was prevalent with God, but not that the Fulness of Divine Power resided in him.

i Ver. 23. Thy Brother shall arise:] For, ver. 25. I am the Author of Life, and of the Resurrection, and therefore always can raise whom I will, when I will from the Dead; thou therefore may'st expect from my Promise, that thy Brother should shortly be restored to Life, and not only at the general Resurrection.

k Ver. 33. Ἐνεβριμήσατο τῷ πνεύματι, He groaned,] or was moved in his Spirit; whence we learn, that humane Affections and Commotions are not to be condemned as sinful, if they do not encline us to do any thing repugnant to Piety or Reason, but only to express our Affection to our Friend, or our Compassion to Mankind. See the Note on Luke 22.43.

l Ver. 34. Where have ye laid him?] This he must know, who knew all things, even the secret Thoughts and Affections of Men, Chap. 21. 17. and yet he thus asks, that he might be conducted by them to his Sepulchre, that there might be no semblance of Fraud or Confederacy.

m Ver. 39. Τετάρταῖος γάρ ἐστι, He hath been dead four days;] in which time the Visage of the Dead began to change in those Countries, and all hopes of any return to Life ceased. So Dr. Lightfoot from Maimonides and the Talmudists, They go to the Sepulchres, and visit the Dead for three days, for so long the Spirit wanders about the Sepulchre; but then they certifie of the Dead; for after three days his Countenance is changed.

n Ver. 41, 42. Father, I thank thee that thou hast heard me.] Woltzogenius saith, it follows not from these words, that Christ requested any thing of the Father; God being by an Hebraism, said to hear them to whom he vouchsafeth any benefit, tho' they did not ask it, Psal. 10. 17. Isa. 65. 24. there being no need, that Christ should request that Power which from his Unction he always had residing in him, but only that he should thank the Father for it. But the words following, I know that thou dost hear me always, seem plainly to imply a Request; not indeed that he might receive power to raise Lazarus from the Dead, for that he testifies he had already, Chap. 5. 22, 26. but that this Miracle might be efficacious to confirm the Faith of his Apostles, and to convince the Multitude that he was a Prophet sent from God, and did all things to promote his Glory.

o Ver. 43. He cried with a loud Voice,] that it might appear to all, that even the Dead were subject to his Voice.

p Ver. 44. Loose him, and let him go.] He followed not Christ, that he might not seem to carry him about in triumph with him.

q Ver. 47, 48. This Man doth many Signs, —all Men will believe on him.] For this very cause, that he did so many Miracles, all salutary and tending to the good of Men, and with such Evidence of a Divine Power, as was sufficient to draw all Men to the Faith, they should have owned him as the true Messiah; but fear of the Romans induced them rather to cut him off, and by that very Action they pulled that dreadful Vengeance executed by the Romans, down upon them. This is the just and usual effect of carnal Policy, exalting it self against the Wisdom and the Council of God.

r Ver. 49. High Priest for that Year.] The High Priesthood by God's Institution, was to continue for the term of Life; but when the Power came into the hands of the Romans, they changed them at their pleasure, and so they came to be accounted such by Years; yet because this was done by a Power which they could not resist; and the High Priesthood still continued in the Line of Aaron, Christ himself owns his Power.

s Ver. 51. Because he was the High Priest of that Year, he prophesied, &c.] i. e. in that Year in which Christ was to suffer for the Sins of the World: And he is said to prophesie, not that he designed to foretel that Christ was to suffer upon that account, but because God so over-ruled his Tongue, as that he should speak of the Expedience of procuring our Saviour's Death, in such words as might be accommodated to the design of God in giving up our Saviour to the Death.

t Ver. 52. Ἵνα τέκνα—συναγάγῃ εἰς ἕν, That he might gather together in one the Children of God,] i. e. Believers; for to as many as believed in him, he gave power to become the Sons of God, Chap. 1. 12. But note, that the Gentiles are here called the Sons of God, not that they were so at present, but that they were by Faith to be made such, as our Lord calls them Sheep, who were to hear his Voice, Chap. 10. 16.

u Ver. 54. Jesus walked not openly;] instructing us by his Example, that it is lawful to avoid danger, by giving place to the Fury of the Enemy; and that it is Wisdom to withdraw our selves from it, rather than expose our selves to unnecessary Perils, by abiding within the reach of them who are resolved upon our ruine.

w Ver. 55. Ἵνα ἁγνίσωσιν ἑαυτούς, To purifie themselves:] They who had committed Sins which were to be expiated by Sacrifices, were not obliged to travel instantly to Jerusalem to offer them, but might defer the Oblation to the next Feast, at which they were obliged to be present; and they who entred on the Vow of Nazarites, did usually contrive it so, as that it might conclude at one of those Feasts; and therefore they are said to come to Jerusalem before the Feast, to purifie themselves.

CHAP. XII.

a 1. THen Jeſus [a] ſix Days before the Paſſover, came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, who had been dead, whom he raiſed from the dead.

b 2. There they made a [b] Supper (for him) and Martha ſerved; but Lazarus was one of them that ſat at the Table with him.

c 3. Then [c] took Mary (Siſter to Lazarus,) a pound of Ointment of Spikenard, very coſtly, and anointed the Feet of Jeſus, and wiped his Feet with her Hair; and the Houſe was filled with the Odor of the Ointment.

4. Then ſaith one of his Diſciples (viz.)

d [d] Judas Iſcariot, Simon's Son, which ſhould (who was about to) betray him.

5. Why was not this Ointment ſold for three hundred Pence, and given to the Poor?

6. (And) this he ſaid, not that he cared for the Poor, but becauſe he was a Thief, and had the Bag, (or common Purſe of Chriſt and his Apoſtles,) and bare what was put therein; (and ſo out of ſo great a Sum, could have purloined much to his own uſe.)

7. Then ſaid Jeſus, Let her alone, againſt the day of my burial hath ſhe kept this; (ſhe hath performed this as a fit Ceremony for my Burial, which is nigh at hand.)

e 8. (Nor need ye be thus ſolicitous) for [e] the Poor, (ſince them) ye have always with you, (and whenever you will you may do them good, Mark 14. 7.) but me ye have not always; (and therefore ſhe did well in taking the preſent opportunity of ſhewing her Affection to me.)

9. Much People of the Jews therefore knew that he (to wit, Lazarus) was there; that they came not for Jeſus ſake only, but that they might ſee Lazarus alſo whom he had raiſed from the Dead.

f 10. But [f] the chief Prieſts conſulted, that they might put Lazarus alſo to death.

11. Becauſe that by reaſon of him, many of the Jews went away, and believed on Jeſus.

g 12. [g] On the next day, much People that were come to the Feaſt, when they heard that Jeſus was coming to Jeruſalem, 13. Took Branches of Palm-trees, and went forth to meet him, and cried, Hoſanna, Bleſſed is (he) the King of Iſrael that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14. And Jeſus, when (ſending his Diſciples for him) he had found a young Aſs, ſat thereon, as it is written (of the Meſſiah, Zach. 9. 9.)

15. Fear not Daughter of Sion, behold, thy King cometh ſitting upon an Aſſes Colt.

h 16. Theſe things [h] underſtood not his Diſciples (to be ſpoken of him) at the firſt; but when Jeſus was glorified, then remembred they that theſe things were written of him, and that they had done theſe things to him.

17. The People therefore that was with him, when he called Lazarus out of his Grave, and raiſed him from the Dead, bare record (by their Hoſanna's, that he was the Chriſt.)

18. For this cauſe the People alſo met him, for that they heard that he had done this Miracle.

19. The Phariſees therefore ſaid among themſelves, Perceive ye how ye prevail nothing (by all the oppoſition ye have made againſt him? For) behold the World is gone after him.

20. And there were certain (devout) [i] Greeks i among them, that came up to worſhip at the Feaſt:

21. The ſame came therefore to Philip, who was of Bethſaida in Galilee, (perhaps as to a Perſon known to them, living in Syro-Phœnicia,) and deſired him, ſaying, Sir, we would ſee Jeſus:

22. Philip cometh, and [k] telleth Andrew; k and again, Andrew and Philip told Jeſus;

23. And Jeſus anſwered them, ſaying, The Hour is come that the Son of Man ſhould be [l] glorified (by the Faith of the Gentiles; but l this will chiefly be after his Reſurrection: For,)

24. Verily, verily, I ſay to you, Except a Corn of Wheat fall into the Ground, and die, it abideth alone (without increaſe;) but if it die, it bringeth forth much Fruit; (even ſo, after my Death, ſhall I have much Fruit among the Gentiles, by my Apoſtles ſent to preach to, and to baptize all Nations.)

25. (And in this, my Diſciples muſt be ready to follow my Example; for) he that loveth his Life (ſo as to reject me to preſerve it,) ſhall loſe it; and he that (ſeemingly) hateth his Life in this World, (by cleaving to me with the loſs of it,) ſhall keep it to Life eternal.

26. If (therefore) any Man (will) ſerve me, let him (take up his Croſs and) follow me, and (then) where I am, there ſhall alſo my Servant be; (for) if any Man ſerve me, him will my Father honour (with a Crown of Glory, Rev. 3. 21.)

27. Now is my [m] Soul troubled (at the ap- m prehenſion of what I am to ſuffer;) and what ſhall I ſay? Father, ſave me from this Hour! (this Nature would prompt me to,) but (this I cannot ſay, ſince) for this cauſe came I to this Hour, (that I might die for the Sins of the World:)

28. (I therefore chuſe to ſay.) Father, glorifie thy Name (by this Teſtimony of thy Love to Mankind.) Then came there a Voice from n Heaven, saying, [n] I have both glorified it (by the Miracles done by thee in my Name,) and will glorifie it again (by greater Miracles.)

29. The People therefore that stood by, and heard it, said, That it thundred, (the Voice being attended with Thunder;) others said, (That) an Angel spake to him.

30. Jesus answered, and said (to them,) This Voice came not because of me, (to satisfie me of the Divine Favour, or comfort me against the Agonies of Death,) but for your sake, (that you might believe in me.)

o 31. Now is [o] the Judgment of this World, (i. e. the time when they shall be convinced of Sin, because they believe not in me, John 16. 9.) and of a future Judgment; for) now shall the Prince of this World be cast out (of his Dominions.)

p 32. And if (Gr. when) I be (am) [p] lifted up from the Earth (upon the Cross,) I will draw all Men (i. e. Men of all Nations) to (believe in) me.

33. This he said, signifying what Death he should die.

q 34. The People answered him, [q] We have heard out of the Law, that Christ (and his Kingdom) abideth for ever; and how sayest thou (then, That) the Son of Man must be lifted up (so as to die upon the Cross?) Who is this Son of Man (that must thus die, seeing it thus appeareth by the Law he cannot be the Christ?

35. Then Jesus said to them, Yet a little while (he who) is the Light (of the World is) with you; walk (by the directions of r it) while ye have the Light, lest [r] Darkness come upon you, (and you be led by your blind Guides into the Ditch;) for he that walketh in Darkness, knows not whither he goes.

36. (And that you may thus walk) while ye have Light, believe in the Light, that ye may be (treated, not as Children of Darkness cast out from, but as) the Children of Light (admitted to his Presence, who dwells in the Light, and have the Comforts and the Blessings which belong to them;) these things spake Jesus, and departed, and did hide himself from them.

37. But though he had done so many Miracles before them, (yet) they believed not in him;

s 38. (So) [s] that (by this Infidelity) the Saying (Gr. the Word) of Isaias the Prophet might be (was) fulfilled (in them; or, this Departure was to punish their Blindness and Hardness of Heart, that the word of Esaias the Prophet might be fulfilled in them) which he spake, (saying) Lord, who hath believed our Report? and to whom is the Arm of the Lord revealed?

39. (For) therefore they could not believe, because that (which) Esaias said again, (was verified in them, viz.)

40. [t] He hath blinded their Eyes, and hard- t ned their Hearts, (or, their Eyes are blinded, and their Hearts hardned, see Matth. 13. 14. Acts 28. 27.) that they should not see with their Eyes, nor understand with their Hearts, and be converted, and I should heal them.

41. These things said Esaias (in the Spirit) when he saw his Glory, (viz. the Glory of Christ) and spake of him.

42. Nevertheless, (this Infidelity was not general, for not only among the People) but among [u] the chief Rulers also many believed u on him, but because of the Pharisees they did not (openly) confess him, lest they should be put out of the Synagogue.

43. For they loved the Praise of Men more than the Praise of God; (i. e. they valued their Reputation with Men, more than that Honour which cometh of God only, John 5. 44.)

44. Jesus (therefore) cried and said, He that believeth on me, believeth not [w] on w me (only,) but on him that sent me (also;)

45. And he that seeth me (doing the Works of God,) [x] seeth (also) him that sent x me.

46. I am [y] come a Light into the World, y that whosoever believeth in me, should not abide in Darkness, (or be ignorant of the Way to Happiness.)

47. And if any Man hear my Words, and believe (them) not, [z] I judge him not, (i. e. z
I do not now condemn him,) for I came not to judge (i. e. condemn) the World, but to save the World, (John 3. 17.)

48. He that rejecteth me, and receiveth not my Words, hath one that judgeth him; the Word that I have spoken, the same shall judge him at the last day.

49. For I have not spoken of my self, (without Commission from above) but the Father which sent me, he gave me Commandment, what I should say, and what I should speak.

50. And I know that (Obedience to) his Commandment is (the way to) Life everlasting; whatsoever I speak therefore, even as the Father said to me, so I speak; (and he will surely condemn those who are disobedient to his Word.)

That we are to judge of the Members of the Church, not from the evil lurking in their Hearts, which we cannot diſcern, but from their outward Profeſſion, this qualifying Judas for the Paſſover, if not for the Participation of the Sacrament; And, (3.) That inward Holineſs is not neceſſary to render the Offices belonging to the miniſterial Function valid, and effectual: For Judas preaches Chriſt, and is ſent out to do it with the Power of healing Diſeaſes, and caſting out of Devils, Matth. 10. 1——10. as the Creator of Heaven and Earth, such as were Cornelius and the Treasurer of Queen Candace, for these Persons used to worship God in the Court of the Gentiles, and also to offer Sacrifice to him; that such did come in Solomon's time, and would come afterwards, we learn from his Petition, that their Prayers might be heard which they made in his Temple, 1 Kings 8. 41, 42. that they offered Burnt-Offerings, from Josephus, for when Eleazer the Zealot persuaded the Priests, μηδενὸς ἀλλοφύλου δῶρον ἢ θυσίαν παρασπίζεσθαι, (c) not to receive the Gift, or Offering of any Gentile, this, saith he, was done contrary to the Ancient Custom of the Jews; for the Priests produced Witnesses most tenacious of their Rites, deposing ὅτι πάντες οἱ πρόγονοι τὰς ἀπὸ τῶν ἀλλογλώσσων θυσίας ἀπεδέχοντο, (d) that all their Ancestors received the Sacrifices of other Nations, and thought it absurd that the Jews only should exclude such from worshipping and sacrificing to their God. These Greeks, saith Grotius, seem to have been Syrophœnicians, perhaps dwelling about Tyre and Sidon, and so might easily be acquainted with the Galileans with whom they had Commerce, and with Philip of Bethsaida to whom they came, ver. 21.

k Ver. 22. Philip telleth Andrew,] Because Christ when he sent them forth to preach, forbad them to go into the Coasts of the Gentiles, Matth. 10. 5. and it was then a Controversie among the Jews, whether the Gentiles should be admitted to their Sacra, and so they might doubt whether such uncircumcised Persons were to be admitted to converse with Jesus, and so consult him first before they brought them to him.

l Ver. 23. The Hour is come that the Son of Man should be glorified;] i. e. That he who is contemned by the Jews his own People, to whom he was first sent, should be glorified by the Gentiles.

m Ver. 27. Now is my Soul troubled, &c.] That they might not say that he had no dread of Death, or sense of Pain to render Sufferings distastful to him, and so it was not to be expected that they who were deeply affected with these things should follow his Example; he here shews he had the same natural Concern for these things as others had, only he over-rul'd it by a desire to promote his Father's Glory.

n Ver. 28. I have both glorified it,] by the Resurrection of Lazarus, chap. 11. 4. and by all the other Miracles which I have given in Testimony to thy Mission, chap. 2. 11. and I will glorifie it again by thy Resurrection, and Exaltation to the right Hand of Glory, Acts 3. 13. by the Mission of the Holy Ghost upon the Apostles, the Witnesses of thy Resurrection, John 16. 14. and by giving thee a Name above every Name, Eph. 1. 20, 21. Philip. 2. 9, 10.

o Ver. 31. Now is the Judgment of this World;] i.e. Now shall they of the World be condemned who believe not in me, v. 47. So the word κρίνειν imports, chap. 3. 18, 19. chap. 16. 9. Now is the Prince of this World cast out; so is Satan called, because he had rendred the whole World, except the Jewish Nation, subject to his Idolatrous Worship: See the Notes on 2 Cor. 4. 4. Eph. 2. 2. — 6. 12. and he was eminently cast out by the Christians, when through the Name of Christ they for three Centuries expelled him from the Temples and Altars where he was worshipped, and from the Bodies which he had possessed. See the Preface to the Epistles, §. 18.

p Ver. 32. Ἐὰν ὑψωθῶ, If I be lifted up, I will draw all Men after me.] Ἐὰν here signifies when: So Deut. 7. 1. ἐὰν δὲ εἰσαγάγῃ, when the Lord hath brought you into the Land; Judg. 6. 3. ἐὰν ἔσπειρεν, when the Israelites sowed; ἐὰν πληρωθῶσι, when the number of thy days shall be fulfilled, 2 Sam. 7. 12. Jer. 3. 16. See the Note on Heb. 3. 7. I will draw all Men after me, by the Power of my Resurrection, the Mission of my Spirit, the Excellency of my Doctrine, and the Miracles which shall attend the Preaching of it; I will do what is sufficient to prevail with all Men to believe in me, will actually engage many throughout all the Parts of the World so to do, and render them who do not, inexcusable. The Event shews, that Christ and the Father draw many who come not to him. See chap. 6. 44.

q Ver. 34. We have heard out of the Law that Christ abideth for ever.] That which they had learned from the Prophets, they say they had heard out of the Law, that Word comprehending the whole Scriptures: See chap. 15. 25. This they gathered partly from the Prophets representing Christ's Kingdom as an everlasting Kingdom, Dan. 7. 14. from Ezekiel, saying, chap. 37. 25. My Servant David shall be their King for ever, and of his Government, there shall be no end, Isa. 9. 7. and from his Promise, that he would not fail David, but cause his Seed to endure for ever, Psal. 89. 35, 36. But then these words hinder not the Truth of those things which the same Prophets had foretold, of a Body prepared in which he was to suffer, having his Hands and his Feet pierced, Psalm 22. 18. — 40. 6. of his giving up his Life a Sacrifice for Sin, Isa. 53. 2, 12. or the Messiah's being cut off, Dan. 9. 26. And these Prophets having spoken not only of his Sufferings, but also of his Resurrection, Psal. 41. 10. Acts 3. 24. and of his future Glory, 1 Pet. 1. 11. they might easily, by comparing these things together, together, have removed this Scruple, eſpecially when he ſo oft had told them, and they ſo well remembred, Matth. 27. 63. he had ſaid, that after three days he would riſe again.

r Ver. 35. Leſt Darkneſs come upon you, &c.] As it did in a wonderful manner after the Light of the Goſpel was taken from them, they ſinning then not only againſt all Laws Civil and Sacred, but even againſt the Laws of Nature in the vileſt manner, as Joſephus fully teſtifies: See the Note on Rom. 2. 1. and from our Lord's Exhortation to them here, to walk in the Light, that they may be the Children of the Light, 'tis manifeſt Chriſt thought not God had then ſo blinded their Eyes that they could not ſee, or ſo deſerted them that they could not walk in the Light; for if ſo, he could not ſeriouſly have exhorted them to walk in the Light, much leſs to do it, ſo that they might become the Children of Light; for all Exhortations to do that which 'twas impoſſible for them to do, by reaſon of a judicial Act of God upon them, muſt be not only vain and deluſory, but alſo contrary to the Will of God. If you here ſay, Chriſt's Exhortations muſt be as much in vain, ſuppoſing they had by their vicious Habits contracted ſuch a Blindneſs, that ſeeing they would not ſee, as Scripture ſeems to teſtifie they had: I anſwer, That this follows not, that Blindneſs being not natural, but only moral, ariſing from their Prejudices, and ill Affections to the Light, and ſo might be depoſed with them. And hence we find the Scripture frequently exhorting them who in this moral ſenſe had their Eyes blinded, and their Ears made deaf, to hearken, to believe, and be obedient to the Truth. So Jer. 9. 10. To whom ſhall I ſpeak, and give warning, that they may hear, behold their Ear is uncircumciſed that they cannot hearken; and yet 'tis ſaid, ver. 8. Be thou inſtructed, O Jeruſalem, leſt my Soul depart from thee; and ver. 16. Stand ye in the way, and ſee, and ask for the old Paths, where is the good way, and walk therein, and ye ſhall find Reſt to your Souls. Yea Chriſt himſelf ſaith, John 8. 43. ye cannot hear my words, and yet he adds, that he came into the World, and ſpake unto them that they might be ſaved, Luke 9. 56. John 13. 17, 18. — 5. 34. and reprehends them becauſe they would not come to him that they might have Life, John 5. 40. and that they would not be gathered by him, Luke 13. 34. yea the Evangeliſt here, ver. 37. imputes it to them as their great Sin, that tho' Chriſt had done ſo many Miracles among them, they believed not in him: Yea God himſelf ſtill looks upon them as Perſons who might believe, for this was his Commandment, that they ſhould believe in him, this was the Work which he expected from them, ver. 24.

Ver. 38. That the ſaying of Iſaiah the Prophet might be fulfilled.] Becauſe theſe and the following words ſeem to contain a very ſtrange and uncomfortable Doctrine, viz. that the Infidelity even of God's own People, is to be reſolved not into the Perverſeneſs of their Wills, or the evil Diſpoſitions of their Hearts, but into the divine Predictions, or into a judicial Blindneſs, and Obduration wrought by God upon them, which renders it impoſſible for them to believe; therefore for Explication of them let it be noted, s

1*ſt*, That our Bleſſed Lord in the immediate precedent verſes, viz. 35, 36. doth paſſionately exhort theſe very Perſons to believe, and walk according to the Light, which is a certain Evidence, our Lord well knew his Father had not by any of his Actions, or Predictions, made it impoſſible for them to believe on him, or walk according to his Doctrine; for if God had ſo blinded their Eyes that they could not ſee the Light, or ſo hardned their Hearts that they could not embrace it, Chriſt would not ſeriouſly have exhorted them to believe, or walk according to it, and that ſo effectually, that they might become the Children of the Light; for every Exhortation to do a thing we know to be impoſſible, muſt be vain; and he, who by it ſeems to be deſirous we ſhould do that which he knows we cannot, muſt delude us; and if he knows that God hath by ſome antecedent Action, rendred the thing impoſſible to be done, it muſt be alſo an Exhortation repugnant to the Will of God: Now it is Blaſphemy to ſay the Exhortations of the Son of God were vain, deluſory, or contrary to his Father's Will. Moreover our Saviour knew the Jews were capable of Mercy and Salvation by him, for he expreſly ſays, God ſent him into the World, that the World by him might be ſaved, John 3. 17. he makes this Declaration, theſe things ſay I unto you, that ye might be ſaved, John 5. 34. and this Enquiry, how oft would I have gathered you, and you would not? Luke 13. 34. and ſays, ye will not come to me, that ye might have Life, John 5. 40. God himſelf would not have his words ſo underſtood, as if he were unwilling that the Jews ſhould believe, or had by any of his Actions rendred it impoſſible for them to do ſo, for this was his Commandment, that they ſhould believe on him, whom he had ſent, John 6. 29. and why ſent he his Son to ſeek, and to ſave that which was loſt, even the loſt Sheep of the Houſe of Iſrael, had he not truly been deſirous that they ſhould believe? The Evangeliſt alſo, and that good Spirit by which he did indite theſe words, did not thus underſtand them; for he objects this to the Jews as their great Crime, ver. 37. that tho' Chriſt had done ſo many Miracles among them, yet they believed not not on him; whereas it can be no Man's Sin not to do, what he cannot do purely by reason of the Act of God; these words must therefore have some other sense, than at first view they seem to bear.

2*dly*, Observe that God's Foreknowledge, Sayings, and Predictions, have no such Influence on the Will of Man, as to lay on him a necessity to do, what he foreknows, or hath foretold he will do; for were it otherwise, (1.) All Human Actions must be necessary, for to that God who is omniscient, all things, both past, and present, and to come, are known; if then this Knowledge of Men's Actions, which the Scripture so plainly doth ascribe to God, did make them necessary, all Human Actions must be necessary, and so the freedom of them must be overthrown. (2.) Then Vice and Virtue must be only empty Names, we being capable of doing nothing which is Blameworthy, or deserveth Praise; for who can blame a Person for doing only what he could not help, or judge him worthy of Applause, who doth that only which he cannot avoid? And, (3.) Then must all future Recompences be discarded, it being visibly unjust to punish any Man for that which it was never in his power to avoid; and as unreasonable to reward him for that Action which cannot be Praise-worthy. We know that an Almighty God is able so powerfully to work upon the Hearts of Men, as to convert them to himself; and it is natural to conceive that a good God is ready to do all which he sees proper for that end; since then in some regard it must be true that God would have all Men to be saved, what Answer can be given to that Enquiry, Why are not all Men actually saved? but this, That the Divine Wisdom does not see it fit to lay Restraints upon their Actions, and to necessitate their Wills to a compliance with his Calls and Invitations to turn to him. This Answer I believe is true, but then it is an Evidence that God hath never by his Prescience, or his Predictions, laid such Restraints upon Mens Actions.

When then it is said here, Therefore they could not believe, because Isaias said, these words must bear this sense, Therefore they could not believe, because (that was fulfilled upon them) which Isaias said, or, it had happen'd to them as he had foretold. So Chap. 15. 24, 25. See the Note there. They have hated me and my Father, ἀλλ' ἵνα πληρωθῇ ὁ λόγος, but that the Word might be fulfilled, i. e. but this hath happen'd to, or been done by them, that what was written in their Law might be fulfilled, viz. they hated me without a cause; and this is the Exposition of the Holy Ghost, who Matth. 13. 13, 14. saith from the Mouth of Christ, Therefore speak I to them in Parables, because they seeing, see not; and in them is fulfilled the Prophecy of Isaiah, their Eyes have they closed, &c.

Ver. 40. He hath blinded their Eyes.] Observe, that whereas our Translation saith, He hath blinded their Eyes, the word He is not in the Original, which saith only thus, τετύφλωκεν αὐτῶν τὰς ὀφθαλμούς, and may be rendred Malice, or Wickedness hath blinded their Eyes, as we read, Wisd. 2. 21. Or, (2.) The Personal is here put for the Impersonal, the Active for the Passive, i. e. He hath blinded their Eyes, and hardned their Hearts; for, their Eyes are blinded, and their Hearts hardned. To give you a plain Instance of like nature, Isa. 44. 18. in our Translation we read thus, He hath shut their Eyes, that they cannot see, and their Hearts that they cannot understand; and yet both the Greek and Chaldee Paraphrast read them thus, ἀπημαυρώθησαν, their Eyes are shut, and darkned, lest they should see; and that this is the true import of the Prophet's Words, not that God, but Satan, and their own evil Dispositions had done this, is evident from this Consideration; that this is spoken to the Shame of them who made and worshipped Senseless Images, ver. 9, 11. and to convince them of their want of Consideration, ver. 19. And that this must be the sense here, we learn not only from the Septuagint, the Syriack, and the Arabick, which render these words of Isaiah thus, The Heart of this People is waxed gross, and their Eyes have they closed, lest they should see with their Eyes; but also from our blessed Saviour, who, Matth. 13. 15. and from St. Paul, who, Acts 28. 26, 27. exactly follow this Translation of the words. s

Ver. 41. These things said Isaias, when he saw his Glory, &c.] i. e. When he saw the Glory of the Lord Christ, not as some Socinians contend, of God the Father: For, t

1*st*, These words, his Glory, and, he spake of him, contain two Pronouns, which are not in the words of the Prophet, but only of the Evangelist, and so must be referred to him, of whom the Evangelist here speaks, viz. to him who had done so many Miracles among them, and to him, in whom they believed not, ver. 37. and in whom they could not believe, ver. 39.

2*dly*, If those words, These things said Isaias when he saw his Glory, are not to be understood of Christ, what use have they, or to what purpose do they here serve, there being no need to tell us, that Isaias then saw the Glory of God the Father, or spake of him?

3*dly*, Socinus well observes and proves, that the Apostle's words do equally relate to both the Passages produced from Isaias, because he saith not, this, but these things said

Iſaias. Now it is evident from the Apoſtle Paul, Rom. 10 16. citing theſe words, and applying them to the Goſpel-times, that the firſt Teſtimony relates to them, and from the Contents of the whole 53[d] Chapter, that they relate to Chriſt's Sufferings, and his future Glory, as Schlictingius here grants, and conſequently the words, theſe things ſpake Iſaias, muſt induce us to believe that he ſpake alſo in the other Paſſage cited from him, of the Glory of the ſame Perſon. Schlictingius therefore anſwers, That the Prophet by ſeeing the Glory of God, is ſaid alſo to ſee the Glory of Chriſt, which was to fill the whole Earth; for then was the Earth repleniſhed with his Glory, when God by him did his admirable Works, when he raiſed him from the Dead, and placed him at his own right Hand, ſubjecting all things to his Feet; when Iſaias in the Spirit ſaw his Glory, John rightly ſays, he ſaw the Glory of Chriſt, the Glory of God and of Chriſt being ſo inſeparably connected, as the means to the end, that the Glory of Chriſt directly tends to the Glory of God the Father. But againſt this Evaſion, it is obſervable,

1*ſt*, That the Prophet, chap. 53. if he ſpeaks at all of the Glory of any Perſon, as indeed he doth, ver. 10, 11, 12. ſpeaks of ſuch a one who poured out his Soul unto Death, and was numbred with the Tranſgreſſors, and bare the Sin of many; which words cannot refer at all to God the Father.

2*dly*, In the ſixth Chapter he ſpeaks of one whom he then ſaw ſitting upon a Throne high and lifted up, and whoſe Train filled the Temple, ver. 1. and to whom the Seraphims cried, Holy, Holy, Holy, is the Lord of Hoſts, the whole Earth is full of his Glory, ver. 3. He therefore ſpeaketh not of any future Glory, but of the Glory he then ſaw, and of which the Seraphims then ſang. And who can reaſonably think the Prophet ſhould cry out, ver. 5. Wo is me, becauſe I have ſeen the King, the Lord of Hoſts, only becauſe he had ſeen a Viſion of a mere Man, who had as yet no Being? However,

3*dly*, Seeing the Prophet is ſo expreſs in it, that it was Jehovah Zebaoth, the Lord of Hoſts, the King Jehovah, whoſe Glory he then ſaw, and of whoſe Glory the Angels then ſang, and yet the Evangeliſt declares he ſpake theſe things when he ſaw the Glory of Chriſt, it follows that Chriſt muſt be one with this Jehovah.

Ver. 42. Of the Chief Prieſts many believed on him;] i. e. They were inwardly convinced he was the Chriſt, tho' they durſt not openly confeſs this Faith, leſt they ſhould be render'd infamous by being turn'd out of the Synagogue, and ſo their Faith was deficient in one great requiſite, Confeſſion of it being made with the Mouth unto Salvation, Rom. 10. 9. Matth. 10 32. u

Ver. 44. Believeth not in me] only, but in him alſo who hath ſet his Seal to the Teſtimony, John 3. 33. So the word Only is to be underſtood, when Chriſt ſaith, He that receiveth me, receiveth not me, Mark 9. 37. And when St. Peter ſaith to Ananias, Thou haſt not lied to Man, but to God, Acts 5. 4. St. Paul, He that deſpiſeth us, deſpiſeth not Man, but God, 1 Theſſ. 4. 8. and this addition is here neceſſary to avoid a Contradiction in theſe words, he that believeth in me, believeth not in me. (2.) Becauſe Chriſt ſo expreſly doth require his Diſciples to believe in him, ſaying, Chap. 14. 1. Ye believe in God, believe alſo in me; 'tis added, he believes alſo in him that ſent me, to expreſs the Dignity and Excellency of this Faith, and the dreadful Effects of Incredulity, ſince he that believes not, makes God a Liar, 1 John 5. 10. w

Ver. 45. He that ſeeth me, ſeeth him that ſent me.] See the Note on Chap. 14. 9. x

Ver. 46. I am come a Light into the World,] that he who believeth in me, and embraceth my Doctrine, may not abide in Darkneſs; i. e. in Ignorance of the Way to Life, nor be caſt out into utter Darkneſs, as the Jews will be for their Incredulity, Matth. 8. 12. y

Ver. 47, 48. I judge him not;] i. e. I paſs not on him the decretory Sentence here on Earth, where I am to perform the Office of a Prophet, not a Judge, Chap. 8. 15. yet let him know he ſhall hereafter be judged, and have the Sentence paſs'd upon him, according to that Doctrine which I preach, and be puniſhed by God for contempt of it, becauſe the words I ſpeak, I ſpeak not of my ſelf, but as he gave me a Commandment, ſo I ſpeak. Chriſt neither doth, nor could deny that he would judge all Men at the laſt, becauſe he had declared the Father had committed all Judgment to the Son, John 5. 27. and had given him Power to raiſe them up, and judge them at the laſt, ver. 26, 27. but only doth deny that he was to aſſume this Office whilſt he was on Earth. z

CHAP. XIII.

1. NOW before the Feast of the Passover, when Jesus knew that his hour was come, that he should depart out of this World to the Father, having loved his own a (Apostles) which were in the World, [a] he loved them to the end, (or close of his Life.)
b 2. And [b] Supper (time) being ended (Gr. come,) the Devil having now put (it) into the Heart of Judas Iscariot Simon's Son, to betray him.

3. Jesus knowing (his great Dignity, in) that the Father had given all things into his
c Hands, and that he was [c] come (Gr. come forth) from God, and went to God;

4. He (to shew an admirable Example of Humility) riseth from Supper, and laid aside his Garments, and took a Towel and girded himself (after the manner of a Servant.)

5. After that he poureth Water into a Bad son, and began to [d] wash the Disciples Feet, and to wipe them with the Towel wherewith he was girded;

6. Then cometh he to Simon Peter, and Peter saith to him, Lord, dost thou (think I can suffer thee to) wash my Feet?

7. Jesus answered and said to him, (For) e what (end) I do (this) thou [e] knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter, (when I have performed this Ceremony, ver. 12, 15.)

8. Peter saith to him, Thou shalt never wash my Feet: Jesus answered him, If I wash thee not, (if thy Heart and thy Affections be not purified by me) thou hast no part with me; (thou wilt not be fitted for my Service, or receive any Benefit by me.)

9. Simon Peter saith to him, Lord, (if this washing be so necessary to that end, wash) not my Feet only, but also my Hands and my Head.

10. Jesus saith to him, He that is washed, f (i.e. truly sanctified and cleansed once) [f] needeth not, save to wash his Feet, (his Heart and his Affections,) but (if he still keep them pure and rightly inclined.) is clean every whit, (in all his Thoughts and Actions proceeding from them,) and ye are (in a good measure) clean, but not all, (Judas being full of Filthiness; this Exception he made,)

11. For (because) he knew who should betray him, therefore said he, ye are not all clean.

12. So after he had washed their Feet, and taken his Garments (which he had laid aside in order to that Work.) and was sat down again, he said to them, Know ye what I have done to you?

g 13. Ye call me [g] Master, and Lord, and ye say well, (i.e. what is right,) for so I am.

14. If I then (who am) your Lord and Master have washed your Feet, [h] ye also h ought to wash one anothers Feet; (i.e. to be as ready to do the meanest Offices to other Christians.)

15. For I (by doing this) have given you an Example, that ye should do (to others) as I have done to you:

16. Verily, verily, I say to you, The Servant is not greater than his Lord, neither (is) he that is sent greater than he that sent him; (and therefore you my Servants, whom I send to preach the Gospel to all Nations, ought not to think it beneath you to do to others what I your Lord, from whom you receive your Commission, do to you.

17. If ye know these things, (that Knowledge, without a suitable Practice, will only aggravate your Doom; but) happy are ye if ye do them.

18. (And when I speak of your being happy) I speak not of you all, (for) [i] I know whom i
I have chosen; (i.e. what is the inward disposition of them,) but (one of them is so disposed towards me) that the Scripture may be fulfilled, (which saith, Psal. 41. 9.) He that eateth Bread with me (as my familiar Friend) hath lift up his Heel against me.

19. Now I tell you (of this) before it come (to pass,) that when it is come to pass, [k] ye may believe that I am he (who searcheth k all Hearts, and also am the Son of David, to whom these things belong.)

20. (And believing this, you will see cause sufficient to go on chearfully in my Service; for) Verily, verily I say to you, he that receiveth whomsoever I send, (shall be esteemed as one that) receiveth me, and he that receiveth me, (as one that) receiveth him that sent me.

21. When Jesus had thus said, he was troubled in (his) Spirit, (partly at the apprehension of his Sufferings, and partly at the Vileness, and pernicious Consequences of the Fact,) and testified, and said, Verily, verily I say to you, that one of you shall betray me.

22. Then the Disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake (this.)

23. Now there was leaning on Jesus's Bosom one of his Disciples, whom Jesus loved, (viz. St. John.)

24. Simon Peter therefore [l] beckned to him, l that he should ask, who it should be of whom he spake;

25. He then lying on Jesus's Breast, said to him (with a low Voice,) Lord, who is it?

26. Jesus answered (him,) He it is to whom I shall give a Sop, when I have dipped it (in the Dish,) and when he had dipped the Sop, he gave it to Judas Iscariot the Son of Simon.

27. And m 27. And after the Sop [m] Satan entred (more fully) into him: Then ſaid Jeſus to him, n [n] What thou doeſt, (thou may'ſt) do quickly, (as ſoon as thou wilt, for I am ready to ſuffer.)

28. Now no Man at the Table (ſave St. John) knew for what intent he ſpake this to him.

29. For ſome of them thought, becauſe Judas had the Bag, that Jeſus had ſaid to him, Buy thoſe things that we have need of againſt o the (Paſchal) Feaſt, or that he ſhould [o] give ſomething to the Poor.

30. He then having received the Sop, went immediately out (to accompliſh his deſign,) and it was night (when he did ſo.)

31. Therefore when he was gone out, Jep ſus ſaid, [p] Now is the Son of Man (to ſuffer, and then to be) glorified, (Luke 24. 26. Heb. 2. 9.) and God is (to be) glorified in him, (thus ſuffering for the Salvation of Mankind.)

q 32. [q] If God be glorified in (and by) him, God ſhall alſo glorifie him in himſelf, (by committing all things to his Hands, and ſeating him at the right Hand of Majeſty and Power, John 17. 5.) and ſhall ſtraightway (thus) glorifie him.

r 33. Little Children, yet a [r] little while I am with you, (and then) ye ſhall ſeek me, and as I ſaid (before) to the Jews, whither I go ye cannot come, ſo now I ſay to you, (ye cannot come now till your Work on Earth be finiſhed, ver. 36. and I have prepared Manſions in Heaven for you, John 14. 2.)

34. A new Commandment I give to you, (to be continually obſerved by all my Diſciples) that ye love one another, (after my Example, who lay down my Life for you, requiring) [s] as s
I have loved you, that ye alſo (ſo) love one another.

35. By [t] this ſhall all Men know that ye t are my Diſciples, if ye (thus) love one another.

36. Simon Peter ſaid to him, Lord, whither goeſt thou? Jeſus anſwered him, Whither I go [u] thou canſt not follow me now, u
(as being not yet prepared to ſuffer for my ſake,) but thou ſhalt follow me afterwards, (and ſuffer on the Croſs as I do.)

37. Peter ſaid to him, Lord, why cannot I follow thee now? I will lay down my Life for thy ſake.

38. Jeſus anſwered him, Wilt thou lay down thy Life for my ſake? Verily, verily I ſay to thee, [w] The Cock ſhall not crow, (i. e. w it ſhall not be the time of Cock crowing) till thou haſt denied me thrice.

Annotations on Chap. XIII.

a Ver. 1. HE loved them to the end;] i. e. to the cloſe of his Life, and ſhewed this Affection to them by waſhing their Feet. This Paſſage therefore can afford no Argument, that the Regenerate can never fall away, becauſe Chriſt ſpeaks not of the chuſing of any to Salvation, but only of thoſe whom he had choſen out of the World to be his Apoſtles, Chap. 15. 19. nor of his Love of them to the end of their Lives, but of his own.

b Ver. 2. And Supper being ended.] That this was not the Paſchal Supper, but a Supper they were at before the Feaſt of the Paſſover, ver. 1. ſee fully proved in the Appendix to the 14th Chapter of St. Mark, Anſwer to Objection the Second. To the Arguments there offered for this purpoſe, add, That at this Supper Chriſt only privately diſcovers the Traitor to St. John, ver. 25, 26. whereas at the Paſchal Supper he makes him known openly to them all, Matth. 26. 25. Luke 22. 21. Here he diſcovers him to St. John, by giving him a Sop which he had dipped in the Diſh, ver. 26. there he diſcovers him to the reſt by this, that his Hand was with him in the Diſh, Matth. 26. 23. (22) Mark 14. 20. See Additions N° 22.

c Ver. 3. Jeſus knowing, ὅτι ἀπὸ Θεοῦ ἐξῆλθεν καὶ πρὸς Θεὸν ὑπάγει, that he came out from God, and went to God:] So Chap. 16. 28. I went out from the Father, and come into the World: Again, I leave the World and go to the Father. Now ſeeing it is certain, that he left the World, and went to the Father, by aſcending from the Earth to the higheſt Heavens; muſt not the oppoſition require, that he came out from the Father into the World, by coming from Heaven to the Earth? For theſe two are oppoſite by commutation of Terms; the term from which in the one, being the term to which in the other; which Oppoſition is wholly loſt, by ſaying with the Socinians, that Chriſt is ſaid to come forth from God, or from the Father, only becauſe he came as his Legate or Ambaſſador, and was made known to the World by his Credentials, the Miracles done by him in his Father's Name. Moreover, according to this Expoſition, the oppoſite term, his going to God, and to the Father, muſt import his ceaſing to be his Legate, or to make himſelf known by the Miracles done by a Power derived from his Father; whereas he, after his Aſcenſion, made himſelf ſtill thus more known to the World. Add to this, that the Prophets of old, and Moſes eſpecially, were God's Meſſengers, and made themſelves known to the World by Miracles done by God as their Credentials, and ſo were after them the Apoſtles in like manner the Legates and Ambaſſadors of God and Chriſt; but yet it never was, nor could be ſaid of them, or any of them, I went forth from God, and from from the Father, and came into the World; which shews, this Phrase is proper to our Lord, and so the reason of it must be peculiar to him alone.

Object. 1. The Apostles believed, that Christ came forth from God, John 16. 30.—17. 8. but yet they believed not that he had a Divine Essence.

Answ. What reason have the Socinians to say this so confidently of the Apostles, who not only saw him do such mighty Miracles as argued a Divine Power in him, and whom he charges so often to believe, that he was in the Father, and the Father in him, but also did themselves cast out Devils, and heal Diseases in his Name throughout Judea, when he was absent from them; this being a proof to them, that he, tho' absent from them in Body, was always present with them by his Power? What reason have they to conclude this from the places cited, since in the first, they argue this from his Omniscience, an Attribute inseparable from the Divine Nature, saying, Now we perceive, that thou knowest all things; and ἐν τούτῳ, by this we believe thou camest forth from God; in the second, they hear him, saying, Father, glorifie me with the glory I had with thee before the World was, ver. 5. And ver. 7. are said to know, that all things which the Father had given him, even the Power to do and know all things, were of God; and thence are said to know, that he truly or indeed came from God?

Object. 2. But how can God be said to come from God into the World, when he is always in the Heavens; or, to leave the World, and go to the Father?

Answ. 1. To this our Saviour partly himself answers, by saying, that he was in Heaven, even then when he says, he came down from Heaven. See the Note on Chap. 3. 13.

2dly, I have observed Note on Chap. 3. 13. that as to his Divine Nature, he is said to descend from Heaven, not by a local Descent, or by quitting Heaven, but only by the manifestation of himself upon Earth; and in this sense, God himself is often said to descend from Heaven, when by any divine Work done on Earth he demonstrates his Presence there: And he is also said, to ascend again into Heaven afterwards. Why therefore may not God the Word be said to descend from Heaven, and even dwell with Men, as God is said to dwell in the Tabernacle and in the Temple, when the Logos dwelt in the humane Nature upon Earth, and manifested his Glory in it; and also to leave the World, and go to the Father, not only as properly doing this by the Exaltation of the humane Nature, but as doing all his divine Works now from Heaven, where he sits in the Majesty and Glory of the Father?

Ver. 5. And he began to wash his Disciples Feet.] Great is this Instance of Humility, if we consider, (1.) The Dignity of the Person expressed in the foregoing words: (2.) The Action it self, with the Circumstances of it: For, (1.) Christ lays aside his Garment, and he girds himself, as Philo saith Servants used to do when they did minister to their Masters. (2.) He actually washed his Disciples Feet, which also Servants did to their Masters when they came from a Journey, to cleanse them from the Dirt, and to refresh them, 1 Tim. 5. 10. According to those words of Abigail to David, Let me be a Servant to wash the Feet of my Lord, 1 Sam. 25. 41. and which Superiours did not do to Inferiours. See Dr. Lightf. on the place. d

Ver. 7. What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter.] After the Ceremony is finished, I shall tell thee, it was intended as an Example of that Humility which I would have you shew, in ministring to the meanest Christians, though you in Station and Office be superiour to them. It farther may be gathered from those words, ver. 8. If I wash thee not, thou hast no part in me, or wilt receive no benefit by me; and from the Purity mentioned, ver. 10. that Christ intended also by this Rite, that Purity of Mind and of Affection, which he required of all those who belonged to him, and which he would increase in them by his Word and Spirit, Eph. 5. 26. and which in Scripture was usually represented by washing and pouring of Water, as in those words, Isai. 1. 16. Wash ye, καθαροὶ γίνεσθε, be ye clean; and in that Promise, Ezek. 36. 25. I will pour clean Water upon you, καὶ καθαρισθήσεσθε, and ye shall be cleansed from your Iniquities. e

Ver. 10. Needeth not, save to wash his Feet,] because they only gather Dirt and Gravel in a Journey. So in the Metaphor, in our Travel through the World, all the Defilement we contract arises from our misplaced or our immoderate Affections, Love, Desire, Fear, Aversation, Hatred. The Jewish Priests were to wash their Hands as well as Feet when they offered Sacrifice to God, Exod. 30. 19. because their Hands were chiefly employed in that Work, and so their Hands unwashed were said to be unconsecrated, common or unclean. Maimonides Tr. de Ædif. Templi, cap. 1. §. 6. & Tr. 3. c. 5. §. 1. The Apostles are required only to wash their Feet, their business being to travel through the World, preaching the Gospel: Note also, that Christ washed the Feet of Judas; for he was present at this Rite, and is not said to be excepted; only Christ here saith, this washing did not make him clean. f g Ver. 13. Ye call me Maſter and Lord;] your Maſter by teaching, and your Lord by commanding; ſo Grotius. But, ὁ Κύριος, the word Lord here ſeems to import the Lord from Heaven, ver. 1. or him who is Lord of all; in which ſenſe, to us Chriſtians, there is but one Lord, Acts 2. 36. 1 Cor. 8. 6.

h Ver. 14. Ye ought to waſh one anothers Feet;] not in the literal ſenſe, by doing this once a Year; but in the ſpiritual, by being always ready to do any Service, by which we may promote the Welfare, and advance the Purity of any Member of the Church; for the Servant is not above his Lord.

i Ver. 18. I know whom I have choſen.] Chriſt ſpeaks not here of an Election to Faith, and by it to Salvation; that being conſtantly in Scripture aſcribed to God the Father, not to Chriſt acting as his Prophet, but of being choſen to the Office of an Apoſtle; nor does he intend here to ſay, that he had choſen ſome of his Apoſtles, and not others; for he owns, that he had choſen Judas, by ſaying, Have not I choſen Twelve, and one of them is a Devil? Chap. 6. 70. The import of theſe words ſeems therefore to be this, I know the Temper and Diſpoſition of them whom I have choſen, and what I may expect from one of them; for which cauſe I ſaid, You are not all clean; but God in his Wiſdom hath permitted this, that as Achitophel betrayed David, though he was his familiar Friend; ſo Judas, my Familiar at my Table, might betray the Son of God; and ſo the words recorded Pſalm 41. 9. might be fulfilled in him alſo, of whom King David (23) was the Type. See Additions N° 23.

k Ver. 19. That when it comes to paſs, ye may believe, ὅτι ἐγώ εἰμι, that I am;] not only that I am the Chriſt, as Chap. 8. 24. but alſo, that I am he who ſearcheth the Hearts, and knows things future and contingent, which is the Property of God alone, 1 Kings 8. 30. Iſai. 41. 22, 23. and ſo believing in me, may believe alſo in him that ſent me, ver. 20. See Examen Millii.

l Ver. 24. Simon Peter beckons to him that he ſhould aſk.] That all mentioned from this to the 27th Verſe was done ſecretly; Simon only nodding to John, he ſpeaking to Chriſt only in his Ear, and Chriſt ſo anſwering, that he only underſtood his words, is plain from this, That no Man at the Table knew for what intent Chriſt ſaid to Judas, What thou doeſt, do quickly, ſave St. John, ver. 27, 28.

m Ver. 27. Satan entred into him.] Non ſecundum ſubſtantiam ſed ſecundum operationem, ſaith St. Jerom, i. e. not as to the Subſtance, but as to Operation; as he is ſaid to do, when the Will is fully enclined to obey his Motions, and we do not reſiſt them. But of this, ſee the Note on Luke 22. 3.

Ibid. What thou doeſt, do quickly.] This is not a Command to Judas to go on with his wicked Enterprize, but only a Declaration made by Chriſt of his readineſs to ſuffer Death, as in the Paraphraſe. So Ezek. 20. 39. Go ye, ſerve ye every one his Idols. n

Ver. 29. That he ſhould give ſomething to the Poor.] This Charity ſeems to be the proper buſineſs at a Feaſt, Eſther 9. 22. o

Ver. 31. Now is the Son of Man glorified, &c.] The Context ſeemeth to require the ſenſe given in the Paraphraſe; and then the paſſive Aoriſt is put for the future, as οὐκ ἐλήθη, Will he not come? Chap. 11. 56. ἐξεβλήθη, He ſhall be caſt out, Chap. 15. 6. See Glaſſ. de Verbo, Can. 47. Or elſe the ſenſe may be given thus, Hitherto hath the Son of Man been glorified by his Doctrine and his Miracles, by which he hath fully proved his Miſſion; and God hath been glorified by them both; he having ſtill done and ſpoken them in his Father's Name. See Examen Millii. p

Ver. 32. If God be glorified in him, God will glorifie him, ἐν ἑαυτῷ, in himſelf,] by Signs done in the Heaven and the Earth, which ſhall force Men to ſay even at his Death, Truly this was the Son of God, Mat. 27. 45, 51.—54. by his glorious Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, and Seſſion at his own right Hand, by giving him all Power in Heaven and Earth, and a Name above every Name, Philip. 2. 9. And this he will preſently begin to do, ſo that you ſeeing ſuch admirable Circumſtances of my Paſſion, and ſuch a glorious Iſſue of it, may go on chearfully in preaching my Goſpel, expecting my Power to aſſiſt you in the Work, and a full Reward of all your Sufferings for my ſake. q

Ver. 33. Yet a little while am I with you;] i. e. by my bodily Preſence; for he had promiſed to abide for ever with them by his Spirit, Chap. 14. 16. and his Divine Preſence, Mat. 28. 20. r

Ver. 34. As I have loved you,] even to the ſhedding of my Blood for you, and even for mine Enemies; not with reſpect to any Merit on their part, or any Advantage on mine, but out of pure Affection to their Souls: This is the Love you are to imitate in your Affection one to another. s

Ver. 35. By this ſhall all Men know, that ye are my Diſciples.] The Diſciples of the Baptiſt were known by the Auſterity of their Lives, the Diſciples of the Phariſees by their Habit, and Separation from other Men; Chriſt will have his Diſciples known by their profound Affection to each other, which in the Primitive Ages was ſo great, that it made the (a) Heathens with Admiration to cry out, t

CHAP. XIV.

1. LET not your Hearts be troubled; a [a] ye believe in God, believe also in me, (who am one with the Father, and to whom all Power is committed. See John 10. 30, 38.)

b 2. In my Father's House are many [b] Mansions, (sufficient to receive you, and all that believe in me, to eternal Life;) if it were not so, I would have told you, (that no such Mansions were to be expected; but now) I c go [c] to prepare a place for you.

3. And if I go and prepare (when I shall have gone and prepared) a place for you, d [d] I will come again and receive you to my self, that where I am (there) ye may be also.

4. And whither I go, ye know; (for I have told you, I go to my Father,) and the way ye know; (for I am the way, ver. 6. and the Teacher of it; by observing whose words you will come to me.)

5. Thomas saith to him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest; and how (then) can we know the way (to thee?)

e 6. Jesus saith to him, [e] I am the Way, and the Truth, and the Life, (by teaching that way of Saving Truth which leadeth to Life eternal;) no Man cometh to the Father, but by (Faith in) me, (and by observance of my Word.)

f 7. [f] If ye had (fully) known me, ye should have known my Father also, (who is in me, and is made visible by his Works done by me;) and from henceforth (from the time I have been with you,) ye (have) know (n) him (by his Word,) and have seen him (by his Works.)

8. Philip saith to him, Lord, shew us the Father, (as he was seen by Moses and the Israelites, at the giving of the Law, in glorious Symbols of his Presence,) and it sufficeth us.

9. Jesus saith to him, Have I been so long with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? he that hath seen me, hath seen (in me the Works of) the Father, (by which only he is visible;) and how sayest thou then, Shew us the Father, (as if thou hadst not seen him, or couldst see him otherwise?)

10. Believest thou not that I am in the Father, and the Father in me, (by his Spirit enabling me to speak the Words, and do the Works of God?) The Words that I speak to you, I speak not of my self, (See Note on Chap. 8. 14.) but the Father that dwelleth in me (by the Spirit, John 3. 34.) he doth the Works, (by which my Prophetick Office is confirmed.)

11. Believe me, that I am (thus) in the Father, and the Father in me; or else (if thou believest not for my own sake,) believe me for the very Work's sake, (which are done by the Power and Spirit of the Father.)

12. Verily, verily, I say to you, He that believeth on me, the Works that I do, shall g he do also; [g] and greater Works than these shall he do, because I go to my Father (to send the Holy Ghost to enable them to do them.)

h 13. And [h] whatsoever ye shall ask in my Name (for the promotion of the Gospel,) that will I (thus enable you to) do, that the Father may be glorified in (by) the Son, (sending the Holy Ghost upon you from the Father.)

14. If ye shall ask any thing in my Name, I will do it.

15. If ye love me, (express the sincerity of that Love, so as to) keep my Commandments.

16. And (then) I will pray the Father, i and he shall give you [i] another Comforter, (even the Holy Ghost,) that he may abide with you, (and those that shall succeed you,) for ever.

17. Even the Spirit of Truth, whom the World cannot receive, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him, (they having no experience of his Presence with them, or of his sanctifying Operations on them, by which alone he can be seen or known; for being an holy Spirit, he cannot abide with unholy Souls;) but ye (who are sanctified by him,) know him; for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.

18. I will not leave you comfortless, I will come to you (by this Spirit.)

19. Yet a little while and the World seeth me no more, but ye (shall) see me, (i. e. shall find experimentally my Presence k with you; for) [k] because I live, ye (in the midst of all the Perils and Persecutions of the World;) shall live also, (2 Cor. 4. 10, 11.)

20. [l] At that Day (that I ſend this Comforter,) ye ſhall know that I am in my Father, by receiving this Spirit from him,) and ye in me, and I in you, (by this Spirit communicated from me your Head, to unite you my Members to me.)

21. He that hath my Commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me; and he that loveth me, ſhall be loved of my Father; and I will love him, [m] and will manifeſt my ſelf to him, (by the Preſence and Illuminations of this Spirit of Truth.)

22. Judas ſaith to him, not (he that was named) Iſcariot, Lord, (ſeeing thou art to be a glorious King over us, and all the Nations of the World,) [n] how is it that thou wilt manifeſt thy ſelf to us, and not to the World?

23. Jeſus anſwered, and ſaid to him, If a Man love me, he will keep my Words; and (then) my Father will love him, [o] and we will come to him, and make our abode with him, (by the Spirit of the Father and the Son dwelling in him.)

24. He that loveth me not (as the World doth not,) keepeth not my Sayings, (and ſo can neither know me, nor my Father,) and (ſo cannot be loved by us; for) the Word which you hear, is not (originally) mine, but the Father's which ſent me; (and 'tis only obedience to it that procures his and my love.)

25. Theſe things have I ſpoken to you, being yet preſent with you:

26. But the [p] Comforter, which is the Holy Ghoſt, whom the Father will ſend in my Name, (i. e. as my Spirit, to act in my Name and for my Honour;) he ſhall teach you all things (which are requiſite to be known by you, and taught to others,) and bring all things to your remembrance whatſoever I have ſaid to you.

27. [q] Peace I leave with you, my Peace I give to you, (by giving you that Spirit whoſe Fruits are Joy and Peace,) not as the World giveth (Peace when they part from their Friends, by wiſhing to them that Peace which they do not heartily deſire, or are not able to impart,) give I (it) to you, (but effectually, and therefore) let not your Heart be troubled (at my departure,) neither let it be afraid (what may befal you when I am gone.)

28. Ye have heard how I ſaid to you, I go away, and come again to you, (but for a little while;) if ye loved me (and my advancement, as affectionately and wiſely as ye ought to do,) ye would rejoice, becauſe I ſaid, I go to the Father; for [r] my Father is greater than I.

29. And [s] now I have told you before it come to paſs, (that I am going to the Father to ſend the Comforter to you,) that when it is come to paſs, ye might (have greater reaſon to) believe (in me.)

30. Hereafter I will not talk much with you; for [t] the Prince of this World (Satan) cometh (by his Agents, the Rulers of the Jews to take away my Life,) and hath nothing in me, (no power over me to inflict Death upon me on the account of Sin, as he hath over others, Heb. 2. 14.)

31. But (I give up my ſelf to the Death in compliance with my Father's Will, John 10. 18.) that the World may know that I love the Father; and as the Father gave me Commandment, even ſo I do. Ariſe (therefore,) let us go hence.

Annotations on Chap. XIV.

a Ver. 1. Πιστεύετε εἰς τὸν Θεὸν καὶ εἰς ἐμὲ πιστεύετε, Ye believe in God, believe alſo in me,] There being no Example I can find, where the ſame word in the ſame Sentence is uſed both in the Indicative and the Imperative Mood; I had rather render theſe words in the ſame Mood thus, Believe in God, believe alſo in me, i. e. that I may preſcribe a Remedy to that Trouble which hath ſeized your Hearts from the conſideration of my Paſſion, and my departure from you, and of the Troubles you muſt expect in execution of your Office; I adviſe you to believe in God the Author of that Doctrine you are to preach, and therefore the Defender of thoſe who propagate it; and in me, in whoſe Name you are to preach it, as having all Power in Heaven and Earth, and being always preſent with you, and therefore being able to aſſiſt and preſerve you from all Dangers, and to reward your faithful Labours with that Crown of Glory I have promiſed.

b Ver. 2. In my Father's Houſe are many Manſions;] In which, after your Labours, you ſhall find eternal reſt. So the Jews ſay, that in Paradiſe are ſeven Manſions, which are each Twelve Thouſand Miles long, Ten Thouſand broad, and as many high: So Moſes Haddarſon in Gen. 2. 9.

c Ibid. I go to prepare a place for you:] For Chriſt by his Entrance with his Sacrifice into Heaven, procured for us an Entrance into that place which before was inacceſſible, or a new living way of entring thro' the Veil rent for us at his Death, he preparing theſe Manſions for us by his own Entrance firſt into Heaven with his Sacrifice: See the Notes on Heb. 9. 8, 23, 24.—10. 20.

d Ver. 3. I come again, and will receive you to my ſelf,] i. e. into thoſe Manſions, that then you may be for ever with me, and be made Partakers of that Happiness I there enjoy. Whence it seems probable, that all the Saints, the blessed Apostles not excepted, are only to be crowned at the same time, to wit, at our Lord's second Advent: See the Note on Heb. 11.40. and observe, that ἐὰν ὃ here is to be rendred, when I come again. See the Note on Heb. 3.7.

e Ver 6. I am the Way, the Truth, and the Life:] The Author of the Way that leadeth to Life, the Teacher of that Truth which directs to it, the Giver of that Life which is to be obtained by walking in it. And this Life consists in the Vision or Enjoyment of the Father, to whom none cometh but by Faith in me, ver. 6.

f Ver. 7. If you had known me, ye would have known the Father also.] Note, that Christ here speaks not of the Knowledge of his Father's Essence, (1.) Because that is not to be seen, as here the Father is said to be, ver. 9. (2.) Because the reason here assigned of this Knowledge, is, That Christ spake not from himself, but from the Father; and so the Father was to be known by what he taught. (3.) He adds, That the Works he did, were done by the Power of the Father abiding in him; and so the Power and other Attributes of the Father, might be seen by them; his Goodness and Mercy by the Kindness and Mercy shewed in all his Miracles; his Wisdom, Righteousness and Holiness, in the Purity of his Doctrine. In me, saith he, speaking my Father's Words, ye do already know him, i.e. his sacred Will: In me, doing my Father's Works, ye see him, viz. his Attributes; and of my Ability to do them, you cannot well doubt; for I am in the Father, and the Father in me, by virtue of his Spirit residing in me; so that I both perfectly know his Will, and can do the most mighty Works by this Power of the most High, Luke 1.35.

g Ver. 12. And shall do greater Works than these, because I go to the Father.] That which Interpreters here say of Diseases healed by the Shadow of Peter, and by Napkins sent from St. Paul, and of more Miracles performed throughout the World, and Devils ejected through three whole Centuries every where, is not unfitly mentioned here, as answering to these words; but yet I think, this chiefly is to be referred to the admirable success of the Gospel, preached by the Apostles after the descent of the Holy Ghost upon them; and the inward Gifts of Tongues, and the Interpretation of them; of Prophesie, and discerning of Spirits, and the imparting of these Gifts to others by Baptism, and the Imposition of the Apostles Hands; for as this was a greater Work in our Lord Jesus thus to assist so many with his mighty Power, when absent at so great a distance, as is Earth from Heaven, than to do Miracles in their Presence, so to communicate these inward Gifts to Men, and to enable them to transfer them to others upon Faith in Christ, is truly wonderful: For as Arnobius saith, (a) Transcribere in alium jus tuum, & quod facere solus possis, fragilissimæ rei donare & participare faciendum, super omnia sitæ est potestatis, continentisque sub se omnium rerum causas, & rationum facultatumque naturas. But more especially when he himself succeeded so little in three Years Preaching here on Earth, and had so few sincere Disciples, that he should enable his Apostles at one Sermon to convert some Thousands, and cause his Gospel to fly like Lightning through the World, and beat down all strong Holds of Opposition, this is truly admirable. That to these Fruits of the Mission of the Holy Ghost these words do principally relate, appeareth from the Reason of them here assigned, Because I go to the Father, viz. to send that Holy Spirit down upon you, by whom these greater Works are to be done.

Ver. 13. And whatsoever ye shall ask in my Name, I will do.] Here Christ shews how these great Works should be done by them, viz. not by their own Power, or any Divine Virtue residing in them, as our Lord did his, but in the Name, and by the Power of Christ, Acts 3.12, 16. by Faith in him, and Prayer to God in his Name, Acts 4.24, 30. Note also here that Christ saith, whatever ye shall thus ask I will do; which as it supposes in him Omniscience, enabling him to know the Requests of all Christians upon Earth, and Omnipotence enabling him to assist them every where in the performance of the greatest Works; so must it consequently imply an Unity of Essence betwixt the Father and the Son, and so the Father is glorified in the Son. Hence what is here, I will do, is, Chap. 16. 23. the Father will give you. Note also that whereas the Jews used to beg a Blessing for the Father's sake, or for the sake of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, though being only Men they never prayed to them, the Christians not only prayed to the Father in the Name of the Son, but invoked the Son also, as being one God with the Father; this being a Periphrasis of Christians, that they were those who called upon the Name of Christ, Acts 9.14, 21. See Note on Rom. 10.13. And this seems here to be mentioned to confirm their Faith in him, that he who so loved them had Power to do all things for them. h

Ver. 19. Because I live, ye shall live also.] By virtue of this Promise, tho' the Apostles were always delivered up to Death for the sake of Jesus, yet was the Life of Christ manifested k

And therefore Chriſt muſt be here ſaid to be in the Father by the Spirit of the Father reſiding in him, but with this Difference, that the Spirit of the Father reſided in Chriſt without meaſure, Chap. 3. 34. and ſo that all that was the Father's was alſo Chriſt's, Chap. 16. 15. his Wiſdom, and his Power; whereas he was in the Apoſtles only by the Gifts conferred upon them, according to the meaſure of the Gift of Chriſt. n Ver. 22. How is it that thou wilt manifeſt thy ſelf to us, and not to the World?] This Queſtion ſeems to be put to Chriſt according to that known Opinion of the Jews, that the Kingdom of Chriſt was to be an Earthly Dominion over the whole World, appearing with great outward Splendor, or with Obſervation, Luke 17. 20. ſo that the Jews under their Meſſiah ſhould Lord it over the whole Earth, and ſo he ſhould manifeſt himſelf to the whole World. So (b) Joſephus ſpeaks of an ambiguous Oracle among them, declaring that about that time, ἀπὸ τ χώρας τὶς ἐκείνων ἄρξει τ οἰκουμένης, one of their Country ſhould reign over the whole Earth, and that many of their Wiſe Men did ſo interpret it. So (c) Origen tells us they expected, μέγαν κ) δυνάστην, κ) πάσης τ γῆς, κ) πάντων τ ἐθνῶν Κύριον ἔσ), that their Meſſiah ſhould be a great Potentate, and the Lord of the whole Earth, and of all Nations. And (d) Trypho in his Dialogue with Juſtin Martyr ſaith the ſame.

Ver. 23. And we will come to him, and take up our abode with him,] by that Spirit whoſe Temple is the Body of the Saints, 1 Cor. 3. 16. — 6. 13. and by whoſe In-dwelling they are made an Habitation of God, Eph. 2. 22. here therefore is no expreſs mention made of the Holy Spirit, becauſe by him it is that the Father and the Son dwell in us; and ſo it is in the beginning of the Epiſtles praying for Grace and Peace from the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, becauſe this Grace and Peace was to be conferred on Men by the Spirit. o Ver. 26. But the Comforter, whom the Father will ſend in my Name,] whom I will ſend you from my Father, John 15. 26. — 16. 7. Ver. 28. For my Father is greater than I.] This, ſaith Woltzogenius, is a Demonſtration that Chriſt is not the true God, than whom none is or can be greater. But the Primitive Fathers did not allow that there was any ſtrength in this Argument, for they granted that there was one God the Father, who was over all, and yet that Chriſt with the Father was the God of the living, as having in all things the Excellency or Sovereignty of the Father, ſaith (e) Irenæus. They therefore owned that the Father was greater than the Son, as to his Original, the Son being begotten by him, and yet declared that he was God, and equal to God, as to his Eſſence, as (f) Tertullian and (g) Novatian teach. So then we may grant, as to the Divine Nature, that as to the dependence on the Father it is less, i. e. as 'tis received dependently from the Father, for greater is he that gives, than he that receives; and yet, as to Essence, they are both one God, and so equal, ὡς αἴτιῳ καὶ ἀρχὴ ὁ κατὰ φύσιν, Athan. Naz. Basil.

Add to this, that the Argument produced to prove that Christ speaks not of his Human Nature, viz. because none could doubt but that God is greater than Man, proves as effectually, that Christ could not be only Man, because then none could doubt but God was greater than he; nor is any such comparison, as to Greatness, to be found in Scripture betwixt God and mere Man.

Ver. 30. The Prince of this World cometh,] t by his Ministers, Judas and the Rulers of the Jews, and findeth nothing in me; He himself having no Power to inflict Death on me, in whom is no Sin, and they finding nothing in me worthy of Death, Acts 13. 28. Though therefore I am to suffer Death, I do not suffer for any fault that can deserve it, or on account of any Power he, or his Ministers have over me to inflict it, but I give up my self to the Death in compliance with my Father's Will, that the World may know, and knowing, imitate my Obedience to him in the severest Precepts.

CHAP. XV.

a 1. [a] I Am the true Vine, (which gives Juice and Nourishment to every Branch belonging to me,) and my Father is (as) the Husbandman, (who prunes and cleanses the Branches of this Vine, to render them more fruitful; and therefore)

b 2. [b] Every Branch in me that beareth not Fruit, he taketh away, (i. e. every Professor c of Faith in me that is unfruitful) [c] and every Branch that beareth Fruit, he purgeth it, (from all those Suckers that hinder the growth of the Fruit, or make it less,) that it may bring forth more Fruit.

3. Now (thus it is with you, for) ye are clean through the Word which I have spoken to you.

d 4. [d] Abide in me, and I (will abide) in you; as the Branch cannot bear Fruit of it self, except it abide in the Vine, no more (Gr. so neither) can you, except you abide in me (by Faith.)

5. I am the Vine, ye are the Branches, (which receive Nourishment from the Vine, and become fruitful by it,) he that abideth in me (by Faith,) and I in him (by the Spirit,) the same bringeth forth much Fruit; e for [e] without me (abiding thus in you) ye can do nothing.

f 6. If a Man abide not in me, he is [f] cast forth as a Branch, and (that) is withered, and Men gather them, (or, and is gathered) and cast (them) into the Fire, and they are burned, (Gr. καὶ καίεται) and is burned.)

7. If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, (so that ye yield Obedience to them,) g [g] ye shall ask what ye will (in my Name, and for the Glory of God,) and it shall be done to you.

8. Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much Fruit, (καὶ, and) h [h] so shall ye (appear to) be my Disciples.

9. As the Father hath loved me, so have I loved you, continue ye in my Love.

10. If you keep my Commandments, ye shall abide in my Love, even i [i] as I (his Prophet) have kept my Father's Commandments, (doing all he sent me to do) and (so) abide in his Love.

11. These things have I spoken to you, (of my abode in you by the Spirit, and your abiding in my Words,) that (through the Comforts of this Spirit) k [k] my Joy might remain in you, and that your Joy might be full.

12. This is my Commandment, that ye love one another, l [l] as I have loved you (to the end, John 13. 1. and with a most fervent Love.)

13. Greater Love hath no Man than this, that a Man m [m] lay down his Life for his Friends, (and this Love will I shew to you acting as my Friends, and expect you should imitate it.)

14. (Now) ye are my n [n] Friends, (and shall receive the Tokens of my Love as such,) if ye do whatsoever I command you;

15. (And therefore) henceforth I call you not o [o] Servants (nor treat you as such,) for the Servant (usually) knoweth not what his Lord doth, but I have called (and treated) you (as) Friends; p [p] for all things that I have heard (i. e. received) of my Father (to impart to you) I have made known to you.

16. You have not chosen me, but q [q] I have chosen you (first,) and ordained (i. e. appointed) you, that ye should go (abroad into the World,) and bring forth (much) Fruit, (by converting many to the Faith,) and that your Fruit ſhould remain (in a Succeſſion of Chriſtians to the World's end,) and (that being thus employed in my Service,) whatſoever (in purſuance of that Work,) ye ſhall ask the Father in my Name, he may give it you.

17. Theſe things I (eſpecially) command you, that ye (moved by my Example, and by theſe Tokens of my Love, may be induced to) love one another.

r 18. If the [r] World hate you, (let this give you no Diſcouragement in the Performance of your Office, ſince it will be only with you as it hath been with me doing the ſame work, for) ye know that it hated me before it hated you.

19. If ye were of the World, (conforming your ſelves to it in your Life and Doctrine,) the World would love his own, (Men like to them,) but becauſe ye are not of the World, but I have choſen you out of the World, (to lead a Life, and preach a Doctrine oppoſite to the Vices of it,) therefore the World hateth you.

20. (But) remember the Word that I ſaid to you, (viz.) the Servant is not greater than the Lord, (and ſo cannot expect to be treated better,) if (then) they have perſecuted me, they will alſo perſecute you, (who are doing
s the ſame Work,) if they have (had) [s] kept my Saying, they will (would) keep yours alſo, (who ſpeak the ſame things.)

21. But all theſe things, (this Hatred, ver. 19. and Perſecution, ver. 20.) will they do t to you for my [t] Name's ſake, becauſe they (after all the Miracles I have wrought in his Name) know not him that ſent me.

22. If I had not come and ſpoken to them (the Words of my Father,) they had not had Sin, (in not knowing him that ſent me,) but now (they have heard and rejected his Word) they have no cloak (or excuſe) for their Sin, (it being the fruit not of their want of Knowledge of my Father's Will, but of their Hatred to him and his Word; for)

23. He that hateth me, (ſpeaking the Words of God, which I have learned from my Father, John 12, 49, 50.) hateth my Father alſo.

24. If I had not done among them [u] the u Works which no other Man did, (Gr. hath done) they had not had (the) Sin (of Infidelity,) but now (this Sin muſt be charged upon their Hatred, for) they have both ſeen (the Works which the Father in me hath done,) and (yet have been ſo far from being convinced and reformed by them, that they have) hated both me (who do them,) and my Father, (by whoſe Power and Commiſſion I do them.)

25. But (this cometh to paſs, or, this they are permitted to do) [w] that the Word might w be fulfilled which is written in their Law, (Pſal. 35. 19.) [x] they hated me without a x cauſe.

26. But when the Comforter is come, y
[y] whom I will ſend to you from the Father, even the Spirit of Truth, which proceedeth from the Father, he ſhall (by his miraculous Gifts) teſtifie of me, (who ſend him.)

27. And [z] ye alſo ſhall bear witneſs (of z me,) becauſe ye have been with me from the beginning, (and ſaw my Works.)

a Ver. 1. I Am the true Vine, and my Father is the Husbandman.] That Vine which gives vital Juice to render all my Branches fruitful, and whoſe Fruits refreſh and fill their Hearts with Joy, as doth the Fruit of the Vine the Body, Judg. 9. 13. Pſal. 104. 15. Of the Epithet True, ſee Chap. 6. 55. My Father is the Husbandman, who takes care of theſe Branches, cutting off the Suckers, and the withered Branches, pruning the Vine, and purging the fruitful Branches, that they may bring forth more Fruit. Grotius thinks the occaſion of this Parable was taken from the Lord's Supper he had then celebrated, or was inſtantly to celebrate; for as Chap. 6. diſcourſing of his Paſſion, he calls himſelf the true Bread, ſo here he calls himſelf the true Vine, nouriſhing to Life eternal, with relation to that Element which was the Fruit of the Vine, Luke 22. 18. and thus it ſeemed neceſſary to ſpeak of the Fruit of his Death, becauſe his Diſciples were offended at it, and their Faith wavered on that account. Others think, that having ſpoken of Judas as a Branch not purged but withered, and fit only for the Fire, Chap. 13. 10, 11. he admoniſheth them to be careful that they become not ſuch Branches; and as he had ſaid there, ver. 10. ſo he repeats that Saying here, ver. 3. Ye are clean, &c.

as judging this not well consistent with that earthly Kingdom which was fixed in their Hearts; they knew nothing of the Calling of the Gentiles, or of God's intended Kindness to them, and therefore would not preach to them without a special Admonition from Heaven so to do, Acts 11. 19. they were contending for Primacy, and that out of prospect of carnal Advantages, 2 Cor. 5. 16. from these and such like Infirmities, the good Husbandman purg'd them when he shed the Holy Ghost upon them, and sent them to preach the Gospel to all Nations. When therefore he saith, you are now καθαροὶ, clean, ver. 3. we must not understand this absolutely, but comparatively, in respect of those who did not believe or obey his Word; and in good part, they being to be farther purged by the Operation of the Holy Spirit.

d Ver. 4. Remain in me (by Faith, Love, ver. 9. and Obedience, v. 10.) κἀγὼ ἐν ὑμῖν, and I will remain in you,] by my Spirit. Here is an Ellipsis of the word μένω, as Matth. 20. 13. to sit on my right Hand, — is not mine to give, but (it shall be given) to them for whom it is prepared of my Father; 2 Thess. 2. 7. He that letteth (will let) till he be taken away. See 1 Cor. 4. 15. Gal. 2. 7.

e Ver. 5. He that abideth in me, and I in him, bringeth forth much Fruit, for χωρὶς ἐμοῦ without me ye can do nothing.] That is, χωρὶς ἐμοῦ ὄντες, being separated from me, ver. 4. not abiding in me, ver. 6. being cast out from me. As this respects all Christians, the sense runs thus, If ye abide in me by that Faith which purifies the Heart, Acts 15. 9. and works by Love, Gal. 5. 6. and I in you by that Spirit, 1 John 3. 24. —— 4. 13. without whom none can be a Member of Christ, Rom. 8. 9. you shall abound in the Fruits of the Spirit, but without my Spirit abiding in you, and uniting you to me your Head, you can do nothing acceptable to me, or worthy of my Gospel; as it respects the Apostles it may farther note, that without the Gifts and powerful Assistance of the Holy Spirit, they could do nothing to convert the World to the Faith, as being not sufficient of themselves for that Work, but having their Sufficiency from that God who giveth them the Holy Spirit, 2 Cor. 3. 5, 6. Hence they are bid to stay at Jerusalem till this Spirit fell upon them, Acts 1. 8.

f Ver. 6. He is cast out ὡς κλῆμα καὶ ἐξηράνθη.] ὡς κλῆμα, supple, μὴ φερόμενον καρπὸν, as a Branch bringing forth no Fruit; or καὶ here signifies because, or that, and so the sense runs thus, as a Branch is cast out that is withered, or because it is withered, for Branches are first withered, and then cast out; so Josh. 1. 5. καθὼς, for as I have been with Moses, so will I be with thee, chap. 22. 25. καὶ ἀπώλεσαν, for they will turn away thy Children; 1 Sam 2. 15. Give us Roast, καὶ οὐ μὴ λάβω, for I will not receive sodden Flesh of thee: Micah 7. 8. rejoice not at my Fall, καὶ ἀναστήσομαι, for I shall rise again; See Luke 1. 24. John 6. 54. it also often signifies that, or which. So Isa. 5. 4. what shall I do to my Vine, καὶ οὐκ ἐποίησα; which I have not done? So Matth. 9. 11. καὶ ἰδόντες, which the Pharisees seeing, Acts 1. 19. καὶ γνωστὸν, which thing was known. See Noldius de Partic. Heb. p. 297, 298.

Ver. 7. Ask what you will, and it shall be given you.] Whatever ye ask according to the Will of God, 1 John 5. 14. for the Promotion of his Glory, chap. 14. 13. and the furtherance of your Ministry, Mat. 21. 21, 22. asking in Faith, Mark 11. 24. and in my Name, John 16. 23. ye shall receive. See the Note on Matth. 21. 21. g

Ver. 8. And ye shall be my Disciples;] i.e. By your likeness to me your Master, who am intent on this, that I may glorifie my Father upon Earth, chap. 17. 4. and give up my self to the Death, that I may be more fruitful in drawing all Men to the Knowledge of him, chap. 12. 24. it will appear that you thus bringing forth much Fruit to the Glory of God, are my genuine Disciples; ἐν τούτῳ, is here to be repeated from the beginning of the verse. h

Ver. 10. As I keep my Father's Commandments, and abide in his Love.] Here it is enquired how Christ being truly God could say he keeps his Father's Commandments; I answer, as on Earth he sustained the Person of a Prophet sent from him, it being necessary to that Office that he should be sent by him, and do his Commandments, according to those Words of God, Deut. 18. 18. I will raise them up a Prophet from among their Brethren like unto thee, and will put my Words into his Mouth, and he shall speak to them all that I shall command him. See ver. 19, 20. Hence Christ so often saith, I speak not of my self, but as my Father gave me a Commandment, so I speak, chap. 12. 49, 50. declaring by these words he was no Impostor, but that very Prophet of whom Moses spake. See the Note on chap. 7. 16. and chap. 8. 28. Hence Chrysostom, Euthymius, and Theophylact note, that Christ spake this according to his humane Nature. But still Woltzogenius enquires why, according to his humane Nature, he is said to obey the Commandment of the Father, rather than of his own divine Nature: I answer, because the Father is the Fountain of the Deity, and because it belong'd to Christ executing his Prophetick Office, to refer all to the Glory of his Father, whom the Jews only owned. i

Ver. 11. That my Joy might be in you;] i.e. I speak of your remaining in me by the Spirit, that your Joy, arising from his Consolations, may be full, and this Joy I call mine, because this Spirit dwelleth in me, and is derived k from me. Pious and true is the Note of Woltzogenius here, that the Obſervation of God's Commandments give here the fulleſt and moſt perfect Joy. For what richer Treaſure is there in this World, than that of a good Conſcience? And what greater Joy than that which flows from the good Spirit teſtifying to our Spirits that we are the Sons of God, and ſhall be made Heirs of eternal Life? Rom. 8. 16, 17. Gal. 4. 6.

m Ibid. To lay down his Life for his Friends.] 'Tis certain Chriſt did this for his Enemies, Rom. 5. 6, 7, 8. Chriſt notwithſtanding ſpeaks of his Friends, as ſpeaking only to his Apoſtles whom he here owneth as his Friends. Note alſo that Chriſt here ſaith he doth ψυχὰς τιθέναι, lay down his Life for his Friends, rather to expreſs the greatneſs of his Love, than the Merit of his Paſſion; and when he doth ſo, he uſes conſtantly this Phraſe, viz. John 10. 15, 17. 1 John 3. 16. but when the merit of his Paſſion is expreſſed, the Phraſe uſed is ἀποθανεῖν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν, or ὑπὲρ ἁμαρτιῶν, to die for us, or for our Sins, Rom. 5. 6. 8. 2 Cor. 5. 15. n Ver. 14. You are my Friends if you do whatſoever I command you.] For both Cicero and Saluſt (a) make this Conformity of Will to him we love, the teſt of ſincere Friendſhip.

o Ver. 15. Not Servants, for the Servant knoweth not what his Lord doth;] i. e. I deal not with you as Servants, to whom I make known my Councils, δοῦλοι γὰρ δεσποτῶν φύσιν ἢ πρᾶξιν οὐκ ἄλλως οἶδεν ἢ εἰδέναι, for Servants are not, ſaith Xenophon, to know the Cuſtoms or Actions of their Lord, but only boſom Friends. Epiſt. ad Æſchinem.

p Ibid. For all things which I have heard from my Father I have made known to you.] Not abſolutely, for they were not yet able to hear of the Ceſſation of the Law, of Circumſion, and the Sabbath, the caſting off the Jews, and the calling of the Gentiles to be his Church, without Offence, chap. 16. 12. but all things fit to be told them then, concerning his ſalutary Paſſion, his glorious Reſurrection and Aſcenſion, the Miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt, the future Judgment, and the Promiſe of eternal Life.

q Ver. 16. I have choſen you,] from the reſt of the Jews to bear witneſs of me, v. 27. and be my Apoſtles. That Chriſt ſpeaks here of this Election, appears, (1*ſt*,) From the preceding words, Ye have not choſen me, as Diſciples among the Jews choſe to themſelves a Maſter, for ye came not to me till I called you. (2*dly*,) From the Perſons called; for, ſaith Chriſt, have not I choſen you Twelve, and one of you is a Devil? chap. 6. 70. And, (3*dly*.) From the end of their Vocation here, viz. that they might go into the World, and bring forth Fruit, or that they ſhould go forth and preach that Goſpel to the World which ſhould abide for ever, 2 Ep. John 2. and erect that Church againſt which the Gates of Death ſhould not prevail. See Additions N° 26. (26)

r Ver. 18. If the World hate you, — hated me firſt.] Here Chriſt begins to fortifie his Apoſtles againſt the Hatred of the World, and to encourage them to contiue firm and conſtant in the Performance of their Office againſt all its Oppoſition: (1*ſt*,) From his own Example, who patiently had endured it before their Eyes, and was now to ſuffer Death by reaſon of it, ſo that they who preached the ſame Doctrine, which rendred him ſo hateful to the World, might reaſonably expect the like Treatment from it; nor had they reaſon to expect it ſhould be otherwiſe, or grudge it was not better with the Diſciple than with his Maſter; for he being not of the World, and they being choſen by him out of the World, the Ground of the World's Hatred againſt them muſt be the ſame.

s Ver. 20. Εἰ τὸν λόγον μου ἐτήρησαν, If they had kept my Word.] Some conceive that τηρεῖν here imports to obſerve with an inſidious intent to carp at it, and accuſe the Author of it, as it is ſaid of the Church to Satan, he τηρήσει, ſhall break, or obſerve thy Head to wound it, καὶ σὺ τηρήσεις, and thou ſhalt bruiſe, or obſerve his Heel to enſnare it, Gen. 3. 15. but the right reading there ſeems to be τειρήσεις, conteres, nor is there any Inſtances in the New Teſtament, where the ſimple Verb τηρέω bears that ſenſe; for Mat. 27. 36, 54. the word ſignifies only to obſerve, not to watch an opportunity againſt, that being παρατηρεῖν, Mark 3. 2. Luke 6. 7. — 14. 1. — 20. 20. and the Phraſe τηρεῖν λόγους μου, which is proper to St. John, is always taken in a good ſenſe, for an obedient obſervance of the Words of Chriſt, viz. John 8. 51, 52, 55. — 14. 23, 24. — 17. 6. 1 John 2. 5. Rev. 3. 8, 10. — 22. 7, 9.

t Ver. 21. But theſe things will they do for my Name's ſake, becauſe they know not him that ſent me. 'Tis farther Ground of Comfort to you that you ſhould be thus hated, not from your own fault, but for my ſake, and ſo ſhall be entitled by that Hatred to a great Reward in Heaven, Mat. 5. 12. and that out of Ignorance of, or Hatred to him that ſent me, and being hated for our ſakes, you need not queſtion our Protection and Aſſiſtance.

u Ver. 24. Works which no Man ever did, ver. 22. If I had not ſpoken to them, — no Sin;] i. e. Nor yet can they be ſaid to hate me out of of Ignorance of my Commission, for I have spoken to them a Doctrine plainly divine, and worthy of God, against which they have no Exceptions which arise not from their own Lusts, and Prejudices, and have confirmed it not only with the Testimonies of Moses, and the Prophets, chap. 5. 46. but also with such Works as neither Moses nor the Prophets ever did, had not this been done by me, they could not reasonably have been charged with the great Sin of Infidelity; but now shutting their Eyes against the Light thus shining on them, and hardning their Hearts against that strong Conviction of my Mission which my mighty Works afford, 'tis evident that they reject me not out of Ignorance and Weakness, but out of wilful Hatred to me, and him that sent me, and so their Infidelity is inexcusable.

w Ver. 25. ἀλλ' ἵνα, But that;] i. e. This hath happen'd, or is permitted. Examples of such an Ellipsis we find frequently in this Gospel. So chap. 9. 3. ἀλλ' ἵνα, but this hath happen'd that the Works of God might be made manifest, chap. 13. 18. ἀλλ' ἵνα, but this hath happen'd to Judas, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, chap. 14. 31. ἀλλ' ἵνα γνῶ, but this I do that the World may know. See Note on chap. 12. 40.

Ibid. For they have hated me without a cause.] This which David, who was a Type of Christ, spake of himself, may reasonably be thought in the mystical sense to relate to the Son of David, especially if we consider that the 69th Psalm, where these words are, ver. 5. is truly referred to Christ. See the Synopsis in the Argument of that Psalm. x

Ver. 26. Whom I will send to you from the Father.] 'Tis certain, saith Betuleius from the words, I will send, that this cannot be understood of the eternal Spiration of the Essence, but of the temporary Mission of the Holy Ghost, which Christ would ask of the Father, chap. 14. 16. and send from him in his Name, v. 26. after his departure, chap. 16. 7. after his Glorification, chap. 7. 39. and who was to be sent according to the Promise of the Father, Luke 24. 49. y

Ver. 27. And you shall testifie of me, &c.] You have been still my Companions from the beginning of my Prophetick Office, and so are fit Witnesses of my Works. For good Men use, and ought to be believed, when they testifie of what their Eyes have seen, and their Ears have heard, as the Apostles did. Acts 4. 20. 1 John 1. 1, 2. z

a 1. [a] THese things I have spoken to you that ye should not be offended, (i. e. deterred from my Service, by the Sufferings you will be exposed to from the World; For)

b 2. [b] They shall put you out of the Synac gogues (as Persons excommunicated;) [c] yea the time cometh, that whosoever killeth you, will think that he doth God Service (by so doing,)

3. And these things they will do to you, because they have not known the (Will of the) Father, nor me, (who am sent by him to reveal it to the World.)

d 4. But these things have I told you (before-hand,) that [d] when the time shall come (when you are thus to suffer them,) you may remember that I told you of them, (and so may be confirmed in the Truth, by seeing my perfect knowledge of things future, and may remember you suffer only what I had forewarned you of;) and these things I said not to you at the beginning (of my Preaching,) because I was (then) with you, (to protect you from, or comfort you in all Dangers.) e 5. But now I go my way to him that sent me, and [e] none of you (now) asketh me (as you did before,) Whither goest thou?

6. But because I have said these things to you (concerning my departure,) Sorrow hath filled your Hearts.

7. Nevertheless I tell you the truth (viz. That) [f] it is expedient for you that I go away (from you;) for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come to you; (he coming to supply my Absence, and as the consequent of my Ascension into Heaven, John 7. 39.) but if (when) I depart, I will send him to you. f

8. And when he is come, [g] he will reprove the World, (and will convince Men) of (their) Sin (in rejecting me,) and of (my) Righteousness, and of (a future) Judgment. g

9. Of Sin, because they believe not in me, (of whose Mission and Resurrection he will convince them by his wondrous Gifts conferred on them that believe in me.)

10. [h] Of (my) Righteousness, because I go to my Father, (to whom I could not ascend, were I not a righteous Person,) and ye see me no more (on Earth.) h

11. [i] Of Judgment, because the Prince of this World is judged; (i. e. the Devil is condemned, and cast out of his Dominions by my Servants; and consequently, the time will come when all the Subjects of his Dominions shall be judged also.) i k 12. I have yet [k] many things to ſay to you, (concerning the abrogation of the Sabbath, and your Ritual Law of Juſtification by Faith without the Works of the Law, &c.) but ye cannot bear, (i. e. receive) them now (without offence.)

l 13. Howbeit, when he (who is) [l] the Spirit of Truth is come, he will guide you, (executing your Office) into all truth; for he ſhall not ſpeak of himſelf, (deceitful and uncertain things invented by himſelf, as do the evil Spirits in the Heathen Oracles;) but whatſoever he (who ſearcheth the deep Counſels of God, ſhall hear, (i. e. ſhall know to be the Will of the Father,) that ſhall he

m ſpeak, and he will [m] ſhew you things to come.

n 14. He [n] ſhall (alſo) glorifie me (by what he teacheth;) for he ſhall receive of mine, and ſhall ſhew it to you; (i. e. he ſhall be ſent to impart to you the things which relate to my Kingdom, my Laws and Service; and what he teacheth you, is to be delivered in my Name.)

15. All things that the Father hath are mine; (the Power to govern, and to give Rules and Laws to Men, and to judge and recompence them according to thoſe Laws which under the Moſaical Diſpenſation was done by the Father, is now to be done by me, and in my Name, Phil. 2. 9, 10, 11.) therefore ſaid I, that he ſhall take of mine, and ſhall ſhew it to you.

16. (It is but) a little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me, becauſe I ſhall be taken from you by Death;) and again, (after my Reſurrection, 'tis but) a little while, and (that) ye ſhall ſee me; and (this I ſay,) becauſe (then) I go to my Father.

17. Then ſaid ſome of his Diſciples among themſelves, What is (the import of) this that he ſaith to us, a little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me; and again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me; and, becauſe I go to the Father?

18. They ſaid therefore, What is this that he ſaith, a little while? We cannot tell (the meaning of) what he ſaith.

19. Now Jeſus knew that they were deſirous to ask him, (the meaning of his Words,) and (therefore) ſaid to them, Do ye enquire among your ſelves of that (which) I ſaid, a little while, and ye ſhall not ſee me; and again, a little while, and ye ſhall ſee me?

20. Verily, verily, I ſay to you, That (for a ſeaſon) ye ſhall weep and lament, but the (Men of the) World, (the Rulers of the Jews,) ſhall rejoice (at my ſufferings,) and ye ſhall be ſorrowful; but your Sorrow (at my Reſurrection, Aſcenſion, and Miſſion of the Holy Ghoſt,) ſhall be turned into Joy, (Luke 24. 41, 52. Acts 2. 46.

21. (For a) a Woman when ſhe is in travail, hath Sorrow, becauſe her Hour is come; but as ſoon as ſhe is delivered of the Child, ſhe remembers no more the Anguiſh (ſhe lay in,) for joy that a Man (Child) is born into the World; (ſo ſhall be your caſe:)

22. And ye now therefore (κ' ὑμᾶς ὃν, for you therefore) have (now) Sorrow (becauſe of my Death,) but I will ſee you again (after my Reſurrection,) and your Hearts ſhall rejoice; and (tho' I perſonally be taken from you,) your Joy (thro' the Holy Spirit, ſhall be ſuch as) no Man taketh (or can take) from you.

23. And in [o] that day (that you receive this Comforter.) ye ſhall (have need to) ask me nothing (for Reſolution of your Doubts, as now you do:) Verily, verily, I ſay to you, Whatſoever (aſſiſtance) ye ſhall ask the Father in my Name, he will give it you. o

24. [p] Hitherto have you asked nothing in my Name, (as Mediator betwixt God and Man;) ask (what is requiſite for the diſcharge of your Office,) and ye ſhall receive (it,) that your Joy (in having all your Petitions granted.) may be full. p

25. Theſe things have I ſpoken to you in Proverbs (obſcurely of the Father; but) the time cometh when I ſhall no more ſpeak to you in Proverbs, but I ſhall ſhew you plainly (the Will) of the Father.

26. In that day ye ſhall ask in my Name; [q] and I ſay not to you, (I need not ſay) that I will pray (or intercede with) the Father for you; q

27. For the Father himſelf loveth you, becauſe ye have loved me, and have believed that I came out from God.

28. (And as) [r] I came forth from the Father, and am come into the World; (ſo) again, I (ſhall ſhortly) leave the World, and go to the Father. r

29. His Diſciples ſaid to him, Lo, now ſpeakeſt thou plainly, and ſpeakeſt no Proverb:

30. Now we are ſure that thou knoweſt all things (in that thou knoweſt our ſecret Whiſperings among our ſelves,) and (ſo) needeſt not that any Man ſhould ask thee (that thou mayeſt know what they deſire, thou knowing this unasked:) By this [s] we (more firmly) believe, that thou cameſt forth from God. s

31. Jeſus anſwered them, Do ye now believe?

32. Behold the Hour cometh, yea, is now come, that ye ſhall be ſcattered every Man to his own (home,) and ſhall leave me alone; and yet I am not alone, becauſe the Father is with me.

33. Theſe things I have ſpoken to you, that in me (being with you by my Spirit,) you may have Peace, in the World ye ſhall have Tribulation; but [t] be of good chear, I have overcome the World; (and as I am able, ſo by my ſufferings am I the more inclined, to aſſiſt and ſtrengthen you againſt the Temptations of it.) t a Ver. 1. These things have I spoken to you, that ye be not offended;] i. e. These things concerning the Hatred of the World, and the Reasons of it; and of those Considerations which may induce you to bear it patiently, lest they coming unexpectedly upon you unarm'd against them, you should fall from the Faith, or desist from your Office in the propagation of it: That this is the true Notion of being scandalized, see the Note on Matth. 18. 6.

b Ver. 2. They shall put you out of the Synagogues:] In their Synagogues they had not only Assemblies for reading the Scriptures every Sabbath-day, Acts 13. 27. — 15. 21. for publick Prayers and Exhortations to the People then, and upon other Days, Acts 13. 15. but Offences committed against the Law, were there corrected, and sometimes punish-ed with Scourging, Matth. 10. 17. — 23. 34. And they who would not be reformed by Stripes, nor by the lesser Excommunication which removed them, saith (a) Buxtorf, four foot from others, were pronounced ἀποσυνάγωγοι, John 9. 22. 24. — 12. 42. and by a publick recitation of their Name, were cast out of the Communion of the Church; which, Luke 6. 22. is separating them, and casting out their Names as evil; this Christ here saith, would be their Portion.

c Ibid. Ἀλλ' ἔρχεται ὥρα ἵνα, Yea, the hour cometh, when whosoever killeth you shall think he doth λατρείαν προσφέρειν τῷ Θεῷ, do God service.] The Particle ἀλλὰ here signifies Yea, and denotes the increase of a thing, as Luke 12. 7. ἀλλὰ καί, yea, even your Hairs are all numbred, see 1 Cor. 3. 2. — 12. 22. ἵνα is here put for ὅτι, when, as ver. 32. the time cometh ἵνα σκορπισθῆτε, when you shall be scattered; see the Note on 3 Ep. of John, ver. 4. The Paraphrase λατρείαν προσφέρειν, to offer Sacrifice, is taken from Exod. 32. 29. Consecrate your Hands to the Lord every one upon his Brother; that is, saith the Paraphrase of Onkelos, obtulistis Oblationem, Ye have offered an Oblation. Hence the Zealots among the Jews, who killed those they esteemed Transgressors with their own Hands, not expecting the Judgment of the Sanhedrim, were by them deemed Religious Men, filled with Zeal in the Cause of God, they having their Name, saith (b) Josephus, ἀπὸ τῶν ἐπ' ἀγαθῷ ζηλωτῶν, from those that were zealous for what was good: And therefore, after infinite Slaughters of their Brethren, they pronounced themselves (c) ἀναμαρτήτους, Men without Offence: And suitably to this Prediction, (d) Justin M. informs us, that the Jews did κατάρασθαι ἐν ταῖς συναγωγαῖς αὐτῶν τοὺς πιστεύοντας ἐπὶ τὸν χριστόν, disgrace, and execrate the Christians in their Synagogues, and were ἀποκτείνειν αὐτούς, killing them with their own hands where ever they could. This they will do, saith Christ, because they know not the Father, i. e. how alien those Cruelties are from his benign Nature; so Grotius. See the Note on Chap. 15. 21.

d Ver. 4. That when the time cometh, you may remember, &c.] And so be assured of my Divine Prescience and Veracity; and therefore may not doubt of that Assistance and Consolation I have promised you under these Troubles. But here it may be asked, why Christ here saith, These things I said not to you at the beginning, because I was with you, when in the first Mission of the Apostles to preach in the Cities of Judea, he useth almost the same words? Matth. 10. 17, 18. and the like words, Matth. 24. 9. Luke 6. 22. Woltzogenius answers, That Christ in these places had in the general inform'd them of the great Persecutions they were to suffer, but had not so clearly told them, they were to suffer them on the account of Religion; but this seems a mistake, for he had told them, that they were to suffer these things in the Jewish Synagogues for his Name's sake, and for Righteousness sake, Matth. 5. 12, 13. — 10. 18. — 24 9. I answer therefore, that what was spoken, Matth. 24. 9. was said about this time; and so Christ might well say, he said it not to them from the beginning: And that what Christ saith, Matth. 10. and Luke 6. do plainly respect the Times which were to come upon them, after our Lord's departure from them; for the Words of Christ in St. Matthew, from ver. 16. to 36. respect those Times when they were to give Testimony to him before the Gentiles, ver. 18. and were to be filled by the Holy Spirit, ver. 20. and so do the words of St. Luke also, as appears from the Particle ὅταν, when these things shall happen; what therefore Christ there foretels as future, he speaks of here as instant, and now ready to befal them.

e Ver. 5. And none of you asketh me, whither goest thou?] This Peter asked, Chap. 13. 36. but received no direct Answer; they did not therefore so ask as to know, Chap. 14. 5. much less to consider duly whither he was going, viz. to his and their Father's House, John 20. 17. or why he went, viz. to prepare a Manſion for you, Chap. 14. 2. or, none of them asked now his Departure was at hand, and ſo gave greater reaſon for this Enquiry, whither he was going?

f Ver. 7. It is expedient for you that I go away;] Since by the Advent of the Holy Spirit you will find greater comfort than from my Preſence; now this Spirit was not to come till Chriſt was glorified, and had aſcended into Heaven, John 7. 39. The word παράκλητος here mentioned, ſignifies an Advocate and a Comforter; he did the part of an Advocate in reſpect of Chriſt and his Goſpel, by convincing the World of Sin in not believing on him, and on the Righteouſneſs of Chriſt, ver. 9, 10, 11. and by confirming the Apoſtle's Teſtimony of him by Signs and Miracles, and various Gifts imparted to them, Heb. 2. 4. 1 John 5. 6, 7, 8. and by pleading their Cauſe before Kings and Rulers, Matth. 10. 18, 19. and againſt all their Adverſaries, Luke 21. 15. Acts 6. 10. In reſpect of the Apoſtles and the Faithful, he alſo did the part of a Comforter, as being ſent for their Conſolation, and ſupport in all their Troubles, filling their Hearts with Joy and Gladneſs, and giving them an inward Teſtimony of God's Love to them, and an aſſurance of their future Happineſs, Rom. 8. 15, 16.

g Ver. 8, 9. He will convince the World of Sin, becauſe they believe not in me.] The Holy Spirit had departed from the Jews about four hundred Years ſince; and his return, according to Chriſt's Promiſe, muſt be ſufficient to evince, that Jeſus, who had thus ſhed the Spirit upon his Diſciples, was the true Meſſiah, and ſo to convince them of Sin, who believed not in him, as we ſee it did, Acts 2. 37, 41.

h Ver. 10. Of Righteouſneſs, becauſe I go to the Father:] For that was a ſufficient Evidence, that the Father owned him as a righteous Perſon, and his true Prophet, tho' by the Jews he was condemned as an Impoſtor. Now this the Holy Spirit proved, becauſe his Miſſion from Heaven, and the miraculous Powers done by him in the Name of Jeſus, evinced, that he who ſent this Spirit from Heaven was tranſlated thither. Hence Peter from this effuſion of the Holy Spirit argues, that this Jeſus was by God made Lord and Chriſt, Acts 2. 36. and that the Jews had crucified that Holy and Juſt One whom the Father had glorified, Acts 3. 13, 14.

i Ver. 11. Of Judgment, becauſe the Prince of this World is judged;] i. e. Becauſe Satan, the Prince of this World, is now to be condemned, and caſt out of his Dominions; whence it may appear, that all who belong to his Kingdom, and chuſe rather to ſerve him than Chriſt their lawful Prince and Judge, ſhall be condemned with him. See the Preface to the Epiſtles, §. 10.

Ver. 12. I have yet many things to ſay to you, but ye cannot bear them yet;] viz. concerning the Aboliſhment of the Sabbath, and the Ceremonial Law, Juſtification by Faith without the Works of the Law, the rejection of the Jews, and the calling of the Gentiles, which, through the Prejudices you now lie under, ye cannot yet bear. See Orig. contra Celſum, l. 2. p. 57, 58. k

Ver. 13. The Spirit of Truth ſhall lead you into all Truth,] neceſſary to your Apoſtolical Office, and to direct the Chriſtian Church to the end of the World in all ſaving Truth: For as (e) Irenæus notes, The Doctrine which they taught, they after delivered in the Scriptures to be the Pillar and Foundation of our Faith. And as (f) St. Auſtin adds, Chriſt having committed to them the Writing of thoſe things which he would have us read, they choſe out thoſe things to write which they judged ſufficient to be written for the Salvation of the Faithful. 'Tis therefore certain, that the Apoſtles, in compiling the Canon of Scripture, were ſo aſſiſted by the Holy Spirit, as to write all Truths neceſſary for the Salvation of Believers, and conſequently, that all things neceſſary to be believed or done by Chriſtians, are fully and perſpicuouſly contained in the Holy Scriptures. l

Ibid. And he ſhall teach you things to come.] From this, and from the parallel place, Chap. 14. 26. He ſhall bring all things to your remembrance which I have ſaid to you. Two Things are evident; (1.) That this Promiſe of the Holy Spirit can belong only to the Apoſtles, ſeeing to their remembrance only could Chriſt bring thoſe things which he had ſaid to them. (2.) That this Promiſe can agree to no Councils aſſembled after their Deceaſe, ſeeing they never challenged to themſelves the Gift of Propheſie, nor had future Contingencies revealed to them. m

Ver. 14, 15. He ſhall glorifie me; for he ſhall receive of mine, and ſhall ſhew it to you; all things which the Father hath are mine.] Theſe words contain Two Arguments for the Divinity of Chriſt. For, n the World: For, saith (g) Schlictingius here, To this we are to refer the Revelations of St. John, in which are contained Prophesies of the State of the Church from that time to the end of the World. Now the Knowledge of these things must imply a Divine Prescience. We speak, saith the Apostle, the Wisdom of God, which God hath revealed to us by his Spirit, 1 Cor. 2. 7, 10. Christ therefore from whom the Spirit received these things, must be God. Lastly, God saith to the Idols of the Gentiles, Shew the things that are to come, that we may know, that ye are Gods, Isa. 41. 23. He therefere who sheweth these things to the Spirit, must be God.

2*dly*, By saying, All things which the Father hath, are mine; he challenges to himself the incommunicable Attributes, and consequently that Essence which is inseparable from them.

Answ. To this Woltzogenius answers, That the Phrase, All things, must be restrained to the Subject of Christ's Discourse, viz to all things which the Spirit of Truth was to reveal to them, and which respected their Office, and the good of the Church; all which things the Father had communicated to him.

But, (1.) Christ saith not here, I am conscious to the Secrets of my Father; but, all things which the Father hath are mine. (2.) Christ here gives the Reason, why he had said he shall receive of mine, viz. because all that the Father hath is mine. Take away any thing from the generality of this Expression, and you render our Lord's Inference infirm, since that which you take away, the Holy Spirit might not receive from him. (3.) All those things which he confesses are here to be understood, are sufficient to prove the Divinity of Christ, as the Citation from him shews.

o Ver. 23. And in that day ye shall ask me nothing;] i. e. When I have sent the Holy Spirit, to lead you into all Truth, you shall have no need to enquire Satisfaction in any thing, as now ye do, or to ask the sense of any thing suggested to you by the Spirit, as you sometimes ask the meaning of my words. This sense of the word ἐρωτᾶν is gathered from ver. 19. they were desirous ἐρωτᾶν to enquire of him the sense of those words, Yet a little while, and ver. 30. there is no need that any one ἐρωτᾷ should enquire of thee. In that Day, i. e. say St. Austin and Maldonate, in the Day of Judgment; but then the Apostles could have nothing farther to ask for the Churches Benefit. And, 2*dly*, It appears from the preceding Verse, that Day was the time when they should see him again after his Resurrection, and so on. Nor can (h) Origen's Conceit stand, that Christ here excludes himself, requiring them to pray only to God the Father, this being contrary to the practice of St. Paul, and the whole Christian Church. See Note on Rom. 10. 13.

Ver. 24. Hitherto have you asked nothing in my Name.] i. e. By me as Mediator betwixt God and Man, and with respect to my Merits, do this after my Death, and Intercession at the right Hand of God, and you shall receive such Answers as will fill you with Joy. p

Ver. 26, 27. And I say not that I will ask the Father, for he himself loveth you;] i. e. I need not say this for your Comfort, that I will intercede with my Father for you, seeing his Love to you who have thus loved me is so great, as to encline him to grant your Petitions on his own accord. q

Ver. 28. I came out from the Father.] See Note on Chap. 13. 3. r

Ver. 30. By this we believe that thou cameſt forth from God.] Why did they not believe him to be God, saith Woltzogenius? Answ. They say this sufficiently, by owning he knew all things, even the Thoughts of Mens Hearts; and thence, as they well might, concluding, he came forth from God; for Omniscience, and the Knowledge of the Heart, being the Attributes of God, 1 Kings 8. 39. Jer. 17. 10. they cannot be communicated to any without the Communication of the Divine Nature. s

Ver. 33. Be of good Comfort, I have overcome the World;] Being prepared to suffer that Death by which I am to be freed from all the Injuries of the World, and to be crowned with Glory, and you shall also do it by Faith in me, which is your Victory over the World, 1 John 5. 4, 5. and by my Strength, which shall enable you to do all things, Philip. 4. 13. of which you cannot doubt after so many Tokens of my Love, Rom. 8. 35, 36, 37. t

CHAP. XVII.

1. THeſe words ſpake Jeſus, and lift up his Eyes to Heaven, and ſaid, Father, the hour is come, (that my Work on Earth by my Sufferings now inſtant ſhould be finiſhed, ver. 4.) a [a] glorifie (now) thy Son (by his Advancement to the right Hand of Majeſty and Power,) that thy Son alſo may glorifie thee, (by propagating the Knowledge of thee and of thy Goſpel through the World. See Examen Millii.)
b 2. [b] As thou haſt given him Power over all Fleſh, that he ſhould give eternal Life to as many as thou haſt given him, (ſo inſtate him in that Kingdom in which he ſhall exerciſe that Power in bringing many to the Faith, and ſo fitting them for Life eternal.)

3. And this is (the true way to) Life eter-
c nal, that they may [c] know thee (to be) the only true God, (in oppoſition to thoſe falſe Gods they now ignorantly worſhip,) and (may know and believe in) Jeſus Chriſt whom thou haſt ſent (to reveal this Life to them.)

4. I have glorified thee on the Earth, (by declaring thy Will to the Jews,) I have finiſhed the Work (the Prophetical Office) which thou gaveſt me to do (on Earth.)

5. And now, O Father, glorifie thou me with thine own ſelf, (by exalting even my Human Nature to the right Hand of Glory, d and crowning me) with [d] that Glory which (as to my Divine Nature) I had with thee before the World was.

6. I have manifeſted thy Name (and Doctrine)
e to [e] the Men which thou gaveſt me out of the World, thine they were (by Faith in thee before,) and thou gaveſt them me, (by cauſing them to believe in me,) and they have kept thy Word.
f 7. [f] Now they have (fully) known that all things whatſoever thou haſt given (i. e. authorized) me (to do or ſay,) are of thee, (i. e. were indeed thy Words and Works.)

8. For I have given (i. e. declared) to them the Words which thou gaveſt (in Commiſſion to) me (to ſpeak,) and they have received them (as thine,) and have known ſurely that I came out from thee, and they have believed that thou didſt ſend me.
g 9. I pray for them, [g] I pray not (in this addreſs) for the World, but for them which thou haſt (already) given me (out of it,) for they are thine, (having thee for their Father.)

10. And all mine are thine, (thy Children,) and thine are mine, (having me for their Teacher and Guide,) and I am glorified in them, (by the Miracles done by them in my Name, and by the Converts they make to the Chriſtian Faith.

11. And now I am no more in the World, h [h] but theſe (my Apoſtles) are (to continue) in the World, and I (am to) come to thee: Hoi ly Father, keep through thine own [i] Name (or Power) thoſe whom thou haſt given me, that they may be one as we are (by the Participation of the Spirit. See Examen Millii.)

12. While I was with them in the World, I have kept them in thy Name, (and by thy Power imparted to me,) thoſe that thou gaveſt k me, I have kept, and [k] none of them is loſt, (hath periſhed, or fallen off from me,) but the Son of Perdition, (and this it was thy pleaſure to permit,) that the Scriptures might be fulfilled. (See Examen Millii.)

13. And now come I to thee, and theſe things I ſpeak (in their Audience while I am) in the World, [l] that they might have my Joy, l
(the Joy which I have promiſed them, Chap. 15. 11.) fulfilled in themſelves, (by the Preſence of the Spirit, whoſe fruits are Joy and Peace.)

14. I have given (i. e. taught) them thy Word, and the [m] World hath hated them, m becauſe they are not of the World, even as I am not of the World; (See Chap. 15. 18, 19.)

15. I pray thee not that thou ſhould'ſt take them out of the World, but that thou would'ſt keep them [n] from the Evil (of the n World.)

16. (And thus I pray, becauſe) they are not of the World, (and ſo will certainly be hated by it,) even as (I have been, becauſe) I am not of the World.

17. [o] Sanctifie them through (Gr. in, or for the Propagation of) thy Truth, (by ſending the Holy Ghoſt upon them;) thy Word o
(they are to preach to the World) is (the) Truth.

18. As thou haſt ſent me into the World, (to deliver thy Mind to it,) even ſo have I alſo ſent them into the World (on the ſame Errand: See Note on Chap. 20. 21.)

19. And [p] for their ſakes I ſanctifie (i. e. p
I offer up) my ſelf (a piacular Victim,) that they alſo (being juſtified through Faith in me) might be ſanctified through (Gr. in or for) the Truth, (See ver. 17.)

20. Neither pray I for [q] theſe alone, but q for them alſo which ſhall believe on me through their Word.

21. That they all may be one, as thou Father art in me, and I in thee, that they alſo may be one in us, (by the Participation of that Spirit which is in me,) that the World (by the powerful Operations of this Spirit in them) may (be induced to) believe that thou haſt ſent me.

22. And

r 22. And [r] the Glory which thou gavest me, (i. e. the Power of doing Miracles by the Spirit of God,) I have given them, that they may be one, as we are one, (ver. 21.)

23. I in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one (Spirit working in them as it did in me,) and that (so) the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me.

s 24. Father, [s] I will that they also whom thou hast given me, (when they have finished their Course on Earth,) be with me where I am, that they may behold my Glory which thou hast given me, for (because) thou lovedst me before the Foundation of the world.

25. O righteous Father, (the Men of) the world have not known thee, but I have known thee, and these have known that thou hast sent me;

26. And I have declared to them thy Name, and (farther) will declare it, (by the Illuminations of the Holy Spirit,) that (so) [t] the Love wherewith thou hast loved me, (which moved thee to give the Holy Spirit without measure to me, John 3. 34, 35.) might be in them, and I in them (by the same Spirit.)

a Ver. 1. Glorifie thy Son,] not only by his Advancement to a state of Glory, but by such Wonders attending his Sufferings, and such a glorious Resurrection as may entirely remove the Scandal of the Cross. In answer to which Request some were forced, even by what they saw at his Death, to say, Surely this Man was the Son of God, and others who had clamoured for his Death, to smite their Breasts; and God soon after declared, that he had made him Lord and Christ, a Prince and Saviour, Acts 2. 36.

b Ver. 2. Καθὼς ἔδωκας, As thou hast given him Power over all Flesh,] in Destination and Promise only, say most Interpreters. But since the Baptist said δέδωκεν, he hath given all things into his hands, chap. 3. 35. seeing the Evangelist saith the same, chap. 13. 3. seeing Christ himself saith, the Father δέδωκε hath given all Judgment to the Son, chap. 5. 22. and promiseth to raise the Dead, because ἔδωκε he had given him Power to judge all Men, and Christ himself saith not, Matth. 28. 18. all Power is now given me, but ἐδόθη, hath been given me in Heaven and in Earth; I see no reason for this Restriction or Limitation of the words, only it may be granted, that as he only exercised this Power upon Earth, whilst he was in it, so was he to exercise it from Heaven more fully after his Resurrection.

c Ver. 3. To know thee, τὸν μόνον ἀληθινὸν Θεὸν, the only true God, and him whom thou hast sent, Jesus Christ;] i. e. That the Gentiles quitting their dumb Idols, and false Gods, may own thee alone to be the living 1 Thess. 1. 9. and true God, who madest Heaven and Earth, Acts 14. 15. and that the Jews may own me to be thy Son sent to them from Heaven, and that Messiah, which, according to thy Promise made to Abraham, and David, thou hast sent to them; for by knowing thee fully, they will know me also, whom all Men are to worship as they worship the Father, and whom he that doth not worship, doth not truly Honour the Father, chap. 5. 23. for I and the Father are one, chap. 10. 30. whom no Man knoweth who he is, but the Father, and he to whom the Father will reveal him, Luke 10. 22. whom he that denies, hath not the Father, 1 John 2. 23. doth not know him, and he that seeth, sees the Father also, chap. 14. 9.—15. 21.—16. 3.

Object. Here the Socinians say, that these words plainly prove that the Father alone is the true God, and that by the words μονὸν τὸν ἀληθινὸν, the only true God, Christ must be excluded from being true God, since otherwise the Father would not be only so. But to this we answer, Answ. 1. That these words cannot be reasonably supposed to exclude him from a true Divinity, who is in Scripture stiled ὁ ἀληθινὸς Θεὸς, the true God; now that Christ is so stiled, see the Note on 1 John 5. 20. True therefore is the Gloss of Grotius, that he is stiled the only true God, in exclusion of those, quos falsa Gentium persuasio introduxerat, whom the false persuasion of the Gentiles had introduced; not so as to exclude the other Persons, but κατ' ἀντιδιαστολὴν τῆς πολυθεΐας, in opposition to Polytheism, as (a) Epiphanius, or εἰς ἀναίρεσιν τῶν μὴ φυσικῶν εἰ) ἀληθινῶν, for the removal of those which by Nature are not true Gods, as (b) Athanasius saith. Hence the (c) Pseud-Ignatius observes, that the Evangelists saying, the Father is the only true God, did not omit what belonged to our Lord, but premised this saying, In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was God. And in this sense the Word Only is frequently applied to God in the Old Testament: So Deut. 32. 12. Κύριος μόνος, the Lord only was their Guide, and there was no Θεὸς ἀλλότριος, false God with them, and yet the Angel in whom his Name was, Exod.

23. 21. went with them, the Angel of his Preſence ſaved them, Iſa. 63. 9. and was the Captain of their Hoſt, Joſh. 5. 14. So alſo Iſa. 43. 11. I am the Lord, and there is no Saviour beſides me, and v. 12. I am the Lord your God, and there is no ἀλλότριος, ſtrange God with me. See Judg. 10. 16. 1 Sam. 7. 3. Pſal. 81. 9. See alſo the word Solus ſo uſed by Irenæus often, as when he ſaith of the Maker of the World, that he is Solus Deus, & Solus Dominus, & Solus Conditor, & Solus Pater, & Solus continens omnia, l. 2. c. 1. and yet puts it into the Symbol of Faith owned by all Chriſtians at their Baptiſm, that Chriſt is ὁ Κύριος ἡμῶν καὶ Θεὸς, our Lord and God, l. 1. c. 2. See the Note on 1 Cor. 8. 3.

Woltzogenius ſaith, this place proves Chriſt is not God in the moſt perfect ſenſe, in which he is to be underſtood to be God, qui eſt Auctor, & Origo omnis Deitatis, & qui Deitatem à ſeipſo habet, non ab alio, who is the Author, and Original of the whole Deity, and who hath his Divinity from himſelf, and not from another: And if this be all they contend for, we, who believe that Chriſt is God of God, may grant this, and yet maintain that he is God, not by Title only, as Angels and Magiſtrates are ſtiled Elohim, but by Communication of the Divine Nature, as being the true God, and having the Name of God diſtributively given, and the Divine Attributes aſcribed to him only, i. e. in oppoſition to them, who are only called Gods, but are not by nature ſo.

2*dly*, We anſwer, that the excluſive Particle only, is not in conſtruction to be joined with the true God thus, to know thee only to be the true God; for the words run not thus, ἵνα μόνον τὸν ἀληθινὸν Θεὸν, but thus, ἵνα τὸν μόνον ἀληθινὸν Θεὸν, who only art true, or the God who alone art true; and whereas againſt this Crellius objects that the word ἀληθινὸς, being an Adjective, cannot be here the predicate; this is confuted by many Inſtances in this Goſpel; for φῶς τὸ ἀληθινὸν is the Light which is truly ſo, chap. 1. 9. and ſo is the true Bread, chap. 6. 32. and the true Vine, chap. 15. 1. it being manifeſt that in all theſe places, true is the Attribute, or the thing predicated, of Light, Bread, the Vine.

And whereas they urge farther, that the word ſolus only, added to it, excludes all other things from any Communion with that of which it is predicated, and ſo imports, that the Father alone is a true God; this Aſſertion may be confuted from many Inſtances both of the Old and the New Teſtament. As when Jacob ſays of Benjamin, he is left alone, Gen. 42. 38. viz. in reſpect of Joſeph, not of his ten Brethren; and of Chriſt, that he was left alone, viz. in reſpect of the Multitude, when yet his Diſciples were with him, Luke 9. 18, 36. John 8. 10. and when he ſaith, Ye ſhall leave me alone, and yet I am not alone, for the Father is with me, chap. 16. 32. But to proceed to Inſtances more appoſite, we read of the Bleſſed and only Potentate, King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, ὁ μόνος ἔχων ἀθανασίαν, who only hath Immortality, 1 Tim. 6. 15, 16. Now if this be ſaid of God the Father, as the Socinians muſt aſſert, or allow Chriſt to be truly God, yet muſt they allow that Chriſt, who is ſtiled King of Kings, and Lord of Lords, by reaſon of his powerful Victories over the Enemies of his Church, Rev. 17. 14. — 19. 15, 16. is alſo δυνάστης, a Potentate; that he who hath Life in himſelf, and of whoſe Kingdom there ſhall be no end, John 5. 26. Luke 1. 33. hath alſo Immortality; and he who is exalted to God's right Hand, dwells alſo in Light inacceſſible; they therefore muſt allow that neither the word only, before Potentate, nor before Immortality, exclude Chriſt from a Communion in thoſe Attributes. Solomon ſaith of God, i. e. according to the Socinians, of the Father, 1 Kings 8. 39. σὺ μονώτατος, thou only knoweſt the Hearts of all Men; and yet Chriſt ſaith, that all the Church ſhall know that he is the Searcher of the Hearts and Reins, viz. of all Men, that being neceſſary, that as it follows, he might give to all Men according to their Works, Rev. 2. 23. And St. Jude ſpeaks of ſome wicked Men, who denied τὸν μόνον Δεσπότην, Θεὸν, καὶ Κύριον ἡμῶν, our only Maſter, God, and Lord, ver. 4. If they ſay this is meant of Chriſt, as probably it is, all theſe words being put by Appoſition with one only Article prefixed, and the ſame Perſons being by St. Peter ſaid to deny the Lord that bought them, 2 Pet. 2. 1. ſurely they will not ſay theſe words exclude the Father from being our Maſter, God, and Lord; or if they do interpret them of God the Father, they cannot deny againſt expreſs Scripture, that Chriſt is our Lord and Maſter. See John 13. 13, 14. 1 Cor. 8. 6. Eph. 4. 5. All theſe Inſtances therefore ſhewing the Falſhood of that Aſſertion, do alſo ſhew the weakneſs of the Socinians Arguments from theſe words againſt the Deity of Chriſt, and of the Holy Ghoſt.

Ver. 5. And now, Father, glorifie me with the Glory which I had with thee before the World was.] Having ſhewed in the Note on Philip. 2. 6. that Chriſt had a Glory with God the Father, before he took upon him our Nature, that when he did ſo, he laid aſide this Glory, and took upon him the form of a Servant, and that after his Aſcenſion he re-aſſumed this Glory, and appeared in it, and ſays, that he will come hereafter, ſometimes, in the Glory of the Father, as Matth. 16. 27. ſometimes, in his own Glory, Matth. 25. 31. and ſometimes, in the Glory of both, Luke 9. 26. this Glory he now deſires to be given given to him, not only as the Word, as it was before, but as the Word made Flesh also. See Additions N° 28. But this plain and obvious Expofition of the words demonſtrating his Divinity, as I have ſhewed in the Note recited, the Socinians will not admit of, and therefore ſay that he requeſts that the Glory which he had before in the Appointment, or Deſignation of the Father only to it hereafter, he might now actually enjoy; and Grotius joins with them in this Expoſition. But,

Firſt, It ſeems unreaſonable to ſay abſolutely he had any thing before he had a Being to have, ſuppoſing a Subject in which that is contained which he is ſaid to have. The firſt place cited by Grotius as parallel, viz. that Chriſt was foreknown before the Foundation of the World, 1 Pet. 1. 2. is plainly impertinent, there being no hint in the words of Chriſt here, of any ſuch Fore-knowledge, but a plain Aſſertion that he had this Glory before the Foundation of the World. So are the words cited from Eph. 1. 4. he hath elected us in Chriſt before the Foundation of the World to be holy; for the Apoſtle ſaith not, as Chriſt doth of his Glory, that we had any Holineſs before the Foundation of the World, but only that we were choſe to it: His third Inſtance from Rev. 13. 8. where we read thus, whoſe Names were not written in the Book of Life, of the Lamb ſlain from the Foundation of the World, ſeems only pertinent, becauſe they are ill tranſlated, for that the true Tranſlation ſhould be thus, whoſe Names were not written from the Foundation of the World, (i. e. were not written) in the Book of Life of the Lamb ſlain, is evident from chap. 17. 8. where we read thus, whoſe Names are not written in the Book of Life from the Foundation of the World. And laſtly, the Citation from 2 Tim. 1. 9. he hath ſaved us, and called us with an holy Calling according to his own purpoſe, and Grace given to us in Chriſt Jeſus, before all Ages, ſeems only to be pertinent on the ſame account; tranſlate the words thus, according to his own purpoſe before all Ages, and the Grace given us in Jeſus Chriſt, and there is in them no appearance of any likeneſs to Chriſt's words. And this Tranſlation is ſufficiently confirmed from the Parallel Places, Tit. 1. 2, 3. Eph. 1. 3, 4.

2*dly*, Chriſt here ſaith, Glorifie me with the Glory which I had παρὰ σοὶ, with thee; now that Phraſe ſignifies as much as with thee, or in thy Preſence, in the perpetual uſe of Scripture. So Numb. 22. 9. who are the Men that are παρὰ σοὶ, with thee? 1 Sam. 22. 3. let my Father and Mother be παρὰ σοὶ, with thee; now he that hath no Being cannot, without the greateſt Catachreſis, be ſaid to be with another. And laſtly, Chriſt ſpeaks of a Glory which the Father had given him, becauſe he loved him before the Foundation of the World; now ſure it is improper to ſay any thing is beloved when it is nothing, or, when it hath no Being.

Ver. 6. I have manifeſted thy Name to thoſe whom thou haſt given me out of the World;] i. e. To my Diſciples, whom thou haſt given to me, by cauſing them to believe in me; I have by my Doctrine taught them, and by my Miracles done before their Eyes, given them the cleareſt proſpect of thy Power, Wiſdom, Holineſs, and Goodneſs. e

Ver. 7. Now they have known,] by my divine Doctrine, and Miracles which they have heard and ſeen, that I derived both from thee. f

Ver. 9. I pray not for the World.] Theſe things which follow reſpecting only my Apoſtles which are to preach my Goſpel to all Nations, I requeſt not for that World which hath no Knowledge of me; they who hence argue that Chriſt died not for the World, nor ſought the Salvation of it, but of ſome few Perſons in it, becauſe he here prays not for it, muſt be miſtaken; for, g

Firſt, They plainly contradict both Chriſt, and his Apoſtles, for Chriſt ſaith, he came not to condemn the World, but that it might be ſaved, John 12. 47. that God ſent his Son into the World, that the World through him might be ſaved, chap. 3. 17. Hence this Evangeliſt aſſures us, he was the Propitiation for the Sins of the whole World, 1 John 2. 2. and others of them, that he came to ſeek and ſave that which was loſt, as doubtleſs all the World was, Matth. 18. 11.

2*dly*, They vainly argue that Chriſt never prayed for the World, becauſe he ſaith here, I do not do it now, which is arguing againſt plain matter of Fact. For how oft doth he ſay to the Jews, ye are of the World, John 8. 23. and of his Apoſtles choſen out of them, that they were called out of the World? As here, ver. 6. 14, 16. and yet he ſaith to them, Luke 19. 42. εἰ ἔγνως, how do I wiſh that thou hadſt known in this thy day the things which belong to thy Peace? And hanging on the Croſs he ſaid, Father, forgive them, Luke 23. 34. making Interceſſion for thoſe Tranſgreſſors, Iſa. 53. 12. he therefore ſaith, that in this Addreſs he prayed not for them, becauſe he was then asking thoſe things which could not agree to them, but to his Apoſtles only, or to thoſe whom God had given him out of the World, viz. that they might be conſecrated to their Apoſtolical Function by that Spirit which the World could not receive, John 14. 17. that their Joy from his Preſence with them might be full; nor is there any thing in this whole Prayer which is not proper to Believers only. And,

3*dly*, This very Prayer for them is made for the ſake of the World, and with reſpect to their ſaving Faith, i. e. for them who ſhould believe believe through his Word, ver. 20. that the World might believe, and know that the Father had ſent him, ver. 23. So that he prayed for his Apoſtles for this very end, that the World by their means might believe, and believing might have Life through his Name; 'tis therefore plain he made this Prayer, in which he ſaith, I pray not for the World, out of affection to the World, and with this Deſign, that the preaching of the Apoſtles to them might be more effectual for their Converſion and Salvation.

So a Son of Death, is one worthy of it, 2 Sam. 12. 5. and ἔθνος ἀπωλείας, is a Nation fit to be deſtroyed, Eccluſ. 16. 9. See Matth. 23. 15. and the Note on Eph. 2. 3.

l Ver. 13. That they may have my Joy fulfilled in them;] i. e. That the Joy they had hitherto from my Love to them, chap. 5. 11. my Preſence with them, and Care of them, may, in my abſence, be encreaſed by the Preſence of that Spirit with them, who will ſupply my bodily Abſence, Chap. 16. 7. and whoſe Fruits are Joy and Peace, Gal. 5. 22. yea, by whom I, tho' abſent in Body, am ſtill preſent with them, chap. 14. 18.

m Ver. 14. The World hath hated them, &c.] This deſire of thy Protection and Aſſiſtance is needful to them, who will be certainly expoſed to great hatred from the World, and fit to be granted by thee, ſeeing they will be thus hated for preaching thy Word to the World.

n Ver. 15. But that thou ſhouldſt keep them ἀπὸ τ πονηρ, from the Evil;] i. e. from the evil Men of the World, and from Satan the Prince of the World, who by their means endeavours by fiery Perſecutions to ſuppreſs the Truth, and deſtroy or diſcourage the Preachers of it; whence their Perſecutions are aſcribed not to them, but to Satan, Luke 22. 31. 1 Theſſ. 2. 18—3. 5. Rev. 2. 10. From the 11th to the 16th Verſe, we learn, how neceſſary divine Aid is to our Preſervation and Succeſs, even in pious Enterpriſes, and ſo how neceſſary it is to ſeek it by fervent Prayer; and alſo from our Saviour's Affection to them, Care of them, and Prayer for them, how certain they who ſincerely devote themſelves to his Service, may be of his Aid in it, and his Protection while they are ſo employed.

o Ver. 17. Ἁγίαζον, Sanctifie them by thy Truth;] i. e. Conſecrate and ſet them apart, for the propagation of thy Truth. Now this Sanctification to the Prieſthood under the Old Teſtament, was made firſt with a Sacrifice offered for them: So Moſes receives a Command, ἁγιάζειν, to ſanctifie the Prieſts, ὥστε ἱερατεύειν μοι αὐτούς, that they might ſerve or offer to God, by the Oblation of a Bullock and a Ram, Exod. 29. 1. And thus Chriſt ſanctified his Apoſtles by offering up himſelf for them, ver. 19. 2*dly*, By anointing them with holy Oil, ver. 7. and in this ſenſe, Chriſt deſires here the Father to ſanctifie them to their Office, by the deſcent of the Holy Spirit; ſtiled, The Oil of Gladneſs, and the Promiſe of the Father, on them, and by whoſe Aſſiſtance they became able Miniſters of the New Teſtament, 2 Cor. 3. 6. which before they were not, and are therefore bid not to begin their Preaching to the World, till this Spirit from on High was come upon them, Luke 24. 49. Acts 1. 8.

p Ver. 19. Καὶ ὑπὲρ αὐτῶν, And for them I ſanctifie my ſelf;] i. e. I offer up my ſelf to be ſlain, as a piacular Victim, as Chryſoſtom ſaith here; in which ſenſe, the word ἁγιάζειν is often uſed, as I have ſhewed Note on Heb. 2. 11. Nor do theſe words admit of the ſenſe which ſome give them, thus, For their ſakes I ſhall by my Reſurrection, ſhew my ſelf to be the Holy One; for, as that is not to ſanctifie himſelf, ſo neither was it ſo needful for their ſakes who believed this already, ſaith our Lord, ver. 7, 8.

q Ver. 20. Neither pray I for theſe alone, but for them that ſhall believe, &c.] As Chriſt, ver. 17. had prayed for his Apoſtles, that they might be filled with the Spirit, ſo here he asks the ſame thing for thoſe that ſhould believe thro' their Word, that they alſo might be repleniſhed with the Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, according to the Prediction of the Baptiſt, Matth. 3. 11. and his own Promiſe, chap. 7. 38, 39. and as it after came to paſs. That theſe words, viz. That they may be one, as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee; are to be interpreted not of an Union of Concord, but by the participation of the Spirit, of the Father, and the Son, is proved; See Note on chap. 14. 20. Add that Chriſt declares, he did his Miracles by the Holy Spirit, Matth. 12. 28. that the Spirit was given to him without meaſure, chap. 3. 34. that thereby he was anointed to preach the Goſpel, Luke 4. 18, 19. Chriſt alſo ſays, that the Father abiding in him, did theſe Miracles, chap. 14. 10. and that the Jews, by the Doctrine thus preached, by virtue of this Unction, and the Miracles thus done by the Spirit of God, might and ought to know, that the Father was in him, and he in the Father, Chap. 10.38. And he promises, that they who believed in him should do greater Works than he had done, because going to the Father, he would send the Holy Spirit to them to abide ever with them, Chap. 14.12, 16, 17, 18. And then adds, that in that day, they should know, that I am in the Father, and you in me, and I in you, ver. 20. All which things prove, that the Father was in Christ, and he in him; not only by the Union of the Divine Nature with the Humane, but by Union of the same Spirit also residing in him; and consequently the Union of Believers with them both, must be by the same Spirit: Whence it is said, That he that is joined to the Lord, is ἓν πνεῦμα, one Spirit with him, 1 Cor. 6. 17. that their Bodies are made the Temples of the Holy Ghost, ver. 19. and they are an Habitation of God through the Spirit, Ephes. 2. 22. This farther will appear from the end of this Union, which is, saith Christ, That the World may believe and know, that thou hast sent me; for this the Apostles testified, and made known to the World, not by their Concord, but by virtue of that Spirit, with which they were endowed from on High, and which God gave to them that believed, Acts 5, 32. And this Interpretation we may learn from the words of (d) Irenæus to the same effect. This also will be still more evident from the words following.

(30) Ver. 21. See Additions N° 30.

r Ver. 22. And I have given them the Glory which thou gavest me, &c.] By this Glory we are to understand Christ's Power of working Miracles; which Power was given to the Apostles, and those who believed through their Preaching, by virtue of the Holy Spirit which came down upon them: For by the Power of this Spirit, Christ wrought his Miracles, and so manifested, τὴν δόξαν αὐτοῦ, his Glory, Chap. 2. 11. And the Administration of the Gospel is upon this account said to be ἐν δόξῃ, in or with Glory, 2 Cor. 3. 7, 11. and the Apostles are said to have seen the Glory of the Lord, and to have been transformed into the Likeness of it, from Glory to Glory, by the Spirit of the Lord, ver. 18. See the Note there. This Glory Christ is here said to have given his Apostles, not only that they might be one with the Father and the Son, but also that the World might know the Father, had loved them as he had loved Christ; whom he had so loved as to give the Spirit without measure to him.

Ver. 24. I will that those whom thou hast given me, may be with me, &c.] i. e. I will that they may be received up after the Resurrection into Heaven, as I was; for it seems probable, that none of the Saints, no not the Apostles, are to be received into the supreme Heaven, to enjoy the Beatifick Vision, before that time. See Note on Chap. 14. 3. s

Ver. 26. That the Love wherewith thou hast loved me, may be in them;] i. e. That thou may'st love them, as being thy Sons by Adoption, so as to make them partakers of an eternal Inheritance, Rom. 8. 17. and so as to fill them with thy Spirit, Gal. 4. 6. and raising them from the Dead, may'st crown them with eternal Glory. t

CHAP. XVIII.

1. WHEN Jesus had spoken these words, he [a] went forth (of the City) with his Disciples, (and went) over the Brook Cedron, where was a Garden; into which he entred, and his Disciples. a

2. And Judas also which betrayed him, knew the place; for Jesus oft-times resorted thither with his Disciples.

3. Judas then having received a Band of Men and Officers from the Chief Priests and Pharisees coming thither, (it being Night,) with Lanthorns, and Torches, and Weapons, (to apprehend him.)

4. Jesus therefore [b] knowing all things which should come upon him, went forth and said to them, Whom seek ye? b

5. They answered him, (We seek) Jesus of Nazareth: Jesus saith to them, I am he: And Judas also, who betrayed him, stood with them (when he said this.)

6. As soon then as he had said to them, I am he; they went backward, and fell to the ground.

7. Then (when they were risen up) asked he them again, Whom seek ye? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.

8. Jesus answered, I have told you that I am he; if therefore ye seek me (only,) let these (my Disciples) go their way.

(d) Effundit (Christus) spiritum Patris in adunationem & communionem Dei & hominum, ad homines quidem deponens Deum per spiritum, ad Deum rursus imponens hominem per suam Incarnationem. L. 5. c. 1.

c 9. (And this he ſaid) [c] that the Saying might be fulfilled which he ſpake, Of them (Apoſtles) which thou haſt given me, have I loſt none; (i. e. I have ſuffered none to periſh.)

10. Then Simon Peter having a Sword, drew it, and ſmote the High Prieſt's Servant, and cut off his right Ear, (and) the Servant's Name was Malchus.

d 11. Then ſaid Jeſus to Peter, [d] Put up thy Sword into the Sheath; (for) the Cup which my Father hath given me (to drink;) ſhall I not drink it?

e 12. Then [e] the Band, and the Captain, and Officers of the Jews, took Jeſus, and bound him, f 13. And led him away to [f] Annas firſt, for he was Father-in-law to Caiaphas, which (Caiaphas) was the High Prieſt that ſame Year (that Jeſus was crucified.)

14. Now Caiaphas was he (Gr. and it was that Caiaphas) which gave Counſel to the Jews, that it was expedient that one Man ſhould die (Gr. periſh) for the (preſervation of the) People.

15. And Simon Peter followed Jeſus, and g (ſo did) [g] another Diſciple; that Diſciple was known to the High Prieſt, and went in with Jeſus into the Palace of the High Prieſt.

16. But Peter ſtood at the door without: Then went out that other Diſciple which was known to the High Prieſt, and ſpake to her that kept the Door, and brought in Peter.

17. Then ſaid the Damſel that kept the Door to Peter, Art not thou alſo one of this Man's Diſciples? He ſaith, I am not.

18. And the Servants and Officers ſtood there, who had made a Fire of Coals, for it h [h] was cold, and they warmed themſelves; and Peter ſtood with them, and warmed himſelf.

19. The High Prieſt then (Annas having ſent Jeſus to him,) asked Jeſus of his Diſciples, and of his Doctrine.

20. Jeſus anſwered him, I ſpake (my Doctrine) openly to the World; I ever taught i (it) in [i] the Synagogues, and in the Temple, whither the Jews always reſort; and in ſecret have I ſaid nothing.

21. Why (then) askeſt thou me (of my Doctrine?) Ask (rather) them which heard me, what I have ſaid to them? Behold, they know what I ſaid.

22. And when he had thus ſpoken, one of the Officers which ſtood by, ſtruck Jeſus (on the Cheek) with the Palm of his Hand, ſaying, Anſwereſt thou the High Prieſt ſo (rudely?)

23. Jeſus anſwered him, If I have ſpoken Evil, bear witneſs of the Evil; but if (I k have ſaid) well, [k] why ſmiteſt thou me?

24. (This he ſaid to him,) Now (that) Annas [l] had ſent him bound to Caiaphas the l Prieſt;

25. And Simon Peter ſtood and warmed himſelf (with the Servants;) they ſaid therefore to him, (See Note on Matth. 26. 69.) Art not thou alſo one of his Diſciples? He denied it, and ſaid, I am not.

26. One of the Servants of the High Prieſt, being his Kinſman, whoſe Ear Peter cut off, ſaith, Did not I ſee thee in the Garden with him?

27. Peter then denied (it) again, and immediately the Cock crew.

28. Then led they Jeſus from Caiaphas to the Hall of Judgment; and it was early: And (but) they themſelves [m] went not into m the Judgment Hall (among the Heathens,) leſt they ſhould be defiled (by them,) but (ſtaid without) that they might eat the Paſſover, (i. e. the other Paſchal Offerings, clean and undefiled.)

29. Pilate then went out to them, and ſaid, What Accuſation bring you againſt this Man?

30. They anſwered and ſaid to him, If he were not a Malefactor, we would not have delivered him up to thee.

31. Then ſaid Pilate to them, Take ye him, and judge him according to your Law: The Jews therefore ſaid to him, [n] It is not n lawful for us to put any Man to Death; (and this they ſaid not, that they might not have done this after ſuch Licenſe given, but)

32. That the Saying of Jeſus might be fulfilled which he ſpake, ſignifying what Death he ſhould die, (viz. by being lifted up upon the Croſs.)

33. Then Pilate entred into the Judgment Hall again, and called Jeſus, and ſaid to him, Art thou the King of the Jews?

34. Jeſus anſwered him, Sayeſt thou this thing (makeſt thou this enquiry) of thy ſelf, (from a deſire to know the Truth?) or (becauſe) others did tell it thee of me? (laying it to my charge as a Crime, that I profeſs my ſelf Meſſiah their King.)

35. Pilate anſwered, Am I a Jew, (that I ſhould ask this for my own ſatisfaction? The Men of) thine own Nation, and the Chief Prieſts have delivered thee to me: What haſt thou done (to incenſe them thus againſt thee, and cauſe them to lay this Crime to thy charge?)

36. Jeſus anſwered, (True it is that I am a King; but) [o] my Kingdom is not of this o World, (nor to be propagated by force of Arms; for) if my Kingdom were of this World, then would my Servants fight, that I ſhould not be delivered to the Jews; but now (this being not done, it appears, that) my Kingdom is not from hence.

37. Pilate therefore ſaid to him, Art thou a King then? Jeſus anſwered, Thou ſayeſt that that (which is true, for) I am a King. To p this end was [p] I born, (that I might reign over the House of Jacob for ever, Luke 1. 33.) and for this cause came I into the World, that I should bear witness to the Truth; every one that is (a lover and believer) of the Truth, heareth my Voice.

38. Pilate said to him, What is Truth? And when he had said this, he went out again to the Jews, and saith to them, I find in him no fault at all.

39. But ye have a Custom, that I should release to you one at the Passover; will ye therefore that I (should) release to you the King of the Jews?

40. Then cried they all again, saying, (Release to us) not this Man, but Barabbas: Now Barabbas was a Robber.

Annotations on Chap. XVIII.

a Ver. 1. Ἐξῆλθε, He went out with his Disciples;] Not only out of the Chamber where he supped with them, for that he did when he said, Arise, let us go hence, Chap. 14. 31. but out of the City; the Gates, in such a time of Peace, and of such a Congress to the Passover as the City could not well contain, being not shut. The Evangelist adds, that he went over the Brook Cedron to a place where was a Garden; that as the Sin of the first Adam, which brought Destruction upon his Posterity, was committed in a Garden, so that salutary Passion of the second Adam, which was to rescue us from that Destruction, might begin in the like place: So the Fathers. Into this Garden he went with the Eleven Disciples; tho' going farther into it, to his Agony, he took with him only Peter, James and John, Matth. 26. 37.

b Ver. 4. Jesus therefore knowing all things that were to come upon him.] This the Apostle notes, to shew, that Christ fell not into the hands of the Jews, for want either of Power, as he shews ver. 6. by striking them all to the ground with a word that came to apprehend him, the Providence of God not suffering him to die without these Marks of a Divine Majesty and Power; or, for want of Wisdom, to foresee their Machinations against him; but as freely giving up himself to the Death for the welfare of Mankind. Vain therefore is the Saying of (a) Celsus, That a wise Man, had he foreseen the Danger, would have avoided it, if he could do it: For, if Kings and Captains have given up themselves freely to Death, and the utmost Perils, for the temporary Safety of their Country, much more might our blessed Lord do this for the Salvation of the whole World.

c Ver. 9. Ἵνα πληρωθῇ ὁ λόγος, That the Saying might be fulfilled which he spake, Of those which thou hast given me have I lost none.] That this Saying could not relate to the eternal State of Judas, or our Lord's Apostles, appears, 1*st*, From the precedent words, Let then these go away; for, saith the Evangelist, these very words were spoken, that the Saying of Christ, Chap. 17. 12. might be fulfilled; and yet Christ's desire that they might quietly be dismissed, was designed only to secure their temporal Preservation. 2*dly*, From the words themselves, recorded, Chap. 17. 12. Of those that thou hast given me, I have lost none but the Son of Perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, viz. Psal. 109. 8. Now this Scripture St. Peter interprets of the temporal Death of Judas, Acts 1. 16 — 20. It is no Objection against this Interpretation, that the Apostles were not always preserved from a violent Death, most of them being taken away by Martyrdom; for this our Lord could not intend, since he himself had told them, before he spake these words, that some of them should be put to Death, and some should drink of his Cup, Matth. 24. 9. — 20. 23. but only that he being present with them, had thus lost none of them; and hence he prays, that in his absence his Father would thus keep them; and accordingly the Apostle testifies, that when they were engaged in their Apostolick Function, they were wonderfully preserved by the Divine Providence, insomuch that even this was a Testimony of the Life and Power of Jesus, 2 Cor. 19. 10. Ch. 4. 10, 11. Ch. 13. 4. and especially they were so preserved, that none of them fell from their Apostolick Office, as Judas did, Acts 1. 25.]

Ver. 11. Put up thy Sword into the Sheath.] d Vain here is the Inference of Bernard, in his Epistle to Pope Eugenius, from these words, That both the Spiritual and the Material Sword belonged to the Church, telling him, the material Sword is his, though it be not to be weilded by his hand, but by the hand of the Soldier, yet so as he is to do it ad nutum sacerdotis, at the Will of the Priest. For, with what sense can it be gathered from Christ's reprehension of St. Peter for using this Sword, even before he was made a Priest, according to the Doctrine of the Romanists; or from Christ's Command to put it up into the Sheath, that it belonged to the Priest; or because Peter had a Sword, which belonged not at all to his Office as an Apoſtle, that the Pope muſt have a Title to that more than to his Net or Fiſhing-boat? The two Swords, of which Chriſt ſpake, were both material, and of them Chriſt ſaid, It is enough; not to combat with their Adverſaries, but to ſhew the Peril of that preſent time. See the Note on Luke 22.38.

e Ver. 12. Ἡ οὖν σπεῖρα καὶ ὁ χιλίαρχος, The Band and the Captain.] At the time of the Paſſover, it was cuſtomary for the Roman Preſident to ſend a whole Band of a thouſand Men for a guard to the Temple; the Captain of which Band is here called χιλίαρχος.

f Ver. 13. And they led him away to Annas firſt;] That by him, who was more Aged and better Experienced in the Law, Caiaphas might be directed what to do in the caſe, or becauſe he was the Prince of the Sanhedrim; from him he was ſent bound to Caiaphas the High Prieſt, as appears from ver. 24. See the Note there: Of his being ſent to Annas, the other Evangeliſts ſay nothing, becauſe nothing was done to Chriſt there, but all was performed at the Palace of the High Prieſt; there was Chriſt examined, ver. 19. and there Peter denied him, Matth. 26. 57, 69.

g Ver. 15. Καὶ ὁ ἄλλος μαθητὴς, And the other Diſciple.] He ſeems not to be John; for he being a Galilæan, as well as Peter, they might have equally ſuſpected him on that account.

h Ver. 18. Ὅτι ψῦχος ἦν, For it was cold.] The Jews, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, teſtifie, That there might be Snow or Froſt at the Paſſover; and Radulphus, that great Dews fell then, which made the Air cold till the Sun had exhaled them.

i Ver. 20. I taught always in the Synagogue, and in the Temple.] This confutes them who ſay, Chriſt came not to Jeruſalem, leſt the Romans ſhould ſuſpect him of affecting a Kingdom; for here he teſtifies, that he taught daily in the Temple: After his firſt Miracle done in Cana of Galilee, we find him going up to Jeruſalem to keep the Paſſover, where he abode at leaſt eight Days; and many ſeeing the Miracles that he did, believed on him, Chap. 5. 1. and Chap. 6. 4. he aſcends again to the Feaſt; ſo that we have reaſon to believe, he never declined that Feaſt. He alſo went up to the Feaſt of Tabernacles, Chap. 7. 10. and preached to the People in the Temple, ver. 13. and wrought ſuch Wonders, that the Jews cried out, When Chriſt cometh, will he do more Miracles than theſe? ver. 31. This Feaſt being ended, he goes to the Mount of Olives, and returns the next Day to preach in the Temple, Chap. 8. 1, 2. At the Feaſt of Dedication, we find him again walking in Solomon's Porch, Chap. 10. 23. and there declaring himſelf to be the Son of God, Chap. 11. He is at Bethany, but two Miles diſtant from Jeruſalem, where he raiſes Lazarus from the Dead; and from Bethany he goes to Jeruſalem, the People going before him, and crying, Hoſanna to the Son of David.

Ver. 23. Why ſmiteſt thou me?] Hence we learn, that we are not literally to underſtand the Precept of turning the other Cheek to him that ſmites us; for Chriſt himſelf did not this, but defends the Innocency of his Words; which alſo ſhews, that to ſtand up in the defence of our own Innocency, cannot be contrary to the Chriſtian Duties of Patience and Forgiveneſs. See Additions N° 31. (31) k

Ver. 24. Ἀπέστειλεν οὖν, Annas had ſent him bound to Caiaphas.] Ἀπέστειλεν, here the perfect, is put for the plu-perfect Tenſe. So ἔδησεν αὐτόν, he had bound him, Matth. 14. 3. and ver. 4. ἔλεγε, he had ſaid. So ἐκράτησε ἔδησε, ἔλεγε, he had apprehended, had bound, had ſaid, Mark 6. 17, 18. and v. 26. ἀπέκοψε, he had cut off. l

Ver. 28. They went not out into the Judgment Hall,] among the Gentiles, whom they eſteemed as unclean, Acts 10. 28. leſt by touching them they ſhould be unclean, as the Law pronounces him that toucheth an unclean Perſon, Numb. 19. 22. and ſo ſhould be unfit to eat the Chagigah, or Paſchal Sacrifices, which began to be eaten on the 15th Day, and being Holy Things, might not be eaten in their Defilement: That theſe are alſo called the Paſſover, and that the Paſchal Lamb was eaten the Evening before, and that there was no Tranſlation of it to another Day, either by reaſon of the Sabbath, or the Uncleanneſs of the Congregation; ſee the Appendix to Mark 14. and Dr. Lightfoot. m

Ver. 31. Ἡμῖν οὐκ ἔξεστιν ἀποκτεῖναι οὐδένα, It is not lawful for us to put any Man to Death.] The Jews ſay, that the Power of inflicting capital Puniſhments upon Offenders, was taken from them by the Romans forty Years before the Deſtruction of their City and Temple. So we read in the Jeruſalem Talmud. L. Sanhedrim, c. 7. in that of Babylon, Sanhedr. fol. 41. in Aboda Zara, fol. 2. in Maimonides, Tr. Sanhedr. cap. 14. §. 13. And if it had remained with them at this time, 'tis ſuppoſed they would have been more ſpeedy in cutting off our Saviour. But yet it ſeemeth evident, that the Jews ſtill retained the Power of Judging and Condemning thoſe to Death, who were Jews by Nature and Original, and by their Laws deſerved to die. For after they were reduced to a Roman Province, this Privilege, ſaith (b) Joſephus, was ſtill granted to them, τοῖς πάλαι θεσμοῖς καὶ ἱεροῖς χρῆσθαι, to uſe the n the sacred Institutions and Customs derived to them from their Fathers. And it was granted to Hyrcanus their High Priest, That if any Controversie arose, περὶ τ Ἰουδαίων ἀναγκῆς, touching the Discipline of the Jews, (c) κρίσιν γνώσθ παρ' αὐτῦ, the Judgment of it should be referred to him. Accordingly we find the High Priest and his Council stoning Stephen, not jure Zelatarum, by the Rage of Zealots, as some conceive, but according to the Law, that the Blasphemer should be stoned, Levit. 24. 16. Deut. 17. 6, 7. For he is brought before the High Priest and his Council, Acts 6. 15.——7. 1. who were the proper Judges in this case, Witnesses are produced who testifie before them that he had spoken blasphemous words against the Temple and the Law, against Moses and against God, Acts 6. 11, 13. these Witnesses do also stone him first, according as the Law required. Thus also Saul armed with the Power of the High Priest and Elders, persecuted the Jewish Christians, ἀχρὶ θανάτυ, unto Death, and led them bound to Jerusalem to be punished, Acts 22. 4, 5. thus also would they have judged Paul after their own Law, Acts 24. 6. and would have killed him, Acts 23. 37. had not Lysias the chief Captain rescued him from their hands; this, say they, he did by Violence, i. e. by an Invasion of their Rights; this, saith he, I did, knowing that he was a Roman, and so would not have done it, had he been a Jew only. They therefore seem to say they could not do this in the case of Christ, because they had accused him before Pilate, not of Crimes committed against their Law, but of Sedition, and aspiring to a Kingdom in prejudice to Cæsar and the Roman Government, of which things it belonged to Pilate, not to them, to judge. But perhaps this matter may be compounded by reflecting on Ananus the High Priest, who killed James the Brother of our Lord, and stoned many other Christians, ὡς παρανομήσαντας, as being Transgressors of the Law; this, saith Josephus, οἱ περὶ τὰς νόμυς ἀκριβεῖς, they who best understood their Laws disliked, saying, that Ananus should not have called a Council concerning Life and Death, without License from Albinus the Roman President; whence I infer that the Power of inflicting capital Punishments, even upon the Jews converted to the Christian Faith, was then so taken from them, that they could not ὀρθῶς regularly do it without leave first obtained from the Roman President; but with his leave they might inflict upon them any capital Punishment denounced against Malefactors by their Law. And if it be here said that Pilate gave them leave to inflict this Death on our Lord, by saying, Take ye him, and crucifie him, chap. 19. 6. To this the Answer is, (1.) That Pilate had given them no such License when he spake these words; (2.) That Crucifixion was none of the kinds of Death assigned by their Law; and, (3.) That Pilate by these words seems not to authorize them to do this, but rather to say to them, Do it at your Peril, for I judge him Innocent. See the Note there.

Ver. 36. My Kingdom is not of this World,] o and so hath nothing to do with, or opposite to the Roman Government; it is not of humane or mundane Original, but from Heaven, and so it meddles not with the Affairs of this World; it hath none of the Pomp or Splendor of the World, none to fight for it with any carnal Weapons, Luke 9. 56. it exercises no Dominion over Mens Bodies, but their Souls only. So the Phrase ἐκ τ κόσμυ ἐκ εἶ, not to be of this World, signifies, John 8. 23.——15. 19.——17. 14. especially when 'tis opposed to being ἐκ τ πατρὸς, from the Father, 1 John 2. 16. and ἐκ τ Θεῦ, from God, 1 John 4. 4, 5, 6. So when Domitian enquired of the Kingdom of Christ, of what Nature it was, and when, and where it was to be set up; the Nephews of that Judas, who was the Brother of our Lord, answered, It was (d) not an earthly, but an heavenly Kingdom, to be set up at the end of the World.

Ver. 37. For this cause was I born, and p for this cause came I into the World.] Hence the Socinians infer, that Christ was born before he came into the World; and that this latter Phrase only denotes his Entrance on his publick Ministry, Chap. 3. 17, 19.—— 9. 39.—— 11. 27. But this follows not from these words, which only may import the same thing, viz. that Christ was born, and came into the World to this end, that he might bear witness to the Truth. See the Notes upon the places cited.

CHAP. XIX.

1. THEN Pilate therefore, (to ſatisfie the Clamors of the Jews,) took Jeſus and a [a] ſcourged him;
2. And the Soldiers platted a Crown of Thorns, and put it on his Head, and they put upon him a Purple Robe,
3. And ſaid, Hail King of the Jews, and they ſmote him with their Hands.
4. Pilate therefore went forth again, and ſaith to them, Behold I bring him forth to you, that ye may know that I find no fault in him; (let it therefore ſuffice that I have ſcourged him.)
5. Then came Jeſus forth, wearing the Crown of Thorns, and the Purple Robe, and Pilate ſaith to them, Behold the Man! (how deſpicable he is, and how ridiculous it is to think of his affecting a Kingdom, or attempting any thing againſt Cæſar's Government.)
6. When the Chief Prieſts therefore, and Officers ſaw him, they cryed out, ſaying, Crucifie him, crucifie him; Pilate ſaith to b them, (If ye will have it ſo,) [b] take ye him, and crucifie him, for I find no fault in him, (and therefore cannot do it my ſelf.)
7. The Jews anſwered him, We have a c Law, [c] and by our Law he ought to die, (as being guilty of Blaſphemy.) becauſe he made himſelf the Son of God, (John 10. 33.)
8. When Pilate therefore heard that ſaying, he was the more afraid (to crucifie him;)
9. And went again into the Judgment Hall, and ſaith to Jeſus, Whence art thou? but Jeſus gave him no Anſwer.
10. Then ſaith Pilate to him, Speakeſt thou not to me? Knoweſt thou not that I have Power to crucifie thee, and have Power to releaſe thee?
11. Jeſus anſwered, thou (mayeſt have this Power over Malefactors and ordinary d Men, but thou) couldſt have [d] no Power at all againſt me (the Son of God, and wholly Innocent,) except (through the wiſe Counſel of God appointing me to die for the Salvation of Mankind,) it were given (i. e. permitted) thee from above (to put me to Death,) therefore he that delivered me (the Son of God) to thee, (that I might be crucified as a Malefactor,) hath the greater Sin, (though thy Sin in condemning him in whom thou findeſt no fault at all, cannot be little.)
12. And from thenceforth Pilate ſought to releaſe him; but the Jews cried out, ſaye ing, [e] If thou let this Man go, thou art not Cæſar's Friend, (for) whoſoever maketh himſelf a King, (he by ſo doing) ſpeaketh againſt Cæſar, (as ſaying in effect he is not the rightful King over us.)
13. When Pilate therefore heard that ſaying, he brought Jeſus forth (of the Judgment Hall) and ſat down in the Judgment Seat, in a place that is called the Pavement, but in the Hebrew, Gabbatha.
14. And it was the Preparation of the Paſſover, (i. e. Friday in the Paſchal Week, ver. 31. and 42. See the Appendix to Mark 14.) and about the ſixth Hour, he ſaith to the Jews, Behold your King.
15. But they cried out, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him; Pilate ſaith to them, Shall I crucifie your King? The Chief Prieſts anſwered, [f] We have no (Perſon we f own as our) King but Cæſar.
16. Then [g] delivered he him therefore to g them to be crucified, and they (i. e. the Soldiers) took Jeſus, and led him away.
17. And he bearing his Croſs (part of the way, ſee Note on Luke 23. 26.) went forth to a place called the place of a Skull, which is called in the Hebrew, Golgotha.
18. Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either ſide one, and Jeſus in the midſt.
19. And Pilate wrote a Title, and put it on the Croſs; and the Writing was, (this is) JESUS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE JEWS.
20. This Title then read many of the Jews, for the place where Jeſus was crucified was nigh to the City, and it was written in Hebrew, and Greek, and Latin.
21. Then ſaid the Chief Prieſts of the Jews to Pilate, Write not the King of the Jews, but that he ſaid, I am the King of the Jews.
22. Pilate anſwered, What I have written, I have written, (i. e. the Inſcription ſhall not be changed.)
23. Then the Soldiers, when they had crucified Jeſus, took his (other) Garments, and made four parts, (out of them,) to every Soldier a part, and (they took) alſo his Coat, now the Coat was without Seam, woven from the top throughout.
24. They ſaid therefore among themſelves, [h] Let us not rent it, (it being all of one piece,) h but caſt Lots for it whoſe it ſhall be, (and this was done) that the Scripture might be fulfilled which ſaith, (Pſal. 22. 19.) They parted my Raiment among them, and for my Veſture they did caſt Lots; theſe things therefore the Soldiers did.

25. Now

25. Now there stood by the Cross of Jesus, his Mother, and his Mother's Sister, i [i] Mary the Wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene.

26. When Jesus therefore saw his Mother, and the Disciple standing by whom he loved, k he said to his Mother, [k] Woman, behold (him who is to take care of thee, as if he were) thy Son.

27. Then saith he to the Disciple, Behold (her whom thou must henceforth treat as) thy Mother; and from that time that Disciple (St. John) took her to his own home.

28. After this, Jesus knowing that all things (else relating to his Life on Earth,) were now accomplished, that the Scripture might (in this also) be fulfilled, saith, I thirst.

29. Now there was set (for the Soldiers) a Vessel full of Vinegar, and they filled a Spunge with Vinegar, and put it upon Hyssop, and put it to his Mouth.

30. When Jesus therefore had received the Vinegar, he saith, It (i. e. my Work on Earth) is finished, and (then) he bowed his Head, l and [l] gave up the Ghost.

31. The Jews therefore, because it was the Preparation, (i. e. Friday,) that the Bodies should not remain upon the Cross on the Sabbath day, for that Sabbath day was an high day, (as being not a Sabbath only, but the second day of unleavened Bread, from whence they reckoned their Sabbath till Pentecost, and the day of presenting or waving the Sheaf offering, Lev. 23. 11, 15. and so a triple Festival,) besought Pilate that their Legs might be broken, and that they might be taken away.

32. Then came the Soldiers, and brake the Legs of the first, and of the other (Thief) which was crucified with him.

33. But when they came to Jesus, and saw that he was dead already, they [m] brake not m his Legs.

34. But one of the Soldiers with a Spear pierced his side, and forthwith came thereout [n] Blood and Water. n

35. And he that (standing by the Cross, ver. 26.) saw it, bare Record, and his Record is true, and he knoweth that he saith true, (and testifies it) that ye might believe.

36. For these things were done (according to a foregoing Prophecy concerning him,) that the Scripture should be fulfilled, (which saith, Psal. 34. 39.) a Bone of him shall not be broken.

37. And again (that) [o] another Scripture o (might be fulfilled, which) saith (Zach. 12. 10.) They shall look on him whom they pierced.

38. And after this, Joseph of Arimathea, being a Disciple of Jesus, but secretly for fear of (offending) the Jews, besought Pilate that he might take away the Body of Jesus, and Pilate gave him leave, he came therefore and took the Body of Jesus.

39. And there came also Nicodemus, which at the first came to Jesus by night, and brought a mixture of Myrrh and Aloes, about an [p] hun- p dred pound weight.

40. Then took they the Body of Jesus, and wound it in linen Cloaths with the Spices, as the manner of the Jews is to bury.

41. Now in (or near) the place where he was crucified, there was a Garden, and in the Garden a new Sepulchre, wherein was never Man yet laid:

42. There laid they Jesus therefore, because of the Jews Preparation day, for the Sepulchre was nigh at hand.

Annotations on Chap. XIX.

a Ver. 1. Καὶ ἐμαστίγωσε, And scourged him,] after the manner of the Romans, who chastised them first with Whips who were to be crucified, tho' Pilate did this not with an intent to crucifie him in whom he found no fault, but hoping that their Rage might be satisfied with it. See Note on Luke 23. 16.

b Ver. 6. Take ye him, and crucifie him.] Pontius Pilate does not here give them leave to do this, but rather saith, if you will have it so, do it your selves at your peril, for I cannot condemn a Man without a fault. So Grotius.

c Ver. 7. By our Law he ought to die, ὅτι ἑαυτὸν υἱὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ ἐποίησεν, because he made himself the Son of God.] The Jews could not here mean the Law against false Prophets, Deut. 18. 20. partly because the reason here assigned doth not prove Christ a false Prophet, partly because Christ neither tempted them to worship himself, and much less to worship false Gods; nor did he give them any false Sign, which are the only reasons assigned in that Chapter for putting the false Prophet to Death; how much more probable is it that they meant the Law against Blasphemy? Levit. 24. 16. because they do not only seek to kill him as a Blasphemer, for these very words, John 5. 18. but to stone him, which was the very kind of Death assigned by that Law to the Blasphemer; See John 10. 33, 36. Hence in the other Evangelists they charge him with Blasphemy, and judge him worthy of Death for this Confession, that he was the Son of God, Mat. 26. 64, 65, 66. Mark 14. 61.—64. Luke 22. 71, 72. as judging that by this Assertion, he being being a Man made himſelf equal with God. Schlictingius owns this, but then he adds, that the Jews miſunderſtood, and calumniated him in this Inference, Chriſt meaning no more by this Aſſertion, than that he was the true Meſſiah. But againſt this Mitigation of the import of the words there lies a plain Objection, that tho' Chriſt was ſo much concerned for the Honour of his Father, whoſe Honour muſt be much impaired by the Advancement of the beſt of Men to an equality with him; and tho' this Blaſphemy, if truly laid to his charge, was a ſufficient Evidence that he was not the Chriſt, yet neither in the 5th or 10th of John doth he ever plainly ſay he was not God, or that he never did intend to ſignifie by this Expreſſion that he was equal to God, as is ſhewed in the Notes on thoſe two places, which yet had he been only Man ſeems more neceſſary to have been done, for the Honour of God, and for the removal of ſo juſt a Prejudice againſt him, than to remove any other Calumny they falſly charged upon him.

d Ver. 11. Οὐκ εἶχες ἐξουσίαν ἐδεμίαν κατ' ἐμοῦ, Thou couldſt have no Power againſt me, &c.] This ſeems to be a Jewiſh Phraſe importing a Power to take away the Life of another; as when Saul ſaith to Doeg, 1 Sam. 22. 18. fall upon the Prieſts, exerciſe Authority upon them, ſaith the Chaldee, and the ſame Expreſſion is there uſed when David bids his Servant fall on the Amalekite, 2 Sam. 1. 15. And when King Solomon ſent Benaiah to fall upon Adonijah, 1 Kings 2. 25. and upon Joab, ver. 29, 30. and upon Shimei. See the Paraphraſe here.

e Ver. 12. If thou letteſt this Man go, thou art not Cæſar's Friend.] This chiefly moved Pilate, becauſe as Tacitus and Suetonius obſerve, Tiberius was apt to ſuſpect the worſt; and the leaſt Crimes with him made a Man guilty of Death, if they related to the Government; he durſt not therefore venture that this charge ſhould be laid againſt him by the Jews.

f Ver. 15. We have no King but Cæſar.] By this how plainly do they condemn themſelves as guilty of Rebellion in all their Attempts by War and Tumults to free themſelves from the Government of Cæſar, and own that the terrible Deſtruction which at laſt came upon them, was from themſelves?

g Ver. 16. Then Pilate delivered him to them.] not to the Jews, but to the Soldiers, that he might be crucified, as he was, by them, tho' he, who was delivered to the Soldiers to be crucified only at their Requeſt, and to ſatisfie their reſtleſs Clamors, that he might be crucified, may be well ſaid to be delivered up to them who brought him to Pilate for this end, and prevailed with him thus to give him up.

h Ver. 24. Let us not rent it, but let us caſt Lots for it.] They divided his other Garments into four parts, and then caſt Lots what part each of them ſhould chuſe, Mark 15. 24. Matth. 27. 35. Luke 23. 34. but they caſt Lots for his Coat who ſhould have the whole.

i Ver. 25. Μαρία ἡ τοῦ Κλωπᾶ, Mary the Wife of Cleophas or Alphæus, חלפי being flexile into Alphai or Cleophi, here it is to be rendred Alphæus, for this Mary was the Mother of James the Leſs, Mark 15. 40. whoſe Father was Alphæus, Matth. 10. 3.

k Ver. 26. Woman, behold thy Son.] Hence it is gathered that Joſeph her Husband was then dead, whence Chriſt takes care ſhe ſhould not be deſtitute, and therefore charges his beloved Diſciple to treat her as his Mother, and he accordingly takes her home to his own Houſe.

l Ver. 30. Παρέδωκε τὸ πνεῦμα, He gave up his Spirit.] into his Father's Hands, Luke 23. 46. The Jews, ſaith Grotius, who believed a Judgment to come, uſed this Phraſe to ſignifie that the Soul leaving the Body at the time of Death, returned to God that gave it, Eccleſ. 12. 7. to receive its Sentence from him.

m Ver. 33, 36. They brake not his Bones; 36. and this was done that the Scripture might be fulfilled (which ſaith) ὀστοῦν οὐ συντριβήσεται αὐτοῦ, a Bone of him (or it) ſhall not be broken.] This is uſually referred to the Command touching the Paſchal Lamb, thou ſhalt not break a Bone of it, Exod. 12. 46. Numb. 9. 12. where the Greek ſaith, ὀστοῦν οὐ συντρίψετε ἀφ' αὐτοῦ. But David being alſo a Type of Chriſt, we may as probably refer this to the words, Pſal. 34. 20. He keepeth all their Bones, ἓν ἐξ αὐτῶν οὐ συντριβήσεται, one of them ſhall not be broken: that Promiſe which reſpects all righteous Perſons, being more eſpecially to be fulfilled in this Juſt One.

n Ver. 34. Καὶ ἐυθὺς ἐξῆλθεν αἷμα καὶ ὕδωρ, And forthwith came there out Blood and Water.] The Covenant of the old Law was confirmed by Blood mixed with Water to keep it from congealing, Heb. 9. 19. So alſo was the Covenant of the New Teſtament, 1 John 5. 6. Dr. Lightfoot farther ſaith, that according to the Tradition of the Jewiſh Rabbins, when Moſes ſmote the Rock, there came forth firſt Blood, and then Water, now that Rock was Chriſt, 1 Cor. 10. 4.

o Ver. 37. And again another Scripture ſaith, they ſhall look upon him whom they have pierced.] The Application of theſe words to Chriſt agrees with the Opinion of the ancient Jews, who interpret, Zach. 12. 10. of Meſſiah the Son of David, as Moſes Hudarſan in Gen. 28. tho' R. Solomon Jarchi, R. David, and Abarbinel refer it to the Death of Meſſiah the Son of Joſeph. Hence alſo note

p Ver. 39. About an hundred pound weight:] Which was an Indication not only of the Wealth, but also of the great Affection of Nicodemus to the Blessed Jesus: Hence also, they not only anoint him, as they commonly used to do others, but bury him with so great a mixture of Spices as was done at the Funerals of great Men. So Jacob was embalmed after the Ægyptian manner, Gen. 50. 2. Asa with Spices and sweet Odours, 2 Chron. 16. 14.

CHAP. XX.

1. THE first day of the Week, cometh a [a] Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, to the Sepulchre, (other Women being with her,) and seeth the Stone taken away from the Sepulchre.

b 2. Then (seeing this) she (instantly) [b] runneth and cometh (not to all the Disciples, but) to Simon Peter, and to the other Disciple whom Jesus loved, and saith to them, They have taken away the Lord out of the Sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him.

3. Peter therefore went forth, and that other Disciple, and came to (wards) the Sepulchre;

4. So they ran both together, and (but) the other Disciple did out-run Peter, and came first to the Sepulchre:

5. And he stooping down, and looking in, saw the Linen Cloths lying, yet went he not in.

6. Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the Sepulchre, and seeth the Linen Cloths lye;

7. And the Napkin that was about his Head not lying with the Linen Cloths, but wrapt together in a place by it self:

8. Then went in also that other Disciple, c which came first to the Sepulchre, and [c] he saw and believed (either the Report of the Women, or our Lord's Resurrection, which they believed not before.)

d 9. For as yet [d] they knew not (the import of) the Scriptures, (which said) that he must rise again from the Dead.

10. Then the (se two) Disciples went again to their own home.

11. But Mary (returning with them) stood without at the Sepulchre weeping; and as she wept, she stooped down and looked into the Sepulchre,

12. And seeth two Angels in white, sitting, the one at the Head, and the other at the Feet, where the Body of Jesus had laid:

13. And they say to her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith to them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

14. And when she had thus said, she turned her self back, and saw Jesus standing, and (but she) knew not that it was Jesus.

15. Jesus saith to her, Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the Gardiner, saith to him, Sir, if thou hast taken him away hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16. Jesus saith to her, Mary, She turneth her self, and saith to him, Rabboni, that is to say, Master.

17. Jesus saith to her, [e] Touch me not, e (spend not now thy time in touching my Body;) for I am not yet ascended, (I shall not presently ascend) to my Father, but go (first) to my Brethren, and say to them, I (am shortly to) ascend to my Father, and your Father, [f] and to my God and to your f
God, (to do for you the things of which I spake, Chap. 14. 16)

18. Mary Magdalen (then) came, and told the Disciples, that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things to her.

19. Then the same (Lord's) Day at Evening, being the first Day of the Week, when the [g] Doors were shut where the Disciples g were assembled, (and kept themselves close) for fear of the Jews, came Jesus, and (opening silently the Doors,) stood in the midst (of them) and saith to them, Peace be to you.

20. And when he had so said, he shewed them his (pierced) Hands and his Side: Then were the Disciples glad when they saw the Lord.

21. Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be to you; [h] as my Father hath sent me (to h preach in his Name,) even so send I you (to preach in my Name.)

22. And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and saith to them, Receive ye the Holy Ghost (to enable you for this Office.)

23. [i] Whose soever Sins ye (thus commis- i sionated, and thus assisted by the Holy Ghost, declaratively shall) remit, they are (and shall under the Gospel Covenant, be) remitted to them; and whose soever Sins ye (declaratively in your Gospel shall) retain, they are (and shall in Heaven be) retained.

24. But Thomas, one of the Twelve, called Didymus, was not with them when Jeſus came.

25. The other Diſciples therefore ſaid to him, We have ſeen the Lord: But he ſaid to them, Except I ſhall ſee in his Hands the Print of the Nails, and put my Finger into the Print of the Nails, and thruſt my Hand into his Side, I will not believe.

26. And after eight Days, (i. e. the next Lord's Day,) again his Diſciples were within, and Thomas with them; then came Jeſus, the Doors being ſhut, and ſtood in the midſt, and ſaid, Peace be to you.

27. Then ſaith he to Thomas, Reach hither thy Finger, and behold my Hands, and reach hither thy Hand, and thruſt it into my Side, and be not faithleſs, but believing.

28. And Thomas anſwered, and ſaid to him, (Doſt thou know what I ſaid in thy abſence? and haſt thou raiſed thy ſelf from the Dead? Thou art) [k] my Lord and my God. k

29. Jeſus ſaith to him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeen me, thou haſt believed; (but more) [l] bleſſed are they who have not ſeen, and yet have believed. l

30. And many other Signs truly did Jeſus in the preſence of his Diſciples, which are not written in this Book.

31. But theſe are written, that ye might [m] believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt, the (only begotten) Son of God, and that believing, ye might have Life through his Name. m a Ver. 1. MARY Magdalen:] More Women and more Marys came to the Sepulchre, Luke 23. 55. — 24. 1. but the other Evangeliſts beginning ſtill with her, St. John by naming her, who only ſpake, and only looked down into the Sepulchre, left the reſt to be underſtood.

b Ver. 2. She runneth before, and cometh to Simon Peter.] All the Interpreters that I have met with, ſay, That Mary ran not preſently to Peter and John, but only after ſhe had ſeen the Lord, ver. 18. And this they prove from Luke 24. 10, 11. But this cannot conſiſt with the words of St. John, who ſaith, ſhe came to Peter and John only; whereas St. Luke, and the other Evangeliſts ſay, ſhe came to all the reſt of the Apoſtles, Matth. 28. 8. Mark 16. 10. When ſhe came to St. Peter and St. John, ſhe came alone, complained to them, that Chriſt's Body was taken away, not thinking that he was riſen; So here: When ſhe came to the reſt of the Apoſtles, ſhe came with the Meſſage from the Angels, and from Chriſt himſelf, that he was riſen, Matth. 28. 7, 8, 10. and was ſeen of her, Mark 16. 10, 11. Luke 24. 23. So here, ver. 18. which plainly ſhews, that all the other Evangeliſts ſpeak only of this Second Coming, mention'd ver. 18.

Object. St. Luke ſaith, They came to the Apoſtles; and then adds, ver. 12. that Peter ἔδραμε, ran to the Sepulchre.

Anſw. That word may be thus render'd, Peter had run, and ſtooping down had ſeen; as if he ſhould have ſaid, The Woman told the words of the Angels to the Diſciples; and Peter alſo, to his admiration, had ſeen the Body gone, and the Linen Cloths wrapt up by themſelves; which, by the way, is an evidence, that Chriſt's Body was not ſtolen away by his Diſciples, ſince they would have carried it away, embalmed as it was, and not have ſtayed to wrap up the Napkins.

Ver. 8. And he ſaw, and believed.] Peter only ſaw, and admired at what was done, Luke 24. 12. but St. John ſaw, and believed, not the words of Mary, for we find not that either of them ſuſpected her of Falſhood, but the Reſurrection of Jeſus, or the words of Chriſt, After three Days I will riſe again; This, John ſaith, was the reaſon of his Faith, not the Predictions of the Old Teſtament: For, as for the Apoſtles, c

Ver. 9. As yet they believed not the Scriptures (which ſaith) that he ought to riſe from the Dead.] So infirm was the Faith, not only of the Jews in general in that Age, but of the Apoſtles alſo, that they believed not the two Fundamental Articles of the Chriſtian Faith, the Death and Reſurrection of the Meſſiah: As for the Jews, a contrary Tradition had obtained among them, that their Meſſiah ſhould not die, John 12. 34. And tho' our Saviour ſpake oft to his Diſciples of his Death and Reſurrection; this Tradition and Thoughts of his Temporal Kingdom, were ſo fixed in their Heads, that his Diſciples underſtood not what he ſaid; and this Saying was concealed from them, Mark 9. 32. Luke 9. 45. — 18. 34. Whence Chriſt, after his Reſurrection, upbraids them with their ſlowneſs to believe the Scriptures, and ſhews them from them, that Chriſt ought to ſuffer, and riſe again the third day, Luke 24. 25. — 44. 45. And hence it follows, that the Jews then underſtood not that any of their Sacrifices were Types of our Saviour's Paſſion, or availed to procure the Remiſſion of their Sins on that account, and ſo could have no explicite Faith in his Blood, or expect Juſtification by it. Whence St. Paul in that whole Chapter, Hebrews 11. in which he ſpeaks ſo much of the Faith of the Patriarchs, hath not the leaſt intimation d e Ver. 17. Touch me not, for I am not yet ascended to my Father.] I was once inclined from these words to think, that as the Sacrifice was not only to be slain, but the Blood was to be brought into the Sanctuary, and there presented before God to obtain the Remission of Sins; so Christ here intimated, that having offered up his Body to the Death, he to compleat his Priestly Office, and procure the full Pardon of our Sins, was immediately to ascend into the Heavenly Sanctuary, to present there his Blood before God: For why else doth he say, Hold, or detain me not, for I have not yet ascended? Why doth he add these words, Go, tell my Disciples, I ascend? But finding that no Evangelist ever speaks of any such immediate Ascent after his Resurrection, and that no Commentator, Ancient or Modern, ever thought of such a thing, I think it better to refer these words to what Christ said to his Disciples not long before his Passion: For he had told them for their Comfort, that he was shortly to go to his Father, Chap. 14. 12. and that then he would enable them to do greater Works than he himself had done; and that this was just matter of their Joy, ver. 28. and was more expedient for them than his Presence with them, Chap. 16. 7. because then he would send the Comforter, and whatsoever they should ask the Father in his Name, should be done to them, ver. 23. because the Father himself loved them; ver. 26, 27. Go, saith he, therefore, and tell my Disciples, that now they shortly may expect these gracious Promises should be made good to them by my Ascent to the Father: And as for thee, thou needest not to be solicitous to touch or hold me now, thou wilt have time sufficient to converse with me, and to experiment the truth of my Resurrection; for I shall not immediately ascend, but stay some time with you here on Earth. Against this it may be objected, That ἀναβέβηκα is an Aorist, and so ὅπω ἀναβέβηκα should be rendred, I have not yet ascended; not, I do, or I shall not yet ascend. But to this I answer, That Grammarians observe, that the Aorist is often put both for the present Tense and the future. See Glassius de Verbo, l. 3. Tr. 3. Can. 47. So is this word used in this very Gospel, as when Christ saith, He that believeth in me, shall not come into Condemnation, but μεταβέβηκεν shall pass from Death to Life, John 5. 24.

f Ibid. Πρὸς Θεόν μου καὶ Θεὸν ὑμῶν, To my God and your God.] Seeing Christ stiles God his God, hence, say the Socinians, it is evident, that Christ is not God; but from these words it only follows, that he was not God according to that Nature which ascended: Thus God, even thy God, hath anointed thee, saith the Psalmist of Christ; and yet he adds of the same Person, Thy Throne, O God, is for ever and ever, Psal. 45. See the Note on Heb. 1. 8, 9.

Ver. 19. Τῶν θυρῶν κεκλεισμένων, The Doors being shut.] Though it be an ancient Opinion, that Christ made his Body penetrate through the Doors, yet it is both groundless and absurd, and contrary to the very design of Christ in coming to them: 'Tis groundless; for why might not he, by his Power, secretly open the Doors, his Disciples not perceiving it, as the Angel opened the Prison Doors and Gates to let out Peter? Acts 12. 10. It is absurd; for since Christ rose in that natural Body which was Crucified and laid in the Grave, Philosophy informs us, that such a Body could not penetrate through another more solid Body. See Additions N° 32. (32) And, 3*dly*, This Phansie destroys not only the end of Christ's then coming to them, but of all that he had said and done, to convince them it was the same Body that was crucified, in which he appeared to them: When he came the first time, his Disciples were troubled, supposing they had seen a Spirit; now, to convince them of the contrary, Christ saith, See my Hands and my Feet, that it is even I; handle me, and see; for a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones, as ye see me have: His second Appearance, when the Doors were shut, was to Convince Thomas of the truth of the Resurrection of his Body, and this he does, by calling him to put his Finger to his pierced Hands, and his Hands into his pierced Side; and yet this supposed Penetration through the Doors, destroys both these Arguments; It being as certain, that Flesh and Bones cannot penetrate through a Door, as that a Spirit hath not Flesh and Bones; and that his Body must have passed through the Doors after the manner of a Spirit, as that it afterwards appeared after the manner of a Body; and that the same Power which made a natural Body penetrate through a Door, could make a Phantasm or Aerial Body appear like Flesh and Bones to the Touch, and seem to have the Marks and Prints of a crucified Body; so that unless our Saviour designed to invalidate the Strength of what he said and did, to convince them of the truth of his Resurrection, he could not at the same time do a thing known to them, which did evacuate the force of all his Proofs. Nor would the Evangelist have twice recorded this Circumstance, when speaking of the Resurrection, had he imagined the Words bore such a sense, as turned his Body into a Spirit, and ministred occasion to all that read it, to suspect the strength of any of these Arguments to confirm this Fundamental Article.

me, baptized me with the Holy Ghoſt, and ſo anointed me to my Office, Luke 4. 18. John 10. 36. ſo will I ſend you, baptizing you alſo with the Holy Ghoſt ſent down from Heaven, Luke 24. 49. and ſo anoint you alſo for your Office, 2 Cor. 1. 21, 22: and in Teſtimony of this, I ſay to you now, receive the Holy Ghoſt, ver 22. and will ſoon after my Aſcenſion ſend him more plentifully down upon you.

i Ver. 23. Whoſe Sins ye do remit, they are remitted,—retain, &c.] Chriſt ſent them to preach Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins in his Name, to Jew and Gentile, Luke 24. 47. and here he adds, that whoſe ſoever Sins they, thus aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt, declared remitted by virtue of the Goſpel Covenant, ratified in his Blood ſhed for the Remiſſion of Sins, ſhould be remitted; and hence they preached Remiſſion of Sins to all that believed in his Name, and Juſtification, or Exemption from the Guilt of them, Acts 2. 38. —13. 38, 39. And whoſe Sins ſoever you retain, declaring to them, that according to the Tenor of the Goſpel they ſtill lie under the guilt of them, they ſhall be retained; and hence they declared to all that believed not on him, or lived not according to his Laws, and ſought not for Juſtification by Faith in his Blood, that they were yet in their Sins, 1 Cor. 15. 17. and could not be juſtified, Rom. 10. 4.—9. 32.

k Ver. 28. Ὁ Κύριός μου, καὶ ὁ Θεός μου; And Thomas anſwered and ſaid to him, My Lord, and my God.] Here,

1*ſt*, Let it be noted from Woltzogenius the Socinian, that they are not to be hearkned to, who ſay, Thomas ſpake theſe words, not to Chriſt, but by way of Admiration to God the Father: For the Apoſtle could not ſay, that Thomas anſwered, and much leſs, that he anſwered and ſaid to him, unleſs he had directed his Words to him, who ſaid unto him in the precedent Verſe, be not faithleſs, but believe: And if he ſaid to him, thou art my Lord and my God, he muſt acknowledge him as fully, and as truly to be his God, as his Lord. And,

2*dly*, Since Thomas had learned from the Law, there was one God alone, he could not own Chriſt as another God, but as the ſame in Eſſence with him. Note,

3*dly*, That tho' Chriſt was ſtill concerned for the Honour of the Father, he doth not reprehend Thomas for thus owning him as his God, but doth atteſt that he believed aright concerning him; which ſhews that he did not miſtake in owning the Divinity of Chriſt. And whereas Woltzogenius here notes, that Chriſt was never called God before his Reſurrection, when he was to be worſhipped as a Divine Lord; as it is evident that his Reſurrection could not make him God, if he had been a Creature only, nor juſtifie the Worſhip of a Creature as God, ſo is the Reaſon of this evident, becauſe he acted as a Prophet whilſt he was on Earth, ſpeaking ſtill in his Father's Name, and as one ſent from him, it being eſſential to a Prophet to ſpeak in the Name of Him whoſe Prophet he is. See the Preface to this Goſpel, and the Note on Mark 13. 32.

Ver. 29. Bleſſed are they who have not l
ſeen, and yet have believed.] For Faith is not praiſe-worthy upon this account, that we believe what we ſee with our Eyes, and therefore can no longer doubt of, but on this account, that we yield to Arguments highly probable, and againſt which we have nothing ſolid to object, and ſuch Evidence as wiſe Men conſent to, and act by, in the moſt important Concernments of this preſent Life, becauſe this ſhews a greater Affection to the Objects of our Faith, and a better Inclination to obey the Will of God.

Ver. 31. But theſe things were written, m that ye might believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt.] Hence the Socinians argue, that they muſt err who think 'twas the intendment of this Goſpel to ſhew that Jeſus Chriſt was the Word of God, begotten of the Father before all Worlds, and therefore a Divine Perſon; whereas the Apoſtle here plainly ſpeaks only of the Miracles wrought by Chriſt, which we acknowledge to be done to prove him the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, and that Prophet which was to come into the World, as St. John here ſpeaks; but yet this hinders not his being God, or the Word of God, coexiſtent with the Father before all Worlds. Moreover the Apoſtle adds, theſe things were done to prove he was the Son of God; now this even the Jews interpreted, as a form of words by which Chriſt made himſelf equal with God. See the Notes on Chap. 10. 33. and Chap. 19. 7. Some alſo think, that St. John ended here his Goſpel; and that the following Chapter was written by ſome other Hands, but theſe words give no ground for this Imagination, ſince other Apoſtles, after they ſeemed to have concluded their Epiſtles, add ſome new matter, as may be ſeen in the Concluſions of the Epiſtle to the Romans, and to the Hebrews. See the Note on Chap. 21. 24.

CHAP. XXI.

a 1. [a] AFTER these things Jesus shewed himself again to the (greatest part of the) Disciples at the Sea of Tiberias, and on this wise shewed he himself.

2. There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galilee, and the Sons of Zebedee, and two other (in all seven) of his Disciples.

3. Simon Peter saith to them, I (will) go a Fishing; they say to him, We also (will) go with thee: They (then) went forth and entred into a Ship immediately, b [b] and that night they caught nothing.

4. But when the morning was now come Jesus stood on the Shore, but the Disciples (then) knew not that it was Jesus (who stood there.)

5. Then Jesus saith to them, Children, have you any Meat? They answered him, No.

6. And he said to them, Cast the Net on the right side of the Ship, and ye shall find (Fishes;) they cast therefore (the Net as he had said,) and now (the Draught was so great, that) they were not (well) able to draw it (along) for the Multitude of Fishes (inclosed in the Net.)

7. Therefore that Disciple whom Jesus loved, saith to Peter, It is the Lord (Jesus who hath done this:) Now when Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girt his
c [c] Fisher's Coat upon him, for he was naked (to his Shirt,) and did cast himself into the Sea, (to swim first to Jesus.)

8. And the other Disciples came in a little Ship, for they were not far from Land, but, as it were, two hundred Cubits, dragging the Net with (the) Fishes (in it.)

9. (And) assoon then as they were come to Land, they saw a Fire of Coals there, and Fish laid thereon, and Bread (by it, all provided miraculously by Christ.)

10. Jesus saith to them, Bring of the Fish which ye have now caught.

11. Simon Peter went up (into the Boat,) and drew the Net to the Land, full of great Fishes, an hundred fifty and three, and for all there were so many, yet was not the Net broken.

12. Jesus saith to them, Come and dine; and none of the Disciples durst ask him, Who art thou? (as) knowing that it was the Lord.

d 13. [d] Jesus then cometh, and taketh Bread, and giveth them, and Fish likewise.

14. This is now the third time that Jesus shewed himself to (the Body of) his Disciples, after that he was risen from the Dead.

15. So when they had dined, Jesus saith to Simon Peter, Simon Son of Jonas, [e] lo- e vest thou me more than these (Occupations thou art now employed in?) He saith to him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I love thee: He saith to him, (Leave then these things, and Employments, and) feed my Lambs, (my Church shortly to be set up by new Converts both of Jews and Gentiles.)

16. He saith to him again the second time, Simon Son of Jonas, lovest thou me? He saith to him (again,) Yea Lord, thou knowest that I love thee; He saith to him, Feed my Sheep; (i. e. my Church thus gathered.)

17. He saith to him the third time, (that his threefold Denial of him before Unbelievers might be atoned for by a threefold Confession of his Affection to him before his Disciples.) Simon Son of Jonas, lovest thou me? Peter was grieved, because he said to him the third time, Lovest thou me? And he said to him, [f] Lord, thou knowest all f things, (and therefore) thou knowest that I love thee; Jesus saith to him, Feed my Sheep.

18. Verily, verily I say to thee, When thou wast young, thou girdest thy self, and walkedst whither thou wouldest (without restraint;) but when thou shalt be old, thou shalt stretch forth thy Hands, and another shall gird thee, (to the Pillar where thou shalt be scourged,) and (then) carry thee, (to the Cross) where (according to thy Natural Desires) thou wouldst not (be.)

19. This spake he (Jesus,) signifying by what (kind of) Death he should glorifie God, (by this confirmation of the Christian Faith;) and when he had spoken this, he (rose up and walked, and) saith to him, Follow me; (to intimate to him, that he was to follow him in that kind of Death he had suffered.)

20. Then Peter, (who followed him) turning (his Head) about, seeth (St. John) the Disciple which Jesus loved, following (also, viz.) which also leaned on his Breast at Supper, and said, Lord, who is he that betrayeth thee? (John 13. 25.)

21. Peter seeing him, saith to Jesus, Lord, and (Gr. but) what shall this Man do? (how shall it fare with him?)

g 22. Jeſus ſaith to him, [g] If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou me.

23. Then went this ſaying abroad among the Brethren, (who afterwards underſtood that this was ſpoken of his Departure from this Life,) that that Diſciple ſhould not die; yet Jeſus ſaid not to him, He ſhall not die, but, if I will that he tarry till I come (in Judgment againſt Jeruſalem to deſtroy it by the Romans,) what is that to thee?

24. [h] This is the Diſciple which teſtifies h of theſe things, and wrote theſe things, and we know (ſure I am) that his Teſtimony is true.

25. And there are alſo many other things which Jeſus did, the which, if they ſhould be written every one, [i] I ſuppoſe that even i the World it ſelf would not contain the Books which ſhould be written; (i. e. they would be ſo many that it would ſeem incredible to the World, that one Man ſhould do them:) Amen.

Annotations on Chap. XXI.

a Ver. 1. ΜΕΤΑ' ταῦτα, After theſe things;] i. e. After his firſt Apparition, mentioned, chap. 20. 20. and his ſecond, mentioned ver. 26. he appeared now τρίτον, the third time, ver. 14.

b Ver. 3. In that night they caught nothing,] Chriſt being then abſent, but when he is preſent, they having his Command, incloſe a very great Multitude of Fiſhes, to teach them, that tho' in preaching of the Goſpel they were inſufficient to do any thing as of themſelves, 2 Cor. 3. 5. yet having his Command to go and teach all Nations, and the Promiſe of his Preſence with them, they ſhould be wonderfully ſucceſsful in bringing many to the Faith. 'Tis alſo very likely they went then a Fiſhing to ſupply their own want of Neceſſaries, Chriſt therefore by this Draught of Fiſhes, not only works a Miracle to confirm them in the Belief of his Divine Power, but to inform them alſo that while they were imployed in doing what he did command them, they ſhould never want what was convenient for them; and as by miraculouſly providing Bread and Fiſh broiling on the Fire, ver. 9. he ſhewed his Ability to do ſo, ſo by this numerous Draught of Fiſhes he ſupplied them with Neceſſaries till the Holy Ghoſt ſhould come upon them to fit them for their Miniſtry.

c Ver. 7. He girt about him τὸ ἐπενδύτην, his Fiſhers Coat, ᾗ γὰρ γυμνός, for he was naked.] Suidas and Phavorinus ſay ἐπενδύτης is ἱμάτιον τὸ ἐσώτερον, the inner Garment, but Julius Pollux ſays it was χίτων ὁ ἔξωθεν, the outward Coat; the Context here ſeems to make it moſt probable it was the inward Garment next his Shirt; for he was naked, ſignifies, he only had his Shirt on; for in this ſenſe only Saul lay naked among the Prophets, 1 Sam. 19. 24. and David was naked when he danced before the Ephod, 2 Sam. 6. 20. i. e. he had put off his Royal Robe. See the Note on Mark 14. 51. See alſo Iſa. 20. 2, 3. Job 22. 6. — 24. 7. 1 Cor. 4. 11.

Ver. 13. Jeſus taketh Bread and giveth to them, and Fiſh likewiſe.] As the Father of the Family he both makes Proviſion for them, and gives to every Man his Portion: That he himſelf did eat is not ſaid, yet ſince St. Peter ſaith, they did eat and drink with him after his Reſurrection, Acts 10. 41. and St. Luke ſaith, that he did eat before them, Luke 24. 42, 43. as he did that for confirmation of his Reſurrection, ſo is it probable he might eat here for the ſame end. d

Ver. 15. Loveſt thou me πλέον τούτων; more than theſe?] Moſt Interpreters think Chriſt asketh whether St. Peter loved him more than the other Diſciples, but as Peter could not anſwer to this Queſtion unleſs he knew their Hearts, ſo could he not ſhew he did this by feeding Chriſt's Sheep, unleſs he fed them more than they. 'Tis therefore obſervable, that after Chriſt had given them a Commiſſion to preach the Goſpel, John 20. 21, 22. Peter betakes himſelf to his Fiſhing Trade; Chriſt therefore here enquires whether he loved him more than theſe Nets, and Fiſher Boats, about which he was now employed, and ſaith, that if indeed he did ſo, he ſhould leave them, and wholly employ himſelf in feeding his Sheep, and Lambs. Some of the Fathers add, that Chriſt makes this Enquiry thrice, that Peter by a threefold Confeſſion might atone for his threefold Denial. They who hence argue for the Supremacy of Peter above the reſt of the Apoſtles, are vain in their Imaginations, for if by theſe words Chriſt required Peter to feed all his Sheep and Lambs, 'tis certain he was wanting in his Duty; for he never exerciſed one act of Supremacy over the reſt of the Apoſtles, but being ſent by them obeyed, Acts 8. 14. and being reproved by St. Paul he held his peace, e peace, and was so far from feeding all Christ's Sheep, that he never fed any of the Province of St. Paul. Did he feed those Apostles on whom the same Holy Ghost fell, who had the same Commission, given at the same time, and in the same words, to preach the Gospel to all Nations, or to every Creature? If not, they were not in the number of the Sheep whom Peter is here bid to feed; or did all other Pastors receive Commission from St. Peter to feed Christ's Sheep? Did St. Paul who doth so solemnly declare he had not his Commission from Man, neither by Man? Gal. 1. 1. Did any of the Bishops of Asia? No. St. Paul assures us the Holy Ghost had made them Overseers of the Flock of Christ, Acts 20. 28. No, saith (a) Pseud-Ambrosius, not Peter only, sed nos cum eo, but we with him have received Commission to feed Christ's Sheep; and what is here said to Peter, feed my Sheep, ad omnes dicitur, is, saith St. (b) Austin, said to all; and saith St. (c) Basil, Christ here gave τὴν ἴσην ἐξουσίαν πᾶσι τοῖς ἐφεξῆς ποιμέσι καὶ διδασκάλοις, the same Power to all ensuing Pastors and Teachers.

f Ver. 17. Lord σὺ πάντα οἶδας, thou knowest all things.] Schlictingius here saith that Christ is here said to know all things, because he knew many things; but this destroys St. Peter's Argument, for it follows not that Christ knew the Sincerity of St. Peter's Heart, and his Affection towards him, unless he knew the Secrets of all Hearts. This therefore is an Argument that Christ was truly God, it being God alone to whom the Secrets of all Hearts lie open, 1 Kings 8. 39.

g Ver. 22. If I will that he stay ἕως ἔρχομαι, till I come;] Viz. to the Destruction of Jerusalem, after which this Apostle lived a long time, and he alone did so, the other Apostles being dead before; of this coming the Prophet Joel speaks saying, the Sun shall be turned into Darkness, πρὶν ἐλθεῖν, before the great and terrible day of the Lord cometh, Joel 2. 31. See ver. 1. So Mal. 3. 1, 2. ἰδοὺ ἔρχεται, behold he cometh — but who shall abide the day of his coming? and chap. 4. 1. ἰδοὺ ἔρχεται ἡμέρα Κυρίου, behold the day of the Lord cometh which burneth as a Furnace; and ver. 6. μὴ ἐλθὼν, lest coming he smite the Land with a Curse. In the New Testament we have frequent mention of this coming of our Lord, for when our Lord spake of the Destruction of the Temple, the Apostles ask what is the Sign τὸ σῆς παρουσίας, of thy coming, Matth. 24. 3. and he tells them that παρουσία, the coming of the Son of Man will be as Lightning, ver. 27. and then should they see the Son of Man coming in the Clouds of Heaven, ver. 30. that as it was in the Days of Noah, so should it be at the coming of the Son of Man, ver. 37, 39. bidding them watch, because they know not when their Lord cometh, ver. 42. 44. See Matth. 16. 28. Heb. 10. 37. Jam. 5. 9. and the Notes there, and on 2 Thess. 2. 1. And note here, that whereas 'tis said, that the Scripture mentions only two Comings of our Lord, one when he came and lived on Earth, the other at the Day of Judgment, when he shall come ἐκ δευτέρου, a second time without Sin unto Salvation, Heb. 9. 20. this is indeed no objection against this intermediate Advent so frequently, and plainly mentioned in the New Testament; this being not a personal Advent, by a Descent of Christ from Heaven, but only a Coming of our Lord by the Roman Army, and by Signs from Heaven, and in the Clouds of their approaching Ruin. See Additions N° 33. (33)

h Ver. 24. This is the Disciple who testifies of these things, and wrote these things, καὶ οἴδαμεν ὅτι ἀληθής ἐστιν ἡ μαρτυρία αὐτοῦ, and we know that his Testimony is true.] Here some tell us that this Chapter was writ by many, and therefore not by St. John, and this they conclude from the word οἴδαμεν, we know, but without Ground; for Dr. Lightfoot here observes, that we know, in the Chaldee Dialect is often used of one. So Mary Magdalene saith of her self, they have taken the Lord out of the Sepulchre, καὶ οὐκ οἴδαμεν, and we know not where they have laid him: So St. Paul often, οἴδαμεν γάρ, for we know that the Law is Spiritual, but I am Carnal, 1 Thes. 2. 18. ἠθελήσαμεν — ἐγὼ μὲν Παῦλος, we would have come to you, I Paul. So this Apostle saith of himself, ἡμεῖς μαρτυροῦμεν, we testifie, Ep. 3. ver. 12. and that here it is only one that speaketh, is demonstrated from the following word, οἶμαι, I suppose. Nay even these words shew that all the preceding words of this Chapter were writ by this Disciple, and therefore were not written by the Asiatick Bishops. And therefore Theophylact here saith, ὡς ἐμαυτὸν λέγω ὅτι ἀληθεύω.

i Ver. 25. Οὐδὲ αὐτὸν οἶμαι τὸν κόσμον χωρῆσαι τὰ γραφόμενα βιβλία, I suppose the World it self would not contain the Books which should be written.] Here most Interpreters say the Apostles words contain a great Hyperbole, with a Catechresis, but (d) Origen

(d) Origen avoids them both, declaring that the Apoſtle ſaith, the World would not receive the Books written, not for the Multitude of the Books, but for the Greatneſs of the Works recorded in them. So the Word is uſed by this Evangeliſt introducing Chriſt ſaying to the Jews, my Word ὁ χωρεῖ ἐν ὑμῖν, is not received by you: So Euſebius ſaith, that the Men of former Ages οὐκ ἰῶ τῷ χωρεῖν, were not able to receive Chriſt's Doctrine, l. 1. c. 1. p. 8. So Chriſt ſaith, ὁ πάντες χωροῦσι, all Men cannot receive this Saying, Matth. 19. 11. and (e) Philo ſaith, there are very many things in the World, ἃ διὰ μέγεθος, ἀνθρωπίνῳ λογισμὸς ὁ χωρεῖ, which for their Greatneſs human reaſon cannot comprehend. See many other Examples of this ſenſe of the Word in Stephanus, and in Grotius on Matth. 19. 11.

On John vii. 47, 48, 49.

Are ye alſo deceived? Have any of the Rulers, or of the Phariſees believed on him? But this People who knoweth not the Law is accurſed.

§. 1. THE Miracles of our Bleſſed Saviour, by which his Doctrine was confirmed, were ſo exceeding many, and exceeding great, that they prevailed on thoſe plain-hearted People, who beheld them, to believe, that he who wrought them was indeed the Chriſt: For many of the People believed on him, ſaying, when Chriſt cometh, will he do more Miracles than theſe? ver. 31. Theſe Apprehenſions of the Vulgar did ſo allarm the Chief Prieſts and Phariſees, who ſaw their Intereſt, Authority, and Credit with the People, muſt decline as faſt as that of Chriſt's prevailed, that they forthwith diſpatched their Officers to take him, and bring him to them, ver. 32. Theſe Officers, when they had heard the gracious Words which iſſued from the Mouth of Chriſt, were themſelves taken by him, they who were ſent to bring Chriſt to the Prieſts and Phariſees, were themſelves brought to Chriſt, and ſo theſe Converts neglect to do the Office of the High Prieſt's Serjeant's; And being asked the Reaſon why they had not brought Chriſt, they boldly anſwer, that they had heard ſuch gracious and heavenly Words proceeding from him, as never Man before him ſpake, and therefore could not think it fit to apprehend ſo excellent a Perſon as he was. The Phariſees, hearing this anſwer, do preſently conclude their Officers muſt be deceived in theſe kind Thoughts of Chriſt, and offer this, as they ſuppoſed, convincing Argument to prove it, viz. That tho' the giddy Multitude, who had no Knowledge of the Law, and therefore no Capacity to underſtand the Mind of God contained in it, might be inclined to think that Jeſus was indeed the Chriſt; yet ſince the Rulers of the Church, the Sanhedrim, ſeeing the Doctors, and Expounders of the Law, the Scribes and Phariſees believed not on him, but did unanimouſly reject him as a vile Impoſtor, they muſt be certainly deceived; who apprehended otherwiſe concerning him, becauſe they followed the Verdict of the ignorant and giddy Multitude, in oppoſition to the better Judgments, and the mature Deliberations of their Church Guides, and learned Clerks.

Now amongſt all the Argument by which the Emiſſaries of the Church of Rome endeavour to beguile unſtable Souls, and beget in them a ſuſpicion that they have been ſeduced from the Church, none is more plauſible than this which by the Phariſees is here laid down. I therefore ſhall endeavour,

1. To propound the Argument which is here urged by the Phariſees to prove our Jeſus could not be the true Meſſiah, in its full ſtrength and vigour. And,

2. To ſhew that what the Papiſts do produce to prove that Proteſtants muſt be deceived, is exactly parallel to what the Phariſees did, or might produce againſt our Saviour; and the ſame Arguments might with equal reaſon have been urged by the unbelieving Jews againſt our Lord's Diſciples, and thoſe who laid the firſt Foundations of, and became early Converts to the Chriſtian Faith, as they are urged by the Papiſts againſt our departure from the Church of Rome.

§. 2. Now the Argument contained in the Text is this, viz. You muſt be certainly deceived if you believe that Jeſus is the Chriſt; becauſe you do, by entertaining this Perſuaſion, contradict the Judgment of your Church-Guides which God hath ſet over you: For they have frequently aſſembled for the determination of this grand Debate, Whether this Jeſus was the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, or not, and they have conſtantly determined that he was not the Chriſt; and have unanimouſly concluded that he deſerved to be puniſhed as a vile Impoſtor, and that all who did confeſs that he was the Chriſt, ſhould be excommunicated. In an Aſſembly conſiſting of Chief Prieſts, and Phariſees, they poſitively declare that Chriſt could be no Prophet, becauſe he was a Galilean, John 7. 41, 42. This all, ſay they, who ſearch the Scriptures may plainly ſee, ver. 52. Moreover, they determine in my Text, that all who ſo eſteemed him were themſelves deceived, and that they lay expoſed to this Deluſion for want of Knowledge in the Law, ver. 47, 48, 49. In the ninth Chapter of St. John, ver. 16. the Phariſees again declare, that this Man could not be of God, becauſe he did not keep the Sabbath. Moreover, theſe Phariſees, and other Rulers of the Church, ξυνετέθειντο, determined and agreed together, that whoſoever did confeſs that Jeſus was the Chriſt, ſhould ſuffer Excommunication, John 9. 22. — 12. 42. They therefore thought themſelves infallibly certain, (if Excommunication be as (a) R. H. informs us, an Evidence of a Claim to be infallible) that Chriſt was not the true Meſſiah. Elſewhere the Scribes and Phariſees do poſitively conclude that Chriſt did only caſt out Devils through Beelzebub, Mark 3. 22. After ſome Days they again call a Council, ξυνέδριον ἤλαζον, and there determine that it was fit that Chriſt ſhould die, John 11. 47, 50, 53. This the High Prieſt declares, and all the Phariſees, and the Chief Prieſts agree to execute, Luke 22. 66. A full Aſſembly, conſiſting of the High Prieſts, and all the Chief Prieſts, Presbyters, and Scribes, Chriſt being brought before their Council, do with one Voice declare that he was worthy to die as a Blaſphemer, and alſo that by their Law he ought to die, becauſe he made himſelf the Son of God. After his Death the Chief Prieſts, and the Phariſees, with one conſent pronounce him a Deceiver, Matth. 27. 63. When the Diſciples began to witneſs that he was riſen from the Dead, the High Prieſt, Rulers, Elders, Scribes, and all the Kindred of the High Prieſt, aſſemble at Jeruſalem, and ſtrictly do command them not to ſpeak at all, or teach in the Name of Jeſus, Acts 4. 6, 18. Soon after the High Prieſt, the Sanhedrim, and all the Elders of Iſrael, being met in Council, repeat the ſame Command, and chaſtiſe the Apoſtles for their Diſobedience to it, Acts 5. 40. If therefore the Decrees of many Councils, conſiſting of the Guides of the whole Jewiſh Church, may be eſteemed ſufficient to decide a Controverſie, it muſt be certain that Jeſus Chriſt was not the true Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, but a Deceiver and Blaſphemer. Now as a (b) Romaniſt, having produced five Provincial, and two General Councils, falſly ſo called, for that portentous Doctrine of Tranſubſtantiation, ſaith, If the Decrees of ſo many Synods, ſo often weighing the Adverſaries Reaſons and Evidences, was not ſufficient for ſettling ſuch a point, at leaſt as to the Obedience of future Silence, and Noncontradiction, and as to ſuffering the Church to enjoy her peace, what can hereafter be ſufficient? Or can we ever hope that any Controverſie ſhall be finally determined, or ended by any future Council, if this (of the Meſſiah) is not by theſe forepaſt? Can there be any ground here to queſtion the Integrity, or lawful Proceedings of ſo many Councils, all concurring in the ſame Judgment (for a corporal preſence, ſaith the Romaniſt, that Chriſt was a Deceiver, ſaith the Jew?) Or could there be a new light in this point attainable in thoſe times, by the private Perſon, or Chriſtian Convert, which thoſe (Guides of the Jewiſh Church, who condemned your Jeſus,) were not capable, or had no notice of?

2. They who ſo often, and ſo unanimouſly condemned your Saviour, and his Doctrine, (ſaith the Jew,) were the Church-Guides, by God appointed to teach the Children of Iſrael all the Statutes which the Lord had ſpoken to them by the Hand of Moſes, to teach Jacob his Judgments, and Iſrael his Law, and by whoſe Lips the Knowledge of it was to be preſerved, Levit. 10. 11. Deut. 33. 10. They were the Men who are in Scripture ſtiled the Meſſengers, or the Ambaſſadors of the Lord of Hoſts, Mal. 2. 7. that is, the Men appointed by him to declare his Meſſage to the People. They were the Men ordained to Miniſter before the Lord in every controverſial matter, Men who were ſet for the Judgment of the Lord, and for Controverſies, Deut. 17. 8, 12. 2 Chron. 19. 8. In Controverſie they ſhall ſtand in Judgment, ſaith the Lord, and by their Word ſhall every Controverſie be tried, Ezek. 44. 24. Deut. 21. 5. — 17. 12. Wherefore to act in oppoſition to the Judgment of theſe Guides, muſt be to act preſumptuouſly, as God himſelf declares, to deſpiſe the Verdict of God's Meſſengers, and in a Controverſial Matter of the higheſt moment, to reject the Sentence of thoſe Men, who are by God ordained to define it, and by whoſe Words, according to his Ordinance, it muſt be tried.

3. As for the common People, who in this matter did oppoſe their private Judgments to the Decrees of their Church-Guides, not acquieſcing in their Conciliar Determinations, that your Jeſus was not the true Meſſiah, they, they, ſaith the Jew, muſt act againſt that Rule, which both the Law of Moſes, and the Prophets have preſcribed, for by that Law they are commanded, under pain of Death, when any Controverſie ſhould ariſe among them, to go to the Prieſts and Levites, and to the Judge then living, to enquire the Sentence of Judgment from his Mouth, and to do according to the Sentence which they ſhall ſhew them, and according to all that they inform them, not declining from it to the right hand, or to the left, Deut. 17. 8, 12. They by the Prophets are inſtructed to ask the Prieſts concerning the Law, and to ſeek the Knowledge of it from their Mouths, Hag. 2. 11. Mal. 2. 7. They therefore ſtood obliged to aſſent to the Determinations of the Sanhedrim, and the Conſiliar Decrees of Prieſts and Levites, Scribes and Phariſees, confirmed by the High Prieſt, and ſo they were obliged to believe, that according to the true intent and meaning of the Law, your Jeſus could not be the true Meſſiah. And conſequently they muſt err, who quitting the Deciſions of the Phariſees, and other Rulers of the Church, embrace that Tenet of the ignorant and giddy Multitude.

§. 3. Thus the Jews plead from Scripture, againſt our Bleſſed Lord. And if you do compare theſe Pleas, and others of like nature, which might be offered from the Scriptures by the Jew, with what the Romaniſts do offer for the Infallibilitiy of any of their Councils, you will ſoon find that all their Pleas for this Infallibility from the New Teſtament, are parallell'd, or rather over-balanced with places of like nature in the Old, which do more ſtrongly plead for the Infallibility of the High Prieſt, and Rulers of the Jewiſh Church. For,

1. Doth the Romaniſts plead Chriſt's Promiſe to be for ever with the Church? Matth. 28. 20.

Anſw. The Jews had equal reaſon to expect God's Preſence among them, becauſe he promiſed to dwell among the Children of Iſrael, to meet them at the Tabernacle of the Congregation, and there ſpeak with them, Exod. 29. 42, 43, 44, 45. to reign over them in Zion from henceforth and for ever, Mic. 4. 7. He choſe Zion for his Habitation, and ſaid of it, This is my Reſt for ever, here will I dwell, Pſal. 132. 13, 14. and of Jeruſalem, that he would put his Name for ever in that place, and that his Eyes, and his Heart ſhould be there for ever, 2 Chron. 7. 16.

2. Do they add that Chriſt hath promiſed, that where two or three are gathered together in his Name, he will be in the midſt of them? Matth. 18. 20.

Anſw. God alſo promiſed to the Jews, that he would bleſs them out of Zion, Pſal. 134. 3. and that whereſoever he did record his Name, there would he come and bleſs his People, Exod. 20. 24.

3. Do they alledge the Sayings of our Lord to his Diſciples, viz. He that heareth you, heareth me, Luke 10. 16. He who neglects to hear the Church, ſhall be accounted as a Heathen and a Publican? Matth. 18. 17.

Anſw. God alſo ſaid, that he who will not hearken to the Prieſt that ſtands to miniſter before the Lord, even that Man ſhall die for his preſumption, Deut. 17. 12.

4. Do they ſay that Chriſt's Apoſtles commanded Chriſtians to obey thoſe that had the Rule over them, and to follow their Faith? Heb. 13. 7, 17.

Anſw. Our Jeſus did command his Hearers to do all that the Scribes and Phariſees did ſay unto them, Matth. 23. 3. and that becauſe of their Authority derived from Moſes, and God himſelf commanded all his People to do according to all that they ſhould be informed of by the Prieſts, Deut. 17. 10. And,

5. Do they plead Chriſt's Promiſe made to his Apoſtles, that he would ſend the Spirit of Truth to guide them into all Truth? John 16. 13. Chap. 14. 26.

Anſw. Whereas this Promiſe doth perſonally belong to the Apoſtles, and not to their Succeſſors, (for it is a Promiſe to bring to their remembrance by his Spirit, what he before had ſaid to them, John 14. 26. and to ſhew them things to come, John 16. 13. to which Spirit of Propheſie the Roman Doctors do not now pretend;) I ſay, whereas this Promiſe did belong to the Apoſtles only, God ſtood obliged by Covenant to cauſe his holy Spirit to remain among the Rulers of the Jewiſh Church: For thus he ſpeaks, According to the Word that I covenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt, ſo my Spirit remains among you, Hag. 2. 5. Moreover God promiſed to the Sanhedrim, that he would put the Spirit of Moſes upon them, Numb. 11. 17. and in compliance with that Promiſe he came down in a Cloud, and took the Spirit which was upon Moſes, and gave it to the Seventy Elders, ſo that they propheſied, and did not ceaſe. Or,

6. Do they argue for their Infallibility, becauſe the Church is ſtiled by St. Paul the Pillar and the Ground of Truth, 1 Tim. 3. 15. by reaſon of that Truth which is preſerved by her Governours?

Anſw. God alſo hath declared touching his Prieſts, that the Law of Truth was in their Mouth, Mal. 2. 6. and of Jeruſalem, that ſhe ſhould be called the City of Truth, Zach. 8. 3. And if the Church of Judah hath ſince failed, ſo alſo hath the Church of Epheſus, of which alone St. Paul affirmeth that it was the Pillar, and the Ground of Truth.

7. Do they conclude that the Church Guides muſt be infallible, becauſe God hath placed in the Church, ſome Apoſtles, ſome Prophets, ſome Paſtors, and ſome Teachers, for the perfecting of the Saints for the Work of the Miniſtry, for the edifying of the Body of Chriſt, that we henceforth be no more Children toſſed to and fro, and carried about with every Wind of Doctrine? Eph. 4. 11, 12.

Anſw. Were not the Jewiſh Prieſts placed alſo for this End, for the Work of their Miniſtry, the Perfecting of their Saints, the Edifying of their Flocks? Were not their Lips to preſerve that Knowledge which ſhould reſtrain the People from their Errors? Were not they appointed to heal that which was ſick, and bring again that which was ſtrayed? Ezek. 34. 4. Or, Laſtly, Do they triumph in that Promiſe of our Lord, that the Gates of Hell ſhould not prevail againſt the Church? Matth. 16. 18.

Anſw. God alſo promiſed, that his Covenant made with his Levites, Prieſts and Miniſters, ſhould be as certain and perpetual, as that of Day and Night, Jer. 33. 20, 21. So that I need not add, that by this Phraſe Chriſt only promiſeth, that pious Chriſtians ſhall not for ever be detained under the Power of the Grave; which I have elſewhere ſhewed to be the natural and only import of theſe words, The Gates of Hell ſhall not prevail againſt the Church.

Moreover, The plain meaning of the foregoing words, viz. Thou art Peter, and upon this Rock will I build my Church, is, as (c) Tertullian well informs us, on this: Thou who haſt firſt of all my Diſciples, acknowledged me to be the Chriſt, thou ſhalt firſt preach this Doctrine to the World, and by ſo doing, lay the firſt Foundations of a Chriſtian Church: Which he accordingly performed, firſt laying the Foundation of a (d) Church among the Jews by the Converſion of Three Thouſand Souls: And after, laying the Foundations of a Church among the Gentiles, by the Converſion of Cornelius and his Friends, Chriſt having, to fulfil his Promiſe, (e) made choice of him, among the reſt of the Apoſtles, that the Gentiles by his Mouth ſhould hear the Word of the Goſpel, and believe. Now to pretend to be St. Peter's Succeſſor in this matter, is in effect to ſay, that the Foundations of a Chriſtian Church are not yet laid.

If therefore Roman Catholicks conclude from theſe ambiguous and obſcure places for the Infallibility of Councils, or the major part of the Church Guides concurring with the Pope in any Sentence or Decree, although theſe places do not ſpeak one Syllable of any Pope, or major part of the Church Guides, and much leſs of the Romiſh Prelates, and leſs of their Infallible Aſſiſtance; what Ovations and Triumphs would they have made, had it been ſaid expreſly of their Cardinals and Councils, as it is ſaid of Jewiſh Prieſts, that they were ſet for Judgment and for Controverſie? Had God fixed his glorious Preſence at Rome, as he did at Jeruſalem, and ſettled there a ſeat of Judgment, and a continual Court of higheſt Judicature, as was that Sanhedrim which in Jeruſalem was ſettled? Had he dwelt in St. Peter's, as he dwelt in the Temple; had he left with them, as he did with the Jewiſh Prieſts, a ſtanding Oracle, a Urim and a Thummim, to conſult with upon all occaſions? So that this Plea being much ſtronger for the Infallibility of the Superiours of the Jewiſh Church, than for the Infallibility of the whole Weſtern Church, or any of its Councils, the Roman Doctors muſt acknowledge, either that they fallaciouſly urge it againſt Proteſtants, or muſt confeſs that it ſtands alſo good againſt the Chriſtian, and is a confirmation of all thoſe Traditions which were condemned by our Saviour, and a ſufficient Plea for all thoſe Errors and Corruptions, which, as the Prophets do complain, were generally taught and practiſed by the Church Guides in the declining Ages of the Jewiſh Church. For (f) if theſe Arguments be good now, they were ſo then; and if they were good then, for ought that I can ſee, the High Prieſt, and the major part of the Church Rulers of the Jews, were always in the right; and Chriſt and his Apoſtles, with the Holy Prophets, muſt be in the wrong.

§. 4. Moreover, Had we no Evidence from Scripture, may the Jew ſay in proſecution of this Argument, Reaſon ſeems very ſtrongly to conclude for this ſubmiſſion of the common People, and ſome few Prieſts, to the concurring Judgments of their Church Guides, and of the major part of Jews, who joined with them in condemnation of your Jeſus as a Blaſphemer and falſe Prophet, and of his Followers as Hereticks and Schiſmaticks, or Men who worſhipped God after that way which by the Jews was called Hereſie, Acts 24. 14. and were Ringleaders of a Sect, ibid. ver. 5. For ſtill to argue after the manner of the Romiſh Doctors:

1. Is it not reaſonable to conceive, that they who were God's Miniſters appointed for for this very thing to judge in controverſial Matters, and to make trial of ſuch as did pretend to propheſie, as was the Jewiſh Sanhedrim; I ſay, is it not reaſonable to conceive that the aſſiſtance of the Holy Spirit ſhould be vouchſafed to theſe Rulers of the Church, and Doctors of the Law, rather than to thoſe common People who bore no ſuch relation to God, had no Commiſſion from him to direct others in the meaning of his Word, but had ſo many, and ſuch expreſs Injunctions to ſeek it at the Mouth of their Church-Guides? Can we imagine, that theſe Phariſees and Rulers ſhould be the Men ordained by God for Controverſies, and by whoſe words they muſt be tryed, and yet ſhould be ſuch blind and ſtupid Guides, as by your Jeſus they were ſaid to be, that he who was led by them muſt fall into the Ditch?

Moreover, Were no aſſiſtance from above to be expected in this caſe, is it not reaſonable to think that theſe great Doctors of the Law, thoſe numerous Prieſts who made it their whole Buſineſs to ſtudy and ſearch out the meaning of the Law of Moſes, thoſe Members of the Sanhedrim, (g) who were ſtill choſen out of the moſt learned perſons, and the moſt eminent for Wiſdom, I ſay, may we not reaſonably conceive ſuch Perſons to be fitter and more able Judges of the ſenſe and meaning of that Law, or of the truth of any Miracles pretended to be wrought by Chriſt, or his Apoſtles, than was that rude and giddy Multitude which had no knowledge of the Law? (h) They therefore conſidering their Superiours Study and Learning in ſuch things Divine, and alſo their own Ignorance; they conſidering both the ſpecial ordination and commiſſion of their Superiours from God to teach them in neceſſary Truths, and his charge laid upon them to obey their Eccleſiaſtical Superiours, ought to depend upon, and adhere to their Directions ſo much the more in any point of Faith, by how much it is eſteemed more neceſſary, as wherein there is a much greater hazard if they ſhould err.

3. All that your Goſpel doth ſuggeſt, or Reaſon may pretend for the exemption of the firſt Jewiſh Converts from Obedience to theſe Decrees of their Superiours in the Jewiſh Church, may, ſaith the Jew, be fully anſwered from the plain Principles, and almoſt in the words of Roman Catholicks. For to proceed in the Expreſſions of R. H. the Guide in Controverſies, with very little variation of them.

§. 5. 1. Will you affirm, that all the Prieſts and Rulers, Scribes and Phariſees, and the whole Sanhedrim, acted againſt their Faith and Conſcience in theſe Determinations by which your Jeſus was condemned as an Impoſtor?

Anſw. R. H. (i) will tell you, there is a moral certainty that ſo many ſuch perſons cannot conſpire in ſuch a Matter, viz. a Neceſſary to Salvation, to falſifie the Truth a gainſt their own Belief and Conſcience to their Subjects and Poſterity, with an Anathema to all Diſſenters, or an Excommunication of all who preached, and believed that Chriſt was the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews, and was already riſen from the Dead, when their own Conſciences could tell them that theſe things were true. (k) If any can be ſo uncharitable as to credit of them ſo great a Wickedneſs, that the Supreme Councils of the (Jewiſh) Church ſhould with deſign decree an Error contrary to their Faith (or knowledge) in this neceſſary matter, and then enjoin all their Subjects to believe it under Anathema, he muſt believe that they moſt certainly do devote themſelves to eternal perdition. And therefore, if not out of Charity, or reverence to ſuch ſacred perſons, yet from the irrationality of ſuch a Defence, it is much better to paſs over this Objection.

2. Will you ſay, that theſe Superiours were only to be appealed to in doubtful Matters, and that this thing, Whether the Scriptures declared your Jeſus to be the true Meſſiah, was not doubtful?

Anſw. R. H. informs you, that (l) a right Judgment cannot but account all thoſe places doubtful; in the ſenſe whereof, either the antient or preſent major part of Chriſtianity are of a contrary Judgment from himſelf. That muſt be therefore doubtful, according to the ground and reaſon of this Rule, which you preſume not to be doubtful, ſince it was that in which the major part of the then preſent Jewiſh Church was of a contrary Judgment from the Chriſtian Convert.

3. Will you plead in favour of the Vulgar, that they were bound to hearken to theſe Jewiſh Guides no longer than they followed the Rule of Scriptures?

Anſw. Be it ſo; But ſaith R. H. Who (m) is appointed Judge of theſe ſupreme Judges, when they tranſgreſs againſt this Rule? their Subjects? Who are from them to learn the ſence of the Rule, where difficult and diſputed, and who are bidden to follow their Faith: The right exerciſe of Judgment will not judge ſo. For if the Vulgar may may paſs this Judgment of the Decrees of many Councils, and the concurring Judgment of their Superiours and Church Guides, I hope the Matter muſt be evident even to the Vulgar ſort, that notwithſtanding the contrary Judgment of Chief Prieſts and Rulers, Scribes, Phariſees and Elders, and almoſt all the Jewiſh Nation, that ſenſe of Scripture muſt be falſe, which their Eccleſiaſtical Guides alledged, to prove that Jeſus was not the true Meſſiah, and that according to their Law he was to die; and that ſenſe of the Scripture muſt be true, which by the Apoſtles and their Converts was alledged to prove, that Jeſus was the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jews. Now, how vainly, ſaith R. H. doth (n) any one pretend, or promiſe himſelf a certainty of any thing wherein ſo many Councils, and a much major part of the Church, having all the ſame means of certainty as he, judgeth contrary; where it (o) ſeems, the Scripture may be ſo doubtful, that the ſenſe of the (then) Catholick Church, or its greateſt Councils, they ſay, can be to them no certain or infallible Interpreter of it, where the Judgment or common Reaſon of theſe Councils thinks it ſelf ſo certain of the contrary, as to anathematize Diſſenters, or caſt them out of the Church? On what grounds here theſe private Perſons, or new erected Churches, could aſſure themſelves of their own ſenſe of Scripture to be true, they having left that of the Churches, Councils, and of a major part of (Jews,) who alſo judged their ſenſe falſe, I underſtand not: Surely they will not ſay, they have this certainty from the Scripture, becauſe the true ſenſe thereof is the thing ſo mainly queſtioned, and the certainty or infallibility of the traditive ſenſe of the (Jewiſh) Church they renounced; and then, which only is left, their own Judgment, or their own common Reaſon, when that of their greateſt Councils, or major part of their Church Guides differ from it, one would think ſhould be a more fallible ground to them, than the Judgment or common Reaſon of the Church? For (p) a Man to preſume himſelf certain in a matter of Faith, or in his own ſenſe of Scripture, (though the literal Expreſſion be never ſo clear,) where ſo many Learned and his Superiours, (comparing other Texts, &c.) are of a contrary Judgment; this, ſaith R. H. is the ſame as if in a matter of ſenſe, a dim-ſighted Perſon ſhould profeſs himſelf certain that an Object is white, when a Multitude of others, the moſt clear-ſighted that can be found, having all the ſame means of a right ſenſation as he hath, pronounce it black, or of another colour. Moreover, (q) If theſe Scriptures or Reaſons be ſo clear, even to the ignorant and unlearned Jews, muſt they not be as clear to their Church Guides? and may not then their Judgments more ſecurely be rely'd upon, at leaſt for any thing which is preſumed to be clear? (r) For if Scriptures be maintained ſo clear in Neceſſaries, that every one uſing a right Endeavour, cannot miſtake in them; then ſhall the Church Governours much rather, by reaſon of this clearneſs, obvious to every Ruſtick, not err in them; and ſo ſhall the People, the more the Rule of Faith is proved to be clear, the more ſecurely rely on, and be referred in them to their Direction.

4. If you pretend a more ſincere Endeavour in thoſe few Converts, to find out the ſenſe of Scripture, or ſearch out the truth in theſe Matters; which, in the caſe of the Beræans, your Scripture ſeemeth to aſſert.

Anſw. I anſwer ſtill with the ſame Author. (s) That ſince all Parties do pretend ſincere Endeavour in the right underſtanding of the Scriptures, and after it do differ ſo much in their ſenſe of it, it follows that ſuch ſincere Endeavours being indifferently allowed to all Parties, the ſenſe of Scripture, (and the verdict of true Reaſon) ought to be pronounced clear, if on any, on that ſide as the major part doth apprehend it; (which certainly was not the Primitive Converts, but the unbelieving Jews, and their Eccleſiaſtical Superiours.) For ſurely, (t) we have reaſon to preſume that the chief Guides of the Church, in their conſults concerning a Point neceſſary to Salvation delivered in Scripture, (as that of the Meſſiah was,) uſe at leaſt ſo much endeavour as a plain Ruſtick doth to underſtand the meaning of it. And, whatſoever other thing is ſuppoſed neceſſary beſides ſincere Endeavour, or is underſtood to be included in it, (as freedom from Paſſion and ſecular Intereſt, or alſo a freely profeſſing the Truths which their ſincere Endeavour diſcovers to them,) none can rationally imagine, but that the ſupreme Church Governours ſhould be as much or more diſengaged herein than private Men: And, that (u) Paſſion and Intereſt blind private Men or our ſelves, ſooner than General Councils, or a major part of the Church.

See therefore here the Wiſdom of the unbelieving Jews, who to preſerve themſelves from erring in this matter, made uſe of the ſecureſt way that Reaſon could imagine, ſaith (x) R. H. or that Chriſtians are preſcribed, whilſt whilſt for the ſenſe of the Scriptures that were controverted in this point of the Meſſiah, they choſe not to rely on their own Judgments, but on that of the ſupremeſt Guides of the Church, and Judges of divine Truth that were afforded them on Earth; and ſo if they erred, yet took the wiſeſt courſe to have miſſed erring, that Religion, or Reaſon could dictate. To which Guides alſo the Subjects of this former Communion all believed Submiſſion of their private Judgments to be due, and to be commanded; from whence alſo it follows, that till they are convinced of error in this point, viz. that no Submiſſion was due to the Decrees of all theſe Councils, and the concurring Judgment of thoſe Spiritual Guides by whom your Jeſus was condemned, they are not capable of being convinced in any other matter.

If laſtly, you affirm that the common People had conviction, and demonſtration from the Miracles of Chriſt of the falſhood of the Decrees, and the Interpretations of their Church Guides in this matter, and of the Truth of that Chriſtianity which they embraced in oppoſition to thoſe ſaid Decrees.

Anſw. This I confeſs is a great Truth, but then the Roman Doctors cannot plead it, without rejecting moſt of their profeſſed Tenets, and their ſtrongeſt Pleas for abſolute ſubmiſſion to the Major part of their Church Guides. For,

1. Admit our Saviour, and his Apoſtles wrought true Miracles, how did the Vulgar perceive them ſo to be but by their Senſes? and how did they infer from them the Truth of Chriſtianity, but by their private Reaſons? Now (y) the evidence of ſenſe and reaſon muſt be both neglected, ſaith the Romaniſt, when a divine Revelation declares any thing contrary to them; this, and this only, being their defence of Tranſubſtantiation againſt the common ſenſe and reaſon of Mankind. Now of the certainty of a divine Revelation, or the true ſenſe of Scripture, they make the Judgment of the Major part of their Church Guides to be ſufficient Evidences, and ſo there was ſufficient Evidence, according to this Rule, that all the Miracles which Chriſt, and his Apoſtles ſeemed to work, were done in Oppoſition to Divine Revelation, or the true ſenſe of Scripture.

2. Certain it is that the Rulers of the Jews, and the prevailing part of the whole Nation, differed from the converted Chriſtians in their apprehenſions of theſe Miracles, and judged them all Diabolical Impoſtures, or Trials of their Faith, &c. Now this ſeems neceſſary to be granted, ſaith (z) R. H. that in what kind of Knowledge ſoever it be, (whether of our Senſe or Reaſon, in whatever Art or Science) one can never rightly aſſure himſelf concerning his own Knowledge; that he is certain of any thing for a Truth, which all, or moſt others of the ſame, or better abilities for their cognoſcitive Faculties, in all the ſame external means, or grounds of the Knowledge thereof, do pronounce an error. So that where all, or moſt differ from me, it ſeems a ſtrange pride not to imagine this defect in my ſelf, rather than them; eſpecially whereas all the grounds of my Science are communicated to them, and when, as for my own Miſtakes, I cannot know exactly the extent of ſupernatural Deluſions. According therefore to this Rule, it was ſtrange Pride in the firſt Converts to Chriſtianity among the Jews, to judge the Miracles of Chriſt, or his Apoſtles true, when moſt of their own Nation, as well as Heathens, differed from them in that apprehenſion, and ſpake ſo freely every where againſt the Sect of Chriſtians.

3. The Truth of the Pretences of our Lord, and his Apoſtles, depended on two things, viz. the fulfilling of Propheſies, and the Truth of his Miracles. (a) Now according to the Roman Principles, no Man could be certain of the Truth of either of theſe without the Authority of the then preſent Church. For the fulfilling of Propheſies depended on the ſenſe of many obſcure places of Scripture, of which, ſay they, the Major part of the Church-Guides muſt judge. And for Miracles, they tell us that there is no way of judging true from falſe, but by the Authority of the Church. Now if theſe things be ſo, what ground could the firſt Jewiſh Converts have to believe Chriſt was the true Meſſiah, or a Worker of true Miracles, when in believing both theſe things, they muſt oppoſe the Authority of the then preſent Church?

4. All that hath been diſcourſed in anſwer to the former Pleas, ſerves alſo againſt this, for who ſhall be judge whether theſe Miracles were true, and were ſufficient to confirm the Chriſtian Faith? Thoſe Perſons whoſe Office it was to judge both of true Prophets, and true Miracles, or thoſe who had no Power or Commiſſion ſo to do? Were not the Jewiſh Sanhedrim and other Rulers of that Church more able Judges of the Truth, and the validity of any Miracles pretended to be wrought by Chriſt and his Apoſtles, than was that Multitude which, as Experience teacheth, may be impoſed upon with eaſe? Were not thoſe Guides who were appointed to be Judges in all other matters, the proper Judges of this Controverſie? Have we not reaſon to believe their Judgment was as free from Intereſt

Intereſt and Paſſion, and their Endeavours to ſearch out the Truth of theſe Relations as ſincere, as was the Judgment or Endeavours of the Laity? When therefore theſe Church Guides did, notwithſtanding thoſe pretended Miracles of Chriſt and his Apoſtles, conclude unanimouſly that Chriſt was a Deceiver, was it not abſurd to ſay that what they ſo univerſally determined, might be diſcerned by any private Judgment to be the cleareſt Falſhood? that vulgar Perſons had demonſtration in this matter againſt the Judgment of the whole Body of their Guides, and that their common reaſon was able to diſcern that to be manifeſtly true, which the ſame common reaſon of their Superiors, judged to be manifeſtly falſe?

§. 6. Thus have we ſeen that Scripture and Reaſon do more countenance the Jew pleading againſt our Lord, and the firſt Chriſtian Converts, than they do countenance the Papiſt pleading againſt Proteſtants. In the laſt place the Jew may argue from Tradition thus, viz.

Theſe Spiritual Guides in making this Determination, and paſſing of this Judgment concerning Jeſus, were guided by that Rule, which by the greateſt part of Chriſtians, I mean, the Roman Catholicks, is highly magnified, and equalled with the Holy Scriptures, viz. Tradition, acknowledged by the preſent Church for ſuch. (b) And ſo your Jeſus muſt alſo upon this account be deemed an Impoſtor, or the Pretences and Pleadings of the Romaniſt againſt the Proteſtant, from the Tradition of the Church, muſt be acknowledged to be vain. For,

1. It is moſt certain that the Jews had a Tradition generally received amongſt them, that their Meſſiah at his coming ſhould reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael. That he ſhould ſubdue the Nations under them, and ſhould erect a temporal Dominion in the Jewiſh Nation over all their Enemies. Even the Diſciples of our Lord did conſtantly believe this Article, till by the Holy Ghoſt's Deſcent upon them, they were better informed. Witneſs their Conteſts, who ſhould be greateſt in that Kingdom, Matth. 18. 1. and the deſire of the Sons of Zebedee, to ſit one at his right Hand, another at his left Hand in it, Matth. 20. 21. This was our Faith, ſaith Cleopas, we truſted that this Jeſus ſhould have redeemed our Iſrael, Luke 24. 21. And when they were aſſembled, after the Reſurrection, their firſt enquiry is this, Lord, wilt thou now reſtore the Kingdom to Iſrael? Acts 1. 6. It is therefore certain, that this was the received Tradition of the whole Jewiſh Church, grounded, as they ſuppoſed, upon the Scriptures, which did neceſſitate them to expect (c) a glorious Meſſiah, not ſuch a one, ſaith Trypho, as your mean and deſpiſed Jeſus was.

2. It was alſo a Tradition which generally obtained amongſt the Jews, that their Elias, who was called the Thisbite, was to appear again in Perſon before the Advent of the true Meſſiah; ſo was that place of Malachi, tranſlated by the Seventy, three hundred and eighty Years before our Saviour's coming; Behold I ſend unto you Elias † Θεσβίτην, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come, Mal. 4 5. All we expect, ſaith Trypho, that Chriſt ſhould be anointed by Elias, who is for to come; (d) and becauſe this Elias is not come, we think your Jeſus cannot be the Chriſt. Accordingly the Scribes, or the Expounders of the Law, did with one Voice declare it neceſſary that (e) Elias ſhould firſt come.

3. It was the general Tradition of the Jews, that the Law of Moſes ſhould be perpetually obliging to them; and that it was to be obſerved even in the days of the Meſſiah. On this preſumption certainly it was that Chriſt's Diſciples, after his Reſurrection, were ſtrict Obſervers of the Law of Moſes, for a conſiderable time; and ſo were alſo many thouſands of the Jewiſh Converts. St. Peter was ſo nice in obſervation of the Jewiſh Cuſtoms, that till he was informed better by a Viſion, he thought ſuch Meat was utterly unlawful as was forbidden by the Law; ſo that when in that Viſion he was bid to ſlay and eat, he preſently cries out, as a Man tempted to an unlawful act, Not ſo, Lord, for I have never eaten any thing that is unclean, Acts 10. 14. St. James gives an account to Paul of the great Zeal that all the Jewiſh Converts had to the Law of Moſes, in theſe words, Thou ſeeſt, Brother, how many thouſands of Jews there are which believe, and they are all zealous of the Law, Acts 21. 20. He farther tells him, how highly they were all offended with him, becauſe they were informed he had taught that they were not obliged to yield Obedience to the Conſtitutions and Cuſtoms of the Jewiſh Law; and laſtly, doth exhort him to do what might be proper to cauſe theſe Zealots to believe that he alſo walked orderly, and kept the Law, ver. 21, 24. St. (f) Jerom, and (g) Sulpicius inform us, that fourteen immediate ſucceeding Biſhops, with their Flocks, were all Obſervers of the Law of Moſes.

Moſes. And by the unbelieving Jews nothing was more abhorred than the thoughts of changing their Moſaick Cuſtoms: For upon this account St. Stephen was accuſed of Blaſphemy againſt Moſes, and the Law, becauſe he ſaid, that the Meſſiah ſhould change the Cuſtoms which Moſes had delivered to them, Acts 6. 11, 14. This Accuſation before the Scribes, the Elders, and High Prieſt, was deemed ſufficient to prove him guilty of that capital Offence of Blaſphemy. On this account they bring St. Paul before the Judgment-Seat of Gallio, becauſe, ſay they, he did perſuade Men to worſhip God, παρὰ τὸν νόμον, againſt, or otherwiſe than was commanded by the Law of Moſes, Acts 18. 13. And this Opinion they grounded chiefly upon thoſe places which ſeem to ſpeak of the perpetual duration of thoſe Statutes, and ſay they ſhall be Ordinances to them for ever, Deut. 29. 29. Levit. 23. 21. Exod. 12. 17. and conſequently ſeem to infer a Declaration from the Mouth of God, that they ſhould not be altered.

Moreover it is certain, that as the Proteſtants condemn as ſinful and pernicious, many Traditions and Cuſtoms of the Romiſh Church, ſo did that Jeſus whom Chriſtians honour as the true Meſſiah, as frequently inveigh againſt, and ſolemnly condemn many Traditions which then were generally received and practiſed in the Jewiſh Church, as vain and ſinful Cuſtoms, and ſuch as tended to make void the Scriptures, and render the whole Jewiſh Worſhip vain. He therefore ſeemeth to have been as great an Enemy to Eccleſiaſtical Traditions, though they were generally owned by the then preſent Church as ſuch, as Proteſtants can be eſteemed.

Laſtly, Certain it is that the Superiours and Church-Rulers, or at leaſt the major, and prevailing part of the Church-Rulers, did then as firmly, and unqueſtionably believe that thoſe Traditions which were condemned by your Jeſus, and which ſo evidently proved, if true, he was not the Meſſiah promiſed to the Jew, were both agreeable to the Word of God expounded by their Church-Tradition, and were delivered to them by Moſes, and the Patriarchs, and Prophets, and were continually practiſed by their Forefathers, as doth the Roman Church believe that her Traditions were taught and practiſed by Chriſt or his Apoſtles, and by their Succeſſors throughout all Ages of the Church. Hence are they often ſtiled by them, (h) the Traditions of the Ancients, or the Traditions received by ſucceſſion from their Fathers: And in their later Writers they are always held to be derived from God by Moſes, together with the written Law, and as an Explication of it. Hence, like good Roman Catholicks, they were more exceedingly zealous for the Traditions of their Fathers, than for the Law it ſelf. They (i) accuſe all who walked not according to theſe Cuſtoms of their Fathers, as Perſons who forſook the Law of Moſes. And to do any thing againſt theſe Cuſtoms of their Fathers, was reputed criminal. This being ſo,

I ask, why the Tradition of the major part of the Church Catholick, or Chriſtians in any Age whatſoever, and their concurring Judgment, that what ſhe doth at preſent teach and practiſe, ſhe received from Chriſt and his Apoſtles, ſhould be eſteemed ſufficient to render all thoſe Perſons guilty of Hereſie and Schiſm, who do not yield aſſent to what they teach, or a compliance with their Practices, as Roman Catholicks aſſert; and yet that the general Tradition of the then preſent Jewiſh Church, even including the Diſciples of Chriſt, ſhould not conclude them Schiſmaticks and Hereticks, who being Members of that Church, would not aſſent unto what they ſo generally taught, or comply with that which they practiſed, as delivered to them by Moſes, and the Patriarchs, and Prophets?

§. 7. But to apply theſe things, if it be poſſible, yet more particularly unto the Pleadings of the Roman Church, and to ſhew the Weakneſs and the pernicious Reſults of their moſt ſpecious Pretences. I add,

1. That notwithſtanding it was the Duty of the Prieſts and Rulers of the Jewiſh Church, both to preſerve and teach unto the People the Knowledge of the Law, yet did the major part of theſe Church-Guides, both oft and dangerouſly ſwerve from this their Duty. For they did teach and practiſe, and direct the People into thoſe ways which were deſtructive to the eternal Welfare of their Souls; God by his Prophets doth complain without exception of them, That they erred in Viſion, and ſtumbled in Judgment; that the Teachers of his People made Lies their Refuge, and under Falſhood hid themſelves, ſaying, the overflowing Scourge ſhall not come to us, Iſa. 28. 7, 15. that their Interpreters had tranſgreſs'd againſt him, that his Watchmen were blind, they were all ignorant, all dumb Dogs that could not bark, ſleeping, lying down, loving to ſlumber; that they were greedy Dogs, that could not have enough, Iſa. 43. 27.—56. 10, 11. Shepherds that could not underſtand, that the Prieſts ſaid not, Where is the Lord? and they that handled the Law knew him not; that the Paſtors alſo tranſgreſſed againſt him, and the Prophets propheſied by Baal; and walked after the things that did not profit, Jer. 2. 8. That his Prophets propheſied falſly, and the Prieſts bare Rule by their means, Jer. 5. 31. That from the Prophet to the Prieſt every one dealt falſly, Jer. 6. 13, 14. That they heal'd alſo the hurt of the Daughter of his People ſlightly, ſaying, Peace, peace, when there was no peace, Jer. 8. 9. That his Wiſe Men had rejected the Word of the Lord, Jer. 23. 1, 2. And that the Paſtors, whoſe buſineſs it was to feed his Sheep, deſtroy'd, and ſcattered, and drove them away, and did not viſit them, Ibid. ver. 11. That both Prieſts and Prophets were prophane, Ezek. 22. 26. That they had violated his Law, and had prophaned his holy things, putting no difference betwixt the holy and prophane, the clean and the unclean, and hid their Eyes from his Sabbaths, Ezek. 34. 1, 6. That the Shepherds of Iſrael fed themſelves, but did not feed the Flock, the Diſeaſed did they not ſtrengthen, neither did they heal that which was ſick, nor bring again that which was driven away, nor ſeek that which was loſt, but with force and cruelty they ruled; ſo that the Sheep were ſcattered becauſe there was no Shepherd, Hoſ. 4. 6. That they rejected Knowledge, ſo that God's People were deſtroyed for lack of it, Zeph. 3. 4. That her Prophets were light and treacherous Perſons, her Prieſts had polluted the Sanctuary, they had done violence to the Law. That they had forgotten the Law of their God, they departed out of the way, they cauſed many to ſtumble at the Law, they corrupted the Covenant of Levi, Mal. 2. 8.

Moreover, of theſe Guides it is expreſly ſaid, That they which led the People, cauſed them to err, Iſa. 3. 12. and deſtroyed the Way of their Paths, Chap. 9. 16. That the Leaders of the People cauſed them to err, and they that were led of them were deſtroyed, and that their Shepherds cauſed them to go aſtray, Jer. 50. 6. Matth. 23. Our Lord declares, that they were Fools, blind Guides, full of Hypocriſie, and of Iniquity, that they had taken away the Key of Knowledge, and had ſhut up the Kingdom of Heaven againſt Men, not going in themſelves, not ſuffering them that were entring to go in, Luke 11. 52. Matth. 23. 13. That they made many falſe Deciſions in matters of ſo great importance, as to make void the Law of God, and render his whole Worſhip vain, Matth. 15. 6, 9. That they tranſgreſſed the Commandment of God by their Traditions. That notwithſtanding their Inſtructions, the People were as Sheep without a Shepherd, Matth. 9. 36. or only had ſuch Guides as would moſt certainly, if they ſubmitted to their Guidance, lead them to the Pit, Matth. 15. 14. Hence therefore I infer.

1. That even thoſe Spiritual Guides, who are by God's Appointment conſtituted to inſtruct his People, and to feed his Flock, (for ſuch our Lord acknowledged the Scribes and Phariſees, and Rulers of the Jewiſh Church to be,) may ſcatter and deſtroy that Flock: And they who are ſet for the Judgment of the Lord, and for Controverſies, may violate, corrupt, pervert that Law they ſhould interpret, they may be partial in it, they may depart out of the Way, they may make the Commandments of God of none effect, and his whole Worſhip vain by their Traditions; they may cauſe their Sheep to err, ſtumble, and go aſtray, and that ſo dangerouſly, that they who are led by them ſhall be deſtroyed with them, and find no entrance into Bliſs. And hence, I hope, I may aſſume the boldneſs to conclude againſt the Infallibility of our Spiritual Governours, or the concurring Judgments of the Major part of them; which is ſufficient to root up even the Foundations of the Romiſh Babel.

2. Hence I infer, that notwithſtanding all the fore-mentioned Scriptures, which ſay, it was the Duty of the People to aſk of their Spiritual Guides the Meaning of the Law, and ſeek the Knowledge of it at their Mouths, and to enquire after their Judgments in all thoſe Controverſies they were not able to reſolve; I ſay, hence I infer, that notwithſtanding this, the People were not abſolutely obliged to reſt in the Deciſion of the major part of theſe Church-Guides, or bound to practiſe all that they approved; for then an obligation muſt be laid upon them, not only to err in Judgment with them, to countenance falſe Prophets, and to ſpeak Peace to themſelves when there is no Peace, but alſo to violate the Law, and to comply with their falſe Gloſſes and corrupt Interpretations of it; nay, which is more unreaſonable, they muſt be then obliged to be deſtroyed, to fall into the Pit, and to exclude themſelves from the enjoyment of Chriſt's Kingdom: Whereas it is a Contradiction to ſay, that God obligeth any Perſon to tranſgreſs his Law; and it is little leſs than Blaſphemy to ſay, he doth require them to deſtroy themſelves, to fall into the Pit, or to deprive themſelves of the enjoyment of his Kingdom. Hence therefore I infer this Corollary:

That neither are all Chriſtian People, Churches or Nations, abſolutely bound to reſt in the Deciſions of the major part of Chriſtian Biſhops, or to practiſe all that they approve and impoſe. Which Propoſition overthrows that abſolute and blind Obedience to their Church-Guides or Councils, which Romaniſts ſo ſtiffly plead for.

3. Hence it is alſo evident, that private Perſons, or that the minor part of the whole Church, may have ſufficient ground, either from Reaſon or clear Scripture, for their refuſal of Aſſent, and of ſubmiſſion to the Authority and Definitions of the major part of

of their Church-Guides; for the Jews were bound to believe Chriſt to be the true Meſſiah, although the High Prieſt and the Elders had pronounced him a Deceiver and a Malefactor: They were obliged to believe his Miracles were wrought, not by Beelzebub, but the Spirit of God; that Chriſt's Kingdom was not of this World; that John Baptiſt was that Elias which was for to come; and that to eat with Hands unwaſhed, to heal the Sick, to pluck ſome Ears of Corn upon the Sabbath-Day, were not unlawful Actions, although the major part of their Church-Guides taught and believed the contrary, Matth. 15. 5. They were obliged not to void that Law of Nature which required Children to relieve their own diſtreſſed Parents, and therefore ſtood obliged not to comply with thoſe Traditions of the Scribes and Phariſees, which made the Word of God of none effect, and would not ſuffer them to yield obedience to it. And ſeeing they had many (i) Traditions and Decrees of the like nature, which obtained amongſt them, and only were rejected by the Sadducees and Diſciples of our Lord; in none of theſe could they comply with their Church-Guides without the violation of that Law of God, which ſure they had ſufficient ground and reaſon to obſerve. In a word, In all thoſe caſes, in which they were not bound to reſt in the Deciſion of the major part of their Church-Guides, or practiſe what they did approve, that is, in all the caſes mentioned in the former Head, they muſt have had ſufficient ground either from Scripture or from Reaſon, for their refuſal of Submiſſion to them. Now theſe three Inferences do fully juſtifie the Reformation of the Church of England.

§. 8. 4. From what hath been diſcourſed, we may ſee the weakneſs of thoſe Pleas the Roman Doctors make in their own Defence, and of the Arguments they uſe to ſhew, that 'tis impoſſible they ſhould be guilty of thoſe Corruptions in Doctrine, or in Manners which we charge them with. For, their moſt ſpecious Pretences are to this effect, That we confeſs the Church of Rome was once both True and Orthodox; ſhew then, ſay they, how we did ceaſe to be ſo, whether by Schiſm or Hereſie? With Schiſm you cannot juſtly charge us; for (k) that can never be of a much major, and more dignified part, in reſpect of a leſs, and inferiour, ſubject to it; becauſe this main Body in any Diviſion is rightly taken for the whole, from which a Separation is Schiſm, and to which every Member ought to adhere, as to the Body and Head here upon Earth to which it belongs: We therefore being the much major and more dignified part of the Church, cannot be Schiſmaticks in reference to Proteſtants, who are, and were at their departure, a leſs and an inferiour Body to us. If Hereſie be the Crime charged upon us, by what Church were we condemned? What Body of Men before you, found fault with thoſe Corruptions which you pretend to reform? For ſure, it was not poſſible for ſo many Errors and Corruptions to come into the Church, and no one take notice of them? Could this be ſo, where was the watchful Eye of Providence over the Church? But, if we could ſuppoſe this Providence was unconcerned for Preſervation of the Church, could all the Paſtors fall aſleep at once? Or, could they all conſpire together to deceive their Poſterity? Moreover, ſince God will always have a viſible Church, what can you mention beſides that which holds Communion with the Church of Rome, as the then preſent viſible Church of Chriſt, when you began your Reformation, (except perhaps ſome Eaſtern Churches, which you diſlike almoſt as much as that of Rome?) And if that Church could teach ſuch Errors as you charge her with, as Matters of the Chriſtian Faith, what aſſurance can you have ſhe hath not erred in defining the Canon of Scriptures, and delivering ſome Book or Books for the Word of God, which are not ſo? This is the Sum of all the Pleadings of the Roman Party in their own behalf: And they are only ſuch as the Jewiſh Doctors might have pleaded with as much plauſibility againſt our Lord's Diſciples, and that firſt Chriſtian Church which they planted in that Nation. For,

1. Where, may they ſay, will (l) you produce the Men of former Ages, who taxed the Jewiſh Church with ſuch Errors and Corruptions as your Jeſus did, and bid Men beware of the Leaven of the Scribes and Phariſees, that is, the moſt holy and learned Members of our Church? Do not the Chriſtians themſelves acknowledge, that we were once a right Vine, and the Beloved of the Lord? How, or when therefore did we ceaſe to be ſo? If by Schiſm, produce that major part or Body of the Jewiſh Church from which we ſeparated, when firſt your Jeſus, like another Luther, appeared among us? Or, if by Hereſie we ceaſed to be ſo, by what Church, what Councils were we condemned? Who can believe that God would ever ſuffer ſuch dangerous Doctrines to prevail in his own Church, and raiſe up no Church-Guides, no Prophets, to diſcover things ſo deſtructive to her very Being, till theſe new Teachers and Reformers firſt aroſe? Where then had God a true Church in the World, if not among the People of the Jews? What other Church could Chriſt or his Apoſtles mention, beſides that which he ſo often taxed with voiding the Commandments of God, and rendring his Worſhip vain, becauſe of ſome Traditions which they had received from their Forefathers? If then God ſuffered this Church to be all over-run with ſuch a fatal Leproſie, and gave no clear Diſcovery thereof, where was the watchful Eye of Providence? Where was that God, who promiſed that he would put his Name for ever in Jeruſalem, and that his Eyes and Heart ſhould be perpetually there? But ſuppoſe that Providence was unconcerned, did all our Paſtors fall aſleep at once? Or, could they all conſpire to deceive Poſterity? Were not the Oracles of God committed to us Jews? Did not you Chriſtians receive them from us? If then our Church might teach her Children ſuch deſtructive Errors as you charge her with, how can you be aſſured that ſhe hath not erred even in that Canon of Scriptures which from her you have received?

Now though this Inſtance, which I have largely proſecuted, may be ſufficient to ſhew the Vanity of the moſt plauſible Pretences of R. H. againſt the Proteſtants, both in his Rational Account and his Diſcourſe, it might be farther manifeſted, that they as ſtrongly plead for the Heathen World againſt the Jew, for the Mahumetan againſt the Chriſtian; for the Prieſts of Baal againſt Elias and thoſe Seven Thouſand who had not bowed the Knee to Baal; for the prevailing Arian againſt the Orthodox; for the Fornicator, the Simoniack, the Covetous and the Debauched Perſon in all thoſe Ages in which theſe were the Epidemical, and almoſt General Diſeaſes of the Clergy, that is from the Tenth to the Sixteenth Century; and laſtly, for Antichriſt himſelf, when he, according to the Predictions of the Scripture, and the Confeſſion of many Roman Catholicks, ſhall drive the Church, that is, the Orthodox Profeſſors of the Faith into the Wilderneſſes, and ſlay the Witneſſes of Chriſt, and of his Doctrine. But,

To conclude, If this be truly the reſult of the moſt ſpecious Pretences of the Roman Party to draw our Souls into their deadly Snares, if all their faireſt Pleas do make for Judaiſm more naturally than they do for Popery? If what they urge, to prove the Proteſtant Divines to be Deceivers of the People, doth more ſtrongly prove our Bleſſed Jeſus a Deceiver, which is the higheſt Blaſphemy; I hope that no true Lover of this Jeſus will be much tempted by ſuch Pleas to entertain a good Opinion of the Romiſh Faith: It being certainly that Faith which cannot be eſtabliſhed but on the Ruins of Chriſtianity, nor embraced by any Proteſtant, but with the greateſt hazard, if not the ruine of his Soul.

THE PREFACE TO THE ACTS of the Holy APOSTLES.

THE History of the Acts of the Apoſtles, if it relateth Matters truly, is an invincible Demonſtration of the Truth of Chriſtian Faith. For, 1ſt, It confirms the Truth of Chriſt's great Promiſe, John 14. 12. He that believeth in me, ſhall do greater Works than I have done, becauſe I go to my Father. See the Note there.

It confirms his Promiſe made to his Diſciples, That the Spirit of his Father ſhould ſpeak in them, and give them a Mouth and Wiſdom, which all their Adverſaries ſhould not be able to gainſay, Matth. 10. 20. Luke 21. 15. Acts 6. 10. that they who believed in him after that he was glorified, ſhould receive the Holy Ghoſt, John 7. 39. and the Saying of his Fore-runner, that he who was to come after him, ſhould baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Fire, Matth. 3. 11. Acts 2. 3. and of Chriſt's Declaration, that when this Spirit was come, he ſhould convince the World of Sin, becauſe they believed not in him, John 16. 9. Acts 2. 37. and of his Righteouſneſs, becauſe he went to the Father, ver. 33.

It confirms the Truth of his Prediction, That after he was lifted up, he would draw all Men after him, John 12. 31. when he was ſown in the Earth, he ſhould bring forth much Fruit, ver. 14. and of his Compariſons of the Kingdom of God to a grain of Muſtard-ſeed, Mark 4. 30. for its wonderful increaſe, Acts 2. 41.—4. 4.—5. 14. ſo mightily grew the Word of God, and prevailed, Acts 19. 20.

It confirms all that Chriſt had ſaid, concerning the Kingdom of Satan falling down like Lightning, Luke 10. 17. the caſting out, and judging the Prince of the World, John 12. 31. — 16. 11. and the Conqueſt his Diſciples ſhould have over all the Power of the Enemy, Luke 10. 18. by ſhewing the Efficacy the Goſpel had to turn Men from the Power of Satan unto God.

To make theſe things more evident, I ſhall reflect more largely upon two Particulars, which are the frequent Subjects of this Hiſtory, viz. The Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt conferred upon the Apoſtles, and others, partly by the laying on of the Apoſtles Hands upon them, and partly at the Preaching of the Apoſtles to them. And, 2dly, The Miracles which the Apoſtles, and other Preachers of the Goſpel, wrought for confirmation of their Doctrine. And, 1ſt, That on the Day of Pentecoſt, the Apoſtles and Diſciples of Chriſt Jeſus being met together, cloven Tongues like to Fire fell upon them, and they were all filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and began to ſpeak with other Tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance; adding, that when this Miracle was wrought upon them, there were devout Men of every Nation, who heard them ſpeak in their own Tongues the wondrous Works of God; and upon this account, did with amazement ask, Are not all theſe which ſpeak, Galileans? And how hear we every Man in our own Tongue wherein we were born? And that St. Peter, one of Chriſt's Diſciples, did then and there declare, that the ſame Jeſus whom the Jews had crucified, was by God raiſed up, and exalted to his own right Hand, and having received of the Father the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt, had ſhed forth this which they now ſaw, and heard; and that he with theſe Sayings, inſtantly converted Three thouſand Souls; and that God daily added to the Church ſuch as ſhould be ſaved, Acts 2.

2dly, That when St. Philip had converted many many People of Samaria to the Chriſtian Faith, and had baptized them, St. Peter and St. John laid their Hands on them, and they received the Holy Ghoſt: And that Simon Magus ſeeing this, offered them Money to have this Power imparted to him, that on whomſoever he ſhould lay his Hands, they might receive the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 8.

3*dly*, That whilſt St. Peter was preaching to Cornelius, his Kinſmen, and near Friends, the Holy Ghoſt fell on all thoſe that heard the Word, and they ſpake with Tongues, and magnified God in the Preſence of the Jews, Acts 10. 44, 45.

4*thly*, That St. Paul finding Twelve Diſciples of John the Baptiſt who had not yet received the Holy Ghoſt, he baptizes them in the Name of the Lord Jeſus; and when he had laid his Hands upon them, they received the Holy Ghoſt, and propheſied, Acts 19. 6.

Now all theſe things were done, ſaith this Record, in populous and famous Cities.

The firſt in Jeruſalem at the great Feaſt of Pentecoſt, immediately enſuing Chriſt's Aſcenſion, and therefore at a time when all Jeruſalem was met to celebrate that Feaſt, and when the Fame of the Meſſiah expected ſuddenly to appear, Luke 19. 11. had brought great Multitudes of Jews and Proſelytes out of all Nations, to attend the iſſue of that Expectation; and ſo the Matter of Fact, if true, muſt be well known by all Judea ſo to be: Nor could it poſſibly be falſe, but all then preſent and alive when firſt this Fact was publiſhed to the World, muſt be ſo many living Witneſſes of the falſhood of it.

The ſecond populous City, whoſe Converts received this Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt, was the Metropolis of Samaria, according to our Lord's Prediction, You ſhall be my Witneſſes in Samaria, Acts 1. 8. The time when this was done, is noted by three Characters, viz. That it was done ſoon after the Death of Stephen, Acts 8. 2. and before the Converſion of St. Paul, ver. 1. and when Simon the celebrated Magician was there, and had ſo gained upon the People of that City, that they all gave heed to him, and owned him as the great Power of God, ver. 9, 10.

The third hapned in the City of Cæſarea, (the Seat of the Roman Governour of Judea, inhabited by Jews, Samaritans and Gentiles, and well ſtocked with Roman Soldiers) upon the Perſon and Kindred of Cornelius, a Centurion of the Roman Band, one well reported of by the whole Nation of the Jews; and ſo not only Cæſarea, but all Judea, and Rome alſo, muſt be acquainted with the Converſion of a Man ſo eminent for his Poſt, ſo well approved by the whole Jewiſh Nation for his Piety. The Character of the time when this was done, we learn from theſe Circumſtances, that before, the Word was preached to the Jews only; and that this was the firſt inſtance of their Preaching to convert a Gentile to the Faith of Chriſt, Acts 11. 19.

The fourth was done in Epheſus, the Metropolis of the Proconſular Aſia, about twelve Years after the former, in a City where dwelt many Jews, who were Teachers of the Law in oppoſition to the Goſpel, and who had there a Synagogue: And after this, all Aſia, both Jews and Greeks, heard the Word of Chriſt, Acts 19. 10, 17.

2*dly*, Of the Miracles performed by the Apoſtles, and other Perſons aſſiſted by the Holy Ghoſt, this Hiſtory ſaith in the general, That with great Power gave the Apoſtles witneſs of the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus, Acts 4. 33. and that in confirmation of it, many Signs and Wonders were done by the Apoſtle's Hands. In particular it informs us,

1*ſt*, That at Jeruſalem, Peter and John cured by the Name of Jeſus a Man forty Years old, who had been ſo lame from his Mother's Womb, that he was carried from one place to another; that this was done to the aſtoniſhment of the People, who knew he had been ſo long impotent in his Feet, but now ſaw him leaping, and walking, and praiſing God: And that theſe two Apoſtles being brought before the whole Sanhedrim on this account, and asked by what Power, or by what Name they had done this Cure, they openly declare to them, that they had done it by Faith in the Name of that Jeſus of Nazareth whom theſe Men had crucified; and that the Council ſeeing the Man that was healed, ſtanding by them, were forced to confeſs, that it was manifeſt to all them that dwelt at Jeruſalem, that a notable Miracle had undeniably been done by them, Chap. 3. 2.—11. Chap. 4. 6.—16.

2*dly*. That when the chief Prieſts and Sadducees had put them by night into Priſon for preaching in the Name of Jeſus, tho' the Priſon was found ſhut with all ſafety, and the Keepers ſtanding without before the Doors, yet were the Apoſtles on the morrow found ſtanding in the Temple, and teaching the People, the Angel of the Lord having opened the Priſon Doors, and brought them forth, and commanded them thus to preach, Chap. 5. 18.—25. And that this ſo affected them, that they not only doubted what this might come to, ver. 24. but were prevailed upon by the great and celebrated Gamaliel, to let theſe Men alone, leſt haply they ſhould be found to fight againſt God, ver. 39.

3*dly*, That

3*dly*, That Stephen being full of Faith and Power, did great Wonders and Miracles among the People, Chap. 6. 8.

4*thly*, That theſe Miracles were ſo certainly and ſo effectually performed, that thereupon the People brought forth the Sick into the Streets, and laid them on Beds and Couches, that at the leaſt the Shadow of Peter paſſing by, might overſhadow ſome of them; and that a Multitude came out of the Cities round about them to Jeruſalem, bringing ſick Folks, and them that were vexed with unclean Spirits, and they were healed every one, Chap. 5. 15, 16. And alſo, that by their Miracles and Preaching, they converted to the Chriſtian Faith at one time three thouſand, Chap. 2. 41. at another time five thouſand Perſons, Chap. 4. 4. that Men were daily added to the Church, Chap. 2. 47. that Believers were more added to the Lord, even Multitudes of Men and Women, Chap. 5. 14. that the Word of the Lord increaſed, and the Multitude of the Diſciples multiplyed in Jeruſalem greatly, and a great Company of the Prieſts were obedient to the Faith, Chap 6. 7.

5*thly*, That upon St. Philip's preaching Chriſt at Samaria, the People, with one accord gave heed to the things which he ſpake, beholding the Miracles which he did; for unclean Spirits crying with loud Voice, came out of many that were poſſeſſed with them, and many taken with Palſies, and that were lame were healed: And that theſe things prevailed there, not only with many Men and Women to receive Chriſtian Baptiſm, but alſo forced Simon Magus, a famous Sorcerer, to believe; and, being baptized, to continue with Philip, wondring at the Signs and Miracles done by him, Chap. 8. 6, 7, 13.

6*thly*, That whilſt St. Paul, a zealous Phariſee, and a more zealous Perſecutor, breathed out Threatnings and Slaughter againſt the Diſciples of the Lord, and had received Commiſſion from the High Prieſts and Elders, to bring them bound unto Jeruſalem to be puniſhed; as he came nigh to Damaſcus, a Light from Heaven above the brightneſs of the Sun, ſhone round about him, and ſtruck him blind; and the Lord Jeſus, by a Voice from Heaven, ſaid unto him, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? And that one Ananias being ſent by the ſame Jeſus to lay his Hands upon him, he preſently receives his Sight, is filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and preacheth Chriſt in the Jewiſh Synagogues erected in that famous City, Acts 9. And to this miraculous Converſion he twice appeals, Chap. 22. and 26. in vindication of himſelf, declaring, that partly the High Prieſts and Elders, partly thoſe Perſons that were with him then, partly one Ananias, a devout Man according to the Law, and a Man of good report among all the Jews, could bear witneſs to them, Chap. 22. 5, 9. 12. and that none of theſe things were hid from King Agrippa's Knowledge, they being not done in a corner; and by this Narrative, he almoſt perſuaded that King to become a Chriſtian, Chap. 26. 26, 28. See the Note on Chap. 22. 6.

7*thly*, That when St. Peter being at Lydda, a City of Paleſtine, ſaid to one Æneas there, who had kept his Bed eight Years, and was ſick of a Palſie, Æneas, Jeſus Chriſt maketh thee whole, ariſe, and make thy Bed; he immediately did ſo; and that thereupon, all that dwelt at Lydda ſeeing this, were turned to the Lord, Chap. 9. 32, 35.

8*thly*, That the ſame Peter at Joppa, a City of Phœnicia, lying upon the Mediterranean, raiſeth one Tabitha from the Dead; and that this being known throughout all Joppa, many believed in the Lord, ibid. ver. 39. ——42. And here let it be noted, that at Jabneh, near Joppa, ſat the great Sanhedrim; and at Lydda were famous Schools and eminent Perſons of the Jewiſh Nation and Religion.

9*thly*, That at Cyprus, St. Paul converted Sergius Paulus, the Deputy of the Iſland, by ſtriking Elymas, a Jewiſh Sorcerer there blind with a word, becauſe he ſought to turn the Deputy, or the Proconſul, from the Faith, Chap. 13. 7, 12.

10*thly*, That at Iconium, a City of Lycaonia, where alſo was a Synagogue of the Jews, Paul and Barnabas ſo preached, that a great Multitude both of the Jews and Greeks, believed, Chap. 14. 1. and that the Lord gave Teſtimony to his Word, by granting Signs and Wonders to be done by their Hands, ver. 3.

11*thly*, That at Epheſus, Paul preached almoſt three Years, and prevailed ſo much among them, that all Aſia, both Jews, there very numerous, and Greeks reſorting to Epheſus, heard, and many of them believed the Goſpel, God working, in confirmation of it, ſpecial Miracles by the Hands of Paul; ſo that from his Body were brought Hankerchiefs and Aprons; and by this means the Diſeaſes departed from them, and the Evil Spirits went out of them.

And 12*thly*, That ſeven Sons of one Sceva a Jew, (and of the Prieſt's Order, ſaith the Talmud,) which were Exorciſts, perceiving how powerful Paul was to caſt out Devils by the Name of Jeſus, and therefore attempting to exorciſe one that had an evil Spirit, by the Name of that Jeſus whom Paul preached, (ſuppoſing that the very Name of Jeſus, without Faith in him as the true Meſſiah, would be effectual to caſt out Devils,) they were ſet upon, and overpowered by the Evil Spirit, and forced to fly from the place naked naked and wounded, and this being known to all the Jews and Greeks, prevailed with many who formerly had uſed Magick Arts, to burn their Books, confeſs their Deeds, and believe in Jeſus; ſo mightily grew the Word of God, and prevailed, Chap. 19.

13*thly*, That at the Iſle of Maltha, St. Paul not only ſhook off a Viper from his Hand that had faſtned on it, without harm, but healed the Father of Publius, the chief Man of the Iſland, lying ſick of a Feaver, by laying his Hands upon him; and that hereupon, others in that Iſland who had Diſeaſes, came and were healed; and that thereupon they honoured all Paul's Companions, and laded them at their departure with ſuch things as they needed, Acts 28. 3.—10. Which things, if true, muſt be known to the Inhabitants, and alſo to the 276 Perſons, who were caſt with Paul on that Iſland, Chap. 27. 37.

So that this Hiſtory affords us an account of Miracles, great and many, done in many places, upon Perſons remarkable and well known, viz. The lame Man laid at the beautiful Gate of the Temple; upon Tabitha, eminent for her Works of Charity; upon Saul, a zealous perſecutor of the Church; upon Elymas the Sorcerer, oppoſing the right Ways of the Lord; upon the Pythoneſs, at Philippi, Acts 16. 18. upon the Sons of Sceva; upon the Father of Publius, to the Converſion of many thouſands, not only of the People, but of Multitudes of the Prieſts at Jeruſalem; to the aſtoniſhment of Simon Magus, that Prince of Sorcerers, and the Conviction and Converſion of Multitudes of the ſame wicked Art at Epheſus, a City famous for thoſe Practices. See the Note on Chap. 19. 19.

Moreover, Theſe Miracles were either done in Jeruſalem, Samaria, Epheſus, Cities of which we have already ſpoken; or, where the Jews abounded: and that ſo certainly, that St. Paul in his Epiſtle to the Hebrews, enquires, How ſhall we eſcape, if we neglect ſo great Salvation, which was confirmed to us by Signs and Wonders, and divers Miracles, and Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt? Heb. 22. 4. And as for the Converſion of St. Paul, it was done at Damaſcus, the Metropolis and noble Mart of Syria, where flouriſhed many thouſand Jews; upon a Perſon known by the whole Nation of the Jews, to be a ſtrict and celebrated Phariſee, and once a zealous Perſecutor of the Chriſtian Faith; one who after his Converſion, which hapned the next Year after our Lord's Aſcenſion, was hated and perſecuted by his own Nation, for preaching up that Faith he formerly endeavoured to deſtroy; and ſo not only they of Damaſcus, and they who journied with him, and ſaw and felt that glorious Light which was the means of his Converſion, but even the whole Jewiſh Nation muſt be acquainted with, and even alarm'd at this miraculous and ſudden Change. Laſtly, Theſe Miracles were moſtly done within two Years, and all of them within twenty ſeven Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion.

Now, when Times and Places, Circumſtances and Events, are ſo particularly ſet down, and are of ſuch a nature as ſeem to carry in them a conſpicuous Evidence of the notorious Falſhood, or the clear Truth of the Narration, as it is a ſign the Hiſtorian intended no Deceit; ſo neither ſeems it eaſie to conceive, how ſuch great Cities and Regions ſhould be ignorant of the Truth or Falſhood of them, or be capable of being impoſed upon by ſuch Relations.

All that can poſſibly be offer'd to impair the Credit of theſe Evidences, of the miraculous Operations of the Holy Ghoſt exerciſed by the Apoſtles, and conferr'd on ſuch as did embrace the Chriſtian Faith, muſt be comprized in theſe two Particulars? Viz. Either that theſe things were not written and publiſhed by St. Luke, or in his time; or, that they were not truly written, but contain falſe Stories invented for the Credit of Chriſtianity.

Now that this Hiſtory was univerſally and originally received by the Tradition of the Church, amongſt her true undoubted Scriptures, (a) Euſebius ſufficiently informs us. (b) Clemens of Alexandria and Origen confirm the ſame Tradition. And as all agree, that this Hiſtory was written by St. Luke, and own'd as an unqueſtionable Record of Chriſtianity, ſo do we find it cited by (c) St. Clemens, St. Paul's Companion; by (d) Papias, who converſed with Men of the Apoſtle's time; and by (e) Polycarp, who was St. John's Diſciple; And Irenæus, who flouriſhed in the ſecond Century, hath in a large Chapter almoſt Epitomis'd it: Nor do I read of any Jew or Gentile, who did except againſt the Truth, or the ſincerity of the Relator of theſe things: Now if a Record ſo early and ſo generally received, and cited by the Chriſtians, may be, without all proof, rejected, as not written by that Author whoſe Name it hath ſtill born; if a Writing thus unanimouſly owned among the Records of the Chriſtian Faith, may be, without all reaſon, rejected as a ſpurious or doubtful doubtful Piece, the Truth and Credit of all Hiſtory muſt be entirely ſubverted; and ſo there will be nothing certain left concerning any Records of Antiquity.

But if, according to this general Tradition, this Hiſtory was indeed writ and publiſhed by St. Luke, there muſt be many Myriads ſtill living in Judea, Samaria, Damaſcus, Epheſus, Cæſarea, and many other places mentioned in theſe Acts, who could be able to diſprove theſe things, had they been falſe; which yet was either not at all, or unſucceſsfully attempted, as the Iſſue, which concluded in its general Reception, teſtifies. We therefore may conclude, that neither Jew or Gentile, Orthodox Chriſtian or Apoſtate, though they were all concerned to do it, found any cauſe to doubt the certainty of what was thus recorded.

But, to give Scepticiſm its utmoſt ſcope, be it this Hiſtory was not publiſhed till an Hundred Years after our Lord's Aſcenſion; beyond which, Infidelity cannot go, if we conſider the Citations of it before that time, and the Abridgment of it made by Irenæus not long after; either the Facts related in it were true, and then they are a ſignal Evidence of the miraculous Operations of the Holy Ghoſt vouchſafed to Chriſtians; or, they were falſe: And then, how is it poſſible they ſhould obtain ſo eaſie and ſo general Belief? Could they not know in Judea, Samaria, and Epheſus, and in the other Cities mention'd, by what means they were firſt converted to the Chriſtian Faith? Muſt it not be ſufficient Prejudice to them againſt theſe Tales, that they had lived ſo long in the Profeſſion of that Faith, and had heard nothing of theſe things, too wonderful, too much conducing to the honour and confirmation of that Faith to be ſo long concealed, had they been truly done by two ſuch eminent Apoſtles, as were St. Peter and St. Paul.

A PARAPHRASE WITH ANNOTATIONS ON THE ACTS of the Holy APOSTLES.

CHAP. I.

1. THE former Treatiſe have I made, O Theophilus, [a] of all that Jeſus began both to do and teach, (as far as I thought this needful for the Inſtruction of a Catechumen,)

2. Until the day in which he was taken up, after that he, [b] through the Holy Ghoſt, had given Commandments to the Apoſtles whom he had choſen;

3. To whom alſo he ſhewed himſelf alive after his Paſſion, by many [c] infallible Proofs, (Gr. by many Signs, or Teſtimonies of his Reſurrection,) being ſeen of them forty days, and [d] ſpeaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God.

4. And being [e] aſſembled together, (or eating, and converſing) with them, (he) commanded them that they ſhould not (or not to) depart from Jeruſalem, (till Power from on high was come upon them, to fit them for their Work, Luke 24. 49.) but (to) wait for the Promiſe of the Father, which, ſaith he, ye have heard of me; (Gr. for the Promiſe of my Father of which you have heard.)

5. For John truly (Ἰωάννης μὲν John indeed) baptized with Water (only,) but (as he ſaid, Matth. 3. 11.) [f] you ſhall be baptized with the Holy Ghoſt, not many days hence; (i. e. within ten days; for this was ſpoken on the day of our Lord's Aſcenſion, that is, ten days before Pentecoſt.)

6. When they therefore were come together, they asked of him (that which they chiefly deſired, and expected,) ſaying, Lord, [g] wilt thou at this time reſtore again the Kingdom to Iſrael? (i. e. Wilt thou now ſet up that temporal Kingdom, in which the Jews ſhall rule over all Nations, which we impatiently expect?)

7. And he ſaid to them, It is not for you to know the Times or the Seaſons, which the Father [h] hath put in his own Power, (i. e. reſerved to himſelf.)

8. But (for your Satisfaction in what more concerns you, know that) [i] ye ſhall receive (a miraculous) Power, after the Holy Ghoſt (which I have promiſed) is come upon you, and (then) ye ſhall be Witneſſes to me (of what I ſaid and did, John 15. 27.) both in Jeruſalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and to the [k] uttermoſt parts of the Earth.

9. And when he had ſpoken, theſe things, while they beheld (him,) he was taken up (into Heaven,) and a Cloud received him, (and conveighed him) out of their ſight.

10. And while they looked ſtedfaſtly toward Heaven, as he went up, behold, two (Angels, like) Men, ſtood by them in white Apparel,

11. Who alſo ſaid, Ye Men of Galilee, Why ſtand ye (thus) gazing up into Heaven, (after him whom ye cannot now ſee, but the time will come at the end of the World, when) this ſame Jeſus who is taken up from you

Digitized by Google

1 you into Heaven, [l] shall so come (down from thence) in like manner as ye have (now) seen him go into Heaven.

12. Then returned they to Jerusalem from m the Mount called Olivet, [m] which is from Jerusalem a Sabbath Day's Journey, (i. e. seven Furlongs.)

13. And when they were come in (thither)
n they [n] went up into an upper Room, where abode both Peter, and James, and John, and Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartholomew, and Matthew, James the Son of Alphæus, and Simon Zelotes, and Judas the Brother of James.

14. These all continued with one accord in Prayer, and Supplication, with the Women, o and [o] Mary the Mother of Jesus, and with his Brethren.

15. And in those days Peter stood up in the p midst of the Disciples, and said, [The [p] Number of the Names (of which) together were about an hundred and twenty.]

16. Men and Brethren, this Scripture must needs have been (Gr. be) fulfilled, which the Holy Ghost by the Mouth of David spake before concerning Judas, who was guide to them that took Jesus;

17. For he was numbred with us, (being one of the Twelve sent out, and empowered by Christ to preach in his Name, Matth. 10. 1—5.) and had obtained part of this Ministry.

q 18. Now this Man [b] purchased a Field with the Reward of (his) Iniquity, (i. e. with the Reward of his Iniquity had no other Advantage, but to return it back to them that gave it, who with it purchased a r Field,) and (then) [r] falling headlong, he burst asunder in the midst, and all his Bowels gushed out.

19. And it (this Fact) was known to all the Dwellers at Jerusalem, insomuch as that Field is called in their proper Tongue, Aceldama, that is to say, the Field of Blood;

20. [s] For it is written (by way of Prediction concerning him) in the Book of Psalms, Let his Habitation be desolate, and let no Man dwell therein; and his Bishoprick let another take; (or his Habitation shall be desolate, and no Man shall dwell in it, and his Bishoprick let another take.)

21. [t] Wherefore of these Men that have accompanied with us all the time that the Lord Jesus went in and out among us, (and so can testifie of all he did, and said, John 15. 27.)

22. Beginning from the Baptism of John, unto that same day that he was taken up from us (into Heaven, must one be ordained to be Witness with us of his Resurrection, (and of his Words and Actions.)

23. And they appointed two, Joseph called Barsabas, who was sirnamed Justus, and Matthias, (to be presented before the Lord.)

24. And [u] they prayed, and said, (Gr. and praying they said) Thou, Lord, who knowest the Hearts of all Men, shew, (by directing of the Lot to come out with his Name,) whether of these two thou hast chosen.

25. That he may take part of this Ministry, and Apostleship, from which Judas by Transgression fell, [w] that he might go to his own place, (as the Reward of his Iniquity.)

26. And (then) [x] they gave forth their Lots, and the Lot fell upon Matthias, and he was numbred with the Eleven Apostles, (making their number Twelve.)

Annotations on Chap. I.

a Ver. 1. Περὶ πάντων, Of all that Jesus began both to do, and teach.] Since the Apostle John hath left on Record many things the Blessed Jesus did and taught, which are not in St. Luke; yea, since St. Luke himself doth about ten times say Christ taught the People, Chap. 4. 15, 31. Chap. 5. 3, 17. — 6. 6. — 13. 10. — 19. 47. — 21. 37. — 20. 1. — 23. 5. and yet in none of those places records the Words he taught, it is necessary to limit the generality of these Words. Now though the word All doth sometimes signifie the chief of all the things related to, as when our Saviour saith to his Disciples, ἐγνώρισα ὑμῖν πάντα, I have made known to you all things which I have heard of my Father, and yet he adds, Chap. 16. 12. I have many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them yet; Notwithstanding, seeing all the excellent Discourses of our Saviour mentioned by St. John, and two of his great Miracles, the cure of the Man born blind, John 9. and the raising of Lazarus, mentioned Chap. 11. are not recorded by St. Luke, tho' these Discourses, and these Miracles deserve well to be ranked among the chief things which Christ did, and taught, I prefer the Exposition of these Words given in the Paraphrase, as being in effect the Exposition which the Evangelist's own words afford, Luke 1. 4.

Ibid. See Additions N° 1. (1)

b Ver. 2. Διὰ πνεύματος ἁγίου, By the Holy Ghost.] These Words admit of several Constructions, as, (1.) That he had chosen his Apostles by the Holy Ghost; but against this it is objected, that the Scripture no where saith that Christ chose his Apostles by the Holy Ghost: Or, (2.) That he was taken up into Heaven by the Holy Ghost, as by the same Spirit he was led into the Wilderneſs, Luke 4. 6. 1. Or, (3.) That he gave Commandments to his Diſciples by the Holy Ghoſt; which again is capable of divers Conſtructions; as, (1ſt,) That he gave them theſe Commandments by the inward Operations of the Holy Ghoſt, which he had breathed into them, John 20. 22. But this Senſe ſeems not very probable, (1.) Becauſe after his breathing of the Holy Ghoſt upon them, he ſtill ſaith, he will ſend the Promiſe of his Father upon them, viz. the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt; and bids them ſtay at Jeruſalem, till they had received him, Luke 24. 49. and here, ver. 4. And, (2.) Becauſe he is ſaid, ver. 3. to ſpeak unto them the things which belonged to the Kingdom of God. Or, (2dly,) As he did all his Miracles, and delivered all his Doctrines by virtue of the Holy Ghoſt, whilſt he diſcharged his Prophetick Office. See Note on Matth. 3. 16. So being yet on Earth, he ſpake theſe things, and gave theſe Commands to his Apoſtles, touching his Kingdom by the ſame Spirit. And his Paſſion, mentioned in the Verſe following, renders it probable, that St. Luke ſpeaks of the Commands relating to his Kingdom, which he had given them before his Paſſion.

c Ver. 3. Ἐν πολλοῖς τεκμηρίοις, By many infallible Proofs.] For, by ſpeaking to, by walking, and by eating with them, he gave them certain indication that he lived; that he was ſeen, and handled by them, was a ſure Evidence that he had a true and natural Body; that he permitted Thomas to view the Scars of his Feet and Hands, and put his Hand into his Side, was a certain token that the Body raiſed was the ſame which was crucified, and pierced by the Soldiers Lance.

d Ibid. And ſpeaking of the things pertaining to the Kingdom of God,] Viz. Of the teaching the Doctrine of this Kingdom to all Nations, and the receiving them into it by Baptiſm who believed, and profeſſed to own it, Matth. 28. 19. of the Benefits which were promiſed to them who cordially believed their Doctrine, and the Condemnation which belonged to them who would not believe it, Mark 16. 15, 16. of the Encouragements and Aſſiſtances he would afford them in the Propagation of it by his continual Preſence with them, Matth. 28. 20. and the Aſſiſtance of his Spirit, ver. 4, 5. and by the Miracles by which their Doctrine ſhould be confirmed by them, and others who believed it, Mark 16. 17, 18.

e Ver. 4. Συναλιζόμενος, Being aſſembled with them.] So Phavorinus ſaith, that ἁλίζω is ξυναθροίζω, I aſſemble together. So Herodotus in Clio, (a) ὅτω μὲν δὴ ξυνελίζοντο, ſo they met together; and again, Cyrus ξυναλίσας ἐς ταυτὸ, (b) gathering together all his Father's Herds; and c. 125. ἐξ τὰ μέσα αὐτέων ὁ Κύρος ξυνάλισε, Cyrus gathered together ſome of the Perſians; and in his Enterpe he ſaith, that (c) Pheron King of Egypt, εἰς μίλην πόλιν ξυνάλιζον, gathering together all the Women that had been falſe to their Huſbands into one City, burnt them all with the City; and ſo in Melpomene, ἁλίζειν στρατὸν, is to aſſemble, or gather together the Army. Now this aſſembling them together is, by Dr. Lightfoot, thought to have been in Galilee, but this is contrary both to the Text in Luke and here; for Luke 24. 49. he commands them καθίζεσθε to abide in the City of Jeruſalem, here μὴ χωρίζεσθε ἀπὸ, not to depart from Jeruſalem, ἀλλὰ ἐμμένειν, but to abide there; and it is added in both places, that having ſpoken this, he led them out (of Jeruſalem) to Bethany, Acts 1. 9. Luke 24. 51. and there was taken up into Heaven, and that thence ὑπέστρεψαν, they went back (from Bethany) to Jeruſalem, Luke 24. 52. Acts 1. 12. they muſt be therefore at Jeruſalem when Chriſt thus converſed with them, and there abiding, were to expect the Promiſe of the Father, Luke 24. 49. Al. κοινωνῶν αὐτῶν καὶ τραπέζης, Chryſ. Oecom.

Ver. 5. Βαπτισθήσεσθε ἐν πνεύματι ἁγίῳ, Ye f ſhall be baptized with the Holy Ghoſt.] The word Ye, and the time affixed to this Baptiſm, the Day of Pentecoſt, ſhew that this Baptiſm relates only to the Diſciples then preſent, and converſing with the Holy Jeſus. And to them the Holy Spirit was given, (1.) To render them powerful, or able Witneſſes of our Lord's Reſurrection, Luke 24. 48. Acts 1. 8. and conſequently that he was the true Meſſiah, or that Prophet which was to come into the World, and was to be the Saviour of it, John 16. 8, 9, 10. And therefore Peter ſpeaks thus to the Jews, Ye have killed the Prince of Life, whom God hath raiſed from the Dead, of which we are Witneſſes, Acts 3. 15. And he with the Apoſtles ſays to them, The God of our Fathers hath raiſed Jeſus from the Dead, whom ye killed and hanged on a Tree, him hath God exalted to his own right Hand to be a Prince, and a Saviour, to give Repentance to Iſrael, and Remiſſion of Sins. And we are his Witneſſes of theſe things, and ſo is the Holy Ghoſt, which he hath given to them that obey him, Acts 5. 30, 31, 32. (2.) To render them able to give us an exact account, as far as divine Wiſdom ſaw it neceſſary, of what our Saviour did, and taught. The Spirit, ſaith he, ſhall bear witneſs of me, and you alſo ſhall be my Witneſſes, becauſe you have been with me from the beginning, John 15. 26, 27. And becauſe, were they never ſo faithful, yet could we not ſo truſt to the Strength of their natural Memories, as to depend on thoſe long Diſcourſes we meet with in in the Gospels of St. Matthew, Luke and John, as the very words of Christ, or be assur'd thence, that they delivered all the Circumstances of Christ's Miracles exactly as they were transacted, therefore hath he assured us that he would send the Spirit of Truth to them, to bring those things to their remembrance which he had said unto them, John 14. 26. (3.) To make them able Ministers of the New Testament, able to acquaint all Christians with all saving Truth, and teach them all things which he had commanded to be observed throughout all Ages of the Church; and to declare unto them by the Spirit of Prophecy, what should be hereafter: And hence he promiseth them this Spirit to teach them all things, John 14. 26. to lead them into all Truth, Chap. 16. 13. and to teach them things to come; and upon the strength of this Promise all Christians of all Ages have believed that the Apostles, and Writers of the New Testament, both spake and wrote as they were moved, or directed by the Spirit of God; and received those Doctrines they taught, and indited, not as the Words of Man, but as they were in Truth, the Word of God, 1 Thess. 2. 13.

g Ver. 6. Ἐν τῷ χρόνῳ τούτῳ ἀποκαθιστάνεις; Wilt thou at this time restore?] That temporal Dominion over all other Nations which the Jews then expected, being never before granted to them, the word here cannot well be rendred restore, but rather, grant, or establish, as it may be rendred, for ἀποκαθιστῶν, say Suidas and Phavorinus, is, διδὺς, χαριζόμενος, giving, or granting; and in the Septuagint the word signifies to establish. So Amos 5. 15. ἀποκλασήσεται, ye shall establish Judgment in the Gates; and Psal. 16. 5. σὺ εἶ ὁ ἀποκαθιστῶν, thou sustainest, or establishest my Lot. Ingenious here is the Conceit of Dr. Lightfoot, that the reason of the Question, wilt thou do it at this time? arose from their reflection on the Indignities the Jews had done to Christ, and was to this effect; Lord, wilt thou restore the Kingdom to those who have dealt so basely with thee? what! to this Generation so unworthy of that Honour, as lying under the Guilt of thy Blood-shed?

h Ver. 7. Which God hath put in his own Power;] i. e. reserved to himself, for secret things belong to God, Deut. 29. 29. and not revealing the critical moment when they shall come to pass to any of his Prophets, he left himself free to chuse his own Season when he will effect them. Grotius here saith, this Kingdom was granted to the true Israel, i. e. the Christians, when Constantine and other Christian Kings began to reign; but this agrees not with the Prediction of the Prophets, which plainly speak of a glorious Kingdom belonging to the Jewish Nation coming in to the Faith of Christ. Dr. Lightfoot is positive that this place hath no relation to such a Kingdom, and if he only means a temporal Kingdom, this may be granted; but this Answer speaking of Times and Seasons relating to a Kingdom to be set up, or granted to Israel, I know not why he may not respect that time when the Jews generally shall be converted, and all Nations shall flow in to them, and make Christ's Kingdom glorious.

i Ver. 8. Λήψεσθε δύναμιν ἐπελθόντος τοῦ ἁγίου πνεύματος ἐφ' ὑμᾶς, Ye shall receive Power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you,] Or, ye shall receive the Power of the Holy Ghost coming upon you; for δύναμις in the New Testament, when it relates to God the Father, Christ, or the Holy Ghost, imports generally some miraculous, or extraordinary Power; and what is here, ye shall receive Power, the Holy Ghost coming upon you, is, Luke 24. 50. ye shall be endued with Power from on High, and then ye shall be my Witnesses, enabled to confirm what you say of my Words and Actions, and especially of my Resurrection, with Signs and Wonders, and divers Distributions of the Holy Ghost, Heb. 2. 4.

k Ibid. And to the uttermost parts of the Earth;] That is, to the Jews first, then to the Samaritans, and lastly, to all the Nations of the World; and yet it is evident that the Apostles, and converted Jews, at the first understood this of their Preaching only to the Jews dispersed through the Earth, for they preached the Word to the Jews only, Acts 11. 19. and thought it unlawful, till by a Vision from Heaven they were taught otherwise, to preach to the Gentiles.

l Ver. 11. Οὕτως ἐλεύσεται ὃν τρόπον, Shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go up into Heaven.] We are told, 2 Thess. 1. 7, 8. that he shall come down from Heaven with his mighty Angels in a Flame of Fire; and 1 Thess. 4. 16, 17. that he shall come down from Heaven, and snatch us up into the Clouds; as therefore here the Angels attended on him ascending to Heaven, so the Cloud that received him, ver. 9. must be such a Cloud of Fire in which God was wont to appear with the attendance of his Holy Angels; of which see Note on Philip. 2. 6. and this makes out the Parallel; he being then to come also with a Cloud of Glory, in the Body, and with the attendance of his holy Angels. And thus Elias went up to Heaven in a fiery Chariot, 2 Kings 2. 12.

m Ver. 12. Which is from Jerusalem a Sabbath-day's Journey.] Note here, (1.) That St. Luke doth not intend to give us the distance of the place of Christ's ascent from Jerusalem, that being from Bethany, Luke 24. 50. which was from Jerusalem fifteen Furlongs, John 11. 18. but only from the Foot of Mount Olivet, which was, say the Syriac, Syriac, and Theophylact from (d) Joſephus, ſeven Furlongs, tho' now we read in Joſephus only five Furlongs: Now, ſay the Jews, a Sabbath-day's Journey is two thouſand Cubits, that is, a thouſand Yards, which is about eight Furlongs, or a Mile. See of this (2) Buxt. Lex. Talm. p. 2582. See Additions N° 2.

n Ver. 13. They went up εἰς ὑπερῷον, into an upper Room.] Where, and what this upper Room was, as it is not much material, ſo is it difficult to determine; that it was not the Room in which Chriſt celebrated his laſt Supper, appears from this, that that is called ἀνώγεον, Mark 14. 15. Luke 22. 12. which difference of Names argues a difference in the thing it ſelf? for ἀνώγεον is any Room above Stairs, be it only one Story high, but ὑπερῷον is the higheſt Room in the Houſe, Acts 20. 8, 9. Note,

2*dly*, That there was ὑπερῷον ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, an upper Room in the ſecond Temple, in which Ezra ſat with the chief of the Fathers of the People (e) Joſephus teſtifies; 'tis therefore ſuppoſed there might be many ſuch, in one of which Chriſt's Apoſtles, and the other Chriſtians with them, might abide.

It was alſo common among the Jews, not only for their Rabbins to have an upper Room for their Beth Midraſh, but alſo for others to have ſuch an upper Room where they diſcourſed of the Law, or exerciſed other parts of Religion; now in which of theſe two the Apoſtles, and Diſciples abode, is the Queſtion.

That it was an upper Room in the Temple is argued, (1.) Becauſe St. Luke tells us that after their return to Jeruſalem, they were διαπαντὸς ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, always in the Temple, Luke 24. 52, 53. and here, that after their return to Jeruſalem, they went up into this upper Room, that they were καταμένοντες, abiding there, and Chap. 2. 46. it is ſaid of them convened, and remaining in this upper Room, that they were daily προσκαρτεροῦντες ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, abiding in the Temple. But to this it is anſwered,

1*ſt*, That the Phraſe, they were always in the Temple, doth not prove this; for Chriſt ſaith of himſelf, John 18. 10. I taught πάντοτε ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, always in the Temple, and yet he had no Habitation in any part of it.

2*dly*, We read, Chap. 3. 1. that Peter and John ἀνέβαινον, went up into the Temple at the Hour of Prayer, whereas had they been in an upper Room of the Temple, it ſhould have rather been ſaid that they went down into it. 'Tis alſo ſaid that they continued there καθ' ἡμέραν, day after day, which ſeemeth to import that they lodged not there by night.

3*dly*, It follows that they broke Bread, κατ' οἶκον, that is, ſaith Dr. Hammond, in the Temple; but both theſe, and the former words are ſpoken of the whole number of Chriſtians, which were now at leaſt three thouſand one hundred and twenty, too many ſure to lodge together in one upper Room. Moreover that κατ' οἶκον refers to Houſes diſtinct from the Temple, we learn from this Evangeliſt, ſaying, Chap. 5. 42. they were teaching all the day ἐν τῷ ἱερῷ, καὶ κατ' οἶκον, in the Temple, and from Houſe to Houſe.

4*thly*, That there were ὑπερῷα upper Rooms in the Temple is granted, but then that they belonged to any beſides the Prieſts and Levites is not proved; the ὑπερῷον mentioned by Joſephus was that of Johanan the Son of the High Prieſt. And Maimonides in his Book de Ædificio Templi, mentions ſixteen Conclavia, or Chambers, but ſaith, they were all appointed for ſacred Things, or Perſons: How improbable therefore is it, that poor Fiſhermen, and Galileans, odious for their Maſter's ſake, ſhould be permitted to croud in ſuch Numbers into one of theſe Rooms? See the Note on Luke 24. 53.

Ver. 14. And Mary the Mother of Jeſus.] o Here is the laſt time that we have any mention of this Bleſſed Mother: Of her Aſcenſion St. Luke ſaith nothing, becauſe he knew nothing of it, that idle Tale being the Invention of latter Ages from Apochryphal Writings, and vain Revelations.

Ibid. And with his Brethren.] They therefore then believed, tho' before they did not, John 7. 5.

Ver. 15. The Number ὀνομάτων of Names,] p i. e. Of Perſons. So Rev. 3. 4. thou haſt ὀλίγα ὀνόματα, a few Perſons in Sardis, which have not defiled their Garments. So in Æſchylus τὸ Θηβαίων ὄνομα, is one of Thebes: In (f) Cicero, Romanorum Nomen, is a Roman Citizen; and in (g) Virgil, Silvius Albanum Nomen, a Man of Albania.

Ver. 18. This Man purchaſed a Field, ἐκτήσατο χωρίον, with the Wages of Iniquity.] q As in the Old Teſtament Men are ſaid to get or purchaſe to themſelves Shame, Prov. 9. 7. and in the New, to receive to themſelves Damnation, and in prophane Authors κτήσασθαι ἔχθραν, καὶ ξύμφορὰν, to purchaſe Enmity, and Calamities; and we in our Language are ſaid, to create Trouble to our ſelves, when this is the Event, tho' 'tis not the Intention of the Action; ſo is Judas here ſaid to purchaſe this Field, by the Wages of his Iniquity, which was bought with the Money he received as the Reward of his Iniquity, tho' he neither intended this, nor was he inſtrumental to it.

Ibid. And falling headlong, he burſt aſunder.] r See Note on Matth. 27. 5.

Ver. 20. For it is written in the Book of Pſalms, Pſal. 69. 26. Let his Habitation be deſolate, and Pſal. 109. 8. and his Biſhoprick or Office let another take.] s That the firſt of theſe Pſalms refers to that Meſſiah, of whom David

David was a Type, we learn from the 21st Verse, where it is said, they gave me Gall to eat, and when I was thirsty they gave me Vinegar to drink, which was true only of Christ, and is applied to him, John 19. 29. and from the ninth Verse, where it is said, the Zeal of thy House hath consumed me, and the Reproaches of them that reproached thee fell on me, which is applied to Christ, John 2. 17. Rom. 15. 3. and therefore what is said ver. 26. of the Enemies of David, may reasonably be applied to Judas the great Enemy of Christ; what is said Psal. 109. 8. if it primarily relate either to Doeg, or Achitophel, the mortal Enemies of David, might by the Holy Spirit be intended to have its full Completion in the Betrayer of the Son of David, and this Intention might be suggested to St. Peter by the same Spirit. See the Appendix to the Second Chapter of St. Matthew.

t Ver. 21. Δεῖ οὖν τῶν συνελθόντων ἡμῖν ἀνδρῶν, Wherefore of these Men who have accompanied with us all the time, one must be ordained to be a Witness.] One must be chosen to make up the number Twelve, answerable to the Twelve Tribes of Israel: He must be one who always had conversed with them, that he might be a Witness of all that Jesus said, and did, John 15. 27. whilst he discharged his Office among them; for that is the import of the Phrase, Go in and out; as when Moses says, I am grown old, I can no more go in and out before you, Deut. 31. 3. and when Solomon prays for Wisdom, that he might go in and out before that great People, 2 Chron. 1. 10. See Deut. 28. 6. Psal. 121. 8.

u Ver. 24. And they praying, said, Κύριε καρδιογνῶστα, Lord, who knowest the Hearts of all Men, &c.] Here Wolfzogenius truly notes that they prayed to the Lord Jesus, because the Apostles were at first chosen by him, were his Apostles, and were to be his Witnesses, and then they must ascribe to him the Knowledge of all Hearts, which is the Property of God alone.

w Ver. 25. Πορευθῆναι εἰς τὸν τόπον τὸν ἴδιον, That he might go to his own place;] i. e. To the place worthy of him, and which he had deserved by his Sin. So the Jews say of Balaam, ἀπῆλθεν εἰς τόπον αὐτοῦ, he went into his own place, Numb. 24. 14, 15. that is, saith Baal Turim, to Hell. So (h) Ignatius saith, ἕκαστος εἰς τὸν ἴδιον τόπον χωρεῖν μέλλει, every one must hereafter go to his own place; and (i) Barnabas saith of those that walk in the Light, that they do afterwards δοξάζειν εἰς τὸν ὡρισμένον τόπον, go to the place appointed for them; Clemens R. that they do go εἰς τὸν ἅγιον τόπον, to the holy place, εἰς τὸν ὀφειλόμενον τόπον τῆς δόξης, to the place of Glory due to them; and Polycarp, that they are with the Lord, and go, εἰς τὸν ὀφειλόμενον αὐτοῖς τόπον, to the place appointed for them; according to the Hebrew Phrase here cited by Lightfoot, he came from his own place, that is, from Hell appointed for Idolaters.

Object. 1. Hell is not the proper place of Judas, but common to him with all the Wicked.

Answ. St. Peter doth not expressly say he went to Hell, but into a place proper for him; now Ignatius saith there is appointed for every Man, ἴδιος τόπος, a proper place, i. e. a place worthy of him, or agreeable to his Actions. This in (k) Plato is the place whither the Genius which he had chosen whilst he lived was appointed to bring him, viz. the incorrigible wicked Soul, εἰς τὴν αὐτῇ πρέπουσαν οἴκησιν, into an Habitation fitted for it, but the pure Soul, εἰς τόπον τινὰ προσήκοντα, to a place convenient for it.

Object. 2. 2*dly*, It is said that it belonged not to Peter to pass Sentence on Judas, or affirm any thing of God's Secrets, such as Judas's going to Hell.

Answ. This is wonderful, that when Christ had pronounced him a Devil, John 6. 71. a Son of Perdition, John 17. 12. and declared, that it had been better for him that he had never been born, Matth. 26. 24. it should be thought a diving into God's Secrets to say, he went into a place prepared for, or due to such Miscreants. Moreover, doth not our Saviour say this Fall of the Son of Perdition was foretold by the Scripture? John 17. 12. Do not St. Peter here apply those Scriptures to him which foretel the most dreadful things? Does not Luke shew the dreadful Issue of his Iniquity upon his Body, and after all this might he not say, he went to a place proper for him? Whosoever betrays an Israelite into the Hands of the Gentiles, say the Jews, hath no part in the World to come, how much less he who betrays the Messiah, the King of Israel, into the Hands of the Gentiles? Matth. 20. 19. — 26. 24.

Object. 3. It seems improper to say, such a one sinned, that he might go to Hell.

Answ. This is even such an Impropriety of Speech as God is pleased to use to his own People, when he saith by Hosea, Chap. 8. 4. Of their Silver and Gold have they made them Idols, that they might be cut off; and by the Prophet Micah, Chap. 6. 16. The Statutes of Omri are kept, and ye walk in their Counsels, that I should make you a Desolation; and as Christ useth, when he saith, the Jews had shut their Eyes and hardned their Hearts, lest they should be converted and healed, or lest their Sin should be forgiven them, Mark 4. 12. John 12. 39, 40. By all which places it appears, that in Divine Construction on any Man may be ſaid to do an Action to that end which he knows will be the Event of it, and which by God is threatned to the Doers of it.

Moreover, The other Expoſition, viz. that the κλῆρος διακονίας καὶ Ἀποστολῆς, Portion of the Miniſtry and Apoſtleſhip, is the Province which fell to the Lot of Judas in the diſtribution of them among the Apoſtles, and that this is called the proper place from which Judas fell by his Sin, and into which Matthias is here ſaid to go; I ſay this Expoſition is founded upon an evident miſtake, viz. that the ſeveral Provinces into which the Apoſtles were to go for preaching the Goſpel, were diſtributed among them before they were filled with the Holy Ghoſt, which is abundantly confuted by Dr. Stillingfleet, Iren. l. 2. Chap. 6. §. 2. And when, where, and to what end, ſhould a Province of preaching the Goſpel after our Lord's Aſcenſion be diſtributed to him, who was before to be a Son of Perdition? (2.) To ſucceed in the Office of Judas, is not πορεύθηναι, to go into his place, but λαμβάνειν, to take his place; according to the words of the Pſalmiſt, His Office λάβοι ἕτερος, ſhall another take. And, Laſtly, Had this been intended, a Conjunction copulative ſhould have been put before πορεύθηναι, and the words ſhould have run thus; Λαβεῖν τὸν κλῆρον — καὶ πορεύθηναι, To take the ſhare of his Apoſtleſhip, and to go into his Place.

Ver. 26. Καὶ ἔδωκαν κλήρους αὐτοῖς, And they gave forth their Lots:] That is, ſaith Grotius, they put two Lots into two Urns, the one containing the two Names of Joſeph and Matthias, the other the Name of an Apoſtle, and a void Lot; and then drawing forth the Name of Joſeph, and the void Lot, they knew that the Lot containing the Name of an Apoſtle, belonged to Matthias. CHAP. II.

a 1. [a] AND when the Day of Pentecoſt was fully come, they were all with one accord (together) in one place:

2. And ſuddenly there came a Sound from Heaven, as of a ruſhing mighty Wind, (Gr. as of a ſtrong Wind brought, or coming thence,) and it filled all the Houſe where they were ſitting:

3. And there appeared to them cloven Tongues, like as of Fire, and it ſat (Gr. καὶ ἐκάθισε ſub. γλῶσσα, and a Tongue ſat) upon each of them.

4. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and began to ſpeak with other Tongues (than thoſe which they had learn'd,) as the (Gift of the) Spirit gave them utterance.

5. And there were (then) dwelling at Jeruſalem Jews (by Nation, and by Proſelytiſm, ver. 10.) devout Men out of every Nation under Heaven, (where the Jews dwelt.)

6. Now when this was noiſed abroad, the Multitude came together, and was confounded, (or aſtoniſhed at the ſtrangeneſs of the thing.) becauſe that (ὅτι for) every Man (of them who were of ſeveral Nations,) heard them ſpeak in his own Language.

7. And they were (therefore) all amazed, and marvelled, ſaying one to another, Behold, are not all theſe who ſpeak (theſe ſtrange Tongues, by Birth) Galileans?

8. And how (then) hear we every Man (of us, them ſpeaking) in our own Tongue wherein we were born?

9. (For being) Parthians and Medes, and Elamites, and the Dwellers in Meſopotamia, and in Judea, and Cappadocia, in Pontus and Aſia,

10. Phrygia, and Pamphilia, in Egypt, and in the parts of Lybia about Cyrene, and Strangers of Rome, Jews, and Proſelytes, 11. Cretes, and Arabians, we do hear them ſpeak in our Tongues the wonderful Works of God.

12. And they (who ſaid this,) were all amazed, and were in doubt (what the Iſſue of this might be,) ſaying one to another, What meaneth this? (What importeth this great matter?)

13. (But) others mocking, ſaid, Theſe Men are full of new Wine, (and this cauſes them to ſpeak thus.)

14. But Peter ſtanding up with the Eleven, lift up his Voice, and ſaid to them, Ye Men of Judea, and all ye that dwell at Jeruſalem, be this known to you, and hearken to my words (which I am about to ſpeak.)

15. For theſe (Men) are not drunken, as ye (Scoffers) ſuppoſe, ſeeing it is but the third Hour of the Day, (i. e. the ninth hour, or the time of the morning Sacrifice, to which we Jews uſually come faſting.)

16. But this (which is come to paſs,) is (the completion of) that which is ſpoken by the Prophet Joel, (Chap. 2. 28. in theſe words,)

17. [b] And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt days, (i. e. the times of the Meſſiah,) ſaith God, I will pour out my Spirit upon all Fleſh, (i. e. upon Perſons of all Ranks;) and your Sons and your Daughters ſhall propheſie, and your young Men ſhall ſee Viſi- b ons, and your old Men ſhall dream Dreams:

18. And on my Servants, and on my Handmaidens, I will pour out in thoſe Days of my Spirit, and they ſhall propheſie.

19. And, (for the terror and condemnation of thoſe who will not be convinced by this Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt,) I will ſhew Wonders in Heaven above, and Signs in the Earth beneath, (an extraordinary Effuſion of) Blood, and (Matth. 24. 6, 7. ſtrange Appearances of Lightnings, and of) Fire, (devouring Towns, and Cities, and cauſing) Pillars of Smoke (to aſcend up.)

20. The Sun ſhall be turned into Darkneſs, and the Moon into Blood, (the Government in Church and State ſhall be diſſolved) before that great and terrible Day of the Lord (be fully) come.

21. And it ſhall come to paſs, that whoſoever ſhall call upon the Name of the Lord, ſhall be ſaved, (from theſe direful Judgments.)

22. Ye Men of Iſrael, hear theſe words (which I am now about to ſpeak, viz.) Jeſus of Nazareth, a Man approved of (i. e. declared to be ſent from) God among you, by Miracles, and Wonders, and Signs, which God did by him in the midſt of you, as ye your ſelves alſo know:

d 23. [d] Him being delivered (into your Hands) by the determinate Counſel, and Foreknowledge of God, (declaring by his Prophets, that he ſhould lay down his Life for Sinners,) ye have taken, and by wicked Hands have crucified and ſlain:

24. (And he is that very Perſon) whom God hath raiſed up (from the Grave,) having looſed the Pains (or Bands) of Death (as you may be aſſured he hath done,) becauſe it was impoſſible that he (who had Life in himſelf, John 5. 26. and the promiſe of a ſpeedy Reſurrection, ver. 25.) ſhould be holden of it.

25. For David ſpeaketh (thus, not of himſelf, but) concerning him, (Pſal. 16. 8, &c.) I foreſaw the Lord always before my Face; for he is on my right Hand, that I ſhould not be moved:

26. Therefore did my Heart rejoice, and e my Tongue was glad; moreover alſo, [e] my Fleſh ſhall reſt in hope,

27. Becauſe (ὅτι that) thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, (Gr. Hades, i. e. my Life in the Grave;) neither wilt thou ſuffer thy Holy One to ſee Corruption.

28. Thou haſt made known to me the ways of Life, thou haſt made me full of Joy with thy Countenance.

29. Men and Brethren, let me freely ſpeak to you of the Patriarch David, that he is both dead and buried, and his Sepulchre is (ſtill ſeen) with us to this Day; (from whence his Body never riſing, this cannot perſonally belong to him.)

30. Therefore being a Prophet, and knowing that God had ſworn with an Oath to him, that of the Fruit of his Loins, according to the Fleſh, he would raiſe up Chriſt (from the Dead) to ſit upon his Throne.

31. He (I ſay) ſeeing this before, ſpake of the Reſurrection of Chriſt ('s Body thus,) That his Soul was not (to be) left in Hell, (i. e. the Grave,) neither his Fleſh did (ſhould) ſee Corruption.

32. This Jeſus (I ſay) hath God raiſed up, whereof we all are Witneſſes:

33. Therefore being by the right Hand of God exalted, (Gr. exalted to the right Hand of God,) and having [f] received of the Father f the Promiſe of the Holy Ghoſt, he hath ſhed forth this (Gift, of) which you now ſee, and hear (the effects.)

34. For (this Paſſage, which I am about to cite, cannot belong to) [g] David (himſelf, g ſeeing he) is not (yet) aſcended into the Heavens; but he ſaith himſelf (of Chriſt,) The Lord ſaid to my Lord, [h] Sit thou on my h right hand,

35. Until I make thy Foes thy Footſtool.

36. Therefore let all the Houſe of Iſrael know aſſuredly, that (by this Exaltation of him to his right hand,) [i] God hath made i that ſame Jeſus, whom ye have crucified both Lord (of all things, Chap. 10. 36.) and Chriſt, (i. e. the King of Iſrael, John 1. 50.)

37. Now when they heard this, they were pricked (or filled with Sorrow) in their Hearts (for this Sin,) and ſaid to Peter, and to the reſt of the Apoſtles, Men and Brethren, what ſhall we do (to obtain the Pardon of ſo great a Crime?)

38. Then Peter ſaid to them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the [k] Name k of Jeſus Chriſt, for the remiſſion of (your) Sins, (which by this Baptiſm will be waſh'd away, Chap. 22. 16.) and (then) ye (alſo) ſhall receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt.

39. For the Promiſe (of him, mentioned Joel 2.) is (made) to you, and to your Children, and (not to them only, but alſo) to all that are afar off, (i. e. the Gentiles,) even (to) as many as the Lord our God ſhall call.

40. And with many other words did he teſtifie, and exhort (them to Repentance,) ſaying, Save your ſelves from (the Evils coming on) this untoward Generation.

41. Then they that gladly received the Word, were baptized; and the ſame day there were added to them (of the Church) about three thouſand Souls, (i. e. Perſons.)

42. And they continued ſtedfaſtly in the Apoſtle's Doctrine, and (in) fellowſhip (with them, and one another, 1 John 1. 3, 7.) and in [l] breaking of Bread, and in Prayers. l

43. [l] And Fear came upon every Soul, (that was acquainted with theſe things,) and many Wonders and Signs were done by the Apoſtles.

m 44. And all that believed [m] were together, n and had [n] all things common,

45. And ſold their Poſſeſſions and Goods, and parted them to all Men as every Man had need.

46. And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking Bread from Houſe to Houſe, did eat their Meat with gladneſs and ſingleneſs of Heart, (or ſincere Liberality one towards another :)

a Ver. 1. ΚΑΙ ἐν τῷ συμπληροῦσθαι, And when the Day of Pentecoſt was fully come, they were ὁμοθυμαδὸν ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, with one accord in one place.] Here the Critical Notes are theſe; (1.) That πληροῦσθαι, and συμπληροῦσθαι, when they relate to time, ſignifie only the coming of that time. See Dr. Hammond. But Dr. Lightfoot here more critically obſerves, that the Phraſe hath a particular reſpect to the words of the Inſtitution of the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, Lev. 23. 15. where it is ſaid, You ſhall count to you from the Morrow after the Sabbath, (that is, from the Morrow of the firſt Day of Unleavened Bread, which always was a Sabbath, becauſe no ſervile Work was to be done in it; or from the 16th of Niſan) ſeven Sabbaths תמימות complete, ὁλοκλήρους, ſaith the Seventy, even to the Morrow, after the Sabbath, ſhall ye number fifty Days. Now it is to be noted from R. Solomon, that this account of the Seven Weeks complete, was to begin at the Evening; They reckon'd, ſaith Maimonides, from the Night of the ſixteenth of Niſan; for elſe the Weeks would not be complete, and ſo this Day after the Sabbath was none of the Forty nine, which made Seven Sabbaths complete; but that Even and Sunday made the firſt Day of the firſt Week, and ſo Friday Even and Saturday the Forty-ninth, and Saturday Evening and the Lord's Day the Fiftieth; and ſo on that Day, Pentecoſt was fully come, as our Tranſlation truly ſaith; ſo that the Evening beginning the account, Pentecoſt was on the Fiftieth Day; but the Day was not complete till the Fifty firſt.

So that two things may be noted for the Dignity and Honour of this Day which the Lord hath made: That on this Day he roſe from the Dead, and became the firſt Fruits of them that ſlept: And, (2.) That on this Day he poured forth the Holy Ghoſt on his Apoſtles, and ſent them forth to ſpeak the wonderful Works of God to Men of every Language and Nation. It alſo is obſervable, that as the confuſion of Tongues in Babel ſpread Idolatry throughout the World, and made Men loſe the Knowledge of God and true Religion; ſo God provided by the Gifts of Tongues at Sion, to repair the Knowledge of himſelf among thoſe Nations.

2*dly*, Dr. Hammond, Note on Chap. 1. 15. ſaith, That ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, ſignifies aſſembling for the Service of God; but tho' this ſometimes happens ſo to be, as when Men meet ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, together to pray, or celebrate the Lord's Supper, as 1 Cor. 11. 20. yet the Phraſe ſignifies only to meet ὁμοῦ ἢ εἰς τὸ αὐτὸν τόπον, together, or in the ſame place, without any relation to the Buſineſs of the Meeting; and indeed, I might as well argue that it ſignifies meeting after Religious Exerciſes are ended, becauſe it is ſaid, 1 Cor. 7. 5. Let them not ſeparate except for Prayer or Faſting, and then let them come again ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, together. See Deut. 22. 10. Luke 17. 35. Acts 3. 1.

But the great important Queſtion here is this, Whether they all here ſignifie, all the Hundred and Twenty, mentioned Chap. 1. 15. as Grotius and Dr. Lightfoot think, or only the Twelve, as Dr. Hammond in his Paraphraſe? This is a Queſtion of ſome importance; for if the whole Hundred and Twenty be here intended, the cloven Tongues muſt ſit upon every one of them, as well as upon the Twelve Apoſtles, and ſo muſt give them a Right, tho' not an equal Power to be Chriſt's Witneſſes; for a Tongue ſat upon every one of them, ver. 3. who were met together in the Houſe.

The Arguments of Dr. Lightfoot ſeem only probable; but this is certain, that there were many beſides the Apoſtles of their Company, who had theſe Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt; for when the Apoſtles come to appoint ſeven Deacons, they command the Aſſembly to look out among them ſeven Men full of the Holy Ghoſt and Wiſdom; there muſt therefore be many ſuch Perſons among them, known to them by the Exerciſe of theſe Gifts, who therefore muſt have received them either at this time, or when they praying, that God would ſtretch forth his Hands to heal, and to work Signs and Wonders by the Name of Jeſus were all filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and ſpake the Word with great freedom, Acts 4. 30, 31. Now if theſe Gifts were given then to others for this End, we may reaſonably conceive, that when that great Promiſe of him was to be fulfilled, they might be given to others alſo. And if we conſider, what Multitudes of ſeveral Languages were then met, and even living at Jeruſalem, it ſeems but rational to conceive, this Gift ſhould be conferr'd on many, to enable them to diſcourſe intelligibly for their Converſion in the ſeveral Synagogues, in which Men of ſo many diverſe Languages muſt meet for Divine Service. Moreover, ſeeing the Apoſtles themſelves imparted the ſame Gift by the Impoſition of Hands to thoſe whom they ordained Miniſters in particular Churches, it ſeems unreaſonable to think, that thoſe extraordinary Perſons who had been all along in Company with Chriſt and his Apoſtles, and were to be the great Preachers of the Goſpel in ſeveral parts of the World, ſhould not be enriched with the ſame Gifts.

And, Laſtly, This ſeems to have obtain'd as a Tradition, or a received Opinion in the Church; for, ſaith St. (a) Jerom, when Paula came to Sion, they ſhewed her the place where the Holy Ghoſt fell upon the Hundred and Twenty to compleat the Propheſie of Joel: And St (b) Chryſoſtom and Oecumenius on the place ſay, He fell not only upon the Apoſtles, but alſo upon the Hundred and Twenty; and that St. Luke would not have ſaid πάντες, all, when the Apoſtles were preſent, εἰ μὴ καὶ ἄλλοι μετέχον, if others alſo had not been made partakers of the Holy Ghoſt.

Concerning this Gift of Tongues, let it be farther noted:

Firſt, That they miſtake the Matter, who imagine, that the Apoſtles only ſpake in their own Mother Tongue; and that the Hearers, of what Tongue ſoever they were, underſtood them as well as if they had ſpoken in their native Language: For, as Greg. Nazianzen well notes, this makes the Miracle to be wrought rather upon the Hearers than upon the Apoſtles; it alſo contradicts the words of the Text, which ſaith, The Apoſtles began to ſpeak ἑτέραις γλώσσαις, with other Tongues, not as the Spirit gave the Auditors ability to hear, but as he gave the Apoſtles utterance. Nor could the ſeveral Auditors hear the Apoſtles ſpeak τῇ ἰδίᾳ διαλέκτῳ, in their own proper Dialect, unleſs they had ſpoken in the Language of thoſe Nations who heard them. Nor,

2*dly*, Are we to admit of the Criticiſm of thoſe who, inſtead of οἱ κατοικοῦντες Ἰουδαίαν the Dwellers in Judæa, ver. 9. read οἱ κατοικοῦντες Ἰνδίαν, the Dwellers in India, becauſe, ſay they, it was no Miracle for the Men of Judea to hear the Apoſtles ſpeaking in their Language. For, (1.) This Criticiſm is confuted by the following Verſe, which ſaith, All thoſe Men were Jews and Proſelytes. And, (2.) The Jews are mentioned only, to ſhew that Men of all Nations heard them ſpeak in their own Language; and in that conſiſts the Miracle, not that the Jews, but that every Nation heard and underſtood them.

Note alſo, That the Nations here reckoned up, living ſome in Aſia, ſome in Africa, ſome in Europe, are ſaid, though not without an Hyperbole, to be Men of every Nation under Heaven, ver. 5. And this Phraſe is not only uſed in the Scriptures, as when God ſaith, He would make the Dread of the Jews fall upon every Nation under Heaven, Deut. 2. 25. but it is frequent in Jewiſh Writers, who lived about this time; for (c) Philo often ſpeaks of the Jews dwelling πανταχόθεν τῆ οἰκουμένης, every where through the whole Earth; and ſays, that (d) πᾶσα οἰκουμένη, almoſt the whole Earth was inhabited by them. Agrippa alſo in Joſephus ſaith, Οὐ γάρ ἐστιν ὅπῃ τῆ οἰκουμένης ὅλῃ, There is not a People upon Earth, among whom ſome Jews do not inhabit. See the Note on Coloſſ. 1. 23.

Note, 4*thly*, That it ſeems incredible, that they who ſaid, Theſe Men are full of new Wine, ver. 13. ſhould be ſo fooliſh as to think, that new Wine ſhould enable them to ſpeak all Languages, or to declare the wonderful Works of God; tis therefore well conjectured by Dr. Lightfoot, that they who ſaid this, were Men of Judea; who not underſtanding what the Apoſtles ſpake in other Languages, imagined, they had babled ſome fooliſh Gibberiſh they could make nothing of, as drunken Men are uſed to do. Note, 5*thly*, That St. Peter well confuteth this Surmiſe, by ſaying, ver. 15. It is not yet the third Hour of the Day, or nine of the Clock; becauſe, before that time, eſpecially on the Sabbath, and other Feaſt-days, the Jews were not wont ſo much as to taſte any thing of Meat or Drink, as Dr. Lightfoot here ſhews. And, ſaith (e) Joſephus, by their Tradition, they were not to eat on their Sabbaths till the ſixth Hour.

Ver. 17, 18. And it ſhall come to paſs in the laſt Days, I will pour my Spirit upon all Fleſh, &c.] For Explication of theſe two Verſes, let it be obſerved; b

Firſt, That even Kimchi owns, That achaire cen in the Prophet Joel, is here all one with Beacharith Hayamim, in the laſt Days, in the Prophet Iſaiah, Chap. 2. 2, 3. where is a plain plain Prophecy of the Exaltation of Christ's Kingdom, and of the flowing in of the Nations to it; and so St. Peter hath truly render'd what is in the Prophet afterwards, by ἐν ἐσχάταις ἡμέραις, in the last Days; and so it follows, that as there was no time before in which this Promise fully was made good, so are we not to expect any After-times for the completion of it. Note, 2dly, That as the words all Flesh must be restrained to all Men, they only being capable of Spiritual Gifts, as when the Psalmist saith, Psal. 145. 20. Let all Flesh bless his holy Name; and the Prophet, Isai. 66. 23. All Flesh shall come, and worship before me, saith the Lord; so must all Men be here restrained to some of all Ranks of Men; as when Hazael is said to bring to the Prophet Elisha, Col Tob all the good of Damascus, 2 Kings 8. 9. i. e. some of every good thing. So Christ healed πᾶσαν νόσον, all kinds of Diseases, Matth. 4. 23. See Glass. Phil. S. p. 437. So that the Phrase includes all sorts of Men without exclusion of Age, young and old; without exclusion of Sex, viz. Sons and Daughters; without exclusion of Conditions, Servants and Maidens; without exclusion of Nation, Jews or Gentiles, even as many as the Lord shall call, ver. 39. This Promise being fulfilled as well upon the Samaritans, Chap. 8. 17. and upon Cornelius and his Kinsfolk, Acts 10. as upon the Jews; and so this Promise contradicts the Jewish Rules, that Prophesie belonged only to Israelites, and to them dwelling only in Judea, and to them only being Muchanim, fitly prepared for it; that is, say they, upon those who are wise, and valiant, and rich, and who are free from Sorrow. See all this in Dr. Pocock on Joel 2. 28. Moreover, This effusion of this Spirit upon all Flesh, as it denotes an inexhaustible Fulness in that Spirit who was to fill all Men with all diversity of Gifts, as the Glory of God, and the good of the Church required; so the effusion of it, upon all the several Ranks of Men and Women mentioned, is a full confutation of all the Jewish Rules and Glosses, requiring such Qualifications as they do to make Men capable of the Gifts here promised. Again, These Gifts being here stiled Prophesie, Visions, Dreams, it is apparent, that the promise of distributing them to all Flesh, could be meant only of the distribution of them to some of all Ranks of Men; for it being never so, that all Men individually had the Gifts of Prophesie, Dreams, Visions, or Revelations, 1 Cor. 12. 29, 30. this could be never promised; it being certain, that God did punctually fulfil his Promise.

c Ver. 19, 20. And I will shew Wonders in Heaven above, and Signs in the Earth beneath, Blood and Fire, and Vapour of Smoak.] Τέρατα καὶ σημεῖα, The first relating to Signs in the Heaven, the second to those on Earth, See Note on Heb. 2. 4. So (f) Josephus speaking of the Calamities of the Jews, mentions περὶ τούτης σημεῖα καὶ τέρατα, the Signs and Wonders that preceded them, Pref. ad Bell. Jud. p. 708. C. καὶ ἐναργῆ τέρατα, the Prodigies which manifestly portended their Destruction, and the dreadful Thunderings and Lightnings, καὶ μυχήματα σεισμῶν τε γῆς ἐξαίσια, and the vast Earthquakes, which in the Judgment of all Men portended no small Evil to them; See Note on Matth. 24. 7, 8. and on Luke 21. 11. The Blood very probably relates to that great effusion of Blood which was then made, partly by their continual Conflicts with other Nations, and the Insults of other Nations upon them; the Wars betwixt them and the Samaritans, Joseph. Antiq. lib. 20. c. 5. betwixt them and the Syrians at Cæsarea, Ibid. c. 6. p. 695. betwixt them and the Greeks and Syrians, l. 18. c. 12. p. 649, 650. the Sedition betwixt them and the Greeks at Alexandria, Antiq. l. 19. c. 4. the vast Slaughter of them there, mentioned by Philo in his Oration against Flaccus, where τὰς μυρίους ἡμέρας ἐν ἀμαυρῷ σκότῳ· and by Josephus, in almost all the Cities round about them; and partly by the Zealots and Sicarii, of which (g) Josephus speaks very tragically; The Fire here mentioned, may relate either to the fiery Meteors spoken of by Josephus, viz. The flaming Sword hanging over the City, and the fiery Comet pointing down upon it for a Year; the Light that shone upon the Temple, and the Altar in the Night, as if it had been Noonday, and the terrible Lightnings now mentioned; or to the continual Burnings of their Synagogues, their Oratories, their Cities, Villages and Houses, mention'd by Philo, as done at Alexandria by Flaccus; by (h) Josephus, as done there by Tiberius; in Galilee and in Judea, by Cestius and Vespasian; from whence must arise Pillars of Smoke.

Of the import of the Sun's being darkened, and the Moon turned into Blood, see the Note on Matth. 24. 20. And of the wonderful Preservation of those who then called upon the Name of the Lord, as the Septuagint hath it of the ἐυαγγελιζόμενοι, i. e. of those who had embraced the Gospel: See the Note on Ver. 12.

ten and declared in his Word, all his Predictions concerning things future being Declarations, and Determinations that they shall come to pass; The Son of Man goeth, as it is written of him, saith St. Matthew, Chap. 26. 24. κ᾽ τὸ ὡρισμένον, as it is determined by God concerning him, Luke 22. 22. Note, (2.) That in order to the completion of this Prediction, it was necessary that God should suffer Christ to fall into the Hands of wicked Men, for they could have no Power over him, unless it were thus given them from above, John 19. 11. and that he should lay no restraints upon them, from executing their malicious Designs upon him; and this unrestrained Permission is all that is, or can be signified by God's delivering Christ up into their Hands. Note, (3.) That this Permission doth neither hinder, nor abate their Sin in crucifying Christ; for notwithstanding this, 'tis plainly said, that they by wicked Hands had crucified him: Hence therefore it doth only follow that God foresaw what he foretold, that Christ would suffer by the Hands of wicked Men. (2.) That when their Malice should incline them to bring him to these Sufferings, he had determined not to interpose by his immediate Power to hinder them from doing it, but rather to permit them so to do: But then it must be noted that every divine Permission of what God hath forbidden Men to do, and of what he requires them to repent of when they have done it, as God doth by Peter here, is a Permission of what he would not have done by them, whom he forbids to do it, and a Permission of that which cannot be done by them without Sin, for of that only are we called to repent. Hence therefore it must follow, that this Foreknowledge, and determinate Counsel of God can be no intimation of his Will, that any Man should do what he forbids him to do, but only of his Will to permit the Action to be done; for God cannot Will that any one should do what he forbids, i. e. Wills he should not do. Nor, 2dly, Can it lay on any Person a necessity of doing what he thus determines to permit, for then it must remove the Sin, because it takes away the Freedom of the Action, and renders it not mine, but his that laid upon me the unavoidable necessity of doing it; It only doth suppose that God can see and foretel what Man, not hinder'd by him, but left to his own Inclinations, will do; and if that Foresight hath any influence upon the Will to make the Action necessary, then, (1.) Not only all our Actions must be necessary, they being all foreseen, but also God must foresee that they are necessary, for he foresees them as they are in their Causes, and doth not by foreseeing mke them, i. e. cause them so to be, since that must necessarily make him the cause of all the sinful Actions he foresees.

Ver. 26, 27. My Flesh shall rest in hope, 27. that thou wilt not leave τ ψυχὴ μ εἰς ᾅδ, neither wilt thou suffer thy holy One to see Corruption.] That is, saith Dr. Hammond, I am confident that tho' I die, yet shalt thou not leave me so long dead, as that my Body shall be putrified; or, thou wilt not leave my Life in the Grave, or in the state of Death. To explain and confirm this Interpretation, let it be considered, e

Τιθέναι τ ψυχὴν μ ἐν τῇ χειρί μ, is to put my Life in Jeopardy, Judg. 12. 3. 1 Sam. 19. 5. — 28. 21. See for this Sense in the New Testament, the Note on 1 Thess. 2. 8. Note,

2*dly*, That when a Man dies, his Life, in the Scripture-Phrase, is said to go down to Hades, to the Pit, or into the House of Silence; and when he is snatched from the Gates of Death, his Life is said to be brought or lifted up from Hades, or the Grave; and therefore when their Bodies remain unquickned in the Grave, their Life may properly be said to be left in it. Thus Jacob saith, Gen. 37. 35. I will go down to Sheol to my Son mourning, καταβήσομαι εἰς ᾅδ, I will descend to Hell, saith the Seventy, Iebi Ghebortha to the Sepulchre: So Jonathan, that I may be in the state of the Dead as my Son is. So again, Chap. 42. 38. If Misbief befal my Son Benjamin, you will bring down my gray Hairs with sorrow to Sheol, καταξετε εἰς ᾅδ, you will bring me down to Hades, into the House of the Sepulchre, saith *B. again; and that to bring down his gray Hairs, was to bring down his Life to the Grave, is evident, becauſe when Judas repeats theſe very words, Chap. 44. 29. and 31. he gives this reaſon of them, becauſe ἡ ψυχὴ αὐτῶ ἐκκρέμαλαι ἐκ τ τότε ψυχῆς, his Life depended on the Lad's Life. So 1 Sam. 2. 6. the Lord, ſaith Hannah, killeth, and he maketh alive, καλάζ εἰς ᾅδ κ ἀνάζ, he bringeth down to Hades, and he raiſeth up again; where Note that theſe words are by (i) Joſephus uſed as a Proof of the Reſurrection; and that the Chaldee Paraphraſt was of the ſame Opinion, his words teſtifie, for thus he renders them, he killeth, and he hath ſaid we ſhall live again, he bringeth down to Hades, and he will after bring us up to Life eternal. So again, Job 7. 9. if a Man καλαβήσι εἰς Ἅδ ſhall go down to Hades, ſhall he riſe up again? And Job 33. 18. we find theſe very words, if God will teach him Diſcipline, he will deliver נפשו מני שחת his Life from the Pit, from Corruption, ſaith the Chaldee, ἀπὸ θανάτ, from Death, ſaith the Septuagint, and ver. 22. if his Life draweth nigh to the Pit, נפשו לשחת ἡ ζωὴ αὐτῶ εἰς θάνατον, to Death, and he ſay, redeem me from going down שחת into Corruption, ἐν ᾅδ, to Hades, he ſhall return to the Days of his Youth. And Jonah, who was a Type of Chriſt in this very thing, Matth. 12. 39, 40. ſaith, when Naphſhi my Soul failed in me, Taal miſhechatz chaii thou cauſeſt my Life to aſcend out of the Pit, Jon. 2. 6, 7. In the Pſalmiſt this Expreſſion is very frequent, O Lord, ſaith he, ἀνήγαγες ἐξ ᾅδ τ ψυχήμ, thou haſt brought up min Sheol Naphſhi, my Life from Hell, or Hades, thou haſt preſerved me from going down into the Pit: Pſal. 30. 3. And again, Pſal. 86. 13. thou haſt delivered my Life τ ψυχήμ, from the nethermoſt Hell, or Hades Miſheol Haragitha, from Sheol beneath, or from the low Earth, ſaith the Chaldee, from the ſtate of Death, Ainſworth, from the Sepulchre, I. T. into which Chriſt is ſaid to have deſcended, Eph. 4. 9. See the Note there; and into which David, had he then died, would only have deſcended, and not into Hell properly ſo called. Pſal. 88. 3. Chajah Leſheol, my Life draweth nigh to Hell; ἡ ψυχή μ τῷ ᾅδ, to Hades; and Pſal. 94. 14. if the Lord had not been my Helper, my Life had dwelt in Silence, ἐν ᾅδ, in the Grave, the Houſe of Silence, as appears from thoſe words, Pſal. 115. 17. the Dead cannot praiſe thee, nor καταβαίνοντες εἰς ᾅδ, they that go down into Hades, Seventy, into Silence, Hebr. into Beth Cheborah, the Houſe of the Sepulchre, Chaldee; and Pſal. 89. 40. what Man is he that liveth, and ſhall not ſee Death? ſhall he deliver his Soul from the Hand of Hell, τ ψυχὴν αὐτῦ ἐκ χειρὸς ᾅδ, his Life from the Hand of Hades, i. e. the Grave? ſhall he be delivered from the Angel of Death, ſhall he not deſcend into the Houſe of the Sepulchre? Parallel to which are the words of Hezekiah, Iſa. 38. 18. οἱ ἐν ᾅδ, they that are in Hades, or Sheol, ſhall not praiſe, neither ſhall the Dead bleſs thee. So Tob. 3. 10. I ſhall bring the old Age of my Father with Sorrow, εἰς ᾅδ, that is, εἰς τάφον, to the Grave, Chap. 6. 14. So David ſaith to Solomon of Joab, and Shimei καλέξεις εἰς ᾅδ, thou ſhalt bring down their gray Hairs to the Grave, 1 Kings 2. 6, 9.

Note, 3*dly*, That Sheol throughout the Old Teſtament, and ᾅδης in the Septuagint, anſwering to it, ſignifie not the place of Puniſhment, or of the Souls of bad Men only, but the Grave only, or the Place of Death, appears,

1*ſt*, From the Root of it Shaal, which ſignifies to ask, crave, and require, becauſe it craves for all Men, Prov. 30. 16. and will let no Man ſcape its Hands, Pſal. 88. 49. it is that Sheol or Hades whither we are all going, Eccleſ. 9. 10. The Hebrew Sheol, ſaith Buxtorf, ſignifies in general, the place of human Bodies, when they are ſeparated from their Souls, ᾅδ νεκρῶν χορίον, exponunt Græci, the Greeks ſay, that Hades is the place of the Dead, ſaith Dr. Windet; it is ὁ τάφ, ὁ τύμβ, the Tomb, or Sepulchre, ſaith Phavorinus; thus to go to the Gates of Hades in Homer, is, ſaith the Scholiaſt, θέσις θανάτ, a Deſcription of Death; He ſhall knock at the Gates of Hades, ſaith Theocritus, τύτεσι ἀποθανεῖ, he ſhall die, ſaith the Scholiaſt. See the Note on Matth. 16. 18.

2*dly*, Becauſe it is the place to which the good, as well as the bad, go, for they whoſe Souls go upwards, deſcend into it, thither went Jacob, Gen. 37. 35. there Job deſired to be, Chap. 14. 13, for he knew that Sheol was his Houſe, Chap. 17. 13. and that he deſcend into the Duſt was to deſcend into Hades, where Olympiodorus brings him in ſpeaking thus, ὃ κοινὸν ἅπασιν ἀνθρώποις τὸ ἀποθανεῖν; οὐχὶ ᾅδης ἅπασιν ὁ οἶκ; is not Death common to all Men? is not Hades the Houſe of all Men? Hezekiah expected to be there after he went hence, for he ſaid, I ſhall go to the Gates of Hades, Iſa. 38. 30. that is, ſaith Jerom, to thoſe Gates of which the Pſalmiſt ſpeaks, ſaying thou wilt lift me up from the Gates of Death. The ancient Greeks aſſigned one Hades to all that died, and therefore ſay, πάντας ὁμῶ θνητὸς ᾅδης δέχ, Hades receives all mortal Men together, εἰς κοινὸν ᾅδ πάντες ἥξουσιν βροτοί, all Men ſhall go to Hades.

3*dly*, Had

3*dly*, Had the Pen-men of the Old Teſtament meant by Hades any Receptacle of Souls, they could not truly have declared, there was no Wiſdom, or Knowledge in Sheol, Eccleſ. 9. 10. no remembrance of God there, Pſal. 6. 6. no praiſing him in Sheol, Iſa. 38. 18. for thoſe Heathens who lookt upon it as the Receptacle of Souls, held it to be a place in which they would be puniſhed, or rewarded.

Seeing then καταλείειν τὴν ψυχὴν εἰς ᾅδου, is to bring down the Life to the Grave, ἀναγειν τὴν ψυχὴν ἐξ ᾅδου, is to bring the Life up from the Grave; μὴ ἐγκαταλείψειν τὴν ψυχὴν μου εἰς ᾅδου, may very properly here import, not to leave the Life of Chriſt in the Grave, but to revive his dead Body by giving a new Life and Motion to his animal Spirits, now dormant in it, and a re-union of his Soul to it; and ſo this firſt part of the Sentence, thou wilt not leave my Life in the Grave, will be in ſenſe the ſame with the enſuing words, thou wilt not ſuffer thy holy One to ſee Corruption; as are thoſe words of the Pſalmiſt, what Man is he that ſhall not ſee Death? the ſame with the following words, ſhall he deliver his Life from the Hand of Hades? and thoſe of Job, Chap. 17. 18. the Grave is my Houſe, I have made my Bed in the Darkneſs; and thoſe of Elihu, Chap. 33. 28. He will deliver his Life from going down into the Pit, and his Life ſhall ſee the Light; and thoſe of David, Thou haſt brought up my Soul from the Grave, thou haſt kept me alive, that I ſhould not go down into the Pit, Pſal. 30. 3. My Life draweth nigh to the Grave, I am counted with them that go down into the Pit, Pſal. 88. 3. See Pſal. 115. 17. Iſa. 38. 10, 11, 12. And that this muſt be the true import of the words, will be ſtill farther evident,

1*ſt*, From the precedent words, my Fleſh ſhall reſt in hope, that thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, it being a very proper Proſopopœia to bring his dead Fleſh, hoping it ſhall be revived, but not ſo proper to introduce it, hoping that its Soul ſhall not be left in Hell, or in the place of the Damned; and alſo from the following words, thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, for thou wilt ſhew me the Path of Life; for as Life is oppoſed to Death, ſo ſhewing to one dead, or in danger of it, the Path of Life, muſt ſignifie the preſerving him from Death, or the reſtoring him to Life when dead. And,

2*dly*, From the Conſideration of the Perſon to whom theſe words do, in the primary ſenſe, belong; for being ſpoken by King David, when his Life was continually in his hand, and he was ſtill in Danger of Death from a perſecuting Saul, they in reſpect of him can only ſignifie his Hope, that God would not give him over unto Death; and ſo in reference to the Son of David will very naturally import, that tho' thou ſuffereſt Men to kill me, and lay me in the Grave, yet wilt thou raiſe me from the Dead. In a word, this Phraſe is by St. Peter interpreted of our Lord's Reſurrection; for ſo he ſpeaks, Him whom you by wicked Hands have ſlain, God hath raiſed up, looſing the Bands of Death, ver. 23, 24. for David ſaith of him, thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, i. e. my Life in the Grave; and 'tis oppoſed to David's continuing in the Grave, and in the ſtate of Death, thus, David is both dead and buried, and his Body lies ſtill in the Sepulchre, he therefore could not ſay this of himſelf, but being a Prophet, and ſo foreſeeing that God would raiſe up Jeſus from the dead, he ſaid this of the Reſurrection of Chriſt, thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell, or my Life in the Grave. See the Appendix to this Verſe.

Ver. 33. He receiving the Promiſe of the Spirit from the Father;] i. e. the Spirit promiſed by him, and therefore ſtiled his Promiſe, Luke 24. 49. and received from him by Chriſt, who as Mediator betwixt God and Man, is to convey all Bleſſings to Man, from that Father of Light from whom comes every good and perfect Gift; and thus this one Mediator betwixt God and Man, the Man Chriſt Jeſus, 1 Tim. 2. 5. is fitly ſaid to have received this Spirit from the Father, tho' as to his divine Nature he alſo is the Spirit of Chriſt, 1 Pet. 1. 11. And he receives of his to give unto us, John 16. 12. See the Note there; yea he hath ſo received him as to be the Lord of the Spirit, 2 Cor. 3. 18. and of all his Adminiſtrations, 1 Cor. 12. 5. Hand being ſtiled in Scripture, the right Hand of Majeſty, Heb. 1. 3. and as the moſt honourable place among Men is the right Hand, and Solomon ſhewed his Mother Bathſheba the higheſt Honour, when he made her ſit on the right Hand of his Throne, 1 Kings 2. 19. So hath the Father advanced Chriſt's human Nature to the higheſt Dignity, by cauſing it to ſit on the right Hand of the Throne of Majeſty in Heaven, Heb. 8. 1. (3.) It ſignifies that fulneſs of Power with which he is inveſted over all things in Heaven and Earth, Matth. 28. 18. for ſo the Scripture repreſents the Greatneſs of his divine Power by the Strength of his right Hand, Pſal. 20. 6. — 89. 13. And hence our Lord is ſaid to ſit on the right Hand of Power, Matth. 27. 64. (4.) Becauſe Princes ſit on their Thrones to execute Judgment, and exert that Dominion which God hath given them over their Subjects; therefore this Seſſion at the right Hand of God imports his Authority to judge both the quick and dead, as being by it conſtituted Lord of the dead, and of the living, Rom. 14. 9—12.

i Ver. 36. God hath made the ſame Jeſus both Lord and Chriſt.] Here the word Chriſt ſignifies the Meſſiah, according to his Regal Office, in which ſenſe he is ſtill ſtiled by the Chaldee Paraphraſts, and Jewiſh Writers, מלכא משיחא Meſſias, or Chriſt the King, as (k) Buxtorf ſhews in the word Meſſias; under which Title the Prophets frequently ſpeak of him as of a King to reign over God's People, Pſal. 24. 7.—45. 1. Iſa. 32. 1. Zach. 9. 9. and not the Jews only, but the whole Eaſt under that Title did expect him. See the Note on Luke 2. 38.

k Ver. 38, 39. Be baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and ye ſhall receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, for the Promiſe is to you, and to your Children.] Here let it be obſerved,

1*ſt*, That St. Peter exhorts the Jews to be baptized, not in the Name of the Father, and the Holy Ghoſt, but only in the Name of Jeſus, becauſe they did already believe in God the Father, and in the Holy Ghoſt, and profeſs Obedience to the Laws of God, and of the Holy Ghoſt ſpeaking by the Mouth of his Prophets.

2*dly*, That when 'tis ſaid, ye ſhall receive the Holy Ghoſt, 'tis not intended that every one of them upon their Baptiſm, ſhould be endued with the extraordinary Gifts of Tongues, and Propheſie; for it is manifeſt from the Hiſtory of the Acts, and eſpecially from Chap. 6. 3. that he was given only to ſome among them, tho' that was for the Benefit of all; and hence is that Enquiry of St. Paul, 1 Cor. 12. 29, 30. are all Prophets? do all ſpeak with Tongues? But the meaning of St. Peter is, that he ſhould fall upon ſome of all Ranks of them, according to the true purport of the words of Joel. Note,

3*dly*, That theſe words will not prove a right of Infants to receive Baptiſm; the Promiſe mentioned here, being that only of the Holy Ghoſt, mentioned, ver. 16, 17, 18. and ſo relating only to the times of the miraculous Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt, and to thoſe Perſons, who by Age were made capable of theſe extraordinary Gifts.

Ver. 42. And in breaking of Bread.] I ſee I no neceſſity to think theſe words relate to the receiving of the Sacrament; not from the Phraſe of breaking Bread, for this is uſed by the Evangeliſt when they relate Chriſt's miraculous feeding of the Multitude, Matth. 15. 36. Mark 8. 19, 20. and in the 46th Verſe of this Chapter, they are ſaid, to break Bread from houſe to houſe, and ſo to eat their Meat with ſingleneſs of heart, where it can only ſignifie their friendly converſe with one another. But, (2.) Allowing this to relate to the receiving of the Sacrament, and not to their breaking Bread at this Feaſt of Pentecoſt, either Wine was alſo conſecrated with the Bread, or it was not; if it was, then muſt Bread ſignifie by a Synecdoche, (l) very uſual in the Scripture, Bread and Drink; and therefore when that Drink is Wine, as in the Sacrament it is, Bread and Wine; and then if both were conſecrated, both might be diſtributed, according to our Saviour's Precept, Drink ye all of this; if it was not, the Officiator, even according to the Principles of the Church of Rome, muſt be guilty of Sacrilege. See the Notes on Luke 24. 30. Acts 20. 7.

Ver. 44. They were ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, all toge- m ther.] There being added to the one hundred and twenty, three thouſand Souls, ver. 41. it ſeemeth inconvenient to ſay, they were all together in one place, unleſs it were in one of thoſe Apartments in the Towers of the Temple, which, ſaith (m) Joſephus, would receive an hundred Beds; and therefore it ſeems better to refer this to their Communion in the ſame Action, in which ſenſe all the Jews are ſaid to build ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, together, Ezra 4. 3. tho' they were far ſeparated from one another, Neh. 4. 19. and Joab and Abner's Men to be ἐπὶ τὸ αὐτὸ, together, 2 Sam. 2. 12. tho' one were on the one, the other on the other ſide of the Pool; See Pſal. 4. 9.—49. 2. Iſa. 66. 17. Jer. 6. 12.

freely imparting of them to all that had need. And that this making Sale of them was not done by Command, St. Peter declares, by telling Ananias, he was under no Obligation ſo to do, Acts 5. 4. Nor was it ever intended for an Example, or Precedent to other Chriſtians, as is evident from all the Epiſtles, in which we have frequent mention of the diſtinction betwixt Rich and Poor; and frequent Exhortations to the Wealthy to be rich in good Works, but not the leaſt intimation that they ought to ſell their Poſſeſſions; this being now done on a particular account, either by them who had Lands out of Judea, as Barnabas had his in Cyprus, and being reſolved not to return thither, but to cleave to the Apoſtles, could make but little Benefit from them there; or elſe in Judea, and therefore they knowing from our Saviour's Propheſie of the Deſtruction of Jeruſalem, and from his Exhortation, that they were ſhortly to fly from, and quit them to the Enemy, were willing to part with their Eſtates for the Benefit of the Church, before they were ſnatch'd from them by the Enemy.

CHAP. III.

1. NOW (Gr. and) Peter and John went up together into the Temple at the a hour of Prayer, (being) [a] the ninth hour; (Gr. at the ninth hour of Prayer.)

2. And a certain Man (who had been) lame from his Mother's womb, was carried (thither,) whom they (who brought him) laid b daily at the [b] Gate of the Temple, which is called Beautiful, to Ask Alms of them that entred into the Temple (by which means he became well known to all who entred into it, ver. 10.)

3. Who ſeeing Peter and John about to go into the Temple, asked (Gr. to receive) an Alms (of them.)

4. And Peter faſtening his Eyes upon him with John, (to raiſe his Expectation of receiving ſome benefit from them,) ſaid (to him,) Look on us;

5. And he gave heed unto (Gr. looked on) them, expecting to receive ſomething of them.

6. Then Peter ſaid (to him,) Silver and Gold have I none (to give,) but ſuch as I have (Gr. what I have) give I to thee, (ſaying to thee,) In the Name of Jeſus Chriſt of Nazareth, riſe up and walk.

7. And he (having ſaid this,) took him by the right Hand, and lift him up, (Gr. and taking him by the right Hand, he aroſe,) and (for) immediately his Feet and Ankle Bones received ſtrength (to ariſe.)

8. And he leaping up (from his Bed) ſtood (up,) and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking, and leaping, and praiſing God, (according to the Propheſie, Iſa. 35. 6. then the Lame ſhall leap as the Hart.)

9. And all the People ſaw him walking, and (heard him) praiſing God.

10. And they knew that it was he, that ſat for (to beg) Alms at the Beautiful Gate of the Temple, and (therefore) they were filled with Wonder and Amazement, at that which had happened to him.

11. And as the lame Man which was healed, held Peter and John, all the People (preſent) ran together to them, in the Porch called Solomon's, greatly wondring (at what was done.)

12. And when Peter ſaw it, he [c] anſwered c (or ſpake thus) unto the People, Ye Men of Iſrael, why marvel ye at this? or why look ye ſo earneſtly on us, as though by our own Power, or [d] Holineſs, we had made this Man d to walk?

13. (This Miracle is wholly to be aſcribed to the Lord Jeſus, for be it known to you, that) the God of Abraham, and of Iſaac, and of Jacob, the God of our Fathers hath glorified his Son Jeſus, (placing him at the right Hand of his Majeſty in the higheſt Heavens, Heb. 1. 3. and giving him all Power in Heaven and Earth, Matth. 28. 18. even that Jeſus) whom ye delivered up (to be crucified,) and denied him (or refuſed him) in the Preſence of Pilate, when he was determined to let him go (κρίναντος ἀπολύειν, judging him rather fit to be releaſed;)

Annotations on Chap. III.

a Ver. 1. AT the ninth Hour of Prayer.] Among the Jews there were three ſtated Hours of Prayer; the firſt at the third Hour of the Day, Acts 2. 15. which anſwers to our ninth; at which time they offered their Morning Sacrifice, Exod. 29. 39. Num. 28. 3, 4. at the ninth Hour, or at three in the Afternoon, when they offered their Evening Sacrifice, Acts 10. 3, 30. Of theſe Two, the Hebrew Doctors ſay, The continual Sacrifice of the Morning made atonement for the Iniquities that were done in the Night, and the Evening Sacrifice for the Iniquity that was done by Day. But (a) Philo ſaith, They were both Sacrifices of Thankſgiving for the Bleſſings God was pleaſed continually to confer upon Mankind by Day and Night. At both theſe times, ſpecial Favours were ſhewn by God to his People; thus, περὶ ἀναβαινούσης τὴν θυσίας, in the Morning when the Mincha was offered, the thirſty Land was miraculouſly filled with Water, 2 Kings 3. 20. And about the time of the Evening Oblation, God anſwers Daniel's Prayer, by ſending the Angel Gabriel to him, Dan. 9. 21. Hence David ſays, Let my Prayer aſcend to thee as Incenſe, and the lifting up of my Hands as an Evening Sacrifice, Pſal. 141. 2. either becauſe that alſo comprehends the Morning Sacrifice, as Kimchi conjectures, or as R. Saadias, becauſe by that all things were atoned, there being no Sacrifice offered after that: And upon this account it might be, that the Apoſtles and other pious Perſons went always up into the Temple at theſe Hours of Prayer, Acts 2. 46.

The third time of Prayer was the ſixth Hour, that is, at twelve of the Clock before they dined, or after dinner; at which time we find Peter at his Prayers, Acts 10. 9. Of theſe three times, the Royal Pſalmiſt ſpeaketh thus, At Evening, and at Morning, and at Noon, will I pray to thee, Pſal. 55. 17. And of Daniel it is recorded, that he kneeled down three times a Day, and prayed, and gave thanks, Dan. 6. 10, 13. And the Jews ſay, they received theſe ſtated Hours of Prayer from Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob; but yet as their going to the Temple is no Preſident for us Chriſtians to perform our private Devotions in the Church, which by our Lord's Directions we rather are to do entring into our Cloſets; God not being ſo preſent present in our Churches, as in a place of his perpetual and glorious Residence, as he was in the Tabernacle and the Temple; so neither is their Observation of these Hours of Prayer any warrant for our Institution of Canonical Hours of Prayer, much less an evidence, that the Apostles by going thither, did institute these Canonical Hours, as Baronius phansies. Notwithstanding, seeing we Christians are as much obliged both to perform our publick and private Devotions to God as the Jews could be, it must be laudable in us also to set apart solemn Times for the performance of those Duties, as they did. And hence the (b) Constitutions of the Apostles, having cited the Lord's Prayer, say, Τρὶς τ ἡμέρας προσεύξεσθε, Pray thus thrice a Day: And (c) Tertullian says, That these three Hours, Morning, Noon, and Evening, were, insigniores in orationibus diurnis, the most Celebrated in their daily Prayers: And these three times, saith (d) Theodoret, we glorifie God, τὰς θείας λειτουργίας ἐν ἐκκλησίαις ἐπιτελοῦντες, using the sacred Liturgies in the Churches.

b Ver. 2. Πρὸς τ θύραν τ ἱερᾶ λεγομένην ὡραίαν, To the Gate of the Temple called Beautiful.] This Gate being the very Front and Entrance into the Temple, was built with such Sumptuousness and Glory as became the Frontispiece of that place, where the Divine Majesty vouchsafed to dwell, and hence bare the Name of the Beautiful Gate: The other three Gates belonging to the Entrance into the Court of the Women, were, saith Josephus, χρυσῷ τε, κ ἀργύρῳ κεκονυμμένην πανλοχόθεν, covered over with Silver, and then guilt; but this Gate, which he called the Corinthian Gate, as being made of Corinthian Brass, was, saith he, (e) πολὺ τῇ τιμῇ τὰς καλαργύρους κ πολυχρύσους ὑπερέβαλεν, much exceeding in Glory those of Gold and Silver.

c Ver. 12. Ἀπεκρίνατο, He answered.] This word is often used without relation to any precedent Question, and sometimes only signifies, that such a one began to speak, and is usually joined with λέγω or εἶπω, to speak: So Matth. 11. 25. Ἀποκριθεὶς ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἶπεν, Jesus Patrem compellans dixit, Jesus speaking to his Father, said; or, Jesus began to say, Matth. 12. 38. Some of the Scribes ἀπεκριθησ λέγοντες, spake, saying, c. 17. 4. Ἀποκριθεὶς ὁ Πέτρος εἶπεν, and Peter speaking, said to Jesus. See Chap. 22. 1. — 26. 63. — 27. 21. — 28. 5. Mark 9. 38. — 10. 51. — 11. 14. Ἀποκριθεὶς ὁ Ἰησοῦς εἶπεν αὐτῇ, Jesus speaking, said to the Fig-tree, Chap. 12. 35. — 14. 48. Luke 1. 60. — 13. 14. — 14. 3, 5. — 17. 17. — John 5. 19. Acts 5. 8. — 8. 34. — 10. 46. — 15. 13. — 24. 25. — 25. 9. So the Hebrew word ענה often signifies, as in Exod. 15. 21. So Exod. 21. 5. ἐὰν ἀποκριθῇ, if the Servant say. So 1 Kings 2. 1. Ἀποκρίναλο David speaks; and Chap. 3. 26. ἀποκριθεῖσα ἡ γυνὴ, the Woman said, Psal. 119. 172. and frequently in the Book of Job. Sometimes, tho' no Question is asked, and no Discourse requiring an Answer preceded, yet our Lord answers to the secret Thoughts and inward Reasonings of the Jews, or to their Admiration touching his Words or Works, as Matth. 17. 4. — 28. 5. Mark 10. 24. Luke 3. 16. — 5. 22. — 7. 40.

Ibid. Ἡ εὐσεβείᾳ, Or Holiness.] This is d the reading of Chrysostom, and Oecumenius, and of all the MSS. and ancient Versions, excepting only the Syriac; for 'tis confessed by Lorinus, that the ancient Latin Copies, both MSS. and printed, read not potestate, but pietate. Here then is a plain Evidence of the Variation of the Roman Doctrine from that of the Apostles, assisted by the Holy Ghost; for the Apostles here plainly disclaim any Excellency or Piety in them which might make them worthy to be God's Instruments above any others, in working such Miracles as these: But the (f) Catechism of the Trent Council plainly declares, that God confers upon us many Benefits, eorum merito, by virtue of the Merits of the Saints; and Lorinus on the place declares, that innumerable Histories and the Practice of the Church shew, quod sanctorum merita ad impetranda miracula valeant, that the Merits of the Saints are prevalent for the working Miracles.

Ver. 14. Τὸν ἅγιον κ δίκαιον ἠρνήσασθε, These e words I would render thus; You refused the Holy One:] So stiled by good, Luke 1. 35. and evil Angels, Luke 4. 34. and even by Pilate's Wife, that just One, Matth. 27. 19. for so ἀρνέομαι doth often signifie both in Scripture and profane Authors. So Acts 7. 25. This Moses, ὃν ἠρνήσαντο, whom they refused: Heb. 11. 24. ἠρνήσατο, He refused to be called the Son of Pharaoh. So in Phavorinus, ἀρνεῖται ὁ μὴ θέλων ποιῆσαί τὸ ὅ τι, is he that is unwilling, and refuseth to do any thing: In Suidas, τὸ ἀρνεῖσθαι δανεισὰς, is to reject the Usurers. And to this sense, the very Derivation of the Word seems to lead; it being, say Grammarians, ἀπὸ τ αἴρειν τὰς χεῖρας ἐπὶ τῇ ἀθυμήσει, done by lifting up the Hands in way of refusal.

Ver. 15. Ἀρχηγὸν τ ζωῆς, The Prince of f Life.] The Person sent by God to lead you in the Way to Life eternal, having first declared it fully to the World, 2 Tim. 1. 10. proposed it to Believers, John 6. purchased it for them by his Death, shewed the way to it by his Doctrine, and being appointed pointed to give it to his faithful Servants, John 17. 2. Whence he is ſtiled, ἀρχηγὸς τ῀ ζωῆς, the Captain of our Salvation, Heb. 2. 10. ὁ ἀρχηγὸς, a Prince and Saviour, to give Repentance to Iſrael, and Remiſſion of Sins, Chap. 5. 32. Or, as Grotius here hath it, he is ſtiled a Prince of Life, as having Life in himſelf, and Power to raiſe all Men from the Dead, John 5. 26.--- 29. To which ſenſe the whole Phraſe, Ye have killed the Prince of Life, ſeems to lead us.

g Ver. 16. Ἡ πίστις ἡ δι' αὐτ῀, The Faith which is by him:] For ἐν αὐτῷ, in him. So Rom. 14. 20. nothing is unclean δι' αὐτ῀, in it ſelf, δι' ὕδατος, in the Water, 2 Pet. 3. 5. τὰ διὰ τ῀ σώματος, the things done in the Body, 2 Cor. 5. 10. they that ſleep διὰ τ῀ Ἰησ῀, in Jeſus, 1 Theſſ. 4. 14. and in this Book διὰ τ῀ νυκτὸς, in the Night, Chap. 5. 19. — 23. 31.

h Ver. 17. Through Ignorance ye did it, as did alſo your Rulers.] Tho' the Ignorance of the whole Nation, and eſpecially of the Rulers in this caſe, was ſuch as took away all juſt excuſe in them on the account of their Infidelity, John 15. 22, 24. yet becauſe it was occaſioned by thoſe Prejudices they had contracted through the meanneſs of his Character, and their Imaginations that Chriſt ſhould not die, and that his Kingdom ſhould be temporal, Chriſt bears with it till the time of the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt, and then calls them again by his Apoſtles to Repentance. See the Diſcourſe of the Sin againſt the Holy Ghoſt, App. to Matth. 12.

i Ver. 19. Ὅπως ἂν ἔλθωσι καιροὶ ἀναψύξεως, When the Times of Refreſhing ſhall come upon you.] Here the critical Notes are theſe, (1.) That ὅπως ἂν ἔλθωσι, is to be rendred that, or, ſo that they may come, ut veniant: So Irenæus, l. 2. c. 12. p. 363. ut ſuperveniant, Tertul. de Reſur. Carn. c. 23. So the Phraſe is often uſed both in the Old and New Teſtament, and in prophane Authors: In the Old Teſtament it anſwers to the לְמַעַן, and is oft rendred that. So Pſal. 9. 14. ὅπως ἂν ἐξαγγείλω, that I may ſhew forth thy Praiſes: Pſal. 92. 7. ὅπως ἂν ἐξολοθρευθῶσιν, that they may be deſtroyed for ever: Pſal. 119. 101. ὅπως ἂν φυλάξω, that I may keep thy Words. In the New Teſtament, ὅπως ἂν ἐκζητήσωσιν, that the reſidue of Men may ſeek after the Lord, Acts 15. 17. ὅπως ἂν ἀποκαλυφθῶσιν, that the Thoughts of many Hearts may be revealed, Luke 2. 35. ὅπως ἂν δικαιωθῇς, that thou may'ſt be juſtified, Rom. 3. 4. So in Ariſtophanes, ὅπως ἂν εἰδῇ, that he may know. See Budæus. (2.) Οἱ καιροὶ ἀναψύξεως, are Times of Reſt, Refreſhment, Conſolation; ſometimes after great Danger and Trouble; as when God had taken away the Plague of Frogs, Pharaoh ſaw there was ἄνεσις, Refreſhment, or as we ſay, a Breathing time: So when the Evil Spirit was on Saul, David played on the Harp, καὶ ἀνέψυχε, and Saul was refreſhed, 1 Sam. 16. 23. The King and all the People came weary, καὶ ἀνέψυξαν ἐκεῖ, and were refreſhed there: So Pſal. 38. 13. O ſpare me, ἵνα ἀναψύξω, that I may revive: Pſal. 65. 11. We have gone through Fire and Water, and thou haſt brought us forth, εἰς ἀναψυχὴν, to a place of Reſt; See 2 Maccab. 13. 11. And ſometimes without relation to it, as a Nation at eaſe, and without care, is ἔθνος καθήμενον εἰς ἀναψυχὴν, Jer. 49. 30. I have found ἀναψυχὴν, reſt to my ſelf, Hoſ. 12. 8. See 2 Maccab. 4. 46. Now theſe Times of Refreſhing, Reſt and Comfort, are by ſome referr'd to the Times of the Goſpel, in which Chriſt ſaith, Come to me, ye that are weary and heavy laden, κἀγὼ ἀναπαύσω, and I will refreſh you, Matth. 11. 28. and ye ſhall find ἀνάπαυσιν, reſt to your Souls, ver. 30. So Dr. Lightfoot, who gives the import of the Words thus, Repent, &c. that your Sins may be blotted out, that the Times of Refreſhing from the Goſpel may come upon you. But againſt this Interpretation there lies this Objection, That theſe Times of Refreſhing were to come by the ſending of that Jeſus who was aſcended into Heaven, and was not to come thence till the Day of Judgment, ver. 21, 22. Grotius and Dr. Hammond refer this to their Deliverance from the Deſtruction which ſhortly was to come on the obdurate Jews; but tho' that was then future, and there is frequent mention of a παρουσία, or coming of Chriſt then, yet was it no coming of Chriſt from Heaven, but only a coming by the Roman Army. I therefore incline rather to the Opinion of the Ancients, which refers this to the time of Chriſt's Second Coming, to give all his Servants, after their Troubles and Perſecutions in this World, Reſt with him, 2 Theſſ. 1. 6, 7, 8. which he ſhall do by deſcending from Heaven, raiſing them from the Dead, and cauſing them to enter into everlaſting Reſt, 1 Theſſ. 4. 15, 16. 1 Cor. 15. 47. So the Times of the Reſurrection are by the Jews ſtiled, the Days of Conſolation. Targum in Hoſ. 6. 2.

k Ver. 20. Τὸν προκεχειρισμένον, who before was preached to you.] Some here read, τ῀ προκεχειρισμένον, before deſigned, viz. in the Predictions of the Law and the Prophets, or before preached to you by them.

l Ver. 21. Ὃν δεῖ οὐρανὸν μὲν δέξασθαι, Whom the Heavens muſt receive.] They who render the words thus, Who muſt receive the Heavens, i. e. govern there, ſeem to be confuted by the Limitation of Time annexed to theſe words, Chriſt being to reign in the Heavens for ever.

things.] That theſe words cannot be meant of a reſtitution of all things to their former State, is certain; for ſure, 'tis very improper to ſay, there will be a reſtitution of all things to their former State, which God hath ſpoken by the Mouth of all his Prophets: For ſince theſe things relate to the Fore runner of our Lord, Chriſt's coming in the Fleſh, his Life, Death, Reſurrection, and Aſcenſion, the Preaching of the Goſpel to the Gentiles, and the Reign of Antichriſt, the calling of the Jews, and the coming in of the Fulneſs of the Gentiles, theſe things may very well be ſaid to be exhibited, performed, accompliſhed, and conſummated; but I ſee not with what Propriety or Truth they can be ſaid to be reſtored to their former States, or be renewed, and therefore ἄχρι χρόνων ἀποκαταστάσεως πάντων, is by the Syriac rendred until the fulneſs of the time of all things; by the Arabic, till the time in which all things ſhall be perfected, or finiſhed; by (g) Tertullian, aduſque tempora exhibitionis omnium; by (h) Irenæus, uſque ad tempora diſpoſitionis omnium; i. e. till the time of the exhibition or diſpoſal of all things; by Oecumenius, till the time that all things do εἰς τέλος ἐλθεῖν, come to an end: And for the confirmation of this import of the word, we have the Suffrage of Heſychius and Phavorinus, that ἀποκατάστασις is τελείωσις, the conſummation of a thing. Hence then I argue thus againſt the Doctrine of the Millenaries; Since Chriſt is to continue in Heaven till the completion or conſummation of all things ſpoken by the holy Prophets, if the Millennium were any of them, Chriſt muſt continue in Heaven till the conſummation of that alſo, and therefore is not to come down from Heaven to reign on Earth till the Millennium be ended; nor can that be contemporary with our Lord's ſecond Coming, which is from Heaven.

Ibid. Ἀπ' αἰῶνος, Since the World began;] that is, from Times of Old. See Note on Luke 1. 70. n

Ver. 22. For Moſes ſaid, A Prophet, &c.] Hence it appears, that this Prophecy doth primarily reſpect Chriſt, and not a ſeries of Prophets, as ſome imagine. See the Note on John 1. 45.—5. 46. o

Ver. 46. And all the Prophets from Samuel.] Samuel, ſaith Dr. Hammond, is here reckoned the firſt of the Prophets, becauſe the Schools of the Prophets were firſt inſtituted and erected by him; we reading in his time of a Company or College of Prophets at Ramah, and Samuel ſtanding among them, 1 Sam. 19. 20. He is reckoned, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot, after Moſes, partly becauſe Prophecy from Moſes to Samuel was very rare, 1 Sam. 3. 1, 2. and partly becauſe he was the firſt after Moſes that wrote his Prophecy. p

Ver. 25. Ye are the Children of the Prophets.] The Prophets being ſtiled ſpiritual Fathers, 2 Kings 2. 12. and Chap. 13. 14. they who were taught by them, were called the Sons of the Prophets, 2 Kings 2. 3. and generally Teachers were called Fathers; and they who were taught by them, Children. See Note on 1 Cor. 14. 15. q

Ibid. In thy Seed ſhall all the Families of the Earth be bleſſed.] Hence it is evident, that theſe words are not a Form of Bleſſing to this effect, God bleſs thee as he bleſſed Abraham, but a Promiſe of a Benediction to all Nations thro' Chriſt the Seed of Abraham. See the Note on Gal. 3. 16. r

CHAP. IV.

1. AND as they ſpake to the People, the Prieſts and the [a] Captain of the Temple, and the Sadducees came upon them (violently;)

2. (The Sadducees) Being grieved that they taught the People, and preached (to them) thro' Jeſus the Reſurrection from the Dead, (which the Sadducees denied, Chap. 23. 8.)

3. And they laid hands on them, and put them in hold (i. e. in Priſon,) until the next day; for it was now Even-tide.

4. Howbeit, (ὃ but notwithſtanding this Treatment of them,) many of them which heard the Word, believed (their Doctrine,) and the (whole) [b] number of the Men (that believed it,) was about Five thouſand.

5. And it came to paſs on the morrow, that their Rulers, and Elders, and Scribes,

6. And Annas the High Prieſt, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the Kindred of the High Prieſt, were gathered together at Jeruſalem.

7. And when they had ſet them (Peter and John) in the midſt (of the Aſſembly,) they asked (them,) By what Power, or by (virtue of) what Name have you done this (Cure?)

8. Then Peter (and John being) filled with the Holy Ghoſt, ſaid to them, Ye Rulers of the People and Elders of Iſrael.

9. If we this Day be examined of the good Deed done to the impotent Man, (if you enquire) by what means he is made whole,

10. Be it known to you all, and to all the People of Iſrael, that by the Name (and Power) of Jeſus Chriſt of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, (and) whom God (hath) raiſed from the Dead, even by him doth this Man ſtand here before you whole.

c 11. [c] This (ὅτος he) is the Stone which (according to the words of the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 118. 22.) was ſet at nought of you Builders, (and) who is (now) become the Head (Stone) of the Corner, (the prime Foundation of the whole Fabrick of the Church.)

d 12. [d] Neither is there (ſuch) Salvation (promiſed by Faith) in any other; for there is none other Name under Heaven given among Men, whereby, (or by Faith in which) we muſt (or may) be ſaved.

13. Now when they ſaw the boldneſs of Peter and John, and perceived that they e were [e] unlearned and ignorant Men, (and therefore could not be thus bold on the account of their own Wiſdom or Skill in the Jewiſh Learning,) they marvelled, and they took knowledge of them, (Gr. ἐπεγίνωσκον ὅ, but they knew) that they had been with (that) Jeſus, (in whoſe Name they pretended to work this Cure.)

14. And beholding the Man that was healed ſtanding with them, they could ſay nothing againſt it, (i. e. their Allegation.)

15. But when they had commanded them to go aſide out of the Council, they confer'd among themſelves,

16. Saying, What ſhall we do to (reſtrain) theſe Men? For that indeed a notable Miracle hath been done by them, is manifeſt to all them that dwell in Jeruſalem, and we cannot deny it.

17. But that it (their Doctrine may) ſpread no farther among the People, let us ſtraightly threaten them, that they ſpeak henceforth to no Man in this Name.

18. And (ſo) they called them, and commanded them (under pain of their Diſpleaſure,) not to ſpeak at all (henceforth,) nor teach in the Name of Jeſus.

19. But Peter and John anſwered, and f ſaid to them, [f] whether it be be right in the ſight of God to hearken to you (forbidding,) more (i. e. rather) than to God, (commanding us to preach in the Name of Jeſus,) judge ye?

20. (As for us, be aſſured, we ſhall not obey your Commandments;) for we cannot but ſpeak the things which we have ſeen and heard.

21. So when they had farther threatned them, they let them go, finding nothing (done by them againſt the Law,) how (for which) they might puniſh them, (and not daring to do it againſt Law,) becauſe of the People; for all Men glorified God for that which was done.

22. For the Man was about forty Years old on whom this Miracle of Healing was ſhewed; (and ſo the Cure was the more remarkable.)

23. And being (thus) let go, they went to their own Company, and reported (to them) all that the chief Prieſts and Elders had ſaid to them.

24. And when they had heard that, they lift up their Voice to God with one accord, and ſaid, Lord, thou art God which haſt made Heaven and Earth, and the Sea, and all that in them is:

25. [g] Who by the Mouth of thy Servant g David, haſt ſaid, (Pſal. 2. 1.) Why did the Heathen rage, and the People imagine a vain thing?

29. And (therefore) now Lord, behold their Threatnings, and grant to thy Servants (ſuch courage,) that with all boldneſs they may (ſtill) ſpeak thy Word.

30. (And aſſiſt them in ſo doing;) By ſtretching forth thy Hand to heal, and (by granting,) that Signs and Wonders may be done by (us in) the Name of the Holy Child Jeſus.

31. And when they had prayed, the place was ſhaken where they were aſſembled together, (as on the Day of Pentecoſt, Acts 2. 2.) and [i] they were all filled with the Holy i Ghoſt, and they ſpake the Word of God with boldneſs.

32. And the Multitude of them that believed, were of one Heart and of one Soul (united in love and affection;) neither ſaid any of them that ought of the things which he poſſeſſed, was (ſo) his own, (as not to be imparted to others who had need of it,) but they had [k] all things common. i

33. And with great Power gave the Apoſtles witneſs of the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus; and great Grace (of God) was upon them all

a Ver. 1. OF this Captain of the Temple,] ſee the Note on Luke 22. 52. Before our Saviour's Paſſion, the chief Agents againſt him were the Scribes and Phariſees; but now that the Apoſtles do not only aſſert the Reſurrection of our Lord, but alſo preach through Jeſus the Reſurrection of the Dead, ver. 2. the Sadducees who denied the Reſurrection of the Body, become their fierceſt Adverſaries. See the Note on Acts 23. 6.

b Ver. 4. And the Number of the Men was about five thouſand.] Not the number of the Auditors, for they are never reckoned up in Scripture, but the number of them that believed, hearing Peter and John preach, and ſeeing the Miracle done by them; for ſo the words run, many of them that heard the Word believed, and the number of them (that believed) was about five thouſand. Note alſo that the three thouſand mentioned, Chap. 2. 41. belong not to this number, but they were all new Converts, converted by the Word which Peter and John had preached, for of them only is the Diſcourſe from Chap. 3. 1. to this place.

c Ver. 11. This is the Stone which the Builders refuſed.] Tho' the Chaldee Paraphraſt interprets this Clauſe of the Pſalmiſt, Pſal. 118. 22. of David; and Aben Ezra of the Congregation of Iſrael; yet R. Solomon Jarchi on Micah 5. interprets theſe words of the Meſſiah, as our Saviour doth, Matth. 21. 42. the Jews not contradicting him, or ſaying they belonged not to him.

d Ver. 12. Καὶ οὐκ ἔστιν ἐν ἄλλῳ οὐδενὶ σωτηρία, Nor is there Salvation in any other.] This ſome interpret thus, There is no other Name under Heaven by which Health can be given to the Diſeaſed, or Feet to the Lame, &c. and this Interpretation will not be ſo ſtrange as at firſt ſight it ſeems to be, if we conſider,

1*ſt*, That it is very frequent in the Goſpels to ſay of them who were cured, they were ſaved. So the Woman ſaith, Matth. 9. 21. If I do but touch the Hem of his Garment, σωθήσομαι, I ſhall be ſaved; and Chriſt anſwers, ver. 22. thy Faith σέσωκέ σε, hath ſaved thee, καὶ ἐσώθη, and the Woman was ſaved from that hour. So the Ruler of the Synagogue prays Chriſt to put his Hand upon his Daughter, ὅπως σωθῇ, that ſhe might be ſaved, Mark 5. 23. and Chap. 6. 56. as many as touched the Hem of his Garment, ἐσώζοντο, were ſaved. So to blind Bartimæus Chriſt ſaith, thy Faith σέσωκέ σε, hath ſaved thee, Mark 10. 52. and ſo to the Samaritan Leper, Luke 17. 19.

2*dly*, That this Opinion had obtained among the Jews, and other Nations, that there were ſome powerful Names that could cure Diſeaſes; this ſeems to be inſinuated in the Queſtion of the Sanhedrim, ver. 7. ἐν ποίῳ ὀνόματι, in what Name have you done this Cure? (a) Joſephus ſpeaks of the doing this by mention of the Name of Solomon; the (b) Talmud of doing it by mention of the ſeparate Name; the Chriſtians by the Name of the God of Abraham, &c. See Note on Matth. 12. 27.

3*dly*, If we conſider St. Peter's Anſwer, viz. if the Queſtion be ἐν τινὶ οὗτος σέσωται, by what Name this Man is ſaved, i. e. healed, be it known to you that he is healed through the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, nor is there any other Name by which we can be ſaved. And from this ſenſe of the words it clearly follows that no true Miracles have been ever done ſince Chriſt's Aſcenſion, by Invocation of the Names of Saints; and (2.) That the Diſputes of the Schools from this place concerning the Salvation of the Gentiles, have been impertinent; if the common ſenſe be rather liked, yet muſt it be acknowledged that God is no Reſpecter of Perſons, as to their ſpiritual, and eternal Intereſts, but in every Nation he that feareth God, and worketh Righteouſneſs, is accepted of him, Acts 10. 34, 35. See the Note there. And that God would have all Men diligently to ſeek, and to come to him with a firm Belief that he is a Rewarder of them that do ſo, Heb. 11. 6. and that he hath not ſuſpended that Reward on an impoſſible Condition, tho' he will only give it with reſpect to what our Lord Jeſus hath done, or ſuffered for them; That he hath not left himſelf without a Witneſs of his Goodneſs to the Heathen World, not only by doing good to their Bodies without regard to their Souls, or by being good only to them as we are to our Hogs, by fatning ning them for a day of Slaughter. It being, ſaith (c) Maximus Tyrius, a Thought unworthy of God, that he ſhould be liberal in beſtowing mean things on us, but penurious as to better.

e Ver. 13. They were ἀγράμματοι καὶ ἰδιῶται, unlearned and ignorant (or private) Men.] This for three Centuries was the Objection againſt the Profeſſors of Chriſtianity; theſe were the Names given them by (d) Lucian, (e) Celſus, (f) Aſclepiades, (g) Cecilius, (h) Porphyry, (i) Hierocles, Julian, and by all the Heathens; as Juſtin, (k) Tatian, Minucius, (l) Tertullian; (m) Arnobius, and (n) Lactantius teſtifie: And tho' that is not wholly true, yet is it a great Confirmation of the Chriſtian Faith, and ſhews, as (o) Juſtin Martyr well obſerves, that it was not of human, but divine Original, and that being with Jeſus was ſufficient to make the ignorant, and unlearned, wiſe.

f Ver. 19. Whether it be righteous before God to hearken to you, rather than to God, judge ye.] So Socrates anſwered to his Accuſers, πείσομαι τῷ Θεῷ μᾶλλον ἢ ὑμῖν, Apol. p. 23. O ye Athenians, I will obey God rather than you: And ſo ſaith Arian, when thy Superiors command thee any thing, thou muſt remember there is one above, who ſees thee, καὶ ὅτι ἐκείνῳ σὲ δεῖ μᾶλλον ἀρέσκειν ἢ τούτῳ, and that thou oughteſt rather to pleaſe him, than Man.

g Ver. 25. Who by the Mouth of thy Servant David haſt ſaid, why did the Heathen rage, &c.] Here note,

1*ſt*, Againſt ſome late Innovators, that what was ſaid by David, is aſcribed to God himſelf, to ſhew that David ſpake and compoſed theſe Pſalms by the Prophetical Afflatus of the holy Spirit.

2*dly*, That tho' the latter Jews will not admit that this Pſalm belongs to the Meſſiah, yet R. Solomo Jarchi confeſſes that all their ancient Rabbins did ſo interpret it. See the Note on Heb. 1. 5.

h Ver. 28. To do whatſoever thy Hand, and thy Counſel determined before to be done.] Here note what is not uſually obſerved, that the Hand of God moſt frequently in the Old Teſtament relates not ſo much to his Power, as to his Wiſdom and providential Diſpenſations. So Job 27. 11. I will teach you by the Hand of God, i. e. by his Wiſdom in his providential Diſpenſations; Eccleſ. 2. 24. that a Man ſhould enjoy the good of his Labours, this is from the Hand of God, ſo the good Hand of God is his Favour, or his gracious Providence, Ezra. 7. 9. — 8. 18, 22. Neh. 2. 8, 18. and being here joined with God's Counſel, and applied to what was done by Pontius Pilate, and the Roman Soldiers, and by the Jews towards the Crucifixion of the Holy Jeſus, to which Actions ſo highly diſpleaſing to God, his Power could not actually concur, or effectively incline them, we have great reaſon here to prefer this import of this Phraſe before the other; and then the import of the words will be no more than this, That Jews and Gentiles were aſſembled to accompliſh thoſe Sufferings of our Saviour for Mankind, which God had foretold, and by foretelling had determined ſhould come to paſs; according to thoſe words of St. Paul, Acts 13. 27. They who dwelt at Jeruſalem, and their Princes, not knowing the Voices of the Prophets, have fulfilled them by condemning him, doing all things which were written of him, ver. 29. As therefore St. Peter and Paul, by calling the Jews to Repentance for this Sin in crucifying the Lord of Life, do evidence their Sin was not the leſs, becauſe they did by it fulfil the Counſel of God's holy Will, and kind Intentions to Mankind, ſo do they conſequently evidence that God's Fore-knowledge, and determination of a thing future, do's not impair the Liberty of Men's Wills in the accompliſhment of it; as all the ancient Fathers have declared in this Particular. See the Note on Luke 22. 22.

Ver. 31. And they were all filled with the Holy Ghoſt.] Not all the Chriſtians, who being now eight thouſand, could not be all in one Houſe, but the hundred and twenty mentioned Chap. 1. 15. and being in the ſame Houſe with the Apoſtles; this is their own Company to which they went, ver. 24. and there- i

CHAP. V.

1. BUT a certain Man named Ananias, with Sapphira his Wife, ſold a Poſſeſſion;

a 2. And (but he) [a] kept back part of (Gr. be defaulked from) the price (of it,) his Wife alſo being privy (and conſenting) to it, and brought (Gr. bringing) a certain part (of it only,) and laid it at the Apoſtle's Feet, (pretending to do as the reſt had done, Chap. 4. 35, 37.)

3. But Peter ſaid (to him,) Ananias, why hath Satan filled thy Heart to lie unto the Holy Ghoſt, and (moved thee) to keep back part of (or to defaulk from) the (full) price of the Land (which thou haſt ſold?)

4. Whilſt it remained (unſold) was it not thine own (Poſſeſſion, no ſhare of it belonging to any other?) and after it was ſold, was it not in thy own power (to diſpoſe of the Money as thou would'ſt, and bring the whole as others did,) why (then) haſt thou conceived this thing in thine Heart, (to defaulk from the price, and preſent to us a part only of it, as if it were the whole? by doing

b this) [b] thou haſt not lied unto Men (only,) but to God (alſo.)

5. And Ananias hearing theſe words, fell down, and gave up the Ghoſt, and great fear came upon all them that (ſaw, and) heard theſe things.

6. And the young Men (there) aroſe, wound him up, and carried him out, and buried him.

7. And it was about the ſpace of three Hours after, when his Wife, not knowing what was done, came in.

8. And Peter anſwered (i. e. ſaid) to her, tell me whether you ſold the Land for ſo much (only as Ananias ſaid,) and ſhe ſaid, Yea, (only) for ſo much;

9. Then Peter ſaid to her, How is it that ye have agreed together to tempt the Spirit of the Lord? (i. e. to try whether the Spirit of the Lord in us was able to detect your Cheat;) behold the Feet of them which have buried thy Husband, are at the door, and ſhall carry thee out.

10. Then fell ſhe down ſtraightway at his Feet, and yielded up the Ghoſt, and the young Men came in, and found her dead, and carrying her forth, buried her by her Husband.

11. And great fear came upon all the Church, and upon as many as heard theſe things.

12. And by the Hands of the Apoſtles were many Signs and Wonders wrought among the People; [and they (of the Church) were all with one accord in Solomon's Porch;

13. [c] And of the reſt (that were not yet of c the Church,) durſt no Man join himſelf to them, (i. e. to the Apoſtles,) but the People magnified them.

14. And Believers were the more added to the Lord, (even) Multitudes both of Men and Women,] (who own'd that Jeſus was the Chriſt.)

15. (And ſo great and manifold were theſe Miracles, ὥστε) inſomuch that they (who beheld them) [d] brought forth their Sick into the d Streets, and laid them on Beds and Couches, that at the leaſt the Shadow of Peter paſſing by might overſhadow ſome of them.

16. There came alſo a Multitude out of the Cities round about to Jeruſalem, bringing ſick Folks, and them that were vexed with unclean Spirits, and they were healed every one.

17. Then the High-Prieſt roſe up, and they that were with him, which is (being) the [e] Sect of the Sadducees, and (they) were fil- e led with Indignation;

18. And laid their hands upon the Apoſtles, and put them in the common Priſon.

19. But the Angel of the Lord by Night opened the Priſon-Doors, and brought them forth, and ſaid (to them,)

20. Go, ſtand and ſpeak in the Temple to the People all the words [f] of this Life, (which the Sadducees deny, and I have commanded you to preach, Acts 13. 26.)

21. And when they heard that, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught; but the High-Prieſt came, and they that were with him, and called the Council together, and all the Senate of the Children of Iſrael, and ſent to the Priſon to have them brought (out.)

22. But when the Officers came, and (Gr. but the Officers coming) found them not in Priſon, they returned, and (Gr. returning) told (the Council of it,)

23. Saying, The Priſon truly found we ſhut with all ſafety, and the Keepers ſtanding without before the Doors, but when we had opened (them,) we found no Man within.

24. Now when the High-Prieſt, and [g] the Captain of the Temple, and the Chief Prieſts heard theſe things, they [h] doubted of (i. e. concerning) them, whereunto this would grow, (or what the import of it might be.)

25. Then came one, and told them, ſaying, Behold, the Men whom ye put in Priſon are ſtanding in the Temple, and teaching the People.)

26. Then went the Captain (thither) with the Officers, and brought them without Violence, for they feared the People, leſt they ſhould have been ſtoned (by them:)

27. And when they had brought them, they ſet them before the Council, and the High-Prieſt asked them,

28. Saying, Did not we ſtraightly command you that you ſhould not teach in this Name, and (yet) behold ye have filled Jeruſalem with your Doctrine, and intend to (Gr. would) bring (the guilt of) this Man's Blood upon us?

29. Then Peter, and the other Apoſtles anſwered, (to the Charge of diſobeying their Commands,) and ſaid, we ought to obey God rather than Men.

30. (And as for the guilt of Blood, that it is juſtly charged upon you God himſelf hath teſtified, for,) the God of our Fathers (hath) raiſed up (that) Jeſus whom ye ſlew, and hanged on a Tree, (by being inſtant with Pilate that he might be crucified;)

31. [i] Him (whom ye thus treated) hath God exalted with (to) his right Hand, to be a Prince, and a Saviour, to give Repentance to Iſrael, and Forgiveneſs of Sins:

32. And (this we ſay not without proof, for) we are his Witneſſes of theſe things, and ſo is alſo the Holy Ghoſt, whom God hath given to them that obey him.

33. (And) When they heard (theſe words) they were cut to the Heart, and took Counſel to ſlay them;

34. Then ſtood there up one in the Council (who was) [k] a Phariſee, named Gamaliel, a Doctor of the Law, had in great Reputation among all the People, and (he) commanded (the Officers) to put the Apoſtles forth a little ſpace, (or while.)

35. And (then he) ſaid to them (of the Council,) Ye Men of Iſrael, take heed to your ſelves what ye intend (Gr. go about) to do, as touching theſe Men.

36. For [l] before theſe days roſe up Theudas, boaſting himſelf to be ſome body, to whom a number of Men, about four hundred, joined themſelves; who was ſlain, and all, as many as obeyed him, were ſcattered, and brought to nought;

37. After this Man roſe up Judas of Galilee, in the days of the taxing (or inrolling,) and drew away much People after him, (but) he alſo periſhed, and all, even as many as obeyed him, were diſperſed.

38. And now (κ) τὰ νῦν λέγω ὑμῖν, therefore) I ſay to you, (for the preſent) refrain from theſe Men, and let them alone; for if this Counſel, or this Work be of Men, it will come to nought;

39. But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it, (nor ought you to attempt to do ſo,) leſt haply ye be found even to fight againſt God.

40. And to him they agreed; and when they had called the Apoſtles, and beaten them (with Rods,) they commanded (them) that they ſhould not ſpeak in the Name of Jeſus (any more,) and (then) let them go.

41. And they departed from the Preſence of the Council, rejoicing that they were counted worthy [m] to ſuffer ſhame for his Name.

42. And daily in the Temple, and in every Houſe they ceaſed not to teach and preach (the Doctrine of) Jeſus Chriſt.

Annotations on Chap. V.

Ver. 2. Καὶ ἐνοσφίσατο ἀπὸ τῆς τιμῆς, And he kept back part of the Price.] It is generally here ſuppoſed that Ananias and Sapphira had conſecrated their Eſtate to God by Vow, ſo that they were guilty of the Sin of Sacrilege; but this may very well be doubted; (1.) Becauſe in all the Sales of Lands or Houſes, mentioned Chap. 2. and 4. and here, there is not the leaſt Hint, or intimation of any ſuch Vow; that there was ſome Fraud in the caſe, may be fairly gathered from the word νοσφίζεσθαι, but that it was a sacrilegious Fraud, cannot be proved from the word. (2.) St. Peter accuses neither him, nor his Wife of any such Crime, but only of tempting, i. e. distrusting, and making trial of the Wisdom of the Holy Ghost, and going about to deceive him by this Artifice: And, (3.) The Apostle seems to own he had a right in his Possession, aed in the Money for which it was sold, ver. 3. which yet he could not have, if he before had consecrated it to Religious Uses. But yet they were guilty of a double Fraud; (1.) In laying down this part of the Price at the Apostles Feet, as the others had done, and thereby tacitly implying they had now the same right to be relieved from the publick Stock which others had, as having nothing of their own, when indeed they had Money which they kept back. (2.) In presenting this before them as the whole Price of the Possession they had sold, when it was only a part of it, which it appears they did from St. Peter's Question to his Wife, tell me for how much the Land was sold? That the Punishment of this Sin was so heavy, will not be admired, if we consider, (1.) That it was a direct Sin against the Holy Ghost, who was sent down from Heaven to propagate the Gospel, an attempt to put a Cheat upon him, and a questioning his Wisdom to discern things secret, and therefore deserved the greater Punishment because it did so plainly tend to the hindrance of the Gospel, by declaring that the Spirit, which assisted the Apostles, was not able to discern things secret, and so might not be able to acquaint them with the secret things of God. (2.) We find God under the Law very severe in his Punishment of those who first offended in offering strange Fire, as in the case of Nadab and Abihu; and violated the Sabbath, as in the case of the Man that gathered Sticks upon that Day, and especially against those who rose up against Moses the Prophet, and Aaron the Priest of the Lord, as in the case of Corah and his Company; 'twas therefore fit the first great Offence of this kind should receive exemplary Punishment from the Hand of God, that others might the more dread those Sins which thus affronted that Holy Spirit, by whose Power the Gospel began to be propagated.

b Ver. 4. Οὐκ ἐψεύσω ἀνθρώποις ἀλλὰ τῷ Θεῷ, Thou hast not lied to Men, but unto God.] Hence it is argued, that if he that deceiveth, or lieth to the Spirit, attempteth to deceive, or lie to God, the Holy Spirit must be God.

To this Woltzogenius here, and other Socinians answer, that the like Phrase is often used when this Inference cannot be good; for the Jews murmuring against Moses and Aaron, are said to murmur not against them, but against God, Exod. 16. 8. And he that despiseth the Preaching of the Apostles, is said to despise not Man, but God, who had given them the Holy Spirit, 1 Thess. 4. 8. not them, but Christ, Matth. 10. 40. Luke 10. 16. but hence it will not follow, that either Moses or Aaron, or the Apostles were God.

But to this Answer, I reply, 1*st*, That these Examples rather do confirm, than infringe this Argument, for as they who murmured against Moses and Aaron, murmured against God, because they did it against them who were invested with the Authority of God, and acted in his Name, and by his Power; and as they who despised the Apostles, despised God for the same reason; so they who lied to the Apostles acting by the Spirit of God, or sought to deceive them by lying, are said to lie to God, because they lied to the Apostles acting by the Power and Authority of God; and therefore the Power and Authority of the Spirit, must be the Power and Authority of God.

2*dly*, Moses, and Aaron, and the Apostles sent out by Christ to preach, did only act in the Name of God and Christ, because they did this by Commission from them, and by their Command, but Ananias is here said to lie to God, because he lied to the Spirit in the Apostles, enabling them to discern the Secrets of Mens Hearts, and Actions, which being the Property of God alone, he that doth lie to him, must therefore lie to God, because he lies to one who hath the incommunicable Property of God, and consequently the Divine Essence.

Ver. 13. Τῶν δὲ λοιπῶν οὐδεὶς ἐτόλμα κολλᾶσθαι αὐτοῖς, But of the rest durst no Man cleave unto them.] That is, saith Dr. Lightfoot, none of the Hundred and Eight durst join to the Twelve, or equal themselves to them in Office or Dignity; but as there is no mention of that Number in this Chapter, so did they never before this join themselves to the Apostles; nor doth the word κολλᾶσθαι import any such thing, but only to converse, associate with, or come to them; as when Philip is bid κολλᾶσθαι, to join himself to the Chariot of the Eunuch, Chap. 8. 29. and when Paul assayed after his Conversion, κολλᾶσθαι, to join himself to the Disciples, Chap. 9. 16. and when Peter saith, Chap. 10. 28. you know that it is unlawful for a Few κολλᾶσθαι, to join himself to one of another Nation; and lastly, when it is said that some Men κολληθέντες αὐτῷ, joining themselves to St. Paul, believed, Chap. 17. 35. which seems to favour the Opinion of Grotius and Beza, viz. That great fear came on all the Church, ver. 11. but of the rest, which were not yet of the Church, durst no Man join themselves to, or associate with them as Members of the Church, for fear of the like Punishment. But notwithstanding this, the People magnified them, and Multitudes of them were added to the Lord, i. e. believed in Christ, though

d Ver. 15. They brought forth their Sick into the Streets, that at leaſt the Shadow of Peter paſſing by, might overſhadow ſome of them.] Here it is left uncertain whether it were the Faith of Believers, or the Superſtition of the Jews, which had ſuch Expectation from St. Peter's Shadow, whether St. Peter paſſed by that way, or not, or whether his Shadow wrought any Cures, or not. But if God intending to magnifie Peter, the Miniſter of the Circumciſion, in the Eyes of the Circumciſed, healed ſome Perſons when his Shadow went over them, he did more certainly as much to magnifie St. Paul, the Apoſtle of the Gentiles; for from his Body were brought Handkerchiefs, or Aprons to the Sick, and the Diſeaſes departed from them, and the evil Spirits went out of them, Chap. 19. 12. but hence it is ridiculous to argue, that the one, or the other, was Prince of the Apoſtles, or that the Reliques of holy Men are to be venerated.

e Ver. 17. Ἡ οὖσα αἵρεσις τ Σαδδυκαίων, Being the Sect of the Sadducees.] Not that the Sanhedrim then conſiſted chiefly of that Sect, but becauſe the Doctrine of the Reſurrection deſtroyed their Sect, and therefore they are ſtill the readieſt to oppoſe it, Chap. 4. 2. the Phariſees being only concerned to avoid the guilt of Chriſt's Blood.

f Ver. 20. Go ſpeak to the People all the Words of this Life, πάντα τὰ ῥήματα τ ζωῆς ταύτης;] i. e. Of this Life which I have commiſſionated you to preach, and which the Sadducees deny. So Chap. 13. 26. Ye Children of Abraham, and ye that fear God, ὑμῖν ὁ λόγ τ σωτηρίας ταύτης ἀπεστάλη, to you is the Word of this Salvation ſent.

g Ver. 24. Ὁ στρατηγὸς τ ἱερ, The Captain of the Temple;] i. e. The Captain of the Gariſon of the Levites. See the Note on Luke 22. 52.

h Ibid. They doubted of them what this thing ſhould be, τί ἂν γένοιτο τοῦτο·] i. e. What this miraculous Deliverance of them might import, and to what this would tend. So Chap. 10. 17. Peter doubted in himſelf, τί ἂν εἴη τὸ ὅραμα, what the Viſion might import.

i Ver. 31. Him hath God exalted to be a Prince, and a Saviour, to give Repentance to Iſrael, and Remiſſion of Sins,] upon that Repentance, to be a Prince, and a Saviour, even the Prince of Life, Chap. 3. 15. and of Salvation, Heb. 2. 10. on which account he is ſtiled, τὸ σωτήριον τ Θεῦ, the Salvation of God; See Note on Luke 2. 30, and he is ſaid to be exalted to give Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins, by giving the Knowledge of that Remiſſion of Sins which is promiſed to the Penitent, and of thoſe Motives which ſhould induce them to repent. So the Baptiſt is ſaid to go before him, to give the Knowledge of Salvation to his People, through the Remiſſion of Sins, and ſo God gave unto the Gentiles repentance unto Life, when he ſent Peter to them to preach that Word by which they repenting ſhould be ſaved, Acts 11. 14, 18.

k Ver. 34. A Pharisee named Gamaliel, a Doctor of the Law, had in great Reputation among the People.] He was Paul's Tutor, Acts 22. 3. and was called Rabban Gamaliel, a Title of the higheſt Eminency, and given, ſay the Jews, only to ſeven Perſons; which ſhews ſufficiently the Reputation that he had among the People. See Additions N° 4. (4)

l Ver. 36, 37. Πρὸ γὰρ τούτων τ ἡμερῶν ἀνέστη Θευδᾶς, For before thoſe Days roſe up Theudas; 37. μετὰ τοῦτον, after him roſe up Judas of Galilee.] Here Gamaliel affirms two things, (1.) That before thoſe Days, in which that Council was aſſembled, that is, before the Twentieth of Tiberius, aroſe Theudas mentioned by him; whereas the Theudas mentioned by Joſephus, Antiq. l. 20. c. 5. aroſe and periſhed by the Hands of Caſpius Fadus, in the fourth Year of Claudius, that is, ten Years after the meeting of this Council. (2.) He affirms that Judas of Galilee roſe up after him, and yet that he aroſe in the Days of the Taxing, which was under the Emperor Auguſtus, at the Birth of Chriſt, and ſo thirty four Years before this Council, and ſo this Theudas that aroſe before him, muſt have been at leaſt thirty five Years before this Council.

Some Criticks endeavour to ſalve theſe Difficulties by torturing the words of the Text, and making Gamaliel ſay, that Judas of Galilee aroſe μετὰ τοῦτον, not after, but before Theudas, contrary to the Rule of Phavorinus, that μετὰ with an Accuſative Caſe δηλοῖ ὑστεροχρόνιον, ſignifies poſteriority of time. Dr. Lightfoot here ſeems inconſtant in his Opinion, for in his firſt Notes upon the Acts, he ſaith, that Gamaliel's Theudas, and Joſephus's are not one and the ſame; but as it happened with Judas, that tho' he himſelf periſhed in his Error, and as many as obeyed him were ſcattered abroad, as Gamaliel relateth, yet was not his Error extinguiſhed with him, but revived, and grew again. So that at leaſt forty Year after his firſt appearing, his two Sons, James and Simon, are crucified for it by Tiberius Alexander, the Succeſſor of Fadus, Joſ. Antiq. l. 20. cap. 3. And many Years after that, Eleazer, a Branch of the ſame Judas, appeareth in the ſame Opinion, with a deſperate Company with him. De Bell Jud. l. 7. cap. 30. Even ſo may it be conceived of the Sect of Theudas, that it began before that of Judas, and that the firſt Author of it took upon him great things, as to be a Prophet, and to work Miracles, and the like, but he was ſoon ſlain, and all that obeyed him were ſcattered abroad, and came to nought; but his Folly and Fancy periſhed not with him, but (however at other times,) in the time of Fadus, one of the same Foolery and Name, and probably his Son, would be a Prophet again, and divide Jordan, and do I know not what, whom Fadus destroyed, and brought his Company to Ruin. So that Gamaliel's, and Josephus his Theudas are very probably two Men, but very likely Father and Son, or Tutor and Scholar, agreeing so exactly in the same Folly and Madness, that they agreed in the same Name: And that Name either given to the latter as Parents name their Children by their own Names, or assumed by him in imitation of the former Theudas, whom he delighted to imitate in his Enthusiastick Folly, so delighted he to follow him in Denomination; and I am the rather confirmed in this Opinion about these two Men, because that assoon as ever Josephus hath told the Story of the Destruction of Theudas by Fadus, he telleth of the Destruction of the Sons of Judas by Tiberius Alexander, and I cannot but interpret both the Stories in one sense, that as in the latter he speaks of the Offspring of Judas, whose Sect had begun many Years before, so in the former he speaketh of the Offspring of Theudas, whose Sect had begun before that of Judas: Yet in his latter Exercitations on this place he says, this is but an Imagination, and inclines rather to think, that Josephus slipt in his Chronology, to whom, saith he, both in History and Chronology it is no unusual thing to trip, or go out of the Road of Truth.

I prefer his first Opinion, as being generally embraced by the Ancients; for, (1.) (a) Origen, who had read Josephus, and declares, that he examined things relating to the Scripture, φιλαληθῶς, out of a Love to Truth, speaks thus, We say that there was one Theudas before the Birth of Christ, who, among the Jews, declared himself to be some body. And again, that Judas Galilæus, and Theudas that was before him, being not of God, perished. And a third time, because they gathered from the Scriptures, that the time of the Messiah was come, first Theudas, and after him Judas of Galilee, tumultuated in the time of the Taxing. Hence do the Fathers unanimously say, that those words of Christ, John 10. 8. all that came before me were Thieves and Robbers, (b) relate to these two, Theudas, and Judas of Galilee, which shews their Belief, that both of them were before the time of Christ's Preaching. So that it is extremely evident that the Ancient Fathers agreed in this, that there was a Theudas pretending to great things, even before the coming of our Lord, tho' Josephus hath taken no notice of him.

Ver. 41. Ἀτιμασθῆναι, to be reproached.] m Or dishonoured by being scourged; for as among the Romans, a Citizen of Rome was not to be scourged, so among the Jews, saith (c) Josephus, it was τιμωρία αἰσχίστη, the most shameful Punishment, when inflicted on a Jew, and that which did ἠδίκει τὸ ἀξίωμα, stain his Dignity.

CHAP. VI.

1. AND in those days, when the number of the Disciples was multiplied, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians, (Gr. of the [a] Hellenists or Jews of the Dispersion, who spake the Greek Language,) against the Hebrews, (who used the Hebrew or Syriac Tongue,) because their Widows were neglected in the daily Ministration (of Provisions, made for poor Widows belonging to the Church, 1 Tim. 5. 16.)

Annotations on Chap. VI.

a Ver. 1. ΤΩΝ Ἑλλωιςῶν, Of the Grecians.] It is much diſputed who theſe Helleniſts were; 'tis beyond doubt that they were not Greeks by Nation or Birth, whether unconverted, or Proſelytes to the Jewiſh Nation; for theſe are never called Helleniſts, but always in the Scripture Ἕλλωες, Hellens, and by Joſephus, Ἑλλωικοὶ, and are diſtinguiſhed not from the Hebrews, but the Jews; as when mention is made, Ἰουδαίων τε κ᾽ Ἑλλώων, of the Jews and Greeks, Acts 16. 1, 3, 19. — 10. 17. — 20. 21. Rom. 1. 16. — 2. 9, 10. — 3. 9. — 10. 12. 1 Cor. 2. 22, 23. — 10, 32. — 12. 13. Gal. 3. 28. Coloſſ. 3. 11. See John 12. 20. and of thoſe Greeks who came to the Jewiſh Synagogues, and therefore ſeem to have been Proſelytes, Acts 14. 1. — 18. 4. And a diſtinction is made, not between Hebrews, but Jews and Proſelytes, Acts 2. 10. Moreover, they who were ſcattered upon the Perſecution which followed the Death of Stephen, Acts 8. 1. ſpake the Word only to the Jews, Acts 11. 19. and yet they ſpake πρὸς τὲς Ἑλλωιςὰς, to the Helleniſts, ver. 20. And, 3*dly*, Paul coming to Jeruſalem, diſputed πρὸς τὲς Ἑλλωιςάς, againſt the Helleniſts, and they went about to kill him, Acts 9. 29. as the Jews at Damaſcus had done before, ver. 23. which ſhews they muſt be Jews by Birth, and not only Strangers of other Nations come thither; for how durſt they attempt to kill a Jew among the Jews without bringing him to their Tribunal?

2*dly*, I think it not ſufficient to ſay, with the Syriac, or St. Chryſoſtom, that they were Jews, Ἑλλωιςὶ φθεγγομμοι, uſing the Greek Tongue; for this they of Judea, eſpecially the Learned among them, generally did; for we never find in Joſephus, that they ſpake to the Romans, or others who uſed that Tongue, by an Interpreter. Dr. Lightfoot therefore adds, that they were Jews, who living among the Greeks, underſtood and uſed that Tongue only, and then they muſt be called Hebrews, who uſed the Hebrew or Syriac Tongue as their uſual Dialect: But then, whereas Dr. Lightfoot will not allow, that in their Synagogues they uſed the Greek Tongue, or read the Scriptures according to the Greek Tranſlation, I incline rather to the Opinion of the Learned Grotius, that they uſed this Tongue alſo in their ſacred Exerciſes; for why ſhould they, whoſe Synagogues conſiſted of Perſons, underſtanding neither Hebrew nor Syriac, have both, or either of thoſe Languages, read to them in their Aſſemblies? Moreover, That in their Exhortations made in their Synagogues, conſiſting both of Jews and Proſelytes of the Grecians, they uſed the Greek Language, ſeems evident from this, That Paul and Barnabas ſo ſpake in them, that a Multitude of the Greeks as well as of the Jews believed, Acts 13. 43. — 14. 1. — 17. 4, 12. — 18. 4.

b Ver. 2. And the Twelve calling the Multitude of the Diſciples, Gr. τὸ πλῆθος τ μαθητ῀ν.] Here Dr. Lightfoot conjectures, that the Multitude of the Diſciples doth not import the Multitude of Believers, they being many thouſands, Acts 3. 41. — 4. 4. — 5. 14. but only the 108 Presbyters, mentioned Acts 1. 15. But (1.) It is evident, that the whole Multitude of Believers are called Disciples, both here, ver. 7. and throughout this whole History of the Acts. And (2.) We are told, that this Multitude were together; Acts 2. 44. — 4. 23. — 32. And, (3.) It is here noted, that the Saying of the Apostles was acceptable, ἐνώπιον παντὸς τοῦ πλήθους, before the whole Multitude.

c Ver. 3. Full of the Holy Ghost and Wisdom;] i. e. of the miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghost, and of the Gift of Wisdom, mentioned 1 Cor. 12. 8. So when they had prayed, that God would stretch forth his Hands to heal, and that Signs and Wonders might be done by the Name of Jesus, Acts 4. 30. it is added, ver. 31. that they were filled with the Holy Ghost; and of Barnabas it is said, that he was full of the Holy Ghost and of Faith, another of these Gifts, 1 Cor. 12. 9. and so by his means, a great Multitude was added to the Lord, Acts 11. 24. and here, ver. 8. that Stephen, being full of the Holy Ghost and of Power, did great Signs and Miracles among the People: And these Gifts of the Holy Ghost being given to them, not for their own use, but to profit the Church with them, 1 Cor. 12. 7. and so being not only Qualifications of them for, but as it were præelections of them to some sacred Functions, Acts 20. 28. Out of those who were thus endowed, they generally chose Church Officers, and the very Deacons and Helps had these Gifts, Rom. 12. 7, 8. See Note on 1 Cor. 12. 28. And hence the Apostles here say, Look ye out Men full of the Holy Ghost and Wisdom.

d Ver. 3, 6. Whom we may appoint over this business; — and they laid their Hands upon them.] Here two things are disputed:

1*st*, Whether these seven were chosen, and ordained to a civil Office only, viz. that of ministring only to the necessities of Widows, and other indigent Disciples; or also to the sacred Office of a Deacon, and so impowered to preach the Word, and baptize. Certain it is, that of these seven, St. Stephen did preach the Word, and that Philip did baptize, Acts 8. 12, 38. But then it is said, they did so, not as Men chosen and ordained to this Office, but as being of the number of the seventy Disciples, ἐξ ὧν ἦσαν οἱ ἑπτὰ, of whom these seven were, saith (a) Epiphanius. And indeed, the Ancients seem to have been divided about this Matter; the Council of (b) Neocæsarea saying expresly that there ought to be but seven Deacons in the great Cities, as we learn ἀπὸ τῆς βίβλου τῶν πράξεων, from the Acts of the Apostles; and the (c) Apostles in their Constitutions, that they after our Lord's Ascension, had chosen διάκονους ἑπτὰ τὸν ἀριθμὸν, seven Deacons; of which number, Stephen was one: And the Synod in Trullo, on the other hand, saying, That the Apostles spake not there περὶ τῶν τοῖς μυστηρίοις διακονουμένων, of those who served at the Altar, but of those that served τῇ χρείᾳ τῶν τραπεζῶν, to the business of Tables; but this is as true of the Deacons mentioned by St. Paul, 1 Tim. 3. that there is not a word said of their ministring at the Altar: And it seems very unlikely, that the Apostles would have made this one requisite of the Persons to be chosen, that they should be full of the extraordinary Gifts of the Holy Ghost, and of Wisdom, if their Office had confined them to the Ministry of the Widows at Jerusalem; or that they, who were Evangelists before, as Philip is expresly stiled, should wholly lay aside the preaching of the Word, and attend only on a civil Office. See Acts 21. 8. Moreover, it is certain that Deacons were instituted before St. Paul writ his first Epistle to Timothy; for we have mention of them in the Epistle to the Philippians, writ three Years before that to Timothy; and they are mentioned in the Advice to Timothy, not as an Office to be instituted, but as a standing Office then setled in the Church, as they must be if Bishops were then so, they being necessary Attendants on that higher Function, according to the words of (d) Epiphanius, Ἀνὰ μὲν διάκονος ἐπίσκοπον ἀδωάλωτον εἶναι, A Bishop cannot be without a Deacon. Now if they were not instituted here by the Apostles, I desire to know when, where, and by whom they were instituted, and what other Record we have left us of such an Institution of them.

Object. 1. Against this it is objected first, that these seven are never called Deacons in the whole History of the Acts of the Apostles, and that this Name is never given either to St. Stephen, or to Philip the Evangelist.

Answ. But this Objection can be of no strength against the Suffrage of all Antiquity, which hath still given them the Name of Deacons, seeing they have no other Name ascribed to them in the whole Acts of the Apostles, or the Sacred History, they are never called διάκονοι τραπεζῶν, Ministers of Tables in all the Acts, tho' here they are said to be appointed for that Work: And so saith (e) Jerom, of the Deacons of his Age, That they were mensarum & viduarum ministri, the Ministers not only of the Priests, but also of Widows and Tables. So he he ſtiles them in his Epiſtle to Evagrius, and bids them learn the reaſon of their Inſtitution from the Acts of the Apoſtles.

Object. 2. It is farther objected, that in St. Paul's Account of the Deacons of the Church, there is no mention of this Part of their Office to provide for Widows, and ſerve Tables, nor any Quality required of them which reſpects that Office.

I anſwer, That according to this Argument, ſhould all that hath been ſaid be granted, the Deacons could have no Authority to baptize, or adminiſter either the Bread or the Cup to the Laity, there being not one word of any ſuch Office belonging to them in St. Paul's Epiſtles to Timothy, nor of any Aſſiſtance they are to give the Biſhop.

2*dly*, I anſwer, That as the Deacons of St. Paul are to be grave, and hold the Faith in a good Conſcience, ſo are the Deacons here to be Men of honeſt Report and Wiſdom, v. 3. as they were to be approved, and then to execute the Office of a Deacon, 1 Tim. 3. 9. So was it here, ver. 5, 6. Now Men of double Tongues, and given to much Wine, could neither be Men of good Report, nor Men of Wiſdom, and much leſs could they be approved as ſuch; ſo that the Characters of the Deacons here, ſeem virtually to include all the Characters required of them there, and two more, eſpecially relating to ſacred Offices, viz. that they ſhould be Men full of the Holy Ghoſt, and Wiſdom; and that which St. Stephen doth here, and St. Philip did in preaching to the Samaritans, and then baptizing them, is the Foundation of the Authority given by Biſhops to Deacons, to preach the Word, and to baptize. Moreover, Their being Miniſters of Tables, made them alſo Miniſters at the Agapæ, where the Biſhop was to be acquainted with the Neceſſities of the Widows and the Poor, ſay the (f) Apoſtolical Conſtitutions, διὰ τῶν διακόνων, τουτέστι, διὰ τῶν διακόνων, by the Miniſters, that is, the Deacons; and ſo they became Attendants alſo on him, or on the Preſident, who conſecrated the Euchariſt, celebrated at the ſame time with theſe Feaſts of Charity; and ſo they diſtributed the Bread and Wine to the Communicants, and carried them, ſaith (g) J. Martyr, to thoſe that were abſent. Hence are they ſtiled by (h) Ignatius and (i) Polycarp, not only the Miniſters of Meats and Drinks, but the Servants of the Church of God, and ſaid to be Servants not of Men, but of God and Chriſt, as Servants are in that relation ſaid to ſerve the Lord Chriſt, and therefore are bid to do all things as to the Lord, and not unto Men, Coloſſ. 3. 23, 24. And (k) Clemens of Alexandria ſaith, That in the Church the Presbyters have τὴν βελτιωτικὴν εἰκόνα, τὴν διορθωτικὴν τῶν διακόνων, the repreſentation of thoſe who make Men better, and the Deacons of them that ſerve. And, becauſe they perform this Miniſtry under the inſpection of the Biſhop, and gave him an account of the Condition of the Widows and the Poor, and had from him, or his Presbyters, the Treaſury of the Church to diſtribute to others: Therefore is this ſo often mentioned in Church Hiſtory as part of the Epiſcopal Office, to have the care of all that are in need, as (l) Juſtin Mart. ſaith, The Presbyters and Deacons doing this only by his Authority.

In fine, To ſay that Philip and others of theſe Deacons might preach and baptize, but not as Deacons, but only as Evangeliſts, is not ſufficient in this caſe: For if they were all Evangeliſts, or, as Epiphanius ſaith, of the Seventy, and afterwards by the Apoſtles ordained Deacons, it is hence evident, that they muſt have with this Office, a power to preach and baptize, as doubtleſs the Evangeliſts and ſeventy Diſciples had; and hence we find, that Philip being one of thoſe ſeven, Acts 21. 8. did both theſe Offices by the direction and aſſiſtance of the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 8. 12, 29—40. If they were not, yet being Men full of the Holy Ghoſt, and of that Wiſdom which enabled them to teach others, we cannot reaſonably conceive they were diſabled by their Ordination to this Office, from doing that work, for which they were thus fitted, and as it were appointed by theſe Gifts of the Holy Spirit conferr'd upon them. In a word, it is evident from this Hiſtory, that before the Ordination of theſe Deacons, the Apoſtles themſelves were engaged in this Work; for the Treaſure of the Church was laid at the Apoſtles Feet, and diſtribution of it was made to every Man according as he had need, Chap. 4. 35. This diſtribution therefore muſt be made by them who had this Treaſure in their hands, and therefore they appoint theſe ſeven over this buſineſs to eaſe themſelves of this Trouble, that they might give themſelves more entirely to Prayer and to the Miniſtry of the Word, and might not by attending on this Work, be hindred in the execution of that higher Office: Now ſurely, that

e Ver. 6. The Apostles laid their hands on them.] Here seemeth to be nothing in this Relation which favours the Authority of the Laity, in chusing Persons to sacred Offices; for tho' the Choice of these seven was committed to them, yet was this done, (1.) By the particular appointment of the Apostles themselves; for the Twelve called the Multitude, and said to them, Look ye out seven Men, ver. 2, 3. (2.) They specifie the Number and the Qualifications of the Persons to be chosen to this Office. (3.) They reserve to themselves the Appointment of them to this Work, saying, Look ye out seven Men whom we may appoint over this Business: And, lastly, They only laid their Hands upon them. See Chrysost. in Locum.

f Ver. 9. Certain of the Synagogue of the Libertines, and Cyrenians, and Alexandrians, and them of Cilicia, and Asia, disputed with Stephen.] That the word Synagogue is to be repeated before all the places mentioned here, appears from this, That the Jews mention a Synagogue of the Alexandrians at Jerusalem, as Dr. Lightfoot here noteth. Moreover, There being Men of all these Nations living in Jerusalem, and speaking their Native Language, and who yet were Proselytes to the Jewish Religion, Chap. 2. 8 --- 11. it is reasonable to conceive, that they had also Synagogues for Prayer, and hearing of the Law, and pious Exhortations in a Tongue they understood. By the Synagogue of these Libertines, some understand the Jews that were Free-born, or had obtained the Roman Freedom, as St. Paul had; so Dr. Lightfoot. Others think, they were Roman Servants who had obtained their Freedom; οἱ Ῥωμαίων ἀπελεύθεροι ὅτω καλεῖται, saith Oecumenius here: The first Opinion seems to me most probable. For though (m) Tacitus in his Annals, saith, That quatuor millia Libertini generis Judaicâ superstitione infecta, four thousand Libertines infected with the Jewish Superstition, were banished into Sardinia; yet (n) Suetonius saith, That they were Judæorum juventus, the Young Men of the Jewish Nation that were sent thither; and that reliquos ejusdem Gentis, aut similia sectantes urbe submovit, he only expelled the other Jews and their Proselytes out of the City; (o) Josephus, that he commanded πᾶν τὸ Ἰουδαϊκὸν τῆς Ῥώμης ἀπεβαθῶσι, all the Jews to be expelled Rome, and that four thousand of them were sent to Sardinia by the Consuls: And (p) Philo saith, That he suffered a great part of the City beyond Tyber to be inhabited by the Jews, and that these Jews Ῥωμαῖοι ἦσι οἱ πλείους ἀπελευθερωθέντες, were most of them Romans set at Liberty; for being carried Captives into Italy, they obtained their Freedom from their Masters.

Ver. 10. And they were not able to resist the Wisdom with which he spake.] So exactly was the Promise made by Christ, Matth. 10. 20. Luke 21. 15. fulfilled in St. Stephen. g

Ver. 15. Saw his Face as the Face of an Angel.] This Expression of the shining of the Face like that of an Angel, seems to have been Proverbial among the Jews; for so Esther speaks to Artaxerxes, I saw thee as an Angel of God, and my Heart was troubled, ἀπὸ φόβου τῆς δόξης σου, from fear of thy Glory, Esth. 15. 13. And the Chaldee Paraphrast on Cantic. 1. 4. saith, When Israel made the Calf, their Visage was black as that of an Æthiopian; but when they repented, and their Sin was remitted, the Splendor of the Glory of their Countenance was like that of an Angel. Now God by this Splendor of St. Stephen testified his Innocence, and that he was pleasing to him as Moses was, in that he made his Face to shine as did that of Moses. h

CHAP. VII.

1. THen said the High-Priest, Are these things so (as is suggested by these Witnesses?) a 2. And he said, [a] Men, Brethren, and Fab thers, hearken; [b] the God of Glory appeared c to our Father Abraham, [c] when he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran, (Gen. 11. 33.)

3. And said to him, Get thee out of thy Country, and from thy Kindred, (who are Idolaters, Josh. 24. 2.) and come into the Land which I shall shew thee.

4. Then came he (in obedience to this Call) out of the Land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran, (his Father Terah being then with him, Gen. 11. 31.) and from thence, d [d] when his Father was dead, he (i. e. God) removed him into this Land of Canaan, (Gen. 12. 5.) where ye now dwell:

give it to him for a Poſſeſſion, and (that is) to his Seed after him, when as yet he had no Child.

f 6. And [f] God ſpake on this wiſe, that his Seed (beginning from Iſaac) ſhould ſojourn in a ſtrange Land, and that they (among whom they ſojourned) ſhould bring them into Bondage, and entreat them evil four hundred Years;

7. And (then) the Nation to whom they ſhall be (laſt) in Bondage, will I judge, ſaith God, (Gen. 15. 14.) and after that ſhall they g come forth, and (ſhall) [g] ſerve me in this place, (i. e. in this Land of Canaan;)

8. And he gave him the Covenant of Circumciſion; and ſo Abraham (being circumciſed himſelf) begat Iſaac, and circumciſed him the eighth Day, and Iſaac begat Jacob, and Jacob begat the twelve Patriarchs.

9. And (the Reſidue of) the Patriarchs, (being) moved with Envy (by reaſon of his Dream) ſold Joſeph into Egypt, but God was with him (there.)

10. And delivered him out of all his Afflictions, and gave him Favour and Wiſdom in the ſight of Pharaoh King of Egypt, and he made him Governour over Egypt, and (over) all his Houſe.

11. Now there came a Dearth over all the Land of Egypt and Canaan, and great Affliction, and our Fathers found no Suſtenance;

12. But when Jacob heard that there was Corn in Egypt, he ſent out our Fathers firſt, (without Benjamin;)

13. And at the ſecond time (when Benjamin was ſent with them) Joſeph was made known to his Brethren, and Joſeph's Kindred was made known to Pharaoh.

14. Then ſent Joſeph, and called his Father Jacob to him, and all his Kindred, (who h with their Wives were) [h] threeſcore and fifteen Souls.

i 15. [i] So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he and our Fathers;

16. And (our Fathers) were carried over into Sychem, and (he was) laid in the Sepulchre that Abraham bought for a Sum of Money (they in the Sepulchre bought) of the Sons of Emmor the Father of Sychem.

17. But when the time of the Promiſe drew nigh, (concerning) which God had ſworn to Abraham, (Gen. 22. 16, 17, 18.) the People grew and multiplied in Egypt.

k 18. Till [k] another King aroſe that knew not Joſeph,

19. The ſame (Gr. he) dealt ſubtilly with our Kindred, and evilly entreated our Fathers, ſo that they caſt out their young Children, to the end they might not live;

20. In which time Moſes was born, and l (he) was [l] exceeding fair, and nouriſhed up in his Father's Houſe three Months;

21. And when he was caſt out, Pharaoh's Daughter took him up, and nouriſhed him for her own Son;

22. And (ſo it came to paſs, that) [m] Moſes m was learned in all the Wiſdom of the Egyptians, and (he) was mighty in Words and Deeds; (i. e. his Words came to paſs, and his Deeds were wonderful:)

23. And when he was full forty Years old, it came into his Heart to viſit his Brethren, the Children of Iſrael, (and to make himſelf known to them, as one appointed of God to be their Deliverer;)

24. And (therefore) ſeeing one of them ſuffer wrong (from an Egyptian Task-Maſter) he defended him, and avenged him that was oppreſſed (by him.) and ſmote the Egyptian.

25. For he [n] ſuppoſed (that by this Action) n his Brethren would have underſtood, how that God by his Hand would deliver them, but they underſtood (it) not.

26. And the next Day he ſhewed himſelf to them, as they ſtrove (one with another) and would have ſet them at one again, (i. e. made them Friends) ſaying (to them,) Sirs, ye are Brethren, why do ye wrong one to another?

27. But he that did his Neighbour wrong, thruſt him away, ſaying, who made thee a Ruler or Judge over us?

28. Wilt thou kill me (now) as thou didſt the Egyptian yeſterday?

29. Then fled Moſes (from Egypt) at this ſaying, (the Egyptian King ſeeking his Life on that account, Exod. 2. 15.) and (he) was a Stranger in the Land of Midian, where he (was married to Zipporah the Daughter of Jethro, and) begat two Sons:

30. And when forty Years were expired, o [o] there appeared to him in the Wilderneſs of Mount Sinai, an Angel of the Lord in a Flame of Fire in a Buſh, (ſent from the Shechinah where God was;)

31. When Moſes ſaw (this Angel,) he wondred at the Sight, and as he drew near to behold it, the Voice of the Lord (from the Shechinah) came to him,

32. Saying, I am the God of thy Fathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Iſaac, and the God of Jacob: Then Moſes, (perceiving that God himſelf ſpake to him) trembled, and durſt not behold (the Viſion.)

33. Then ſaid the Lord to him, Put off thy Shoes from thy Feet, (in token of thy Reverence to me, thus ſpeaking to thee,) for the place where thou ſtandeſt is holy Ground, (being made ſo by my Preſence there.)

34. I have ſeen, I have ſeen the Affliction of my People, which is in Egypt, and I have heard their Groaning (under their hard Labour,) and am come down to deliver them; and now come, I will ſend thee into Egypt (to that end)

p 35. [p] This Moses whom they (formerly) refused, saying, Who made thee a Ruler and a Judge (over us?) the same (Gr. him) did God send to be a Ruler and Deliverer, by the Hands (or Ministry) of the Angel, which appeared to him (as God's Messenger) in the Bush; (and)

36. He brought them out (of Egypt,) after that he had shewed Wonders and Signs in the Land of Egypt, and in the red Sea, and in the Wilderness (after they came from Egypt) forty Years:

37. This is that Moses who said to the q Children of Israel, (Deut. 11. 15.) [q] A Prophet shall the Lord your God raise up to you, of your Brethren, like to me, him shall ye hear, (which Prophet was Christ;)

38. This is he that was in the Church (or r Congregation) in the Wilderness, [r] with the Angel which spake to him (from the Divine Presence) in Mount Sinai, and (to) our Fas thers; [s] who received the lively Oracles to give to us (which spake of him)

39. (This is he) to whom our Fathers would not obey, but (they) thrust him from them, and in their Hearts turned back again into Egypt,

40. Saying to Aaron, Make us Gods to go before us; for as for this Moses which brought us out of the Land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him, (and so it is no wonder that they will not hear God's Prophet now.)

t 41. [t] And they made a Calf in those Days, and offered Sacrifice to the Idol, and rejoiced in the Work of their own Hands.

42. Then God turned, and gave them up to worship the Host of Heaven, as it is written in the Book of the Prophet (Amos, saying, u Chap. 5. 25.) O ye House of Israel, [u] have ye offered to me slain Beasts and Sacrifices, by the space of forty Years in the Wilderness? (i. e. μὴ προσενέγκατε, ye have not offered these things to me.)

w 43. (Καὶ, but) [w] ye took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, (i. e. the Sun,) and the Star of your God Remphan, (i. e. and a Star to represent to you Saturn; these being) Figures which ye made (whereby) to worship them, and (therefore) I will carry you away beyond Babylon;

x 44. (And yet) [x] our Fathers had the Tabernacle of Witness in the Wilderness, as he (God) appointed, speaking to Moses, that he should make it according to the Fashion that he had seen;

47. But (he being a Man of Blood, Chron. 22. 8. his Son) Solomon built him an House.

48. Howbeit (ἀλλ' but this he did, acknowledging at the same time, 1 Kings 8. 27. that) the most High dwelleth not in Temples made with Hands, as saith the Prophet (Isaiah, Chap. 66. 1.) in these words spoken from God,)

49. Heaven is my Throne, and the Earth is my Footstool; what House (then) will ye build me, saith the Lord, or what place of my Rest?

50. Hath not my Hand made all these things? (You must not therefore think with the Heathens, I leave Heaven to be present there, or am confined to rest in any Building made with your Hands;)

51. Ye stiff necked and uncircumcised in Heart and Ears, ye (surely deserve more than the Heathens uncircumcised in the Flesh, to be excluded from God's Presence and Habitation; for ye) do always resist the Holy Ghost, (the Shechinah) as your Fathers did, so do ye.

52. Which of the Prophets (acted by that Holy Spirit,) have not your Fathers persecuted? and (καὶ, yea) they have slain them, who shewed before (by the same Spirit) of the coming of the just One, of whom ye have been now the Betrayers and Murtherers;

53. (Yea, you are the very same Persons) y [y] who have received the Law (immediately from the Mouth of God) by the Disposition (Administration) of Angels, and have not kept it, (but violated even those Laws which were delivered from God immediately, as well as those which he spake by the Holy Spirit in the Prophets.)

54. When they heard these things, they were cut to the Heart, and they gnashed upon him with their Teeth, (thro' Indignation.)

55. But he being full of the Holy Ghost, look'd up stedfastly into Heaven, and [z] saw z the Glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right Hand of God.

Annotations on Chap. VII.

a Ver. 2. "Ανδρες, ἀδελφοί, Men, Brethren.] It is cuſtomary with the Hebrews to add the word Man, when it imports no more than the word to which it is annexed; as Gen. 13. 8. Let there be no ſtrife between thee and me, for we are Men Brethren; Exod. 12. 14. Who made thee a Man, a Prince over us? See Gen. 38. 1. So accordingly Men Brethren occurs, Chap. 1. 16. Chap. 2. 29, 37. here ver. 2. 26. Chap. 13. 15, 26. — 15. 13. — 22. 3. — 23. 1, 6. — 28. 17. So Matth. 13. 28. ἐχθρὸς ἄνθρωπος, is an Enemy. See Luke 24. 7.

b Ibid. The God of Glory appeared to our Father Abraham.] How God appeared to him, whether it were by a Dream, or a Viſion, or an Angel, the Text doth not tell us; but this Phraſe, The God of Glory appeared, ſeems to make it probable this was done by a Voice from the Schechinah, or Divine Preſence.

c Ibid. When he was in Meſopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran.] Here note, that that part of Meſopotamia, which is next to Aſſyria, is called the Land of the Chaldees; for Ur of Chaldea, as Abarbinel obſerves, was in Meſopotamia, lying in the way from Tigris to Niſibis; and therefore Ammianus, lib. 5. ſpeaks of an Ur in Meſopotamia ſo ſituated. And Chaldea and Babylon are reckon'd as parts of Meſopotamia, both by (a) Joſephus, and by (b) Pliny. That God appeared to Abraham when he was in Meſopotamia, i. e. in Ur of Chaldea, before he dwelt in Haran, tho' it be not expreſly ſaid, Gen. 11. 31. yet is it to be underſtood there; for Gen. 15. 7. God ſaith expreſly to him, I am Jehovah, that brought thee out of Ur of the Chaldees; and Neh. 9. 7. the Levites ſpeak thus, Thou art the Lord which did chuſe Abram, and broughteſt him forth out of Ur of the Chaldees; and therefore it is ſaid of the reſt, Gen. 11. 31. that they went forth with them, that is, with Terah and Abraham, from Ur of Chaldea, and came to Haran. Yea, it is obſervable, that Terah is made the chief Agent in this Remove; for he, ſaith the Text, took Abraham and Lot, and went forth from Ur of the Chaldees, with an Intention to go to Canaan; whence we may gather, that Abraham had made known God's Call to him, and that he believed now in that God, who had thus ſpoken to his Son. For what ſhould move him to leave Ur, but Obedience to the Divine Call which Abraham received, to which he would not have agreed, if he had not believed in God, as it is certain Lot and Sarah did, who went with them.

Ver. 4. And from thence after his Father was dead, he (God, by another Call) removed him into the Land of Canaan.] Having proved in the former Note, that Abram went out from Ur of the Chaldees by an eſpecial Call from God; the Call he received after his Father's Death, by virtue of which he removed from Charran into the Land of Canaan, muſt be a ſecond Call, even that mentioned Gen. 12. 1. Now the Lord ſaid to Abraham, Get thee out of thy own Country, and from thy Kindred, and from thy Father's Houſe, to a Land that I will ſhew thee. In the firſt Call he is only bid to go out of his Country, and from his Kindred, which at his firſt removal was not completely done; for Charran was in the Land of Meſopotamia, as well as Ur, Κάρραι πόλις Μεσοποταμίας, as Stephanus informs us; and though Nachor did not preſently go along with his Father to Haran, yet that he followed after him with all his Family, and dwelt in Meſopotamia and in Charran, is evident; for Eliezer goes to Meſopotamia, to the City of Nachor, for Rebeccah Laban's Siſter, and the Daughter of Bethuel the Son of Milcah, the Wife of Nachor, Gen. 24. and Rebeccah ſent Jacob to her Brother Laban to Charran, Gen. 27. 43. See alſo Gen. 28. 10. — 29. 5. At this ſecond Call therefore he is bid to depart from his Country, where he yet was, and (from his Kindred, and from his Father's Houſe,) come to him there; and now he leaves his Brother Nachor, and all his Father's Houſe behind him. d

Ver. 5. Not ſo much as to ſet his Foot on.] He being forced there to buy a Burial Place, that he might bury his Dead out of his ſight, Gen. 23. 3, 4, 16. e

Ver. 6. God ſaid,—that his Seed ſhould ſojourn in a ſtrange Land, and that they ſhould bring them into Bondage, and entreat them evil four hundred Years.] This Four Hundred Years cannot reſpect their ſojourning in Egypt, for that was only two hundred and fifteen Years, as both (c) Joſephus and the Scriptures teſtifie, and ſo four hundred and thirty Years after the Promiſe made to Abraham, leaving Charran to go into the Land of Canaan; for that two hundred and fifteen f

Years after that Promise they went down to Egypt, is thus demonstrated. Abraham was seventy five Years old when he went from Haran to Canaan, and received the Promise of that Land, Gen. 12. 4, 7. and from that time to the Birth of Isaac, when Abraham was one hundred Years old, Gen. 21. 5. is twenty five Years, from the Birth of Isaac to that of Jacob was sixty Years, for Isaac was sixty Years old when Rebeccah bore him, Gen. 25. 26. from Jacob's Birth to his Descent into Egypt, was, as he saith to Pharaoh, one hundred and thirty Years, Gen. 47. 9. which Sums put together make two hundred and fifteen Years, and so their stay in Egypt two hundred and fifteen Years more makes exactly four hundred and thirty Years. Some therefore well observe, that they sojourned not only in Egypt, but before in Canaan, ὡς ἐν γῇ ἀλλοτρίᾳ, as in a strange Land. Hence the whole Land of Canaan is stiled the Land in which they were πάροικοι, Strangers, or Sojourners, Gen. 17. 8.—26. 3. —35. 27. Exod. 6. 4. Psalm 105. 12. And the Author to the Hebrews saith, they dwelt in Canaan as in a strange Land, Chap. 11. 9. See the Note there. Their evil Treatment here, and their Bondage in Egypt, saith the Text, shall be four hundred Years: These Years some reckon from the Birth of Isaac, from which time to their Deliverance out of Egypt was four hundred and five Years; they therefore tell us, that the five odd Years are not mentioned, no notice being taken of small broken Numbers; for thus, say they, the Greek Interpreters, being seventy two, are called the Seventy; and the Roman Writers call them Centumviri, who were in all one hundred and five; and Moses, Numb. 11. 21. saith, the Israelites were six hundred thousand, when they were three thousand five hundred and fifty above that number, as appears from Numb. 1. 46.—2. 32. But others begin the account from the time when Ismael the Son of Agar mocked Isaac, Gen. 21. 9. for that this was done when Isaac was weaned we read, ver. 8. and that this was when he was five Years old, (d) St. Jerom doth inform us from some of the Jews; and this mocking is by St. Paul stiled Persecution, Gal. 4. 29. Now from this time to the Deliverance of the Children of Israel out of Egypt is exactly four hundred Years, and from this time began the evil Treatment of g Ver. 7. And serve me in this place.] This is not said expressly, Gen. 15. but ver. 16. it is said, that in the fourth Generation they shall come forth and return hither, which seems equivalent to this Expression. This seems preferable to the Exposition of some who refer this to what is said Exod. 3. 12. four hundred Years after, viz. ye shall serve me in this Mount, that being Mount Sinai in Arabia, and not the Place or Land where St. Stephen was when he spake these words.

Ver. 14. Ἐν ψυχαῖς ἑβδομήκοντα πέντε, h Threescore and fifteen Souls.] The Hebrew Text reckoneth them only Seventy, Gen. 46. 27. Deut. 10. 22. but the Septuagint, adding five Sons of Ephraim and Manasseh, born in Egypt, from 1 Chron. 7. make them Seventy five; both which, for ought any thing I can see to the contrary, may be true; for, mark the way of counting in the Hebrew, all the Souls that came into Egypt with Jacob from his Loins, were Sixty six; and then, ver. 27. 'tis said, that to Joseph were born in Egypt two Souls; and then 'tis again said, that all the House of Jacob which came into Egypt, (viz. if you add to them Jacob, Joseph, and his two Sons) were seventy Souls. So also say the Septuagint, ver. 26. all the Souls going with Jacob into Egypt, were Sixty six, as the Hebrew said; then ver. 27. the Sons of Joseph were, with himself and Father Jacob, nine, viz. five being descended from Ephraim and Manasseh, ver. 20. so that all the Souls of the House of Jacob going down into Egypt, if you add these nine to them, are Seventy five: Moses saith, all the Souls that he had reckoned, were Seventy; but he says not, there were no more; the Septuagint add the Names of five more, and then say, that all the Names they had reckoned were Seventy five; nor can the Names they have reckoned be disproved, for we find them in the Book of Chronicles: So that I see no cogent reason, why the Hebrew, the Septuagint, and St. Stephen, may not all speak the Truth.

But, 2dly, The Texts both in the Hebrew and the Greek, seem plainly to hint another Solution; for Gen. 46. 26. All the Souls that came into Egypt from the Loins of Jacob, besides Jacob's Sons Wives, were sixty and six; add to these the Wives of his eleven Sons, and they make seventy and seven; take from them Hezron and Hamal, not yet born, and they were only seventy five. Now it was the design of Moses only to give an account of those that came out of Jacob's Loins, as it is said ver. 6, 7, 8. 26. and therefore he excepts their Wives out of his Catalogue of sixty six, and makes them up seventy, as before, ver. 27. But Stephen undertakes only to tell us the number of those that Joseph called into Egypt, viz. his Father, καὶ πᾶσαν συγγένειαν αὐτοῦ, and all his Kindred. Some therefore of the List of Moses, must be left out of St. Stephen's number, viz.

viz. Joſeph and his two Sons, who were there already, Hezron and Hamal who were not yet born, and Jacob whom he reckons apart; that is, take out theſe ſix from the ſeventy, and there remains ſixty four; which, with the eleven Wives of his Sons, are ſeventy five. Now that theſe Wives were a part of thoſe that were called by Joſeph, is certain, becauſe he called Jacob, and his Houſhold, and all that he had; Gen. 45. 11. He ſent Waggons for their Wives, ver. 19. and the Sons of Jacob carried their Wives in them, Chap. 46. 5. And therefore (e) Joſephus gives us the words of Joſeph thus, Bring your Wives, and your little Ones, and all your Kindred hither. And that the words Συγγενεῖς and Συγγένεια belong to Wives, we learn from Lev. 18. 14. — 20. 20. Joſh. 6. 23. as well as from Joſephus.

i Ver. 15, 16. So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he and our Fathers; ver. 16. And were carried over into Sichem, and were laid in the Sepulchre that Abraham bought for a Sum of Money of the Sons of Emmor, the Father of Sichem.] Theſe words have in them many Difficulties, I will begin with the eaſieſt of them. And,

1*ſt*, That Ἐμμορ τ Σιχεμ, is well rendred the Father of Sichem; and that the Greek bears this Interpretation, is proved. Note on Luke 24, 1.

2*dly*, It is evident, that Jacob was buried with his Fathers, Abraham and Iſaac, in the Cave of Machpelah. For thus he ſpeaks to Joſeph, I will lye with my Fathers, and thou ſhalt bury me in their Burial-place, Gen. 47. 30. and accordingly we read, that Joſeph buried him in the Cave of the Field of Machpelah, Gen. 50. 13. Hence then 'tis certain, that it cannot be ſaid of Jacob, that he was carried into Sichem, and buried there.

3*dly*, I add, that only Jacob was there buried, and that all the reſt of the Patriarchs were tranſlated to Sichem, and buried there. That Jacob only, of all here mentioned, was buried there, is evident from an old Tradition of the Jews, mentioned by (f) Jerom, (g) Hegeſippus, and (h) R. Solomon Jarchi; that Chebron was called Kiriath Arbah, the City of the Four, becauſe four Patriarchs, viz. Adam, Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, were buried there: And from the obſervation of the Cabbaliſts, that in the word ישראל, is contained by Roſe Theboth all that were buried in Chebron; to wit,

Iſaac and Jacob,	Adam, Abraham,
Sarah,	Leah.
Rebeccah,

As for the Patriarchs, ſtiled here our Fathers, that they being dead, were carried to Sychem, is here ſaid in expreſs words. And (i) St. Jerom giving us a Deſcription of the Travels of Paula thro' the Holy Land, ſaith, She came to Sychem, atque inde diverteris vidit duodecim Patriarcharum Sepulchra, and paſſing thence, ſhe ſaw the Sepulchres of the twelve Patriarchs, they being buried, not in, but near to Sychem, Joſh. 24. 32. That Moſes took the Bones of Joſeph with him when he went out of Egypt, as he had charged his Brethren to do when God brought them thence, Gen. 50. 25. we read Exod. 13. 19. that is, the Children of Iſrael did it by his Command, Joſh. 24. 32. And R. Solomon on Exod. 13. 19. ſaith, We may learn from this very place, that the Bones of all the Patriarchs were brought up with him: And this will appear very probable,

1*ſt*, Becauſe the ſame cauſe that moved Joſeph to deſire Burial in the Land of Canaan, could not but move all his Brethren to deſire the like, they having the ſame Faith in the Promiſe, and the ſame Intereſt in the Land, and ſo the ſame Principles to move them to deſire it that Joſeph had.

2*dly*, The reſt of the Tribes bore the ſame Honour to their Patriarch that the Tribe of Joſeph did to him, and therefore they muſt be as much concerned to preſerve their Bones to be carried out of Egypt with them. And ſeeing Jacob their Father, was ſo concerned to be buried, not in Egypt, but in the Land of Promiſe, Gen. 47. 30. and Joſeph to have his Bones carried from thence into it from the ſame Faith, Heb. 11. 22. who can imagine that the twelve Fathers of the Church of Iſrael, and Heirs of the Land of Canaan, ſhould be left in the Land of Bondage, and not interred in their own Land?

Moreover, That their Bones were buried in Sychem with the Bones of Joſeph, may be made probable from theſe Conſiderations:

1*ſt*, That tho' Joſeph's Bones were brought up with them out of Egypt, they were not buried till Joſhua had divided the Land among them, and had called all Iſrael to Sychem, to renew the Covenant God made with their Fathers; for then only is it ſaid, the Bones of Joſeph which the Children of Iſrael brought out of Egypt, they buried in Sychem. Either then they buried the Bones of the other Patriarchs at the ſame time; or not at all; for we read nothing of their doing it in any other Aſſembly, at any other time, or place, and ſo may reaſonably conceive, that as they were removed at the ſame ſame time, ſo likewiſe were they buried.

2*dly*, There are but two places aſſigned of the Burial of the other Patriarchs, one by Joſephus, who ſaith, they were buried in Hebron; the other by St. Jerom and R. Solomon, that they were buried in Sychem. Now that they were not buried by Joſhua in Hebron, we have great reaſon to believe.

1*ſt*, Becauſe we do not read, that Joſhua ever came to Hebron, but to deſtroy the City. (2*dly*,) From the Traditions already produced, that it was called Kiriath Arbah, becauſe the four great Patriarchs only were buried in it. And, (3*dly*,) From the places where Joſephus ſaith the contrary; for in his Second Book of Antiquities, Chap. 4. he hath many other idle Tales, which may cauſe us to ſuſpect this; and in his Book of the Jewiſh Wars, he begins the Story thus, (*) Μυθεύσι, They of Hebron tell a Tale ſo and ſo, καὶ δείκνυσι, and they ſhew their Sepulchres to this Day, πάνυ καλῆς μαρμάρου καὶ φιλοτίμως ἐργασμένα, wrought curiouſly in fine Marble, and a Tree that had ſtood there from the Creation. So that if you will believe Joſephus here, you muſt believe they had Sepulchres of fine Marble curiouſly wrought; and then, how wonderful is it that (k) St. Jerom giving us what was chiefly obſervable in every place that Paula came at, ſaith only, that ſhe came to Hebron, that is, Kiriath Arbe, id eſt, oppidum quatuor virorum, Abraham, Iſaac, Jacob & Adam; that is, to the Town of the four Patriarchs, Abraham, Iſaac, Jacob and Adam; and bringing her from Hebron to Sychem, ſhould tell us, ſhe ſaw the Sepulchres of the Patriarchs there, not only being ſilent as to theſe curious Marble Sepulchres, but contradicting Joſephus in the whole Story?

Now if theſe things are duly fixed, it is neceſſary, either to ſay with the great Bochart, that ſome unskilful Grammarian thinking a Nominative Caſe was wanting before the word ὠνήσατο was bought, wrote in the Margin the word Ἀβραάμ, which others put into the Text, without which the words run thus, with exact truth; So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died (there;) he, and our Fathers, and they, (viz. our Fathers,) were carried over into Sychem, and laid in the Sepulchre that was bought for a Sum of Money of the Sons of Emmor, the Father of Sychem. For that Jacob bought of the Sons of Hamor, the Father of Sychem, a Field near Sychem, for an hundred Keſita, we read Gen. 33. 19. and that Keſita is to be rendred pieces of Money, he proves in his Hieroz. l. 2. c. 43. where he treats largely on this Verſe: The only Objection againſt this Conjecture, which makes the words ſo plain, is this, that it is not ſupported by any Copies or Verſions; and on this account, it ſeems neceſſary to admit of the ſenſe given in the Paraphraſe, viz.

Ver. 15. And Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he, and our Fathers.

Ver. 16. And (our Fathers) were carried over into Sychem, and they were laid (Jacob) in the Sepulchre that Abraham bought for a Sum of Money, (they in the Sepulchre bought) of the Sons of Emmor the Father of Sychem.

In which Paraphraſe, there be three Elipſes of words to be repeated from the former words, but they are ſuch as may be often met with both in the Old and the New Teſtament, as v. g. Pſal. 133. 3. as the Dew of Hermon, (and as the Dew) which fell upon the Hills of Zion; for Hermon and Zion were far aſunder; Eccleſ. 10. 1. As dead Flies cauſe the Ointment of the Apothecary to ſend forth a ſtinking Savour, ſo a little Folly (cauſeth) a Man of Reputation for Wiſdom and Honour (to become unſavoury;) See Numb. 26. 4. In the New Teſtament we have the like Examples; So 2 Theſſ. 2. 7. He that letteth (will let) till he be taken away, John 9. 3. Neither hath he ſinned, nor his Parents ſo that he ſhould be born blind on that account, ver. 2.) 1 John 2. 19. but (they went out from us,) that it might appear they were not of us. See Glaſſ. l. 4. de Figuris Gram. Tract. 2. from Obſerv. 8. to the 13th.

Ver. 18. There aroſe another King who knew not Joſeph.] As it might very well be; this hapning one hundred thirty five Years after the coming of the Children of Iſrael into Egypt; for they went out of it eighty Years after, when Moſes was ſo old, and this happened Sixty four Years after the Death of Joſeph; ſo that the King reigning at that diſtance, might know little of, and leſs regard the good Deeds Joſeph had done for Egypt. k

Ver. 20. And Moſes was ἀστεῖος τῷ Θεῷ, exceeding fair.] The word God being added to increaſe the Signification; ſo Nineveh is called πόλις μεγάλη τῷ Θεῷ, an exceeding great City, John 3. 3. So ὅπλα δυνατὰ τῷ Θεῷ, 2 Cor. 10. 4. are very ſtrong Weapons. So Cedars of God, i. e. goodly Cedars, Pſal. 80. 10. Mountains of God, Pſal. 36. 7. i. e. great Mountains. See Glaſſ. Tract. 1. de Nom. Can. 17. Sect. 3. Beauty of the Infant, was framed out of this Story of Moſes.

m Ver. 22. And Moſes was learned in all the Wiſdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in word and deed.] Like to this Saying, is that of (n) Lucian, of an Egyptian Prieſt skilled in all the Wiſdom of the Egyptians. But what this Learning of the Egyptians then was, 'tis not eaſie to define; I ſuppoſe with the (o) Pſeudo Juſtin, that it might be Aſtronomy, Aſtrology, and Geometry; to which you may add from (p) Clemens of Alexandria, skill in Phyſick; but whereas (q) Philo adds, Arithmetick, Muſick, Hieroglyphical Learning, and ſaith, τὸ ὃ ἄλλων ἐγκύκλιον παιδείαν Ἕλλησιν ἐδίδασκον, that the Greeks ſent for into Egypt for that purpoſe, taught him the liberal Sciences, he is utterly out; for the Greeks had no Learning till long after the time of Moſes, as (r) Clemens Alexandrinus, (s) Joſephus, and many others teſtifie; and what they had, was at firſt borrowed from other Nations: Moſes, ſaith (t) Joſephus, being older, not only than their Learning, but even than their Laws, and Gods.

n Ver. 25. He ſuppoſed, that his Brethren would have underſtood how that God, by his hand, would deliver them.] Two things are here fit to be enquired into, viz. by what Authority or Right Moſes ſlew the Egyptian, and what reaſon he had to expect the People ſhould underſtand that God deſigned him for their Deliverer? The Jewiſh Hiſtorians will give us a very eaſie Solution to theſe Difficulties; for their Prieſts, ſaith (u) Clemens Alexand. declared, that Moſes ſlew the Egyptian with a word, and ſo gave them a Miracle to prove his Miſſion, and ſo then he muſt be killed by him who is the Lord of Life and Death: (x) Joſephus alſo ſaith expreſly, that God appeared to Amram, the Father of Moſes, as he was praying to him for the afflicted Jews, and told him, thy Son, now in the Womb of thy Wife, ſhall eſcape the Hands of the Egyptians, and τῷ μὲν ἐβραῖον γένει τὴν παρ' Αἰγυπτίων ἀνάγκης ἀπολύσει, ſhall deliver the Hebrews from the Afflictions of the Egyptians; and that to confirm this Viſion his Wife brought him forth without any Pain. He alſo adds, that a celebrated Prophet among the Egyptians declared, that an Hebrew ſhould be born then, who ſhould afflict the Egyptians, and when Moſes was grown up counſelled the King of Egypt to deſtroy him, ſaying, that (y) by killing him he would free the Egyptians from fear, and cut off the hopes of the Hebrews. But not to depend on theſe things, the Jeruſalem Talmud declares, that Moſes ſlew the Egyptian by the Spirit of Propheſie, or that he did it by an extraordinary impulſe from God, and (z) Maimonides makes this Action one degree of Propheſie, and thus (as Stephen ſaith) it came into his Heart (from God) to viſit his Brethren, ver. 23. and indeed otherwiſe he could not have juſtified this Fact to God, and his own Conſcience. Now Moſes knowing what an extraordinary Perſon he had been in Words and Deeds, ver. 22. and what had been declared of him to his Father, and by this Action working Deliverance to one of them, might juſtly hope they would look upon him as one appointed by God to be their Deliverer. See Additions N° 6. (6)

o Ver. 30. There appeared to him in the Wilderneſs of Mount Sinai the Angel of the Lord in a Flame of Fire in a Buſh.] That God himſelf was glorioufly preſent here, attended with his holy Angels as his Miniſters, of which one appeared in the Buſh, and was by God imploy'd in forming the Voice by which he ſpake to him, is evident, (1.) From the expreſs Aſſertion of Chriſt, viz. that ὁ Θεὸς, God ſpake to Moſes in the Buſh, Mark 12. 26. So Moſes himſelf informs us, when he prays, Deut. 33. 16. that the Bleſſing of him that appeared in the Buſh might fall upon the Head of Joſeph, that is, ſaith Onkelos, of him whoſe Majeſty dwells in the Heavens, and was revealed to Moſes in the Buſh; ſaith B. Uziel, of him who made the Glory of his divine Majeſty dwell in the Buſh. (2) This appears from the words here ſpoken, ſaith Stephen, by the Voice of the Lord, I am the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, I have heard the Affliction of my People, I will ſend thee into Egypt; and alſo from the words in Exodus, for there Moſes who went boldly towards the Angel to ſee that great ſight, when God ſaid, I am the God of Abraham, trembled, and durſt not behold, Exod. 3. 6. being afraid to look upon God, and v. 13. Moſes ſaid to God, what is thy Name? and God anſwers, I am, and bids him ſay, I am, and the God of your Fathers hath ſent me to you. And laſtly, if theſe Names could belong to a created Angel, I would gladly know how Chriſt received a more excellent Name than the Angels, as we read, Heb. 1. 4. So that God was here preſent, as the chief Perſon ſpeaking to Moſes, the Angel only as his Miniſter and his Attendant. See the Note on John 1. 1.

p Ver. 35. This Moſes whom they refuſed.] For though only one of them ſaid to him, who made thee a Ruler or Judge over us? yet that one is thought to have been a Ruler of a Tribe, and ſo to have ſpoken in the Name of the reſt. Moreover, none of them acknowledged him as one by God appointed to be their Prince, and Saviour out of the Hands of the Egyptians, ver. 27. and therefore it is ſaid, that ἠρνήσαντο, they denied him, as the Jews are ſaid to deny that Jeſus whom they would not acknowledge. See the Note on Chap. 3. 14.

q Ver. 37. A Prophet ſhall the Lord — raiſe up to you, &c.] See Note on Chap. 3. 22.

r Ver. 38. With the Angel that ſpoke to him in Mount Sinai.] Perhaps the ſame Angel which appeared to him as an Attendant on the divine Majeſty in the Buſh; for tho' the Law was given by the Diſpoſition of Angels, ver. 53. of which place ſee the Note on John 1. 1. Heb. 2. 2. yet ſeems there to have been a principal Angel (perhaps Michael their Prince, Dan. 10. 21.) who attended upon Moſes, and the Children of Iſrael, and who is therefore ſtiled by God, my Angel; ſo Exod. 23. 23. My Angel ſhall go before thee, that is, ſaith Baal Hatturim, Michael my peculiar Angel; ſo alſo Chap. 32. 34. This Moſes owns by ſaying, Numb. 20. 16. when we cried to the Lord — he ſent an Angel, and hath brought us forth out of Egypt, that is, Michael the Prince; ſay the Jews, and therefore he ſaith, I am come as Captain of the Hoſt of the Lord, Joſh. 5. 14. which is the Title of Michael, Dan. 10. 13. but this is not ſo to be underſtood as to exclude the Preſence of God himſelf, for this Angel was ſent from the Schechinah or divine Preſence, which was in the Pillar of the Cloud.

s Ibid. Who received λογια ζωντα, the lively Oracles to give to us.] The Law of Moſes is here ſtiled, the lively Oracles, not becauſe they were able ζωοποιειν, to give Life, for that St. Paul expreſly denies, Gal. 3. 21. calling this Law the Miniſtry of Death and Condemnation, 2 Cor. 3. 6, 9. But becauſe they were Oracles, proceeding not from dumb Idols, but from the Living God, and promiſing a proſperous and happy Life in Canaan, to all that obeyed them, Levit. 18. 5. Deut. 15. 16 — 32. 47. on which account this word is ſtiled, Heb. 4. 12. λογος ζωντος θεου, the Word of the Living God, and 1 Pet. 1. 23. the living Word of God, as being quick and vital in its Operations. See the Note on Heb. 4. 12.

t Ver. 41. And they made a Calf in thoſe days, and offered Sacrifice to the Idol.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That the Calf worſhipped by the Jews, is expreſly called an Idol, and they who worſhipped it are expreſly ſtiled Idolaters, 1 Cor. 10. 7. and with good reaſon, becauſe they changed the Image of the incorruptible God into the ſimilitude of a Calf, Pſal. 106. 19, 20. Note,

2*dly*, That the Worſhip performed by them to this Golden Calf, was Worſhip directed by them to the true God, viz. to that God which brought them from the Land of Egypt; for when they had made them a Molten Calf, they ſaid, This is thy God which brought thee out of the Land of Egypt, Nehem. 9. 18.

Nor can we otherwiſe conceive, if we conſider, (1.) That by this God they could not poſſibly intend to ſignifie the very Image they had made, there being nothing more repugnant to common ſenſe, and more irrationally ſtupid, than to conceive that what they made the other day, was both their Maker and Preſerver, whilſt it was nothing in the World, and that it gave them Power, before it was in Being: Men may aſſert ſuch things, who have no other Refuge or Defence, but cannot poſſibly believe themſelves in what they do affirm. (2.) They could not be conceived to affirm, that this God, who brought them out of the Land of Egypt, was the Egyptian Serapis; for then they muſt imagine, that this Egyptian God wrought all the Miracles they ſaw done in Egypt, upon thoſe that owned and worſhipped him, in favour of thoſe Perſons who did not own him for a God, but look'd upon him as a Devil; and that he did inflict the heavieſt Judgments upon them that fear'd him, and ſhew'd the greateſt Kindneſs unto thoſe that feared him not, by ſeparating betwixt them and the Egyptians, and not permitting any of his Judgments to moleſt or touch them. They muſt believe that the Egyptian Serapis had enjoined them to abſtain from all thoſe Modes of Worſhip with which he was ſerved in Egypt, as an Abomination to him; for in the day that he lifted up his Hand unto them to bring them forth of the Land of Egypt, — then ſaid he unto them, Caſt away every Man the Abominations of his Eyes, and defile not your ſelves with the Idols of Egypt, I am the Lord your God, Ezek. 20. 6, 7. Laſtly, they muſt believe that he who executed his Judgments on the Egyptian Gods was the Egyptian God, and that the God of the Hebrews, who ſaid, Let my People go, that they may ſerve me, Exod. 7. 1. was the God of Egypt, and that he who wrought thoſe Miracles unto this end, that the Egyptians might know that he was the Lord, Exod. 14. 18. was he whom the Egyptians owned as their God; all which Deductions are too abſurd to be believed.

Moreover (1.) The reaſon why they deſired the making of this God to go before them, is delivered thus, Up, make us Gods which ſhall go before us, for as for this Moſes, the Man that brought us up out of the Land of Egypt, we wot not what is become of him, Exod. 32. 1. And from theſe words it is apparent, that the want of Moſes was the only cauſe why they required this Golden Calf to go before them. Now it is certain, that they eſteemed not Moſes to be God, but only one who repreſented God, and who declared his Mind unto them; on which account God himſelf ſaith, that he ſhould be to Aaron inſtead of God, Exod. 4. 16. and therefore it is alſo certain, that they deſired only ſome other Repreſentative of God, which Aaron might conſult to know the Mind of God. (2.) Here they expreſly do acknowledge that Moſes brought them out of the Land of Egypt, i. e. the God of Moſes did ſo. Now they all knew the true Jehovah was that God whom Moſes taught them to adore, and that the God of Moſes was not that Calf, which he knew nothing of, nor that Egyptian Apis which he had ſo much oppoſed and vilified; when therefore they affirm at the beholding of this Calf, theſe are thy Gods, this affirmation muſt be ſuppoſed conſiſtent with their former words, which do acknowledge that the God of Moſes brought them forth, &c. Now ſince the Golden Calf, or the Egyptian Apis, were not, even in the apprehenſion of theſe Men, the God of Moſes, theſe words, viz. theſe are thy Gods, cannot be ſpoken of the Calf, or the Egyptian Apis, and therefore muſt be underſtood of him, who was indeed the God of Moſes, and ſo muſt ſignifie, this is the Sign, this is the Repreſentation of that God which brought us forth, &c. Again, this we may gather from the Feaſt they conſecrated, for Aaron doth expreſly ſay it was a Feaſt to Jehovah; whereas had it been really intended as an Honour done to the Egyptian Dæmons, it cannot be conceived that Aaron would both give unto theſe Devils, the proper and incommunicable Name of God, and alſo offer Sacrifice to Devils. He therefore, whom he called Jehovah, and to whom he offered thoſe Peace Offerings, was he who truly bears that Name. And, (3.) This is plain from St. Stephen's words, ver. 41, 42. And they made a Calf in thoſe days, and offered Sacrifice unto Idols, and rejoiced in the Works of their own Hands; then God turned, and gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven: For it is obſervable, that the Idolatry of the Calf was diſtinct from the other Heathen Idolatry, this being the Puniſhment of the other, and only a conſequent of that, for then God turned, and gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven. Since then the Worſhip of Oſiris under the Species of a Golden Bull, and of the Egyptian Apis in the Symbol of a living Calf, was really the Worſhip of the Sun and Moon, as the great (a) Selden doth inform us, it follows, that when they worſhipped the Golden Calf, they were not given up unto the Worſhip of Oſiris, or the Egyptian Apis, which were adored by the Egyptians as the moſt glorious part of all the Hoſt of Heaven.

Hence then it muſt demonſtratively follow, that the Worſhip of the true God in an Image, or material Repreſentation, is, in the Scripture-ſenſe, Idolatry.

Ver. 42. Then God gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven.] i. e. From their worſhipping him in Images againſt his Command, he ſuffered them to proceed to worſhip the Creature inſtead of the Creator: See Note on Rom. 1. 21, 24. The Invention of Idols, (i. e. Images, ſaith the Book of Wiſdom) was the beginning of Fornication, i. e. Idolatry. See Note on John 8. 41. And therefore God is ſaid to have given this Hoſt of Heaven to the Heathens to worſhip, εἰς θρησκείαν καὶ λατρείαν ὡς θεοῖς. See Druſ. and the Septuagint, Deut. 4. 19. Juſt. M. Dial. p. 274. Clem. Alex. Strom. 6. p. 609. B. viz. He ſuffer'd them to proceed to that more vile Idolatry in puniſhment of their Worſhip of him by Images. And to this alludes that of the Septuagint, Hoſ. 13. 4. God gave not the Hoſt of Heaven to you, ὥρισεν ὀπίσω αὐτῶν, to go after them; but ſent his Prophets to forbid it, which he did not to the Heathen World.

Ibid. Have ye offered to me ſlain Beaſts, and Sacrifices, by the ſpace of forty Years in the Wilderneſs?] This Queſtion is a ſtrong negative, importing, that though they really did offer Sacrifices as he had commanded, yet did he not accept, or look upon them as offer'd to him; the Expreſſion is like that of the Prophet Zachary, Chap. 7. 5. When ye faſted and mourned in the fifth and ſeventh Month theſe ſeventy Years, did ye at all faſt to me, even to me? And this is here denied, u

1*ſt*, Becauſe God will accept of no Worſhip as done unto him, which is not done unto him alone; and when any other is worſhipped with him, he looks upon himſelf as not worſhipped at all. So of thoſe Nations which came from Aſſyria into the Cities of Samaria, it is ſaid, 2 Kings 17. 33. they feared the Lord, and ſerved their own Gods; and then it is added, ver. 34. that they feared not the Lord.

in their Hearts depart from him, and incline to a Worſhip he approves not of; thus the Jews in Zachary are ſaid, not to faſt to him, becauſe they would not hearken to, or obey his words, ver. 8. and he is ſaid to have been angry with them in the Wilderneſs forty Years, becauſe they erred from him in their Hearts, Pſal. 95. 10. that is, ſaith the Chaldee, they had their Idols in their Hearts. And the Samaritans are ſaid to worſhip they knew not what, John 4. 22. becauſe they did not worſhip him according to his Will revealed in his Word. See the Note there.

w Ver. 43. Yea ye took up the Tabernacle of Moloch, and the Star of your God Remphan, Figures which you made to worſhip them, &c.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That theſe words are taken from Amos 5. 26. where the words in our Tranſlation are, Ye have born the Tabernacle of your Moloch, and Chiun your Images, the Star of your God. Note,

2*dly*, That theſe words of the Prophet are by St. Stephen produced to prove that God gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven, as the Puniſhment of their worſhipping the Golden Calf; even as God is ſaid to have given up the Heathens to Uncleanneſs, and vile Affections, Rom. 1. 24, 26. as the Puniſhment of their former Idolatry, ver. 21. 23. So that the Gods here mentioned muſt belong to the Hoſt of Heaven. Note,

3*dly*, That Moloch is thought to be the Sun, for the whole Eaſt did worſhip the Sun and Moon, as the King and Queen of Heaven; and Interpreters almoſt generally agree, that Baal, Bel, or Belus, ſo often mentioned in the Scriptures as worſhipped by the Heathens, is the Sun, or Lord of Heaven. Now Baal the Lord, and Moloch the King of Heaven is the ſame. So (b) Euſebius tells us of the Phœnicians out of Sanchoniathon, that when drought happen'd, they did τὰς χεῖρας ὀρέγειν εἰς οὐρανὸς πρὸς τ' Ἥλιον, τοῦτον γὰρ φήσι Θεὸν ἐνόμιζον μόνον οὐρανὸ Κυρίον Βεελσάμην καλοῦντες, lift up their Hands to Heaven to the Sun, whom they owned as the only Lord of Heaven, calling him Beelſamen, that is, the Lord of Heaven; and (c) Damaſcius in Photius ſaith, the Syrians and Phœnicians τ' πρῶτον Ἦλ καὶ Βὴλ ἐπονομάζουσι, call Saturn El and Bel; and (d) Servius upon Virgil ſays, that the Sun and Saturn were worſhipped by the Aſſyrians and the Africans under the Name of Bel. See for the farther Proof of this, Voſſ. de Idol. l. 2. c. 4. Spencer de Ritibus. Hebr. p. 551.

As for the other word Chiun, changed by the Septuagint into a Name better known, viz. Rephan or Remphan, Voſſius thinks it ſignifies the Moon, ibid. Chap. 23. But Aben-Ezra on the place informs us, that it ſignifies Saturn, and that with great probability, (e) Saturn bearing that Name, ſay the learned, in the Arabian and Perſick Tongue; and in the Egyptian Alphabet, Ῥαφαν is Saturn. Note,

4*thly*, That to Moloch is aſcribed Succoth, a Tabernacle or Tabernacles, becauſe he was worſhipped in little Shrines, Chapels, and Tabernacles, which they uſed to carry about with them, as Grotius and Dr. Hammond here prove;

To Remphan a Star, becauſe the Heathens worſhipped their Gods, Dæmons, and Heroes, under the Name of ſome Star appropriated to them, as (f) Dr. Spencer ſhews, and ſo the Egyptian God Rempham or Remphin, mentioned by Diodorus Siculus, might be worſhipped in the Star Saturn.

And becauſe they made Images of theſe Gods, and put them into theſe Shrines, and Chapels, or Tabernacles to be worſhipped, therefore the Prophet calls them צלמיכם Images of their Gods which they had made.

Laſtly, Becauſe the Tabernacles of Moloch and Saturn, to whom they offered their Sons and Daughters, had (g) ſeptem Conclavia, ſeven Cells, or Receptacles, according to the number of the ſeven Planets; therefore perhaps it is that St. Stephen ſaith, they worſhipped the Hoſt of Heaven.

5*thly*, That they were guilty of this Idolatry whilſt they continued in the Wilderneſs, tho' we read nothing of it expreſly in the five Books of Moſes, we cannot doubt, if we believe the Prophet Amos, declaring from God, that they did not offer Sacrifice to him in the Wilderneſs, becauſe they were then guilty of this Idolatry; or St. Stephen, ſaying, that in Puniſhment of the Calf they made and worſhipped there, God gave them up to worſhip the Hoſt of Heaven: And to this we may refer the Complaint of the Pſalmiſt, that even then they erred in their Hearts, and knew not his Ways, and more certainly the Words of Joſhua, Chap. 24. 14. and now put away the ſtrange Gods which your Fathers ſerved on the other ſide the River, and in Egypt, and ſerve the Lord; for if they had them not among them, they could not put them away; and his following words, v. 19. ye cannot ſerve the Lord (whilſt ye retain your Idols,) for he is a jealous God.

And Laſtly, whereas St. Stephen ſaith, I will carry you beyond Babylon, tho' the Prophet had only ſaid, I will carry you beyond Damaſcus, this need give us little trouble, ſeeing this Prophecy was fulfilled by Salmanaſſer, King of Aſſyria, carrying them both beyond Damaſcus and Babylon, into the Cities of the Medes, 2 Kings 17. 6.

x Ver. 44. Our Fathers had the Tabernacle of Witneſs;] i. e. In which the true God gave them ſignal Teſtimonies of his Preſence with them, and Indications that he dwelt among them, tho' as in the Wilderneſs, ſo till the times of David they fell off from him to Idolatry; this David deſired to build God a Temple, and his Heart was ſet upon it, Pſal. 133. and his Son Solomon built it, and in this you place your Confidence, ſaying, the Temple of the Lord are we, Jer. 7. 4. but know, ſays St. Stephen, that the great God of Heaven cannot be confined to your Temple, or ſo chuſe it for a place of reſt, as that he ſhould not depart from it, or ſuffer it to be deſtroyed again, as he formerly did for your crying Provocations; this therefore you may reaſonably expect, who are ſtill a ſtiff-necked People, and uncircumciſed in Heart, ſtill reſiſting the Holy Ghoſt in God's Prophets, as your Fathers did, and adding to all your other Sins the Murther of your promiſed Meſſias; this, I ſay, you have reaſon to expect, did not I warn you of it.

y Ver. 53. Who have received the Law, εἰς διαταγὰς ἀγγέλων·] That is, ſaith Grotius, inter Angelorum turmas, by God appearing with his Hoſt of Angels, for ſo we read he did at Mount Sinai, when he gave the Law; ſo Deut. 33. 2. The Lord came from Sinai, he came with ten thouſand ἀγγέλων, of Angels, from his right Hand went a fiery Law for them: And Pſal. 68. 17. The Chariots of God are twenty thouſand, even thouſands of Angels, and the Lord is among them as in Sinai. I rather chuſe to ſay, by the Adminiſtration of Angels, they all here miniſtring to God when he gave the Law. See Note on John 1. 1. and Heb. 2. 2.

z Ver. 55. He ſaw the Glory of God;] That is, the Schechinah, the Symbol of God's glorious Preſence; See the Notes on Rom. 1. 23. and on Heb. 1. 3. And Jeſus ſtanding at the right Hand of God, as in a poſture ready to receive him.

a a Ver. 57. They ran upon him with one accord.] Tho' they ruſh upon him in this caſe, yet they do it only becauſe by freſh words of Blaſphemy, as they conceived, he had confirmed the former Blaſphemy teſtified againſt him by two Witneſſes, and therefore they draw him out of the City, becauſe their Traditions ſaid, that no Man was to be ſtoned in the Camp, or in the City, and ſtone him after the legal manner, the Witneſſes againſt him beginning the Execution; and ſo here is no Evidence that this was done jure Zelotarum, and not by courſe of Juſtice, the Sanhedrim having before ſufficiently ſhewed what they thought of him, by being mad againſt him, gnaſhing upon him with their Teeth.

b b Ver. 58. And they laid their Cloaths at the Feet of a young Man, whoſe Name was Saul.] See Note on Philem. 9.

c c Ver. 59. Ἐπικαλούμενον, calling upon Chriſt, and ſaying, Lord Jeſus, receive my Spirit.] Here we find Stephen full of the Holy Ghoſt, calling religiouſly upon Chriſt now in Heaven, to receive his Spirit, and thereby teſtifying not only that religious Worſhip was due to him, but alſo that he could hear his Prayer, and receive his Spirit at that diſtance, and therefore was omnipreſent, and the Searcher of the Heart, and he in whoſe Hands the Spirits of Men were; for he doth not ſay, Κύριε τῶν Ἰησοῦ, thou who art the Lord of Jeſus; that Phraſe being never uſed in the New Teſtament, but Κύριε Ἰησοῦ, Lord Jeſus receive my Spirit: Like to this is that Prayer of St. John, Rev. 22. 20. Κύριε Ἰησοῦ, Come, Lord Jeſus, come quickly.

d d Ibid. Receive my Spirit.] Hence it appears, that the Spirit of Man is a Subſtance diſtinct and ſeparable from the Body, and which dies not with it; for Stephen prays not to the Lord Jeſus to receive his Body, but only to receive his Spirit, now to be ſeparated from it. See the Notes on Luke 23. 40. and on 2 Tim. 1. 12. Now if the Spirit of a Man died with the Body, no reaſon can be given, why St. Stephen ſhould pray to the Lord Jeſus to receive his Spirit rather than his Body. Moreover, This being ſaid by a Jew in preſence of the Jews, is doubtleſs to be underſtood, according to the Senſe and the Opinion of the Jews, who held, that the Souls of juſt Men were in the Hand of God, Wiſd. 3. 1. and were in Peace; which Expreſſions agree not to a thing which is inſenſate; nor could an inſenſate Being have any Hope at all, much leſs an Hope full of Immortality, as he there ſpeaks, ver. 2, 3.

e e Ver. 60. He fell aſleep.] See Note on John 11. 11.

CHAP. VIII.

1. AND Saul (when Stephen thus died) was conſenting to his Death; and a [a] at that time there was a great Perſecution againſt the Church which was at Jeruſalem; and they (that were of it) were all ſcattered abroad throughout the Regions of Judea and Samaria, except the Apoſtles.
b 2. And devout Men carried Stephen [b] to his Burial, and made great Lamentation over him.

3. As for Saul, he made Havock of (Gr. and Saul waſted, or afflicted) the Church, entring into every Houſe (of the Faithful) and haling Men and Women (thence, he) committed them to Priſon.

c 4. [c] Therefore they that were (they therefore being) ſcattered abroad, went every where (Gr. went through Judea and Samaria, ver. 1.) preaching the Word.

d 5. Then [d] Philip (the Evangeliſt, being one of the ſeven, Chap. 21. 8.) went down to the City of Samaria, and preached Chriſt to them.

6. And the People with one accord gave heed to thoſe things which Philip ſpake, hearing and ſeeing the Miracles he did (to confirm his Doctrine.).

7. For unclean Spirits crying with (a) loud Voice, came out of many that were poſſeſſed with them; and many taken with Palſies, and that were lame, were healed.

8. And there was great Joy in that City, (that a Perſon ſo beneficial was come to them.)

9. But there was a certain Man, called Simon, which before time uſed Sorceries in the ſame City, and bewitched (Gr. and a certain Man named Simon, was before in that City, uſing Magick, and aſtoniſhing) the People of Samaria, giving out (Gr. ſaying) that himſelf e was [e] ſome great One:

10. To whom they all gave heed, from the leaſt to the greateſt, ſaying, This Man is the great Power of God:

11. And to him they had regard, becauſe that of long time he had bewitched (aſtoniſhed) them with (his) Sorceries.

12. But when they believed Philip, preaching the things concerning the Kingdom of God, and the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, they were baptized both Men and Women (for the Remiſſion of Sin, Chap. 2. 38.)

13. Then Simon himſelf believed alſo, (that this Jeſus who enabled Philip to do theſe things, was ſome Power ſuperiour to any he converſed with;) and when he was baptized, he continued with Philip, and wondred, beholding the Miracles and Signs which were done.

14. Now when the Apoſtles which were at Jeruſalem, heard that Samaria had received the Word of God, they ſent to them
f [f] Peter and John:

15. Who, when they were come down
g [g] prayed for them, (περὶ αὐτῶν, over them, whom the Holy Ghoſt ſaw fit to be indued with Prophetical Gifts for the Miniſtry there) that they might receive the Holy Ghoſt.

16. For as yet he was fallen upon none of them, only they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus.

17. Then laid they their Hands on them, and they (viſibly) received the Holy Ghoſt, (ſo as to ſpeak with Tongues, and propheſie, Chap. 19. 7.)

18. And when Simon ſaw, that through laying on of the Apoſtles Hands, the Holy Ghoſt was given, he offered them Money (to obtain the ſame Power;)

19. Saying, (Let this Reward induce you to) give me alſo this Power, that on whomſoever I lay (my) Hands, he may receive the Holy Ghoſt.

20. But Peter ſaid to him, [h] thy Money h periſh with thee, (i. e. without Repentance thou wilt periſh with it,) becauſe thou haſt thought that the Gift of God may be purchaſed with Money.

21. Thou haſt neither part nor lot in this matter, (i. e. the Bleſſings of this Kingdom;) for thy Heart is not right in the ſight of God.

22. Repent therefore of this thy Wickedneſs; and pray God, if perhaps the thought of thy Heart may be forgiven thee:

23. For I perceive, that thou art in the Gall of Bitterneſs, and in the Bond of Iniquity.

24. Then anſwered Simon, and ſaid, Pray ye to the Lord for me, that none of thoſe things which ye have ſpoken, come upon me.

25. And they, when they had teſtified, and preached the Word of the Lord, returned to Jeruſalem, and (by the way) preached the Goſpel in many Villages of the Samaritans.

26. And the Angel of the Lord ſpake to Philip, ſaying, Ariſe, and go towards the South, to [i] the way that goeth down from i Jeruſalem to Gaza, which (way) is (through the deſert (of Judah, or to old Gaza which is deſert.)

27. And he aroſe and went; and behold a k [k] Man of Ethiopia, an Eunuch of great Authority, under Candace Queen of the Ethiopians, who had the charge of all her Treaſure, and had come to Jeruſalem to worſhip,

29. Then the Spirit ſaid to Philip, Go near, and join thy ſelf to this Chariot:

30. And Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read (in) the Prophet Iſaias, and ſaid, Underſtandeſt thou what thou readeſt?

l 31. And he ſaid, [l] How can I (underſtand a Prophecy of future Times, with which I am wholly unacquainted) except ſome Man ſhould guide direct, or inſtruct) me? And he deſired Philip, that he would come up, and ſit with him.

32. The Place (or Section) of Scripture m which he read, was this, [m] He was led as a Sheep to the Slaughter, and like a Lamb dumb before the Shearer, ſo opened he not his Mouth:

n 33. [n] In his (ſtate of) Humiliation, his Judgment was taken away, (and no right done him;) and who can declare (the wickedneſs of) his Generation? For his Life is (was) taken from the Earth.

34. And the Eunuch anſwered Philip, and ſaid, I pray thee, of whom ſpeaketh the Prophet this? of himſelf, or of ſome other Man?

35. Then Philip opened his Mouth, and began at the ſame Scripture, and preached to him Jeſus.

36. And as they went on their way, they came to a certain Water; and the Eunuch ſaid, See, here is Water, what doth hinder me to be baptized?

37. And Philip ſaid, If thou believeſt with all thy Heart, thou mayeſt: And he anſwered and ſaid, [o] I believe that Jeſus Chriſt is the Son of God. o

38. And he commanded the Chariot to ſtand ſtill; and they went down both into the Water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he (Philip) baptized him.

39. And when they were come out of the Water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch ſaw him no more; and [p] he went on his way rejoicing. p

40. But Philip was found at Azotus; and paſſing through (it,) he preached in all the Cities, till he came to Ceſarea (or the Tower of Straton, as it was named before it was rebuilt by Herod.)

a Ver. 1. AT that time there was a great Perſecution againſt the Church which was at Jeruſalem.] The Rage they were in for what was ſpoken, as they conceived, againſt the Law and the Temple, (a) for which they had the higheſt Veneration, and the cutting Words St. Stephen had pronounced before, and even of the Sanhedrim, as of a ſtiff-necked and uncircumciſed Generation, wanting that Circumciſion they ſo gloried in, not obſerving that Law they ſeemed ſo zealous for, perſecuting the Prophets who foretold of the Meſſias, betraying and murthering him when he was come, gave in all likelihood, the occaſion to this Perſecution of all others who believed this, as St. Stephen did; and that this Perſecution was ſet on by the Authority of this great Council, we may learn from the Part Saul bore in it; for he confeſſes, that he received his Authority to treat the Chriſtians thus from them, Chap. 22. 5.—26. 11. See [8] Additions, N°. 8.

b Ver. 2. Συνεκόμισε, Buried Stephen; i. e. They prepared Stephen for his Burial, as the Greek word properly imports, i. e. they did all things in order to it, waſhing his Body, Acts 9. 37. anointing it, and winding it up in Linen, putting it in the Coffin, carrying it forth to the Burial-place, and weeping there over it after the manner of the Jews. But whereas Grotius tells us from (b) St. Auſtin, De Civ. Dei, lib. 22. 8. That the Relicks of St. Stephen cured many Diſeaſes, it is wonderful he ſhould depend much on the Authority of St. Auſtin in this matter, ſeeing he tells us, That hujus Martyris corpus ex illo uſque ad iſta tempora latuit, nuper autem apparuit, ſicut ſolent apparere ſanctorum martyrum corpora Revelatione Dei, the Relicks of this Martyr were latent for about Four hundred Years, and only found by Revelation in his time: For there is not ſufficient reaſon to ſuſpect ſuch Revelations appearing only in that Age, when Religion began much to decline, and Superſtition, as St. Auſtin confeſſes, to abound? Would God thus honour this Martyr only then, and neglect to do it for Four hundred Years? Or did not Grotius know, that St. Auſtin ſaith in that very Chapter of theſe very Miracles, that they are not (c) of ſuch Authority, that we ſhould believe them without difficulty or doubting?

Ver. 4. They that were ſcattered abroad, c went through all Places, preaching the Word.] Hence it is highly probable, that it was not the whole Church of Jeruſalem, or the Body of the Laity, (ſeeing we find devout Men burying Stephen, ver. 3.) that was thus ſcattered abroad: For, what Authority had they they to preach the Word? But the Hundred and eight that were full of the Holy Ghoſt; This Perſecution aiming chiefly at thoſe who were ſuch as Stephen was; and therefore the Diſcourſe paſſes on from him to Philip, another of thoſe Perſons ſo qualified to preach the Goſpel.

d Ver. 5. Philip.] That this was Philip the Deacon, and not the Apoſtle, ſeems evident from theſe Conſiderations: (1.) That he ſeems not to have had the power of giving the Holy Ghoſt by Impoſition of Hands; for he fell upon none of the Samaritans, till Peter and John came, and laid their Hands upon them, ver 15, 16, 17. and ver. 18. it is particularly noted, that the Holy Ghoſt was given only by Impoſition of the Apoſtles Hands. (2.) That the Apoſtles were ſtill at Jeruſalem, ver. 1. whereas this Philip was one of thoſe that were diſperſed; for when St. Luke had ſaid, that the reſt were diſperſed, preaching the Goſpel, ver. 4. He adds, ver. 5. and Philip went down to Samaria preaching Chriſt. And, (3.) He goes from Azotus, evangelizing the Cities till he came to Cæſarea, ver. 40. and there we find Paul abiding in the Houſe of that Philip who was one of the ſeven Deacons, Acts 21. 8.

e Ver. 9. Λέγων εἶναί τινα ἑαυτὸν μέγαν, Saying, that he was ſome great One; and of whom the Samaritans ſaid, that he was ἡ δύναμις τοῦ Θεοῦ ἡ μεγάλη, the great Power of God, ver 10.] The Account which, according to St. Luke, this Magician gives of himſelf, is only this, That he was μέγας τὶς, ſome great Perſon, as Mountebanks uſually repreſent themſelves; and the Opinion, which his Magical Pranks had wrought in the Samaritans, only this, That he was the great Power of God; by which words, perhaps they only meant ſome Legate or Miniſter of God, aſſiſted by his mighty Power; and yet the Fathers tell us, he declared himſelf to be eum qui ſit ſuper omnia Pater, the Father which is above all: So (d) Irenæus, that he was bold to call himſelf the chief God: So (e) Tertullian, and that the Samaritans held him to be πρῶτον Θεὸν, the prime God, yea, to be God ὑπὲρ ἄνω πάσης ἀρχῆς καὶ ἐξουσίας καὶ δυνάμεως, above all Principality, Power, and Vertue: So (f) Juſtin M. Tho' he who reads theſe words of Irenæus, Eſſe ſe docuit ſublimiſſimam vitutem, hoc eſt, eum qui ſit ſuper omnia Pater; and theſe of Tertullian, Hic auſus eſt ſummam ſe dicere virtutem, id eſt, ſummum Deum, will be apt to think, they only did infer this from theſe words of St. Luke, that the Samaritans held he was ἡ μεγάλη τοῦ Θεοῦ δύναμις, the great Power of God: St. Luke goes on to inform us, that he believed, and was baptized in the Name of Jeſus, with the reſt of the Samaritans; and after this, 'tis difficult to conceive, how he ſhould perſuade the Samaritans, that he was God the Father, or the Jews he was that Son, that Jeſus, into whoſe Name he was baptized, or the Gentiles, that he was that Spirit which he would have purchaſed with Money: How can we eaſily conceive, that all Samaria ſhould own him as a great God, and yet he, as (g) Theodoret informs us, ſhould preſently after this, leave them, as having received the Doctrine of Chriſt, and go thence to thoſe who had not yet received it, and come in the ſecond Year of Claudius, i. e. about eight Years after to Rome, where he was confounded by the Prayers of Peter? or that being overcome, in the ſight of all that dwelt at Rome, they ſhould ſtill have erected till the time of Juſtin M. a Statue, Simoni Deo Sancto, to Simon the Holy God? [9]

f Ver. 14. They ſent to them Peter.] Here we find Peter ſent by the other Apoſtles, and by the Church, which is a ſign he was not their Head and Superiour; for greater is he that ſends, than he that is ſent.

g Ver. 15. Who prayed over them that they might receive the Holy Ghoſt.] Not that all who had been baptized, might receive it; for it was never ſo in any Church, no not at Jeruſalem; there being only ſome among them full of the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 6. 3. And therefore it ſeems reaſonable to ſay, with Dr. Lightfoot here, that they were ſuch as the Holy Ghoſt had pointed out to be ordained Miniſters, or for the receiving of the Prophetical Gifts which enabled Men then λειτουργεῖν to do ſacred Offices in the Aſſemblies where they were, Acts 13. 2, 3. and theſe Gifts being conferr'd, either by God immediately, as in the caſe of Cornelius, or only by the Apoſtles Hands; (h) Epiphanius obſerves rightly, that Philip being only a Deacon, had not the power to confer them, and therefore theſe Apoſtles were ſent to do it. But whereas Dr. Hammond ſaith, This laying on of Hands, was to confirm them, and to ordain Elders and Biſhops, in every City one; this latter Clauſe of the ordaining one Biſhop for every City of Samaria, when one City only had received the Faith, is very ſurprizing, it being new to hear of a Biſhop ſetled where there were no Chriſtians, and therefore they could have no Flock. Moreover, As this is ſpoken gratis, without any colour from the Text, ſo is there not the leaſt mention of any Deacons here ordained, tho' Epiphanius ſaith, there cannot be a Biſhop with- without Deacons. And if this Impoſition of Hands made them Biſhops of ſo many Cities of Samaria, by the ſame reaſon St. Paul impoſing his Hands on the twelve Men at Epheſus, Chap. 19. 6. muſt make them alſo Biſhops of twelve Cities of Aſia. In a word, it is evident, that by this Impoſition of hands the Holy Ghoſt fell on them, not to make them Biſhops of any City, but only Prophets and Teachers in the Churches where they came, and to which they travelled: Thus Silas coming a Prophet from Jeruſalem, returns not to Judea, to exerciſe any Epiſcopal Function there; but goes on with Paul to the Gentiles to viſit, and confirm the Churches, Acts 15. 34 —— 41. Nor was one of them only placed in a City, but many, five at Antioch, Acts 13. 1. more at Corinth, and perhaps at Epheſus. As for the other Opinion, that theſe Hands were laid on to confirm them; if Hands were not laid on all that were baptized, this makes nothing for confirmation; if they were, then Simon M. muſt be confirmed, and receive the Holy Ghoſt. And both theſe Opinions ſeem dangerous on this account, That the Holy Ghoſt was never thus conferr'd but by the Hands of an Apoſtle; and conſequently, if Confirmation and Ordination be laid on this Foundation, they may be ſaid to ceaſe with the Apoſtles. Notwithſtanding, this may well be deemed a fit Pattern for Biſhops to follow in the Apoſtolical Rite of Confirmation and Ordination, by laying on of Hands; by which Rite they, as Succeſſors of the Apoſtles, confer the ordinary Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, as the Apoſtles did the extraordinary Gifts of the ſame Spirit.

h Ver. 20. Thy Money periſh with thee, becauſe thou haſt thought the Gift of God might be purchaſed with Money.] As for the firſt Clauſe of theſe words, the Fathers look upon them rather as a prophetical Prediction than an Imprecation: And as for the Sin of Simon, it ſeems not to conſiſt ſo much in his Ambition and his Avarice, that he would be advanced to the higheſt Dignity, and have thoſe Gifts, by the exerciſe of which he hoped to be the greateſt Gainer; as in this, that he ſtrook at the very Foundation of the Chriſtian Faith, ſuppoſing that the Apoſtles and other Chriſtians did their Miracles in confirmation of it, by ſome higher Art of Magick than that which he had learned, and ſo they by the ſame Art could teach others to do the ſame Works for any other end. Now what relation this Sin hath to what we now call Simony, it is not eaſie to conceive; only becauſe he would have purchaſed this ſpiritual Gift with Money; hence by Analogy, all purchaſing of ſpiritual Offices or Places by ſuch ſordid means, doth bear that Name.

Ver. 26. Ἐπὶ τὴν ὁδὸν τὴν ἀναβαίνουσαν εἰς Γάζαν i αὕτη ἐστὶν ἔρημος, In the way which leadeth to Gaza, which way is a Deſart.] So Oecumenius, There is a way to the South, τὸ δὲ αὕτη ἐστὶν ἔρημος εἶπεν, and that way, ſaith he, is deſart. So (i) Pliny, Per continentem deſerta, oppidum Gaza; and this may be ſaid, to diſtinguiſh this Gaza of the Philiſtines from another Gaza in the Tribe of Ephraim, mention'd 1 Chron. 7. 28. not far from the place where Philip now was.

Ver. 27. Ἀνὴρ Αἰθίοψ εὐνοῦχος δυνάστης k
Κανδάκης τῆς Βασιλίσσης Αἰθιόπων, A Man of Æthiopia, an Eunuch, a man of great Authority under Candace, Queen of the Æthiopians.] This was not Æthiopia in Arabia, where the Queen of Sheba dwelt, but Æthiopia in Africa under Egypt, where Candace had long been the Name of their Queens. So (k) Pliny ſpeaking of Meroe ſaith, there reigns Candace, quod nomen multis jam Annis ad Reginas tranſiit, which hath for many Years been the Name of their Queens. See Bochart. Geogr. S. l. 4. c. 26. §. 4.

Moreover that this Eunuch, was a Proſelyte of Juſtice, or one who had embraced the Jewiſh Faith, to which he was converted by thoſe Jews which from Alexandria ſpread themſelves into Æthiopia, Grotius concludes; not only becauſe he came ſo long a Journey to worſhip at Jeruſalem, and there to celebrate the Feaſt of Pentecoſt, but becauſe Cornelius was the Firſt-fruits of the Gentiles; and perhaps the Fame that he had heard in Jeruſalem of the Sufferings and Reſurrection of Chriſt, might induce him to read this Prophet.

Ver. 31. How can I, except ſome Man ſhould guide me?] Here Grotius notes, that the Eunuch did not think the Scripture was every where ſo perſpicuous, or contained a ſenſe ſo obvious to all, as do now our Mechanicks, and Women, who would do better if they thought they needed a Guide: But ſure it will not follow, that becauſe the Eunuch wanted a Guide in an obſcure Propheſie, therefore we muſt want one to obtain the Knowledge of the plain Principles and Precepts of Chriſtianity; nor ſurely could he be ignorant that when we aſſert the clearneſs and perſpicuity of Scripture in all things neceſſary to be believed, or done, we do this not in oppoſition to the aſſiſtance of Reaſon, or in excluſion to the Inſtruction, and Help of others, but in oppoſition to the neceſſity of a living Judge and infallible Interpreter, ſuppoſed neceſſary to the Knowledge of that Will of God, by which alone we can be ſaved. Moreover, we do not ſay that Holy Scripture is abſolutely, ſolutely, and in all things perſpicuous, for we willingly acknowledge with (l) Origen, (m) Chryſoſtom, (n) Theodoret (o) St. Auſtin, Gregory, and almoſt all the Fathers, that there is in Scripture a mixture of obſcure, and plain Texts, ſome things which are δυσνόητα, hard to be underſtood, and ſome things which are eaſie to be apprehended by very mean Capacities; but our Aſſertion is that of (p) St. Chryſoſtom, that πάντα τὰ ἀναγκαῖα σαφῆ, all things neceſſary to be believed or done, are there delivered with ſufficient Clearneſs, or ſo that all who are concerned to know and do them that they may be ſaved, may hence learn them; and that of (q) St. Auſtin, that quiſque ibi fidem teneat, ſine quâ piè, rectéque non vivitur, every one may there obtain that Faith, without which he cannot piouſly and rightly live. And the reaſon hereof, ſaith (r) Mr. Chillingworth, is convincing, and demonſtrative, becauſe nothing is neceſſary to be believed, but what is plainly revealed; for to ſay that when a place of Scripture, by reaſon of ambiguous Terms, lies indifferent between divers ſenſes, whereof one is true, the other is falſe, that God obliges Men under pain of Damnation, not to miſtake through Error, and human Frailty, is to make God a Tyrant, and to ſay that he requires us certainly to attain that end, for the attaining whereof, we have no certain means. Moreover, the Apoſtles did not write only for the Learned, but for all Men; and therefore, unleſs we will imagine the Holy Ghoſt and them, to have been wilfully wanting to their own deſire, and purpoſe, we muſt conceive that they intended to ſpeak plain even to the Capacity of the Simpleſt, at leaſt touching all things neceſſary to be publiſhed by them, and believed by us.

2*dly*, We do not ſay that all things neceſſary to be believed or done are perſpicuouſly mentioned in all places of the Holy Scripture which reſpect thoſe things; but then we ſay, with (ſ) Irenæus, and the generality of the Fathers, that thoſe things which are ambiguouſly ſpoken in ſome places, are to be expounded by thoſe things which apertè, & ſine ambiguo poſita ſunt in Scripturis, are plainly, and without ambiguity, contained in the Scriptures; or if they cannot be this way expounded, the ſenſe of them cannot be needful to be known; (t) for if God's Will had been we ſhould have underſtood him more certainly in ſuch places, he would have ſpoken more plainly.

m Ver. 32. He was led as a Sheep to the Slaughter.] Theſe words are taken from Iſa. 53. 8. where that the Prophet ſpeaks of Chriſt, no Chriſtian can reaſonably doubt, there being ſcarce a Verſe in this whole Chapter which is not by the Holy Ghoſt in the New Teſtament applied to Chriſt, the firſt Verſe, John 12. 38. the third, Mark 9. 12. the fourth, Matth. 8. 17. the fifth, Mark 15. 28. And tho' the latter Jews will not allow of this Interpretation, yet ſome of them not only do own, that their (u) Ancient Rabbins did with one Mouth confeſs theſe words were ſpoken of Meſſiah the King; but alſo ſpeak thus of him, " The Holy Bleſſed God began to cove-

" and ſaid to him, the Sins of thoſe who are " laid up in ſecret with thee, will make thee
" to come under an Iron Yoke, and make

" and becauſe of their Iniquities thy Tongue

Whence three things are obſervable,

2*dly*, That their Meſſiah was to ſuffer for their ſakes, to make atonement for their Sins. And,

3*dly*, That he was to be the Salvation, not only of thoſe who were to live in, and after his time, but of all Men from the beginning. n Ver. 33. In his Humiliation his Judgment was taken away.] Here Mr. Clerc gives a good ſenſe of theſe words, viz. In his Humiliation was his Judgment, i. e. he appeared ſo mean to Pilate and the Jews, that they paſſed Judgment againſt him, and he was taken away by them as an inconſiderable Perſon, fit to be ſacrificed to prevent Seditions, or the coming of the Romans. The Hebrew ſaith, from Force and from Judgment he was taken away, i. e. it proceeded from the Judgment of Pilate, and from the Force, the continual Clamours of the Jews laid upon him to paſs that Judgment, that he was taken away, and who ſhall declare the Wickedneſs of that Generation, who dealt thus with their Meſſiah? which therefore in the Goſpels is ſtiled a viperous, Luke 3. 7. an adulterous, Mat. 12. 34, 39. a wicked, ver. 45. an untoward Generation, Acts 2. 40. and was ſo to be, ſay the Jews, in the days of the Meſſiah. o Ver. 37, &c. Πιςεύω τὸν υἱὸν τοῦ Θεοῦ εἶναι τὸν Ἰησοῦν Χριςόν, I believe that Jeſus Chriſt is the Son of God, &c.] Four things are hence obſervable. (1.) That Baptiſm was here performed by a καταβασις, or deſcent of the baptized Perſon into the Water. (2.) That upon this Faith, that Jeſus Chriſt was the Son of God, and that he died for our Sins, which was the thing which Philip preached to the Eunuch, adult Perſons, who before own'd one God, and the Spirit of Prophecy, as this Eunuch did, were received to that Baptiſm, in which they were taught, and by which they were obliged to obſerve all things that Jeſus had commanded; for tho' the Belief, that Jeſus was the Chriſt, the Son of God, was the great Article propounded, and firſt preached to every Convert; yet the end of Baptiſm being the Remiſſion of Sins, and the effect of it Juſtification, or the Abſolution of the baptized Perſon from his paſt Sins, and this Juſtification and Remiſſion of Sins being declared to be obtained only through Faith in his Blood, 'tis certain that believing in the Lord Jeſus muſt include Faith in his meritorious Death and Paſſion, or as the Scripture ſaith, Faith in his Blood. Hence the Apoſtle reckons this Article ἐν πρώτοις, among the firſt he preached to the Corinthians, that Chriſt died for our Sins according to the Scriptures, 1 Cor. 15. 3. and tells them, that he preached to them Chriſt crucified, 1 Cor. 1. 23. as the means of their Juſtification and Salvation. See the Preface to the General Epiſtle to St. John. (3.) Obſerve, that to the Jews and Proſelytes, who already own'd the true God, and believed his Prophets were inſpired by the Holy Ghoſt, Baptiſm was adminiſtred in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, Acts 2. 38. — 8. 16. — 10. 48. or in the Name of the Lord; but when the Apoſtles were ſent εἰς τὰ ἔθνη, to the Gentiles, who believed not theſe things, they are commanded to baptize them in the Name of the Father, Son, and Holy Ghoſt, Matth. 28. 20. Obſerve, (4.) That in ſome Copies we read thus, πνεῦμα ἅγιον ἐπέσεν ἐπὶ τὸν εὐνοῦχον, καὶ ἄγγελος Κυρίου, the Holy Ghoſt fell upon the Eunuch, and the Angel of the Lord caught away Philip; ſo the Alexandrian and other Manuſcripts, and ſo St. Jerom cites it, Dial. contra Lucif. F. 50. l. and according to this reading, the Eunuch was ſufficiently authorized to preach to, and convert the Æthiopians, as it is ſaid he did. See Iren. l. 3. c. 12. l. 4. c. 40. Euſeb. Hiſt. Eccl. lib. 2. c. 1. Hieron in Iſai. 53.

CHAP. IX.

a 1. AND Saul yet [a] breathing out Threatnings and Slaughter againſt the Diſciples of the Lord, went to the High-Prieſt, (and to all the Elders of the Sanhedrim, Acts 22. 5.)

2. And he deſired of him (and them, ibid.)
b [b] Letters to Damaſcus to the Synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were Men or Women, he might bring them bound to Jeruſalem, (to be judged, and puniſhed by them; ibid.)

3. And as he journied, (in purſuit of his Commiſſion,) he came near Damaſcus, and ſuddenly (about mid-day, Acts 22. 6.) there ſhined round about him, (and thoſe that were with him, Acts 26. 13.) a Light from Heaven, (above the brightneſs of the Sun, ibid.)

4. And he, (and all that were with him, Acts 26. 14.) fell to the Earth, and (he) heard a (n articulate) Voice, ſaying to him, c (in the Hebrew Tongue, ibid.) Saul, [c] Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me?

5. And he ſaid, (in anſwer to it, Acts 22. 8.) Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord ſaid, I am Jeſus whom thou perſecuteſt, it
d is (or will be) [d] hard for thee to kick againſt the Pricks, (thus to ſet thy ſelf to fight againſt God.)

6. And he trembling, and (being) aſtoniſhed, ſaid, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do, (to avoid thy farther Diſpleaſure?) And the Lord ſaid to him, Ariſe, (ſtand upon thy Feet,) and go into the City, (of Damaſcus,) and (there) it ſhall be told thee what thou muſt do, (or of all things which thou art appointed to do, Acts 22. 10. for, for this cauſe have I appeared to thee, Acts 26. 17, 18)

7. [And the Men that journied with him, ſtood ſpeechleſs, (through fear, Acts 22. 9.)
e [e] hearing a Voice, but ſeeing no Man,] (nor knowing what was ſaid to him;)

8. And Saul aroſe from the Earth, (and they that were with him,) and when (the lids of) his Eyes were opened, he ſaw no Man, (his Eyes being dazled with the Glory of that Light, Acts 22. 11.) but they (who were with him) led him by the Hand, and brought him to Damaſcus.

9. And he was three days without ſight, and neither did eat nor drink.

10. And there was a certain Diſciple at Damaſcus, named Ananias, (a devout Man according to the Law, having a good Report of all the Jews that dwelt there, Acts 22.
f 12.) and to him ſaid the Lord [f] in a Viſion, Ananias; and he ſaid, behold, I am here, Lord.

11. And the Lord ſaid to him, Ariſe, and go into the Street which is called Straight, and enquire in the Houſe of Judas, for one called Saul of Tharſus; for behold he prayeth;

12. And hath ſeen in a Viſion a Man named Ananias coming in, and putting his Hand on him that he might receive his ſight.

13. Then Ananias anſwered, Lord, I have heard by many of this Man, how much Evil he hath done to thy Saints at Jeruſalem;

14. And here he hath Authority from the Chief Prieſts, to bind [g] all that call on thy g
Name, (i. e. all thy Diſciples.)

15. But the Lord ſaid to him, Go thy way (upon this my Meſſage,) for he is a choſen Veſſel to me, to bear my Name before (i. e. to preach Chriſt to) the Gentiles, and Kings, and (to) the Children of Iſrael.

16. For I will ſhew him how great things he muſt ſuffer for my Name's ſake, (and yet the proſpect of them ſhall not make him diſobedient to the heavenly Viſion, but as forward to preach, as ever he was to perſecute the Preachers of the Goſpel:)

17. And (then) Ananias went his way, and entred into the Houſe (where Saul was,) and putting his Hands on him, (i. e. his Eyes,) ſaid, Brother Saul, [h] the Lord (even h that) Jeſus that appeared to thee in the way as thou cameſt (hither,) hath ſent me (to thee,) that thou mighteſt receive thy ſight, and (at thy Baptiſm into his Name, mayſt) be filled with the Holy Ghoſt, (as his other Apoſtles were, I therefore ſay to thee in his Name, receive thy ſight, Chap. 22. 13.)

18. And immediately there fell from his Eyes, as it had been Scales, and he received ſight forthwith, and (when Ananias had ſaid to him, the God of thy Fathers hath choſen thee, that thou ſhouldſt know his Will, and ſee that Juſt One, and ſhouldſt hear the Voice of his Mouth, &c. Acts 22. 14, 15, 16. he) [i] aroſe i and was baptized.

19. And when he had received Meat, he was ſtrengthned: Then was Saul certain days with the Diſciples which were at Damaſcus.

20. And ſtraightway he preached Chriſt in the Synagogues (there, proving) that he is the Son of God.

21. But all that heard him were amazed, and ſaid, Is not this he that deſtroyed them which called on this Name in Jeruſalem, and came hither for that intent, that he might bring them bound to the Chief Prieſts?

22. But [k] Saul increaſed more in Strength, k and (by the Evidence of his Reaſonings,) confounded the (unbelieving) Jews which dwelt at Damaſcus, proving (to them from the Scriptures,) that this (Jeſus, whom he preached, is (was the) very Chriſt (promiſed.)

l 23. And after that [l] many days were fulfilled, the Jews took counſel to kill him;

24. But their laying (in) wait (to do it) was known of Saul, and (for) they watched the Gates day and night to kill him;

25. Then the Diſciples took him by night, and let him down by the Wall in a Basket.

26. And when Saul was come to Jeruſalem, he aſſayed to join himſelf to the Diſciples, but they were all afraid of him, and believed not that he was a Diſciple.

27. But Barnabas took him, and brought him to the Apoſtles, and declared to them, how he had ſeen the Lord in the way (to Damaſcus,) and that he had ſpoken to him, and how he had preached boldly at Damaſcus in the Name of Jeſus;

28. And he was with them coming in, and going out at Jeruſalem.

29. And he ſpake boldly in the Name of the Lord Jeſus, and diſputed againſt the Grecians, (i.e. the Jews that uſed the Greek Tongue,) but they (alſo) went about to ſlay him.

30. Which when the Brethren knew, they brought him down to Cæſarea (Philippi) and ſent him forth to Tarſus.

31. Then had the Churches reſt throughout all Judea, and Galilee, and Samaria, m [m] and were edified, and walking in the Fear of the Lord, and in the Comforts of the Holy Ghoſt, were multiplied.

n 32. [n] And it came to paſs, as Peter paſſed through all Quarters (of Judea, where Diſciples were,) he came down alſo to the Saints which dwelt at Lydda, (a City of Paleſtine.)

33. And there he found a certain Man named Æneas, who had kept his Bed eight Years, and (who) was ſick of the Palſie.

34. And Peter ſaid to him, Æneas, Jeſus Chriſt maketh thee whole, (I therefore ſay to thee in his Name,) ariſe, and make thy Bed, and he aroſe immediately.

35. And all that dwelt at Lydda, and (in the Plain of) Saron, (extending from Cæſarea Paleſtine to Joppa,) ſaw him, and (by this means) turned to the Lord.

36. Now there was at Joppa, (a Phœnician City, lying upon the Mediterranean,) a certain Diſciple, named [o] Tabitha, who by Interpretation is called Dorcas (a Roe) this Woman was full of good Works, and Almsdeeds which ſhe did.

37. And it came to paſs in thoſe Days, that ſhe was ſick and died; whom when they had waſhed, (in preparation for her Interment,) they laid her in an upper Chamber;

38. And foraſmuch as Lydda was nigh to Joppa, and the Diſciples had heard that Peter was there, they ſent to him two Men, deſiring him that he would not delay to come to them.

39. Then Peter aroſe and went with them; and when he was come, they brought him (Gr. whom being come they brought) into the upper Chamber, and all the Widows ſtood by him weeping, and ſhewing the Coats and Garments which Dorcas (had) made while ſhe was with them:

40. But Peter put them all forth, and kneeling down, prayed, and turning him to the Body, ſaid, Tabitha, ariſe; and ſhe opened her Eyes, and when ſhe ſaw Peter, ſhe ſat up.

41. And he gave her his Hand, and lift (ed) her up, and when he had called the Saints and Widows, preſented her (to them) alive.

42. And it was known throughout all Joppa, and many (upon that account) believed in the Lord.

43. And it came to paſs that he tarried many days in Joppa, with one Simon a Tanner.

Annotations on Chap. IX.

a Ver. 1. AND Saul ἐμπνέων ἀπειλῆς καὶ φόνου, Breathing out Threatnings, and Slaughter.] It appears hence that the Power of capital Puniſhments was not ſo taken from the Jewiſh Sanhedrim, held at Jeruſalem, but that they might inflict this Puniſhment upon thoſe of their own Nation, either by their own Power, or by the conſent of the Roman Governors, in caſes puniſhable with Death by their Laws and Cuſtoms. For Saul confeſſes that he perſecuted this way unto the Death, by virtue of this Power received from the Sanhedrim, binding and delivering up to Priſon Men and Women, Acts 22. 4. See the Note on John 18. 31.

b Ver. 2. Letters to Damaſcus to the Synagogues.] From this, and from the 20th Verſe, where Paul is ſaid to preach Chriſt at Damaſcus in the Synagogues of the Jews, it appears that there were more Synagogues of the Jews than one in that City; and that it was ſo alſo in other Cities. See Vitringa de Synag. Vet. l. 1. par. 1. c. 14. p. 255, &c.

c Ver. 4. Saul,—why perſecuteſt thou me?] The Perſecutions of Chriſt's Members are repreſented as the Perſecutions of Chriſt himſelf, by reaſon of the Union to him by the Spirit which renders them his Body, and of that Sympathy he hath with them under all their Sufferings, which makes him συμπαθῆσαι, σαι, to suffer with them, Heb. 4. 15. Isa. 63. 9.

d Ver. 5. It is hard for thee πρὸς κέντρα λακτίζειν, to kick against the Pricks.] This is a Proverbial Expression, signifying the damage and hurt they are like to receive, who resist and fight against those who are superiour to them, and especially against God. So Euripides in Bacch. v. 794.

Θυοίμ' ἄν ὦτᾰ, μᾶλλον ἢ θυμούμενος
Πρὸς κέντρα λακτίζοιμι θνητὸς ὢν τῷ θεῷ.

I will rather offer Sacrifice to him, than being a mortal Man be angry with God, and kick against the Goads.

And (a) Pindar saith, we must not contend against God, but bear the Yoke he puts upon our Neck mildly, and not kick against the Goads, πολὶ κέντρον ὄ τοί λακτίζομεν, that is, saith the Scholiast, not μάχεσθε τῇ τυχῇ ἄνθρωπον ὄντα, to fight against God being only Men. The great (b) Bochart will not have this Proverb taken from Æschylus, Euripides, Pindar, or Plautus, but from the Scriptures; it being used, saith he, by Moses, saying, Jeshurun waxed fat, & recalcitravit, and kicked against the Law, Deut. 32. 15. and by God himself enquiring, why kick ye against my Sacrifices? 1 Sam. 2. 29. See Examen Millii.

e Ver. 7. Ἀκούοντες μὲν τῆς φωνῆς, Hearing a Voice.] To reconcile this with Chap. 22. 9. where it is said, that the Men that were with him, τῆς φωνῆς οὐκ ἤκουσε, heard not the Voice of him that spake to, or with him; Dr. Hammond notes that the word φωνὴ signifies Thunder, and so he reconciles these places, by saying, They that were with me heard the Voice of the Thunder, but heard not the Voice of him that spake unto me; That this Importance of the word φωνὴ is frequent in the Old Testament, cannot be doubted; thus Exod. 9. 23. The Lord sent Thunder and Hail, φωνὰς καὶ χάλαζαν· and ver. 27. I will stretch forth my Hand, and the Thunder shall cease, καὶ αἱ φωναὶ παύσονται· and ver. 33. he stretched out his Hand, καὶ αἱ φωναὶ ἐπαύσαντο· and ver. 34. when Pharaoh saw, ὅτι ἐπαύθη ἡ χάλαζα, καὶ αἱ φωναὶ, that the Hail and Thunder were ceased, he hardned his Heart. So Exod. 19. 16. It came to pass on the third day, that there were Thundrings and Lightnings, φωναὶ, καὶ ἀστραπαὶ· Chap. 20. 18. all the People saw the Thundrings, and Lightnings, τὴν φωνὴν, καὶ τὰς λαμπάδας. So Psal. 18. 13. the Lord thundred out of Heaven, and the Highest gave his Voice. 29. 3. The Voice of the Lord is upon the Waters, the God of Glory thundreth. So Psal. 19. 1, 3. The Heavens declare the Glory of God, and the Firmament, or Clouds of Heaven shew his handy Work; there is no Speech or Language, where the Voice, i. e. their Thunder, is not heard. If it be said, we find no mention of any Thunder here, it may be answered, that it was usually an attendance of such glorious Coruscations as this was; if you add, that here is mention of a Voice speaking in the Hebrew Tongue, it may be still replied, that thus it was at Sinai, where God answered Moses τῇ φωνῇ, out of the Thunder, Exod. 19. 19. If, 3*dly*, You object that it is said, they heard a Voice, but they saw no Person, and in Thunder this is not expected; I answer, this is true of common Thunder, but in such an extraordinary Illumination as this was, they reasonably might expect the Vision of an Angel, or some glorious Person, especially if the Conjecture of most Interpreters be true, that Paul not only heard, but saw the Lord Jesus speaking to him; this will be no Objection against the Interpretation of this Learned Man: Or, (2.) This seeming Contradiction may be reconciled thus, they heard a voice, but οὐκ ἤκουσε they understood not the words of him that spake unto me; for οὐκ ἀκούειν frequently in Scripture signifies not to understand what we hear: Thus God saith of the Builders of Babel, Let us confound their Tongues, ἵνα μὴ ἀκούσωσιν, that they may not understand one another's Speech, Gen. 11. 7.—42. 43. The Lord shall bring upon thee a Nation, ἧς οὐκ ἀκούσῃ τὴν φωνὴν αὐτῶν, whose Tongue thou shalt not understand, Deut. 28. 49. I will bring upon thee a Nation, ἧς οὐκ ἀκούσῃ τὴν φωνὴν τὴν γλώσσης αὐτῶν, whose Language thou knowest not, neither understandest what they say, Jer. 5. 15. Speak in the Syrian Tongue, ὅτι ἀκούομεν ἡμεῖς, for we understand it, 2 Kings 18. 26. I sent thee not unto a People of a strange Speech, and hard Language, ὧν οὐκ ἀκούσῃ τοὺς λόγους, whose words thou canst not understand, Ezek. 3. 6. He that speaketh in an unknown Tongue, speaketh not to Men, but to God, οὐδεὶς γὰρ ἀκούει, for no Man understands him, 1 Cor. 14. 2. See Additions, N°. 13.

(13) f Ver. 10. The Lord said to him in a Vision.] That is, saith Grotius, an Angel in the shape of the Lord; but as we have no Example in the New Testament of any such Appearance of an Angel in the Person of Christ, so is it certain that here it was not so, but really was a Vision of the Lord Jesus; for Ananias not only calls him Lord, but calls Christians his Saints, and those that call upon his Name, ver. 13, 14.

g Ver. 14. All that call upon thy Name.] There be two Periphrases of the Christian which occur in this Chapter, and in other places of the Acts; The first, ver. 2. that they are Men and Women τῆς ὁδοῦ, of the way. So when St. Paul went into the Synagogue at Corinth, they did κακολογεῖν τὴν ὁδὸν, speak evil, evil of the way, Acts 19. 9. And at Epheſus, there was no ſmall diſturbance, περὶ τῆς ὁδοῦ, touching the way. See Chap. 24. 22. And ſo ſome of the Ancients ſeem to have ſpoken: So in the Hiſtory of the Perſecutions of the (c) Gallican Church we read of ſome Apoſtates from the Faith, βλασφεμήσαντες τὴν ὁδὸν, who blaſphemed the way. And (d) Epiphanius introduceth the Melchiſedecians ſaying, that Chriſt was choſen that he might turn us from Idols, καὶ ὑπέδειξεν ἡμῖν τὴν ὁδὸν, and might ſhew us the way. The ſecond Periphraſis was this, that they were ſuch as invoked Jeſus Chriſt, or called upon his Name; thus Ananias complains of Saul to Chriſt, ſaying, he hath done much Evil to thy Saints, and is come hither to bind all that call upon thy Name; and the unbelieving Jews ſay of him preaching Jeſus Chriſt in their Synagogues, is not this he who waſted τοὺς ἐπικαλουμένους τὸ ὄνομα τοῦτο, thoſe that call upon that Name? ver. 21. Thus St. Paul writes to Saints called, and to all other Chriſtians under the Title of all that call upon the Lord Jeſus Chriſt in every place, 1 Cor. 1. 2. and then in the very next Verſe, he himſelf prays, that Grace and Peace may be derived upon them, from God the Father, and from the Lord Jeſus Chriſt. See the Notes there; and 2 Tim. 2. 22. bids Chriſtians follow after Peace μετὰ τῶν ἐπικαλουμένων τὸν Κύριον, with thoſe that call upon the Lord with a pure Heart, that is, with all Believers, it being the ſame thing to believe in, and to call upon the Name of the Lord Jeſus. Hence St. Peter ſaith, he that believeth in him ſhall not be aſhamed, becauſe it is written, whoſoever ſhall call upon the Name of the Lord ſhall be ſaved, Joel 2. 32. See the Note there. And hence we learn who that Lord is whom Ananias bid St. Paul invoke, when he ſaith Chap. 22. 16. ariſe, and be baptized ἐπικαλεσάμενος, calling upon the Name of the Lord, even the Lord Jeſus who appeared to him, Chap. 9. 17. See the Note on Chap. 22. 16. and what is meant by that Phraſe, viz. Profeſs thy Faith, by being baptized in, and by calling on his Name; this was a thing ſo continually practiſed by the firſt Chriſtians, that Pliny mentions it in his Epiſtle to Trajan, telling him, that 'twas the Cuſtom of the Chriſtians, Carmen Chriſto quaſi Deo canere, to ſing an Hymn to Chriſt as God: For as St. Paul in his thirteen firſt Epiſtles, prays for Grace and Peace from God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; and St. John in his ſecond Epiſtle, ver. 3. doth the ſame; ſo doth Polycarp, the Diſciple of St. John, in the Proem of his Epiſtle to the Church of Philippi, pray, that Mercy and Peace may be multiplied to them from God Omnipotent, καὶ Κυρίου Ἰησοῦ Χριστοῦ τοῦ Σωτῆρος ἡμῶν, and from our Lord Jeſus Chriſt our Saviour; and the Church of Smyrna in her circular Epiſtle to all Chriſtians, prays, that Mercy, Peace and Love, may be multiplied to them from God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt. Ignatius in like manner, in the Proem to his Epiſtle to the Magneſians; wiſhes them Health from God the Father, and our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; in that to the Romans, Health in our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, Θεῷ ἡμῶν, our God: In that to the Church of Smyrna, Health ἐν ἀμώμῳ πνεύματι, καὶ λόγῳ Θεοῦ, in the immaculate Spirit, and the Word of God. And as St. Paul in his Epiſtles often prays to Chriſt both for himſelf, 1 Cor. 12. 8, 9, 10. See the Note there, and for other Chriſtians, 1 Theſſ. 3. 11, 12. 2 Theſſ. 2. 16.—3. 16. ſo did the Primitive Chriſtians pray and intreat others to pray to him. So (e) Ignatius ſaith to the Church of Rome, πλανᾶσθε τὸν Χριστὸν ὑπὲρ ἡμῶν, pray to Chriſt for me, that by the Beaſts I may be found a Sacrifice to God; and ſaith to the Church of Epheſus, (f) If Jeſus Chriſt ſhall make me worthy by your Prayer; and the Church of (g) Smyrna ſaith, they could not leave Chriſt, καὶ εὐχεσθαι, orationis precem impendere, and worſhip, or pray to any other.

Ver. 17. The Lord Jeſus who appeared to thee, ὁ ὀφθεὶς σοὶ, who was ſeen of thee.] I think it not neceſſary from theſe words to affirm that St. Paul here ſaw the Perſon of Jeſus Chriſt, ſeeing in three Relations of this matter he mentions no ſuch thing, but only that he ſaw the glorious Light in which he did appear, and which was the Symbol of his Preſence; for ſo in the Old Teſtament Men are often ſaid to have ſeen the Lord. when they ſaw only the Glory in which he did appear, for they never ſaw his Shape. Thus of the Nobles that went up with Moſes into the Mount, it is ſaid, Exod. 24. 10, 12. that they ſaw God, the God of Iſrael, and yet they ſaw no manner of ſimilitude, Deut. 4. 12, 15. whence the Chaldee Paraphraſt in all theſe places ſaith, they ſaw the Glory of God; but if it were neceſſary to ſay St. Paul ſaw his Perſon, the Text ſeems rather to require us to ſay, he ſaw him in the way, than in the Heavens. Chriſt, he being an Apoſtle not of Man, nor by Man, Gal. 1. 1. but by Chriſt alone.

k Ver. 22. Paul increaſed in Strength,] by the Spirit of Wiſdom and of Propheſie, συμβιβάζων, proving that he is the Chriſt. The word here rendred proving, ſignifies to perſuade, teach, confirm or diſcourſe; hence συμβίβασις is by Heſychius and Phavorinus rendred πεῖσις, διδαχὴ, πίστις, Perſuaſion, Doctrine, Confirmation; συμβιβάζω by Suidas διδάσκω, I teach; So 1 Cor. 2. 16. τὶς συμβιβάσει αὐτὸν, who ſhall inſtruct, or teach God? So Exod. 18. 16. συμβιβάζω αὐτοὺς, I make them know, or teach them the Statutes of God. Deut. 4. 9. συμβιβάσεις, thou ſhalt teach them thy Sons. So alſo Lev. 10. 11. So God ſaith to Moſes, Exod. 4. 12. συμβιβάζω σε, I will teach thee what to ſay, v. 15. συμβιβάσω ὑμᾶς, I will teach, or inſtruct thee, and Aaron what to do; and the Angel to Daniel, Chap. 9. 12. I came forth συμβιβάσαι σε, to inſtruct thee. So Pſal. 32. 8. συμβιβῶ σε, I will inſtruct thee in the way in which thou ſhalt go. See Judg. 13. 8. Iſa. 40. 13. The Doctrine he taught, and proved to the Jews, was, ver. 20. that Jeſus was the Son of God, foretold Pſal. 2. here that he was the Chriſt, and when the Jews ſpeak of the Son of God, or the Apoſtles, or others ſpeak to the unbelieving Jews of the Son of God, it may reaſonably be granted that no more is meant by that Phraſe than the Meſſiah, they underſtanding nothing of the Divine Original of the Son of God, and being firſt to be convinced that he was the Meſſiah; but hence it follows not that this Phraſe ſignifies no more when he is ſtiled ὁ μονογενὴς, the only begotten, or ἴδιος υἱὸς, the proper Son of God, Rom. 8. 32. or when Chriſt argues from his doing the Works of God, that God was his Father.

l Ver. 23. And when many days were fulfilled.] The Hiſtory of St. Paul's Preaching at Damaſcus, and going after to Jeruſalem, is ſomewhat intricate, and Interpreters differ much about it; ſome thinking that St. Paul preached at Damaſcus, immediately after his Converſion, and that the Jews then thought to kill him, and that then alſo he went thence to Jeruſalem; others, that this only happen'd three Years after his Converſion, and that then only he went to Jeruſalem; I ſhall therefore endeavour to give a brief account of this matter. And,

1*ſt*, I grant that St. Paul preached at Damaſcus immediately after his Converſion; this ſeems plain from the Text, which ſays, he was baptized, and receiving Meat was ſtrengthned, καὶ εὐθέως, and ſtraightway he preached Jeſus in the Synagogues of Damaſcus, ver. 18. 19, 20. And, 2*dly*, From the Amazement of the Jews, that he ſhould do this who came hither for this very purpoſe, to bind them that call upon this Name.

2*dly*, It ſeems as evident that this Conſultation to kill him could not be at his firſt Converſion, but ſome Years after; for he was let down the Wall in a Basket, and ſcaped their Hands, and then went to Jeruſalem, and was brought by Barnabas to the Apoſtles, ver. 26, 27. Now he himſelf declares that εὐθέως ſoon after his Converſion he went not up to Jeruſalem to thoſe that were Apoſtles before him; but went into Arabia, and returned again to Damaſcus, and after three Years went up to Jeruſalem, where he ſaw Peter and James, Gal. 1. 16 — 19. The Series of the Hiſtory therefore ſeems to lie thus; (1.) St. Paul after his Converſion inſtantly preaches in the Synagogues of Damaſcus, that Jeſus was the Son of God, ver. 20. (2.) That going thence into Arabia, betwixt two and three Years after, he returns to Damaſcus, Gal. 1. 17. and of this Journey, Luke being not with him, gives no Account. (3.) That at his Return, being encreaſed in Wiſdom and Strength, he continues many Days in Damaſcus, proving, that Jeſus was the Chriſt. (4.) That after three Years, he eſcaping from Damaſcus, comes to Jeruſalem, and is by Barnabas brought to the Apoſtles, Peter and James, and continued there fifteen Days, Gal. 1. 18, 19. (5.) That there Chriſt appears to him in a Viſion, commanding him to depart out of Jeruſalem; and he accordingly goes thence to Cæſarea Philippi in Cæloſyria, and to Tarſus in Cilicia, Acts 9. 30. Gal. 1. 21. It being then ſo long ere he came to Jeruſalem, Barnabas might well know, either from the Brethren of Damaſcus coming to Jeruſalem, or from ſome Journey he had taken thither, the certainty of his Converſion to the Chriſtian Faith.

Ver. 31. And were edified.] Of the import of the word Edification, ſee Note on Rom. 15. 2. it is added, and walking in the fear of God, and in the comfort of the Holy Ghoſt, were multiplied; their ſhining Piety above others, and their great Joy in the Holy Ghoſt, attracting others to the Faith. m

Ver. 32, 33. And it came to paſs, that Peter paſſing διὰ πάντων, thro' all the forementioned places of Judea, Samaria and Galilee, he came down alſo to the Saints that dwelt at Lydda, a City in the Tribe of Benjamin.] He being the chief Apoſtle of the Circumciſion, viſits the Brethren in thoſe parts that were circumciſed: But that he went down to Antioch, and founded the Church there, and ſat Biſhop in it five or ſeven Years, as Baronius fancies, is not only beſides the Text, which mentions nothing of St. Peter's going beyond the places here mentioned, but it is plainly inconſiſtent with his Impriſonment at Jeruſalem, Chap. 12. and with his abode at Joppa till he went to Cæſarea, Chap. 9. 43. — 11. 5. Still more ridiculous are they who ſay, he went to viſit all Chriſtian Churches n every where; it being plain from the Hiſtory of the Acts, that he abode at Joppa, till he went to Cæſarea, and that from thence he returned to Jeruſalem, Acts 11. 2. And there is as much reaſon to ſay, that Philip did ſo, becauſe from Azotus, a City of the Philiſtines, 1 Sam. 5. 2. he preached through all the Cities till he came to Ceſarea, Chap. 8. 43. That ever he was at Antioch, till St. Paul and Barnabas having founded a Church there, he came, and was ſharply rebuked by St. Paul for his Diſſimulation againſt his own Knowledge and miraculous Conviction, I find no reaſon to believe.

Ver. 36. Tabitha, which by interpretation o is called Dorcas,] a Roe, both in Greek and Hebrew, ſay the Allegoriſts, from her quick ſight into ſpiritual Things, and her high Contemplations; theſe Roes feeding on the Mountains, as if this Name had been given her by way of Propheſie. The reaſon why St. Luke gives this Interpretation of her Syriac Name, ſeems rather to be this, That ſhe being a Græciſing Jeweſs, was called by the firſt Name by the Jews, and by the ſecond among the Greeks.

CHAP. X.

1. THere was a certain Man in Cæſarea, called Cornelius, a Centurion, of the Band called the Italian Band:

a 2. (He was) a devout Man, and [a] one that feared (the true) God with all his Houſe, (they being all Proſelytes of the gate, one alſo) who gave much Alms to the (in- b digent) People, and [b] prayed to God always, (i. e. Morning and Evening daily, and at all the Hours of Prayer.)

c 3. [c] (And) he ſaw in a Viſion evidently, d [d] about the ninth hour of the Day, (the time of the Evening Sacrifice, when he was praying, ver. 39.) an Angel of God coming to him (in the likeneſs of a Man, ver. 30) and ſaying to him, Cornelius.

4. And when he looked on him, he was afraid, and ſaid, What is it Lord, (thou wouldſt ſay to me?) And he ſaid to him, e [e] Thy Prayers and thy Alms are come up for a Memorial (for good to thee) before God.

5. And now ſend men to Joppa, and call f for one Simon, [f] whoſe Sirname is Peter;

6. He lodgeth (there) with one Simon a Tanner, whoſe Houſe is by the Sea-ſide, he (being come) ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to do, (that thou mayeſt be ſaved, Chap. 11. 14.)

7. And when the Angel which ſpake to Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his Houſhold Servants, and a devout Soldier, (who was a Proſelyte, and one) of them who waited on him continually:

8. And when he had declared all things to them (which the Angel had ſaid to him,) he ſent them to Joppa (for Peter.)

9. On the morrow as they went on their
g Journey, and drew nigh to the City, [g] Peter went up upon the Houſe top to pray (towards the Temple,) about the ſixth Hour, (being an Hour of Prayer;)

10. And became very hungry, and would have eaten; but while they made ready, (Gr. were preparing ſomething for him to eat,) he fell into a Trance, (or Ecſtacy;)

11. And ſaw Heaven opened, and a certain Veſſel deſcending to him as it had been a great Sheet, knit at the four Corners, and let down to the Earth:

12. Wherein were all manner of four-footed Beaſts of the Earth, and wild Beaſts, and creeping Things, and Fowls of the Air, (clean, and unclean Beaſts together.)

13. And there came a Voice to him, (ſaying,) Riſe, Peter, kill and eat, (of them without diſtinction.)

14. But Peter ſaid, (I can) not (do) ſo, Lord; for (out of regard to the Law,) I have never eaten any thing that is (in it ſtiled) common or unclean.

15. And the Voice ſpake to him again the ſecond time, (ſaying,) What (that) God (who inſtituted the Law of Moſes, by this declaration of his Will) hath cleanſed, [h] that h call not thou (any longer) common.

16. (And) [i] this was done thrice, (for the i certainty of the thing;) and (then) the Veſſel was received up again into Heaven.

17. Now while Peter doubted in himſelf what that Viſion which he had ſeen, ſhould mean: Behold, the Men who were ſent from Cornelius, had made enquiry for Simon's Houſe, and ſtood before the Gate,

18. And called, and asked whether Simon who was ſirnamed Peter, lodged there;

19. While Peter thought on the Viſion, the Spirit ſaid unto him, Behold, three men ſeek thee:

20. Ariſe therefore, and get thee down, and go with them, doubting nothing (of the unlawfulneſs of converſing with them; for I have ſent them.

21. Then Peter went down to the Men which were ſent to him from Cornelius, and ſaid, Behold, I am he whom ye ſeek; what is the cauſe wherefore ye are come (to me?)

22. And they ſaid, Cornelius the Centurion, a juſt Man, and one that feareth God, and (is) of good Report among all the Nation of the Jews, was warned from God by an holy Angel to ſend for thee (to come) into his Houſe, and to hear words of thee.

23. Then called he them in, and lodged them; and on the morrow Peter went away with them, and certain Brethren from Joppa, (ſix in number, being Jews.) accompanied him, (the Providence of God, ſo ordering it, that they might be Witneſſes of what was ſaid and done.)

24. And the morrow after, they entred into Cæſarea; and Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his Kinſmen and near Friends, (Gr. and Cornelius calling together his Kinſmen and near Friends, to hear what Peter ſhould ſay to them concerning the way of Salvation, Chap. 11. 14. was expecting them.)

k 25. And as Peter was coming in, [k] Cornelius met him, and fell down at his Feet, and worſhipped him.

26. But Peter took him up, ſaying, Stand up; I my ſelf alſo am a Man, (and ſo cannot receive ſuch Worſhip.)

27. And as he talked with him, he went in, and found many that were come together (to hear his words.)

28. And he ſaid to them, Ye know, that (according to the Traditions of the Jews,) it is an unlawful thing for a Man that is a Jew, to keep company or come to one of another Nation, (as being by them accounted unclean;) but God hath ſhewed me (by a Viſion,) that I ſhould not (from henceforth) call any Man common or unclean.

29. Therefore came I to you without gainſaying, aſſoon as I was ſent for: I ask therefore, for what intent ye have ſent for me?

l 30. And Cornelius ſaid, [l] Four days ago I was faſting until this hour; and at the ninth hour, I prayed in my Houſe; and behold, (an Angel in the ſhape of) a Man ſtood before me in bright Cloathing.

31. And ſaid, Cornelius, thy Prayer is heard, and thine Alms are had in remembrance in the ſight of God:

32. Send therefore to Joppa, and call hither Simon, whoſe ſirname is Peter; he is lodged in the Houſe of Simon, a Tanner by the Sea-ſide, who when he is come ſhall ſpeak to thee, (ver. 6.)

33. Immediately therefore I ſent to thee, and thou haſt done well that thou art come: Now therefore are we all here preſent before God, to hear all things that are commanded thee of God (to ſay to us:)

34. Then Peter opened his Mouth, and m ſaid, Of a Truth [m] I perceive, that God is no reſpecter of Perſons; (i. e. he accepts no Man, merely becauſe he is of ſuch a Nation, or deſcended from ſuch Anceſtors;)

35. But in every Nation he that feareth him, and worketh Righteouſneſs, is accepted with him.

36. (Ye know) [n] the Word which God n ſent to the Children of Iſrael, preaching Peace (and reconciliation to himſelf,) by Jeſus Chriſt; he is Lord of all; (God having exalted him to be a Prince, and a Saviour, to give Repentance and Remiſſion of Sins, Chap. 5. 31.)

37. That word (I ſay) you know, which was publiſhed throughout all Judea, and began from Galilee, after the Baptiſm which John preached:

38. How God anointed Jeſus of Nazareth, (i.e. Jeſus of Nazareth ye know, and how God anointed him) with the Holy Ghoſt, and with Power, who (thereupon) went about doing good, and healing all that were oppreſſed of the Devil; for God was with him.

39. And we are witneſſes of all things that he did, both in the Land of the Jews, and in Jeruſalem, whom (yet) they (of the Jews) ſlew, and hanged on a Tree:

40. (We alſo teſtifie, that) him God raiſed upon the third day, and ſhewed him openly;

41. Not to all the People, but to (us his) Witneſſes, choſen before of God, (to teſtifie this to the World,) to us (I ſay,) [o] who did o eat and drink with him after that he aroſe from the Dead.

42. And he commanded us to preach to the People, and teſtifie, that it is he who was (is) ordained of God to be the Judge of Quick and Dead.

43. To him give all the Prophets witneſs, that through (Faith in) his Name, whoſoever believeth in him ſhall receive remiſſion of Sins.

44. While Peter yet ſpake theſe words, the Holy Ghoſt fell on all them that heard the Word, (as on the Apoſtles at the beginning, Chap. 11. 15.)

45. And they of the Circumciſion which believed, (conceiving God had no ſuch regard to the Gentiles,) were aſtoniſhed as many as came with Peter, becauſe that on the Gentiles alſo was poured out the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt.

46. For they heard them ſpeak with Tongues, and magnifie God: Then anſwered Peter,

47. [p] Can any Man forbid Water, that p theſe ſhould not be baptized? (i.e. Can he gainſay the baptizing of them with Water,) who have received the (Baptiſm of the) Holy Ghoſt, as well as we?

48. And he [q] commanded them to be bap- q tized [r] in the Name of the Lord (Jeſus;) then r prayed they him to tarry certain days.

Annotations on Chap. X.

a Ver. 2. ΚΑΙ ὁ φοβούμενος τ Θεὸν.] So we read 2 Chron. 5. 6. that King Solomon, and all the Congregation of Iſrael, were aſſembled, καὶ οἱ φοβούμενοι, and the Proſelytes; they being Men, ſaith Solomon, who know thy Name, τ φοβεῖσθαί σε, to fear thee, Chap. 6. 33. This was the Title given to them, who ſo far embraced the Jewiſh Religion as to worſhip the God of Iſrael only, and were ſtiled by them Proſelytes of the Gate, and Men fearing God. So Bemidvar Rabba on thoſe words, Bleſſed is the Man ὁ φοβούμενος τ Κύριον, that feareth the Lord, Pſal. 112. 1. ſaith, Theſe are the Proſelytes, and therefore they are mentioned next to the Men of Iſrael; as when St. Paul ſaith, Ye Men of Iſrael, καὶ οἱ ἐν ὑμῖν φοβούμενοι τ Θεὸν, and ye that fear God, hearken, Acts 13. 16, 26. where, ſaith Oecumenius, φοβουμένους τ Θεὸν προσηλύτους ἐκάλεσε, he calls the Proſelytes Men that feared God: And becauſe theſe Men had a Court in the Temple, where they came to worſhip the true God, and offer Sacrifices to him; hence they were called σεβόμενοι, the Worſhippers, as when 'tis ſaid, many of the Jews, καὶ τ σεβομένων προσηλύτων, and of the worſhipping Proſelytes, followed Paul and Barnabas, Acts 13. 43. and there followed them a great Multitude, τ σεβομένων Ἑλλήνων, of the worſhipping Greeks, that is, the Proſelytes, ſaith Oecumenius. And theſe being alſo called by them Chaſidim, are in the New Teſtament called εὐσεβεῖς καὶ εὐλαβεῖς, pious and devout Men, as here, ver. 1. and v. 7. But notwithſtanding all theſe Titles, they counted them unclean as well as other Gentiles, ſaying, (a) A ſojourning Proſelyte is as a Gentile in all things; and therefore they of the Circumciſion contend with Peter for going in to converſe with them. Yet 'tis not unpleaſant to obſerve, That tho' they held their Perſons thus unclean, they deemed the Alms they gave to the Jews clean, ſaith Lightfoot; and becauſe Cornelius was free in giving them to the Jews of Samaria, he was a Man of good Report among them all, ver. 22.

b Ibid. And prayed to God always;] i. e. daily, and at all the hours of Prayer. See the Note on 1 Theſſ. 5. 17. It alſo well deſerves to be obſerved, that he feared God with all his Houſe; this being ſtill the commendation of pious Men, that they made all their Houſe religious: So Gen. 18. 19. I know Abraham, that he will command his Children, and his Houſhold after him, and they ſhall keep the way of the Lord: And Joſhua 24. 15. As for me and my Houſe, we will ſerve the Lord; and pious Chriſtians made their whole Families Converts to the Chriſtian Faith: So we read of the Noble Man at Capernaum, that he himſelf believed and all his Houſe, John 41. 53. Of the Jaylor, that he believed in God with all his Houſe, and was baptized, he, and all his ſtraightway, Acts 16. 33. 34. And of Criſpus, a chief Ruler of a Synagogue, that he believed in the Lord with all his Houſe, Chap. 18. 18. Hence they who had made their whole Family Chriſtians, are ſaluted by St. Paul thus, To ſuch a one, and the Church in his Houſe. See Note on 1 Cor. 16. 19. And O that this was carefully obſerved and imitated by all that are called Chriſtians!

c Ver. 3. He ſaw in a Viſion φανερῶς openly;] i. e. waking, and with his bodily Eyes; for there were alſo Viſions in a Dream, Gen. 20. 3.—28. 12. Job 4. 13. So St. Paul ſaw, ἐν ἐκστάσει ὅραμα, a Viſion in an Extaſie, Chap. 11. 5. and when he was blind, he ſaw in a Viſion Ananias, Chap. 9. 12.

d Ibid. About the ninth hour;] The time of the Evening Sacrifice; a very fit time to tell him, that his Prayers and Alms which were ſpiritual Sacrifices, were come up before God as an Evening Sacrifice; for at the ſame time, the Angel was ſent to tell Daniel that his Prayer was heard, Dan. 9. 21.

e Ver. 4. Thy Prayers and thy Alms are come up for a Memorial, &c.] The word Μνημόσυνον, rendred a Memorial, is uſed both of the Incenſe offered up with the Sacrifice, Levit. 2. 2, 9. and of a part or handful of the Mincha offered up to God, Lev. 5. 12. Num. 5. 15, 18, 26. in which two places no Incenſe was to be admitted, it being an Offering for Sin, or a Memorial for Iniquity, ſo that there, not the Incenſe or Perfume, but part of the Mincha, or Oblation put upon the Altar, is called Aſcharah, a Memorial. Now ſeeing Alms are the Chriſtian Sacrifices, and are called ſo by the Apoſtle, Philip. 4. 18. and ſeeing our Prayers are ſaid to aſcend as Incenſe, and are ſo ſtiled, Rev. 5. 8. —8. 3. Seeing they are our Sacrifice of Praiſe, Heb. 13. 15. and Alms our Odor or ſweet Savour, Phil. 4. 18. the Alluſion here may very fitly relate to both.

f Ver. 5. Whoſe ſirname is Peter;] And ſo throughout this Story. For Chriſt having ſaid said to him, Thou art Peter, i. e. a Rock; and upon this Rock will I build my Church, i. e. lay the Foundation of a Church among the Jews, as he did by Peter, Acts 2. 47. and among the Gentiles, as he doth here; therefore Cornelius is bid send, not to Jerusalem to James or John, not to Damascus for Paul the Apostle of the Gentiles, but to Joppa for Simon, whose sirname was Peter, that from him he might hear those words by which he and his House should be saved, Chap. 11. 14.

g Ver. 9. Peter went up to the House-top to pray, at the sixth hour.] This being about Noon, was, by the Jews, stiled the time of the Mincha Gedolah, one of the three daily hours of Prayer, which devout Men used. So Daniel prayed three times a day, Chap. 6. 10. Morning, Evening, and at the Minchah: And David saith, Psal. 55. 17. Evening, and Morning, and at Noon, will I pray to thee; Evening, and Morning, and at Minchah, three times of Prayer: So R. Saadias and R. Solomon. Note also, that tho' St. Peter had been so long a Convert to Christianity, he keeps close to the Customs of the Jews, not only as to their hours of Prayer, but as to their manner of praying towards the Temple, when they were out of Judea or Jerusalem, and so could not go up to the Temple at the hour of Prayer; for he goes up to the Top or Roof of the House, to pray towards Jerusalem, as Daniel did, Chap. 6. 10. Solomon, at the Dedication of the Temple, praying so oft, that God would hear the Prayers the Men of Israel should make towards that place, 1 Kings 8. 29, 30, 35, 38, 44, 48. And when it is said of Hezekiah, 2 Kings 20. 2. Isa. 38. 3. that he turned his Face towards the Wall; the Targum saith, this was the Wall of the House of the Sanctuary; and therefore in all likelihood, St. Peter being at Joppa, went up to the Roof of the House to pray, for the same reason.

h Ver. 15. What God hath cleansed, call not thou common, μὴ σὺ κοίνου, do not thou pollute. For Explication of all that in this Chapter is mentioned, with relation to this Matter, let it be noted;

1*st*, That it was the Priest's Office in case of Leprosie, and other Matters of like nature, to pronounce the Thing or Person under Examination, clean or unclean, and tho' this was done only by a declarative Sentence, yet is it expressed effectively; for in the Hebrew, the words are וטמאו וטהרו, and in the Greek, καθαριεῖ αὐτὸν, μιανεῖ αὐτὸν, the Priest shall cleanse, the Priest shall pollute him: So Lev. 13. 6, 8, 11, 13, 17, 20. and so on. Accordingly, the Voice here says, What God hath cleansed, (i.e. by this Vision and Command, declared to be clean,) that do not thou pollute, (i.e. pronounce not thou unclean.) Note,

2*dly*, That the Two great Things which made the Partition Wall betwixt Jew and Gentile, were the Rite of Circumcision, and the distinction betwixt clean and unclean Meats; of these Two, Circumcision was common to them from the beginning, with the Ishmaelites, and afterwards with many other Nations; but the abstaining from all Meats, forbidden by the Law of Moses as unclean, was peculiar to the Jews, and distinguished them from all the Nations of the World; and that this was the true scope of these Laws, even to separate them from all other Nations, by a Diet peculiar to themselves, which might keep them from familiar Conversation with the Gentiles, and so from learning their Idolatrous Customs, God himself declareth, saying, Levit. 20. 23, 24, 25. I am the Lord your God which have separated you from other People; ye shall therefore put a difference betwixt clean Beasts and unclean, and between unclean Fowls and clean; and you shall not make your selves abominable by Beast, or by Fowl, or by any manner of creeping thing that creepeth on the Ground, which I have separated from you as unclean. And ye shall be holy to me, for I the Lord am holy, and have severed you from other People, that ye should be mine. Hence it must follow, that tho' the Egyptians, the Syrians, and other Nations might abstain from some of these Beasts as unclean, yet not any of them observed the Distinction of Meats prescribed by Moses, for then God could not by it have separated them from all other Nations to himself. And suitable to this is the account which Eleazer the High-Priest gives of these Laws in (b) Aristeas, that God, πάντοθεν ἡμᾶς περιέφραξεν ἀγνείας καὶ διὰ βρωτῶν καὶ ποτῶν ὅπως ἐν μηδενὶ συμμιγέντες μηδ' ὁμιλοῦντες φαύλοις διὰ τροφὰς καθαρευόντες, had hedged them in with these Purifications, as to Meats and Drinks, that not eating, or conversing with evil Men, they might not be defiled. Or as (c) Eusebius hath it from the same Author, ὅπως μηδενὶ τῶν ἄλλων ἐθνῶν ἐπιμιγῶμεν καὶ μηδὲν, that they might in nothing be mixt with other Nations, but be kept pure both as to Soul and Body.

And Lastly, being thus separated by this Precept from all familiar Converse with other Nations, hence they came to look on them who did not use this Abstinence, as unclean, because they freely did eat of those things which the Law made unclean to them; and to say that the unclean Beasts did signifie the People of the World. So R. Menahem on Levit. 11. Now hence we learn,

1*ſt*, Why in this Viſion there is a Repreſentation of all manner of Beaſts, Fowls, and creeping things, viz. becauſe all theſe are mentioned, Lev. 20. 24. as things by abſtaining from ſome of which as unclean, God had ſeparated them from other Nations to himſelf.

2*dly*, We ſee the Reaſon why the Men of the Circumciſion object to St. Peter theſe two things, viz. That he went in to the uncircumciſed, and did eat with them, Chap. 11. 3. to wit, becauſe it was chiefly by theſe two things they were ſeparated from other Nations.

3*dly*, We learn why St. Peter ſaith, v. 28. that God had by this Viſion ſhew'd him that he ſhould call no Man common, or unclean, viz. becauſe he by this Declaration, and Command, had taken away that Diſtinction which hindred their Converſe with other Nations: And,

4*thly*, We ſee how neceſſary, and expedient it was, that this Liberty of eating Meats indifferently, ſhould be ſo fully declared from Heaven to the Jews, becauſe it being by God declared a Law given for this very purpoſe, that they might be ſevered to himſelf from other Nations, they durſt not do any thing, without a Revelation, which ſeem'd to violate it; and without breaking through the Traditions they had received about it, they could not have executed their Commiſſion to teach, or make Diſciples in all Nations. Hence Peter is bid to go to them μηδὲν διακρινόμενον, putting no difference betwixt them and the Jews, as that Phraſe often ſignifies; See Acts 15. 9. and the Note on Rom. 14. 23.

i Ver. 16. This was done thrice,] as Pharoah's Dream was doubled, for the certainty of the thing, Gen. 41. 32.

k Ver. 25, 26. Cornelius fell down at his Feet, and worſhipped him; but Peter ſaid, ſtand up, I my ſelf alſo am a Man.] If the Worſhip intended, and given to him by Cornelius, was religious Worſhip, Peter declares ſuch Worſhip was not to be given to a mere Man; if it was only civil Worſhip, he who thought it not fit to receive that, would much leſs have received religious Worſhip.

l Ver. 30. Ἀπὸ τετάρτης ἡμέρας μέχρι ταύτης τῆς ὥρας ἤμην νηστεύων, Four days ago I was faſting until this hour.] The Greek, ſay ſome Criticks, is to be rendred thus, from the fourth day to this hour I was, or, have been faſting; ſo that Cornelius, according to this import of them, muſt have been faſting four days together; but this cannot be the true ſenſe of the words of Cornelius; for this hour, is the hour of his ſpeaking to St. Peter, and the ſame day he ſaw his Viſion, which yet he ſaw not when St. Peter was come to him, but four days before; the meaning therefore is, that four days ſince he was faſting till the ſame hour of the day in which he ſpake thus to St. Peter. So ἀφ' ἡμερῶν ἀρχαίων, is a long time ago, Acts 15. 7. ἀπὸ πέρυσι, a Year ago, 2 Cor. 8. 10—9. 2. and therefore Budæus, having ſaid that ἀπὸ is often put for μετὰ, ſaith, theſe words are to be rendred quarto abhinc die, and Grotius renders them thus, die ante hoc tempus quarta jejunaveram, both juſtifying our Tranſlation.

Ver. 34. I perceive God is no reſpecter of m Perſons, &c.] I have ſhewed, Note on James 2. 1. that reſpect of Perſons in matters Judicial, is ſhewed, when Men judge others not according to the Merits of the Cauſe, but according to outward reſpects which relate nothing to it, as the Greatneſs, Riches, Meanneſs, and Poverty of the Perſon, Relation, Friendſhip, or Affection; and ſo in Spirituals, to accept Perſons is to reſpect them and their Services, not on the account of any thing that makes them better, or more fit to be regarded than others, or which is more acceptable in the ſight of God, but on the account of the Nation to which they belong, or the Anceſtors from which they were deſcended. Thus becauſe God had choſen the Jews to be his People, by reaſon of the Piety of their Forefathers, and to perform his Promiſe made to them, the Jews imagined that God would accept them, and their Services on that account, that they were of the Jewiſh Nation, and of the Seed of Abraham according to the Fleſh, and that he would not accept the Perſons, or regard the Services of the Gentiles, for want of theſe things; but theſe falſe Conceptions St. Paul in his Epiſtle to the Romans, and St. Peter here refutes; ſhewing, (1.) That Men not only of the Jewiſh, but of any other Nation may be acceptable to God, there being one God who is rich (in Goodneſs) to all that call upon him, whether Jew or Gentile, Rom. 10. 12. he being the God, not of the Jews only, but alſo of the Gentiles, and ſo as ready to juſtifie them through Faith, as to juſtifie the Jews, Rom. 3. 29. 30. (2.) That God accepts ſuch Men, not on the account of their Deſcent, or Circumciſion, but becauſe they fear God, and work Righteouſneſs: Thus Cornelius being one that feared God, and gave much Alms, ver. 2, 3. his Prayers and Alms came before God for a Memorial, for good to him; whence it is evident that ſome of other Nations owning the true God, not only might, but actually did fear God, and work Righteouſneſs, and otherwiſe they very ill deſerved the Title given to the Proſelytes of the Gate; See the Note on ver. 2. Nor could St. Peter perceive that God was no Reſpecter of Perſons on the account of a thing which never did, or could happen; or St. Paul ſay, Glory, Honour, and Peace ſhould be to every one that doth good, to the Jew firſt, and alſo to the Gentile, for there is no reſpect of Perſons with God, Rom. 2. 10, 11. How far ſuch Perſons may be accepted with God, and on what account, ſee my Conjecture on Rom. 2. 14.

n Ver. 36. The Word which God ſent to the Children of Iſrael, &c.] The Apoſtles Diſcourſe from this to the 43d Verſe ſeems to be to this effect; viz. (1.) That there was an Offer made by the Goſpel, of Peace, i. e. of Reconciliation and Salvation by Jeſus Chriſt, the Author of that Goſpel, ver. 36, 37. (2.) That he was able to make good that Promiſe, as being Lord of all things; (3.) That he who preached this Doctrine was a true Prophet, he being anointed with the Holy Ghoſt for that Office, and confirming what he ſaid by powerful Miracles, ver. 38. (4.) That this Doctrine, and theſe Miracles could not be reaſonably queſtioned, they who were with him from the beginning being Witneſſes of what he ſaid, and did, v. 39. And, (5.) Whereas it might be objected, that he was dead, and ſo could not be able to confer theſe Bleſſings on them who believed in him, it is added, ver. 40. that him God raiſed up the third day according to his own Prediction, and that of this Reſurrection they were all Eye-Witneſſes ſufficiently inſtructed to give in their Teſtimony concerning it by his frequent Appearances to, and familiar converſe with them, v. 41. (6.) That after his Reſurrection they had received a Commiſſion from God to teſtifie that he was appointed to be Judge of the Quick and Dead, and ſo to give that Peace, and Salvation, he had promiſed in his Goſpel to his faithful Servants, ver. 42. And, laſtly, that to all this all the Prophets had given in their Suffrages, by declaring, that through his Name all that believed in him ſhould receive Remiſſion of Sins, ver. 43. Note alſo that it is not to be wondred that St. Peter ſhould ſay to Cornelius, and his Kinſmen, who were already Proſelytes of the Gate, and lived at Ceſarea, the Seat of the Governor of Judea, where the Jews dwelt, and whither they continually reſorted, and where Philip had already preached the Goſpel, Acts 8. 40. Ye know this Word, he meaning not that they were perſuaded of the Truth of it, but only that they had heard the Fame, and were acquainted with the Report of it.

Ver. 41. Who did eat and drink with him.] o That in their preſence he did eat part of a Fiſh, and of an Honey Comb, they had then with them, we read expreſly, Luke 24, 41, 42, 43. That they did eat of the Bread, and Fiſh he had provided for them, may be collected from his Invitation to them to come and dine, John 21. 12. which doubtleſs they refuſed not, and ſince we may reaſonably ſuppoſe they did not dine without drinking, we muſt have reaſon to believe they did eat and drink with him.

Ver. 47. Can any Man forbid Water that p theſe ſhould not be baptized?] Theſe words contain a plain, and a convincing Demonſtration of the Falſhood of the Quakers Doctrine, that Water-baptiſm is unneceſſary to them, who have received the inward Baptiſm of the Spirit; ſince the Apoſtle here not only declares that Water-baptiſm ought therefore to be adminiſtred to theſe Perſons, becauſe they had already been baptized with the Holy Ghoſt, but alſo commands them to be baptized upon that account.

Ver. 48. And he commanded them to be baptized.] q Whom did he command to do this? the Gentiles? It ſeemeth at firſt ſight abſurd that they who were not yet baptized ſhould baptize others; or was it the Jews that came then with him? they ſeem only to be Laybrethren who only were permitted to baptize in caſe of neceſſity; it ſeemeth therefore reaſonable to ſay that he commanded Water to be brought for their Baptiſm, and then performed himſelf the Office, or left it to be done by Gifted Perſons.

Ibid. In the Name of the Lord Jeſus.] r Here the Note of Grotius is this, that in the Name of Chriſt the anointed, is underſtood he that anointed him, and the Spirit by whom he was anointed; but here the Spirit had fallen upon them already, and ſo they who thus felt his Influence enabling them to ſpeak with Tongues muſt believe in him already, and being Proſelytes of the Gate, they believed already in God the Father, and came to hear what he ſhould ſay to them; 'twas therefore only neceſſary, that by receiving Chriſtian Baptiſm, they ſhould profeſs their Faith in the Lord Jeſus.

4. But

4. But Peter [rehearſed the matter from the beginning, and expounded it by order to them,] (Gr. ἀρξάμενος ἐξετίθετο αὐτοῖς καθεξῆς, beginning, expounded to them the matter orderly,) ſaying,

5. I was in the City of Joppa, praying, and in a Trance I ſaw a Viſion, (viz.) a certain Veſſel deſcended, (Gr. deſcending,) as it had been a great Sheet, let down from Heaven by four Corners, and it came even to me;

6. Upon the which, when I had faſtned mine Eyes, I conſidered, (Gr. εἰς ὃ ἀτενίσας κατενόουν, attending to which I obſerved,) and ſaw four footed Beaſts of the Earth, and wild Beaſts, and creeping things, and Fowls of the Air;

7. And I heard a Voice, ſaying to me, Ariſe, Peter, ſlay and eat, (freely of them to ſatisfie thy Hunger, Chap. 10. 10.)

8. But I ſaid (I can) not (do) ſo, Lord; for (being a ſtrict Obſerver of the Law of Moſes,) nothing common or unclean hath at any time entred into my Mouth:

9. But the Voice (of the Lord) anſwered me again, (Gr. the ſecond time) from Heaven, (ſaying,) What (that) God (who inſtituted the Law of Moſes, by this Declaration of his Will) hath cleanſed, that call not thou (any longer) common.

10. And this was done three times, (for the certainty of the thing,) and (then) all (the things I had ſeen) were drawn up again into Heaven:

11. And behold immediately (after this Viſion,) there were three Men already come to the Houſe where I was, (they being) ſent from Cæſarea to me;

12. And the Spirit bad me go with them, nothing doubting (to converſe with them tho' they were Gentiles, or putting no difference betwixt them and Jews, as betwixt Perſons clean, and unclean;) moreover theſe ſix Brethren (here preſent, as Witneſſes of the Truth of what I ſay,) accompanied me, and we entred into the Man's Houſe (who ſent for me;)

13. And he ſhewed us how he had ſeen an Angel in his Houſe, who ſtood (by him,) and ſaid to him, Send Men to Joppa, and (by them) call for Simon whoſe Sirname is Peter, c 14. [c] Who ſhall tell thee Words by which thou, and all thy Houſe (believing them,) ſhall be ſaved;

15. And as I began to ſpeak, (and had not long continued my Diſcourſe,) d [d] the Holy Ghoſt fell on them, as (he had done) on us at the beginning, (Acts 2. enabling them to ſpeak with Tongues, and Propheſie, Chap. 10. 44, 45, 46.)

16. Then remembred I the Word of the Lord (Jeſus,) how that he ſaid (to us, Acts 1. 5.) John indeed baptized with Water, but ye ſhall be baptized with the Holy Ghoſt.

17. Foraſmuch then as God gave them, (tho' Gentiles, and uncircumciſed,) the like Gift as (he had given) to us (circumciſed Jews,) who believed on the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, what was I that I could withſtand God? (Gr. how was I able to hinder God, viz. by refuſing to receive them into the Church by Baptiſm, Chap. 10. 47. whom he had already baptized with the Holy Ghoſt?)

18. (And) when they heard theſe things they held their Peace, (being ſatisfied with this account of St. Peter's Actions;) and (they) glorified God, (for his Goodneſs to the Gentiles,) ſaying, Then (Gr. ἄρα γε ſurely) hath e [e] God alſo to the Gentiles granted Repentance unto Life.

19. Now they which were ſcattered abroad upon the Perſecution that aroſe about Stephen, travelled as far as Phœnice, and Cyprus, and Antioch, f [f] preaching the Word to none, but the Jews only;

20. And ſome of them were (by Birth) Men of Cyprus and Cyrene, who when they were come to Antioch, g [g] ſpake to the Grecians, (Gr. πρὸς τοὺς ἑλληνιστάς, to the Jews uſing the Greek Language, See Note on chap. 6. 1.) preaching the Lord Jeſus;

21. And (they being Men enabled, and authorized for this work by the Holy Ghoſt's Deſcent upon them for this end, Acts 2. 9, 10.) the Hand (or Power) of the Lord was with them, and a great Number believed, and turned to the Lord.

22. Then Tidings of theſe things came to the Ears of the Church, which was at Jeruſalem, and they ſent forth Barnabas (a Cyprian,) that he ſhould go (διελθεῖν to go through thoſe places) as far as (even to) Antioch:

23. Who when he came, and had ſeen (Gr. coming, and ſeeing) the Grace of God, (i. e. the prevalency of the Goſpel among them,) was glad, and exhorted them all, that, with (full) purpoſe of Heart, they would cleave to the Lord:

24. For he was a good Man, and full of the (Gifts of the) Holy Ghoſt, and of Faith, and (by his Means) much People was added to the Lord; (i. e. believed in the Lord Jeſus.)

25. Then departed Barnabas (from Antioch) to Tarſus, to ſeek Saul, (perhaps that he being an Apoſtle might lay his Hands on ſome of them, that they might receive the Holy Ghoſt, Acts 8. 17.)

26. And when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch: And it came to paſs that a whole Year they aſſembled themſelves with (or in) the Church, and taught much People, and the (y who formerly were called) Diſciples, h [h] were called Chriſtians firſt in Antioch.

27. And

27. And in thoſe Days came Prophets, (i. e. Men who had the gift of foretelling things to come,) from Jeruſalem to Antioch.

28. And there ſtood up one of them named Agabus, and ſignified by (the Afflatus of) the Spirit, that there ſhould be a great Dearth [i] throughout all the World, (i. e. the Roman Empire,) which came to paſs in the Days of Claudius Cæſar.

29. Then the Diſciples (of Antioch, and the Places adjacent,) every Man according to his Ability, determined to ſend Relief to the Brethren which dwelt in Judea.

30. Which alſo they did, and [k] ſent it to the Elders (of the Jews) by the Hands of Barnabas and Saul. k

Annotations on Chap. XI.

a Ver. 1. WHEN the Apoſtles and Brethren had heard that the Gentiles had received the Word of God.] This they then only heard, becauſe it was then only done, they who before preached the Word doing it only to the Jews, ver. 19.

b Ver. 2. Διεκρίνοντο πρὸς αὐτὸν οἱ ἐκ περιτομῆς, They of the Circumciſion contended with him.] I ſee no reaſon here to except any of the believing Jews, (unleſs perhaps the Apoſtles,) from this Contention, they being all zealous of the Law, and of their Cuſtoms, and not enduring to hear that any Jew ſhould act contrary to them, Acts 21. 20, 21. And St. Peter himſelf being of that mind till he had received this Viſion, and laying it down as a known Rule, Acts 10. 28. that it was unlawful for a Jew to converſe with an Alien, and even after this Viſion, withdrawing himſelf from the believing Gentiles for fear of the Jews which came from Jeruſalem, Gal. 2. 12. and they of the Diſperſion preaching to the Jews only. Note alſo hence, that the Believers knew nothing of the Supremacy, and much leſs of the Infallibility of St. Peter, for otherwiſe they would not have dared thus to riſe up againſt their ſupreme Governour, much leſs would they have condemned the Actions of their infallible Teacher.

c Ver. 14. Who ſhall ſpeak to thee Words by which thou, and all thy Houſe ſhall be ſaved.] God, ſaith Grotius, after he had ſent Chriſt, would admit of no other way of obtaining the Salvation promiſed in the Goſpel, but by the knowledge of him, which is certainly true of all who were capable of coming to the Knowledge of him; how far he might accept of others, ſee my Conjecture, Note on Rom. 2. 14.

d Ver. 15. The Holy Ghoſt fell upon them, ὥσπερ καὶ ἐφ' ἡμᾶς ἐν τῇ ἀρχῇ, as upon us at the beginning.] They therefore having received the like Gifts which were the Fruits of Faith, muſt be look'd on as Brethren and Diſciples of the Lord, and ſo muſt be admitted into his Church by that Baptiſm, which Chriſt inſtituted to be adminiſtred to all his Diſciples, being united by his Spirit to Chriſt their Head, they muſt be owned as his Members, God having owned them by imparting to them theſe ſpiritual Gifts, they muſt be owned by us, and he having purified their Hearts by Faith, Chap. 15. 9. they muſt no longer be look'd on by us as unclean.

e Ver. 18. Then hath God granted to the Gentiles Repentance unto Life.] The Jews had the higheſt Thoughts of themſelves, as if all God's Bleſſings were deſigned for them only, and the meaneſt, and even vileſt Thoughts of all other Nations, as if God counted them only as Spittle. Thou madeſt the World for our ſakes, ſaith the Book of Eſdras; as for the other People, thou haſt ſaid, they are nothing, but be like to Spittle, and they have ever been reputed as nothing, 2 Eſd. 6. 55, 56, 57. They imagined, that the Meſſiah was to make them a glorious People, and to ſave them, but to deſtroy or to enſlave all other Nations to them; and that God would ſave all of them as being Children of Abraham, but that all the reſt of the World were Fuel for Hell-fire; and this made them ſo to contemn them, and never think of their being ſaved any other way than by being Proſelytes to their Law. Hence in the former Chapter, they ſo much admire that the Holy Ghoſt ſhould fall on them, ver. 45. and here ſpeak of it as a thing beyond their Imagination, that God ſhould grant Repentance unto Life to them: Hence do the unbelieving Jews forbid the Apoſtles to ſpeak to the Gentiles that they might be ſaved, 2 Theſſ. 2. 16. and cry out againſt St. Paul as one not fit to live, becauſe he ſaid, Chriſt would ſend him to the Gentiles, Acts 22. 21, 22. See Addition N°. 15. (15)

f Ver. 19. Preaching the Word to none but the Jews only;] As thinking it unlawful to converſe with Men of other Nations, and not believing that God would give Repentance to the Gentiles. Woltzogenius here notes, that theſe Men preached without any Miſſion; and hence concludes, that an ordinary Miſſion is not required to authorize Men to preach the Goſpel. But this is ſaid without juſt ground; for theſe Men ſeem to be of the number of thoſe on whom the Holy Ghoſt fell on the Day of Pentecoſt, among whom were thoſe of Cyrene. Moreover, the Power of the Lord was with them, to confirm their Doctrine by Miracles, v. 21.

He then that will plead a Commiſſion from God to preach the Goſpel without an ordinary Miſſion, muſt ſhew the like extraordinary Gifts, or miraculous Aſſiſtances; God never ſending any Perſon to do his Work without ſome Teſtimony from himſelf, or from Perſons commiſſionated by him.

g Ver. 20. And they ſpake πρὸς τὺς Ἑλληνιστὰς, to the Helleniſts.] Grotius here ſaith, certò legendum, πρὸς τὺς Ἕλληνας, we muſt certainly read to the Greeks, becauſe the Syriac, Arabick and Latin, ſo read; whereas, that is no ground at all; for ſo they all read, Chap. 6. 1. where Grotius himſelf acknowledges, the Jews are to be underſtood by the Helleniſts: He adds, that the Alexandrian MS. ſo reads, but ſo it doth in oppoſition to all the other MSS. Chryſoſtom here ſaith, That they ſpake Greek, Ἑβραῖοι ὄντες being Hebrews. Oecumenius ſaith, He ſtiles them Helleniſts, not as being addicted to the Worſhip of the Greeks, but as Ἑλληνιστὶ φθεγγόμενοι, ſpeaking the Greek Language; and it ſeems neceſſary to underſtand the Jews uſing the Greek Tongue, and reading the Scriptures in that Tongue in their Synagogues, as Buxtorf ſays, they did: (1.) Becauſe theſe Perſons preached to the Jews only, ver. 19. And, (2.) Becauſe they of the Church of Jeruſalem ſend to them Barnabas, whom they would ſcarce ſend to the Uncircumciſed.

h Ver. 26. And the Diſciples were called Chriſtians firſt at Antioch.] Before they were called Diſciples, as here; Believers, Acts 5. 14. Men of the Church, Acts 12. 1. Men of the Way; See Note on Acts 9. 2. the Saints, Acts 9. 13. thoſe that called on the Name of Chriſt, ver. 14. and by their Enemies, Nazarenes and Galileans; but now by the Converſion of Cornelius, and his Kinſmen, and his Family, the believing Jews and Gentiles being made one Church, that the Name of Jew and Heathen might no more continue the diſtance that was betwixt them, this new Name was given to them both; as ſome conceive according to the Prophecie mentioned, Iſa. 65. 15. A Name embraced by all Chriſtians as more expreſſive of their relation to their Maſter Chriſt, and which they gloried in, and owned before the Face of their Enemies, Tertull. Apol. c. 3, 5. Euſeb. Hiſtor. Eccleſ. l. 5. c. 1. But that Evodius ſhould be then Biſhop of Antioch, and give this Name firſt to the Chriſtians; and St. Luke ſhould ſay nothing either of his doing this, or ever mention his being there, it is not eaſie to believe.

Ver. 28. Ἐφ' ὅλῳ τῷ οἰκουμένῃ, Through the whole World.] That οἰκουμένη ſignifies the Roman Empire, ſee the Note on Luke 2. 1. Accordingly, (a) Euſebius ſaith of this Famine, that it oppreſſed almoſt the whole Empire; and that it was recorded by Hiſtorians, moſt averſe to our Religion, viz. by (b) Suetonius in the Life of Claudius, who ſaith, it hapned, ob aſſiduas ſterilitates, thro' a long Barrenneſs. (c) Joſephus ſaith, that it raged ſo much in Judea, πολλῶν τότε ἀνδρείας ἀναγωμάτων φθειρομένων, ſo that many periſhed for want of Victuals. And (d) Dion Caſſius, that it was λιμῷ ἰσχυρῷ, a very great Famine, and hapned when Claudius and Caius Largus were Conſuls, that is, in the ſecond Year of Claudius, tho' it ſeems rather to have been that which hapned, as Euſebius in his Chronicon and Oroſius l. 7. 6. place it in the fourth Year of Claudius. i

Ver. 30. And ſent it πρὸς τὺς πρεσβυτέρους, to the Elders.] It is doubtleſs the Duty of all Chriſtians to be ready to relieve their Chriſtian Brethren in other Nations according to their Abilities, as St. Paul ſhews. 2 Cor. 8. 9. and thoſe eſpecially from whom they have received Spiritual Things, Rom. 15. 27. But here it is farther to be noted, that it was the conſtant Cuſtom of the Jews in their Diſperſions, to ſend Money into the Land of Canaan for the ſuſtaining of the Poor there, as (e) Campegius Vitringa proves. St. Paul was therefore careful, that the unbelieving Jews ſhould not out-do the Chriſtians in thoſe Offices of Charity towards their Brethren in Judea; and therefore as he carries here the Charity of the Chriſtians of Antioch, and the Parts adjacent to the diſtreſſed Brethren in Judea, ſo doth he ſhew himſelf always ready to advance this Work, Gal. 2. 10. plead for, and to promote it, as he did in the Churches of Macedonia and Achaia. k

But whereas ſome contend, the Elders mentioned here were the Biſhops of Judea; it is not certain that they were Chriſtians, or any other than the Elders of the Jewiſh Synagogues, or the πρῶτοι τῆ Ἱερουσολυμιτῶν, the chief Men of Jeruſalem; to whom, ſaith (f) Joſephus, King Izates ſent his Charity at the ſame time: And if they were Chriſtians, they might ſtill be the Elders of their Synagogues, the Chriſtians then retaining the Jewiſh Rites.

CHAP. XII.

1. NOW about that time (that Agabus foretold of the Famine, Chap. 11. 28.)
a Herod (Agrippa) the King, [a] stretched forth his Hands, to vex certain of the Church, (Gr. caught hold of certain of the Church to afflict them:)
b 2. And [b] he killed James the Brother of John, (who by this Title was distinguished from James the Son of Alpheus, Bishop of Jerusalem,) with the Sword.

3. And because he saw it pleased the Jews, (to see the Christians thus afflicted, and cut off,) he proceeded farther to take (into custody) Peter also; (and when this was done,) then were the Days of unleavened Bread (the Paschal Festival.)

4. And when (when therefore) he had apprehended him, he put him in Prison, and delivered him to four Quaternions of Soldiers, (i. e. sixteen Soldiers,) to keep him, (four
c at a time;) intending [c] after Easter, (or when that Festival was over, in which it was customary to release a Prisoner to them, Matth.
& 27. 15.) to bring him forth to the People (to be slain before them.)

5. Peter therefore was kept in Prison (for d this end;) but [d] Prayer was made without ceasing, of the Church to God for (deliverance of) him.

6. And when Herod would have brought (was about to bring) him forth, the same night (that he had determined to do this on the morrow, ver. 9.) Peter was sleeping betwixt two Soldiers, (being) bound (to them) with two Chains, (Acts 28. 20.) and the Keepers, (being two other Soldiers which stood) before the Door, kept the Prison.

7. And behold the (an) Angel of the Lord came to him (to deliver him,) and a Light shined in the Prison, (to enable him to see what he was to do;) and he (the Angel) smote Peter on the Side, and raised him up, e saying (to him,) Arise up quickly; and (when he had so said,) [e] his Chains fell off from his hands.

8. And the Angel said to him, Gird thy self, and bind on thy Sandals; and so he did; And (then) he said to him, Cast thy Garment about thee, and follow me.

9. And he went out, and followed him, and wist not that it was true which was done by the Angel, but thought he saw (had seen) a Vision (only:)

10. (And) when they were past the first and second Wards, they came to the Iron Gate that leadeth (from the Prison) to the City, which (Gate) opened unto them of his (its) own accord; and they went out, and passed on (together) thro' one Street; and f [f] forthwith the Angel (having done all that was requisite for his Deliverance) departed from him.

11. And when Peter was come to himself, (and saw where he was,) he said, Now I know of a surety, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath delivered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the expectation of the People of the Jews.

12. And when he had [g] considered. (the g thing done,) he came to the House of Mary the Mother of (that) John, whose surname was Mark, where many were gathered together praying.

13. And as Peter knocked at the door of the Gate, a Damsel came to hearken (what he who knocked would say; and she was) named Rhoda.

14. And when she knew Peter's Voice, she opened not the Gate for gladness, but (first) ran in, and told (them within) how Peter stood before the Gate:

15. And they said unto her, Thou art mad (to entertain such a thought;) but she constantly affirmed, that it was even so; then said they, [h] It is his (good) Angel, (or a Messen- h ger sent from him:)

16. But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened the door, and saw him, they were astonished.

17. But he beckning to them with the hand to hold their Peace, declared to them, how the Lord had (by an Angel,) brought him out of the Prison; and he said, [i] Go shew these i things to James, and the Brethren; and (then) he departed (from them,) and went into another place (of more safety.)

18. Now assoon as it was day, there was no small stir among the Soldiers, (enquiring) what was become of Peter:

19. And when Herod sought for him, and found him not, he examined the Keepers, (he questioned them in a judicial manner;) and (when they could tell nothing of him, he)
[k] commanded that they should be put to Death: k And (then) he, (i. e. King Agrippa) [l] went l down from Judea to Cæsarea, (to celebrate the Solemnity there kept for the Honour of Cæsar,) and there abode (during the time of that Solemnity.)

20. And Herod was highly displeased with them of Tyre, and Sidon, (and designed to make War upon them;) but they came with one accord to him; and having made Blastus the King's Chamberlain, their Friend, desired (by him, that they might have) Peace, because their Country was nourished by the King's Country

21. And upon a set day, (the second day of the Solemnity, appointed in honour of Cæsar) Herod arrayed in Royal Apparel,

(upon which the Sun ſhining, gave it a glorious Luſtre,) ſat on his Throne, and made an Oration (in the Theatre) to them, (i. e. to thoſe Nobles and Governours which were come out of the whole Province to that Solemnity:)

22. And the People gave a ſhout, ſaying, The Voice (of him that ſpeaketh, is the Voice) of a God, and not of a (mere) Man.

m 23. And [m] immediately the Angel of the Lord ſmote him, becauſe he (received this Flattery without Reprehenſion, as due to him, and) gave not God the Glory; and he was eaten (and miſerably tormented) with Worms (in his Bowels,) and ſo gave up the Ghoſt.

24. But (and) the Word of God (notwithſtanding this Oppoſition,) grew, and multiplied.

25. And Barnabas and Saul returned from Jeruſalem when they had fulfilled their Miniſtry, (i. e. diſtributed the Charity ſent by the Diſciples of Antioch, and other Places, to be given by them to the Elders of Jeruſalem, Chap. 11. 29, 30.) and took with them John, whoſe ſirname was Mark.

Annotations on Chap. XII.

a Ver. 1. Ἐπέβαλεν Ἡρῴδης τὰς χεῖρας, Herod laid Hands upon.] Ἐπιβάλλειν χεῖρας being never uſed intranſitively, but always with the Dative Caſe, or an Accuſative with the Prepoſition ἐπὶ, cannot here be rendred, he attempted or reſolved, but the whole Sentence filled up, ſeems to be this, ἔβαλε χεῖρας ἐπὶ τινας τῶν ἀπὸ τῆς ἐκκλησίας κακῶσαι αὐτούς, he laid hold on ſome of the Church to afflict them: The Prepoſition being often included in the Verb, and being to be taken or repeated from it to compleat the ſenſe.

b Ver. 2. Ἀνεῖλε δὲ Ἰάκωβον, he killed James with the Sword.] Thus was the Prediction of our Lord fulfilled, that James ſhould drink of his Cup, Matth. 20. 23. But then he being cut off, A. D. 43. the Story of his being long in Spain muſt be an idle Fable of the Monks, like to that of their placing Vincula Sancti Petri upon the firſt of Auguſt, when we learn from ver. 3. that he was put into thoſe Chains at the Paſchal Feaſt, and delivered from them at the cloſe of it, v. 7. that is, above four Months before.

c Ver. 4. Μετὰ τὸ πάσχα, After the Paſſover:] He being reſerved till then, either in honour of the Feaſt, or that the Chriſtians, who, tho' they were hated by the Rulers of the Jews, were yet in favour with the People, Chap. 2. 47. might not prevail with others to beg his Life, according to the cuſtom of that Feaſt, Matth. 27. 15. or to avoid a Tumult.

d Ver. 5. Προσευχὴ ἐκτενὴς, Prayer was made for him by the Church without ceaſing.] That ſuch Prayers are prevalent for the preſervation of very eminent Members of the Church, we learn, not only from this Inſtance, but alſo from thoſe Words of St. Paul, I know this ſhall happen to my preſervation thro' your Prayers, Philip. 1. 19. and, I hope, I ſhall through your Prayers be given to you, Philem. 22. The word ἐκτενὴς primarily ſignifies extended; but becauſe the fervency of our Deſire is uſually the cauſe that we pray much, or long for any thing; therefore to pray ἐκτενῶς, is alſo to pray fervently, and importunately, Luke 22. 14. and ἀγάπη ἐκτενὴς is fervent Love, 1 Pet. 1. 22. — 4. 8.

e Ver. 7. Ἐξέπεσον αὐτοῦ αἱ ἁλύσεις, His Chains fell off from his Hands.] That ſome Soldiers of Herod converted to the Chriſtian Faith, ſhould mark, and take away theſe Chains, and give them to the Biſhop of Jeruſalem, and that they ſhould be kept as a Treaſure not only through all the Jewiſh Wars, but about four hundred Years after, till Juvenal, Biſhop of Jeruſalem, gave them to Eudoxia, Wife to Theodoſius the Junior, who gave one of them to the Church of St. Peter's in Conſtantinople, and ſent the other to Rome, is a Tale of Surius, that ſmells too rank of Superſtition to deſerve the leaſt Credit.

f Ver. 10. Ἀπέστη ὁ ἄγγελος ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, And forthwith the Angel left him.] When he had done all things requiſite on his part for his Deliverance, and which could not be done by Peter, he leaves what was farther requiſite, to compleat the Deliverance, and render him ſecure from Danger, to his own Induſtry and Prudence, hereby inſtructing us not to expect an immediate Aſſiſtance from God, in things he hath already put into our Power, and given us Abilities to perform.

g Ver. 12. Συνιδών τε ἦλθεν ἐπὶ τὴν οἰκίαν Μαρίας, And conſidering of the thing, he came to the Houſe of Mary, where many were gathered together, praying.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That it ſeems very unreaſonable, without any Authority, to change συνιδών, conſidering, into σπεύδων, haſtning, either here, or Chap. 14. 6. againſt all the Verſions in both places.

2*dly*, Note, from theſe Words the Houſe of Mary, that all the Chriſtians had not then ſold their Houſes, and their Goods; And,

3*dly*, That they had then in thoſe times of Peril their ſacred Aſſemblies in the night,

Peter here coming to them before Day, v. 18. and yet finding them praying; whence (a) Pliny makes mention of their Cætus antelucani, Aſſemblies in the Night; and (b) Cecilius objects to the Chriſtians, nocturnas congregationes, their Night Meetings, as knowing they were forbidden by the Roman Laws; as you may ſee in Cicero, lib. 2. de legibus. N. 25, 35, 36, 37.

h Ver. 15. Οἱ δὲ ἔλεγον. ὁ ἄγγελός ἐστιν, But they ſaid, it is his Angel.] Here it is acknowledged, that the word ἄγγελος ſignifies not only a celeſtial Spirit, but alſo a Meſſenger ſent from one to another; as may be proved from many other places beſides thoſe cited by the Reverend Dr. Hammond; thus the Meſſengers ſent by the Elders of Jabeſh to the Ammonites, 1 Sam. 11. 3. and by Saul through the Coaſts of Iſrael, v. 7, 9. are ſtiled ἄγγελοι, Angels. So Saul ſent ἀγγέλους Meſſengers, to take David, 1 Sam. 19. 20, 21. So David ſent Meſſengers ἀγγέλους to ſalute Nabal, Chap. 25. 14. Amaziah ſent ἀγγέλους Meſſengers to enquire of Baalzebub, 2 Kings 1. 2. So David ſaith, Pſal. 151. Gr. ver. 4. he ſent τὸ ἄγγελον αὐτοῦ, his Angel, viz Samuel, and anointed me, and Jam. 2. 25. Raab received τοὺς ἀγγέλους, the Meſſengers; but when it is hence conjectured, that the import of theſe words may be only this, that ſome Meſſenger was come from him, to impart ſomething to the Church; as I have met with none of the Ancients of this Opinion, ſo is there this plain Objection againſt it, viz. that the Damſel could only know St Peter by his Voice, or Face, both which they might believe his Angel could imitate, whereas they knew a Meſſenger, could he have had opportunity of ſending one from the Priſon, could do neither. Since then it was a vulgar Opinion among the Jews, that good Men had their Tutelar Angels, or at leaſt that Angels were ſent down from Heaven about their Affairs, they, by this Angel, might underſtand either erroneouſly a Guardian Angel, attending on him, or, agreeably to Scripture, an Angel ſent from Heaven to acquaint them with ſomething relating to him, in anſwer to their Prayers. Here then is no Foundation for a Guardian Angel ſtill attending on good Men, and had Peter himſelf thought ſo, 'tis likely he would have aſcribed this Deliverance not to an Angel ſent from Heaven, but to this Guardian Angel.

i Ver. 17. Go ſhew theſe things to James, and to the Brethren,] that they might bleſs God for this extraordinary Anſwer to their Prayers, and might be confirmed by it in the Faith, and in their Expectation of Divine Aſſiſtance, and Protection in their Endeavours to promote the Intereſts of the Goſpel.

k Ver. 19. He commanded them ἀπαχθῆναι to be put to Death.] So in Heſychius ἀπάγεσθαι is εἰς θάνατον ἕλκεσθαι, to be carried away to die, or to be ſent away to Puniſhment, as this Phraſe uſually ſignifies in the beſt Greek Authors, and in (c) Seneca.

l Ibid. Καὶ καταβὰς ἀπὸ τῆς Ἰουδαίας εἰς τὴν Καισάρειαν διέτριβεν, And going down from Judea he abode at Cæſarea.] That it was not Peter, as ſome imagine, but King Agrippa, who went down from Judea to Cæſarea, we learn from Joſephus, who gives us a full account, both of this Journey, and the occaſion of it, informing us that he went down εἰς πόλιν Καισάρειαν, to the City of Cæſarea, to perform the Solemnity, or the Games celebrated there every Olympiad to the Honour of Cæſar, and that the Nobles and Governours of the Province of Syria, repaired to that City on the ſame account, that on the ſecond day of the Feſtival he came early into the Theatre, cloathed with a wonderful Garment wholly made of Silver, on which the Sun ſhining, it caſt forth a glorious Splendor. Antiq. l. 19. c. 7. p. 678, 679. He farther adds, that Flatterers came about him, Θεὸν προσαγορεύοντες, calling him a God, and that the King οὐκ ἐπέπληξε, οὐδὲ τὴν κολακείαν ἀσεβῆ ἀπεδείξατο, did not repel, or reprehend the impious Blaſphemy.

m Ver. 23. Παραχρῆμα δὲ ἐπάταξεν αὐτὸν ἄγγελος Κυρίου, And immediately the Angel of the Lord ſmote him, &c.] That he was ſmitten by the Lord immediately on his receiving this impious Flattery, is evident from Joſephus; for he ſaith, μετ' ὀλίγον, that after a while, he ſees the Owl which was the Meſſenger of his Calamity, that ἄθρουν ἄλγημα, a ſudden Torment came upon him, and that thereupon he inſtantly tells the ſame Auditors he muſt die. Again Joſephus doth not ſay that he was σκωληκόβρωτος, eaten up of Worms, but he ſaith he had ἀλγήματα τῆς κοιλίας, vehement Torments in his Bowels, which increaſing upon him, in five days he died, and they that in time might breed Worms in him, as he confeſſes they did in his Grand-father. And Examples of the like Exits of the Perſecutors of the Chriſtian Faith, we have many in Church Hiſtory, Thus (d) Tertullian ſaith of one Claudius Heminianus, one of their Perſecutors, that cum vivus vermibus ebulliiſſet, when Worms a 1. NOW there were in the Church that was at Antioch, certain Prophets and Teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen who had been brought up with Herod the Tetrarch, and Saul.

b 2. (And) [b] as they miniſtred to the Lord, and faſted, the Holy Ghoſt ſaid (to them,) Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the (peculiar) Work whereunto I have called them:

3. And when they had faſted, and prayed, and laid their Hands on them, they ſent them away (in purſuance of it.)

4. So they being (thus) ſent forth by the Holy Ghoſt, departed into Seleucia, and from c [c] thence they ſailed to Cyprus.

5. And when they were at Salamis, they preached the Word of God in the Synagogues d of the Jews, and they had alſo [d] John (ſirnamed Mark, Chap. 12. 25.) to their Miniſter; (to miniſter to them.)

6. And when they had gone through the e Iſle to Paphos, they found a certain [e] Sorcerer, a falſe Prophet, a Jew whoſe Name was Bar-Jeſus, f 7. [f] Who was with the Deputy of the Country (named) Sergius Paulus, a prudent Man, who called for Barnabas and Saul, and deſired to hear the Word of God (from their Mouths.)

8. But Elymas the Sorcerer, (for ſo is his Name by Interpretation, from the Arabic word Elim,) withſtood them, ſeeking to turn away the Deputy from the Faith.

g 9. Then [g] Saul (who is alſo called Paul) (being) filled with the (afflatus of the) Holy Ghoſt, ſet his Eyes on him,

10. And ſaid, O (thou that art) full of all Subtilty, and all Miſchief, thou Child of the Devil, thou Enemy of all Righteouſneſs, wilt thou not ceaſe to pervert the right ways of the Lord, (but plead for and uſe thy Sorceries in Oppoſition to them?)

11. And now (therefore) behold the Hand of the Lord is upon thee, and thou ſhalt be blind, not ſeeing the Sun for a Seaſon: And immediately there fell on him a Miſt, and a Darkneſs, and he went about ſeeking ſome to lead him by the Hand.

12. Then the Deputy, when he ſaw what was done, believed, being aſtoniſhed at (the Power which attended) the Doctrine of the Lord.

13. Now when Paul, and his Company looſed from Paphos, they came to Perga in Pamphilia, and (then) John departing from them, returned to Jeruſalem.

14. But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Piſidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and ſat down;

15. And after the reading of the Law and the Prophets, the [h] Rulers of the Synagogue h ſent to them, ſaying, Ye Men and Brethren, if ye have any Word of Exhortation to the People, ſay on, (λέγετε ſpeak it.).

16. Then Paul ſtood up, and beck'ning with his Hand, ſaid, Men of Iſrael, and ye (Greeks) that fear God, give Audience.

17. The God of this People of Iſrael choſe our Fathers, (the Patriarchs,) and exalted the People (deſcended from them) when they dwelt as Strangers in the Land of Egypt, and with an high Arm brought he them out of it.

18. And [i] about the time of forty Years i ſuffered he their Manners in the Wilderneſs;

19. And when he had (for their ſakes) deſtroyed ſeven Nations in the Land of Canaan, Canaan, he divided their Land to them by Lot;

k 20. And after that he [k] gave to them Judges, about the ſpace of four hundred and fifty Years, until Samuel the Prophet.

21. And afterwards they deſired a King, and God gave them Saul, the Son of Cis, a Man of the Tribe of Benjamin, (who with Samuel, reigned) l by the ſpace of forty Years.

22. And when he had removed him, he raiſed up to them David to be their King, to whom alſo he gave Teſtimony, and ſaid, (Pſal. 89. 11.) I have found David the Son of Jeſſe, a Man after my own Heart, who ſhall fulfil all my Will;

23. Of this Man's Seed hath God, according to his Promiſe, raiſed to Iſrael a Saviour, Jeſus.

24. When John had firſt preached before his coming, the Baptiſm of Repentance to all the People of Iſrael.

25. And as John fulfilled his Courſe, (i. e. performed his Office,) he ſaid, Whom think ye that I am? I am not he, (i. e. the Chriſt;) but behold there cometh one after me, whoſe Shoes of his (i. e. the Shoes of whoſe) Feet, I am not worthy to looſe.

26. Men and Brethren, Children of the m Stock of Abraham, and [m] whoſoever amongſt you feareth God, to you is the Word of this Salvation, (which Chriſt hath brought into the World,) ſent.

27. For they that dwelt at Jeruſalem, and their Rulers, becauſe they knew him not, nor yet the (import of the) Voices of the Prophets, which are read every Sabbath day, they have fulfilled them in condemning him (to that Death which procures our Remiſſion of Sins;)

28. And tho' they found no cauſe of Death in him, yet deſired they Pilate, that he ſhould (might) be ſlain.

29. And when they had fulfilled all that was written of him, they took him down from the Tree, (John 19. 31.) and laid him in a Sepulchre, (and they ſealed the Sepulchre, and put a Guard upon it, Matth. 27. 66.)

30. But (notwithſtanding this,) God raiſed him from the Dead.

n 31. [n] And he was ſeen (alive) many days of them which came up with him from Galilee to Jeruſalem, who are his Witneſſes to the People.

32. And we declare to you glad Tidings, (viz.) how that the Promiſe which was made to the Fathers, (that in him ſhould all the Families of the Earth be bleſſed;)

o 33. [o] God hath fulfilled the ſame to us their Children, in that he hath raiſed up Jeſus again (to be a Prince, and a Saviour;) p as it is alſo [p] written (of him) in the ſecond Pſalm (by God, ſaying, from the Mouth of David,) Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee.

34. And as concerning that (Gr. and that) q [q] he raiſed him up from the Dead, now no more to return to Corruption, (is evident, becauſe) he ſaid on this wiſe, I will give you (Jews) the ſure Mercies of David.

35. Wherefore he ſaith alſo in another Pſalm, Thou ſhalt not ſuffer thy Holy One to to ſee Corruption, (which words cannot reſpect David himſelf.)

36. For David after he had ſerved his own Generation, by the Will of God, fell aſleep, and was laid to his Fathers, and (his Body) ſaw Corruption.

37. But he (that Jeſus) whom God raiſed up, ſaw no Corruption (as to his Body.)

38. Be it known to you therefore, Men and Brethren, that [r] through this Man ('s r Death) is preached to you the Forgiveneſs of Sins.

39. And by him all that believe are juſtified from all things, from which ye could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes.

40. Beware therefore, leſt (for your Infidelity,) that come upon you, which is ſpoken of in the Prophets,

41. Behold ye Deſpiſers, and wonder, and periſh, for I work a Work in your days, a Work which ye ſhall (will) in no wiſe believe, tho a Man declare it to you;

42. And when the Jews were gone out of the Synagogue, the Gentiles beſought that theſe words might be preached to them the [s] next Sabbath (day.) s

43. Now when the Congregation was broken up, many of the Jews, and religious Proſelytes followed Paul, and Barnabas, who ſpeaking to them, perſuaded them to continue in the Grace of God.

44. And the next Sabbath day came almoſt the whole City together to hear the Word of God.

45. But when the Jews ſaw the Multitudes, they were filled with Envy, and ſpake againſt thoſe things which were ſpoken by Paul, contradicting and blaſpheming (them;)

46. Then Paul and Barnabas waxed bold, and ſaid, it was neceſſary (by Chriſt's Appointment, Acts 1. 8.) that the Word of God ſhould firſt have been ſpoken to you; but ſeeing ye put it from you, and (by your Actions) [t] judge t your ſelves unworthy of everlaſting Life, [u] lo u we turn (from you) to the Gentiles.

47. For ſo hath the Lord commanded, ſaying, I have ſet thee, (O Chriſt,) to be a Light to the Gentiles, that thou ſhouldeſt be for Salvation to the ends of the Earth.

48. And when the Gentiles heard this, they were glad, and glorified the Word of the Lord, (giving Glory to him for it,) and [w] as w many many (of them) as were ordained to (diſpoſed for) eternal Life, believed.

49. And the Word of the Lord was publiſhed throughout all the Region:

50. But the Jews ſtirred up the devout, and honourable Women, and chief Men of the City, and raiſed Perſecution againſt Paul and Barnabas, and expell'd them out of their Coaſts.

51. But they ſhook off the Duſt of their Feet againſt them, and came to Iconium.

52. And the Diſciples were filled with Joy, and with the Holy Ghoſt.

Annotations on Chap. XIII.

a Ver. 1. Ἦσαν δέ τινες ἐν Ἀντιοχείᾳ κατὰ τὴν οὖσαν ἐκκλησίαν προφῆται καὶ διδάσκαλοι, There were ſome Prophets, and Teachers in Antioch, belonging to that Church.] So Grotius; and indeed Barnabas and Paul might well be reckon'd ſuch, Barnabas being ſent thither by the Church of Jeruſalem, Chap. 11. 22. and he, and Paul preaching there a whole Year, ver. 26. and being ſent by that Church to Jeruſalem, 1*ſt*, With their Alms, ver. 30. and about the Queſtion determined by the Council, Acts 15. and the reſt being very probably ſome of the One hundred and eight, who being ſcattered abroad by the Perſecution mentioned Acts 8. 1. came down to Antioch, Chap. 11. 19. for Niger is by (a) Epiphanius declared to have been one of the ſeventy two, and Lucius was of Cyrene, ſaith the Text, and ſo one of them that came down to Antioch, Chap. 11. 20. but to ſay that either Paul or Barnabas were Biſhops of Syria, as Dr. Hammond doth, is that which never was before, nor can with any reaſon be aſſerted of the Apoſtle of the Gentiles, or of Barnabas appointed to go with him to the Gentiles, ver. 2. nor could he have had any Temptation to have made the other three, there named, Biſhops, but that he finds them laying on of Hands, ver. 2. imagining that was for Ordination, whereas it was by way of Benediction on their Enterprize only, or to recommend them to the Grace of God, Chap. 14. 26. for who ever heard before of an Apoſtle ordained Biſhop by laying on of the Hands of Prophets, or Teachers? or of one Prophet, Teacher, or Biſhop laying his Hands upon another Prophet, Biſhop, or Teacher, to ordain him Biſhop? And indeed, if there were ſo many Biſhops as he hath given us in Judea, Acts 15. in Syria, and Cilicia, here, and ſo many ordained in all other Churches, as he ſaith, Chap. 14. 23. is it not wonderful that St. Paul in all his Travels ſhould never meet with, reſort to, or be entertained by any one of them, but only by the Brethren at large? Or that he ſhould write to the Churches of the Romans, Corinthians, Galatians, Coloſſians, and Theſſalonians, before he went bound to Rome, and never ſalute any Biſhops there, or give any Inſtructions to them, or ſo much as ever mention, that he had ordained any Elders, that is, ſaith he, Biſhops there? It alſo is to be obſerved, that this only was a temporary Miſſion to preach to the Gentiles, that being the Work to which St. Paul was called, ver. 2. and of which they give an account to the Church of Antioch, declaring how God had opened a Door of Faith to the Gentiles, which Miſſion they preſently compleated, and then returned to Antioch, declaring to the Church there what they had done in proſecution of it, Chap. 14. 26, 27.

b Ver. 2. Λειτουργούντων δὲ αὐτῶν τῷ Κυρίῳ, And as they miniſtred to the Lord.] Vain here is the Inference of the Papiſts from this word, that they ſacrificed the Maſs; for λειτουργεῖν in Phavorinus and Heſychius is, δουλεύειν, διακονεῖν, ὑπηρετεῖν, to ſerve and miniſter: In the Old Teſtament it often ſignifies the Miniſtry of the Levites, who were not to offer Sacrifice, as Numb. 4. 23, 24, 26, 27, 28, 30, 35, 37, 39, 43. Chap. 8. 22. —— 16. 9. — 18. 6, 21, 23. By (b) Chryſoſtom and Oecumenius it is rendred preaching, and in prophane Authors it is applied to any other work. Thus in (c) Ariſtotle's Politicks, Men are ſaid λειτουργεῖν περὶ τὰς ἀρχάς, πρὸς τεκνοποιΐαν, τὰ καθ' ὅλον βίον, to miniſter about Government, in getting Children, and about the things of this Life.

c Ver. 4. And thence they ſailed to Cyprus;] where the Jews ſo abounded, that (d) Dio Caſſius tells us, that in the time of Trajan, they ſlew two hundred and forty thouſand Men there; and (e) Jerom, that the Jews overthrew Salamis in Cyprus, killing all the Gentiles there.

d Ver. 5. Καὶ εἶχον Ἰωάννην ὑπηρέτην, They had John to miniſter unto them.] As the Wiſemen, and Prophets among the Jews, had one to miniſter unto them, ſo the Apoſtles had alſo thoſe who were their Companions, and Fellow-Labourers who miniſtred to them. So Timothy and Eraſtus are mentioned among thoſe who miniſtred to St. Paul, Acts 19. 22.

e Ver. 6. A Sorcerer, a falſe Prophet, a Jew whoſe Name was Bar-Jeſus.] God having raiſed up Prophets in the Chriſtian Church, and given the Apoſtles, and other Teachers of the Word, a Power to confirm it with mighty Signs, and Miracles; the Jews who oppoſed Chriſtianity, and laboured to turn Men from the Faith, pretended to be Prophets alſo, and endeavoured by Magick, and Enchantments to work Miracles, to cure Diſeaſes, and to caſt out Devils; of their Magick and Enchantments, ſee Dr. Lightfoot, Harm. of the New Teſtament, p. 95. and of their Attempts to cure Diſeaſes, and to caſt out Devils, Note on Chap. 19. 13.

f Ver. 7. Ὃς ἦν σὺν τῷ ἀνθυπάτῳ, Which was with the Deputy of the Country, (Gr. the Proconſul) Sergius Paulus.] The Difficulty which ſome find in giving the Name of Proconſul to the Prætor or Preſident of Cyprus, is ſolved by theſe Words of Valla, that not he only is ſtiled a Proconſul who is ſent to adminiſter a Province with Conſular Power, but alſo a Prætor, or Preſident. Elegant. l. 4.

g Ver. 9. Saul, who is alſo called Paul.] Origen, in his Preface to the Epiſtle to the Romans, ſaith, that whilſt he preached to the Jews he was called Saul, according to the Name he had among them at his Circumciſion, Paulum autem appellatum eſſe cum Græcis, & Gentibus leges, & Præcepta conſcribit, and that he was called by his Roman Name Paul, when he preached to the Gentiles, h Ver. 15. Οἱ ἀρχισυνάγωγοι, The Rulers of the Synagogae ſent to them.] In what ſenſe the Rulers of the Synagogue were many, and in what ſenſe but one, ſee the Note on Mark 5. 22.

i Ver. 18. And about the time of forty Years he ſuffered their Manners, Gr. ἐτροποφόρησεν αὐτοὺς, in the Wilderneſs.] Here Dr. Hammond thinks it is without doubt that the true reading is ἐτροφοφόρησεν, he bore them as a Parent doth his Child, becauſe ſo the word is uſed, Deut 1. 31. where it is ſaid the Lord ἐτροφόφορησε σε, bore thee in this Wilderneſs as a Man τροφοφορήσαι, would bear his Son; and the Woman in the Maccabees entreats her youngeſt Son to pity her τροφοφορήσασ, bearing him, 2 Maccab. 7. 27. See (16) Additions, N° 16. But tho' this makes a very good ſenſe, it ſeems not neceſſary; for 1*ſt*, (f) Origen there reads as here ἐτροποφόρησεν, and expounds it ἁρμόζεσθαι σὲ πρὸς τὰ ἀσθενῆς, to accommodate himſelf to the Infirmities of his Children, and ſo the word is uſed by (g) Cicero ad Atticum, when he ſaith, τὸν τύφον, μὲ τροποφόρησον, bear patiently my Pride, or Elation of Mind.

k Ver. 20. God gave them Judges about the ſpace of 450 Years.] Grotius and Biſhop Uſher note here that other Copies read thus, καὶ ἐκληρονόμησεν αὐτοῖς τὴν γῆν αὐτῶν ὡς ἔτεσι τετρακοσίοις καὶ πεντήκοντα, καὶ μετὰ ταῦτα ἔδωκεν κριτὰς, he divided to them their Land about four hundred and fifty Years, and after that he gave them Judges; and they begin the time of this Computation from the Birth of Iſaac, of whom it was ſaid, in Iſaac ſhall thy Seed be called, Gen. 21. 12. from his Birth to the Children of Iſrael's going out of Egypt, was 405 Years, their ſtay in the Wilderneſs was forty Years, ſeven Years after their Land was divided to them, theſe Years put together made 452, and ſo the Apoſtle ſaith, the ſpace from God's Election of them, to the dividing the Land to them, was about 450 Years. But,

1*ſt*, This reading is not owned by Chryſoſtom, or Oecumenius, or by the Syriack or Arabick, who all read as we do.

2*dly*; The Words ſeem not to bear this ſenſe, for the Apoſtle goes on orderly thus; (1.) God choſe our Fathers; (2.) He brought them out of Egypt; (3.) He led them in the Wilderneſs forty Years; (4.) He divided the Land to them; and therefore 'tis reaſonable to conceive he ſhould go on to tell what was done after the Diviſion of their Land. Moreover the Apoſtle doth not ſay, and all theſe things were done in the ſpace of 450 Years, but he divided their Land to them about the ſpace of 450 Years, which according to this reading ſignifies, he was ſo long in dividing their Land; I therefore prefer the other Computation which refers this to the Judges, becauſe if you compute the Years of the Judges till Samuel, you will find them 339, and the Years of the Tyrants 111, which put together make 450.

3*dly*, Becauſe this Computation then obtained among the Jews, for (h) Joſephus ſaith, Solomon began to build the Temple μετὰ ἔτη τετρακόσια καὶ ἑνενήκοντα καὶ δύο, after 592 Years of the Children of Iſrael's going out of Egypt. Now if you make the time of the Judges 450, the Computation is exactly 591 Years, he therefore here, as in the following Verſe, accords with the Computation of his Nation at that time, that ſo they might not except againſt his words.

l Ver. 21. By the ſpace of forty Years.] So Joſephus ſaith he reigned whilſt Samuel lived ἔτη ὀκτὼ πρὸς τοῖς δέκα, eighteen Years, and after his Death δύο καὶ εἴκοσι, twenty two Years; but tho' this reckoning ſeems to have obtained in the time of Joſephus, 'tis far from being true, that Saul reigned twenty two Years after the Death of Samuel, it is rather true, as the Jews conceive that they both died in the ſame Year; ſo that the words forty Years, are to be connected thus, until Samuel the Prophet, who having judged them about 30 Years, afterward they deſired a King, and God by Samuel gave them Saul, whoſe Reign with that of Samuel's was about the ſpace of forty Years. So ſaith (i) Sulpitius Severus, Ego arbitror à Paulo etiam Samuelis annos ſub Regis iſtius ætate numeratos, I ſuppoſe that the Years of Samuel alſo are added to the Reign of that King by Paul; as doubtleſs they were, they making together juſt 40 Years.

Forgiveneſs of Sins;] i. e. Thoſe Sins, from the Guilt of which the Law of Moſes could not cleanſe the Conſcience, and from which we could not be juſtified, i. e. from the Guilt and Condemnation due to us, from which we could not be exempted by the Law of Moſes. See the Note on Chap. 15. 9.

Ver. 42. Εἰς τὸ μεταξὺ Σάββατον.] This s
Phraſe doth not ſignifie the intermediate Week, as ſome conceive, or on the ſecond and fifth Day of the Week, but on the following Sabbath; for we learn from the 44th Verſe, that they came not together till the following Sabbath. So (k) Joſephus ſpeaks of David and Solomon, ἔτι ὢν τῶν μεταξὺ τούτων Βασιλέων, and of the following Kings of Judah; for there came none between them.

judge your ſelves unworthy of eternal Life.] Or rather diſcover, or by your Actions ſhew your ſelves unworthy of it; for when our Saviour ſent his Apoſtles, he bid them, into what Village, or Houſe ſoever they entred, tred, to enquire, τὶς ἄξιος, who was worthy in it, and to ſhake off the Duſt of their Feet againſt the unworthy, Matth. 10. 11 — 15. i. e. againſt thoſe who would not receive their Doctrine of Salvation, or Eternal Life: This unworthineſs, ſaith the Apoſtle, κρίνετε you diſcover, by thus contradicting and blaſpheming it; this is the ſenſe of the word κρίνειν, viz. to diſcern, diſcover, or make known, when the Apoſtle ſaith, He that comes into the Aſſemblies of the Prophets, κρίνεται is diſcovered of them all, 1 Cor. 14. 24. and the ſpiritual Man diſcovers all things, Chap. 2. 15.

u Ibid. Lo, we turn to the Gentiles.] Not from the Jews every where; for we find St. Paul ſtill preaching to them in every Synagogue where he came, Acts 17. 2. But from thoſe of Antioch in Piſidia, to the Gentiles there, it being not reaſonable that the Jews of other places ſhould be deprived of the Goſpel, for the perverſeneſs of thoſe here.

w Ver. 48. And ὅσοι ἦσαν τεταγμένοι εἰς ζωὴν αἰώνιον, as many as were ordained to eternal Life, believed.) Theſe words cannot ſignifie a fixed number of Perſons, abſolutely by God ordained to eternal Life, ſo that they, and they only ſhall obtain it, and all others be excluded from it, as upon this Suppoſition they muſt be; for if God by his Ordination or Decree, hath fixed the number of thoſe whom he will bring unto Salvation, all they who are not of that number, will not partake of that Salvation: And this is evident from theſe Conſiderations:

1*ſt*, That if the reaſon why theſe Men believed, be only this, That they were Men ordained to eternal Life; the reaſon why the reſt believed not, can be this only, That they were not ordained by God to eternal Life; and if ſo, what neceſſity could there be, that the Word of God ſhould be firſt preached to them? as we read ver. 46. was it only that their Damnation might be the greater? This ſeems to charge that Lover of Souls, whoſe tender Mercies are over all his Works, with the greateſt Cruelty, ſeeing it makes him determine from all Eternity, not only that ſo many Souls, as capable of Salvation as any other, ſhall periſh everlaſtingly; but alſo to determine, that the Diſpenſations of his Providence ſhall be ſuch towards them as neceſſarily tends to the aggravation of their Condemnation; and what could even their moſt malicious and enraged Enemy do more? What is it the very Devil aims at by all his Temptations, but this very End, viz. the aggravation of our future Puniſhment? And therefore, to aſſert that God had determined, that his Word ſhould be ſpoken to theſe Jews for this very End, is to make God as inſtrumental to their Ruin as the very Devil, and ſeemeth wholly irreconcilable with his Declarations, that he would have all Men to be ſaved, and would not that any Man ſhould periſh.

2*dly*, The Apoſtle gives this reaſon, why he turned from the Jews to the Gentiles, viz. becauſe the Jews had thruſt away the Word of God from them, and judged themſelves unworthy of eternal Life, ver. 46. Whereas, according to this Suppoſition, this could be no ſufficient reaſon of his turning from them to the Gentiles; for it was only they, among the Jews, whom God had not ordained to eternal Life, who thus refuſed to believe, and to obey the Word of God; and as many among the Gentiles as were not thus ordained to eternal Life, muſt neceſſarily do the ſame, and ſo there could be no ſufficient cauſe, why he ſhould turn from the Jews to the Gentiles on that account. And,

3*dly*, Were this the reaſon why the Jews believed not, that they were not by God ordained to eternal Life, why doth St. Paul by God's Commiſſion, ſpeak here to them thus; Be it known to you, Brethren, that by this Jeſus, is declared to you Remiſſion of Sins? Why doth he add, And by him every one that believeth, is juſtified? &c. Why doth he vehemently exhort them to beware, leſt that Saying of the Prophet Habakkuk ſhould be verified of them, I will work a Work in your Days, which you will not believe, tho' one declare it to you? ver. 38 — 41. For could God have determined, that theſe very Perſons ſhould not believe to Life eternal, and yet commiſſionate his Apoſtles to tell them, that Remiſſion of Sins, and Juſtification to Life eternal, was propoſed to them? Could it be revealed to St. Paul, that they could not believe to Life eternal, as being not by God ordained to it, and yet would he ſo paſſionately exhort them to that Faith in Jeſus, which he well knew by virtue of this Revelation, belonged not to them, nor could they poſſibly exert? Theſe things ſeem clearly to evince, this cannot be the proper import of the words; but they will very well admit of theſe two Senſes, viz. (1.) As many as were diſpoſed for eternal Life, believed: Or (2.) As many as were diſpoſed to do it, believed to eternal Life. And,

1*ſt*, 'Tis highly probable, the genuine import of theſe words is this, Ὅσοι ἦσαν τεταγμένοι, As many as were diſpoſed for eternal Life, believed; for this word τεταγμένος by this very Author, is uſed in this ſenſe to ſignifie a Man not outwardly ordained, but inwardly diſpoſed; or one determined, not by God, but his own Inclinations to do ſuch a thing; as when 'tis ſaid, Acts 22. 10.

St. Paul went on foot to Aſſos, ἔτω γὰρ ἦν διατεταγμένος, for ſo he was diſpoſed to do: So the Son of Syrach ſaith, ἡ σεμνοία ζωῆς τεταγμένη ἔσται, the Conduct or Government of the Wiſe Man will be well ordered or diſpoſed, Chap. 10. 1. Thus (l) Philo ſaith to Cain, Thou needeſt not fear being killed by them who are ἐν τῇ τεταγμένοι Συμμαχίᾳ, rank'd on thy ſide, i. e. of the ſame Diſpoſitions and Affections with thee. And he ſaith of thoſe Children who having had vicious Parents, have themſelves proved virtuous, that they are (m) ἀμείνῳ τεταγμένοι τάξει, placed in a better Rank: And ſpeaking of Eſau and Jacob, he repreſents Eſau as fierce, ſubject to Anger and other Paſſions, and governed by his brutiſh part, but Jacob as a Lover of Vertue and Truth, and ſo (n) ἐν τῇ ἘΒΔΟΜΗΚΟΝΤΑ τεταγμένον τάξει, placed in a better Rank of Men, or one of a better Temper and Diſpoſition; and adds, that (o) Samuel was τεταγμένῳ Θεῷ, one well diſpoſed towards God. So Simplicius interprets this word; for when (p) Epictetus had ſaid, εἰ ὃ βέλτιστον (οἱ φανόμενον ἔστως ἔχει ὡς ὑπὸ Θεῷ τεταγμένῳ εἰς τοῦτο τὸ τάξιν, if thou haſt a deſire to be a Philoſopher, ſo retain thoſe things which ſeem beſt to thee, as being by God placed in that Rank; that is, ſaith he, (q) ὡς ὑπὸ Θεοῦ προτρεπόμενον ἐπὶ ταῦτα, τὸ γὰρ μέγιστον τῶν ἐκ Θεοῦ δωρηθέντων ἀνθρώποις φιλοσοφία ἐστι, as being incited by God to it; for Philoſophy, (ſaith he, eternal Salvation ſaith the Scripture,) is the greateſt Gift that God hath given to Mankind: And to this ſenſe, the very Context leads; the Perſons oppoſite to thoſe diſpoſed for eternal Life, being thoſe who for their indiſpoſition to embrace the offer of it, were unworthy of eternal Life.

The ſecond import, of which theſe words are capable, is this, That as many as were well diſpoſed, believed to eternal Life; and accordingly, we are ſaid to believe in Chriſt to eternal Life, 2 Tim. 1. 16. and to the ſaving of the Soul, Heb. 10. 39. and they who truly do believe, are ſaid to do it to eternal Life, becauſe they by believing, do obtain a perfect right to that Life of which they cannot fail, but by departing from that Faith, or ſuffering it to become unfruitful in thoſe Works of Righteouſneſs, which make them meet to be Partakers of eternal Life.

CHAP. XIV.

1. AND it came to paſs in Iconium, that they (viz. Paul and Barnabas) [a] went both together into the Synagogue of the Jews (there,) and ſo ſpake, that [b] a great Multitude both of the Jews, and alſo of the Greeks, (i. e. the Proſelytes of the Jews,) believed.

2. But the (οἱ δὲ, and that the) unbelieving Jews ſtirred up the Gentiles, and made their Minds Gr. roſe up, and made the Minds of the Gentiles) evil (ly) affected againſt the Brethren.

3. Long time therefore abode they (ἱκανὸν μὲν οὖν χρόνον διέτριψαν, for indeed they had tarried a long time,) ſpeaking boldly in (the Name of) the Lord, who gave Teſtimony unto the words of his Grace, and granted Signs and Wonders to be done by their hands:

4. But (then) the Multitude of the City was divided, and part held with the (unbelieving) Jews, and part with the Apoſtles.

5. And when there was an Aſſault (or tumult) made, both of (i. e. by) the Gentiles, and alſo of (by) the Jews, with their Rulers, (endeavouring) to uſe them deſpitefully (or contumeliouſly,) and to [c] ſtone them (as Blaſphemers of the Law.)

6. They were aware of it, and (ſo) fled to Lyſtra, and (then to) Derbe, (ver. 20.) Cities of Lycaonia, and (then) to the Region which lyeth round about (thoſe Cities.)

7. And there they preached the Goſpel.

8. And there ſat a Man at Lyſtra [d] impotent in his Feet, being a Cripple from his Mother's Womb, (and ſo one) who never had walked.

9. The ſame heard Paul ſpeak (ing the Word) who ſtedfaſtly beholding him, and [e] perceiving (by his Gift of diſcerning Spirits,) that he had Faith to be healed;

10. Said (to him) with a loud Voice, Stand upright on thy Feet; and (having ſaid this,) he (the impotent Man) leaped, and walked.

11. And when the People ſaw what Paul had done, they lift up their Voices, ſaying, in the Speech of Lycaonia, [f] the Gods are come down to us in the likeneſs of Men.

g 12. [g] And they called Barnabas Jupiter, and Paul Mercurius, (i. e. his Interpreter,) becauſe he was the chief Speaker.

13. Then the Prieſt of Jupiter, who (i. e. whoſe Image) was before the City, brought h Oxen, and Garlands, (Gr. Coronets,) [h] to the Gates, (where Barnabas and Paul were,) and would have done Sacrifice with the People, (i. e. he, and they would have offered Sacrifice to them as Gods.)

14. Which when the Apoſtles, Barnabas and Paul heard of, they rent their Cloaths, (to ſhew the deteſtation of the Fact,) and ran in among the People, crying out,

15. And ſaying, Sirs, why do ye (attempt) theſe things, (ſeeing) we alſo are Men of like Paſſions with you, and preach to you, that ye ſhould turn from theſe Vanities (or dead Idols,) to the (Worſhip of the) Living God, who made Heaven and Earth, and the Sea, and all things that are therein?

i 16. [i] Who in Times paſt, (ſince the Days of Noah, 1 Pet. 3. 20.) ſuffered all Nations to walk in their own ways, (giving them no written Law, and ſending them no Prophets to inſtruct them in the true Worſhip of him, as he did to the Jews.)

k 17. [k] Nevertheleſs, he left not himſelf without witneſs (to them of his Providence,) in that he did good (to us all,) and gave (Gr. giving) us Rain from Heaven, and fruitful Seaſons, filling our Hearts with Food and Gladneſs;

18. And with theſe Sayings ſcarce reſtrained they the People, that they had not done (i. e. from doing) Sacrifice to them.

19. And (then) there came thither certain Jews from Antioch and Iconium, who perſuaded the People (againſt the Apoſtles;) and (ſo they) having [l] ſtoned Paul, drew him out of the City, ſuppoſing he had been dead. l

20. Howbeit, as the Diſciples ſtood round about him, he roſe up, and came into the City; and the next day he departed with Barnabas to Derbe:

21. And when they had preached the Goſpel to that City, and had taught many, (Gr. had made many Diſciples,) they returned again to Lyſtra, and to Iconium and Antioch,

22. Confirming the Souls of the Diſciples, and exhorting them to continue in the Faith, and (telling them,) that we (Chriſtians) muſt, through much Tribulation, enter into the Kingdom of God.

23. And when they had [m] ordained them m Elders in every Church, and had prayed with Faſting, (Gr. and when praying with Faſting, they had ordained, &c.) they commended them to (the protection of) the Lord (Jeſus,) on whom they believed.

24. And after they had paſſed through Piſidia, they came to Pamphilia.

25. And when they had preached the Word in Perga, they went down to Attalia;

26. And thence ſailed to Antioch; from whence they had been recommended to the Grace of God (by Prayer for his Aſſiſtance, Acts 13. 3.) for the work which they (had now) fulfilled.

27. And when they were come, and had gathered the Church together, they rehearſed all that God had done with (i. e. by) them, and how he had opened the Door of Faith to the Gentiles.

28. And there they abode (a) long time with the Diſciples.

That the giving of Rain in its Seaſon, and of fruitful Seaſons of the Year, is even to the Heathens a Teſtimony of the Divine Providence; for this Rain coming from the Clouds of Heaven, and theſe fruitful Seaſons depending ſo neceſſarily on the Sun, Moon, and other Luminaries of Heaven; and being ſo conſtantly produced by them, muſt demonſtrate, that they muſt derive them from, and owe them to him who made the Heavens and the Earth, ver. 15. and therefore, that they ought to worſhip, and to be thankful to him for them. (2.) Theſe being good things, and ſuch as filled their Hearts with food and gladneſs; and being conferr'd freely and conſtantly on them, who daily provoked him by their Idolatries and Ingratitude, were alſo a clear Teſtimony of his Goodneſs to them, and therefore an aſſurance to them, That if they knowing him by theſe Means to be God, would turn from their dumb Idols, and worſhip him as God, they might find Grace and Favour in his Eyes, who was ſo good unto them, even whilſt they did continue to provoke him: Now the knowledge of the God that made Heaven and Earth, as the only true God who is to be worſhipped, and whoſe Providence affords us all the Bleſſings we enjoy, and the Belief that he is well inclined to ſhew Mercy to all that thus turn to him, and to reward all that thus ſerve him, and are thus thankful to him, ſeems to be all that God expected from the Gentiles, as may be gathered from Rom. 1. 20, 21.

the Apostles, is fully proved by Dr. Hammond and Mr. Selden, but then that this constituting Elders in these Churches, was making them fixed Bishops of those Churches, is not proved.

To clear up this, let it be considered, That in those Times Men received the Gift of Tongues and Prophesie, or those spiritual Gifts which fitted them to minister in the Church, either immediately from Heaven, as the Apostles themselves did, and so by God himself, were fitted and appointed for that Work; so was it with the hundred and twenty, who received the Holy Ghost on the Day of Pentecost; see Note on Acts 2. 1. or when they prayed with Peter and John, Acts 4. 31. and with St. Paul, who was baptized and filled with the Holy Ghost, Chap. 9. 17. So was it with Cornelius and his Kinsmen, Acts 10. 44. for they spake with Tongues, and magnified God, even as the Apostles did when they had received the Holy Ghost; for as they spake with Tongues μεγαλεῖα τοῦ Θεοῦ, the great things of God, Acts 2. 11. so did these Men speak with Tongues, μεγαλυνόντων τὸν Θεὸν, magnifying God, and therefore St. Peter saith, they had received the Holy Ghost even as we, Acts 10. 47.—11. 17. or else these Gifts were given by Imposition of the Apostles Hands; so when the Samaritans believed, and were baptized, that they might have Persons fitted to officiate in sacred Things, the Church of Jerusalem send to them Peter and John, who lay their Hands on some of them, and they receive the Holy Ghost, Acts 8. 17. This being done, the Apostles returned to Jerusalem, ver. 25. preaching the Word to other Villages of Samaria, but leaving the Conduct of the Church to these gifted Men; and these seem to be the Men who first officiated in all converted Churches; and wherever we meet with them, we find no other Persons constituted as Bishops, or fixed Over-seers of those Churches, as in the Churches of Corinth, Galatia, Thessalonica, and therefore have reason to conceive, there were no other Elders constituted here, they being no more necessary for the Churches of Lystra and Iconium, than for those of Corinth and Galatia. Moreover, we have here only mention of Elders constituted in these Churches, not of one Deacon placed under them, which shews, these Elders were not Bishops, since by the Rule of Epiphanius, a Bishop cannot be without a Deacon. In a word, These Prophetical Men, though they were Officers placed in the Church next to the Apostles, 1 Cor. 12. 26. yet were they not fixed Ministers; but from what parts soever they come, and wherever they are, they take upon them to officiate. So doth Barnabas at Antioch, Chap. 11. 23, 24. and the other Prophets there, Chap. 13. 1, 2. and so doth Silas, sent from Jerusalem to Antioch, continue there, Acts 15. 33. and from thence goes thro' Syria and Cilicia, confirming the Churches, ver. 41.

CHAP. XV.

1. AND certain Men which came down from Judea (to Antioch,) taught a the Brethren (of the Gentiles, saying,) [a] except ye be circumcised after the manner of Moses, (i. e. so as by that Rite to submit to, and observe his Law,) ye cannot be saved.

2. When therefore Paul and Barnabas had no small Dissention and Disputation with them, (Gr. and a Dissention being made among the Brethren, and no small Debate or Reasoning of Paul and Barnabas against them who
b taught this Doctrine,) [b] they (of Antioch) determined that Paul and Barnabas, and certain others of them, should go up to Jerusalem
c [c] to the Apostles, and Elders (there,) about this Question.

3. And being brought on their way by the Church, they (Gr. οἱ μὲν οὖν προπεμφθέντες, they therefore being sent forth by the Church,) passed through Phœnice, and Samaria, declaring (to them) the Conversion of the Gentiles, and (by this) they caused great Joy unto all the Brethren.

4. And when they were come to Jerusalem, they were received of the Church, and of the Apostles, and Elders, and they declared (to them) all things which God had done with them, (i. e. by them, ver. 12.)

5. But there rose up certain of the Sect of the Pharisees which believed, saying, That it was needful to circumcise them, (who believed among the Gentiles,) and to command them to keep the Law of Moses.

6. And (then) the Apostles and Elders came together to consider of this matter;

7. And when there had been much disputing, Peter rose up and said to them, Men and Brethren, ye know how that [d] a good d while ago, (Gr. of days of old,) God made choice among us, (Gr. ὁ Θεὸς ἐν ὑμῖν ἐξελέξατο, God chose (me) out among you,) that the Gentiles by my Mouth should hear the Word of the Gospel, and believe, (commanding Cornelius to send for me, Acts 10. 5. and me to go to him with the Messengers sent for me, not making any difference betwixt him, and others, ver. 20.)

8. And God who knoweth the Hearts (of all Men,) bare them witneſs, (of his acceptance of them, tho' uncircumciſed, by) giving them the Holy Ghoſt, even as he did to us (believing Jews.)

e 9. And (he) [e] put no difference betwixt us, and them, (on the account of their Uncircumciſion, but ſupplied that by) purifying their Hearts by Faith, (and ſo making them a pure People, as Circumciſion formerly did us.)

10. Now therefore why tempt ye God, (i. e. why diſtruſt ye the Truth of what he
f hath thus declared, by attempting) [f] to put a Yoke (of Obedience to the Law of Moſes,) upon the Necks of the Diſciples, which neither our Fathers, nor we, were able to bear, (i. e. to perform ſo as to be juſtified by it?)

11. But we believe that through the Grace of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, (or through God's Favour to us in him,) we ſhall be ſaved, g [g] even as they (are to be ſaved by it.)

12. Then all the Multitudes kept ſilence, and gave Audience to Barnabas and Saul, declaring (in confirmation of this point,) what Miracles, and Wonders God had wrought among the (uncircumciſed) Gentiles by them:

13. And after they had held their peace, James anſwered (to the Queſtion) ſaying, Men and Brethren, hearken to me;

14. Simeon hath declared how God at the firſt did (by him) viſit the Gentiles, to take out of them a People for (the Glory) of his Name.

15. And to this agree the Words of the Prophet (Amos,) as it is written, (Chap. 9. 11.)

16. After this I will return, and build h again [h] the Tabernacle of David, which is fallen down, and I will build again the Ruins thereof, and I will ſet it up, (by raiſing up Chriſt to ſit upon his Throne, Acts 2. 30. and giving him the Throne of his Father David, Luke 1. 32.)

i 17. [i] That the reſidue of Men might ſeek after the Lord, and all the Gentiles upon whom my Name is called, ſaith the Lord, who doth all theſe things.

18. (This he foretold by his Preſcience, for) Known unto God are all his Works, from the beginning of the World.

k 19. [k] Wherefore my Sentence is, that we trouble not them, who from among the Gentiles are turned to God, (with the Obſervation of our Law, and Ceremonies;)

20. But (count it ſufficient) that we write l to them, that they [l] abſtain from Pollutions of Idols, and from Fornication, and from things ſtrangled, and from Blood.

21. (Nor will this Liberty be prejudicial to the Jews adhering to the Law of Moſes,) for m [m] Moſes of (from) old time hath in every City them that preach him, being read in the Synagogues every Sabbath day.

22. Then pleaſed it the Apoſtles, and Elders, with the whole Church, to ſend choſen Men of their own Company to Antioch, with Paul and Barnabas, namely Judas, ſirnamed Barſabas, and Silas, chief Men among the Brethren.

23. And (they) wrote Letters by them, after this manner, The Apoſtles, and Elders, and Brethren, ſend greeting to the Brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antioch, and Syria, and Cilicia:

24. Foraſmuch as we have heard that certain (Men) which went out from us, (1 John 2. 19.) have troubled you with Words, ſubverting your Souls, (by) ſaying, (ye ought to) be circumciſed, and keep the Law, to whom we gave no ſuch Commandment;

25. It ſeemed good to us, being aſſembled with one accord, to ſend choſen Men to you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,

29. (Who are) Men that have hazarded their Lives for the Name of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt:

27. We have ſent therefore Judas and Silas, who ſhall alſo tell you the ſame things by (word of) Mouth;

28. [n] For it ſeemed good to the Holy n
Ghoſt, (falling upon the uncircumciſed Gentiles,) and to us, to lay upon you no greater Burthen than theſe neceſſary things; (i. e. theſe things neceſſary at preſent to avoid the Scandal of the Jews, viz.)

29. That ye abſtain from Meats offered to Idols, (in the Idol Temples,) and from Blood, and from things ſtrangled, and from Fornication, from which if you keep your ſelves, ye ſhall do well. Fare ye well.

30. So when they were diſmiſſed, they came to Antioch, and when they had gathered the Multitude together, they delivered the Epiſtle;

31. And when they had read (it,) they rejoiced for the Conſolation (it afforded them.)

32. And Judas and Silas, being [o] Prophets o alſo themſelves, exhorted the Brethren with many Words, and confirmed them.

33. And after they had tarried there a ſpace, they were let go in peace from the Brethren to the Apoſtles.

34. Notwithſtanding it pleaſed Silas to abide there ſtill.

35. Paul alſo, and Barnabas contineed in Antioch, teaching and preaching the Word of the Lord, with many others alſo (that were Prophets, and Teachers there, Chap. 13. 1.)

36. And ſome days after, Paul ſaid to Barnabas, Let us go again (See Acts 13. 3, 4.) and viſit our Brethren in every City, where we have preached the word of the Lord, and ſee how they do.

37. And

37. And Barnabas determined (or counſelled) to take with them John, whoſe Sirname was Mark.

38. But Paul thought not good to take him with them, who (when they went out before,) departed from them from Pamphilia (to go to Jeruſalem, Chap. 13. 13.) and went not (on) with them to the Work (he had begun, Chap. 13. 5.)

39. And the Contention was ſo ſharp between them, that they departed aſunder one from the other, and ſo Barnabas took Mark, and ſailed into Cyprus:

40. And Paul choſe Silas, and departed (with him,) being recommended by the Brethren to the Grace (and Favour) of God.

41. And he went through Syria, and Cilicia, confirming the Churches.

Annotations on Chap. XV.

a Ver. 1. Ἐὰν μὴ περιτμηθῆτε, Except ye be circumciſed after the manner (commanded by the Law) of Moſes, ye cannot be ſaved.] Here note,

1*ſt*, That theſe Perſons were of the Sect of the Phariſees, ver. 5. and perhaps they were only the Zealots of that Sect, for we find the Jews of different Opinions in this matter, even as to Mens admiſſion into their Religion; for ſome of them would not only permit them of other Nations, who owned the true God, to live quietly among them, but even to embrace their Religion without Circumciſion, whilſt others by no means would permit them ſo to do. Thus when (a) Izates, the Son of Helen, Queen of Adiabene, embraced the Jews Religion, Ananias declared he might do it without Circumciſion, but Eleazer maintained that it was δυσέβεια, great Impiety to remain uncircumciſed. And when two eminent Perſons of Traconitis fled to Joſephus, the (b) Zealots among the Jews, were urgent for their Circumciſion, if they would abide with them; but Joſephus perſuaded the Multitude againſt it. And this Controverſie continued after they embraced Chriſtianity, ſome allowing them to embrace Chriſtianity without ſubmitting to Circumciſion, and the Jewiſh Law; others contending, that without Circumciſion, and the Obſervance of the Law, they could not be ſaved. And theſe were the falſe Apoſtles which troubled the Churches of Corinth, Galatia, and Philippi, and were great Enemies to St. Paul who taught the contrary.

2*dly*, Obſerve, That Circumciſion obliging thoſe Heathens which ſubmitted to it to obſerve the whole Law, Gal. 5. 3. it is the ſame thing to ſay, 'they muſt be circumciſed after the manner of Moſes, ver. 1. and to ſay, ver. 5. and 24. they muſt be circumciſed, and keep the Law of Moſes.

3*dly*, Obſerve, that they held this neceſſary to Salvation, ver. 1. and by that Doctrine they ſubverted the Souls of the Gentile Converts; ver. 24. cauſing them to fall from the Grace of the Goſpel offered to them without Circumciſion, Gal. 5. 4. Now this they did agreeably to their common Maxim, that omnes præputiati deſcendunt in Gehennam, all uncircumciſed Perſons go to Hell, P. Eliezer, c. 29. p. 66.

4*thly*, Obſerve, That they who did this, went out from Judea, ver. 1. and were Men going out as from the Apoſtles, ver. 24. and therefore St. John ſaith of them, they went out from us, but they were not of us, 1 John 2. 19.

b Ver. 2. They (of Antioch) determined that Paul and Barnabas — ſhould go up to Jeruſalem, &c.] St. Paul declares that he went then up to Jeruſalem, κατ' ἀποκάλυψιν, according to Revelation, Gal. 2. 2. as therefore the Prophets, and Teachers at Antioch had before ſeparated Paul and Barnabas by Revelation to preach to ſome of the Gentiles, and they having fulfilled that Work returned to Antioch, Chap. 14. 26. ſo is it probable, that by another Revelation made to the ſame Perſons, they were ſent up to Jeruſalem, as being fitteſt to convince thoſe of the contrary Perſuaſion, by declaring, what God had wrought by them among the uncircumciſed Gentiles, and his acceptance of them without Circumciſion, or the obſervance of the Law of Moſes. Hence St. Paul tells us, that by what he had declared to them, ver. 4, 12. they ſaw the Goſpel of the Uncircumciſion was committed to him, as the Goſpel of the Circumciſion was to Peter, becauſe he that wrought effectually by Peter to the Apoſtleſhip of the Circumciſion, was mighty by him towards the Gentiles, Gal. 2. 7, 8.

c Ibid. To the Apoſtles and Elders.] Here Dr. Hammond tells us they were ſent to the Apoſtles, and Biſhops of Jeruſalem, and to the other Biſhops of Judea, and ſo ver. 22. 23, 28, he makes the other Biſhops of Judea to be a part of this Council, and for the proof of this he refers us to note B. on Acts 11. where he affirms that Elders ſignifie Biſhops, but does not prove that the Elders were Biſhops of Judea, unleſs it be by ſaying, Elders ders are Biſhops; and therefore there being but one Biſhop at Jeruſalem, and yet more Elders, the reſt, excepting James, muſt be the Biſhops of Judea. But this Opinion I have ſufficiently confuted, Notes on James 5. 14. 1 Pet. 5. 1. and indeed it is meer Novelty, not ſupported by the Authority of any one Ancient Writer; for tho' ſome of them ſay, the Names of Biſhop and Presbyter, that is, Elder, were uſed promiſcuouſly in the firſt Age of Chriſtianity, none of them ever thought or ſaid, that the word Presbyter or Elder, in the New Teſtament, did always ſignifie a Biſhop. My Opinion of theſe Elders is, that they were of the one hundred and eight, who received the Holy Ghoſt at the beginning with the Apoſtles. See Note a. on Acts 2. thoſe who had been with Chriſt from the beginning, out of which one was to be choſen in the place of Judas, Chap. 1. 21, 22. and of thoſe Witneſſes of his Reſurrection which came up with him from Galilee, Chap. 13. 31. With theſe who had thus received the Holy Ghoſt, St. Peter ranks himſelf, ſaying to the Jews, the Elders that are among you, I exhort alſo who am an Elder, 1 Pet. 5. 1. and of theſe St. James ſeems to ſpeak to the ſame Perſons, when he ſaith, is any Man ſick, let him ſend for the Elders of the Church; Chap. 5. 14. and perhaps theſe are the ἡγούμενοι, who had the Rule over them, Heb. 13. 7, 16. for Judas and Silas, two of theſe Elders, being Prophets, are ſtiled, ἄνδρες ἡγούμενοι ἐν τοῖς ἀδελφοῖς, leading Men, or Governours among the Brethren: That there were any other Biſhops of Judea, I believe not, as finding nothing in Antiquity concerning them, but as Chriſtians multiplied, or grew up in Judea, tho' they all ſtill were zealous for the Law and Cuſtoms, Acts 21. 20. and ſo ſtill worſhipped in the Synagogue, yet as they ſaw occaſion they ſent one, or more of theſe Prophets or Elders, to inſtruct and to confirm them; thus when many Jews at Antioch believed, and turned to the Lord, upon tidings of theſe things, brought to the Church at Jeruſalem, they ſent forth Barnabas, one full of the Holy Ghoſt, that he ſhould go as far as Antioch, Chap. 11. 21, 22, 23. Such alſo were the Governours, and Miniſters of Church-Affairs in other places; they who received the Holy Ghoſt at Samaria, were to officiate there, and be a Nurſery for other Churches of Samaria, which ſhould embrace the Goſpel; ſuch were the Prophets, and Teachers of Antioch, Chap. 13. 1. ſuch the Elders in every Church, Chap. 14. 23. ſuch the περιστάμενοι, thoſe that laboured among the Theſſalonians, and were over them in the Lord, 1 Theſſ. 5. 12. The Prophets in the Church of Corinth, 1 Cor. 13. 14. the ſpiritual Men in the Church of the Galatians, Chap. 6. 1. See the Note there. The Men who had the Gifts of Prophecy, and teaching among the Romans, Chap. 12, 6, 7, and the twelve Men on whom the Holy Ghoſt fell at Epheſus, and made them Overſeers of the Churches there, and in the neighbouring Places: For at the firſt Converſion of any Church, there being none among them fitted to teach the Chriſtian Faith by their own Skill, and Learning, it ſeemeth neceſſary they ſhould be fitted, and ordained for this Work, by the immediate Afflatus, and the miraculous Endowments of the Holy Ghoſt: And when the Apoſtles, who only had the Power of giving the Holy Ghoſt, were about to leave the World, they placed fixed Biſhops and Paſtors in the Churches; thus St. Paul ſends about Timothy and Titus for this Work, giving them Inſtructions concerning the Perſons to be ordained.

Moreover, that theſe were all Elders of Jeruſalem, and not of all Judea, we may learn, becauſe Barnabas and Saul were appointed to go up only to Jeruſalem, to the Biſhops and Elders there, about this Queſtion, ver. 2. and when they were come to Jeruſalem they were received by the Apoſtles and Elders, ver. 4. and ver. 6. the Apoſtles and Elders come together to conſider of this matter. Now this meeting being not at any Feſtival, and there being no mention of any Perſons ſent for to come thither from any other places, we have reaſon to believe they were only the Elders at Jeruſalem, or reſiding there.

Ver. 7. Ye know how that ἀφ' ἡμερῶν ἀρχαίων, a good while ago God made choice of me.] Not only when he actually ſent him to Cornelius, but when he promiſed that by him he would lay the Foundation of his Church, which was to be erected among Jews and Gentiles; See the Note on Matth. 16. 18, 19. And this is ſaid to have been done ἀφ' ἡμερῶν ἀρχαίων, from days of old, as Mnaſon is ſtiled ἀρχαίῳ μαθητῇ, an old Diſciple, Acts 21. 16. and the firſt Miniſters of the Goſpel were ſtiled οἱ ἀπ' ἀρχῆς, they that were from the beginning, and the Doctrine preached to the Jews by the Apoſtles, is ſtiled, ἐντολὴ παλαία, an old Commandment, which they had received from the beginning, Luke 1. 2. 1 John 2. 7.

Ver. 9. And he put no difference οὐδὲν διέκρινε, he made no Diſcrimination betwixt us, and them.] The Argument here is plainly to this effect, That God by pouring his Holy Spirit on the uncircumciſed Gentiles, as he had done upon the circumciſed Jews, had plainly demonſtrated that he had received them to his Favour, and made no Diſcrimination, as to his choiceſt Gifts, betwixt them, and the Jews; and that legal Purification, which ſeemed wanting to them on the account of their Non-circumciſion, he had fully, and abundantly ſupplied in purifying their Hearts by Faith, and therefore, ſaith he, your endeavour deavour to impoſe upon them theſe legal Obſervances, to render them acceptable to God, after ſo ſignal an Evidence that he accepteth them without them, muſt be a tempting God, as that Phraſe conſtantly imports a diſtruſting, or disbelieving him, after ſufficient Evidence vouchſafed of his good Will and Pleaſure: See Note on Matth. 4. 7.

f Ver. 10. To put a Yoke upon the Diſciples Necks, which neither we, nor our Fore-fathers were able to bear.] Tho' theſe words are by moſt Interpreters applied to the numerous ritual Precepts, the coſtly Sacrifices, and to the frequent tedious Journeys up to Jeruſalem, required by the Law, which made the Obſervance of it difficult, and irkſome, I rather would refer it to that defect that the Apoſtle hath obſerved in it, that it could not purge the Conſcience from the guilt of Sin, Heb. 9. 9.—10. 1. that it could not give Life, Gal. 3. 21. that it was a killing Letter, leaving them under Condemnation, 2 Cor. 3 7.—6. 9. and ſo making it neceſſary for them to believe in Chriſt, that they might be juſtified, Gal. 2. 16. and redeemed from the Curſe of the Law, Gal. 3. 13. according to thoſe words of St. Paul, Acts 13. 38, 39. Be it known to you that thro' this Man is preached to you forgiveneſs of Sins, and by him, all that believe are juſtified from all things from which they could not be juſtified by the Law of Moſes; for to this ſenſe the following words incline, we could not bear this Yoke, for we believe that by the Grace of the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, we ſhall be ſaved.

g Ver. 11. Even as they.] This is not to be referred to the words, our Fore-fathers, as if the former Jews expected to be ſaved by the Grace of Chriſt; for whatſoever Truth may be in it with reſpect to the ancient Jews, 'tis certain that the latter Jews expected Juſtification, not by Faith, but by the Works of the Law, Rom. 9. 32. and believed nothing of a Meſſiah, who ſhould die to procure for them Remiſſion of Sins; the Controverſie here was concerning the neceſſity of Circumciſion, and obſervation of the Law of Moſes to Salvation, ver. 1. this ſaith St. Peter, cannot be ſo, becauſe God hath purified their Hearts by Faith, and ſo prepared them by it for Mercy and Salvation, and as they are to be ſaved by the Grace of Chriſt, ſo we expect Salvation by the ſame Grace; and this ſenſe is confirmed from a like Paſſage in St. Paul, declaring that it is the ſame God who juſtifies both Jew, and Gentile through the ſame Faith, Rom. 3. 30. and again, Gal. 2. 15, 16. we Jews knowing that a Man is juſtified, not by the Works of the Law, but by the Faith of Chriſt, we have believed in him that we might be juſtified.

Not is it any Argument to the contrary, that our Fathers are the neareſt Antecedent to the word ἐκεῖνοι they, for the words, our Fathers, are only mentioned accidentally; now it is very common in ſuch caſes, for the Relative to refer to a remoter Antecedent, which is the Subject profeſſedly diſcourſed of: So Acts 7. 19. He dealt ſubtilly with our Fathers, not Joſeph immediately preceding, but the King that knew not Joſeph; Chap. 10. 6. He ſhall tell thee what thou oughteſt to do, viz. not Simon the Tanner, but Simon Peter. See the Note on 1 John 5. 20.

h Ver. 16. The Tabernacle of David which is fallen down Hanepleth.] Hence the Jews called the Meſſiah Bar Naphli, becauſe it is written, (c) I will build again the Tabernacle of David which is fallen down, Amos 9. 10, 11. See Additions, N°. 19.

i Ver. 17. That the reſidue of Men might ſeek after the Lord,] Amos 9. 12, in the Hebrew it is, that they may poſſeſs the Remnant of Edom, who being the greateſt Enemies to Iſrael, the calling of them muſt denote the calling of the worſt of the Nations; the Greek Verſion alſo which St. Luke follows, proves the thing more clearly, as making mention of all Nations ſeeking after the Lord.

k Ver. 19. Wherefore my Sentence is, &c.] There be many things contained in this Chapter, which ſhew the Chriſtians then had no Apprehenſions that St. Peter was by Chriſt appointed as the Monarch of the Church, or chief Judge of Controverſies: For,

1*ſt*, St. Paul and Barnabas were ſent for the Deciſion of this Controverſie, not to St. Peter in particular, but to the Apoſtles and Elders of the Church in general.

2*dly*, The decretory Sentence was given by St. James, and not by Peter, κρίνω ἐγώ, ſaith St. James, I judge, that is, ſaith Chryſoſtom, μετ' ἐξουσίας· λέγω τοῦτο, I with Authority ſay this; and this determination of the Queſtion was made by James, ſaith Chryſoſtom, ἐκεῖνος γὰρ ὢν τῆς ἀρχῆς ἐπεχειρίσθη, becauſe he had the Government committed to him.

3*dly*, The Letters which are directed to the Gentile Churches, run after this manner, The Apoſtles, Elders, and Brethren, to the Brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antioch, Syria, and Cilicia, ſend greeting, without any particular mention of St. Peter, the ſuppoſed Judge of this, and other Controverſies, and the ſuppoſed Governor of theſe, and of all other Churches. Now all theſe things are an indication, that the Chriſtians of thoſe Times knew nothing of this Supremacy of Peter, or of Chriſt's Appointment of him to be his Vicar, and the Judge of Controverſies, to whom Appeals were to be made in doubtful caſes. For do any Churches which are now ſubject to the Pope of Rome, and do acknowledge him to be Chriſt's Vicar, ſend to the Cardinals for the deciſion of their Controverſies, and make no mention of his Holineſs? Is it their Cuſtom when ſuch Diſputes as this was, do ariſe, to have recourſe to them in general, and not particularly to the Pope? Doth any Cardinal take upon him to paſs the decretory Sentence in any Queſtion of this nature? Or do their Letters when they decide ſuch Queſtions run after this manner, We, the Cardinals, and Biſhops of the Church of Rome, ſend greeting? Since therefore they who now acknowledge this Vicar, neither do, nor by their Principles can do, as the Chriſtians mentioned in the Acts did, it muſt be certain that thoſe Chriſtians did not own that Vicar, which is now ſet up by the Church of Rome.

1 Ver. 20. Ἀπὸ τ ἀλισγημάτων τ εἰδώλων, From the Pollutions of Idols, from Fornication, from things ſtrangled, and from Blood.] Dr. Spencer here rejects all the Interpretations given by others of theſe words, and then concludes that all theſe things were forbidden, as being Cauſes, Signs, and Attendants on the Idolatry of the Heathens; things offered to Idols, whether Meat or Drink, being after eaten in the Idol's Temple to his Honour; and ſo, ſaith he, were Blood, and things ſtrangled, ways of Confederacy with Dæmons, and of offering the Blood, that is the very Soul to them, as by Fornication they did the Body. But, (1.) Theſe four are plainly reckoned as things diſtinguiſhed in themſelves, and from one another, and ſo are ſeparated by a καὶ, or and, interpoſed betwixt each of them, whereas, according to this Expoſition, they are all εἰδωλόθυτα, things offered to Idols, and much more are they all ἀλισγήματα, Pollutions of Idols. Moreover, the things forbidden here, ſaith he, comprehend not only Rites of Fornication, but alſo of Adultery, and Maſculine Impurity, and all the abominable Filthineſs committed by the Heathens in their Feſtivals of Venus, Bacchus, &c. and were all ways of entring into Confederacy with Devils: Now what kind of Chriſtians could they be at Antioch, and other places, who were in Danger of theſe things of conſecrating things by Heatheniſh Ceremonies to an Idol, and afterwards eating them in Honour of him? of offering Blood and things ſtrangled, or their Bodies to Fornication and Adultery, by way of Confederacy with Devils, after they had ſo ſolemnly turned from the Service of them, to the Worſhip of the Living God, and ſo expreſly had renounced all theſe things in their very Baptiſm?

Others think, that the true reaſon why theſe things were particularly forbidden, was to avoid the Scandal of the Jews among whom they converſed, and with whom many of them ſtill joined in the Worſhip of the Synagogue. This is explained ſeveral ways; viz. (1.) That all theſe things being formerly forbidden to the Gentiles, who converſed among them, and were made Proſelytes of the Gate, tho' they were neither circumciſed, nor obedient to the Law, they thought it neceſſary, tho' they remitted to the Chriſtian Converts among the Gentiles, Circumciſion, and the Obſervation of the Law of Moſes, they ſhould be ſtill obliged to thoſe things which had been formerly required of all that dwelt among, or converſed with them, eſpecially ſuch things as ſeemed not to the Gentiles forbidden by the Law of Nature, viz. the eating of things offered to Idols, of Blood, and of things ſtrangled, and ſimple Fornication, which was generally thought lawful by the Gentiles. See the Notes on Eph. 5. 6. 1 Theſſ. 4. 5. and of which even Maimonides ſaith, that before the Law, common Whores were not forbidden. Treat. of Wives, Cap. 1. §. 4. I confeſs it may be doubted, whether thoſe which they call the ſeven Precepts of Noah, were Precepts given to the Gentiles before the Law of Moſes, tho' doubtleſs that of not eating Blood was given to them, Gen. 9. 4. But then it is ſufficient to countenance this Interpretation, that the Proſelytes of the Gate were, as (d) Buxtorf teſtifies, forbidden theſe four things.

Others conceive, that theſe things were particularly forbid the Gentiles, as ſcandalous to the Jews, becauſe Moſes had ſo ſignally marked them out as things contrary to the Holineſs of a People, or to their Separation from other Nations to himſelf; ſo of things ſtrangled, or dead in their Blood, God ſaith, Deut. 14. 21. thou ſhalt not eat of any Carcaſs, i. e. of any thing that dieth alone, or is not orderly ſlain, for thou art an holy People to the Lord. Fornication is declared to be a thing not to be admitted in that Common-wealth, for 'tis expreſly ſaid, Deut. 23. 17. there ſhall be no Whore of the Daughters of Iſrael, nor any Whore-monger of the Sons of Iſrael; the eating things offered to Idols is forbidden as a thing contrary to the Worſhip of the true God; the Precept which commands abſtaining from Blood, is not only called a Statute for ever, Lev. 3. 17. but God threatneth to ſet his Face againſt, and to cut him off who did eat it, Lev. 7. 26.

7. 26.——17. 10. these therefore being things so solemnly forbidden the whole Nation of the Jews, either because they were a People holy to the Lord, or as things not to be admitted in their Common wealth, or as things to be punished with cutting off, or as Symptoms of Idolatry, might for the present be forbidden the Gentile Converts, that they might not do things so abominable in their Eyes. See Examen Millii in Locum.

m Ver. 21. Μωσῆς γὰρ ἐκ γενεῶν ἀρχαίων, &c.] I cannot consent to the Interpretation of these words given by Grotius, and the Reverend Dr. Hammond, viz. that the Christians could not be supposed to contemn the Law of Moses, because that Law was read in the Christian Synagogues every Sabbath-day, as of old was done by the Jews; for, (1.) St. James doth not say that Moses was read ἐν ταῖς συναγωγαῖς αὐτῶν, in their Synagogues, but absolutely ἐν ταῖς συναγωγαῖς, in the Synagogues by which word, not the Assembly of Christians, but the Jews, is always signified. (2) He doth not say, as Dr. Hammond paraphrases the words, that Moses was read in their Synagogues ὡς ἐκ γενεῶν ἀρχαίων, as from former Ages, but that Moses ἐκ γενεῶν ἀρχαίων, from former Ages had those that preached him in every City, being read from old times in the Synagogues, which cannot agree to the Assemblies of Christians which began but a few Years before. And, (3.) The Christians did more certainly, and frequently read Moses, and the Prophets on the first day of the week, as Justin M. testifies, than on the Sabbath day, and therefore their reading of him could not fitly be restrained to that day. I therefore think with Chrysostom, that St. James here gives the reason why they should write only to the Gentile Converts, viz. because there was no reason to write to the Jewish Converts, they still adhering to the Synagogue, where Moses was read every Sabbath, and so this Liberty here granted to the Gentiles only, could be no occasion to turn them from the Observation of the Law of Moses.

n Ver. 28. For it seemed good to the Holy Ghost and to us, &c.] Vain is the Pretence from these words, that other Councils may use this Preface to their Decisions, viz. It seemed good to us, and to the Holy Ghost. For the reason why the Council here assembled use these words, is not because they challenged to themselves any infallible Assistance of the Holy Ghost in their Conventions, rather than in their Dispersions, but only upon this account, because the Holy Ghost had by a Miracle declared the Truth of what they had then decreed, that is, by falling down upon Cornelius, and his Friends and Kinsfolk, who were Romans, and only Proselytes of the Gate at most, and so not circumcised, (but obliged only to observe the Precepts given to Noah, to abstain from things strangled, Blood, Idolatry, Whoredom, &c.) I say, by falling down upon these Gentiles, as he did upon our Lord's Disciples, he evidently declared, that without their submission to any farther Jewish Rites, the Gentiles might be acceptable to him, and might enjoy the Promise of the Father; and therefore, that it was not needful in order to their Acceptance with God, to require their Submission to the Judaic Rites. This is the Inference St. Peter makes from this Miracle, when he first saw it, saying, Acts 10. 47. Can any Man forbid Water, that these should not be baptized, who have received the Holy Ghost even as we? This is the Answer he gives to them by whom it was objected, that he held Communion with the Gentiles, viz. Acts 11. 17. Forasmuch as God gave them the like Gift as he did to us, who believed on the Lord Jesus Christ, what was I, that I could withstand God? This was the Answer by which the sticklers for the Jewish Rites were then silenced: And when the Question was renewed by them, and it was vehemently contended, that the Gentiles must be circumcised after the manner of Moses, St. Peter proves the contrary, by reminding them of the same Instance, declaring, ver. 8——11. that God who knew the Hearts, bare them witness, that without Circumcision they were acceptable to him, giving them the Holy Ghost, even as he did to the Apostles; and therefore by imposing of this Yoke upon them, they would tempt the Lord, by a distrust of that which by this Miracle he had perspicuously taught. This being then the very reason why they here say, It seemed good unto the Holy Ghost; it is apparent, that no Council can have hence any warrant to use the same Phrase or Preface to their Decrees, who have not the like Confirmation of their Doctrine, by a miraculous Operation of the Holy Ghost, designed purposely to confirm their Sentence.

Ver. 32. And Judas and Silas being Prophets also themselves.] That is, saith Dr. Hammond, being two Bishops of Judæa; but if so, why pleased it Silas to abide there still, rather than to go back unto his Charge? ver. 34. Yea, why after so long a stay at Antioch, doth he go along with Paul in his Travels through Syria and Cilicia, confirming the Churches? ver. 41. Why do we find him still with Paul, Chap. 16, and 17, and 18. preaching at Thessalonica, Corinth, and at other places, but not at all returning to his See? o

CHAP. XVI.

1. THen came he to Derbe and Lyſtra; and behold, a certain Diſciple was a there, named Timotheus, [a] the Son of a certain Woman, which was a Jeweſs, and believed; but his Father was a (n uncircumciſed) Greek:

2. Which (Diſciple) was well reported of by the Brethren which were at Lyſtra, and Iconium;

3. Him (therefore) would Paul have to go forth with him (to the Miniſtry,) and (laying his hands upon him, that he might receive the Gift of the Holy Ghoſt, 2 Tim. 16. he) took (him), and circumciſed him, becauſe of the Jews which were in thoſe Quarters, (who would not endure to converſe with one uncircumciſed, as they might ſuſpect Timothy was,) for they knew all that his Father was a Greek.

b 4. And as they went thro' the Cities, [b] they delivered them the Decrees to keep, that were ordained of the Apoſtles, and Elders, which were at Jeruſalem.

5. And ſo (by their Progreſs, 3 Ep. St. John, ver. 7.) were the Churches eſtabliſhed in the Faith, and increaſed in number daily.

6. Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the Region of Galatia, and bb [bb] were forbidden (by the Afflatus) of the Holy Ghoſt, to preach the Word in Aſia (at that time:)

7. (And) After they were come to Myſia, they aſſayed to go to (wards) Bithynia, but the (ſame Afflatus of the) Spirit ſuffered them not.

8. And they paſſing by (or thro') Myſia, came down to Troas.

9. And a Viſion appeared to Paul in the night; (for) there ſtood, (as ſeemed to him,) a Man of Macedonia, and prayed him, ſaying, Come over into Macedonia, and help us.

10. And after he had ſeen the Viſion, (I Luke being with him,) immediately we endeavoured to go into Macedonia aſſuredly gathering, that the Lord had called us to preach the Goſpel to them:

11. Therefore looſing from Troas, we came with a ſtrait courſe to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis.

c 12. And from thence to Philippi, [c] which is the chief (πρώτη, the firſt) City of that part of Macedonia; (See Note on Philip. 1. 1.) and a Colony; and we were in that City abiding certain days.

13. And on the Sabbath (day) we went d out of the City by a River ſide, [d] where Prayer was wont to be made, (Gr. where there was by Law or Cuſtom, an Oratory;) and we ſat down, and ſpake to the Women which reſorted thither.

14. And a certain Woman named Lydia, a ſeller of Purple, (formerly) of the City of Thyatyra, which worſhipped (the true) God, heard us, [e] whoſe Heart the Lord e (ſo far) opened, that ſhe attended to the things which were ſpoken of (i. e. by) Paul:

15. And when ſhe, (and thoſe of her Houſhold, were inſtructed in the Chriſtian Faith, and in the nature of the Baptiſm required by it, ſhe) was baptized, and her Houſhold; (then) ſhe beſought us, ſaying, If ye have judged me to be faithful to the Lord, come into my Houſe, and abide there; and [f] ſhe conſtrained, (i. e. was inſtant with) f us (ſo to do.)

16. And it came to paſs as we went to (the Houſe of) Prayer, (that) a certain Damſel, poſſeſſed with [g] a Spirit of Divination, g met us, which brought her Maſters much Gain by Sooth-ſaying, (i. e. by telling of ſtrange things.)

17. The ſame (Damſel) followed Paul, and us, and cryed, ſaying, Theſe Men are the Servants of the moſt High God, who ſhew to us the way of Salvation.

18. And this did ſhe many days; but Paul being grieved, turned, and ſaid to the Spirit, I command thee in the Name of Jeſus Chriſt, to come out of her; and he came out the ſame hour:

19. And when her Maſters ſaw, that the hope of their Gain was gone, they caught Paul, and Silas, and drew them into the Market-place to the Rulers.

20. And brought them to the Magiſtrates, (i. e.) the Captains of the Bands of Roman Soldiers,) ſaying, Theſe Men, being Jews, do exceedingly trouble our City;

21. And teach Cuſtoms [h] which are not h lawful for us to receive; neither to obſerve, being (a Colony of the) Romans.

22. And the Multitude roſe up together againſt them, and the [i] Magiſtrates rent i off their Cloaths, and commanded to beat them:

23. And when they had laid many Stripes upon them, they caſt them into Priſon, charging the Gaoler to keep them ſafely;

24. Who having received ſuch a Charge, thruſt them into the inner Priſon, and made their Feet faſt in the Stocks:

25. And at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and ſang Praiſes to God; and the Priſoners heard them.

26. And

26. And ſuddenly there was a great Earthquake, ſo that the Foundations of the Priſon were ſhaken; and immediately all the doors were opened, and every ones Bands were looſed.

27. And the Keeper of the Priſon awaking out of his ſleep, and ſeeing the Priſon doors k open, drew out his Sword, [k] and would have kill'd himſelf, ſuppoſing that the Priſoners had been fled, (and ſo he might have born the puniſhment due to them.)

28. But Paul (perceiving this by the Spirit,) cryed out with a loud Voice, ſaying, do thy ſelf no harm, for we are all here.

29. Then called he for a Light and ſprang in, and came trembling, and fell down before Paul and Silas;

30. And brought them out (of the inner Priſon,) and ſaid, Sirs, (I by this Miracle, am induced to believe you are Men ſent to ſhew unto us the way of Salvation, ver. 17.)
l [l] what (therefore) muſt I do to be ſaved?

31. And they ſaid, Believe in the Lord Jeſus Chriſt, and thou ſhalt be ſaved, and thy Houſe; (for that Faith will bring thee and them into the way of Salvation.)

32. And they ſpake to him the Word of the Lord, and (to) all that were in his Houſe.

33. And he took them the ſame hour of the Night, and waſhed their Stripes, and was baptized, he, and all his (houſe) ſtraightway.

34. And when he had brought them into his Houſe, he ſet Meat before them, and rejoiced, believing in God with all his Houſe.

35. And when it was day, the Magiſtrates ſent the Serjeants, ſaying, Let theſe Men go.

36. And the Keeper of the Priſon told this Saying to Paul, (viz.) the Magiſtrates have ſent to let you go; now therefore depart, and go in peace.

37. But Paul ſaid, they have beaten us openly, (and) uncondemned, being Romans, and have caſt us into Priſon, and now do they (think to) thruſt us out privily; nay, verily, but let them come themſelves, and fetch us out.

38. And the Serjeants told theſe words to the Magiſtrates, and they feared when they heard that they were Romans.

39. And they came and beſought them and brought them out, and deſired them to depart out of the City.

40. And they went out of the Priſon, and entred into the Houſe of Lydia; and when they had ſeen the Brethren, they comforted them, and departed (thence.)

a Ver. 1. Τἱὸς γυναικὸς τινὸς Ἰουδαίας πιστῆς, πατρὸς δὲ ἕλληνος, the Son of a certain Woman that was a Jeweſs, but his Father was a Greek.] The Law, ſaith Grotius, forbad the Jewiſh Males to marry with a Woman not ſubject to the Law, but forbad not a Jeweſs to marry with a Gentile, as Eſther did with Ahaſuerus; and this, ſaith he, may probably be concluded from the Inquiſition made by Ezra of this Crime, and the Remedy preſcribed for it, ſeeing he only enquires into thoſe Males who had taken ſtrange Wives, Chapter the 9th and the 10th, but makes no mention of the Women joined to ſtrange Husbands, or of their ſeparation from them; yet is it certain from Joſephus, that they eſteemed this contrary to their Law in his time; for he ſaith, that Druſilla married with Felix an uncircumciſed Perſon in contempt of their Law; and that this is contrary to their Interpretation of the Law, ſee Ainſw. in Deut. 7. 3.

Note alſo, that the reaſon why Timothy was not circumciſed, ſeems not to have been this, That he was under the power of his Father, and not of his Mother; for then Paul ſhould not have circumciſed him without his Father's leave, but becauſe his Father being a Greek, he was not to be circumciſed, but by his own Choice. Now St. Paul being to preach to the Jews in all places where he came, as his cuſtom was, could not have uſed Timothy in that Miniſtry, had he not circumciſed him; he therefore was only circumciſed, as St. Paul became a Jew to the Jews for the Goſpel's ſake, that he might be inſtrumental to gain the Jews.

I add my conjecture, that it was at or about this time that the Gift given him by laying on of the Apoſtles hands, 2 Tim. 1. 6. might be conferred upon him; for ſeeing Barnabas was full of the Holy Ghoſt, Chap. 11. 24. John Mark was συνεργὸς, a Coworker with Paul and Barnabas for the Kingdom of God, Col. 4. 10. Silas was a Prophet, Acts 15. 32. Luke an Evangeliſt, it ſeems reaſonable to conceive, that Timothy being taken with him for the ſame end, ſhould be endued with the like Gifts. Moreover, in the very next Chapter, they came to Theſſalonica, where Silas and Timotheus were ſo inſtrumental to convert them to the Faith, that he indites his Epiſtle to them thus, Paul, and Sylvanus, and Timotheus, to the Church of the Theſſalonians; and ſpeaks of of him as his Brother, the Miniſter of God, and a Co-worker in the Goſpel of Chriſt, 1 Theſſ. 3. 2. yea, as an Apoſtle of Chriſt, and one who was by God put in Truſt with the Goſpel, Chap. 2. 4, 6. He therefore muſt then have that Impoſition of Hands, and thoſe extraordinary Gifts of the Spirit, which fitted him for the Miniſtry; and yet this being the firſt time that St. Paul met with him, he could not have them by Impoſition of his Hands before.

b Ver. 4. And they delivered to them to keep, τὰ δόγματα τὰ κεκριμένα ὑπὸ τῶν Ἀποστόλων καὶ τῶν Πρεσβυτέρων, the Decrees ordained by the Apoſtles and Elders that were at Jeruſalem.] Here obſerve, that tho' it be ſaid, Chap. 15. 22. That it ſeemed good to the Apoſtles, and Elders, with the whole Church, to ſend Men to Antioch; and tho' the Proem of the Decree runs thus, The Apoſtles, and the Elders, and the Brethren, write to the Church of Antioch, &c. v. 22, 23. yet the Decrees were made not by the Brethren, but only by the Apoſtles and Elders. Thus in like manner, the Epiſtle of Clemens begins thus, The Church of Rome to the Church of the Corinthians.

b b Ver. 6. They were forbidden by the Holy Ghoſt to preach the Word in Aſia.] Viz. to preach it there at that time, not becauſe that Province belonged to St. John; for St. Paul preach'd there himſelf three Years, Chap. 20. 31. and ſeven Years after he leaves Timothy to correct the Diſorders that were then among them; in all which time, we hear not one word of St. John's being there. Nor, (2.) Becauſe thoſe of Aſia minor, were not diſpoſed to receive the Goſpel; for the next Year they do receive it, but becauſe the Lord would haſten them to a new work which they had not yet begun, viz. to preach to a Roman Colony, ver. 12, 21.

c Ver. 12. Ἥτις ἐστὶ πρώτη τῆς μερίδος Μακεδονίας πόλις κολωνία, Which is the firſt City of that part of Macedonia, which is a Colony.] Not the chief City, or Metropolis of Macedonia, for that was Theſſalonica; but the firſt City which was a Colony, which they who paſſed thro' the Gulph of Strymon into Aſia, came unto. See the Note on Philip. 1. 1.

d Ver. 13. Οὗ ἐνομίζετο προσευχὴ εἶναι, Where Prayer was wont to be made;] Or rather, where an Houſe of Prayer, for the Jews and Proſelytes, was allowed to be by the Law, or was accuſtomed to be; for νομίζω ſignifies ſometimes εἴθισμαι, it is accuſtomed, or uſual; ſo νομίζεται γυναῖκας πολλὰς ἔχειν, in Herodotus, is to have cuſtomarily more Wives; γύμνους εἰσιέναι νομίζεται, in Ariſtophanes Nub. 1. 6. it is cuſtomary to come in naked; ſometimes it ſignifies, ſaith Phavorinus, νενομισμένον ἐστι, it is by Law-eſtabliſhed, as when Ariſtophanes ſaith Nub. 4. 3. κοὐ μὰ νενόμισαι γε, for ſo it is by Law eſtabliſhed, and 3. 3. ἢ σωφροσύνη νενόμισαι, Modeſty is by Law eſtabliſhed; many Inſtances of both theſe ſenſes may be found in Stephanns. That προσευχὴ, ſignifies an Oratory, or an Houſe of Prayer, hath been noted on Luke 6. 12. and proved from the Teſtimonies of Philo and Joſephus. Theſe Synagogues, or Oratories, ſay the Jewiſh Writers, were often בשרות in the Fields, and ſometimes near Rivers, as here, becauſe of greater Purity, ſaith Philo; and becauſe perhaps the Laws would not permit them to exerciſe a ſtrange Religion within the City. See Vitringa de Synag. vet. l. 1. part 1. c. 11. Accordingly (a) Epiphanius ſaith that this very place proves that the Jews had Oratories out of the Cities, and that the Samaritans alſo had the like two Miles from Sychem.

e Ver. 14. Ἧς ὁ Κύριος διήνοιξε τὴν καρδίαν προσέχειν, Whoſe Heart the Lord opened to attend to the things ſpoken by Paul.] To open the Ear or the Heart, is a Phraſe uſed to ſignifie the rendring any Perſon willing, or inclined to any thing. So Pſal. 40. 7. Mine Ears haſt thou opened, i. e. thou haſt inclined me to hearken to thy Commandments, Chald. for ſo it follows, then ſaid I, lo I come to do thy Will. So 1 Chron. 17. 15. ἤνοιξας τὸ ὠτίον, Thou haſt opened the Ear of thy Servant to build thee an Houſe. This God is ſometimes ſaid to do by awakening Men by his afflicting Hand. So Job 36. 8. 10. If they be bound in Fetters, and holden with Cords of Affliction, he openeth their Ears to Diſcipline, ver. 10. and ver. 15. he openeth their Ears in Oppreſſion: And ſometimes he doth it by the preaching of the Word; for as they who are ſaid to be taught by the Word, See Note on John 6. 45. or the Example of God, See Note 1 Theſſ. 4. 9. are ſaid to be taught of God; ſo they who have their Hearts affected with it, and opened by it, may be ſaid properly enough to have their Hearts opened by him. And here it deſerveth to be noted (1.) That the Lord is ſaid to open the Heart of Lydia, not to believe, but προσέχειν, to attend to the things ſpoken by St. Paul, viz. to weigh, and ſeriouſly to conſider of the greatneſs of the Bleſſings promiſed to Believers, Remiſſion of Sins, and eternal Life; and that Attention of hers produced this Faith in her. So the Lord repreſents himſelf as knocking at the Door of Mens Hearts, Rev. 3. 20. i. e. by the Preachers of his Word, Word, attended with the Incitations of his holy Spirit, but entring only when Men open their Hearts to receive him. And laſtly, Woltzogenius well notes, that, if in a place where no Example of Faith had been given, no Name of Chriſt had been preached, ſome extraordinary Aſſiſtance was vouchſafed towards the Converſion of this Woman, this ſingle Inſtance, in a caſe ſo extraordinary, muſt not be looked upon as a thing abſolutely neceſſary in all caſes. In a word, either ſhe only was ἄξια worthy, i. e. prepared, diſpoſed, and fitted to receive this Influx; or, if it were abſolutely neceſſary that ſhe might believe, and yet ſhe alone, tho' no more fitted, and diſpoſed for it than the reſt, received it, the other Auditors, for want of this extraordinary Influence, muſt lie under a neceſſity of not believing, and ſo it could not be blame-worthy in them that they did not believe. See Note on Matth. 10. 11.

f Ver. 15. Παρεβιάσατο ἡμᾶς, She conſtrained us;] i. e. by her urgent Deſires, and preſſing Intreaties; So Gen. 19. 3. Lot καὶ παρεβιάζετο αὐτούς, conſtrained the Angels to come into his Houſe; and Jacob ἐβιάζετο, conſtrained Eſau to receive his Gift. So when Saul would not eat, καὶ παρεβιάζοντο αὐτὸν, his Servants, and the Woman conſtrained him, 1 Sam. 28. 25. So it is ſaid of Chriſt, that the two Diſciples παρεβιάζοντο αὐτὸν, conſtrained him to go in with them, Luke 24. 29.

g Ver. 16. Πνεῦμα πύθωνος, A Spirit of Divination:] For Heſychius, Suidas, and Phavorinus agree in this, that Python is δαιμόνιον μαντικὸν, a Spirit that divined, or foretold things to come. In the Temple of Apollo which was called Pytho, the Organ of this Oracle was always a Woman, who ſitting on her Brazen Tripos, received her Enthuſiaſm à ſecretis, their God, as (b) Origen ſaith, being delighted in nothing more ἢ τοῖς κόλποις τῶν γυναικῶν, than in thoſe parts, and the Woman being thus (c) filled with the Spirit, and retaining in Memory the Phantaſms raiſed by the Agitation of the Dæmon, did τὸ ἐσόμενον προαγορεύειν, foretel what would be to thoſe that enquired of her as did the Pythoneſs here; ſhe alſo delivered her Anſwers with (d) a low Voice as out of her Belly, and was hence ſtiled Ventriloqua, and ἐγγαστρίμαντις; and becauſe others who pretended to propheſie did alſo ſo, that if their Anſwers were not true, it might be imputed to Mens not hearing well what they had uttered; Hence theſe Diviners are by the Septuagint not only ſtiled ἐγγαστρίμυθοι, ſpeakers out of the Belly, Lev. 19. 31. — 20. 6. Deut. 18. 11. 1 Sam. 28. 3, 7, 8, 9. 1 Chron. 10. 13. 2 Chron. 33. 6. Iſa. 8. 19. but alſo ſaid, to ſpeak out of the Ground, Iſa. 19. 3.

Ver. 21. Which it is not lawful for us to receive, being Romans.] For tho' there was as yet no expreſs Law of the Senate, or the Emperor, againſt the Chriſtians, yet was there an old Law of the Romans forbidding them, (e) aut novos Deos, aut alienigenas colere, either to worſhip new Gods, or the Gods of other Nations, and requiring them to worſhip the Gods, (f) κατὰ τὰ πάτρια, of their Country, from which Chriſtianity diſſuaded them, not ſuffering any of them to worſhip the Gods of their Fathers, but requiring them to turn from thoſe dumb Idols to the living God, 1 Theſſ. 1. 10. and hence St. Paul ſpeaks thus to thoſe of Lyſtra, We preach to you, that ye ſhould turn from theſe Vanities, to the living God, who made Heaven and Earth, Chap. 14. 15. h

Ver. 22. The Magiſtrates rent off their Cloaths;] i. e. The Cloaths of Paul and Silas; for ſo it was the Cuſtom not only among the Jews, as Dr. Hammond here notes, but among the Roman Magiſtrates, ſuch as theſe were, to command the Lictors, τὰ ἱμάτια τῶν στρατηγῶν περιαρρήξαι, καὶ τοῖς ῥάβδοις τὸ σῶμα ξαίνειν, to rend open the Cloaths of the Criminal, and to beat his Body with Rods, as Grotius here notes. The Roman Magiſtrates, ſaith Briſſonius, nudari, & ſpoliari hominem, virgaſque expediri jubent, command him to be made naked, and ſpoiled of his Cloaths, and the Lictors to be ready with their Rods, and this ſaith he, in Plutarch is ἱμάτια διαρρῆξαι, to rend his Garments. De formulis, l. 5. p. 481. i

CHAP. XVII.

1. NOW when they had paſſed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Theſſalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Jews.

a 2. [a] And Paul, as his manner was, (where he found Synagogues of the Jews,) went in to them, and three Sabbath days reaſoned with them out of the Scriptures.

3. Opening and alledging, (Gr. explaining and ſetting before their Eyes this Doctrine,) that Chriſt muſt needs have ſuffered, and riſen (Gr. that it behoved Chriſt to ſuffer; and to riſe) again from the dead, and (ſaying) that this Jeſus whom I preach to you is Chriſt, (Gr. that he is Chriſt the Saviour whom I declare to you.)

4. And ſome of them believed, and conſorted with Paul, and Silas, and (alſo) b [b] of the devout Greeks great Multitudes, and of the chief Women not a few:

5. But the Jews which believed not, (being) moved with Envy, (or Zeal) took unto them certain lewd Fellows of the baſer ſort, (or wicked Men loitering in the Market) and gathered a Company, and ſet (gathering a Company, they ſet) all the City on an Uproar, and aſſaulted, (Gr. aſſaulting) the Houſe of Jaſon, and (they) ſought to bring them (Paul, and Silas,) out to the People, (to be the Objects of their Rage.)

6. And when they found them not, they drew Jaſon, and certain Brethren to the Rulers
c of the City, crying (out) [c] Theſe that have turned the World upſide down, (i. e. unſettled the World,) are come hither alſo;

d 7. Whom Jaſon hath received; and [d] theſe alſo do (what is) contrary to the Decrees of Cæſar, ſaying, There is another King (beſides him, even) one Jeſus.

8. And they troubled the People, and the Rulers of the City, when they (or who) heard theſe things.

9. And when they had taken Security of Jaſon, and of the other (ver. 6. to anſwer to the charge laid againſt them,) they let them go.

10. And the Brethren immediately ſent away Paul, and Silas, by night to Beræa, who coming thither went into a Synagogue of the Jews.

11. [e] Theſe were more noble than thoſe in e
Theſſalonica, in that they (Gr. they of them that) received the Word with all readineſs of mind, and ſearched (Gr. ſearching) the Scriptures daily, (to know) whether theſe things were ſo (as Paul had ſaid.)

12. Therefore many of them (i. e. thoſe Jews) believed; alſo of the Honourable Women, which were Greeks, and of (the) Men (which were ſo) not a few.

13. But when the Jews of Theſſalonica had Knowledge that the Word of God was preached of (by) Paul at Beræa, they came thither alſo, and ſtirred up the People (againſt him;)

14. And immediately the Brethren ſent away Paul, to [f] go as it were to Sea, (that ſo f his Perſecutors might miſs of him,) but Silas and Timotheus abode there ſtill;

15. And (but) they that conducted Paul brought him to Athens (by Land) and receiving a Commandment (directed) to Silas and Timotheus to come to him (thither) with all ſpeed, they departed.

16. Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his Spirit was ſtirred (Gr. exaſperated) in him, when he ſaw the [g] City wholly g given to Idolatry, (Gr. full of Idols.)

17. Therefore diſputed he in the Synagogues with the Jews, and with the devout Perſons (of the Greeks,) and in the Market daily, with them that met with him, (or he met with there.)

18. [h] Then certain Philoſophers of the Epi- h cureans, and of the Stoicks encountred him, and ſome ſaid, What will this Babler ſay? Other ſome, (οἱ δὲ, but others ſaid,) He ſeemeth to be a ſetter forth of ſtrange Gods; becauſe he preached to them Jeſus, and the Reſurrection (by him, Chap. 4. 2. or the Reſurrection of him.)

19. And they took him and brought him to Areopagus, ſaying, May we know what this new Doctrine whereof thou ſpeakeſt is?

20. For thou bringeſt certain ſtrange things to our Ears, We would know therefore what theſe things mean.

21. [i] For all the Athenians and Strangers i which were there, ſpent their time in nothing elſe, elſe, but either to tell, or to hear ſome new thing.

22. Then Paul ſtood in the midſt of Mars's-hill, and ſaid, Ye Men of Athens, I perceive k that in all things [k] ye are too ſuperſtitious:

23. For as I paſſed by, and beheld your Devotions, (i. e. the Objects of your Worſhip.) I found an Altar with this Inſcription, TO THE UNKNOWN GOD; whom therefore ye ignorantly worſhip, him declare I to you, (who he is, and how to be worſhipped.)

l 24. [l] God that made the World, and all things therein, ſeeing that he is (he being) Lord of Heaven and Earth, dwelleth not in Temples made with Hands (as one contained in, or confined to them, by human Conſecrations of them.)

25. Neither is (he) worſhipped with (the Works of) Mens Hands, as tho' he needeth any thing, (as needing any Perſon's Art to promote his Worſhip,) ſeeing he giveth to all Life, and Breath, and all Things, and ſo is able to produce theſe things, were they any ways needful for his Worſhip.)

26. And (he) hath made of one Blood (of Adam) all Nations of Men to dwell on all the Face of the Earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, (i. e. ſet the fixed Seaſons of the Year, Gen. 1. 14. —8. 22.) and the Bounds of their Habitations. See Deut. 32. 8.

27. That they ſhould, (or inſtructing them
m by thoſe means to) [m] ſeek the Lord if haply they might feel after him, and find him, (which in that darkneſs in which they lie they cannot eaſily do) tho' he be not far from every (any) one of us.

28. For in (or by) him we live and move, and have our being, as certain alſo of your own Poets have ſaid, for (they have declared that) we are alſo his Off-ſpring.

29. Foraſmuch then as we are the Off-ſpring of God, we ought not to think that the God-head is like to Gold, or Silver, or Stone graven by Art, or Man's Device; (i. e. that the Creator is like Man, or his Workman-ſhip.)

30. And the time of this Ignorance God (hath hitherto) winked at, (ſending them no Prophets to inſtruct them better,) but now (he) commandeth all Men every where to repent (of this Idolatry;)

31. Becauſe he hath appointed a day in which he will judge the World, in Righteouſneſs, by that Man whom he hath ordained (to be their judge,) whereof he hath given aſſurance to all Men, in that he hath raiſed him from the dead.

32. And when they heard of the Reſurrection of the dead, [n] ſome (of them) mocked n (at it; but) [o] others ſaid, We will hear thee o again of this matter.

33. So Paul departed from among them.

34. Howbeit (his Diſcourſe was not wholly ineffectual, for,) certain Men clave to him, and believed, among the which (i. e. whom) was Dionyſius the Areopagite, and a Woman named Damaris, and others with them.

Annotations on Chap. XVII.

a Ver. 1. AND Paul κατὰ τὸ εἰωθὸς, as his manner was, went in to them, and three Sabbath days reaſoned with them.] Here we learn, (1.) That St. Paul was not g reſtrained from preaching to the Jews by his being an Apoſtle of the Gentiles; for as the Goſpel was the Power of God through Faith, to the Salvation of the Jews firſt, and alſo of the Gentile, ſo Paul in preaching of it teſtifies to the Jew, and alſo to the Greeks, Repentance towards God, and Faith in our
h Lord Jeſus Chriſt, Chap. 20. 21. And whereſoever he comes, his manner is to go firſt into a Synagogue of the Jews, and to preach to them. Acts 13.—5, 14. 42.—14. 1.—16. 15.—17. 10.—18. 4, 19.—19. 8. At the beginning of his Converſion we find him preaching Chriſt in the Synagogues, Chap. 9. 20. and throughout all the Region of Judea, Chap. 26. 20. his Commiſſion authorizing him to teſtifie what he had ſeen, and heard to all Men, Chap. 22. 15. to the People, and to the Gentiles, Chap. 26. 17. to the Gentiles, and to the Children of Iſrael, Chap. 9. 15. which is ſufficient to confound i that diſtinction of Provinces, which ſome have imagined, among the Apoſtles.

Moreover it is obſervable that Paul enters into their Synagogues, and reaſons with, or preacheth to them, only on their Sabbath days; for as here it is ſaid, he reaſoned with them three Sabbath days; So Chap. 13. 14. he enters into the Synagogues on the Sabbath day, and ver. 42. the Gentiles deſire him to preach to them the next Sabbath day, and ver. 44. almoſt all the whole City were aſſembled on the next Sabbath day, Chap. 16. 13. he goes out of Philippi to a Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and Chap 18. 4. he diſcourſes in the Synagogue every Sabbath day, which ſeems to intimate, that, whatever they did in Jeruſalem, or in Judea, yet in the Synagogues out of Judea they did not ordinarily meet for religious Worſhip on the ſecond, and fifth day of the Week; for otherwiſe why is it that St. Paul, who reaſoned daily in the School of Tyrannus, Chap. 19. 9. ſhould only go to the Synagogues of the Jews to reaſon with them on the Sabbath day?

b Ver. 4. Τῶν τε σεβομένων ἑλλήνων—γυναικῶν τε τῶν πρώτων, of the devout Greeks and of the chief Women.] So ver. 12. and Chap. 13. 50. That by the devout Greeks we are to underſtand the Proſelytes among the Greeks is evident, becauſe they are ſo called, ver. 12. and are diſtinguiſh'd from the Jews, ver. 17. Chap. 14. 1.—16. 14.—18. 4. They were Proſelytes, not of Juſtice, i. e. ſuch as received Circumciſion, and obſerved the Law of Moſes, but only Proſelytes of the Gate, who own'd the true God of Iſrael, and went up to worſhip him at their Feaſts, John 12. 20. Acts 8. 27. and who were permitted to read the Scriptures, as the Eunuch did, and to hear them read in the Synagogues, otherwiſe they could not have heard Paul there, and much leſs could they have compared what he ſaid with the Writings of the Prophets as we find they did, ver. 11, 12.

As for the chief Women, we learn from (a) Joſephus, that the Jews, in many places where they dwelt, prevailed upon many of them, either wholly to embrace their Religion, or to become Proſelytes of the Gate, and many of theſe became Chriſtian Converts. See more of this in the Note on 1 Pet. 1. 1.

c Ver. 6. Οἱ ἀνασαλώσαντες, They who diſturb the World;] i. e. ſo as to unſettle things and bring them into Confuſion; for this they conceived the Introduction of new Gods tended to, as we learn from the words of the (b) Conſuls in Livy, and the Roman Laws. See the Note on Chap. 16. 21.

d Ver. 7. Theſe all do contrary to the Decrees of Cæſar, ſaying, there is another King.] This, ſaith Grotius, was contrary to the Decree of Cæſar, becauſe the Senate firſt, and afterwards the Emperor ſuffered none to be called Kings without their Permiſſion.

e Ver. 11. Theſe were εὐγενέστεροι more noble, &c.] The Jews look'd upon themſelves not only as of free, but noble Birth, as being of the Seed of Abraham. See the Note on 1 Cor. 26. 28. They are, ſaith (c) Philo, in the Opinion of their Calumniators, βαρβαρικοὶ, Barbarians, but in truth, ἐλεύθεροι, καὶ εὐγενεῖς, they are free, and of noble Birth; here therefore St. Luke ſhews them wherein their true Nobility conſiſted, viz. in ſuch a Diſpoſition of the Soul as inclined them to attend to the Doctrine of the Goſpel.

Ver. 14. To go as it were to Sea.] Words being deſigned to repreſent our Minds to others, we cannot deceive them with ambiguous Words, without acting contrary to the Nature of them; but Motions having no determinate ſignification, to uſe them ſo as to conſult our Safety in ſuch a Motion, as may deceive our Enemies and ſecure us, hath nothing in it blame worthy. f

Ver. 16. When he ſaw the City κατείδωλον, full of Idols;] i. e. Images, ἐν γὰρ τῷ ἀλλαχοῦ τοσαῦτα ἰδεῖν εἴδωλα, for ſo many Images could not be ſeen elſewhere, * Pauſanias ſaying that they did εὐσεβεῖν θεοὺς ἄλλων πλέον, worſhip the Gods more than others, and exceeded all others in their Diligence εἰς τὰ θεῖα, to the Gods; and (d) Strabo ſaying, that they were hoſpitable to the Gods; πολλὰ γὰρ τῶν ξενικῶν Ἱερῶν παρεδέξαντο, for they received many ſtrange Gods, inſomuch that the Comedians ridiculed them upon that account, and all the reſt cited by Dr. Hammond ſay the ſame thing; for in thoſe times of Heatheniſm they never worſhipped a God without an Image to repreſent him to them, and therefore as St. Paul ſaith here, that they multiplied their Idols, ſo ver. 22. that they were δεισιδαιμονέστεροι, more prone than others to worſhip Dæmons. We may here alſo laugh at the abſurd Folly of Lorinus's Caution, Not to believe Stephanus ſaying in his Lexicon, that εἴδωλον ſignifies an Image, and not as he would have it, a Shadow, Spectrum or Phanthom, for it would not be ridiculous to render St. Paul's words thus, I ſaw your City full of Phanthoms, Shades, and Appearances of nothing? g

Ver. 18. Certain Philoſophers of the Epicureans and Stoicks—ſaid, what will ὁ σπερμολόγος οὗτος, this Babler ſay, &c.] To ſhew the appoſiteneſs of the Apoſtle's Diſcourſe to theſe Philoſophers, let it be noted, h

1*ſt*, That the (e) Epicureans did not believe that the World was made by God, but by a caſual Conflux of Atoms, nor did they own the Providence of God, or think he had any Care of Mankind; they alſo held that the Gods were of human Shape, and that there was no Reſurrection, nor any Puniſhments after Death.

The (f) Stoicks held the World to be a God, that matter was eternal, and God was Corporeal, and that all things were ſubject to Fate.

2*dly*, As for the word σπερμολόγος, Babler, Euſtathius gives us two ſenſes of it, which ſeem to have been the occaſion of their Application of it to St. Paul, (1.) That Paul was diſputing with thoſe he met with in the Market, for, ſaith he; (g) Ἀττικοὶ τὰς σπερμολόγους ἐκάλουν τὰς περὶ τὰ ἐμπόρια, καὶ ἀλητεύοντας, the Atticks called them σπερμολόγοι, who were converſant in the Mar-
(22) kets, and places of Merchandiſe. See Additions N°. 22 (2.) Becauſe he pretended to ſome new Syſtems of Divinity which they were not acquainted with, and which they thought proceeded from ſome vain Opinions he had entertained; for the word σπερμολογεῖν, ſaith he, is uſed, (h) ἐπὶ τῶν ἀλαζονευομένων ἀμεθόδως ἐπὶ μαθημάτων ἐκ τίνων ἀῤῥαψωδημάτων, of thoſe who from ſome falſe Opinions boaſted unreaſonably of their Learning.

3*dly*, They add, That St. Paul ſeemed to be a ſetter forth of ſtrange Gods, becauſe he preached up Jeſus and the Reſurrection, where Chryſoſtom and Oecumenius note, that being accuſtomed to worſhip Female Goddeſſes, they thought ἀνάστασιν θεὸν τινα εἶναι ἀνάστασις, to be a God; but as (i) Dr. Bentley ſaith, they too well underſtood the notion of a Reſurrection to think it a Goddeſs, and therefore I prefer the Expoſition in the Paraphraſe, as being confirmed from ver. 32. when they heard of the Reſurrection of the Dead, ſome mocked.

i Ver. 21. The Athenians ſpent their time in telling, or hearing ſome new thing.] Of this ſee Grotius.

k Ver. 22. Κατὰ πάντα ὡς δεισιδαιμονεστέρους ὑμᾶς θεωρῶ, In all things I perceive you too much ſuperſtitious;] i. e. Too much addicted to the Worſhip of Dæmons; for δεισιδαιμονία is, ſaith Phavorinus, φόβος δαιμόνων, the fear of Dæmons: And that in this ſenſe St. Paul doth here uſe the word, is evident, he ſtiling them thus ſuperſtitious, becauſe he found their City full of Images, and an Altar to the unknown God, of which * Pauſanias, Lucian, Philoſtratus, and others ſpeak. It is certain from Pauſanias, and confeſſed by St. Jerom, that they had Altars θεοῖς ἀγνώστοις, to the unknown Gods in the Plural, yet is it as certain from (k) Lucian, as well as from (l) Oecumenius, that the Altar was inſcribed τῷ θεῷ ἀγνώστῳ, tho' that was not the whole Inſcription, and therefore St. (m) Jerom is too bold to correct the Apoſtle here. If the occaſion of the erecting of this Altar was, as ſome ſay, the complaint of (n) Pan that he was not worſhipped by them, this gave the Apoſtle a fit occaſion, by calling them to worſhip τὸν ὁπὶ πάντα, that God who made the Heaven and Earth, and all things in them, to ſay, him that you ignorantly worſhip declare I unto you, he being alſo, as Joſephus ſaith, καθ' ὑπεροχὴν ἄγνωστος, unknown as to his Eſſence, and by the Heathens called Deus incertus, becauſe he would not be worſhipped in an Image, and ſo they were uncertain where to find him; and in the Scripture being ſtiled the God ὃν οὐκ ἔγνω, whom the Heathen World, and their Philoſophers knew not, 1 Cor. 1. 21. Gal. 4. 8, 9. Or if Πᾶν be, as (o) Plato ſaith, ὁ λόγος, the Word, and of whom Plutarch ſaith in his Book de defect. Oracul. p. 419. that there was a great Cry heard in the time of Tiberius Cæſar, that he was dead, then had he alſo hence a fit Occaſion to preach unto them Jeſus.

Ver. 24. God that made the World, and all l things therein—is not worſhipped with Men's Hands, as if he needed any thing, ver. 25.] To clear up the Argument of the Apoſtle here, it will be neceſſary to ſearch a little into the Principles of the Heathens concerning God, and the Worſhip of him; let it then be obſerved,

1*ſt*, That the wiſeſt Heathens worſhipped their Gods in human Shape; ſo (p) Maximus Tyrius ſaith of the Greeks, they thought God muſt have a Body, and that Body they generally held muſt be of human Shape, and therefore ſuch as might be repreſented in an Image of Gold, Silver, or Stone made after the faſhion of a Man. Thus (q) Velleius in Cicero inquiring of the form of the Gods ſpeaks thus, Ac de forma quidem partim natura nos admonet, partim ratio docet, nam à natura habemus omnes omnium Gentium ſpeciem, nullum aliam niſi humanam Deorum, that Nature teaches they are of human Shape, ſeeing all Nations repreſent them in this form; nor do they ever occur to any Man ſleeping, or waking, in any other Shape, and that Men, (r) cum Artificium effingunt, Fabricamque divinam, when they make an Image, or divine Fabrick, make all things in hominis figura, in the ſhape of Man, whence his Concluſion is this, homines eſſe ſpecie Deos confitendum eſt, it muſt be owned that the Gods are like in ſhape to Men.

2*dly*, They held indeed that God muſt be αὐταρκῆς, ſelf-ſufficient, and thought with (f) Lucian it was ridiculous to conceive ὡς ἀνθρώπων θεοὶ ἐνδεεῖς εἰσι, that the Gods ſhould ſtand in need of Men, yet they conceived thoſe (t) Images were, through the Frailty of human Nature, needful to the Worſhip of the Deity, that they might view and touch them, and have them near to them; on theſe accounts they thought (u) there could be no Religion without Images, and objected this to the Chriſtians, that they (x) worſhipped a God they could not ſhew, and thought that even they uſed Images, tho' they concealed them; yea they pronounced both them, and other Nations, viz. Scythians, Atheiſts, becauſe they had no Images. And upon this account they uſed a kind of Magical Conſecration of their Images to bring their Gods down into them. So (y) Minutius ſaith, funditur, fabricatur, ſculpitur, nondum Deus eſt, ecce ornatur, conſecratur, oratur, tunc poſtremo Deus eſt. Here therefore is the reaſon why the Apoſtle ſaith,

1*ſt*, That God dwelleth not in Temples made with Hands, i. e. as one confined to them, and who could not be addreſſed to every where, ſince, as (z) Seneca ſays, there is no need of going to the Ædile that we may pray to the Gods, or as (a) Lucian ſays jocularly, Æſculapius is not deaf, that Men muſt go near to, that they may pray to him. And,

2*dly*, This is the reaſon why he ſaith, he is not worſhipped with Men's Hands, as if he could be only worſhipped, or ſpoken to in a Temple, or in a conſecrated Image made by Man; and,

3*dly*, Why he adds, that we ought not to think the Godhead, like to an Image, made of Gold or Silver.

m Ver. 27. That they ſhould ſeek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him.] Here, firſt, we learn that God framed the World with this Deſign that Men by Contemplation of it might ſeek after the Author of it, and ſeeking, find him, and therefore muſt have made it ſo as to contain ſufficient Evidence that it was made by his Power and Wiſdom. Now to ſeek after God in the Scripture Phraſe, is not only to enquire whether there be a God, but ſo to ſeek him out, that we may give him that Worſhip which is due to him; as when the Apoſtle ſaith, He that cometh to God, muſt believe that he is, and that he is a Rewarder of thoſe that diligently ſeek him, Heb. 11. 6. to find him, is to obtain his Grace, and Favour, or to find him good, and propitious to them; for to what other end ſhould Men ſo ſolicitouſly ſeek after him, but to obtain his Grace and Favour? or why ſhould they deſire to find him, but that they may receive ſome Benefit from him thus found? Is it not upon this account, that all Men come to him, and do him Service? and would any one do it if they expected no advantage by it? and in this ſenſe God ſaith, If from thence thou ſhalt ſeek the Lord thy God, thou ſhalt find him, if thou ſeek him with all thy Heart, Deut. 4. 29. If ye ſeek him, he will be found of you, 2 Chron. 15. 2. Note,

2*dly*, That Sinners cannot thus ſeek or hope to find God, unleſs they can expect to find him merciful in the Pardon of thoſe Sins, which they do confeſs, and do forſake; and that this hath been a Principle embraced by all Nations appears from the propitiatory Sacrifices, which have ſo generally obtain'd among them, even from the beginning. And therefore all this muſt depend upon this Foundation, or the Knowledge of this one thing, that God is the Maker of Heaven and Earth, and all that therein is, and ſo it evidently doth. For,

1*ſt*, That which made all things, muſt be it ſelf unmade, and ſo muſt be eternal; it muſt have Power over all things, and ſo be Almighty.

2*dly*, That which made all things muſt have all Power to direct, govern, order, and diſpoſe of all things, as he pleaſes, and ſo his Creatures muſt depend on him for Protection, and the Diſpoſal of all their Affairs.

3*dly*, That Being which made all things in ſuch an excellent order and dependence on each other, in ſuch conſtant, and unchangeable Viciſſitudes, fitted with ſuch Faculties, adapted to ſuch Ends, and Uſes, muſt have infinite Wiſdom, and muſt deſign things for thoſe Ends, for which he hath thus fitted them.

4*thly*, He who hath made things ſo, as that they conſtantly in their reſpective Seaſons produce things good, and uſeful for the Preſervation, and Comfort of thoſe Creatures he hath made, filling their Mouths with Food, and their Hearts with Gladneſs, muſt muſt be good to all, even to the unthankful, and the wicked, and ſo his tender Mercies muſt be over all his Works; which is the Argument here uſed, ver. 26.

5*thly*, He who vouchſafeth ſuch Kindneſs to, and maketh ſuch Proviſions for thoſe Bodies which we have common to us with the Brutes, muſt have made ſome Proviſions for that Soul which is our better Part, and which is more eſpecially derived from him; they therefore muſt be capable of receiving Bleſſings, and Favours from him; and if lapſed, and ſinful Creatures, and made ſo as that they certainly will be ſubject to Sin, they muſt be capable of finding Mercy with him, when they return from their Iniquity.

a with his Wife Priſcilla, ([a] becauſe that Claudius had commanded all Jews to depart from Rome,) and (he) came to them.

3. And becauſe he was of the ſame Craft, he abode with them, and wrought (at it;) for by their Occupation they were Tentmakers.

4. And he reaſoned in the Synagogue every Sabbath (day,) and perſuaded the Jews and the Greeks, that Jeſus was the Chriſt.)

5. And when Silas and Timotheus were b come from Macedonia, Paul [b] was preſſed in Spirit, and teſtified (again) to the Jews, that Jeſus was (the) Chriſt.

6. And when they oppoſed themſelves (to this Doctrine,) and blaſphemed (Chriſt,) c [c] he ſhook his Raiment (in token of his intention to leave them to their Infidelity,) and (therefore) ſaid to them, Your Blood be upon your own Heads, I am clean (from it;)
d [d] from henceforth I will go (and preach) to the Gentiles.

7. And he departed thence, and entred into a certain Man's Houſe, named Juſtus, (being) one that worſhipped (the true) God, whoſe Houſe join'd hard to the Synagogue.

8. And Criſpus the chief Ruler of the Synagogue, believed on the Lord with all his Houſe; and many of the Corinthians hearing (the Word,) believed, and were baptized.

9. Then ſpake the Lord to Paul by Night in a Viſion, (ſaying,) Be not afraid, but ſpeak, and hold not thy peace.

10. For I am with thee, and no Man ſhall ſet on thee to hurt thee; (ſpeak freely,) for [e] I have much People in this City. e

11. And he continued there a Year and ſix Months, teaching the Word of God among them.

12. And when Gallio was the Deputy of Achaia, the Jews made Inſurrection with one accord againſt Paul, and brought him to the Judgment-ſeat (of Gallio,)

13. Saying, This Fellow perſuadeth Men to worſhip God, contrary to the Law (of the Jews.)

14. And when Paul was now about to open his Mouth, Gallio ſaid to the Jews, If it were a matter of wrong or wicked lewdneſs, O ye Jews, (which you object againſt this Man,) reaſon would that I ſhould bear with you.

15. [f] But if it be a queſtion (only) of a f
Word, and Names, and of your Law, look ye to it; for I will be no Judge of ſuch matters.

16. And he drove them from the Judgment-ſeat.

17. Then all the Greeks took [g] Softhenes g the chief Ruler of the (Jewiſh) Synagogue, and beat him before the Judgment-ſeat; and Gallio cared for none of theſe things.

18. And Paul after this, tarried there yet a good while, and then took his leave of the Brethren, and ſailed thence into Syria, and with him Priſcilla and Aquila, [h] having h ſhorn his head, in Cenchrea; for he had a Vow (of Nazaritiſm upon him, which being expired, he was to ſhave his head according to the Law, Numb. 6.)

19. And he came to Epheſus, and left them there, but he himſelf entred into the Synagogue, and reaſoned with the Jews.

20. (And) When they deſired him to tarry longer time with them, he conſented not,

21. But

21. But bad them farewel, ſaying, I muſt by all means keep this Feaſt that cometh in Jeruſalem, but I will return again to you, if God will; and he ſailed from Epheſus.

i 22. [i] And when he had landed at Cæſarea (Stratonis) and gone up (to Jeruſalem) and ſaluted the Church, he went down to Antioch.

23. And after he had ſpent ſome time there, he departed, and went over all the Country of Galatia and Phrygia in order, ſtrengthning all the Diſciples.

24. And a certain Jew, named Apollos, born at Alexandria, (being) an eloquent Man, and mighty in the Scriptures, came to Epheſus.

25. This Man was (ſomewhat) inſtructed in the way of the Lord, and being fervent in Spirit, he ſpake and taught diligently (Gr. exquiſitely) the things of the Lord, [k] knowing only the Baptiſm of John, (which called the Jews to repentance, in expectation of the Meſſiah, who was ſuddenly to appear, and to baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt.) k

26. And he began to ſpeak boldly (or openly) in the Synagogue (that the time of the promiſed Meſſiah muſt be come,) whom when Aquila and Priſcilla had heard, they took him to them, and expounded to him the way of God more perfectly.

27. And when he was diſpoſed to paſs into Achaia, the Brethren (at Epheſus,) wrote, exhorting the Diſciples to receive him; who when he was come, helped them much [l] who had believed thro' (the) Grace (of God.) l a Ver. 1. [C]Laudius had commanded all the Jews to depart from Rome.] Tho' Oroſius fixeth this Edict to the ninth Year of Claudius, yet did it not come forth till the twelfth of Claudius; for the Sedition of the Jews mentioned by Euſebius from Joſephus, hapned in the eleventh Year of Claudius, under Quadratus, Preſident of Syria, and concerned not the Romans, the Calamity falling only on the Jews; but after it, followed another the ſame Year, in which the Thieves in Judea aſſaulted Stephen the Servant of Cæſar, took away his Baggage, and killed the Roman Soldiers, as both (a) Tacitus and (b) Joſephus do inform us: And then Claudius cauſis rebellionis auditis, having heard from the Preſident the cauſes of this Rebellion, made this Edict, of which Tacitus ſaith nothing, becauſe it came not from the Decree of the Senate, but was the Edict of Claudius only; and of which (c) Suetonius ſaith thus, Judæos impulſore Chreſto aſſiduè tumultuantes Româ expulit, He expelled the Jews from Rome, they making continual Tumults by the impulſe or Perſuaſion of Chriſt; where, as he miſtakes in the Name, ſo in the thing, the Jews having had then no conteſts at Rome that we read of, with the Chriſtians, and the Chriſtians to be ſure, cauſing no Tumults there. The true cauſe of their Baniſhment was therefore that which hath been hinted from Tacitus.

28. For he mightily convinced the Jews, and that publickly, ſhewing by the (teſtimony of the) Scriptures that Jeſus was (the) Chriſt.

b Ver. 5. Συνέχετο τῷ πνεύματι, He was preſſed in Spirit;] i. e. either his own, or the Holy Spirit, ſo powerfuliy urged and canſtrained him, that he could not refrain from ſpeaking. When this word is joined with a Paſſion that reſtrains from Action, then it is to be rendred reſtrain, as συνέχεσθαι φόβῳ, to be reſtrained by fear, Job 3. 24. Luke 8. 37. when the Motive is both ways, then is the preſſure ſo alſo; as when St. Paul ſaith συνέχομαι ἐκ τῶν δύο, I am preſſed between two, urged to depart that I may be with Chriſt, reſtrained from it that I may do farther Service to his Church, Philip. 1. 23.

the Gentiles; but by comparing his Actions with the Places, where this Phraſe, or ſomething like it, doth occur, it appears he only did intend to ſay, he would no longer preach to the Jews of that place; for after this is ſaid, we find him ſtill entring into the Synagogues, and preaching to the Jews, or calling them to him to hear the Word. So he ſpeaks to the Jews, Chap. 13. 46. Seeing ye refuſe the Word, lo we turn to the Gentiles; and yet, Chap. 14. 1. he enters at Iconium into the Synagogue of the Jews, and preacheth to them; So alſo Chap. 19. 9.—28. 28.

e Ver. 10. I have much People in this City.] So they are called who were ſtill Heathens, not becauſe of any abſolute Decree of their Election to Eternal Life, but becauſe Chriſt ſaw they were diſpoſed to believe, and by Faith become his People; as elſewhere Joh. 10. 16. he calls them Sheep, who ſhould hereafter believe on him.

f Ver. 15. But if the Queſtion be περὶ τῶν λόγων, of a Word and Names;] Of the Word Paul preaches to you, whether it accord with your Law, or not, ver. 13. or, whether the Name of the Meſſiah, or Chriſt, belong to that Jeſus whom Paul preacheth; of things of this Nature I will be no Judge.

g Ver. 17. Soſthenes the chief Ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him.] They beat the Jews, ſaith Grotius, to chaſe them from the Judgment-ſeat; he adds, that in great Cities there were more Synagogues than one; every one of which had a chief Ruler, as here Criſpus is the chief Ruler of one Synagogue, and Soſthenes of another; ſo likewiſe, ſaith he, was it in great Churches; they having at Rome, Antioch, and other places, excepting Alexandria, (of which Epiphanius ſaith, it had but one Biſhop,) more Biſhops than one at a time; but as this is uncertain, ſo have I ſhewed, Note on Philip. 1. 1. that Epiphanius ſpeaks not of the Primitive and Apoſtolick Times, but of the Times of the Meletians, ſaying, that tho' in other Churches there were Meletian as well as Catholick Biſhops at the ſame time, yet it was never ſo in Alexandria.

h Ver. 19. Having ſhorn his Head in Cenchrea, for he had a Vow.] The Text leaves it uncertain whether it were St. Paul or Aquila that made this Vow; tho Aquila being left at Epheſus, and not going up to Jeruſalem, as St. Paul did, hence I conclude the Vow was made by St. Paul; moreover this is certain, that it was the Vow of Nazaritiſm now finiſhed, and which by (d) Philo is ſtiled εὐχὴ μεγάλη, the great Vow, which cauſed this Votary to ſhave his Head; for this Vow was either for term of Life, as in the inſtances of Sampſon and John Baptiſt; or for a term of Days, which being compleated, the Nazarite was to ſhave his Head, and bring his Offerings. See Num. 6. 13, 14. Acts 21. 26, 27. But whoſoever is the Nazarite, the Queſtion is, why he ſhaves his Head at Cenchrea, as if his Hair was to be conſecrated to Apollo, and not at Jeruſalem, according to the Commandment? What ſome imagine, that this Votary was caſually defiled, and ſo ſtood bound according to the Law, to ſhave his Head, and to begin his Vow again, anſwers not the doubt; becauſe he could not begin his Vow anew till he had offered his Sin-offering, Numb. 6. 9.—12. and that was only to be offered at the Tabernacle and Temple: Others ſay, This Law of ſhaving at the Door of the Temple, and offering theſe Oblations, obliged thoſe only who thus vowed in the Land of Judea, not thoſe that were out of it; and if this will not ſatisfie, becauſe we find ſo little of it in the ancient Jews, we may perhaps ſay, there was in the Vow of the Nazarites a Moral Part, viz. the conſecration of themſelves to the Service of God, and to a greater degree of Purity; and in this, Chriſtians might comply with it without ſcruple; and it had a Ceremonial Part, the cutting off the Hair, and the offering Sacrifices when it was accompliſhed; and as to this, St. Paul and other Chriſtians knowing the Law, was not now obligatory, might diſpenſe with themſelves; omit, or do them, as Prudence and the caſe of Scandal did require. For tho' St. Paul went up now to Jeruſalem, we read not of any Offering that he made according to the Law, nor perhaps would he have ſhaved his Head on this account, had not ſome ſcrupulous Jews at Corinth, been conſcious to his Vow.

Ver. 22. And when he had landed at Cæſarea i and gone up and ſaluted the Church.] Here the Queſtion is, whether St. Paul went up from the Ship to the Church of Cæſarea, or from Cæſarea to the Church at Jeruſalem. And in favour of the latter ſenſe, let it be obſerved, (1.) That in the Language of the Author of the Acts, to go from Cæſarea to Jeruſalem, is to go up, and to go from Jeruſalem to Cæſarea, is to go down. So Feſtus went up from Cæſarea to Jeruſalem, Acts 25. 1. and ver. 5. he ſpeaks to the Rulers at Jeruſalem (συγκαταβαίνειν, to go down with him from thence to Cæſarea, and ver. 6. καταβὰς, going down to Cæſarea, he ſits on the Tribunal, and they of Jeruſalem καταβάντες, going down, accuſe Paul, ver. 7. and ver. 9. he asks Paul, whether ἀναβὰς going up to Jeruſalem, he would there be judged. So Peter ἀνέβη, went up from Cæſarea to Jeruſalem, Acts 11. 2. See alſo Chap. 21. 8, 12. So that to interpret theſe words of his going up from Cæſarea to to Jeruſalem, is ſuitable to the Phraſe of the Evangeliſt. (2.) St. Paul declares, he muſt by all means keep the Feaſt at Jeruſalem, ver. 21. and that he therefore could not tarry with them; and yet if he went not now to Jeruſalem, he went not at all thither at this time; for, from this Church, he goes down to Antioch in Syria, and ſo thro' Galatia and Phrygia, ver. 22, 23. and ſo comes back to Epheſus, Chap. 19. 1. according to his Promiſe, ver. 21. I will return again to you.

k Ver. 25. Knowing only the Baptiſm of John.] That this Apollo had not only the Gift of Eloquence, but the miraculous Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt, by which he was made an able Miniſter of the Goſpel, is evident from the Epiſtle to the Corinthians; for he is there ſtiled a Miniſter, by whom they believed according to the Gift that God had given him, 1 Cor. 3. 5. He is a Co-worker with God, ver. 9. But how he came by theſe Gifts which rendred him ſo fit to water theſe Churches, and made him St. Paul's Brother, is not eaſie to determine. Grotius ſaith, that the Phraſe διὰ τῆ χάριτος, by Grace, belongs to him, he helping the Church by the Gifts he had received before Baptiſm in the Name of Chriſt; the Grace of God preventing the Hands of the Apoſtles, but where, or by whom he was baptized, he ſaith not. Lorinus ſaith, he was baptized by Aquila, or ſome of Epheſus, but the Text only ſaith, that Aquila and Priſcilla inſtructed, not that they baptized him. I conjecture therefore that he had been baptized already by thoſe who inſtructed him in the way of the Lord, ver. 25. for in thoſe times Perſons were baptized immediately upon their Profeſſion of Faith in Chriſt Jeſus, as appears from the Inſtances of the Eunuch, Lydia, the Jaylor, and many others; and that when 'tis here ſaid, he knew only the Baptiſm of John, that relates only to the Knowledge he had received in Judea, before he returned to Alexandria, where he received farther Inſtruction concerning the Death, and Reſurrection of Chriſt; but yet perhaps knew not why he ſuffered, the Jewiſh Nation having then no Notion of a Meſſiah that was to ſuffer for the Sins of the People, nor that his Kingdom was to be only Spiritual, they all expecting that he ſhould erect a Temporal Kingdom; nor that he was to be a Light to the Gentiles, or to receive them into Favour without Circumciſion, or Obſervance of the Law of Moſes; this being not made known to the Apoſtles after the Holy Ghoſt had fallen on them, till it was revealed to St. Peter by a Viſion; nor ſeems the Freedom of the Jews, from the Moſaick Law, to be made known to the Apoſtles, or the Diſciples at Jeruſalem for a long time after, as we may learn from Acts 21. 20, 21, 24.

Ver. 27. Who had believed through Grace,] i. e. through the Goſpel, ſaith Dr. Hammond, or through the Favour of God in vouchſafing them the Knowledge of it. See the Note on 2 Cor. 6. 1. l

CHAP. XIX.

1. AND it came to paſs, that while Apollos was at Corinth, Paul having paſſed through the upper Coaſts (of Aſia Minor, to wit, Galatia and Phrygia, Chap. 18. a 23.) came to Epheſus, and [a] finding certain Diſciples (abiding there,)

2. He ſaid to them, Have ye received the (Gift of the) Holy Ghoſt, ſince ye believed? And they ſaid to him, We have not ſo much as heard whether there be any (extraordinary Gift of Propheſie, or of the) Holy Ghoſt (reſtored again, or vouchſafed to the Church.)

3. And he ſaid to them, into what (Baptiſm) then were ye baptized? And they ſaid, into John's Baptiſm.

4. Then ſaid Paul, John verily baptized with the Baptiſm of Repentance, ſaying to the People, that they (repenting) ſhould believe on him who ſhould come after him, that is, on Chriſt Jeſus; (who would baptize them with the Holy Ghoſt, Matth. 3. 11.

5. (And) When they heard this, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Jeſus.

6. And when Paul had laid his Hands upon them, the Holy Ghoſt came upon them, and they ſpake with Tongues, and propheſied.

7. And all the Men (that did ſo) were about twelve.

8. And he went into the Synagogue (of the Jews there,) and ſpake boldly for the ſpace of three Months, diſputing (diſcourſing of,) and perſuading the things concerning (perſuading them concerning the things of) the Kingdom of God.

9. [b] But when divers were hardned, and b believed not, but ſpake evil of that way before the Multitude, he departed from them, and ſeparated the Diſciples, diſputing daily in the School of one Tyrannus.

10. [c] And this (practice he) continued by c the ſpace of two Years, ſo that all they who dwelt in Aſia heard the Word of the Lord Jeſus, both Jews and Greeks.

11. And

11. And God wrought ſpecial Miracles by the Hands of Paul,

12. So that from his Body were brought to the ſick, Handkerchiefs, or Aprons, and the Diſeaſes departed from them, and the evil Spirits went out of them.

13. Then certain of the Vagabond Jews, d (being) [d] Exorciſts, took upon them to call over them which had evil Spirits, the Name of the Lord Jeſus, ſaying, We adjure you by Jeſus whom Paul preacheth (to come forth.)

14. And there were ſeven Sons of one Sceva a Jew, and chief (among the Order) of the Prieſts, which did ſo.

15. And the evil Spirit anſwered, and ſaid, Jeſus I know, and Paul I know (to be Perſons having Authority to command me.) but who are ye (that ye ſhould take upon you to do it?)

16. And the Man in whom the evil Spirit was, leaped on them, and overcame them, and prevailed againſt them, ſo that they fled out of the Houſe naked and wounded.

17. And this (being done publickly) was known to all the Jews, and Greeks alſo dwelling at Epheſus, and fear (of this powerful Name,) fell on them all, and the Name of the Lord Jeſus was magnified.

18. And many that believed came, and confeſſed (their former Magical Practices,) and ſhewed their Deeds.

e 19. Many alſo of them which uſed [e] curious (i. e. magick) Arts, brought their Books together, and burned them before all Men, and they counted the Price of them, and found it fifty thouſand pieces of Silver.

20. So mightily grew the Word of God, and prevailed.

21. After theſe things were ended, Paul purpoſed in the Spirit, when he had paſſed through Macedonia, and Achaia, to go to Jeruſalem, ſaying, After I have been there, I muſt alſo ſee Rome.

22. So he ſent into Macedonia two of them that miniſtred to him, (viz.) Timotheus and Eraſtus, but he himſelf ſtaid in Aſia (at Epheſus, 1 Cor. 16. 8. here v. 26. 30.) for a ſeaſon.

23. And the ſame time there aroſe no ſmall ſtir about that way (which Paul preached.)

24. For a certain Man named Demetrius, f (being) a Silverſmith who [f] made Silver Shrines for Diana, brought no ſmall Gain to the Craftſmen;

25. Whom he called together with the Workmen of like Occupation, and ſaid (to them,) Sirs, ye know that by this Craft we have our Wealth.

26. Moreover, you ſee and hear, that not alone at Epheſus, but almoſt throughout all Aſia, this Paul hath turned away much People, (Gr. that this Paul hath perſuaded much People, not only of Epheſus, but of all Aſia,) ſaying, that they be no Gods which are made with Hands, (there being no Divinity reſiding in them.)

27. So that not only this our Craft is in danger to be ſet at nought, but alſo that the Temple of the great Goddeſs Diana ſhould be deſpiſed, and her Magnificence ſhould be deſtroyed, whom all Aſia, and the World worſhippeth (in her Image.)

28. And when they heard theſe things, they were full of Wrath, and cried out, ſaying, Great is Diana of the Epheſians.

29. And the whole City was filled with Confuſion, and (the Men of it) [g] having g caught Gaius, and Ariſtarchus, Men of Macedonia, Paul's Companions in Travel, they ruſhed with one accord into the Theatre.

30. And when Paul would have entred in to the People, the Diſciples ſuffered him not.

31. And certain of the [h] chief of Aſia (Gr. h of the Prieſts, or Magiſtrates of Aſia, who governed the Games,) who were his Friends, ſent to him, deſiring him that he would not adventure himſelf into the Theatre.

32. Some therefore cried one thing, and ſome another, for the Aſſembly was confuſed, and the moſt part knew not wherefore they were come together.

33. And they drew Alexander out of the Multitude, the Jews putting him forward, (either to plead the common Cauſe againſt Images, or to expoſe him to the People's Rage, becauſe he was turned Chriſtian,) and Alexander beckned with his Hand and would have made his Defence to the People.

34. But when they knew that he was a Jew, (and ſo a profeſs'd Enemy to their Religion and to Image Worſhip, they) all with one Voice, about the ſpace of two hours, cried out, great is Diana of the Epheſians.

35. And when the [i] Town-Clerk, (or Regiſter) had appeaſed the People, he ſaid, Ye i Men of Epheſus, [k] what Man is there that k knoweth not how that the City of Epheſus is a Worſhipper of the great Goddeſs Diana, and of the Image which fell down from Jupiter?

36. Seeing then that theſe things cannot be ſpoken againſt, ye ought to be quiet, and to do nothing raſhly, (in puniſhing thoſe Men you have now laid hold on.)

37. For ye have brought hither theſe Men (for that end,) who are neither Robbers of Churches, nor yet Blaſphemers of your Goddeſs, (and ſo not worthy to be thrown to the wild Beaſts.)

38. Wherefore if Demetrius, and the Craftſmen that are with him, have matter (of Complaint,) againſt any Man, the Law is l open, and there are Deputies, (Gr. there are Judicial days of pleading, and the Proconſuls are present,) let them implead one another.

39. But if ye enquire any thing concerning other matters (than those relating to your private Injuries,) it shall be determined in a lawful Assembly, (and ought not to be prosecuted in this tumultuous manner.)

40. For we are in danger to be called in Question (by the Romans) for this days Uproar, there being no cause whereby we may give an account of this Concourse.

41. And when he had thus spoken, he dismiss'd the Assembly.

Annotations on Chap. XIX.

a Ver. 1---6. HE finding certain Disciples, &c.] Observe here,

1*st*, That these Disciples were Converts to the Christian Faith, i. e. that they believed that Jesus was the Christ, and that he was risen from the dead, is evident, because St. Paul not only calls them Believers, but enquires whether they had received the Holy Ghost; which none but they who thus believed, did, or could receive; the Gift of Prophesie, which is the Jewish import of the Holy Ghost, being not given, Acts 2. 33. not to be given till Jesus was glorified, John 7. 37, 38, 39.

2*dly*, When therefore they say, we have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost, their meaning is, we have not as yet heard that the Gift of Prophesie, which for the space of about four hundred Years had been restrained from the Jewish Church, was yet restored; now that which rendred them thus unacquainted with this new Effusion of the Holy Ghost was this, that as Apollo had left Jerusalem, and gone to Alexandria before the miraculous Effusion of the Holy Ghost on the Apostles at the day of Pentecost, so had they also done, and had been travelling into other parts of the World, where the Gospel had not yet been planted. Observe,

3*dly*, That these Persons, who were before baptized with the Baptism of St. John are again baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus, as is evident from these words, and when they heard this, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus; for they are manifestly mistaken who say, these are the words, not of St. Luke, but of St. Paul, and make the sense of the words run thus, John baptized with the Baptism of Repentance, saying, that Men should believe in him that should come after him, that is, in Christ Jesus; and they that heard John were by his Baptism baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus. For, (1.) That Paul laid his Hands on these Persons is certain from ver. 6. and that he baptized them when he laid his Hands on them, seems evident from the Connexion of the words, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus, and when St. Paul laid his Hands on them, the Holy Ghost fell upon them; whereas according to the former sense Paul must have laid his Hands upon all that were baptized by the Baptist, and they who were baptized by John must have received by St. Paul's Hands the Holy Ghost; for either these words must signifie at large, they that heard John and were baptized of him, and then the words following must import that Paul laid his Hands on all that heard John, and they received the Holy Ghost; or they must refer to those that heard Paul, and then they must first be baptized by him, and then receive the Holy Ghost by imposition of his Hands. (2.) This is evident from the words of St. Peter, to all those many thousands that heard him, be ye baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus, and ye shall receive the Gift of the Holy Ghost; for since he spake to the Men of Jerusalem in general, Acts 2. 14. and of Judæa, and all Jerusalem and Judæa were baptized of John, saith St. Matthew, Chap. 3. 5, 6. all, or at least many of those to whom he spake, must already have been baptized with the Baptism of John, and yet he makes it necessary for them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus. Whence two things are extremely evident, and consequent from each other, viz. (1.) That he exhorts them who had been baptized with John's Baptism, to be baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus: (2.) That therefore they who were baptized with his Baptism, were not baptized in the Name of the Lord Jesus; and this is visible even in the words of St. Paul here, John said to those that came to his Baptism, ἵνα πιστεύσωσιν, not that they did, but that they should believe in him that was coming after him, that is, in the Lord Jesus; now they were not to be baptized in the Name of Jesus Christ, till they did actually believe in him, which they who had received John's Baptism, were so far from doing, that they were musing whether John himself were not the Christ, Luke 3. 15. and asking, why baptizeth thou, if thou art not the Christ? John 1. 25. And, (3.) As our Saviour never said openly, and expresly to the Jews, that he was the Christ, so he charges his Apostles to tell no Man that he was so till his Resurrection; but to what end should he do this, if both the Baptist and his Disciples had before baptized all Men into this Faith, that he was the Christ, and so had published this Faith to all Judæa? Only here note, that this is no ground for rebaptizing any now, by reason of the great Difference betwixt the Baptism of John then, and that in the Name of Jesus after his Resurrection; of which ſee the Note on Matth. 3. 11. (4). Obſerve, that after the impoſition of the Apoſtles Hands, theſe Men ſpake with Tongues, and propheſied, receiving the ſame Gifts of the Holy Ghoſt which the Apoſtles, and others had received to fit them for the Miniſtry, which was then generally performed by ſuch gifted Men commiſſionated for that Work by the Holy Ghoſt, thus falling on them, whence we find theſe Prophets and Teachers λειτουργοῦντας, miniſtring to the Lord in their Aſſemblies, Acts 13. 1, 2, 3. and this renders the Opinion of Biſhop Stillingfleet very probable, viz. That St. Paul deſigned theſe Twelve Men for a Nurſery of the Churches in Aſia, or Perſons to be ſent from Epheſus to preach among them.

b Ver. 9. Ὡς δέ τινες ἐσκληρύνοντο, But as ſome were hardned.] I have ſhew'd Note on Mark 8. 17. that Men are then ſaid to be hardned, when having had ſufficient evidence of what they ought to do, or believe, they refuſe to believe, or do it: And thus were theſe Perſons hardned here, i.e. they would not believe after ſufficient evidence, that Jeſus was the Chriſt.

c Ver. 10. And this continued for the ſpace of two Years; ſo that all that dwelt in Aſia heard the Word, both Jews and Greeks.] Here it is carefully to be noted, that we read not of Paul's coming to Epheſus at all, till Chap. 18. 19. and then he would not tarry with them, ver. 20. but makes haſte up to Jeruſalem; when he had ſaluted the Church there, he goes thence to Antioch, and tarries there ſome time, ver. 23. then he goes thro' Phrygia and Galatia, confirming the Brethren, ibid. and then to Epheſus, there he diſputes three Months in the Synagogues of the Jews, then two Years more in the School of Tyrannus; after he leaves Epheſus, he goes through Macedonia and Achaia to Jeruſalem, as he had before determined to do, ver. 21. Chap. 20. 1. not coming at all to any part of Aſia till he came to Miletus, ver. 10. 17. They therefore who make him ſpend three Quarters of a Year in other parts of Aſia, do not only ſay this without proof, or without aſſigning any other City of Aſia, where he preached; but they ſay this againſt the account here given of him by St. Luke; his three Years therefore mentioned Chap. 20. 31. muſt be reckoned from his firſt coming to Epheſus.

d Ver. 13. Ἰουδαίων ἐξορκιστῶν, Of the Jewiſh Exorciſts.] That the Jews were wont to exorciſe Devils, or to caſt them out, not only by Invocation of the Name of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob, but by skill in Magick, we learn from (a) Joſephus, who mentions one Eleazer before Veſpaſian, his Sons, his Captains, and a great number of his Soldiers, τὰς τοῦ δαιμονίων λαμβανομένους ἀπολύοντα τούτων, delivering them who were poſſeſs'd with evil Spirits from them, and drawing forth διὰ τῆς μυκτήρος τὸ δαιμόνιον, the Devil by the Noſe, by putting to his Noſe who was poſſeſs'd a Ring having under the Seal of it a Root, of which Solomon had diſcover'd the Virtue, and adjuring him by the Adjuration taught by Solomon, καὶ τὰς ἐπῳδὰς ἃς συνέθηκεν ἐκεῖνας ἐπιλέγων, and ſaying over him the Incantations which Solomon compoſed: They had alſo Books of Inchantments, καὶ τρόπους ἐξορκώσεων, and Modes of exorciſing Dæmons, σωλαξομένους, compoſed, as they gave it out, by Solomon; and they, ſaith he, are of great uſe to this day. As for the Root of which he ſpeaks, he informs us, that it was a very dangerous thing to pluck it up, and preſcribes a very ſuperſtitious way of doing it; but being thus gathered, and brought to thoſe that are poſſeſſed, ſaith he, δαιμόνια τοῖς ζῶσιν εἰσφυόμενα ταχέως ἐξελαύνει, it quickly expels the Dæmons out of Mens Bodies. De Bell. Jud. l. 7. c. 23. p. 981.

e Ver. 19. They that uſed περίεργα curious Arts;] That is, Arts of Magick, That this is the import of the word, Grotius and Dr. Hammond prove from the account that (b) Irenæus gives us of the Diſciples of Simon Magus, that they uſed amatoria & agogima, & quæcunque ſunt alia parerga l. perierga, Love-Charms, and Philtres, and all other curious Arts. For (c) Porphyry ſpeaking of theſe Magicians, ſaith, διὰ τέλων φίλτρα καὶ ἐρωτικὰ καλασκευάζουσιν οἱ κακοδαίμονες, they by theſe evil Spirits make their Philtres and Love-Charms; and it ſeems to have had this Signification, becauſe the Magi, as (d) Origen ſaith, were περιεργαζόμενοι τὰ δαιμονίων ὀνόματα, καὶ δυνάμεις, καὶ πράξεις καὶ ἐπῳδὰς, καὶ βότανας οἰκείας δαίμοσι, καὶ λίθους, curiouſly employed about ſearching into the Names, the Forms, the Powers, the Actions, the Incantations of Dæmons, and the Herbs, Stones, and Sculptures made in them, proper to theſe Dæmons; whereas, ſaith he, ἀπερίεργον ἦθος, a Life free from theſe Curioſities is acceptable to God, and the Lord Chriſt would leave to be vexed with evil Spirits, περιεργαζόμενον δαιμόνων ὀνόματα, him that is thus curious about the Names of Dæmons, and ſeeks after ways of incanting them. Hence the Books here brought to be burnt, are by the Fathers ſtiled γοητικὰ βίβλοι, Books of Sorcery. Nor is it to be wondred, that theſe arts ſhould abound at Epheſus, where (e) Plutarch ſpeaks, ὡς τ μάγων ἐν Ἐφέσῳ διαλεγομένων, of Magicians converſing; that City being ſo famous for Sorcery and Inchantments of Dæmons, that the Magical words uſed to that effect, were ſtiled Ἐφέσια γράμματα, Epheſian Letters; and (f) Plutarch tells us, that the Magicians bid them who were poſſeſſed with Devils, to read and recite the Epheſian Letters.

h Ver. 31. Chief of Aſia, Gr. Ἀσιαρχῶν.] Here again, Grotius and Dr. Hammond note, that among the Heathens there were Games inſtituted, ad placanda bona numina, to appeaſe the good Gods, or in honour of them; of theſe the Pontifices or Chief Prieſts were Preſidents at Rome; in other Provinces the Prieſts or Magiſtrates preſided, ſaith (g) Salmaſius, and theſe were called from their Provinces, Aſiarchæ, Syriarchæ, Bithyniarchæ, Officers belonging to theſe Games in thoſe Provinces. Thus in the Martyrdom of (h) Polycarp, Biſhop of Smyrna in Aſia, they ask τ Ἀσιαρχῶν Φίλιππον, Philip the Ruler of the Games there, to let out a Lion upon Polycarp, which he declares he could not do, becauſe the Games were ended; whence it appears, that it belong'd to theſe Aſiarchæ here mentioned, to let looſe the wild Beaſts upon Malefactors; accordingly, they are here preſent, and being kind to St. Paul, ſend to him not to come thither.

Ver. 35. Ὁ γραμματεύς, The Town Clerk] i This word is rendred by Budæus the Chancellor; he was an Officer choſen by the People to preſide over the Games, ſaith Domninus, cited by Johannes Antiochenus, and ſo the fitter to appeaſe their Tumults.

Ibid. Who knows not τ Ἐφεσίων πόλιν k νεωκόρον θεᾶς, That the City of the Epheſians is a Worſhipper of the great Goddeſs Diana.] After all the Learning our Criticks have ſpent upon this place, I ſee no reaſon to change our Tranſlation; for tho' the City or People of Epheſus may have this Title in the Coins, it cannot here be an Epithet of the City, for then it ſhould be νεωκόρων, as it is in the Coins. Again, it being plain from (i) Julius Pollux, that the νεωκόροι were οἱ τ Θεῶν θεραπευταί the Servants, Miniſters and Worſhippers of the Gods; and from Phavorinus, that νεωκόρος was ὁ τ ναῦ ἐπιμελητής, one that took care of the Temple; and from Heſychius, Suidas and Phavorinus, that he was one who did adorn and beautifie it, it may be very reaſonable to beſtow this Title on the Epheſians, who were ſo peculiarly addicted to her Worſhip, who had there that Temple of Diana, which was accounted the Miracle of the World, and who had expended ſo much in the beautifying and adorning of it, and in this ſenſe only could they be ſtiled Neocori of the Image which fell down from Jupiter.

Ver. 38. Ἀγοραῖοι ἄγονται, The Law is l open;] i. e. Court Days are kept, for ſo the word with an Accent in the Antepenultima, ſignifies, ἡμέραι being underſtood; for ἀγόραιος, ſay Suidas and Phavorinus, is ἡ ἡμέρα ἐν ᾗ ἄγονται δίκαι, a day in which a Court is kept.

CHAP. XX.

1. AND after the Uproar was ceaſed, Paul called to him the Diſciples, and embracing them, departed to go into Macedonia:

2. And when he had gone over thoſe Parts, and had given them much Exhortation, he came into Greece,

3. And there abode three Months; and when the Jews laid wait for him, as he was about to ſail into Syria (to carry Alms to Jeruſalem,) he purpoſed (or reſolved) to return through Macedonia.

4. And there accompanied him into Aſia, (without going from him,) Sopater of Beræa; and (but) of the Theſſalonians, Ariſtarchus and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus; and of Aſia, Tychicus and Trophimus;

5. Theſe (were Perſons who) going before, tarried for us at Troas.

6. And we ſailed away from Philippi after the days of unleavened Bread (were ended,) and came to them to Troas in five days, where we abode ſeven days.

a 7. [a] And upon the firſt day of the week, when the Diſciples came together to break Bread (i. e. to celebrate the Euchariſt,) Paul preached to them, (being) ready to depart on the morrow, and continued his Diſcourſe until midnight;

8. And there were many Lights in the upper Chamber, where they were gathered together (for religious Worſhip: See the Note on Chap. 1. 13.)

9. And there ſat in a Window a certain Young Man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deep ſleep; and as Paul was long preaching, he ſunk down with ſleep, and fell down from the third Loft, and was taken up (as one) dead.

10. And (but) Paul went down, and fell on him, and embracing him, ſaid, Trouble not your ſelves (more about him,) for his Life is (ſafe) in him.

11. When he therefore was come up ab gain, and had [b] broken Bread, and eaten, (i. e. had celebrated the Sacrament of the Lord's Body and Blood,) and had talked a long while, even till break of day; ſo he departed, (as he had deſigned to do on the morrow, ver. 7.)

12. And they brought the Young Man (up) alive, and were not a little comforted (at it.)

13. And we went before to Ship, and ſailed to Aſſos, there intending to take in Paul; for ſo had he [c] appointed, (Gr. ſo he was diſpoſed,) c minding himſelf to go (thither) on foot.

14. And when he met with us at Aſſos, we took him in, and came to Mitylene.

15. And we ſailed thence, and came the next day over againſt Chios; and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium; and the next day we came to Miletus, (ten miles diſtant from Epheſus.)

16. For Paul had determined to ſail by Epheſus (not touching there,) becauſe he would not ſpend the time in Aſia; for he haſted, if it were poſſible for him, to be at Jeruſalem, the day of Pentecoſt.

17. [d] And from Miletus he ſent to Ephe- d ſus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18. And when they were come to him, he ſaid to them, Ye know from the firſt day that I came into Aſia, after what manner I have been with you at all ſeaſons.

19. Serving the Lord with all humility of Mind, and with many Tears and Temptations which befel me, by the lying in wait of the Jews.

20. And how I kept back nothing that was profitable for you, but have ſhew'd you, and have taught you (what was neceſſary to be known) publickly, and from houſe to houſe;

21. Teſtifying both to the Jews and alſo to the Greeks, (that they ſhould exerciſe) Repentance towards God, and Faith towards our Lord Jeſus Chriſt; (i. e. that they ſhould turn to God, doing Works meet for Repentance, and ſhould believe in the Lord Jeſus.)

22. [e] And now behold I go bound in the e Spirit, (i. e foreſeeing by the Spirit that I ſhall be bound,) to Jeruſalem, not knowing the things that ſhall befal me there,

23. Save that the Holy Ghoſt witneſſes in every City, ſaying, That Bonds and Afflictions abide me.

24. But none of theſe things move me, neither count I my Life dear to my ſelf, ſo that I might finiſh my Courſe with joy, and the Miniſtry which I have received of the Lord Jeſus, to teſtifie the Goſpel of the Grace of God.

25. And now, behold I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the Kingdom of God, ſhall ſee my face no more.

26. Wherefore I take you to record this day, that [f] I am pure from the Blood of f all Men, (i. e. not guilty of their Ruin, if they periſh)

27. For I have not ſhunn'd to declare to you all the Counſel of God, (the whole Chriſtian Doctrine, which if you keep in Memory and Practice, ye ſhall be ſaved, 1 Cor. 15. 3.)

28. [g] Take

g 28. [g]Take heed therefore to your ſelves, and to all the Flock, over the which the Ho-h ly Ghoſt hath made you Overſeers, [h] to feed the Church of God, which he hath purchaſed with his own Blood.

i 29. For I know this, that [i] after my departing, ſhall grievous Wolves enter in among you, not ſparing (to tear) the Flock.

k 30. [k] Alſo (out) of your own ſelves ſhall Men ariſe, ſpeaking perverſe things, to draw away Diſciples after them.

31. Therefore watch, and remember, that by the ſpace of three Years I ceaſed not to warn every one (of you) night and day with Tears.

32. And now, Brethren, I commend you to God, and to the Word of his Grace, which is able to build you up, (in your Holy Faith,) and to give you an Inheritance among all them that are ſanctified.

33. I have coveted no Man's Silver, or Gold, or Apparel.

34. Yea, you your ſelves know, that theſe hands have miniſtred to my Neceſſities, and to (the Neceſſities of) them that are with me.

35. I have ſhewed you all (theſe) things (to inſtruct you) how that ſo labouring, you ought to ſupport the Weak, and (to) remember the Words of the Lord Jeſus, [l] how he ſaid, It is more bleſſed to give l than to receive.

36. And when he had thus ſpoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.

37. And they all wept ſore, and fell on Paul's Neck, and kiſſed him.

38. Sorrowing moſt of all for the words that he ſpake, that they ſhould ſee his Face no more, and they accompanied him to the Ship.

Annotations on Chap. XX.

1 Ver. 7. Ἐν δὲ τῇ μιᾷ τῶν Σαββάτων, And upon the firſt day of the Week, when the Diſciples were gathered together to break Bread.] Theſe words ſeem fairly to evince, that it was the cuſtom of the firſt Chriſtians, and of the Apoſtles, to keep the Lord's day holy, or as a Day appointed for religious Worſhip: For,

1*ſt*, That μιᾷ τῶν Σαββάτων, the firſt Day of the Week was the Lord's Day, is fully proved, Note on 1 Cor. 16. 1.

2*dly*, Obſerve, That on this Day the Diſciples were not ſummoned extraordinarily to come together, that St. Paul did not μεταπέμψασθαι call them together, as he did the Aſſembly of the Elders of the Church, v. 17. but the Diſciples were themſelves συνηγμένοι, met in their Synaxis, or Aſſembly; the Text informs us, that St. Paul tarried with them ſeven days, and in none of them have we any mention of an Aſſembly to this purpoſe, but only on the firſt day of the week.

3*dly*, Obſerve, That they then met together to break Bread; which Phraſe doth ſignifie the ſacred Action performed in celebration of the Holy Sacrament, which 'twas the cuſtom of the Primitive Chriſtians to receive in all their Church Aſſemblies on the Lord's Day: This the Apoſtle intimates when he complains of his Corinthians, 1 Cor. 11. that they came together for the worſe, becauſe, when they came together in the Church, there were Diviſions among them, ſo that they did not eat together of the Table of the Lord. Now thus to come together in one place, ſaith he, is not to eat the Lord's Supper; i. e. it is not ſo to do it as that ſacred Action ought to be performed: This therefore when they came together in the Church they did, and therefore, what is coming together, ver. 17. coming to the Church, ver. 18. coming to one place, ver. 19. is coming together to eat, ver. 33. Accordingly, it was the cuſtom of the Church from the Apoſtle's Times thus to communicate upon the Lord's Day; for Pliny in his (a) Epiſtle to the Emperor Trajan, tells him, that he found nothing to alledge againſt the Chriſtians, but their Obſtinacy in their Superſtition; and that it was their cuſtom to meet together on a ſet-day before it was light, and to bind themſelves by the Sacrament to do no evil. Now this Epiſtle was writ only ſix Years after the death of the Evangeliſt St. John. And (b) Juſtin M. who wrote but forty Years after his death, thus ſpeaks, On Sunday all the Chriſtians in the City or Country meet together, becauſe that is the day of our Lord's Reſurrection, and then we have read unto us the Writings of the Prophets and Apoſtles; this done, the Preſident makes an Oration to the Aſſembly; to exhort them to imitate and do the things they heard; then we all join in Prayer, and after that we celebrate the Sacrament, and they that are willing and able, give Alms, &c.

Ver. 11. And had broken Bread:] Tho' b here be mention only of breaking Bread, yet that that the Cup was also consecrated and distributed, is evident from the Doctrine of the Church of Rome; for they agree with the Protestants in this, that the Priests always ought to consecrate the Eucharist in both Kinds, and say, that if one Species be consecrated without the other, (c) Sacrilegium committitur, it would be Sacrilege; and yet if this place prove any thing for Communion in one Kind, it proves as much for Consecration in one Kind, and for the Sumption of one Kind only by the Priest that consecrates, tho' they hold it necessary for him to receive both. And hence it was declared in the Council of (d) Trent, That these Places, and the Reasons from them, must be laid aside, because by them it would be concluded, that it was not Sacrilege to consecrate one Kind without the other; which is contrary to all the Doctors, and the meaning of the Church, and overthroweth the distinction of the Eucharist, as it is a Sacrifice, and as it is a Sacrament.

c Ver. 13. For so he had appointed, οὕτω γὰρ ἦν διατεταγμένος, For so he was disposed.] Here is an evidence, that the word τεταγμένοι, used Chap. 13. 48. may there signifie disposed, as here apparently it doth.

d Ver. 17. And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.] From these words, compared with the 28th Verse, where the same Persons are called Bishops, who are here stiled πρεσβύτεροι, Elders, Chrysostom, St. Jerom, Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact, have inferr'd, that the same Persons were in the first Ages of the Church stiled Bishops, or Presbyters indifferently; Dr. Hammond on the contrary, and others do contend, that the word πρεσβύτεροι, Elders, here signifies only Bishops; and because there lies this obvious Objection against this Interpretation, that then there must have been many Bishops in the Church of Ephesus, since all these Elders were called from Ephesus; he answers, that those Elders were all the Bishops of Asia, and saith, that Paul sending to the Metropolis of Asia, by that means gave notice to the Bishops of Asia to come to him; this he confirms, (1.) From the Testimony of Irenæus, who saith, they were called (e) ab Epheso, & reliquis proximis Civitatibus, from Ephesus, and the rest of the Cities that were near; (2.) From the words of the Text, for the Flock, saith he, was not the Christians of one City, but the Christians of all Asia; those with whom Paul had been from the first day he came to Asia, ver. 18. all among whom he had gone preaching the Kingdom of God, ver. 25. But to the first Argument it may be answered,

1*st*, That Chrysostom, St. Jerom, Theodoret, Oecumenius, and Theophylact, knew nothing of St. Paul's sending to any other Bishops besides these of Ephesus, for otherwise they could not have argued as they do from this place, that these Persons could not be Bishops, properly so called, because there could be only one Bishop of one City. Bishop Stillingfleet also saith, that St. Paul was in so great haste, that he would not so much as go to Ephesus, nor send any whither but to that City, and yet those to whom he committed the whole Flock then in Asia, came from Ephesus to Miletus. But, (2.) Let it be granted that he sent to other Cities also, tho' it be plainly contrary to the Text, which mentions Ephesus only, yet is it evident both from Irenæus, and the Text, that the same Persons are called Presbyters in the 17th Verse, who are called Bishops, ver. 28. for from ver. 18. to the 27th inclusively, he continues his Discourse to those Presbyters whom he had called, and then ver. 28. bids them take care of the Church, over which the Holy Ghost had made them Bishops; this is plain also from Irenæus, for he saith expressly, d that convocatis Episcopis & Presbyteris, having called the Bishops and Presbyters, he gave them charge of the Church, (f) in quo eos Spiritus proposuit Episcopos, in which the Spirit had made them Bishops.

2*dly*, To the second Argument the Answer is evident from the Note made on Chap. 19. 10. that St. Paul, from the second time he came to Ephesus, stirred not thence, till he, in prosecution of his purpose, mentioned there, ver. 21. went from thence to Macedonia, in order to go Jerusalem; whence we learn, how he had been with them of Asia, from the first day he came to Ephesus, preaching to Jew and Gentile, viz. by disputing daily in the School of Tyrannus in Ephesus, so that all they that dwelt in Asia heard the Word, both Jews and Greeks, Chap. 19. 10. and by disputing thus, he perswaded much People, οὐ μόνον Ἐφέσου, ἀλλὰ σχεδὸν πάσης τῆς Ἀσίας, i. e. not as we have rendred the words, not only at Ephesus, but throughout all Asia, but, not only of Ephesus, but of all Asia.

e Ver. 22. And now behold I go δεδεμένος τῷ πνεύματι, bound in the Spirit.] i. e. not resolving in his own Spirit, but, as Grotius saith truly, foreseeing by the Spirit that I shall there be bound, for so it follows, ver. 23. The Holy Ghost witnesseth in every City, saying, that Bonds and Afflictions abide me.

f Ver. 26, 27. I am free from the Blood of all Men, for I have not shunned to declare to you all the Councel of God.] Hence we learn learn that it is necessary for a Pastor to declare to his People all that is necessary for them to believe and do, in order to Salvation, that the guilt of their Ruin may not lie upon him.

g Ver. 28. Take heed therefore to your selves, and to all the Flock, over which the Holy Ghost hath made you Overseers.] I have shewed in the Note on 1 Cor. 12. 8, 9, 10. that in those times the Holy Spirit did enable the Apostles to discern who were fit to be Governors of the Church, and accordingly by this Afflatus of the Holy Ghost they were chosen for that Work; and to this the words of the Apostle may refer. But it is also to be noted from Chap. 19. 6, 7. that at Ephesus Paul having laid his Hands upon twelve Men, the Holy Ghost fell on them, and they spake with Tongues, and prophesied; and Bishop Stillingfleet conceives, these were Men kept at Ephesus as a Nursery, to be sent forth as occasion served, to preach and preside among the Converts of Asia; and if so, these words may more peculiarly relate to them.

h Ibid. Ποιμαίνειν τ ἐκκλησίαν τ Θεȣ, To feed the Church of God, which he hath purchased with his own Blood.] If this be the true reading, it follows unavoidably, that Jesus Christ who shed his Blood for us, is here stiled God; now this Reading is confirmed by the Vulgar, Arabick, Æthiopick, by Chrysostom, and Œcumenius on the place. It is true indeed that in Irenæus, l. 3. 14. in the Alex. MSS. and in the Syriac we read τ ἐκκλησίαν τ Κυρȣ, the Church of the Lord, which may be construed, the Church of the Lord Jesus, but it may also be construed from the Arabick, and other MSS. the Church of our Lord God; if we consider that the Church of God, is a Phrase very frequent in the New Testament; See 1 Cor. 1. 2. — 10. 32. — 11. 22. — 15. 9. 2 Cor. 1. 1. Gal. 1. 13. 1 Tim. 3. 5. but the Church of the Lord, is a Phrase never used in the New Testament.

i Ver. 29. After my departure shall grievous Wolves enter in, not sparing the Flock.] Such were Cerinthus who set up in Asia, See the Note on Coloss. 2. 18. and other false Apostles, and deceitful Workers of the Jews, of whom see Note on 1 Tim. 1. 7. on Chap. 4. 2, 3. on Chap. 6. 21. and on 2 Tim. 1. 15. and on Chap. 3. 2, 3, 4.

k Ver. 30. Also of your selves shall Men arise, speaking perverse things.] Such as Hymenæus and Alexander were, who made Shipwrack of the Faith, 1 Tim. 1. 20. Hymenæus and Philetus, who taught that the Resurrection was past already, 2 Tim. 2. 18. for these Epistles being written chiefly for the Ephesians, 'tis reasonable to think he speaks of Men dwelling there who dispersed these Doctrines among them.

l Ver. 35. How he said it is more blessed to give than to receive.] This saying of Christ we find not in the Gospels, but yet these and the like words, are so far from giving any Patronage to unwritten Traditions, that they are a Demonstration against them, it being certain that we had never known any such thing, had not St. Luke recorded it.

CHAP. XXI.

1. AND it came to pass, that after we were gotten from them (of Ephesus,) and had launched (into the Sea,) we came with a straight course to Coos, and the day following to Rhodes, and from thence to Patara;

2. And finding a Ship sailing over into Phœnicia, we went aboard, and set forth.

a 3. Now when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left Hand, and sailed into Syria, and landed at Tyre, for there the Ship was to unlade her Burthen.

4. And finding Disciples, we tarried there seven days; who (being endued with the Gifts of the Holy Ghost,) said to Paul, b through the Spirit, that (if he regarded his Safety, ver. 11.) he should not go up to Jerusalem.

5. And when he had accomplished those days, we departed, and went away, and they all brought us on our way with (their) Wives and Children, till we were out of the City, and (then) we kneeled down on the Shore and prayed.

6. And when we had taken our leave one of another, we took Ship, and they returned home again;

c 7. And when we had finished our course, (Gr. and finishing our Sail,) from Tyre, we came to Ptolemais, and saluted the Brethren, and abode with them one day.

8. And the next day, we that were of Paul's Company departed, and came to Cæsarea, and we entred into the House of Philip the Evangelist, who was one of the Seven (Deacons mentioned, Chap. 6.) and abode with him.

9. And the same Man had four Daughters, Virgins, who did prophesie, (according to the Prophesie mentioned, Chap. 2. 17.)

10. And as we tarried there many days, there came down from Judea a certain Prophet, named Agabus.

11. And

11. And when he was come to us, he took Paul's Girdle, and bound his own Hands (firſt,) and (then afterwards his) Feet (with d it,) and ſaid, Thus ſaith the Holy Ghoſt, [d] ſo ſhall the Jews at Jeruſalem bind the Man that owneth this Girdle, and ſhall deliver him into the Hands of the Gentiles.

12. And when we heard theſe things, both we (that were with him,) and they of that place beſought him (with Tears,) not to go up to Jeruſalem.

13. Then Paul anſwered, What mean ye to weep, and to break my Heart? (Gr. τί ποιεῖτε κλαίοντες, why do you this, weeping and breaking my Heart?) for I am ready not to be bound only, but alſo to die at Jeruſalem, for the Name of the Lord Jeſus.

14. And when he would not be perſuaded, we ceaſed (our Importunity,) ſaying, The Will of the Lord be done.

15. And after thoſe days we took up our Carriages, and went up to Jeruſalem.

16. There went with us alſo certain of the Diſciples of Cæſarea, and brought with e them [e] one Mnaſon of Cyprus, an old Diſciple, with whom we ſhould lodge.

17. And when we were come to Jeruſalem, the Brethren received us gladly.

f 18. And the day following [f] Paul went in with us to James, and all the Elders (of Jeruſalem) were preſent.

19. And when he had ſaluted them, he declared particularly what things God had wrought among the Gentiles by his Miniſtry.

20. And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and ſaid to him, Thou ſeeſt, Brother, how many thouſands of Jews there
g are which believe, [g] and they are all zealous (for the obſervance) of the Law, (by all that are Jews.)

21. And they are informed of thee, that thou teacheſt all the Jews which are among the Gentiles to forſake Moſes, ſaying, That they ought not to circumciſe their Children, neither (ought they) to walk after the Cuſtoms (of our Fore-fathers.)

22. What is it therefore? (τί οὖν ἐστι; what is therefore to be done, ſeeing) the Multi-c tude (which have been thus informed of thee,) muſt needs come together, for they will hear that thou art come.

23. Do therefore this that we ſay to thee, (to wit,) We have four Men which have a Vow on them,

24. Them take, and purifie thy ſelf with them, and be at Charges with them, (making Proviſion of Sacrifices for them, as the Law requires,) that (when the days of their Purification are ended,) they may ſhave their Heads, and (by this Practice) all may know that thoſe things whereof they are informed concerning thee are nothing, (i. e. have no Truth in them,) but that thou thy ſelf alſo walkeſt orderly, and keepeſt the Law;

25. As touching the Gentiles which believe, we have written and concluded, that they obſerve no ſuch thing, ſave only, that they keep themſelves from things offered to Idols, and from Blood, and from (things) ſtrangled, and from Fornication.

26. Then Paul took the Men, and the next day purifying himſelf with them, (i. e. beginning the Separation of a Nazarite,) he entred into the Temple, [h] to ſignifie (when h would be) the Accompliſhment of the days of Purification, until (ἕως οὗ even to the time) that an Offering ſhould be offered for every one of them, (as the Law required at the cloſe of them, Numb. 6. 13.)

27. And when the ſeven days, (i. e. the time deſign'd for this Separation) were almoſt ended, (or, were about to be accompliſhed,) the Jews which were of Aſia, (where Paul had preached three Years, Chap. 20. 31. with great Oppoſition from the Jews, Chap. 19. 9.—20. 19. 1 Cor. 16. 9.) when they ſaw him in the Temple, ſtirred up all the People, and laid Hands on him,

28. Crying out, Men of Iſrael, help, (for) this is the Man that teacheth all Men every where againſt the People (of the Jews,) and (againſt) the Law, and this place, and farther (or alſo hath) brought Greeks into the Temple, and (by ſo doing) hath polluted this holy place.

29. (And this they ſaid) for (becauſe) they had ſeen before with him in the City, Trophimus, an Epheſian, whom they ſuppoſed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30. And all the City was moved (at theſe words,) and the People ran together, and they took Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, (that it might not be defiled with his Blood,) and forthwith the Doors were ſhut.

31. [i] And as they went about to kill him, i Tidings came to the chief Captain of the Band, (of Romans,) that all Jeruſalem was in an Uproar.

32. Who immediately took Soldiers, and Centurions, and ran down to them, and when they ſaw the chief Captain, and the Soldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33. Then the chief Captain came near and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two Chains, and demanded who he was, and what he had done, (to incenſe them ſo againſt him.)

34. And ſome cried one thing, ſome another, among the Multitude; and when he could not know the certainty, for (i. e. by reaſon of) the Tumult, he commanded him to be carried into the Caſtle (of Antonia.)

35. And when he came upon the Stairs, ſo it was that he was born of the Soldiers for the Violence of the People;

36. For the Multitude of the People followed after, crying, Away with him, (let him not live, Chap. 22. 22.)

37. And as Paul was (about) to be led into the Caſtle, he ſaid to the chief Captain, May I ſpeak to thee, who ſaid, Canſt thou ſpeak Greek?

38. [k] Art not thou that Egyptian which before theſe days madeſt an Uproar, and leddeſt out into the Wilderneſs, four thouſand Men that were Murtherers?

39. But Paul ſaid, I am a Man which am a Jew of Tarſus, a City of Cilicia, a Citizen of no mean City, and I beſeech thee [i] ſuffer me to ſpeak to the People.

40. And when he had given him Licenſe, Paul ſtood on the Stairs, and beckned with the Hand to the People (to be ſilent,) and when there was made a great ſilence, he ſpake to them in the Hebrew Tongue, ſaying.

Annotations on Chap. XXI.

[a] Ver. 3. Ἀναφανέντες δὲ τὴν Κύπρον, And diſcerning, or diſcovering Cyprus.] So ἀναφαίνειν γῆν τινα, is to diſcover ſuch a Land, and therefore both Stephanus, and from him Scmidius, render theſe words thus, quum cernere Cyprum cæpiſſemus, all other Readings or Conjectures being by Scmidius confuted.

[b] Ver. 4. Who ſaid to Paul by the Spirit, that he ſhould not go up to Jeruſalem.] If this had been ſaid abſolutely by an Afflatus of the Holy Ghoſt St. Paul could not have acted contrary to it without Sin, in oppoſing what the Holy Ghoſt required, and doing what he did forbid; ſeeing then Paul perſiſts in his Reſolution, after what both they here, and the Prophet Agabus had ſaid, ver. 11. theſe words muſt admit of the Limitation mentioned in the Paraphraſe, that if he would not be there bound, and evilly intreated, he ſhould not go up thither; and this was only what the Spirit had before told him; for, ſaith he, I go bound in the Spirit to Jeruſalem, Chap. 20. 22. Or they ſaid to him, the Spirit revealing to them, what he was to ſuffer there, they would not have him go up, as alſo did the Diſciples of Cæſarea, and they that came up with him from Troas on the ſame account.

[c] Ver. 7. Καὶ διανύσαντες τὸν πλοῦν, And when we had finiſhed our Courſe.] There is no need to read here διαναύσαντες, or to think that this Phraſe ſignifies only, having ſail'd; it truly imports, that finiſhing our Voyage by Sea, we came from Tyre to Ptolemais; for from thence they went by Land to Cæſarea, and from thence to Jeruſalem, and ſo were then finiſhing their Navigation, or their Courſe by Sea.

(26) Ver. 9. See Additions N°. 26.

[d] Ver. 11. So ſhall the Jews at Jeruſalem bind this Man.] Not ſo as to the Girdle, for he was only bound with Chains; nor ſo as to the binding of his Feet, for St. Paul ſeems only to have the Chains faſtned to his Hands; but ſo as to be as truly, and as much bound as Agabus was, not perſonally by the Jews, but by the Romans at their Inſtigation, and on their account.

Ver. 16. One Mnaſon an old Diſciple;] [e] Converted by Paul and Barnabas when they were at Cyprus, ſay Grotius and Dr. Hammond, but very improbably; for that they were at Cyprus we find, Acts 13. 4. but there is not a word of him, or any other Convert that they made there; the words, an old Diſciple, rather induce us to conceive he was one of the Diſciples, or Followers of Chriſt.

Ver. 18. And Paul went in with us to James, [f] and all the Elders were preſent.] All the Biſhops of Judea, ſaith Dr. Hammond, without one word to prove it; for there is nothing of this matter in his Note on Philip. 1. b. to which he refers, and without all probability; for if there were then any other Biſhops conſtituted in Judea, of which we read nothing in Scripture, or Primitive Antiquity, how came they all unſent for, to be abſent from their Flocks, and preſent at Jeruſalem, eſpecially when all the Apoſtles, except James, ſeem to be abſent? More probably, and modeſt is the Obſervation, that here we find James Biſhop of Jeruſalem, οἱ πρεσβύτεροι, his Presbyters, or Elders, with him, and his ſeven Deacons mentioned, ver. 18. and ſo have reaſon to believe that other celebrated Churches conformed to this Model, having Biſhops, Presbyters, and Deacons.

Ver. 20. And they are all zealous of the [g] Law.] The Zealots among the Believers were urgent for the Circumciſion of the Gentiles, and for requiring them to obſerve the Law of Moſes, Acts 15. 1, 5. But the whole Body of the converted Jews, Biſhops, and Elders, as well as the Laity, were zealous for the Obſervation of their Laws, and Cuſtoms by the Jews, and that becauſe they knew the Law of a divine Original, and therefore thought they could not throw off the Obſervance of it without Apoſtaſie from God, as is inſinuated in theſe words, Thou teacheſt ἀποστασίαν, Apoſtaſie from Moſes, ver. 21. Thus (a) Philo doth inform us, that they believe their Laws to be λογία θεόχρηστα, Divine Oracles, and this Doctrine they being taught from their Infancy, they are ſo afraid of offending againſt them in the leaſt, that they will rather ſuffer the loſs of all human Bleſſings, than be guilty of it; Yea ſaith he, (b) they are wont willingly to ſuffer Death as the way to Immortality, rather than permit their Rites to be violated. (c) Joſephus ſaith the ſame, that they are taught from their Cradle to call them Θεῦ δόγματα, the Doctrines of God, and therefore continue in the Obſervance of them, not adding any thing to them, or taking any thing from them, and when it is neceſſary, dying freely for them. And again, We, ſaith he, (d) think it our only Wiſdom and Virtue neither to do, or think any thing contrary to our Laws; and being perſuaded from the beginning that they are ſuitable to the Will of God, we think nothing elſe ſo holy as to keep them, for who can remove any thing of them, or find any thing better? He alſo frequently declares that they were thus addicted to the Obſervation of their Laws; from an Opinion (e) of the eternal Puniſhments they muſt expect to ſuffer, who even for fear of Death durſt violate them, and from a firm aſſurance of eternal Happineſs, if they were faithful to the Death in the obſervance of them. It is not therefore to be wondred that Men who had imbibed ſuch Opinions of them from their Infancy, that they derived from God, and knew of no Revelation made by him that they were to ceaſe after the Death of their Meſſiah, ſhould be ſtill zealous for them; or that they who thought they could not be removed, or that any better Laws could be given, ſhould think them fit to be obſerved; or that they who feared ſuch dreadful Evils if they did forſake them, expected ſo great Bleſſings from being faithful to them to the Death, ſhould be averſe from any Doctrine which taught them to apoſtatize from, or to forſake the Law of Moſes, and yet it pleaſed God as yet not to convince them of this Error by any Revelation, or any Afflatus of that Spirit which many of them had received; partly becauſe he ſaw this might have obſtructed the Faith even of the little Remnant, which belonged to the Election of Grace; partly becauſe he knew the time would ſhortly come, when the Deſtruction of their Temple, and their excluſion from their own Land, would render it impoſſible for them to obſerve this Law, and the Severity of divine Judgments on them would convince them, as it did ſome, that (f) God had utterly caſt off that Nation, from being any more his People.

Ver. 26, 27. Διαγγέλλων τὴν ἐκπλήρωσιν τῶν ἡμερῶν τοῦ ἁγνισμοῦ, Signifying the Accompliſhment of the days of Purification.] i.e. Not ſignifying that thoſe days were already accompliſhed, for that is contrary to the following Verſe, which ſhews that Paul was apprehended in the Temple before the ſeven days were ended, or as the Greek may be rendred, as they were about to be accompliſhed; but as Grotius well notes, ſignifying by that Action that he would accompliſh ſeven days of Purification, even to the time that the Sacrifices were to be offered for them, with whom he had thus joined in this Purification; for whereas ſome would evade this, by ſaying, that the ſeven days mentioned ver. 27. were the ſeven days wherein thoſe Sacrifices were to be performed, that is contrary to the Law, which appoints the ſame day in which they ſhaved their Heads, and ſo concluded their Purification, for the Oblation of their Offerings, Numb. 6. 13, 14.

But here it may reaſonably be enquired how the Apoſtle who knew that our Saviour by his Death had aboliſhed the Hand writing of Ordinances, and taken it out of the way, Eph. 2. 15. Coloſ. 2. 14. that Chriſtians were dead to the Law by the Body of Chriſt, Rom. 7. 4. that the Jewiſh Sacrifices were only to continue till the time of Reformation, Heb. 9. 10. and that Chriſt had taken away theſe Sacrifices by the Sacrifice of himſelf, Chap. 10. 9. ſhould yet ſubmit to theſe Rites, and make Proviſion for theſe Sacrifices. To this it may be anſwered, (1.) That the Vow of Nazaritiſm being only a ſtricter ſort of Separation of themſelves from all Pollution to the Service of God, and to be holy, and free from all kind of Defilement, ſeems very well conſiſtent with the Deſign and Spirit of Chriſtianity. (2.) Obſerve, that the Offerings of the Temporary Nazarite, at the Completion of his Vow, being a Burnt-offering, a Sin-offering, and a Peace-offering, Numb. 6. 14. and two of theſe being not Sacrifices appointed to expiate Sin, but Offerings of Thankſgiving to God, who had enabled them to perform their Vow, and of acknowledgment of God's Sovereign Dominion; and the advice here being not perſonally to make, or preſent theſe Offerings, but only to purifie himſelf, καὶ δαπανᾶν ἐπ' αὐτοῖς, to help the Nazarites in bearing ſome part of the Charges of theſe Offerings; which, ſaith Maimonides, others might help the Nazarites to do; This Action ſeems to have little or nothing inconſiſtent with the Doctrine of St. Paul. But, 3*dly*, Though St. Paul knew theſe Conſtitutions were not now obliging in themſelves, yet ſeeing they were Rites belonging to that Temple which was yet ſtanding, and God had not, by any expreſs Declaration made to the Jews, prohibited the continuance of them, St. Paul might lawfully ſubmit to this compliance with them, to prevent the ſcandal of the unbelieving Jews, which might divert them from that Chriſtianity they had embraced, and to promote their Salvation by his preaching Chriſt unto them; for upon this account he circumciſed Timothy, Acts 16. 3. and to the Jew became as a Jew, that he might gain the Jew, to them that were under the Law as under the Law, that he might gain them that were under the Law, 1 Cor. 9. 20. Whence we may learn what great condeſcenſion in leſſer Matters may be uſed for the promotion of the Salvation of others.

Ver. 31. And as they went about to kill him;] to wit, with the Rebels beating, which, ſaith Dr. Lightfoot here, was Stripes without meaſure, even unto Death, and that without judicial Proceeding; and this they did, either as preſuming that he had brought an uncircumciſed Perſon within the Sept of the Temple, which was, ſaith (g) Philo, preſent Death; or, becauſe they conceiv'd he had ſpoken againſt the Law and the Temple, for which cauſe they before had ſtoned Stephen. i

Ver. 38. Art not thou that Egyptian that before theſe Days leddeſt out four thouſand men which were Murtherers?] It ſeems to be a Miſtake in Grotius and others, to ſay, the Egyptian mentioned by Joſephus, was later than theſe times; for it is apparent from Joſephus, both in his Antiquities, l. 20. c. 6. and his Hiſtory of the Jewiſh Wars, that this Egyptian did this in the firſt or ſecond Year of Nero, whereas Paul came not to Jeruſalem till the fourth of Nero. But whereas here are mentioned only four thouſand; and by Euſebius in his Chronicle, three thouſand; Joſephus, and out of him, Euſebius, ſay, that he gathered περὶ τρισμυρίους, about thirty thouſand: To this ſome ſay, that in the Wilderneſs they increaſed to that number; others, that of this number only four thouſand were Sicarii, Murtherers; I had rather ſay, that τρισμύριοι in Joſephus, only ſignifies three thouſand; for he tells us, De Bell. Jud. l. 2. c. 23. that the Egyptian fled with a few; and that πλεῖστοι τῶν μετ' αὐτοῦ, moſt of thoſe that were with him were taken, and yet ſaith, that only four hundred of them were killed, and two hundred were taken. 17. And (accordingly) it came to paſs, that when I was come again to Jeruſalem, even while I prayed in the Temple, (Gr. and it hapned to me returning to Jeruſalem, and praying in the Temple, that) I was (Gr. to be) in a Trance (or Ecſtaſie,)

18. And ſaw him (Gr. and to ſee, i. e. f perceive him,) ſaying to me, make haſte and get thee quickly out of Jeruſalem, for they will not receive thy Teſtimony concerning me.

19. [g] And I ſaid, Lord, (it is wonderful g that they ſhould not receive my Teſtimony, ſeeing) they know that (formerly) I impriſoned and beat in every Synagogue them that believed in thee.

20. And (that) when the Blood of thy Martyr Stephen was ſhed, I alſo was ſtanding by, and conſenting to his death, and kept the Raiment of them that ſlew him.

21. And (but) he ſaid to me, (Argue not, but) depart; for I will ſend thee far hence to the Gentiles.

22. And they gave him audience to (i. e. until) this Word, and (then they) lift (ed) up their Voices, and ſaid, Away with ſuch a Fellow from the Earth; for it is not fit that he ſhould live.

23. And as they cryed out, and [h] caſt off h their Cloaths (as Perſons ready to ſtone him, Chap. 5. 57.) and threw Duſt into the Air, (to ſhew their Rage againſt him.)

24. [i] The chief Captain commanded him i to be brought into the Caſtle, and bad that he ſhould be examined by ſcourging, that (by his confeſſion) he might know wherefore they cried ſo againſt him.

25. And as they bound him with Thongs, (in order to the ſcourging of him,) Paul ſaid to the Centurion that ſtood by, Is it lawful for you to ſcourge a Man that is a Roman, and (is) uncondemned?

26. When the Centurion heard (this,) he went and told the chief Captain, ſaying, Take heed what thou doeſt, for this Man is a Roman.

27. Then the chief Captain came, and ſaid to him, Tell me, Art thou a Roman? (and) he ſaid, Yea.

28. And the chief Captain anſwered, k [k] With a great Sum (of Money) obtained k I this Freedom (of a Citizen of Rome;) and Paul ſaid, But I was Free-born, (viz. in a City which had this Privilege, and ſo needed not to acquire it by Money.)

29. Then ſtraightway they departed from him which ſhould have examined him; and the chief Captain alſo was afraid, after he knew that he was a Roman; and (he thus feared) becauſe he had bound him, (in order to the ſcourging him)

30. On the morrow, becauſe he would have known the certainty wherefore he was accuſed of the Jews, he looſed him from his Bonds, and commanded the chief Prieſts, and all their Council to appear, and brought Paul down (from the Caſtle,) and ſet him before them.

Note alſo, that this Gamaliel was ſo far from being well affected to Chriſtianity, that ſome of the Jewiſh Writings ſay, he added to their daily Prayers, that which they uſed in their Synagogues againſt the progreſs of Chriſtianity called the Prayer againſt Hereticks. See Lightf. Hor. Hebr. in Matth. 6. 9. By this Gamaliel, ſaith he, was I taught according to the Exactneſs of the Law of our Fathers, being by Sect a Phariſee, and very skilful in the Traditions pretended to be delivered to us from our Fore-fathers, Gal. 1. 14. See Note on Chap. 26. 5. And I was, ſaith he, ζηλωτὴς Θεοῦ, zealous towards God, as ye all are; now they being not all of the Sect of the Zealots which obtained then among them, this Phraſe cannot neceſſarily import, that St. Paul was of that Sect.

I have in the Notes on Chap. 9. of this Book, given the Expoſition of this Hiſtory, and ſhall here ſtabliſh the truth of it, and conſequently of that Faith to which he was converted. In order to this End, let us conſider.

1*ſt*, Who St. Paul was before this wonderful Converſion; and here the Scripture doth inform us, that his Education was in the Schools of Tarſus, from thence he came to the Univerſity at Jeruſalem, for the ſtudy of Divinity and of the Jewiſh Law; his Tutor was Gamaliel, a Man of ſpecial note among the People; he was by his Profeſſion, of the moſt ſtrict and the moſt exact Sect of the Phariſees, a Sect of all Men moſt eſtranged from, and enraged againſt Chriſtianity: And for the truth of this, St. Paul appeals to the whole Jewiſh Nation in theſe words, My manner of Life from my Youth, which was at the firſt among mine own Nation at Jeruſalem, know all the Jews, which know from the beginning, if they would teſtifie, that after the moſt ſtrict Sect of our Religion, I lived a Phariſee; by practice and employment, he was an early, zealous, and induſtrious Perſecutor of the Profeſſors of the Chriſtian Faith. When Stephen, the firſt Martyr periſhed by Law, or by Judicial Sentence, Saul was conſenting to his Murther; being inflamed by this Zeal, he inſtantly proceeds to make great havock in the Church, entring into every Houſe, and haling Men and Women into Priſon, breathing out Threatnings and Slaughter againſt the Diſciples of the Lord; he obtains Letters from the High Prieſt and Elders of Jeruſalem, or a Commiſſion, if he found any of this way, whether, Men, or Women, to bring them bound to Jeruſalem, to be there ſentenced by the Sanhedrim, ver. 2. and in purſuance of this Commiſſion, he perſecutes Chriſtians to the death, binding and delivering up unto it Men and Women, he puniſhed them oft in the Synagogues, and compelled them to blaſpheme; and being exceeding mad againſt them, he perſecuted them to ſtrange Cities. And for the truth of theſe particulars, he ſolemnly appeals to thoſe Chief Prieſts and Elders, from whom he had received his Commiſſion; for of this, ſaith he, the High Prieſts can bear me witneſs, and all the Eſtates of the Elders. Yea, 'twas a thing notorious to all that heard him preach that Faith which he had formerly deſtroyed; for they were all amazed at it, and ſaid, Is not this he that deſtroyed them that called on this Name in Jeruſalem, and who came hither for this intent, that he might bring them bound to the chief Prieſts? So that he was by Education, by Profeſſion, by Employment, as fully prejudiced againſt the Chriſtian Faith as any of the Jews could be. And therefore, tho' he was not, as St. Auſtin, and ſome others ſay, converted by an irreſiſtible Force, or ſuch a Violence as took away the Freedom of his Will, for then he could not have been diſobedient to the heavenly Viſion, ſince there can be no diſobedience to, where there is no reſiſtance of the Will of God; yet was it wrought in that ſtupendous manner, and with that ſignal evidence which could not be reſiſted without wilful Sin, and obſtinate Perverſeneſs; for,

1*ſt*, This Scene was opened with an heavenly Light, tranſcending that of the Meridian Sun; now this was by the Jews ſtill look'd on as the Symbol of a divine, and glorious Preſence, and is in Scripture often ſtiled Shechinah, the Majeſtick Preſence, and the Glory of God; wherefore both Saul, and his Companions fell on their Faces, not only through the Terror of this Light, but alſo as it was an indication of the appearance of ſome divine and glorious Perſon to them, it being uſual both for the Patriarchs, and Jews, to fall flat on their Faces at ſuch a glorious appearance; for ſo did Abraham, Gen. 17. 3. ſo did the Jews Lev. 9. 24. ſo did Moſes and Aaron, when the Glory of the Lord appeared to them, Numb. 29. 6. ſo did Balaam, Numb. 22. 31. Joſhua, Joſh: 5. 14. Manoah and his Wife, Judg. 13. 20. David and all the Elders, 1 Chron. 21. 16. Ezekiel Chap. 1. 8. and Daniel, Chap. 8. 17.

2*dly*, He hears a Voice directed from this ſhining Cloud, and ſaying to him, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? and giving him aſſurance that it was Jeſus of Nazareth who then appeared to him, and who complained that he was perſecuted by him in all the Cruelties which he inflicted on the living Members of his Body; ſo that he could no longer queſtion either the Reſurrection, or Aſcenſion of the Holy Jeſus, or his Advancement to the right Hand of Glory.

3*dly*, He by the Glory of this Light is ſtruck ſtark blind, and ſo continues till one of Chriſt's Diſciples comes and lays his Hands upon him, and in the Name of Jeſus reſtoreth his loſt ſight unto him; he prays to him he had ſo lately perſecuted, and doth in anſwer to that Prayer, receive a Viſion of that very Perſon who ſhould reſtore unto him his loſt ſight; he laſtly is baptized in the Name of Jeſus, and with that Baptiſm receives a plentiful effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt; ſo that he had the greateſt evidence imaginable both of the Preſence, and the Power of the Holy Jeſus, and of the glorious things which were performed in his Name, and were vouchſafed to the Profeſſors of the Faith of Chriſt. Now for the truth of theſe Particulars, that in his Journey to Damaſcus that glorious Light appeared, and a Voice ſpake unto him, all his Companions, whoſe Eyes beheld that Light, and whoſe Ears heard that Voice, could teſtifie: That for a Seaſon he was blind, both they who led him to Damaſcus, and the whole Family of Judas where he lodged, muſt be ſufficient witneſſes, that he was afterwards reſtored to his ſight, the ſame Perſons could atteſt; that he was thereupon converted to the Chriſtian Faith, all they, who to their admiration heard him preach that Faith, which before he had laboured to deſtroy, muſt know. Moreover, had not this Perſecutor been turned to a Promoter of the Chriſtian Faith, why were the Jews ſo vehemently incenſed againſt him? Why do they lie in wait to kill him even in the place of his Converſion? Why do they watch the Gates continually that he might not eſcape their bloody Hands? Why were the Helleniſts of Jeruſalem ſtill thirſting for his Blood? Why do even forty of them bind themſelves under a Curſe, that they would neither eat nor drink, till they had killed Paul? Why do they with ſuch Violence cry out, away with ſuch a Fellow from the Earth, it is not fit that he ſhould live? Why was it that the Chief Prieſts and Elders, and all the Multitude of the Jews were ſo deſirous of his Death, crying out before all the Roman Governors, that he ought not to live any longer? This ſure is Evidence ſufficient that he whom they commiſſionated to perſecute the Chriſtian Faith, was now become a Convert to, and an induſtrious Promoter of it; and hence alſo it muſt be evident, that he who ſpake unto him was no other than the Holy Jeſus; that upon his Converſion he received the Gifts, and the miraculous Operations of the Holy Ghoſt, muſt be apparent from the Tongues he ſpake, the Miracles he did for Confirmation of that Faith; that his ſight was recovered by the Name of Jeſus, as it depends upon the Teſtimony of Ananias, ſo is that Ananias declared to be a devout Man according to the Law, having a good report of all the Jews that lived at Damaſcus, and ſo a Witneſs, againſt whom thoſe Jews could make no juſt exception; and ſurely the Converſion of a Perſon ſo fully prejudiced againſt the Chriſtian Faith, to that Faith he did ſo vehemently oppoſe, and perſecute, by ſuch a viſible appearance of this very Jeſus to him, with ſuch glorious Circumſtances, the ſight which was reſtored to him by one of his Diſciples, the Effuſion of the Holy Ghoſt upon him when baptized, whereby he was enabled to preach the Goſpel with Demonſtration of the Spirit, and with Power, muſt give ſufficient Demonſtration not only of the e Ver. 16. Ἐπικαλεσάμενος τὸ ὄνομα τ Κυρίε, Calling upon the Name of the Lord.] Here Grotius would have us read αὐτᾶ, his Name, and refer this, not to Chriſt, but to God the Father, mentioned ver. 14. whereas even Woltzogenius here ſaith, we are to underſtand Jeſus Chriſt, of whom here mention is made both in the antecedent, and ſubſequent words; and this is evident from the Interpretation of Ananias, who, to prevent ſuch a miſtake, ſaith, ὁ Κύριος, the Lord even Jeſus, who was ſeen of thee, hath ſent me to thee, Chap. 9. 17. and having told us that Chriſtians were Perſons who called upon the Name of Chriſt, ver. 14. we have reaſon to conceive that he adviſeth Paul thus to profeſs, and ſhew he was a Chriſtian; and hence the Inference of (d) Chryſoſtom from this place is this, that by theſe words he ſhews that Chriſt was God, becauſe it is not lawful to invoke any beſides God.

f Ver. 18. Καὶ ἰδεῖν αὐτὸν, and to ſee him;] That is, ſaith Grotius, an Angel inſtead of Chriſt; but this is plainly contrary to the Text both here, and Chap. 26. for here the Promiſe made to him is, that he ſhould ſee that Juſt One, and hear the Words of his Mouth, ver. 14. and there 'tis ſaid, that he would appear to him to teach him what he was to preach, ver. 16. And therefore here Paul calls him Lord, ver. 19. and elſewhere ſaith, am I not an Apoſtle, have I not ſeen the Lord Jeſus Chriſt? 1 Cor. 9. 1.

g Ver. 19. And I ſaid, Lord, they know that I impriſoned and beat in every Synagogue them that believed in thee;] i. e. Lord, my former Zeal againſt thoſe that believed in thee is ſo well known to them all by ſo many remarkable inſtances ſhewed among them, that ſure they muſt be convinced that it is upon ſome certain, and irreſiſtible Grounds of Perſuaſion, that I am now become a Preacher of that Faith I formerly deſtroyed, and perſecuted with ſo great Zeal, and ſo I am apt to think they ſhould more diligently attend to the Narrative I give of my wonderful Change, and to the Reaſons I now offer to confirm the Truth of the Chriſtian Faith.

h Ver. 23. And as they caſt off their Cloaths, and threw Duſt into the Air.] They caſt off their Cloaths, as in the inſtance of St. Stephen, Chap. 7. 58. that they might be the more ready to ſtone him; and they threw Duſt into the Air, to ſhew their Rage againſt him, and their Abhorrence of him as of a Perſon not fit to be converſed with any longer, it being uſual to teſtifie this by ſhaking the Duſt from their Feet, Luke 9. 5. Acts 13. 35.

Ver. 24. The chief Captain commanded i μάστιξιν ἀνετάζεσθαι αὐτὸν, to examin him by ſcourging.] Ἀνετάζειν is to examine by way of Torment, to find out, or cauſe Men to confeſs a Crime; ſo in Heſychius and Phavorinus ἐτάζεσθαι is κρίνεσθαι καὶ βασανίζεσθαι, to be puniſhed, and tormented, and ἔξετασις is βασανισμὸς, torment. So Gen. 12. 17. καὶ ἤτασεν ὁ Θεὸς τ Φαραὼ ἐτασμοῖς, God plagued Pharaoh with great Plagues; and Eſth. 2. 22. the King ἤτασε, examined, or tormented the two Eunuchs. So the wicked ſay of the righteous, βασάνῳ ἐτάσωμεν αὐτὸν, let us try him with Torments, Wiſd. 2. 19. and the Author of that Book, Chap. 6. 6. that the mighty δυνατῶς ἐταθήσονται ſhall be mightily tormented; and in the Son of Syrac, Chap. 23. 9. οἰκέτης ἐξεταζόμενος, is a Servant that was beaten. This Examination was uſed by the Romans, and by other Nations to force them who were thus ſcourged, to confeſs what they had done, why, and who were conſcious to the Fact, as (e) Tacitus ſaith of Herennius Gallus, that he received Stripes that they might know, quo pretio, & quibus conſciis prodidiſſet exercitum, at what price, and with what Confederates he betrayed the Roman Army. (3.) They who were thus ſcourged had their Arms extended, and their Bodies tied to a Pillar, as (f) Lypſius ſhews, and thus here they ſeem προτείνειν, to ſtretch out St. Paul's Body to the Whip and Scourge. (4.) This Puniſhment of Scourging, not with Rods, but μάστιξι καὶ ἱμᾶσι, with Whips and Thongs, as here, was not uſed to a Roman, but to Strangers only, on which account Cicero in his Oration pro Rabirio, ſpeaks againſt Labienus thus, Porcia Lex virgas ab omnium Civium corpore amovit, hic miſericors flagella retulit, the Porcian Law permits not a Citizen to be whipt with Rods, but he hath done it with Scourges; and upon this account St. Paul here ſaith, is it lawful for you to ſcourge a Man that is a Roman, and uncondemned? ver. 25.

Ver. 28. With a great ſum of Money ob- k tained I this Freedom, and Paul ſaid, but I was free born.] (g) Dion, and Tacitus inform us, that about the time of Claudius the Rights of a Roman Citizen were bought with little Money, but 'tis more difficult to ſhew how St. Paul came to be free born; Grotius, and le Cl. will not have it to be on the account of his being born in Tarſus, that being no Roman Colony; but it makes fair for the the Opinion of thoſe who think Tarſus had obtained this Freedom through the Favour of ſome Emperor, that (h) Dion Caſſius ſays that they ſo favoured Julius Cæſar in the Civil War, and afterward Octavius, that it obtained the Name, Juliopolis, and was honoured with the greateſt Privileges, and that Dio Chryſoſtom in his Oration ſaith, it received from Cæſar all that Honour and Power which one could give to his Friends, and Companions; but Carthuſianus, and the Gloſs upon 2 Tim. 4. 12. ſay more fully that they received this Freedom becauſe they met the Roman Ambaſſadors with Peace and Crowns, and that then the Father of Paul going out with them received the Penula or Cloak, which St. Paul ſent for, as an Enſign or Mark of a Roman Citizen.

CHAP. XXIII.

1. AND Paul, earneſtly beholding the a Council, ſaid, Men and Brethren [a] I have lived in all good Conſcience before God until this Day.

2. And the High-Prieſt Ananias commanded them that ſtood by him, to ſmite him on the Mouth.

b 3. Then ſaid Paul to him, [b] God ſhall ſmite thee, thou whited Wall, (i. e. thou Hypocrite,) for ſitteſt thou (as a Magiſtrate) to judge me after the Law, and (yet) commandeſt me to be ſmitten contrary to the Law, (which ſaith, thou ſhalt do no Unrighteouſneſs in Judgment, Lev. 19. 15.)

4. And they that ſtood by, ſaid, Revileſt thou God's High-Prieſt?

c 5. Then ſaid Paul, [c] I wiſt (or knew) not Brethren, that he (who commanded me to be ſmitten) was the High-Prieſt, (the Knowledge of that might haply have reſtrained me from ſpeaking thus;) for it is written, Thou ſhalt not ſpeak evil of the Ruler of thy People.

6. But when Paul perceived (or then Paul knowing) that the one part (of the Council, and of the People) were Sadduces, and the other Phariſees (who aſſerted the Reſurrection of the Body, which the Sadduces denied,) he cried out in the Council, Men and Brethren, I am a Phariſee, the Son of a Phariſee, of (i. e. concerning one of their Do- d ctrines, viz.) [d] the Hope and Reſurrection, (i. e. the hope of the Reſurrection) of the Dead, I am called in Queſtion.

7. And when he had ſo ſaid, there aroſe a Diſſention between the Phariſees, and the Sadduces, and the Multitude was divided.

8. (Theſe Words of St. Paul being a plain Declaration of his Oppoſition to the Doctrine
e of the Sadduces;) [e] for the Sadduces ſay that there is no Reſurrection (of the Body) neither (is there any permanent) Angel, nor Spirit, but the Phariſees confeſs both (Angels and other Spirits remaining after their Seperation from the Body.)

9. And there aroſe (upon this Diſſention) a great Cry, (or Clamor,) and (for) the Scribes which were of the Phariſees part, aroſe and ſtrove (in defence and Juſtification of St. Paul;) ſaying, we find no Evil in this Man, but if a Spirit, or an Angel hath ſpoken to him, let us not fight againſt God.

10. And when there aroſe a great Diſſention, (Gr. and the Diſſention growing great,) the chief Captain fearing leſt Paul ſhould have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the Soldiers to go down, and to take him by force from among them, and to bring him into the Caſtle of (Antonia.)

11. And the night following [f] the Lord f (Jeſus) ſtood by him, and ſaid (to him) Be of good cheer, Paul, for as thou haſt teſtified of me at Jeruſalem [g] ſo muſt thou g bear witneſs alſo (of me) at Rome.

12. And when it was day, certain of the Jews banded together, [h] and bound themh ſelves under a Curſe, ſaying, (with an Imprecation) that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.

13. And they were more than forty (Perſons,) who had made this Conſpiracy (againſt him, out of Zeal to their Religion.)

14. And (the better to accompliſh it,) they came to the Chief Prieſts, and Elders, (Men as zealous for his Deſtruction as themſelves, Chap. 25. 15.) and ſaid (to them,) we have bound our ſelves under a great Curſe, that we will eat nothing till we have ſlain Paul.

15. Now therefore ye with the (whole) Council ſignifie (your Requeſt) to the chief Captain, that he (would) bring him down to you to morrow, as tho' you would enquire ſomething more perfectly concerning him, and we, or ever, (i. e. before) he come neat (to the Council,) are ready to kill him.

16. And when Paul's Siſter's Son heard of their lying in wait, he went, and entred (Gr. being preſent, and entring) into the Caſtle, and (Gr. He) told Paul.

i 17. [i] Then Paul called one of the Centurions to him, and ſaid, Bring this young Man to the chief Captain, for he hath a certain thing to tell him.

18. So he took him, and brought him to the chief Captain, and ſaid, Paul the Priſoner called me to him, and prayed me to bring this young Man to thee, who hath ſomething to ſay to thee.

19. Then the chief Captain took him by the Hand, and went (with him) aſide privately, and asked him, What is it that thou haſt to tell me?

20. And he ſaid, (certain of) the Jews have agreed to deſire thee, (by interceſſion of the Council,) that thou wouldeſt bring down Paul to morrow to the Council, as if they would enquire ſomething of him more perfectly:

21. But do not thou yield (this) to them, for there lie in wait for him of them more than forty Men, who have bound themſelves with an Oath, that they will neither eat, nor drink, till they have killed him, and now are they ready, looking for a Promiſe from thee, (to bring him down.)

22. So the chief Captain let the young Man depart, and charged him, (ſaying,) See thou tell no Man that thou haſt ſhewed theſe things to me.

23. And he called to him two Centurions, ſaying (to them,) Make ready two hundred Soldiers to go to Cæſarea, and Horſemen threeſcore and ten, and Spearmen two hundred, at the third hour of the night,

24. And provide them Beaſts that they may ſet Paul on, and bring him ſafe to Felix the Governor;

25. And he wrote a Letter (to him) after this manner:

26. Claudius Lyſias, to the moſt excellent Governor Felix, ſendeth greeting.

27. This Man (whom I ſend to thee) was taken of the Jews, and ſhould have been killed of them; then came I with an Army, and reſcued him, having underſtood (Gr. this Man taken by the Jews, and being about to be killed by them, I knowing it, with my Army reſcued him, underſtanding) that he was a Roman.

28. And when I would have known (Gr. being willing to know) the cauſe wherefore (for which) they accuſed him, I brought him forth into their Council;

29. Whom I perceived to be accuſed of (i. e. concerning) Queſtions of their Law, but to have nothing laid to his charge worthy of Death, or of Bonds.

30. And when it was told me how that the Jews laid wait for the Man, (or when I was told of a Conſpiracy that would be againſt him from the Jews,) I ſent (him) ſtraightway to thee, and gave Commandment to his Accuſers alſo to ſay before thee what they had (to ſay) againſt him. Farewel.

31. Then the Soldiers, as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris;

32. (And) On the morrow they left the Horſemen to go (on) with him, and (the Foot) returned to the Caſtle;

33. Who (i. e. which Horſemen) when they came to Cæſarea, and delivered the Epiſtle to the Governor, preſented Paul alſo before him.

34. And when the Governor had read the Letter, he asked of what Province he was, and when he underſtood that he was of Cilicia,

35. I will hear thee, ſaid he (to Paul,) when thine Accuſers are alſo come, and he commanded him, (in the mean time) to be kept in Herod's Judgment Hall.

a Ver. 1. I Have lived in all good Conſcience to this day.] Not as a good Conſcience ſignifies a Conſcience void of Error and Offence, for he owns himſelf to have been guilty of great Sin in perſecuting the Church of Chriſt, 1 Tim. 1. 13, 15. but as it ſignifies a Conſcience acting according to his Perſuaſion that he ought to act; and in this ſenſe when he blaſphemed againſt Chriſt, and perſecuted his Church, he did this even through a Perſuaſion, that he ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jeſus, Acts 26. 9, 10. Moreover by ſaying that he lived in all good Conſcience, whilſt he profeſſed Judaiſm, and was, as to the Righteouſneſs of the Law, blameleſs, Phil. 3. 6. he gives them to underſtand that he left not the Religion of the Jews out of any Hardſhips which it did require, or any Prejudice he had againſt the Precepts of it; and by adding that he alſo had lived unblameably in the Profeſſion of the Chriſtian Faith, he intimates that he became, and continued a Chriſtian out of a full Conviction that he was bound in Conſcience ſo to be, and ſo to act, and that he ſtill ſerved God from a pure Conſcience, 2 Tim. 1. 3.

Ver. 5. Οὐκ ἤδειν ὅτι ἐστὶν ὁ ἀρχιερεύς, I wiſt not that he was the High-Prieſt, for it is written, &c.] I am not willing to own that St. Paul, who doubtleſs was filled with the Holy Ghoſt, and had a ſhare in the Promiſe of his Aſſiſtance and Direction, when they came before Governors, ſhould here be guilty of a Tranſgreſſion of the Law, eſpecially when I ſuppoſe him acted by a Prophetick Impulſe; and yet it is not eaſie to put any likely ſenſe upon theſe words by which we can avoid it. We cannot do it according to our Tranſlation, or the Obſervation of ſome Criticks, that οὐκ ἤδειν ſignifies, I conſidered not; for that ſeems plainly to inſinuate, that if he had well conſidered, or weighed his words, he ſhould not have uttered them, as being contrary to the Precept, not to ſpeak evil of the Ruler of the People; which ſurely is to confeſs that he had by them violated that Command, had he conſidered to whom he ſpake. Nor, (2.) According to the Expoſition of Dr. Hammond, for tho' he ſaith he was not truly the High Prieſt, Note on Luke 3. c. yet he confeſſeth that Ananias was then Ruler of the People, and ſo makes St. Paul to ſay in his Paraphraſe, I confeſs I did amiſs; Dr. Lightfoot and Grotius think as I do, that St. Paul does not go about to excuſe his miſtake, but rather ſaith, I know well enough that God's High-Prieſt is not to be reviled, but that this Ananias is an High-Prieſt I know not, i. e. I do not own him as ſuch, who hath procured this Title by Bribery; our celebrated (a) Rabbins having declared that ſuch a one is neither a Judge, nor to be honoured as ſuch; in which ſenſe the blind Man ſaith of Chriſt, to the Phariſees, that he is a Sinner, οὐκ οἶδα, I know not, John 9. 25. and this he might ſay, becauſe the High-Prieſt had not then on him thoſe Robes peculiar to him by which he was diſtinguiſhed from other Prieſts. Or (2.) The latent ſenſe may be this, the Prophetick Impulſe that was upon me, and inwardly moved me thus to ſpeak, permitted me not to advert that it was the High-Prieſt, leſt that Law I mention might have reſtrained me from complying with that Impulſe; and it is certain from the Example of Chriſt ſtiling Herod, Fox, Luke 13. 32. and of St. Paul calling Nero, Lion, 2 Tim. 4. 17. and acknowledged by the Jews, that he who acted as a Prophet was not under the Obligation of this Precept, as others were, but St. Paul ſpeaks ſo obſcurely becauſe, ſaith Grotius, he knew he would find no Credit for them in this Aſſertion.

Ver. 6. For the Hope and Reſurrection of the Dead I am called in Queſtion;] That is, for the Hope of the Reſurrection of the Dead; ſo χάρις καὶ ἀποστολή, is the Grace of Apoſtleſhip, ζωὴ καὶ πνοή, the Breath of Life, Acts 17. 25. See Glaſſius Philol. 1. l. 3. tr. de nom. but then it is enquired why St. Paul here ſaith he was called in queſtion for this Hope in general, and Chap. 24. 15.—26. 6. repeats the ſame thing, when he was only called in queſtion concerning the Reſurrection of the Lord Jeſus; now the reaſon of this will appear from this Obſervation, that before our Saviour's Paſſion the Doctrine which he preached being chiefly levelled againſt the vain Traditions of the Scribes and Phariſees, and his Woes denounced againſt them, they ſtill appear in oppoſition to him, the Sadduces being ſcarce ever mentioned as his Adverſaries; but after his Reſurrection the Teſtimony of the Apoſtles being this, that Chriſt was riſen from the Dead, and ſo directly contrary to that which diſtinguiſhed the Sadduces from the Phariſees, we find them moſt forward to oppoſe their Teſtimony; then the Sadduces came upon them being grieved that they preached the Reſurrection of the Dead through Jeſus, Chap. 4. 1, 2. then the High-Prieſt, and all the Sect of the Sadduces were filled with Zeal againſt them, Chap. 5. 17. the Scribes which were of the Sect of the Phariſees rather ſiding with St. Paul in this matter. Another reaſon why St. Paul thus mixed theſe things together, might be this, that the Apoſtles teſtified the Reſurrection of the Dead through Jeſus, Acts 4. 2. and taught that God would raiſe us up by Jeſus, 1 Theſſ. 4. 14. and ſo the Proof of the one, viz. that Chriſt was riſen, was a Confirmation of the general Reſurrection.

Ver. 8. The Sadduces ſay there is no Reſurrection, neither Angel, nor Spirit.] That the Sadduces did not believe the Reſurrection of the Body, as all the (b) Ancient Chriſtians plainly do aſſert, ſo this Scripture, and Matth. 22. 23. plainly teſtifie. (2.) They ſaid, that after the giving of the Law at leaſt, there was no Angel; and that when they are ſaid to appear ſo often in the Law of Moſes, they were framed for that purpoſe, and after ceaſed to have any Being; for otherwiſe it is hard to conceive, how they could believe the Law of Moſes, and yet deny that Angels ever did exiſt. And, (3.) When they are ſaid to deny any Spirits, this is not to be ſo underſtood, as if they denied God to be a Spirit, or that there was any Spirit of Man within him, but as (c) Joſephus teſtifies, they denied τὴν ψυχῆς τὴν διαμονὴν, the permanency of the Soul after Death; and ſo they denied any Spirits ſeparated from Bodies which could appear, or reveal any thing to them: The Phariſees held the contrary, as is apparent from theſe words, ver. 9. If an Angel or Spirit hath ſpoken to him; Of ſuch Apparitions, believed by the Apoſtles, we have mention Luke 24. 37. Matth. 14. 26. and the Jews believed, that Samuel thus appeared to Saul, and Elias frequently to them, the Sadducees denying all ſuch Apparitions.

f Ver. 11. The Lord ſtood by him;] Per Angelum, by an Angel, ſaith Grotius, without all ground, an Angel never being ſtiled ὁ Κύριος, the Lord in the New Teſtament, but only the Angel of the Lord, Mat. 1. 20. —2. 13.—19. 21.— 28. 2. Luke 1. 11.—2. 9. Acts 5. 19. — 8. 26. — 12. 7, 23. and ſaid θάρσει Παῦλε, be of good courage, Paul; for as when thou teſtifiedſt of me in Jeruſalem, and they went about to kill thee, Acts 9. 29, 30. I delivered thee; ſo will I alſo deliver thee from the Gentiles at Rome, according to my Promiſe made to thee, Acts 26. 17.

Ibid. Δεῖ σε καὶ εἰς Ῥώμην μαρτυρῆσαι, Thou muſt teſtifie of me at Rome.] Here is an inſtance of a Divine Appointment, without any neceſſity laid upon the Will of Paul; whoſe Appeal to Cæſar was only made as an Expedient to preſerve him from the Rage of the Jews, Acts 25. 11, 24.—28. 19. and ſo was only a matter of Prudence, and not of abſolute Neceſſity.

Ver. 12. Who bound themſelves under a Curſe.] It was a thing too common among the Zealots of the Jews, to cut off, without any judicial Proceſs, thoſe whom they look'd upon as Tranſgreſſors of their Laws, and Enemies to the Jews. (d) Joſephus informs us, that they committed infinite Slaughters, τὰ μέγιστα κακῶν ἀγαθὰ νομίζοντες, thinking the vileſt things were good when done by them. And (e) Philo ſpeaks of ſome among them οἱ ὀμνύουσιν τρώματα καὶ φονὰς, who ſwore to wound and kill others, καὶ ἀνυπερθέτως αὐτὰ δρῶσι, and did ſo without delay; and that the Chief Prieſts and Sanhedrim approved of ſuch Murthers done out of ſuch pernicious Deſigns, we learn from their confident Addreſs to them, ver. 14, 15. and their conſent to the Fact, ver. 20. plainly proving by their lying and murtherous Diſpoſitions, that they were Children of the Devil, John 8. 44. See Chap. 25. 2, 3.

Ver. 17. Then Paul called one of the Centurions, &c.] Hence it appears, that even after a Promiſe of our Safety, ſee Note on ver. 11. we ought not to neglect any honeſt means of our preſervation, tho' it be to be accompliſhed by our Addreſſes to Men alien from the Faith.

CHAP. XXIV.

1. AND after five Days, Ananias the High Prieſt deſcended with the Elders, and with a certain Orator, named Tertullus, a who informed the Governor (Gr. ſhewed themſelves to the Governor) againſt Paul.

2. And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuſe him, ſaying (to the Governour,) b Seeing that by thee we enjoy great Quietneſs, and that very worthy Deeds are done to this Nation by thy Providence:

3. We accept it always, and in all places, moſt noble Felix, with all Thankfulneſs.

4. Notwithſtanding that I be not (Gr. but that I may not be) farther tedious to thee, I pray thee that thou wouldſt hear us of thy clemency a few words:

5. For we have found this Man a peſtilent Fellow, and a Mover of Sedition among all the Jews throughout the World, and a Ring-leader of the Sect (called from one Jeſus of Nazareth, the Sect) of the Nazarens:

6. Who alſo hath gone about to prophane the Temple (of Jeruſalem, by bringing into it Heathens, Chap. 21. 28.) whom we (therefore) took, c and would have judged according to our Law.

7 But the chief Captain Lyſias came upon us, and with great violence took him away out of our hands;

8. Commanding his Accuſers to come to thee, by examining of whom (thou) thy ſelf mayſt take knowledge of all thoſe things whereof we accuſe him.

9. And the Jews alſo aſſented (to this accuſation,) ſaying, That theſe things were ſo.

10. Then Paul, after that the Governor had beckned to him to ſpeak, anſwered, Forafmuch as I know that thou haſt been for many Years a Judge to this Nation, (and ſo canſt not be ignorant of the things belonging to Chriſtianity, or to the Jews,) I do the more chearfully anſwer for my ſelf (before thee:)

11. Becauſe that thou mayſt underſtand, that there are yet but twelve days ſince I went up to Jeruſalem to worſhip;

12. And (ſince my coming thither,) they neither found me in the Temple, diſputing with any Man, nor (have they found me) raiſing up the People, (Gr. making a Sedition among the Multitude,) neither in the Synagogues, or in the City:

13. Neither can they prove (any other of) the things whereof they now accuſe me.

14. But (as for that part of their Accuſation which relates to the Sect of the Nazarens,) this I confeſs unto thee, that [d] after the way which they call Hereſie, ſo worſhip I the God of my Fathers, (viz. through Jeſus Chriſt,) believing all things which are written in the Law and the Prophets (concerning him.)

15. And I have hope towards God (in God,) which they themſelves alſo allow, that there ſhall be a Reſurrection from the Dead, [e] both of the Juſt and of the Unjuſt.

16. And herein (therefore) do I exerciſe my ſelf to have always a Conſcience void of Offence, toward God and toward Men.

17. Now [f] after many Years (from my Converſion,) I came to bring Alms to my Nation, and Offerings (from the Chriſtians of Macedonia and Achaia, Rom. 15. 26.)

18. Whereupon certain Jews (that came) from Aſia, found me purified in the Temple, (after the manner of their Nazarites, Acts 21. 24, 26. and in compliance with the Law of Moſes concerning them that had a Vow upon them, as then I had, Chap. 18. 18. but I was there,) neither with Multitude, (i. e. concourſe of any to prophane the Temple, as they imagined, Chap. 21. 23.) nor with (any) tumult (made by me whilſt I was there:)

19. Who (being my Accuſers,) ought to have been here before thee, and object (it, as doubtleſs they would do,) if they had ought againſt me.

20. Or elſe let theſe ſame here, (who have aſſented to the Accuſation of Tertullus, ver. 9.) ſay, [g] if they have found any Evil-doing in me, whilſt I ſtood before the Council.

21. Except it be (their pleaſure to accuſe me,) for this one Voice, that I cryed ſtanding among them, (viz. That) touching the Reſurrection of the Dead, I am called in queſtion by you this day.

22. And when Felix heard theſe things, [h] having (as being many Years a Judge of that Nation, ver. 9.) more perfect knowledge of that way, (Gr. τῆ ὁδῷ of the way of Chriſtianity,) he deferr'd (the farther hearing of) them, and ſaid, When Lyſias the chief Captain ſhall come down (to Cæſarea,) I will know the uttermoſt of your Matter; (Gr. I ſhall know the Buſineſs between you.)

23. And (then) he commanded a Centurion to keep Paul, and to let him have liberty (from his Bonds,) and that he ſhould forbid none of his acquaintance to Miniſter, or come to him.

24. And after certain days, when Felix came with his Wife Druſilla, which was a Jeweſs, (who had left her Husband Azizus King of the Emiſſeni, and had married Felix, an uncircumciſed Perſon, contrary to the Law;) he ſent for Paul, and heard him concerning the Faith of Chriſt.

25. And as he (Paul) reaſoned of [i] Righteouſneſs, Temperance, (Gr. Juſtice and Continence,) and (of) Judgment to come, Felix trembled, and anſwered, Go thy way for this time; (and) when I have a convenient ſeaſon, I will call for thee.

26. He hoped alſo, (being a taker of Bribes,) that Money ſhould have been given him of Paul, that he might looſe him (from his Chain;) wherefore he ſent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27. But [k] after two Years (not of the Government of Felix, ver. 10. but of St. Paul's Impriſonment,) Portius Feſtus came into Felix's Room, and Felix (being) willing to ſhew the Jews a Pleaſure, left Paul bound.

Annotations on Chap. XXIV.

a Ver. 1. "Οιτινες ἐνεφάνισαν τῷ ἡγεμόνι, Who inform'd the Governour.] This word anſwers to the Hebrew יצג, as it in Hiphel ſignifies to make known, ſhew, declare, appear, and where a Dative Caſe follows, an Accuſative is to be underſtood, and is moſt frequently added, as when Moſes ſays, Exod. 33. 13. ἐμφάνισόν μοι ϛεαυτὸν, ſhew to me thy ſelf: Thus Eſther, ἐνεφάνισε τῷ βασιλεῖ τὰ τῆς ἐπιβουλῆς, ſhew'd or declar'd the Conſpiracy to the King, Eſth. 2. 22. So John 14. 21. How is it ὅτι ἡμῖν μέλλεις ἐμφανίζειν ϛεαυτὸν, that thou wilt manifeſt thy ſelf to us, and not to the World? And accordingly here, and Chap. 25. 2, 15. ἑαυτὸς is to be underſtood, and the whole ſhould be rendred, who ſhew'd or declar'd themſelves to the Governour againſt Paul; not that they inform'd the Governour; for the Information follows, ver. 5, 6. and ſo our Tranſlators have rendred the word, Chap. 23. 22. and Heb. 11. 14.

b Ver. 2. Πολλῆς εἰρήνης τυγχάνοντες δι' σοῦ, Seeing we enjoy great Peace by thee, &c.] In this, and in the following Verſes, the Orator is guilty of ſordid Flattery and Falſehood; for tho' it be true, that Felix did ſome kindneſs to the Jewiſh Nation in delivering them from the Thieves and the Magicians which infeſted them, as (a) Joſephus doth acknowledge; yet that he otherwiſe was guilty of great Injuſtice towards the Jews, and was on that account accuſed before Nero, by the chief of the Jews dwelling at Cæſarea, and had been puniſhed for his wickedneſs, had not his Brother Pallas, who was then high in favour with Nero, ſuccour'd him, the ſame (b) Joſephus teſtifies. (2.) That St. Paul moved the Jews to Sedition againſt the Government, or that he went about to prophane the Temple, was utterly falſe; See Chap. 21. 28. and ſo was it alſo, that they took him to judge him according to their Law; for they took him by violence, and drew him out of the Temple, and went about to kill him without any judicial Proceſs, Chap. 21. 30, 31.

c Ver. 7. And would have judged him according to our Law.] From this, and from the complaint of Violence uſed by Lyſias in taking Paul out of their hands, it ſeemeth to appear, that the Jews ſtill either had, or claimed a Power of inflicting Death upon capital Offenders againſt their Law.

Ver. 14. After that way which they call Hereſie.] They accuſing St. Paul as a Ring-leader τῆς τῶν Ναζαραίων αἱρέσεως, of the Hereſie of the Nazarens, that is, of the Chriſtians, ſo ſtiled both by Jew and Gentile from their Faith in Jeſus of Nazareth: Now the word αἵρεσις bears often an indifferent ſenſe, both in the Scriptures, as when 'tis ſaid, Acts 15. 5. that ſome Believers were ἐκ τῆς τῶν Φαρισαίων αἱρέσεως, of the Sect of the Phariſees; and when the Jews at Rome enquire of Paul what he thought περὶ τῆς αἱρέσεως ταύτης, of the Sect of Chriſtians, Chap. 28. 22. and when St. Paul ſaith in commendation of himſelf, that he lived κατὰ τὴν ἀκριβεςάτην αἵρεσιν, according to the exacteſt Hereſie of their Religion, Chap. 26. 5. and alſo in the ancient Jewiſh Writers; as when Joſephus gives an account of the three αἱρέσεις Hereſies, or φιλοσοφίας Philoſophical Opinions of the Jews, Antiq. l. 18. c. 2. & de Bello Jud. l. 2. c. 12. yet ſeeing the Prayer againſt the Chriſtians, called Beracoth haminim, if we may credit the Jews, was made by R. Samuel in the time of Gamaliel; and ſeeing (c) Juſtin M. doth inform us, that they very early ſent their Emiſſaries to all Nations againſt the Chriſtians, repreſenting them as αἵρεσιν ἄθεον, καὶ ἄνομον, an atheiſtical and wicked Hereſie, we have reaſon to believe, that in this ſenſe they accuſed St. Paul, as a Ring-leader of the Hereſie of the Nazarens. d

Ver. 15. Both of the Juſt and of the Unjuſt.] This ſeemeth neceſſarily to be added, becauſe the Doctrine of the Phariſees, according to (d) Joſephus, reſtrained the Reſurrection to the Juſt, condemning the Unjuſt to perpetual Torments without any Reſurrection, the entrance into another Body belonging only to the Souls of the Juſt. v. 16. See Additions N°. 28. e

Ver. 17. After many Years I came to bring Alms.] The Alms brought by him from Antioch, Chap. 11. 29, 30. cannot be here intended, they being brought by him and Barnabas, but ſeven Years at moſt after his Converſion; and nothing which he here relates touching Purification, and concerning the Jews of Aſia finding him in the Temple, (28) f g Ver. 21. If they have found any Evil-doing in me while I ſtood before the Council.] Hence it appears, that he thought not he did evil, in ſaying to Ananias the High-Prieſt, God ſhall ſmite thee, &c.

h Ver. 22. Ἀκριβέστερον εἰδὼς τὰ περὶ τῆς ὁδοῦ.] It ſeems to me evident, that theſe words cannot admit the Explication of Grotius, and others, that Felix deferr'd them that he might have a more exact knowledge of Chriſtianity, but that having his Reſidence at Cæſarea, where Cornelius the Centurion and his Friends were converted, where Philip the Evangeliſt dwelt, and where there were many Diſciples, Chap. 21. 8, 16. he became thus acquainted with the way of Chriſtianity.

i Ver. 25. Περὶ δικαιοσύνης καὶ ἐγκρατείας, καὶ τοῦ κρίματος, of Juſtice and Continency, and of the Judgment to come.] Of this Felix (e) Tacitus informs us, that per omnem ſævitiam & libidinem Jus regium ſervili ingenio exercuit, he practiſed all Cruelty and Luſt in his Government, thinking that he might do (f) cuncta malefacta impunè, all Wickedneſs without Puniſhment. And (g) Joſephus informs us of Druſilla, that leaving her Husband King Iſis, ſhe married with an Heathen Felix, doing evil, and tranſgreſſing τὰ πάτρια νόμιμα, the Laws of her Country: To Perſons ſo unjuſt, St. Paul diſcourſeth very appoſitely of Juſtice and Chaſtity, againſt which they had both ſo highly offended, as knowing that it was to little purpoſe to ſpeak to them of Chriſtianity till they forſook theſe Sins; and diſcourſing alſo of a Judgment to come, where Felix could not hope to eſcape unpuniſhed, as here he did, it is no wonder that Felix trembled; and that Druſilla did not ſo alſo, was an Argument of her Jewiſh Confidence, that ſhe might then eſcape by being a Daughter of Abraham.

Ver. 27. Διετίας δὲ πληρωθείσης, But after two Years.] Baronius is here miſtaken, who conceives that theſe two Years are the two firſt Years of Nero's Reign, whereas indeed he continued Procurator, as Biſhop Pearſon ſaith, till the ſixth Year of Nero. The two Years plainly relate to St. Paul's being taken by the Jews in the Temple; and put into the Caſtle by the chief Captain Lyſias, which was, ſaith the ſame Biſhop, in the fourth Year of Nero. k

CHAP. XXV.

1. NOW when Feſtus was come into the (Government of the) Province, after three days he aſcended from Cæſarea to Jeruſalem.

2. Then the High-Prieſt, and the Chief of the Jews informed him againſt Paul, and beſought him;

3. And deſired (Gr. deſiring this) Favour againſt him, that he would ſend for him to a Jeruſalem, (they) [a] laying wait in the way to kill him.

4. But Feſtus anſwered, that Paul ſhould be kept at Cæſarea, and that he himſelf would depart ſhortly thither.

5. Let them therefore, ſaid he, which among you are able, go down with me, and accuſe this Man, if there be any Wickedneſs in him, (for which he ought to be puniſhed by the Roman Laws.)

6. And when he had tarried among them more than ten days, he went down (from Jeruſalem) to Cæſarea, and the next day ſitting in the Judgment-ſeat, (he) commanded Paul to be brought (before him.)

7. And when he was come, the Jews which came down from Jeruſalem ſtood round about, and laid many and grievous Complaints againſt Paul, which they could not prove.

8. While he anſwered for himſelf, (Gr. he apologizing, that) [b] neither againſt the b Law of the Jews, (Acts 28. 17.) nor againſt the Temple, (Chap. 24. 12.) nor yet againſt Cæſar, have I offended any thing at all.

9. But Feſtus (being) willing to do the Jews a pleaſure, anſwered Paul, and ſaid, Wilt thou go up to Jeruſalem, and there be judged of theſe things before me?

10. Then ſaid Paul, I ſtand at Cæſar's Judgment-ſeat, where I (being a Roman) ought to be judged; to the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou very well knoweſt; (they being now unable to prove any Charge they lay againſt me, ver. 7.)

11. For if I be an Offender, (Gr. if indeed I have been unjuſt,) or have committed any thing worthy of Death, I refuſe not to die; but if there be none of theſe things whereof they accuſe me (true, or puniſhable by Death,) [c] no Man may deliver me to c them them (who wait for an opportunity to kill me, ver. 3.) [d] I appeal unto Cæſar.

12. Then Feſtus, when he had [e] conferred with the Council, anſwered, Haſt thou (or, thou haſt) appealed to Cæſar, (and therefore) unto Cæſar ſhalt thou go.

13. And after certain days, King Agrippa, (Tetrarch of Galilee,) and Bernice (his Siſter,) came to Cæſarea to ſalute Feſtus.

14. And when they had been there many days, Feſtus declared Paul's Cauſe to the King, ſaying, There is a certain Man left in Bonds by Felix;

15. About whom, when I was at Jeruſalem, the Chief Prieſts and the Elders of the Jews informed me, deſiring to have Judgment (of Death, ver. 16.) againſt him.

16. To whom I anſwered, (Gr. that) [f] it is not the manner of the Romans to deliver any Man to die, before that he who is accuſed have the Accuſers Face to Face, and have Licenſe to anſwer for himſelf, concerning the Crime laid againſt him.

17. Therefore when they were come hither, without any delay, on the morrow I ſat on the Judgment ſeat, and commanded the Man to be brought forth.

18. Againſt whom when the Accuſers ſtood up, they brought no Accuſation of ſuch things as I ſuppoſed (they would, no charge of Sedition, or of Offence againſt the Roman Laws.)

19. But had certain Queſtions againſt him of their own Superſtition, and of (i. e. concerning) one Jeſus, who was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive (again;)

20. And becauſe I doubted (whether I ought to judge) of ſuch manner of Queſtions, I asked him, whether he would go to Jeruſalem, and there be judged of theſe Matters.

21. But when Paul had appealed to be reſerved to the hearing of Auguſtus, I commanded him to be kept till I might ſend him to Cæſar.

22. Then Agrippa ſaid to Feſtus, I would alſo hear the Man my ſelf; to morrow, ſaid he, thou ſhalt hear him.

23. And on the morrow when Agrippa was come, and Bernice [g] with great Pomp, (or Retinue,) and was entred into the place of hearing, with the chief Captains, and principal Men of the City, at Feſtus's Commandment Paul was brought forth.

24. And Feſtus ſaid, King Agrippa, and all (ye) Men which are here preſent with us, ye ſee this Man about whom all the Multitude of the Jews have dealt with (or beſought) me, both at Jeruſalem, and alſo here, crying (out,) that he ought not to live any longer.

25. But when I found that he had committed nothing worthy of Death, and that he himſelf hath appealed to Auguſtus, I have determined to ſend him.

26. Of whom I have no certain thing to write to my Lord; wherefore I have brought him forth before you, and eſpecially before thee, O King Agrippa, that after Examination had (of him,) I might have ſomewhat to write.

27. For it ſeemeth to me unreaſonable to ſend a Priſoner, and not withal to ſignifie the Crimes laid againſt him.

Annotations on Chap. XXV.

[a] Ver. 3. Laying wait in the way to kill him.] We need not wonder that the High-Prieſt, and chief of the Jews, ſhould be thus bloody minded againſt Paul, when about this time they were arming one againſt the other. For at the latter end of the Procuratorſhip of Felix, (a) Joſephus informs us that there was, τοῖς ἀρχιερεῦσι σάσις πρὸς τοὺς ἱερεῖς, καὶ τοὺς πρώτους τῆ πόλεως ἑκάστους, a Sedition betwixt the High-Prieſts, and the Prieſts, and chief Men of Jeruſalem, and that every one of them gathered a Band of the moſt bold, and ſeditious Men, and became a Leader of them; and that they reviled, and threw Stones at one another, and that the High-Prieſts were ſo impudent, as to ſend their Servants to take away the Tith-corn of the Prieſts, ſo that ſome of them periſhed for hunger.

[b] Ver. 8. Neither againſt the Law of the Jews.] For he had committed nothing againſt the Cuſtoms of their Fathers, Chap. 28. 17. and to the Jew he became as a Jew, 1 Cor. 9. 20. nor againſt the Temple, for he had not prophaned it, or raiſed any Tumult in it, Chap. 24. 18. nor againſt Cæſar, whom he commanded all Men to obey as God's Ordinance, Rom. 13.

[c] Ver. 11. Οὐδείς με δύναται χαρίσασθαι αὐτοῖς, No Man can deliver me to them;] i. e. No Man can juſtly do it; I being not only an innocent Perſon, having done them no wrong, ver. 10. but alſo a Roman, and therefore one who ought to be judged not by them, or their Laws, but at the Tribunal of Cæſar by the Roman Laws. So the word δύναται is often uſed to ſignifie that only which may be lawfully done, as v. g. Exod. 8. 26. ὃ δύναται) γένεσθαι θέμις ἔστω, it is not meet so to do, Deut. 12. 17. ἐξ ἀνώγεω φάγεσαι, thou mayst not eat of it within thy Gates; Acts 10. 47. τὶς δύναται; who can forbid Water? See the Note on Mark 2. 19.

d Ibid. I appeal unto Cæsar.] Hence it appears that St. Paul owned even Nero for his Prince and supreme Governour upon Earth; and, (2.) That in cases of necessity, Christians may have recourse even to Heathen Judicatures, especially when they have to do with Persons who are Aliens from the Faith.

e Ver. 12. Συλλαλήσας μετὰ τοῦ συμβουλίου, Conferring with the Council;] Not with the Council of the Jews, as Chrysostom conceives, for they never would have advised him to admit of St. Paul's Appeal, or to send him to Cæsar out of their Reach; but, as Grotius saith, with his own Roman Council which assisted him.

f Ver. 16. It is not the manner of the Romans to deliver any Man to die before —— he have his Accusers Face to Face, &c. Thus (b) Philo saith of them, that they yielded themselves to be common Judges, hearing equally the Accusers, and Defendants, and condemning no Man unheard. And Appian in Grotius saith the same; this also was the Law of the Jews, to which Nicodemus appealed in the case of Christ, John 7. 51.

Ver. 23. Μετὰ πολλῆς φαντασίας, with great Pomp;] i. e. With a great Train of Attendants, as the word signifies in Laertius, when he saith, (*) Bion had φαντασίᾳ ἀκολουθῆς πολλῆς, a great Train of Mariners following him; or with great Splendor, as when (c) Athenion was carried to Athens in a Chair of State with Silver and Purple Hangings, the People ran out to see the Sight, no Roman ever entring the City ἐν τοσαύτῃ φαντασίᾳ, in so great Splendor; tho' after there is mention of many Servants going before, and following after him, which makes for the first sense. See more Instances of this acceptation of the word in Dr. Bois on the place. See Additions, N°. 29. (29)

CHAP. XXVI.

1. THen Agrippa said to Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thy self: Then Paul stretched forth the hand (to the People to keep silence,) and (then he) answered for himself, (saying,) a 2. [a] I think my self happy, (i. e. I judge it no small advantage to me, and my cause,) King Agrippa, because (that) I shall answer for my self this day before thee, touching all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:

3. Especially, because I know thee to be (not only a Person of a good Temper, and sedate Mind, but also) expert in all Customs and Questions which are among the Jews; wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently.

4. My manner of Life from my Youth, which was at the first among my own Nation at Jerusalem, (where I was bred up at the Feet of Gamaliel, Chap. 22. 3.) know all the Jews,

5. Who knew (this of) me from the beginning, if they would testifie (the truth of b me,) that [b] after the most straitest Sect of our Religion, I lived a Pharisee.

c 6. [c] And now I stand, and am judged for the hope (ἕστηκα κρινόμενος ἐπ' ἐλπίδι, I stand questioned about the hope) of the Promise made of God to our Fathers, (I saying, that it is accomplished by the coming of Jesus Christ; and that this is proved by the Resurrection of him from the dead; they denying his Resurrection, and therefore expecting the accomplishment of this Promise by the coming of some other Person to be their Messiah:)

7. [d] To which Promise (of the Messiah,) our twelve Tribes instantly (or earnestly) serving God day and night, hope (yet) to come; for which hope's sake, (περὶ ἧς ἐλπίδος, concerning which hope,) King Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews, (for saying, that Jesus whom they have crucified, God hath raised from the dead, and that he is the hope of Israel, Chap. 28. 10. some of them saying on the contrary, that there is no Resurrection of the Dead at all; others denying that Christ is risen from the Dead.)

d 8. (Of the first I enquire,) Why should it be thought (τὶ κρίνεται, why is it judged) a thing incredible with you, that God (infinite in Power and Wisdom,) should (be able to) raise the Dead?

9. (As for the second, I was once of their Opinion; for) I verily thought with my self, that I ought to do many things contrary to the Name of Jesus of Nazareth, (i. e. in opposition to those who believed, that he was the Chriſt, and that he was riſen from the Dead.)

10. Which thing I alſo did in Jeruſalem, and many of the Saints, (i. e. the Chriſtians,) did I ſhut up in Priſon, having received Authority from the Chief Prieſts (and Elders of the Jews ſo to do, Chap. 22. 5.) and when they were put to death, I gave my Voice againſt them, (i. e. I, in the inſtance of St. Stephen, approved of the Sentence, Chap. 8. 1.)

11. And I puniſhed them oft in every Synagogue (where I found any of them,) and (by theſe Puniſhments) compell'd them to blaſpheme (the Name of Jeſus;) and being exceedingly mad againſt them, I perſecuted them, (forcing them to fly from Judea,) even to ſtrange Cities.

12. Whereupon, as I went to Damaſcus (the Metropolis of Syria,) with Authority and Commiſſion from the Chief Prieſts, (that if I found any of them there in the Jewiſh Synagogues, I ſhould bring them bound to Jeruſalem, Chap. 9. 2.)

13. At Mid day, O King, I ſaw in the way a Light from Heaven, above the Brightneſs of the Sun, ſhining round about me, and (about) them which journied with me:

14. And when we were all fallen to the Earth, I heard a Voice ſpeaking to me, and ſaying in the Hebrew Tongue, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me? It is (or will be) hard for thee to kick againſt the Pricks, (i. e. to fight againſt God. See Chap. 9. 5.)

15. And I ſaid, Who art thou, Lord? And he ſaid, I am Jeſus (of Nazareth) whom thou perſecuteſt:

16. But ariſe, and ſtand upon thy Feet; for I have appeared to thee for this purpoſe, to make thee a Miniſter, and a Witneſs both of thoſe things which thou haſt ſeen (now,) and of thoſe things in which (i. e. for the diſcovery of which) I will appear to thee.

17. (And in teſtifying of them, I will be with thee) delivering thee from the People (of the Jews,) and (of) the Gentiles, to whom now I ſend thee.

18. To open their (blind) Eyes, and to turn them from Darkneſs to Light, and from the Power of Satan unto God, that they may receive Forgiveneſs of Sins, and (an) Inheritance among them that are ſanctified by Faith that is in me.

19. Whereupon, O King Agrippa (having had this convincing Teſtimony of the Reſurrection of this Jeſus,) [e] I was not diſobedient to the heavenly Viſion;

20. But ſhewed firſt to them of Damaſcus, (where this Viſion hapned,) and (then to them) at Jeruſalem, and (ſo) throughout all the Coaſts of Judea, and then to the Gentiles, that they (of the Jews) ſhould repent of their great Sin in crucifying this Jeſus,) and (ſhould) turn to God, and do Works meet for (Gr. meet Works of) Repentance.

21. For theſe cauſes the Jews caught me, (as I was,) in the Temple, and went about to kill me, (Chap. 21. 31.)

22. Having therefore obtained help of God, (according to the Promiſe made by Jeſus, ver. 17.) I continue to this day witneſſing both to ſmall and great, (the Reſurrection of Jeſus; and in this,) ſaying none other things than thoſe which the Prophets and Moſes did ſay ſhould come (to paſs,)

23. (Viz.) [f] That Chriſt (the Meſſiah of the Jews,) ſhould ſuffer, and that he ſhould be the firſt that ſhould riſe from the Dead, (ſo as to return no more to Death, Acts 13. 34.) and (that he) ſhould ſhew Light to the People, and to the Gentiles.

24. And as he thus ſpake for himſelf, Feſtus ſaid with a loud Voice, Paul, thou art beſide thy ſelf, much learning doth make thee mad, (or tranſport thee.)

25. But he ſaid, I am not mad, moſt noble Feſtus, but I ſpeak forth the words of Truth and Soberneſs (or of a ſound Mind.)

26. For the King knoweth of theſe things, before whom alſo (πρὸς ὃν καὶ, to whom therefore) I ſpeak freely (of them;) for I am perſuaded, that none of theſe things (concerning the Reſurrection of Chriſt, or even my Converſion,) are hidden from him; for this thing was not done in a Corner, (but was of publick Cognizance.)

27. King Agrippa, believeſt thou the Prophets, (to whoſe Teſtimonies I appeal for the Truth of Chriſt's Sufferings and his Reſurrection? ver. 22, 23.) I know that thou believeſt (them, to them therefore I remit thee.)

28. Then Agrippa ſaid to Paul, [g] Almoſt thou perſuadeſt me to be a Chriſtian.

29. And Paul ſaid, I would to God that not only thou, but alſo all that hear me, this day, were both almoſt, and altogether ſuch as I am, except theſe Bonds; (i. e. as to Faith in Chriſt, tho' not as to the Bond I ſuffer for it.)

30. And when he had thus ſpoken, the King roſe up, and the Governour, and Bernice, and they that ſat with them.

31. And when they were gone aſide, they talked between themſelves, ſaying this Man doth nothing worthy of Death, or of Bonds, (by the Roman Laws by which he is to be judged.)

32. Then ſaid Agrippa unto Feſtus, This Man might have been ſet at Liberty if he had not appealed to Cæſar, (to whoſe Judgment he is therefore now to be reſerved)

a Ver. 2. "Ηγημαι ἐμαυτὸν, μακάριον, I count my self happy.] Tho' this Phrase may signifie no more than, I look upon it as a considerable Advantage, as when we call a lucky Man, an happy Man, and so the word μακάριος and felix are often used in Prophane Authors, and אשר in the Hebrew, as when Leah calls her Son Ashur, Gen. 30. 13. saying, I am happy, for the Daughters shall call me happy; and Jeremy enquires, wherefore are all they happy, i. e. prosperous, who deal very treacherously? See Psal. 127. 5. — 128. 3. — 137. 8, 9. Yet I believe the Apostle here respects not any personal Advantage, but the benefit Christianity might receive from what he was to say before a Person so able to judge of it.

b Ver. 5. Κατὰ τὴν ἀκριβεστάτην αἵρεσιν, According to the exactest Sect of our Religion, I lived a Pharisee.] That they were so according to the Opinion of the Jews (a) Josephus testifies, by saying, this was a Sect of the Jews, which was thought εὐσεβέστερον εἶναι τῶν ἄλλων, καὶ τὰς νόμους ἀκριβέστερον ἀφηγεῖσθαι, to be more pious than others, and more exact in the Interpretation of their Laws, that they did (b) μέγα φρονεῖν ἐπ' ἀκριβώσει τοῦ πατρίου νόμου, esteem highly of themselves for their exactness in the Law, and that they were the Sect οἱ δοκοῦσι τὰ πάτρια νόμιμα δοκοῦσι τῶν ἄλλων ἀκριβείᾳ διαφέρειν, who seemed to excel others in their exact knowledge of the Customs of their Fathers, (c) καὶ οἱ δοκοῦντες μετ' ἀκριβείας ἐξηγεῖσθαι τὰ νόμιμα, and to be most exact in the Interpretation of their Laws: And indeed comparatively, they seem to have been the exactest of their celebrated Sects; for the Sadduces by denying the Resurrection and all future Punishments, took away the Rewards of a vertuous, and gave liberty to a vicious Life. The Essens being Jews by Nature, were guilty of a great Schism, in separating themselves wholly from the Worship of the Temple, and of equal Disobedience in not bringing their (d) Sacrifices to the Temple, and of Idolatry in making Prayers, or (e) Religious Addresses to the Sun, as Josephus, who lived three Years among them, testifies, that πρὸς αὐτὸν refers to ἥλιον; but seeing the same Josephus saith, that they were πρὸς τὸ θεῖον ἰδίως εὐσεβεῖς, especially religious towards God, and brings the words following as a proof of that, I think these Prayers were offered rather to God than to the Sun. See the Note on Col. 2. 22, 23.

Ver. 6, 7. And now I stand, and am judged for the hope of the Promise made to our Fathers.] Why St. Paul here speaks as if he were questioned touching the Article of the Resurrection of the Dead in general, see the Note on Chap. 23. 6. and why he speaks of the Twelve Tribes, see Note on James 1. 1. but whereas he stiles the Resurrection, The Promise made to their Fathers, and saith, the Twelve Tribes served God in expectation of it, this needs a little explication, because many deny that any such Promise was made to the Fathers, or can be found in the Old Testament. I therefore assert, c

1*st*, That it is evident from the History of the Maccabees, and other Writings, both sacred and prophane, that the Jews then, and the Pharisees afterward, did believe the Resurrection of the Body. Thus the second Son saith, 2 Maccab. 7. 9. The King of the World shall raise us up, who have died for his Laws unto everlasting Life, εἰς αἰώνιον ἀναβίωσιν ζωῆς ἡμᾶς ἀναστήσει· the third and fourth express their hope to be raised up by God to Life again, ver. 11, 14. And the Mother of them bids them not doubt, but the Creator of the World would give them Breath and Life again. That the Pharisees believed this Doctrine, we learn not only from Josephus, but from their Satisfaction that Christ had put the Sadduces to silence in that matter, Matth. 22. 34. and for their stickling for St. Paul himself upon this Declaration, that he was called in question for the hope of the Resurrection, Acts 23. 9.

2*dly*, That they conceived this Hope was built upon the Covenant of God made with them, and the Promise of God made to them, is also evident from their words; for the last of these seven Martyrs is introduced, saying, Our Brethren are dead under God's Covenant of everlasting Life; ver. 36. (f) Josephus introduceth the Mother of these seven Children, comforting her dying Sons with those words of Moses, I kill, and I make alive, Deut. 32. 39. and it is your Life and length of Days, ver. 47. and that of Solomon, Prov. 3. 18. Wisdom is a Tree of Life to them that lay hold on her, and that of Ezekiel, Chap. 37. 3. Shall these dry Bones live?

3*dly*, They had juſt reaſon both from the Law and Prophets, for this hope; from the Law, for thence our Saviour proves the Reſurrection of the Body, Matth. 22. 31, 32. See the Note there. And that our Saviour did not there argue for the Felicity of the Souls of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob only, is evident from this, that he argues for ſomething future which ſhould happen to them ὅταν ἀναςῶσι, when they ſhall ariſe; whereas in Truth, and in the Opinion of the Jews themſelves, the Souls of Abraham, Iſaac and Jacob were with God already. So (g) Joſephus ſaith, that they who die for God, ζῶσι τῷ Θεῷ, ὥσπερ Ἀβραάμ, Ἰσαάκ, καὶ Ἰακώβ, καὶ πάντες οἱ Παλαιάρχαι, ſhall live with God, as do Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and all the Patriarchs.

2. From the Prophets; the words of Daniel being theſe, Many of them that ſleep in the Duſt ſhall awake, ſome to everlaſting Life, and ſome to everlaſting Confuſion, chap. 12. 2. Where note, that tho' Men in Miſery and Affliction are ſometimes ſaid to ſit, or dwell in the Duſt, Iſa. 26. 19. —— 27. 1. Neh. 3. 18. yet οἱ καθεύδοντες, they that ſleep in the Duſt, doth always ſignifie, they that die, as Job 7. 21. —— 20. 11. —— 21. 6. and hath no other ſenſe in Scripture. And, (2.) That tho' Men that ſit in the Duſt may be raiſed out of that afflicted, into a very comfortable and pleaſant ſtate, yet ſeeing they muſt ſhortly die, they can in no propriety of Speech be ſaid to ariſe to Life eternal. (3.) From the Law and the Prophets, for ſaith St. Paul, Chap. 24. 14, 15. I worſhip the God of our Fathers, believing all things that are written in the Law and the Prophets, having hope that there ſhall be a Reſurrection both of the Juſt and the Unjuſt, and here, ver. 23. I ſay nothing but what is contained in the Law and the Prophets, that Chriſt ſhall be the firſt ἐξ ἀναστάσεως νεκρῶν, of thoſe that riſe from the Dead, plainly inſinuating, that the Reſurrection of others after Chriſt was contained in the Law and the Prophets. Hence the Apoſtle tells us, that the Champions of the Jewiſh Church all died in Faith in expectation of a better Reſurrection, Heb. 11. 35. 39.

And, Laſtly, That this Hope was rightly built upon the Covenant of God, that he would be their God, Gen. 17. 7. is evident, for that to be the God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, is to be that God who will raiſe them from the Dead, we learn from our Saviour's Argument, Matth. 22. 32. and that he was therefore called their God, becauſe he had prepared for them an heavenly City, from Heb. 11. 15. and from his Promiſe made to the ſpiritual Seed of Abraham, according to thoſe words of the Apoſtle, Gal. 3. 29. If ye are Chriſt's, then are ye Abraham's Seed; and Heirs according to the Promiſe. See the Note there. And, (3.) From the Promiſe of entring into his Reſt, Heb. 4, 3, 9. See the Note there. And, (4.) From the Promiſe of a Meſſiah, it being one of their fundamental Articles, that their Meſſiah ſhall raiſe the Dead, and bring them into Paradiſe. See Maimonides Expl. 10. Tract. Sanhedrim, p. 136. and Dr. Pocock's Notes, p. 109, 110. And laſtly, this ſeems evident from the Nature of the thing; for God being the Father of our Spirits which are immortal, and muſt live for ever, it is abſurd to think his Promiſes to the obedient ſhould relate only to this preſent Life, and yet he ſhould engage them to be faithful to the Death, and ſuffer here the worſt of Evils for his ſake; ſince if they had Hope only in this Life, they muſt of all Men be moſt miſerable, 1 Cor. 15. 19.

Ver. 7. To which Promiſe τὸ δωδεκάφυλον ἡμῶν, our twelve Tribes —— hope to come.] That ſome of the twelve Tribes remained in, and ſome of them returned to the Land of Iſrael, See proved, Note on James 1. 1. Why St. Paul ſaith he was queſtioned touching this hope of the Reſurrection in the general; when he was only queſtioned concerning the Reſurrection of Chriſt from the Dead, ſee the chief Reaſon, Note on Chap. 24. 15. To which add, that St. Paul connects theſe things thus, becauſe in the truth of the thing, and according to the Teſtimony of the Apoſtles, and even the Sentiments of the Jews, the Reſurrection was to be effected by the Meſſiah, or by Jeſus Chriſt, ſaying, that God would raiſe us up by Jeſus, 1 Theſſ. 4. 4. and that God had appointed him to be the Judge both of the Quick and Dead, Acts 10. 47. and had given aſſurance that he would judge all Men by him, in that he had raiſed him from the Dead, Acts 17. 31. he being riſen as the firſt that ſhould riſe from the Dead, ver. 23. of this Chapter, or the Firſt-fruits of them that ſleep, 1 Cor. 15. 22. Hence is it ſo expreſly noted, Chap. 4. 1, 2. that the Sadduces were grieved, not that the Apoſtles declared that Jeſus was the Chriſt, or that he was riſen, but that they taught through Jeſus, the Reſurrection from the Dead. Note alſo that he repreſents this as the hope of the twelve Tribes, tho' 'twas denied by the Sadducees; becauſe as (h) Joſephus informs us, ἐκ ὀλίγης ἀνθρώπων στάσεως ὁ λόγος ἀφίκετο, they were but few, and theſe few when they deſigned to be Magiſtrates, were forced to profeſs the Doctrine of the Phariſees, διὰ τὸ μὴ ἄλλως ἀνέχεσθαι γλώσσης τοῖς πλήθεσιν, ſeeing the common People would would not otherwiſe have endured them. And that the Apoſtle here ſpake with reſpect to the Doctrine of the Sadducees appeareth from the following words, ver. 8. Why ſhould it be judged a thing incredible that God ſhould raiſe the Dead? it being only the Sect of the Sadducees which held this incredible, and that which did exceed even the Power of God, Matth. 22. 29.

e Ver. 19. I was not diſobedient to the heavenly Viſion.] For ſaith Grotius, tho' this Viſion gave him ſufficient conviction of the Truth, it left it in his Power to obey, or diſobey it, as hath been proved in the Appendix to the ſixth Chapter of the ſecond Epiſtle to the Corinthians.

f Ver. 23. Εἰ παθητὸς ὁ Χριστὸς, That Chriſt hath ſuffered.] Τὸ εἰ, ἀντὶ τοῦ ὅτι. Εἰ here being put for ὅτι, that, ſaith Oecumenius. See Note on 1 Tim. 5. 10. Heb. 3. 11.

Ariſtoph. p.* 837. And that they who interpret theſe words thus, wouldſt thou in ſo little time perſuade me to be a Chriſtian? muſt miſtake, is evident from the following words of the Apoſtle, I would to God, that not only ἐν ὀλίγῳ, ἀλλ' ἐν πολλῷ, all that hear me were not almoſt only, but altogether ſuch as I am. g

CHAP. XXVII.

1. AND when it was determined that we ſhould ſail into Italy, they delivered Paul, and certain other Priſoners, to one named Julius, a Centurion of Auguſtus's Band, (i. e. of the Band of the Legion of Auguſtus.)

2. And entring into a Ship of Adramytium, (a Sea Town of Myſia,) we lanched (forth,) a meaning to ſail by the Coaſts of Aſia, [a] one Ariſtarchus a Macedonian of Theſſalonica, (and a Companion of Paul,) being with us.

3. And the next day we touched at Sidon, and (there) Julius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gave him Liberty to go to his Friends to refreſh himſelf.

4. And when he had lanched from thence, we ſailed under Cyprus, becauſe the Winds were contrary (to us.)

5. And when we had ſailed over the Sea of Cilicia, and Pamphilia, we came to Myra, a City of Lycia;

6. And there the Centurion found a Ship of Alexandria, ſailing into Italy, and he put us therein.

7. And when we had ſailed ſlowly many days, and ſcarce were come over againſt Cnidus, the Wind not ſuffering us (to go on directly,) we ſailed under Crete, over againſt (the Promontory of) Salmone.

8. And hardly paſſing by it, came to a place which is called the Fair Havens, nigh whereunto was the City of Laſea.

9. Now when much time was ſpent, and b when [b] ſailing was now dangerous, becauſe the (yearly) Faſt (of Expiation) was now already paſt, Paul admoniſhed them,

10. And ſaid to them, Sirs, I perceive that this Voyage will be with hurt, and much damage, not only of the Lading and Ship, but alſo of our Lives:

11. Nevertheleſs the Centurion believed the Maſter, and the Owner of the Ship, more than thoſe things which were ſpoken by Paul.

12. And becauſe the Haven was not commodious to winter in, the moſt part (of the Paſſengers) adviſed (us) to depart thence alſo, if by any means they might attain to Phœnice to winter (there,) which (Phœnice) is an Haven of Crete, and lieth toward the South-Weſt, and North-Weſt.

13. And when the South-Wind blew ſoftly, ſuppoſing that they had obtained their Purpoſe, looſing (from that Haven,) [c] they ſailed c cloſe by Crete.

14. But not long after it there aroſe againſt it (the Ship) [d] a tempeſtuous Wind, called d Euroclydon.

15. And when the Ship was caught, (i. e. driven along with it,) and [e] could not e bear up into (i. e. reſiſt) the Wind, we let her drive.

16. And running under a certain Iſland, which is called Clauda, we had much work to come by the Boat, (i. e. to draw it to us.)

17. Which when they had taken up, they uſed Helps, under girding the Ship (with Ropes, to preſerve it from ſplitting,) and fearing leſt they ſhould fall into the Quick-ſands, (they) ſtruck ſail, and ſo were driven.

18. And being exceedingly toſſed with a Tempeſt, the next day they lightned the Ship;

19. And the third day we caſt out with our Hands the Tackling of the Ship.

20. And when neither Sun, nor Stars, in many days appeared, and no ſmall Tempeſt lay upon us, all hope that we ſhould be ſaved, (or eſcape) was then taken away.

21. But after long Abſtinence, Paul ſtood forth in the midſt of them, and ſaid, Sirs, ye f ſhould have hearkened to me, and [f] not have looſed from Crete, and to have gained (i. e. ſuſtained) this harm and loſs.

22. And now I exhort you to be of good cheer, for there ſhall be no loſs of (any Man's) Life among you, but of the Ship (only.)

23. For there ſtood by me this night the Angel of God, whoſe (Apoſtle) I am, and whom I ſerve,

24. Saying, Fear not, Paul, thou muſt be brought before Cæſar, and lo, God hath given thee (the Life of) all them that ſail with thee, (provided they will hearken to thee.)

25. Wherefore, Sirs, be of good cheer, for I believe (in) God, (and therefore reſt aſſured,) that it ſhall be even as it was told me:

26. Howbeit we muſt be caſt upon a certain Iſland.

27. But (and) when the fourteenth night was come, as we were driven up and down in Adria, about midnight the Shipmen deemed that they drew near to ſome Country.

28. And (they) ſounded (with their Plummet,) and found it twenty Fathoms (of Water,) and when they had gone a little farther, they ſounded again, and found it (the Water) fifteen Fathom (deep.)

29. Then fearing leſt they ſhould have fallen upon Rocks, they caſt four Anchors out of the Stern, and wiſhed for the day, (that by the help of the Light they might diſcern the Shore.)

30. And as the Ship men were about (Gr. and the Ship-men ſeeking) to flee out of the Ship, (to that end) when they had let down the Boat into the Sea, under colour as if they would have caſt Anchor out of the Foreſhip;

31. Paul ſaid to the Centurion, and to the g Soldiers, [g] Except theſe (Mariners) abide in the Ship (to conduct it,) ye cannot be ſaved.

32. Then the Soldiers cut off the Ropes of the Boat, and let her fall off.

33. And while the day was coming on, Paul beſought them all to take Meat, (i. e. he exhorted them to eat till the day appearing they might employ themſelves otherwiſe,) ſaying, [h] This day is the fourteenth day that ye h have tarried, and continued faſting, having eaten nothing, (i. e. obſerved no times of eating.)

34. Wherefore I pray you to take ſome Meat, for this is for your Health, (and let not the fear of Death hinder you,) for there ſhall not an Hair fall from the Head of any of you, (ye ſhall not die.)

35. And when he had thus ſpoken, he took Bread, and gave thanks to God in the Preſence of them all; and when he had broken it, he began to eat;

36. Then were they all of good cheer, and they alſo took ſome Meat.

37. And we were in all in the Ship two hundred threeſcore and ſixteen Souls, (i. e. Perſons.)

38. And when they had eaten enough, they lightned the Ship, and caſt out the Wheat into the Sea.

39. And when it was day, they knew not (i. e. diſcerned not) the Land, but they diſcovered a certain Creek, with a Shore, into which they were minded, if it were poſſible, to thruſt in the Ship.

40. And when they had taken up the Anchors, they committed themſelves to the Sea, and looſed the Rudder-Bands, and hoiſted up the main Sail to the Wind, and made towards Shore.

41. And falling into a place where two Seas met, they ran the Ship on ground, and the forepart ſtuck faſt, and remained unmoveable, but the hinder part was broken with the Violence of the Waves.

42. And the Soldiers Counſel was to kill the Priſoners, leſt any of them ſhould ſwim out, and eſcape (Juſtice.)

43. But the Centurion (being) willing to ſave Paul, kept them from their purpoſe, and commanded that they who could ſwim, ſhould caſt themſelves firſt into the Sea, and get to Land.

44. And the reſt (got) ſome on Boards, and ſome on broken pieces of the Ship, and ſo it came to paſs that they eſcaped all ſafe to Land.

Annotations on Chap. XXVII.

a Ver. 2. ONE Ariſtarchus.] He was a Convert of Macedonia, who accompanied Paul in his Travels from Macedonia to Jeruſalem, Acts 19. 29. — 20. 4. was a Co-adjutor with him in the Work of the Goſpel, Philem. 24. went with him to Rome, and was there in Bonds with him, Coloſſ. 4. 10. and is therefore here taken notice of as a Companion of St. Paul's.

b Ver. 9. And ſailing was now dangerous, διὰ τὸ καὶ τὴν νηστείαν ἤδη παρῆλυθέναι, Becauſe the Faſt was now already paſt;] That is, the annual Faſt of Expiation for the Sins of the People of Iſrael, which began on the tenth of the Month Tiſri, anſwering to the 25th of our September, was already paſt, and ſo the time of ſailing became dangerous by reaſon of the Winter, and of the Michaelmas Flows which were then upon the Sea. Thus (a) Philo informs us that this Feaſt of Tabernacles was held μετὰ τὴν μεσοπωρινὴν ἰσημερίαν, after the Winter Æquinoctial; and the ſame Feaſt of Tabernacles which was on the 15th of the ſame Month, is ſaid by (b) Joſephus to be celebrated, τρεπομένου τὸ λοιπὸν εἰς καιρὸν πρὸς τὴν χειμέριον ὥραν, when it began to be Winter: And (c) Philo adds, that Flaccus was carried from Egypt to Rome, ἀρχομένου χειμῶνος, at the beginning of Winter, ἔδει γὰρ αὐτὸν καὶ τὸν ἐν θαλάττῃ φόβητρον, ἀποπλαῦσαι, it being fit that he who had diſturbed all things by Land, ſhould be diſturbed by the Tempeſts of the Sea; and in his (d) Legatio ad Flaccum he ſaith; that the beginning of Autumn was τραχηλιῶντος ἤδη τοῖς θαλαττεύουσιν, the laſt time for Mariners to put to Sea. See more of this in Dr. Hammond's Note upon the place.

c Ver. 13. Ἆσσον παρελέγοντο τὴν Κρήτην, They ſailed cloſe by Crete.] The Vulgar hath made this the proper Name of a place, and indeed there was ſuch a place near Troas, and Mitylene, mentioned, Acts 20. 13, 14. but that was at too wide a diſtance from Crete, to be here mentioned; there were four other places of that Name mentioned by Scmidius here, but none of them were near Crete; Stephanus, as is cited by Lorinus, ſaith, Aſſos is πολίχνιον Κρήτης, a little City of Crete; but then Pliny informs us that it was not a Sea-port, but ſituated in Mediterraneo, in the Mediterranean, l. 4. c. 12. p. 213. Others therefore think this is an Adverb uſed by Homer, Heſiod, and Herodotus, to ſignifie quickly, or near to the place, as Phavorinus and other Grammarians ſay it doth, and ſo the whole ſhould be rendred thus, looſing from the incommodious Harbour, mentioned ver. 12. with a favourable Wind, propius præterlegebant Cretam, they ſailed by Crete near to it.

Ver. 14. Ἄνεμος τυφωνικὸς ὁ καλούμενος εὐρακύλων, A Tempeſtuous Wind called Euroclydon.] Ventus Typhonicus, ſaith (e) Pliny, is a Whirl-wind, and the Name of it here mentioned is thought by Grotius, Bochart, and Dr. Hammond to be εὐραρκύλων, as it is rendred by the Vulgar, that is, the North-Eaſt Wind, that being oppoſite to the South-Weſt Wind, mentioned, ver. 12. d

Ver. 15. We could not, ἀντοφθαλμεῖν τῷ ἀνέμῳ, bear up againſt the Wind.] So the word properly imports, but metaphorically we could not reſiſt, or ſtand up againſt the force of it; ſo (f) Polybius ſaith of the Meſſenians, that they could not, ἀντοφθαλμεῖν πρὸς τὸ βάρος τῶν Λακεδαιμονίων, reſiſt the force of the Lacedemonians; and that they could not πρὸς τὰς ὁρμὰς ἀντοφθαλμῶν, reſiſt their Impreſſions. See more Inſtances in Budæus and Bois. e

Ver. 21. Ἔδει μὲν μὴ ἀνάγεσθαι; You ſhould not have looſed from Crete, κερδῆσαί τε τὴν ὕβριν ταύτην, καὶ ζημίαν, to have gained this harm, and loſs.] Great Induſtry is uſed here to carry off theſe words from their native ſenſe, to make ὕβρις ſignifie a Tempeſt, and κερδαίνειν to eſcape, whereas there needeth no ſuch Artifice, for it was indeed ὕβρις an Infamy to them to be ſuch unskilful Mariners as to put to Sea when the Seaſon of the Year rendred their Voyage ſo dangerous; and having been forced for their own Safety to lighten the Ship, and to caſt out ſome of her Lading, and Tackling, to preſerve themſelves, they might well be ſaid, κερδαίνειν τὴν ζημίαν ταύτην, jacturam hanc lucri in loco ponere, or to count this loſs their gain; the Particle μὴ, which here ſeems neceſſary to be repeated, ſhews that κερδαίνειν here cannot ſignifie to eſcape, ſeeing the ſenſe would then run thus, Ye ſhould not have eſcaped this Loſs. Tho, ſince, κερδαίνειν ſeems to bear this Senſe in thoſe words of (g) Ariſtotle ὃν καὶ λόγον ζημίαν μὴ λαβεῖν τὸ τοιοῦτον κερδαίνοντα εὐτυχῆ φαμὲν, we call him Fortunate, who eſcapes that Puniſhment or Damage he reaſonably might have ſuffer'd; in this Senſe the words run thus, you ſhould not have looſed from Crete, but ſtayed there, that you might have eſcaped this Infamy and Loſs. f g Ver. 31. Except theſe abide in the Ship ye cannot be ſaved.] This ſhews, as Grotius well notes, that what was ſaid ver. 21. was to be underſtood with this Limitation, ſi me audiatis, if ye will hearken to my Counſel; and alſo with this proviſo, that you will do that which is in your Power, and God hath given you Skill and Ability to do; for in all Promiſes in which God is ſaid to give this or that, this muſt be underſtood, becauſe he hath already given that which he hath given us Faculties, or Abilities, and Wiſdom to obtain; ſo that we cannot want or fall ſhort of it, unleſs we wilfully neglect to uſe the Faculties which God hath given us for that end: They therefore having with them Mariners, skilled in conducting of the Ship, and Power ſufficient to retain them in it, St. Paul informs them, that God's Promiſe of their Safety was to be effective by their Means.

Ver. 33. This is the fourteenth day that ye have continued faſting, having taken nothing.] It being impoſſible for them, without a Miracle, to continue faſting fourteen days without eating any thing, ſome render the words thus, You have continued expecting the fourteenth Day as a critical Day, which they were either to find ſafety in, or were not like to out-live; but as we read nothing of ſuch a critical day; ſo the πολλὴ ἀσιτία, long faſting, mentioned ver. 21. and continued till this day, proves the contrary. The meaning therefore ſeems to be this, that they had no ſet times of eating, but what they ate was ſeldom, little, and without order, or aſſembling together for that End. Thus (*) Zetzes ſaith, that Heſiod ſpeaks thus, οὐδὲ τι σῖτον ἤσθιον, they ate no Meat, ἀλλὰ τὸ μηδ' ἐν τοῖς καιροῖς τῶν προπεζῶν —— ἐσθίειν, becauſe they ate not at Meal-times. h

1. AND when they were eſcaped (to Land,) then they knew that the a Iſland was called [a] Melita, (now Maltha.)
b 2. And the [b] barbarous People ſhewed us no little (or ordinary) kindneſs, for they kindled a Fire, and received us (every one (into their Houſes,) becauſe of the preſent Rain, and becauſe of the Cold.

3. And when Paul had gathered a bundle of Sticks, and laid them (Gr. but Paul turning many Sticks, and laying them) upon the Fire, c there came [c] a Viper out of (from) the Heat, and faſtned (her ſelf) upon his hand.

4. And when the Barbarians ſaw the venemous Beaſt hang on his Hand, they ſaid among themſelves, No doubt this Man is a Murtherer, whom, tho' he hath eſcaped the Sea, yet (divine) Vengeance ſuffereth not to live.

5. And he ſhook (Gr. then he ſhaking) off the Beaſt into the Fire, (and) felt no harm.

6. Howbeit, they looked when he ſhould have ſwollen, or fallen down dead ſuddenly; but after they had looked a great while, (i. e. expected this long.) and (yet) ſaw no harm
d come to him, they changed their Minds, and (Gr. changing their Minds, they) [d] ſaid, that he was a God.

7. (And) in the ſame Quarters, (Gr. in that place,) were Poſſeſſions (Habitations) of the chief Man (the Governour) of the Iſland, whoſe Name was Publius, who received us (into them,) and lodged us three days courteouſly.

8. And it came to paſs (Gr. ſo it was,) that the Father of Publius lay ſick of a Fever, and of a Bloody Flux; to whom Paul entred in, and prayed, and laid his Hands on him, and healed him.

9. So when this was done, others alſo who had Diſeaſes in the Iſland, came, and were healed.

10. [c] Who alſo (Gr. and they) honoured e us with many Honours, (or preſented us with much Proviſions;) and when we departed, they laded us with ſuch things as were neceſſary (for us.)

11. And after three Months, we departed in a Ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Iſle, [f] whoſe Sign was Caſtor and f Pollux.

12. And landing at Syracuſe, we tarried there three days.

13. And from thence we fetch'd a Compaſs, and came to Rhegium; and after one day, the South-wind blew, and we came the next day to [g] Puteoli. g

14. Where we found (Chriſtian) Brethren, and were deſired (I and Ariſtarchus,) to tarry with them ſeven days, and ſo we went towards Rome.

15. And from thence, when the [h] Bre- h thren (of Rome) heard of us, they came to meet us, (ſome) as far as Appii-Forum, and (others to) the three Taverns; whom when Paul ſaw, he thanked God, and took Courage.

16. And

16. And when we came to Rome, the Centurion delivered the (other) Priſoners to the Captain of the Guard, (i. e. of the i Prætorian Band;) [i] but Paul was ſuffered to dwell by himſelf, with a Soldier that kept him.

17. And it came to paſs, that after three days, Paul called the chief of the Jews together; and when they were come together, he ſaid to them, Men and Brethren, tho' I have committed nothing againſt the People, or Cuſtoms of our Fathers, yet was I delivered Priſoner from Jeruſalem into the hands of the Romans.

18. Who, when they had examined me, would have let me go, becauſe there was no cauſe of Death in me.

19. But when the Jews ſpake againſt it, I was conſtrained to appeal to Cæſar, not that I had ought to accuſe my Nation of.

20. For this cauſe therefore have I called for you, to ſee you, and to ſpeak with you; becauſe, that for (that Meſſiah, and that Re- k l ſurrection which is) [k] the hope of Iſrael, [l] I am bound with this Chain.

21. And they ſaid to him, we neither received Letters out of Judea concerning thee, neither any of the Brethren which came (hither,) ſhewed, or ſpake any harm of thee:

22. But we deſire to hear of thee what thou thinkeſt (of them who are called Nazarens;) for as concerning this Sect, we know that every where it is ſpoken againſt.

23. And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his Lodg-m ing, [m] to whom he expounded, and teſtified (that) the Kingdom of God (was come) perſuading them concerning Jeſus, (that he was the Chriſt,) both out of the Law of Moſes, and out of the Prophets, from Morning till Evening.

24. And ſome believed the things which were ſpoken, and ſome believed not.

25. And when they agreed not among themſelves, they departed, after that Paul had ſpoken (Gr. Paul having ſpoken) one word (that nearly touched them, viz. ὅτι, That) well ſpake the Holy Ghoſt (i. e. rightly) by Eſaias the Prophet to our Fathers,

26. Saying, Go to this People, and ſay (prophetically to them,) [n] Hearing ye ſhall n (will) hear, and ſhall (will) not underſtand; and ſeeing ye ſhall (will) ſee, and (will) not perceive.

27. For the Heart of this People is waxed groſs, and their Ears are dull of hearing, (Gr. they hear heavily with their Ears,) and their Eyes have they cloſed, leſt they ſhould ſee with their Eyes, and hear with their Ears, and underſtand with their Hearts, and ſhould be converted, (Gr. ſhould turn themſelves,) and I ſhould heal them.

28. Be it known therefore to you, that the Salvation of God is ſent to the Gentiles, and that they will hear it.

29. And when he had ſaid theſe words the Jews departed, and had great Reaſoning, among themſelves.

30. [o] And Paul dwelt two whole Years o in his own hired Houſe, and received all that came in to him.

31. Preaching the Kingdom of God, and teaching thoſe things which concern the Lord Jeſus Chriſt with all confidence, no Man forbidding him.

Annotations on Chap. XXVIII.

a Ver. 1. Μελίτη, The Iſland was called Melita.] It is now called Maltha, and is famous for the Knights of Rhodes, and hath yet a place called the Arrival or Haven of St. Paul; that it was this African Maltha, and not the other Illyrican Melite, or Melatine, ſee proved by *Bochart. As for the word Barbarous, (b) Strabo informs us, that it was the Name πάντων δὴ τραχυστομούντων, given to all that ſpake groſs and rough Language; and that afterwards the Greeks uſed it, ὡς ἐθνικῷ τινὶ ὀνόματι ἀντιδιαιρούντες τοὺς τοὺς Ἕλληνας, as a common Name by which they diſtinguiſhed themſelves from other Nations. However, theſe barbarous People were taught Humanity by the Light of Nature; they had their Notions of Divine Juſtice, or Nemeſis, from Tradition, they therefore did believe there was a Providence which did pro-

h Ver. 15. The Brethren came to meet us as far as Appii Forum, and the three Taverns.] Theſe three Taverns were nearer to Rome than Appii Forum, as appears from the words of (e) Cicero to Atticus. It is not to be wondred that there ſhould be many Chriſtians then at Rome, tho' perhaps no Apoſtle had been there to preach to them. o Ver. 30, 31. Paul continued two Years,—no Man forbidding him.] Hence it appears, that there was no Edict of Nero, or any preceding Emperor, againſt the Chriſtians, till the Tenth of Nero. i.e. the Year after that Paul was looſed from his Bonds. (2.) Here we have the plain reaſon, why St. Luke ends his Hiſtory, becauſe, as the Biſhop of Cheſter ſaith, St. Paul came not to Rome till the Seventh of Nero in the Month of February, and in the Ninth of Nero; i.e. after two Years, he was ſet at liberty, and leaving Rome, went into ſome other part of Italy, intending to go from thence into Judea, Heb. 13. 23, 24. and ſo here ends St. Paul's ſtay at Rome, and with that St. Luke's Hiſtory.

AN APPENDIX

To Chapter the Second, ver. 27.

I Know not one Objection againſt that Expoſition which I have given of the Phraſe, Thou wilt not leave my Soul in Hell; only it may be ſaid, that if this be the proper import of the words, we have no reaſon to believe that Chriſt deſcended into Hell; for this can never be an Article of Chriſtian Faith, unleſs it be either expreſly, or virtually delivered in that Scripture which is the Rule of Faith; now it is certain that it is not delivered in any other place of Scripture; not in thoſe words of the Apoſtle Paul, He that aſcended is the ſame that deſcended firſt into the lower parts of the Earth, Eph. 4. 9. for that Phraſe only ſignifies that Chriſt's Body was buried in the Earth, as Chryſoſtom, Theodoret, and Photius there ſay, not that his Soul deſcended into Hell; the Phraſe is plainly taken from the Pſalmiſt's words, They that ſeek my Soul to deſtroy it ſhall go into the lower parts of the Earth, Pſal. 63. 9. where if it ſignifies they ſhall go to Hell, the Foxes muſt go thither alſo, for the words following are, they ſhall be a Portion for Foxes: Not from that Paſſage of St. Peter, 1 Pet. 3. 19. by which Spirit he went and preached to thoſe in priſon; for as they in Priſon do not there ſignifie thoſe who were naturally dead, but only the Gentiles dead in Treſpaſſes and Sins, and by the Prophet Iſaiah thrice ſtiled οἱ ἐν φυλακῇ, they who are in priſon; ſo certain it is, the Spirit by which he is ſaid to go, and preach to them, was not his own Spirit, by ſeparation of which from the Body he was dead, but the Holy Spirit by which he was quickned; for which reaſon St. Auſtin Ep. 99. pronounceth of this place, that omnino ad inferos non pertineat, it belongs not at all to Chriſt's Deſcent into Hell; if then it cannot be proved from this place, it muſt be owned that it hath no ſufficient ground at all in Scripture.

To this I anſwer, 1*ſt*, In the words of Biſhop Pearſon, 'That in the Aquileian Creed, 'where this Article was firſt expreſſed in the 'fourth Century, there was no mention of 'Chriſt's Burial; but the words of their Con'feſſion ran thus, crucified under Pontius Pi'late, he deſcended in inferna. From whence 'there is no queſtion but the Obſervation of 'Ruffinus, who firſt expounded it, was moſt 'true, that tho' the Roman, and Oriental 'Creeds had not theſe words, yet they had 'the ſenſe of them in the word buried. It 'appeareth therefore that the firſt Intention of 'putting theſe words in the Creed, was only 'to expreſs the Burial of our Saviour, or the 'Deſcent of his Body into the Grave. Now doubtleſs the Burial of Chriſt's Body, or its deſcent into the Grave, is an Article of Faith clearly delivered in Holy Scripture.

2*dly*, I add, that the Phraſe καταβαίνειν, or καταέλθειν εἰς ᾅδου, or εἰς ᾅδου (τόπον,) to deſcend into Hades, in the Old Teſtament, and the Apocryphal Writers ſtill ſignifies, to go down into the Grave, or Sepulchre, and ſo cannot refer to the Soul, but the Body only; in this ſenſe Jacob ſays, Gen. 37. 35. καταβήσομαι εἰς ᾅδου, I will go down to the Grave to my Son mourning. So Numb. 16. 30, 33. if the Earth ſwallow them up, καὶ καταβήσονται ζῶντες εἰς ᾅδου, and they go down alive into the pit, καὶ καταβῆναι εἰς ᾅδου, and they went down alive into the pit. Job 7. 9. ἐὰν ἀνθρωπος καταβῇ εἰς ᾅδου, if a Man go down to the Grave he ſhall come up no more; and Chap. 17. 16. καταβήσονται εἰς ᾅδου, they ſhall go down to the Grave, they ſhall reſt in the Duſt; Iſa. 14. 11. καταβήσεται εἰς ᾅδου ἡ δόξα σου, thy pomp is gone down to the Grave, the Worm is ſpread under thee; and ver. 19. thou ſhalt be as thoſe that are dead, καταβαινόντων εἰς ᾅδου, like thoſe that go down into the Grave. So Eſth. 13. 7. καταβάντες εἰς ᾅδου, they going down to the Grave, we ſhall be free from Trouble; and Baruch 3. 19. they are vaniſhed, καὶ εἰς ᾅδου καταβάντες, and gone down to the Grave. And according to this ſenſe which Dr. Hommond, and others put upon the words, he continued for ſome time in the Grave, it alſo is a plain Article of Chriſtian Faith.

3*dly*, It is moſt certain that tho' the Creeds of the Church were very numerous, yet in none of them was this deſcent into Hell found till the close of the fourth Century, when it was first put into the Symbol of the Church of Aquileia; for saith the Reverend Bishop Pearson, 'It is not to be found in the Rules 'of Faith delivered by Irenæus, l. 1. cap. 2. by 'Origen, lib. περὶ ἀρχῶν, in Procem, or by 'Tertullian, adv. Praxeam. cap. 2. de Virg. 'veland. cap. 1. de Præscript. adv. Her. cap. '13. It is not expressed in those Creeds 'which were made by the Councils, as lar-'ger Explications of the Apostles Creed: 'Not in the Nicene, or Constantinopolitan; 'not in that of Ephesus or Chalcedon; not in 'those Confessions made at Sardica, Antioch, 'Seleucia, Sirmium, &c. It is not mention-'ed in several Confessions of Faith delivered 'by particular Persons; not in that of Euse-'bius Cæsarienses, presented to the Council of 'Nice, Theodoret, l. 1. c. 2. not in that of 'Marcellus, Bishop of Ancyra, delivered to 'Pope Julius, Epiphan. Hæ. 72. not in that 'of Arius and Euzoius, presented to Constan-'tine, Socrat. l. 1. c. 19. not in that of Aca-'cius, Bishop of Cæsarea, delivered in to the 'Synod of Seleucia, Socrat. l. 2. c. 40. not in 'that of Eustathius, Theophilus, and Silva-'nus, sent to Liberius, Socrat. l. 4. c. 11. 'There is no mention of it in the Creed of 'St. Basil, Tract. de fide in Asceticis; in the 'Creed of Epiphanius, in Ancorato, c. 120. 'or of Gelasius, Damasus, Macarius, &c. 'It is not in the Creed expounded by St. Cy-'ril, tho' some have produced that Creed to 'prove it; it is not in the Creed expound-'ed by St. Austin, de fide & Symbolo; not 'in that de Symbolo ad Catechumenos, attri-'buted to St. Augustin; not in that which 'is expounded by Maximus Taurinensis; 'not in that so often interpreted by Petrus 'Chrysologus; nor in that of the Church of 'Antioch, delivered by Cassian, de Incarn. l. '6. neither is it to be seen in the MS. Creeds 'set forth by the learned Archbishop of Ar-'magh. Indeed it is affirmed by Ruffinus, 'that in his time it was neither in the Ro-'man, nor the Oriental Creeds, Sciendum 'sane est, quod in Ecclesiæ Romanæ Symbo-'lo non habetur additum, descendit ad infer-'na, sed nec in Orientis Ecclesiis habetur hic 'Sermo. Ruff. in Exposit. Symboli. It is 'certain therefore, (nor can we disprove it 'by any acknowledged evidence of Antiqui-'ty,) that the Article of the Descent into Hell 'was not in the Roman, or any of the Orien-'tal Creeds. Now had they conceived those Creeds in which this Article was wanting deficient, in a necessary point of Christian Doctrine, could they have stiled all, or any of them a perfect Confession, comprizing the whole Doctrine of Faith, the whole of Chri-stian Doctrine, the comprehension and perfe-ction of the Christian Faith, a comprisal of all the Articles of Faith, a Symbol that speaks of every part of Faith, the Faith sufficient for Salvation, the Life giving, the saving Faith, the saving Knowledge, the only Truth which they received from the Apostles, the only Rule which admits of no Correction, no Addition, and no Diminution, the only Faith delivered by the Church to be kept by her Children? Could they have told us, that the most learned could believe no more, and the meanest Christian did believe no less; that they needed know no more, that they desired to believe no more, that they believed this first, that nothinng more was to be believed, that in it nothing was to be innovated? Could they have said expressly, that the Apostles delivered in it whatsoever they thought necessary for all Believers; and that they indited it to be a Mark by which he should be known, who preached Christ truly according to the Rules of the Apostles; and by producing of which it might be known, saith Ruffinus, whether he were an Enemy or a Companion? And lastly, could their great and general Councils have defined so often, that it should be lawful for no Man (a) ἑτέραν πίστιν προφέρειν, ἢ γράφειν, ἢ συντιθέναι, to introduce, write, or compose another Faith besides that which was defined by the Nicene Council: These are the words of the third general Council, where presided that Cyril of Alexandria, who, in his Letter to John of Antioch, saith, We by no means permit the Faith defined ἤτοι τὸ τῆς πίστεως σύμβολον, or the Symbol of Faith made by the Holy Fathers met at Nice, to be shaken by any; nor do we suffer our selves or others to change one Word, or transgress one Syllable of what is there contained. This Epistle, saith Mark, Bishop of Ephesus, was read, and approved by the fourth general Council, which also decreed, (b) μηδενὶ μηδόλως ἐξεῖναι, προσθεῖναι τῷ συμβόλῳ τούτῳ, ἢ ἀφελεῖν ἀπ' αὐτοῦ, that it should be lawful for no Man to add any thing to this Symbol, or take any thing from it, or to change it at all, or transform it into another Symbol. (c) Athanasius speaking of the Synod of Ariminum, saith, That the Orthodox, and true Servants of the Lord defined, that Men should be contented with that Faith alone, which was held at Nice, καὶ μηδὲν πλέον ἢ ἔλαττον παρ' ἐκείνων ζητεῖν καὶ φρονεῖν, and mind, and seek for nothing more or less, and that they deposed them who taught the contrary. And again, That they should, (d) μηδὲν πλέον ζητεῖν, seek for nothing more than what was confessed by the Fathers at Nice. In the 5th general Synod, John, Patriarch of Constantinople, saith, We have taken care, (e) τὸ θεμέλιον τῆς πίστεως Χ̄ῡ τὸ ἁγίων πατέρων ἀσάλευτον ἀρραγῆ ἀρ' ἧς ἀγῆ ἀσαλεύειν, that the Foundation of Faith might remain inviolate according to the Tradition of the Holy Fathers. And this Determination they declared was made,

1*ſt*, Becauſe this venerable Symbol, ſaith the general Council of Chalcedon, (f) ἀρκεῖ εἰς ἐπίγνωσιν ἐντελῆς τ ἀληθείας, ſufficeth to the perfect Knowledge of the Truth; and as the Biſhop of Epheſus well notes upon that place, It is manifeſt, (g) ὅτι τῷ τελείῳ οὐδὲν ἐλλείπει, nothing is wanting to what is perfect; they alſo ſaid there was no need of adding any thing to it, becauſe it was ſufficient, (h) εἰς ἀναίρεσιν πάσης ἀσεβοῦς αἱρέσεως, for the ſubverſion of every wicked Hereſie, πᾶσαν ἀσεβεστάτην αἵρεσιν ἀναιρέψαι, to overthrow all the moſt ungodly Hereſies, and that it was σηλογραφία κ πάσης αἱρέσεως, an Inſcription as upon a Pillar againſt all Hereſies.

2*dly*, Becauſe they would not alter the Tradition they had received from their Fore-fathers: We, ſaith Cyril in the general Council of Epheſus, have taken this Care that nothing ſhould be added to, or altered in the Nicene Symbol, as being mindful of him that ſaid, (i) μὴ μέταιρε ὅρια αἰώνια α ἔθεντο οἱ πατέρες σ, Remove not the ancient Bounds which thy Fathers have ſet.

3*dly*, Becauſe they would not give occaſion to any to ſuſpect their Faith imperfect, or that any Article of Faith was wanting in the Creeds already made. Thus the Synod of Sardis decreed, μηδὲν ἔτι περὶ πίστεως γράφεσθαι, that nothing more ſhould be written touching the Faith, but that all ſhould reſt ſatisfied with the Faith confeſſed by the Nicene Fathers, (k) διὰ τὸ μηδὲν αὐτῇ λείπειν, becauſe it was deficient in nothing; and ἵνα μὴ ἡ Νικαία γραφεῖσα ὡς ἀτελὴς ὅσα νομισθῇ, leſt that of Nice ſhould be eſteemed imperfect, and a Pretence ſhould be given to as many as will to write, and define touching the Faith. The Orthodox Fathers in the Council of Ariminum profeſſed, (l) That they were Children of the Nicene Fathers, but if, ſay they, we ſhould dare to take away any thing from what they have written, ἢ προσθεῖναί τι, or add any thing to it, we ſhould be ſpurious Children, καλήσοιεν τ γεγυμνικότων γνήσιοι, as being Accuſers of what they did, who delivered τ ἀκριβῆ κανόνα τ πίστεως, an exact Rule of Faith. And again they declare it, (m) ἐπικίνδυνον, a dangerous thing to add any thing to, or take any thing from the Nicene Creed, becauſe if either of theſe things ſhould be done, ἔσαι τοῖς ἐχθροῖς ἄδεια τ ποιεῖν ἅπερ βούλον) the Enemies would have liberty to do what they would. And Athanaſius in his (n) Epiſtle to John and Antiochus his Presbyters, commands them, τὸν πλέον τι τούτης ἢ ἔλαττον λαλεῖν θρόνλας ἀποτρέφειν, to reject them who would ſay more, or leſs than was contained in that Creed. And the Biſhop of Epheſus well argues, (o) That we can ſuffer nothing by keeping to the ſame Faith which the Divine Fathers confeſſed and believed, ſince none but Madmen can accuſe it of Imperfection.

Now hence it demonſtratively follows that theſe Creeds which wanted this Article muſt be a perfect digeſt of all things neceſſary to be believed now, and throughout all ſucceeding Ages of the World; for how can it be neceſſary for any Chriſtian to have more in his Creed than the Apoſtles, and the Chriſtians of the four firſt Centuries had? May the Churches of After-ages make the narrow way to Life more narrow than our Saviour, his Apoſtles, and the Fathers left it? When the whole Church hath ſo expreſly taught that this Faith was ſufficient for the perfect knowledge of the Truth, that in it nothing was deficient, may others yet come after them, and by adding to them any other Article, remove the ancient Bounds which our Fathers have ſet? What reaſon can any Man give why any Perſon ſhould not be ſaved now by the ſame Faith which was ſufficient for Salvation in the days of the Apoſtles, and the firſt four Centuries? Are we wiſer than they? Or, are our Doctors more learned, or more faithful? Is there another Covenant made with the Church ſince their days? Are other terms of Salvation ſince made? Or, is God leſs merciful to us than he was to them? Is not the famous Rule of Lirinenſis this, Quod ab omnibus, quod ubique, quod ſemper? That which was always, and every where believed of all, that is the Rule of Faith. And muſt it not hence follow, that there can be no new Article, no Declaration obliging us to believe any thing which was not always matter of the Chriſtian Faith? I conclude this Head with the words of the judicious Dr. Barrow, 'that 'the inſerting this not only as an Article di'ſtinct from Chriſt's Death, Burial, and con'tinuance in the ſtate of Death, but alſo ne'ceſſary to be believed as ſuch, reflects upon 'the more ancient Compilers, both of this, 'and other Breviaries of Faith, as the Nicene, 'and Conſtantinopolitan Councils, Irenæus 'Tertullian, &c. who left it out; which they 'ſhould not have done, if it contain any thing 'highly material, and different from what is 'here otherwiſe expreſſed; whoſe Credit is '(as I conceive) more to be tendred, than that 'of their Juniors and Followers unknown to us; 'and ſo much the more, for that in a matter 'of

'of this kind, Defect, or Omiſſion is leſs to'lerable, than any redundance of Expreſſion;
'which Inconvenience may ſeem in a manner
'to reach higher, even to St. Paul himſelf;
'who, in the 15th Chapter of his firſt Epiſtle
'to the Corinthians, declaring the Sum of 'what he both learned and taught concern'ing our Saviour's laſt grand Performances, 'only mentions his Death, Burial, and Reſur- 'rection; I delivered unto you firſt, ſays he,
'that Chriſt died for our Sins, according to
'the Scriptures, and that he was buried, and 'that he roſe again the third day; which Enu'meration of his, we may, it ſeems, well
'acquieſce in, as ſufficient and complete,
'and may thence, with great Probability
'infer, that no other Deſcent of our Savi'our into Hell, beſide his Death and Burial, 'was by him underſtood, or delivered in his 'Catechetical Diſcourſes and Preachings, as 'a point of Faith.

4*thly*, I add, that theſe words may be admitted as a diſtinct Article of Faith, contained in the Holy Scriptures, in a very good ſenſe, very agreeable to the word Deſcent, and to the import of the word Hades; for the Scripture doth aſſure us, that the Soul of the Holy Jeſus, being ſeparated from his Body, went to Paradiſe, Luke 23. 43. And thence it muſt deſcend into the Grave or Sepulchre to be united to his Body, that it might be revived, and thus it may be truly ſaid, he was dead and buried, his Soul deſcended afterwards into Hades, to be united to his Body; and his Body being thus revived, he roſe again the third day. Hence Grotius, on that place of St. Luke, ſaith, qui Symbolo Fidei Chriſtianæ aſcripſerunt καλῶς εἰς ἅδου Chriſti verbis optime id tueri potuerunt, they who added this Article to the Symbol of Faith, may beſt defend themſelves by thoſe words: Nor, ſaith he, was this Addition ſuperfluous, ſeeing it proves the ſeparate Exiſtence of the Soul from the Body, which many Philoſophers denied, and others doubted of.
